FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

STATE OF ALASKA
2025 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Analysis

This legislation creates a new type of protective order: "workplace violence protective order." Employers would be able to petition the court for a workplace violence protective order if the employer reasonably believes a person has committed an action of violence against the employer or employee or has made a threat of violence against the employer of and employee that can reasonably be construed as a threat that may be carried out at the employer's workplace. A violation of the provisions of the protective order would be the crime of violating a protective order which is a class A misdemeanor.

The Criminal Division does not anticipate that the number of criminal referrals created by violations of workplace protective orders would create a fiscal impact to the division.
