IN THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA
EIGHTEENTH LEGISLATURE - SECOND SESSION

BY THE HOUSE FINANCE COMMITTEE

Amended: 5/3/94

Offered: 5/2/94

Sponsor(s): HOUSE RESOURCES COMMITTEE

A BILL

FOR AN ACT ENTITLED

1 "An Act relating to the mental health land trust and the mental health land 2 trust litigation, Weiss v. State, 4FA-82-2208 Civil, and amending and repealing 3 other laws relating to mental health institutions, programs, and services that are 4 affected by ch. 66, SLA 1991; and providing for an effective date."

5 BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA:

6 * Section 1. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE. (a) The legislature finds

7 (1) the United States Congress passed the Alaska Mental Health Enabling Act, 8 P.L. 84-830, 70 Stat. 709 (1956), "[t]o confer upon Alaska autonomy in the field of mental 9 health, transfer from the Federal Government to the Territory the fiscal and functional 10 responsibility for the hospitalization of committed mental health patients, and for other 11 purposes;"

12 (2) in sec. 202 of the Alaska Mental Health Enabling Act, the Congress 13 granted the territory the right to select up to 1,000,000 acres of federal land to serve as a 14 source of funds to support the territory's mental health program;

1 (3) in subsection 202(e) of the Alaska Mental Health Enabling Act, the 2 Congress provided that the land so granted, along with the income from the land and proceeds 3 from dispositions of the land, were to be administered "as a public trust and such proceeds 4 and income shall first be applied to meet the necessary expenses of the mental health program 5 of Alaska," that "[s]uch lands, income, and proceeds shall be managed and utilized in such 6 manner as the Legislature of Alaska may provide," that the land "may be sold, leased, 7 mortgaged, exchanged, or otherwise disposed of in such manner as the Legislature of Alaska 8 may provide, in order to obtain funds or other property to be invested, expended, or used by 9 the Territory of Alaska," and that the Alaska legislature must exercise this broad authority "in 10 a manner compatible with the conditions and requirements imposed by this Act"; 11 (4) the Alaska Mental Health Enabling Act grant was "confirmed and 12 transferred to the State of Alaska upon its admission" to the Union under sec. 6(k) of the 13 Alaska Statehood Act, P.L. 85-508, 72 Stat. 339 (1958);

14 (5) in State v. University of Alaska, 624 P.2d 807 (Alaska 1981), the Alaska
15 Supreme Court held that the Alaska State Legislature has plenary authority over all state land 16 under art. VIII, sec. 2, of the Alaska Constitution, and that the legislature may remove from 17 trust status any land obtained by the state in trust if the trust is compensated for the fair 18 market value of that land;

19 (6) chapters 181 and 182, SLA 1978, removed from trust status all original 20 mental health land obtained by the state under the Alaska Mental Health Enabling Act and 21 redesignated it as general grant land, but the trust was not directly compensated for that land;

22 (7) in State v. Weiss, 706 P.2d 681 (Alaska 1985), the Alaska Supreme Court 23 held that the 1978 legislation removing mental health land from trust status and redesignating 24 it as general grant land was a breach of the federally created trust because the trust was never 25 directly compensated for that land, that it was not reasonable to infer that the legislature 26 intended to compensate the mental health trust for all of the original mental health land, that 27 the 1978 redesignation legislation therefore was invalid, and that the appropriate remedy was 28 to return the original mental health land still in state ownership to trust status but, "[t]o the 29 extent former mental health lands have been sold" between 1978 and the date of the court's 30 decision, "the trust must be compensated for the fair market value of the land at the time of 31 sale" with the state entitled to a set-off against that monetary liability for state mental health

1 expenditures during the same period;

2 (8) since statehood, approximately 500,000 acres of original mental health land 3 have been purchased by, conveyed to, or leased by third parties, have been the object of 4 significant development expenditures by third parties, have been conveyed or tentatively 5 approved for conveyance to municipalities, have been placed in legislatively designated areas 6 such as parks, wildlife refuges, and state forests, and have been used by state agencies;

7 (9) the plaintiffs in the Weiss litigation have questioned the validity of those 8 dispositions and uses of original mental health land and in 1990 filed lis pendens on all 9 original mental health land;

10 (10) not validating those dispositions and uses of original mental health land 11 and, as a result, not removing the legal basis for the lis pendens filed by the Weiss plaintiffs 12 would be contrary to the requirement of art. VIII, sec. 2, of the Alaska Constitution that the 13 legislature "provide for the utilization, development, and conservation of all natural resources 14 belonging to the State, including land and waters, for the maximum benefit of its people;"

15 (11) the questions the Weiss plaintiffs have raised regarding the validity of 16 those dispositions and uses and the lis pendens that they have filed have resulted in substantial 17 criticism of and hostility directed against the mental health trust and the trust's beneficiaries;

18 (12) the original 1,000,000 acre mental health land grant has not generated in 19 the past, and is not likely to generate in the future, sufficient income and proceeds to fully 20 fund the state's mental health program, and the beneficiaries of the mental health trust have 21 been, and will continue to be, dependent on unrestricted state revenue to fund much of the 22 state's mental health program;

23 (13) because of the criticism and hostility directed against the mental health 24 trust and the trust's beneficiaries, failure to resolve the Weiss litigation and validate the 25 dispositions and uses of original mental health land and remove the legal basis for the lis 26 pendens filed by the Weiss plaintiffs will make it increasingly difficult for the beneficiaries 27 of the mental health trust and those concerned about the beneficiaries to obtain appropriations 28 of unrestricted state revenue to fund the state's mental health program;

29 (14) it therefore is in the public interest and in the best interests of the mental 30 health trust and the trust's beneficiaries to exercise the legislature's power under the Alaska 31 Mental Health Enabling Act and art. VIII, sec. 2, of the Alaska Constitution to confirm and

1 ratify the validity of the dispositions and uses of original mental health land and, by answering 2 the questions regarding the validity of those dispositions and uses of original mental health 3 land, remove the legal basis for the lis pendens filed by the Weiss plaintiffs;

4 (15) it is in the best interests of both the public and the beneficiaries of the 5 mental health trust to resolve the Weiss litigation on terms that are fair to both the public and 6 the beneficiaries of the mental health trust;

7 (16) such a resolution can be accomplished by exercising the legislature's 8 power under the Alaska Mental Health Enabling Act and art. VIII, sec. 2, of the Alaska
9 Constitution, through amending ch. 66, SLA 1991,

10 (A) to return certain original mental health land to trust status;

11 (B) to ratify and confirm the removal from trust status of certain 12 original mental health land and the validity of dispositions and uses of that land, 13 including but not necessarily limited to certain original mental health land

14 (i) that has been purchased by, conveyed to, or leased by third 15 parties;

16 (ii) on which third parties have made significant development 17 expenditures;

18 (iii) that has been conveyed to or tentatively approved for 19 conveyance to municipalities;

20 (iv) that has been placed in legislatively designated areas like 21 parks, wildlife refuges, and state forests; or

22 (v) that is used by state agencies;

23 (C) to make clear that the legislature intends to compensate the mental 24 health trust for the original mental health land removed from trust status by this Act 25 through a combination of replacement land and state money;

26 (D) to designate certain other state land as mental health land as partial 27 compensation and in exchange for original mental health land not returned to trust 28 status;

29 (E) to identify state mental health expenditures since 1978 to be set-off 30 against state monetary liability to the trust for original mental health land not returned 31 to trust status; and

1 (F) to satisfy additional state monetary liability to the trust for original 2 mental health land not returned to trust status with state general funds and to provide 3 that those funds will first be appropriated to fund the state's mental health program;

4 (17) since 1978, state mental health expenditures have totaled more than 5 $1,300,000,000;

6 (18) the sum of the value of the other state land designated as mental health 7 trust land under this Act and the total of state mental health expenditures since 1978 exceeds 8 the value of the original mental health land not returned to trust status under this Act;

9 (19) the management of land designated under this Act as mental health trust 10 land will have significant administrative costs that will reduce the trust's net income and 11 proceeds;

12 (20) the Department of Natural Resources has considerable expertise in 13 managing state land, and it already has in place the facilities, personnel, and other necessary 14 infrastructure for efficient, cost-effective land management of land designated as mental health 15 trust land under this Act;

16 (21) it therefore is in the best interest of the public and of the trust and its 17 beneficiaries that the Department of Natural Resources manage the land designated as mental 18 health trust land under this Act; and

19 (22) if, by December 15, 1994, a final determination has been made by the 20 superior court that the state has satisfied its obligation to reconstitute the mental health trust
21 under State v. Weiss, 706 P.2d 681 (Alaska 1985), the superior court has entered a final order
22 dismissing Weiss v. State, 4FA-82-2208 Civil, and the time for appeals of that determination 23 and that order has expired with no appeals having been taken, even though it is not legally 24 required by the Alaska Mental Health Enabling Act or the Alaska Constitution, it is in the best 25 interest of both the public and the beneficiaries of the mental health trust

26 (A) to have the provisions of ch. 66, SLA 1991, that establish the 27 Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority become law;

28 (B) to amend the provisions of ch. 66, SLA 1991, that establish the 29 mental health trust fund, to provide for preserving the corpus of the mental health trust, 30 including an initial appropriation of $200,000,000 to that fund, in perpetuity and to 31 have the provisions, as amended, become law;

1 (C) to provide for the Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority to use the 2 income from the mental health trust fund to assist it in fulfilling its purpose of 3 ensuring an integrated comprehensive mental health program for the state; and

4 (D) to have the provisions of ch. 66, SLA 1991, that improve the 5 state's mental health program become law.

6 (b) The purposes of this Act are

7 (1) to reconstitute the mental health trust with some original mental health land 8 and some other state land;

9 (2) to ratify and confirm the removal from trust status of some original mental 10 health land;

11 (3) to ratify and confirm the validity of the dispositions and uses of the original 12 mental health land removed from trust status;

13 (4) to define state mental health expenditures since 1978 and provide for them 14 to be considered as additional compensation for original mental health land removed from trust 15 status;

16 (5) to satisfy any additional state monetary liability to the trust for original 17 mental health land not returned to trust status with state general funds, to provide that those 18 funds will first be appropriated to fund the state's mental health program, and to provide for 19 the transfer of any unappropriated balance to the unrestricted general fund for appropriation 20 for other public purposes as permitted by the Alaska Mental Health Enabling Act; and

21 (6) if, by December 15, 1994, a final determination has been made by the 22 superior court that the state has satisfied its obligation to reconstitute the mental health trust
23 under State v. Weiss, 706 P.2d 681 (Alaska 1985), the superior court has entered a final order
24 dismissing Weiss v. State, 4FA-82-2208 Civil, and the time for appeals of that determination 25 and that order has expired with no appeals having been taken,

26 (A) to have the provisions of ch. 66, SLA 1991, that establish the 27 Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority become law;

28 (B) to amend the provisions of ch. 66, SLA 1991, that establish the 29 mental health trust fund to provide for preserving the corpus of the mental health trust, 30 including an initial appropriation of $200,000,000, in perpetuity and to have the 31 provisions, as amended, become law;

1 (C) to provide for the Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority to use the 2 income from the mental health trust fund to assist it in fulfilling its purpose of 3 ensuring an integrated comprehensive mental health program for the state; and

4 (D) to have the provisions of ch. 66, SLA 1991, that improve the 5 state's mental health program become law.

6 * Sec. 2. AS 29.65.060 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

7 (h) To obtain replacement land for mental health land that was conveyed by 8 the state to the municipality under former AS 29.18.190 - 29.18.200, former 9 AS 29.18.201 - 29.18.202, or under this chapter, a municipality may reconvey to the 10 state land that had been conveyed by the state to the municipality. When a 11 municipality reconveys land to the state under this subsection, the municipality has the 12 right to select an equal number of acres of replacement land. The municipality may 13 exercise its right to select replacement land under this subsection only within two years 14 of the date of the reconveyance of land to the state.
