Re: 00-3077
House Bill 314

Honorable Bill Ray
Alaska State Senator
State Capitol Building
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Senator Ray:

In support of our request for your favorable consideration of the captioned legislation, we are attaching a copy of the Federal Highway Amendments of 1974 and a copy of a letter from the Assistant Chief Counsel for Right-of-Way and Environmental Law, Federal Highway Administration, Department of Transportation.

The purpose of the proposed amendment is to bring Alaska into compliance with federal law. Failure to do so will subject the state to loss of ten percent of the entire federal participation in Alaska's highway program (approximately $10-$12 million). It should be noted that the off-system roads program, by which the State has the most opportunity to meet local requirements, would be affected by over $1 million in lost funds. The State can ill afford any further cut back of transportation facilities.

Since the federal law provides that each state must be in compliance by July 1, 1975 or the end of the present legislative session, it is crucial that action be taken at this time.

Therefore, we again respectfully request your assistance in passing this much needed legislation.

Sincerely yours,

W. B. Parker

SUBJECT: Model Legislation to Meet the Outdoor Advertising and Junkyard Control Provision in the Federal-Aid Highway Amendments of 1974

We have drafted model legislation which it is believed will enable States to comply with the outdoor advertising and junkyard provisions of the Federal-Aid Highway Amendments of 1974. It is noted that a State must adopt these controls by July 1, 1975, or the end of its next legislative session, whichever is later, or be subject to the penalties in 23 U.S.C. 131(b). Our draft legislation takes the form of subjecting signs beyond 660 feet of the right-of-way to the same controls as signs within 660 feet by reference. We did not feel it practical to draft model legislation to amend various sections of existing State law to cover the signs beyond 660 feet, because of the wide variations in such existing legislation. Of course, any State could adopt specific amendments to their law to remove the 660-foot limitations. However, the States should be cautioned that the control is different within and without 660 feet in three important respects. (First, signs beyond 660 feet are controlled whether or not in zoned or unzoned commercial or industrial areas. Second, signs beyond 660 feet are only controlled if outside of urban areas. Third, signs beyond 660 feet are only controlled if they were erected for the purpose of their message being read from the main traveled way of an Interstate or primary system highway. For the first reason, just a repeal of the 660-foot limitation on control in existing law would not effectuate compliance with the Federal statute.

The model legislation we have drafted reads:

1. Outdoor Advertising Control Extended Beyond 660 Feet.

Control of outdoor advertising signs, displays and devices is extended to signs, displays and devices located beyond 660 feet of the edge of the right-of-way of the Federal-aid Interstate or primary systems outside of urban areas erected with the purpose of their message being read from the main traveled ways of such systems. Such signs, displays or devices are prohibited, whether or not in commercial or industrial areas, unless they are of a class or type allowed on the right-of-way of such system outside of commercial or industrial areas.

2. Just Compensation Payable for Signs Beyond 660 Feet.

Legal outdoor, advertising signs, displays or devices prohibited by section 1 shall be removed upon the payment of just compensation in the same manner and subject to the same limitations as signs lawfully erected within 660 feet of the edge of the right-of-way of the Federal-aid Interstate and primary systems outside of commercial and industrial areas.

3. Landmark Signs.

Signs lawfully in existence on October 22, 1965, determined by the State, subject to the concurrence of the United States Secretary of Transportation, to be landmark signs, including signs on farm structures or natural surfaces, of historic or artistic significance, the preservation of which would be consistent with the purposes of this section, are not required to be removed.

NOTE: (1) This model act follows the control language of the Federal-Aid Highway Amendments of 1974, but a State may adopt language effecting stricter limitations with respect to signs, displays and devices, in accordance with 23 U.S.C. 131(k). These stricter controls might limit signs beyond 660 feet in urban areas, or prohibit any sign visible from the highway.

NOTE: (2) This model act does not cover sections 109(c) or 110 of the 1974 Amendments which require just compensation upon the removal of outdoor advertising or the relocation, removal or disposal of junkyards. We view these provisions as ending the hiatus period of October 22, 1965, to January 1, 1968, in Federal law during which there was no requirement for just compensation. However, if the State in its law does not require the payment of just compensation for signs or junkyards in existence prior to the adoption of State-wide outdoor advertising or junkyard control, additional State amendments to its control laws should be adopted providing;

(a) Just compensation shall be paid upon the removal of any outdoor advertising sign display or device lawfully erected under the laws of this State which is caused to be removed under this [Chapter] [Article].

(b) Just Compensation shall be paid the owner for the relocation removal, or disposal of a junkyard lawfully established under the laws of this State which is caused to be relocated, removed or disposed of under this [Chapter] [Article].

Alaska, no part of such a ferry operation shall be in any foreign or international waters.¹²⁶

(6) No such ferry shall be sold, leased, or otherwise disposed of without the approval of the Secretary. The Federal share of any proceeds from such a disposition shall be credited to the unprogramed balance of Federal-aid highway funds of the same class last apportioned to such State. Any amount so credited shall be in addition to all other funds then apportioned to such State and available for expenditure in accordance with the provisions of this title.¹²⁷

(h) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 301 of this title, in the case of each State which, before January 1, 1975, shall have constructed or acquired any interstate toll bridge (including approaches thereto), which before January 1, 1975, caused such toll bridge to be made free, which bridge is owned and maintained by such State or by a political subdivision thereof, and which bridge is on the Federal-aid primary system (other than the Interstate System), sums apportioned to such State in accordance with paragraphs (1) and (3) of subsection (b) of section 104 of this title shall be available to pay the Federal share of a project under this subsection of (1) such amount as the Secretary determines to be the reasonable value of such bridge after deducting therefrom that portion of such value attributable to any grant or contribution previously paid by the United States in connection with the construction or acquisition of such bridge, and exclusive of right-of-way, or (2) the amount by which the principal amount of the outstanding unpaid bonds or other obligations created and issued for the construction or acquisition of such bridge exceeds the amount of any funds accumulated or provided for their amortization, on the date such bridge is made free, whichever is the lesser amount.¹²⁸

Sec. 130. Railway-highway crossings.

(a) Except as provided in subsection (d) of section 120 of this title and subsection (b) of this section, the entire cost of construction of projects for the elimination of hazards of railway-highway crossings, including the separation or protection of grades at crossings, the reconstruction of existing railroad grade crossing structures, and the relocation of highways to eliminate grade crossings, may be paid from sums apportioned in accordance with section 104 of this title. In any case when the elimination of the hazards of a railway-highway crossing can be effected by the relocation of a portion of a railway at a cost estimated by the Secretary to be less than the cost of such elimination by one of the methods mentioned in the first sentence of this section, then the entire cost of such relocation project, except as provided in subsection (d) of section 120 of this title and subsection (b) of this section.

¹²⁶ Amended by sec. 139(h) of Public Law 93-87, Aug. 13, 1973 (87 Stat. 271).

¹²⁷ New subsection added by sec. 139 of Public Law 91-605, Dec. 31, 1970 (84 Stat. 1713).

¹²⁸ New subsection added by sec. 132 of Public Law 93-87, Aug. 13, 1973 (87 Stat. 267).

may be paid from sums apportioned in accordance with section 104 of this title.

(b) The Secretary may classify the various types of projects involved in the elimination of hazards of railway-highway crossings, and may set for each such classification a percentage of the costs of construction which shall be deemed to represent the net benefit to the railroad or railroads for the purpose of determining the railroad's share of the cost of construction. The percentage so determined shall in no case exceed 10 per centum. The Secretary shall determine the appropriate classification of each project.

(c) Any railroad involved in a project for the elimination of hazards of railway-highway crossings paid for in whole or in part from sums made available for expenditure under this title, or prior Acts, shall be liable to the United States for the net benefit to the railroad determined under the classification of such project made pursuant to subsection (b) of this section. Such liability to the United States may be discharged by direct payment to the State highway department of the State in which the project is located, in which case such payment shall be credited to the cost of the project. Such payment may consist in whole or in part of materials and labor furnished by the railroad in connection with the construction of such project. If any such railroad fails to discharge such liability within a six-month period after completion of the project, it shall be liable to the United States for its share of the cost, and the Secretary shall request the Attorney General to institute proceedings against such railroad for the recovery of the amount for which it is liable under this subsection. The Attorney General is authorized to bring such proceedings on behalf of the United States, in the appropriate district court of the United States, and the United States shall be entitled in such proceedings to recover such sums as it is considered and adjudged by the court that such railroad is liable for in the premises. Any amounts recovered by the United States under this subsection shall be credited to miscellaneous receipts.

Sec. 131. Control of outdoor advertising.¹²⁹

(a) The Congress hereby finds and declares that the erection and maintenance of outdoor advertising signs, displays, and devices in areas adjacent to the Interstate System and the primary system should be controlled in order to protect the public investment in such highways, to promote the safety and recreational value of public travel, and to preserve natural beauty.

(b) Federal-aid highway funds apportioned on or after January 1, 1968, to any State which the Secretary determines has not made provision for effective control of the erection and maintenance along the Interstate System and the primary system of outdoor advertising signs, displays, and devices which are within six hundred and sixty feet of the nearest edge of the right-of-way and visible from the main traveled way of the system, shall be reduced by amounts equal to 10 per centum of the amounts which would otherwise be apportioned to such State under section 104 of this title, until such time as such State shall provide for such effective control. Any amount which is withheld from apportionment to any State hereunder shall be reapportioned to the other States. Whenever he determines it to be in the public interest, the Secretary may suspend, for such periods as he deems necessary, the application of this subsection to a State.

(c) Effective control means that after January 1, 1968, such signs, displays, and devices shall, pursuant to this section, be limited to (1) directional and other official signs and notices, which signs and notices shall include, but not be limited to, signs and notices pertaining to natural wonders, scenic and historical attractions, which are required or authorized by law, which shall conform to national standards hereby authorized to be promulgated by the Secretary hereunder, which standards shall contain provisions concerning the lighting, size, number, and spacing of signs, and such other requirements as may be appropriate to implement this section, (2) signs, displays, and devices advertising the sale or lease of property upon which they are located, and (3) signs, displays, and devices advertising activities conducted on the property on which they are located.

(d) In order to promote the reasonable, orderly and effective display of outdoor advertising while remaining consistent with the purposes of this section, signs, displays, and devices whose size, lighting and spacing, consistent with customary use is to be determined by agreement between the several States and the Secretary, may be erected and maintained within six hundred and sixty feet of the nearest edge of the right-of-way within areas adjacent to the Interstate and primary systems which are zoned industrial or commercial under authority of State law, or in unzoned commercial or industrial areas as may be determined by agreement between the several States and the Secretary. The States shall have full authority under their own zoning laws to zone areas for commercial or industrial purposes, and the actions of the States in this regard will be accepted for the purposes of this Act. Whenever a bona fide State, county, or local zoning authority has made a determination of customary use, such determination will be accepted in lieu of controls by agreement in the zoned commercial and industrial areas within the geographic jurisdiction of such authority. Nothing in this subsection shall apply to signs, displays, and devices referred to in clauses (2) and (3) of subsection (c) of this section.¹²⁰

(e) Any sign, display, or device lawfully in existence along the Interstate System or the Federal-aid primary system on September 1, 1965, which does not conform to this section shall not be required to be removed until July 1, 1970. Any other sign, display, or device lawfully erected which does not conform to this section shall not be required to be removed until the end of the fifth year after it becomes nonconforming.

¹²⁰ Amended by sec. 6(a) of Public Law 90-495, Aug. 23, 1968 (82 Stat. 815).

(f) The Secretary shall, in consultation with the States, provide within the rights-of-way for areas at appropriate distances from interchanges on the Interstate System, on which signs, displays, and devices giving specific information in the interest of the traveling public may be erected and maintained. Such signs shall conform to national standards to be promulgated by the Secretary.

(g) Just compensation shall be paid upon the removal of the following outdoor advertising signs, displays, and devices—

(1) those lawfully in existence on the date of enactment of this subsection,

(2) those lawfully on any highway made a part of the interstate or primary system on or after the date of enactment of this subsection and before January 1, 1968, and

(3) those lawfully erected on or after January 1, 1968.

The Federal share of such compensation shall be 75 per centum. Such compensation shall be paid for the following:

(A) The taking from the owner of such sign, display, or device of all right, title, leasehold, and interest in such sign, display, or device; and

(B) The taking from the owner of the real property on which the sign, display, or device is located, of the right to erect and maintain such signs, displays, and devices thereon.

(h) All public lands or reservations of the United States which are adjacent to any portion of the Interstate System and the primary system shall be controlled in accordance with the provisions of this section and the national standards promulgated by the Secretary.

(i) In order to provide information in the specific interest of the traveling public, the State highway departments are authorized to maintain maps and to permit informational directories and advertising pamphlets to be made available at safety rest areas. Subject to the approval of the Secretary, a State may also establish information centers at safety rest areas for the purpose of informing the public of places of interest within the State and providing such other information as a State may consider desirable.

(j) Any State highway department which has, under this section as in effect on June 30, 1965, entered into an agreement with the Secretary to control the erection and maintenance of outdoor advertising signs, displays, and devices in areas adjacent to the Interstate System shall be entitled to receive the bonus payments as set forth in the agreement, but no such State highway department shall be entitled to such payments unless the State maintains the control required under such agreement. Such payments shall be paid only from appropriations made to carry out this section. The provisions of this subsection shall not be construed to exempt any State from controlling outdoor advertising as otherwise provided in this section.¹²¹

where W = overall gross weight on any group of two or more consecutive axles to the nearest 500 pounds, L = distance in feet between the extreme of any group of two or more consecutive axles, and N = number of axles in group under consideration, except that two consecutive sets of tandem axles may carry a gross load of 31,000 pounds each providing the overall distance between the first and last axles of such consecutive sets of tandem axles is thirty six feet or more; provided, That such overall gross weight may not exceed eighty thousand pounds, including all enforcement tolerances."

DEMONSTRATION PROJECT—RAILROAD-HIGHWAY CROSSING

Senate bill

Section 101 of the Senate bill amends section 163 of the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1973 by directing the Secretary of Transportation to carry out an engineering and feasibility study for a demonstration project in Lafayette, Indiana, for relocation of railroad lines. The section authorizes the appropriation of $360,000 to carry out this amendment.

Senate bill

Section 105(a) of the Senate bill contains a statement of national policy which is similar to that found in section 16(a) of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended, and which declares that elderly and handicapped persons have the same right to utilize mass transportation systems as other persons.

The section amends section 165(b) to insure that any project receiving Federal financial assistance under the Federal-aid urban system, interstate transfer, or rural bus demonstration sections of the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1973 shall be "planned, designed, constructed and operated so as to allow effective utilization by elderly or handicapped persons", including those in wheelchairs.

VEHICLE SIZES AND WEIGHTS

Senate bill

Section 106 of the Senate bill amends section 127 of title 23, United States Code, by striking out "eighteen thousand pounds carried on any one axle, with a tandem-axle weight in excess of thirty-two thousand pounds, or with an overall gross weight in excess of seventy-three thousand two hundred and eighty pounds," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "twenty thousand pounds carried on any one axle, including all enforcement tolerances; ten thousand pounds on the steering axle of any truck tractor, including all enforcement tolerances; or with a tandem axle weight in excess of thirty-four thousand pounds, including all enforcement tolerances; or with an overall gross weight on a group of two or more consecutive axles produced by application of the following formula:

where W = overall gross weight on any group of two or more consecutive axles to the nearest 500 pounds, L = distance in feet between the extreme of any group of two or more consecutive axles, and N = number of axles in group under consideration, except that two consecutive sets of tandem axles may carry a gross load of 31,000 pounds each providing the overall distance between the first and last axles of such consecutive sets of tandem axles is thirty-six feet or more: Provided, That such overall gross weight may not exceed eighty thousand pounds, including all enforcement tolerances."

House amendment

No comparable provision.

Conference substitute

The conference substitute is identical to the Senate bill except as follows:

(1) The phrase "10,000 pounds on the steering axle of any truck tractor, including all enforcement tolerances;" is deleted.

(2) Because of inclusion in the Senate passed bill of a new and additional weight limitation on any group of two or more consecutive axles of vehicles operating on the Interstate System, clarifying language was added by the Conference Committee to express the intent of the Senate as stated by the floor manager when this provision was debated on the Senate floor. The added language makes it clear that any vehicle or combination of vehicles that could lawfully operate in a State on the date of enactment of the Federal-Aid Highway Amendments of 1974 may be permitted to continue to operate on the Interstate System in such State even though the overall gross weight of any group of consecutive axles may exceed that permitted by the formula in this section.

STATE ENFORCEMENT

Senate bill

Section 107 of the Senate bill amends section 127 of title 23, United States Code, by adding a new subsection (b) which requires each State to certify annually that State size and weight laws are being enforced on Federal-aid primary, secondary, and urban systems within the State.

The section provides that, whenever State certification fails to satisfy the Secretary that State vehicle size and weight limitations are being adequately and uniformly enforced on any non-Interstate Federal-aid system, the Secretary must refuse to approve programs or projects for such system until he receives assurances satisfactory to him that the requirements of this subsection are being met.

House amendment

Section 107 of the House amendment provides that each State must certify to the Secretary before January 1 of each year that it is enforcing all State laws respecting maximum vehicle size and weights permitted on the Interstate System in accordance with section 127 of this title, and all speed limits on public highways in accordance with section 2 of the Emergency Highway Energy Conservation Act (Public Law 93-239). The Secretary shall not approve any project under section 106 of this title in any State which has failed to certify in accordance with this section.

Conference substitute

The conference substitute is a combination of the Senate bill and the House amendment and requires each State to certify to the Secretary annually that it is enforcing all State laws respecting maximum vehicle size and weights on all Federal-aid systems. In addition, this section enforces all maximum speed limits on public highways.

ALASKA FERRY OPERATIONS

Senate bill

Section 108 of the Senate bill amends section 129(g) (5) of title 23, United States Code, by augmenting the operating authority of the Alaska ferry system in international waters to include stops at appropriate points in the Dominion of Canada.

House amendment

No comparable provision.

Conference substitute

The conference substitute is the same as the Senate bill.

CONTROL OF OUTDOOR ADVERTISING

Senate bill

Section 109 amends section 131(b) of title 23, United States Code, to require that "effective control" of outdoor advertising include measures for regulating signs erected more than 660 feet from the nearest edge of the right-of-way if they are legible from the main traveled way of the highway. The test of legibility is whether the message on a sign, either pictorial or written, can be communicated to a motorist with normal vision traveling at the posted speed on the main traveled way. This amendment would not prevent States from imposing more stringent controls, including restrictions on all signs visible from the controlled highway. This section also authorizes the Secretary to impose a penalty of 10 percent of the highway funds apportioned to any State which did not provide after January 1, 1975, or the end of the next session of the State Legislature, whichever is later, for the control of signs beyond 660 feet which are legible from the main traveled way.

In addition, this section guarantees just compensation for the removal only of those signs lawfully erected under State law prior to enactment of the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1974.

Section 109(e) amends section 131(f) of title 23, United States Code, by expanding the use of official "logo" signs to the Primary System, as well as the Interstate.

Section 109(g) of the Senate bill amends section 131(i) of title 23, United States Code, to provide for Federal financial assistance to the States in establishing information centers at safety rest areas and other travel information systems within the rights-of-way of Interstate and primary highways. The Federal share of the cost of establishing the information centers and other alternate information systems is 75 percent, and up to 20 percent of the funds provided for section 131 may be used for these purposes.

Section 109(h) amends section 131(m) of title 23, United States Code, to provide for an increase in authorizations for highway beautification to $65 million for each of the two fiscal years 1975 and 1976.

House amendment

Section 103(a) of the House amends section 131(b), title 23, United States Code, by extending outdoor advertising controls beyond the present 660 feet from the edge of the highway right-of-way to cover signs which are visible from the main traveled way and which were erected for the purpose of being read from the main traveled way of the Interstate or Federal-aid primary system, and States would be given until January 1, 1975, or after the expiration of the next regular session of the State legislature, whichever is later, to conform to such extended control requirements.

Section 103(b) amends the definition of "effective control" in section 131 of title 23, United States Code.

Section 103(c) amends subsection (d) of section 131, title 23, United States Code, to assure that outdoor advertising in areas zoned industrial or commercial will be permitted in the extended control zone.

Section 103(d) amends section 131(e) of title 23, United States Code, to indicate that any nonconforming sign under State law enacted to comply with such section shall be removed no later than the end of the fifth year which becomes nonconforming, except as determined by the Secretary.

Section 103(e) amends section 131(f) of title 23, United States Code, to authorize the Secretary to permit the States to allow certain directional signs within the right-of-way of Federal-aid primary highways. Section 103(f) of the House amendment amends section 131(g) of title 23, United States Code, to insure the payment of just compensation in the case of signs which were lawfully erected under State law but which are required to be removed. In addition, section 103(g) of the House amendment adds three new subsections to provide as follows:

(1) Subsection (o) provides that no sign lawfully in existence on June 1, 1972, giving directional information in the specific interest of the traveling public need be removed until December 31, 1975, or until the State where the sign is located certifies that directional information is reasonably available from other sources, whichever first occurs.

(2) Subsection (p) is designed to prevent inequities from arising where a second removal of a sign is required by virtue of the provisions contained in this bill, a new amendment authorizing 100 percent Federal funding for removing such signs is added.

(3) Subsection (q)(1) directs the Secretary to assist States in assuring the motorist adequate directional information concerning available goods and services. He is further directed to consider functional and esthetic factors in developing the national standards for highway signs authorized by section 131 (e) and (f). Paragraph (2) of subsection (q) lists those signs which could be considered to provide directional information about available goods and services. Paragraph (3) directs the Secretary to encourage the States to defer removing necessary directional information signs of this type which were in place on June 1, 1972, until all other non-conforming signs were removed. Paragraph (4) permits any facility providing the motorist with goods and services in the interest of the traveling public to continue using one nonconforming sign in each direction on any highway subject to a State statute implementing section 131, if the sign renders directional information about the facility, it had been in place on June 1, 1972, and it is within 75 miles of the facility or such distance as the State shall establish. A qualifying sign is to remain until the Secretary is satisfied that the information is being provided by one of the enumerated alternatives, or such other alternative as the State deems adequate.
