Foreword

This publication is a compilation of public revenues from alcohol beverages received by Federal, State, and Local Governments for the year 1974.

Included in this report are federal excise, rectification, and occupational taxes, import duties, and miscellaneous direct levies. State and local revenues include such things as excise and sales taxes, profits from state store markups, license fees, gross income taxes, and brand registration fees. In all cases the term "alcohol beverages" refers to an aggregation of distilled spirits, beer, and wine. Most of the data are based on a calendar year; in some states, however, only fiscal-year revenues were obtainable. We have carefully noted the calendar period reflected in each of our figures. State and local revenue figures contained in this publication were gathered by surveying the relevant taxing authorities.

The first section lists total annual public revenues received by all levels of government from alcohol beverages from 1933 through 1974. The second section summarizes these revenues by each of the three levels of government.

The final section (beginning on page thirteen) itemizes, state-by-state, individual taxes and fees, including profits from the operation of state liquor stores, and the revenues attributable to each. This section also indicates the method of control within a state, contains a summary statement regarding the allocation of revenues from alcohol beverages, and includes miscellaneous memorandum comments of interest.

As in the past, when actual receipts were not available, estimates were made by us. Consultations with state and local officials together with improved methodology have enabled us to refine the estimated figures and to determine with greater accuracy whether revenues accrue to state or local authorities. Revised 1973 figures for the states affected are available from the Research and Statistics Division.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the personnel of local and state control, licensing, and taxing authorities, and of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms, who so graciously supplied us with the special compilations which make this publication possible.

The data shown are exclusive of import duties and are not entirely indicative of the Federal tax burden of the respective states since the taxes paid by distilleries, wineries, and breweries may be eventually borne by persons of other states. Individual state collections previously shown on this page are not available.

NOTE: Collections were reported only in thousands of dollars and collections under $500 were not reported, so detail may not add to totals. Collections listed are exclusive of import duties collected.

STATE REVENUES

Alcohol beverages produced $3,445,104,151 in revenue for the fifty states and the District of Columbia in 1974. This figure represents net revenue after deducting the cost of goods sold and cost of sales operations in those states operating state store systems and cost of administration in both control and license states were available.

Forty-six percent of this revenue was derived from state taxes exclusive of the general sales tax; twenty-two percent from state store profits; twenty-eight percent from general sales taxes and four percent from license fees and miscellaneous income. The following table shows an increase of $227,520,565 in 1974 over 1973. Significant increases were reported in collections from ABC taxes, sales taxes, and state store profits in 1974.
