Senate Resources Committee,

I am writing to show my support of H.B,192 to buy back the leases from the oil companies. It seems to me that Kachemak is not one of the places in Alaska for oil developement. Fishing is important in this beautiful area. Maybe in the future when the earth is out of oil and the oil companies are more responsible and experienced, and through public hearings you find local support, will be the time for this kind of developement in Kachemak Bay.

Sincerely,

David R. Miles

It is important for the future generations of Alaskans that the leases of Katchemak Bay be repurchased by the State.

Many persons are aware of the harmful affects of even the minutest partical of oil on the shellfish fishery. This has been studied carefully by National Marine Fisheries Lab. This fishery should be protected from development.

Dear Senators;

As you know, Katchemak bay bioassay studies conducted at the Auke Bay Lab indicate that very low levels of crude oil: .1 to 1 part per million is toxic to larval stages of stages of shellfish.

Larval studies by the National Marine Fisheries Assoc. indicate that upwards to 507 billion larva are released in this bay annually and settle on the North Shore of Katchemak bay. (Bluff Point). This is 35 million per square mile of the bay.

The legislature, in its wisdom, passed last year, the necessary act to reacquire these leases and the State and Standard Oil have negotiated in good faith to arrive at a satisfactory settlement.

We strongly urge you to support this appropriation for reacquisition in HB 192.

E.P.A. records show that out of 260 recorded spills in Cook Inlet, 143 were caused by industrial carelessness. There is too great a risk to allow this fishery to be destroyed.

Sincerely,

Miss Mary Ellen Culbreathson

The Honorable Kay Poland
Chairman; Senate Resources Committee

Dear Senator,

In the near future your committee will be holding hearings on the Kachemak Bay buy back bill. This issue is of extreme importance to the fishermen of Kachemak Bay. The majority of these fishermen are either heading for the herring grounds or involved in other fisheries and will not be able to attend the hearing. Those opposed to the buy back have chartered a plane and will be giving testimony. We hope that our absence is not taken as a lack of concern since we have all worked very hard to insure that Kachemak Bay will not be risked to oil development and we strongly favor the buy back program.

We ask that the following be considered in your decision concerning the buy back program;

- (1) Kachemak Bay is well documented as having the richest marine environment in the world.
- (2) The first wholesale value of fishery resources harvested in 1976 was $10,772,000.00.
- (3) Kachemak Bay is a spawning and rearing area for much of the fishery resources of Cook Inlet, and as such, is a critical habitat area.
- (4) The final Cook Inlet E.I.S. section 3D fully illustrates and defines the effects of oil development on the fishery resources and shows clearly the need to protect Kachemak Bay.
- (5) The Federal leasing has been withdrawn to establish a 13 mile buffer zone adjacent to Kachemak Bay.
- (6) There is not adequate facilities to utilize oil from the pipeline and the problem of what to do with the excess oil has not been solved. Any oil development that poses a high risk to renewable resources should be delayed until the oil can be used to satisfy the energy needs of the U.S. and not for export. The U.S. needs to develop an energy plan that will insure wise use of all our energy resources.
- (7) There is not available anywhere adequate clean up equipment that could be used successfully to clean up an oil spill where wind and tide are present. This fact was very evident from the recent experience on the East coast of the U.S..
- (8) Should there be oil on the leases involved in the buy back it's value will increase and the risk imposed by it's extraction will be decreased by the development of better technology. This approach to energy resource development is now being undertaken by the people responsible and is being endorsed by the majority of Americans.

to share this hardship by paying an assessment on fish products harvested in Kachemak Bay. We also know that we will be the most affected by oil development because of our dependency on the fishery resources. Therefore we ask that you carefully consider what we have stated and support the buy back program.

We also wish to express our strong desire, not only to stop any oil development in Kachemak Bay, but also to severely control oil development in any other coastal region of Alaska, especially where fisheries are threatened.

Senator Kay Poland
Chairperson
Senate Resources Committee

Hello,

I am a four year resident of Alaska and a commercial fisherman for three years. I fish in the waters of Kachemak and Kamishak Bay, both adjacent to the oil lease areas of Lower Cook Inlet. I am against any hydrocarbon exploitation in those areas, not because I derive a portion of my income from fishing, but because of the richness of life in those areas. Hugh salmon runs, crab (king, tanner, and dungeness), shrimp, halibut, cod, and a variety of sea mammals make their home in these waters. The outer Kachemak Bay area is an important breeding ground for king crab and shrimp. Kachemak Bay has been called the richest food producing area in the world. The State has wisely bought back the oil leases in that area.

Oil operations are not fail-safe. And, despite the scantily progressive spill clean-up technology, this area would be in special danger due to the second highest tides in the world. Oil dispersment would be rapid. (this tidal cleansing action is one reason why the waters are so rich). Also, The Lower Cook Inlet is subject to intense seismic and volcanic activity. In January, 1975 Mt. St. Augustine erupted sending ash over a huge area. From a Feb. 2 UPI print-out, "Professor Juergen Kienle of the University Of Alaska says the volcanic explosion that shook Mount St. Augustine last month gave off a strange heat wave similar to that of an atomic explosion. He says trees on a nearby island were burned on the side facing the mountain, but remained green on the opposite side." This mountain is a stone's throw from the oil lease area in question.

Who would pay for a disaster? We all would. Can we risk any possible depletion in an important food resource? Is it worth a few months supply of oil? I say NO!

In a 1976 poll taken by the U. of A. 70% of Kachimak Bay residents said NO to oil development in Lower Cook Inlet. 10,000 other Alaskans, in the same poll, spoke out in opposition.

President Carter has recently expressed similar concerns for certain Alaskan waters, Cook Inlet Among them. I hope, in the upcoming hearings that Lower Cook Inlet be nominated a marine sanctuary and oil exploitation be banned.

Dear Sirs,

The only way our fisheries will be assured their future is if our waters can support fish. There is a bill (H.B. 192) which favors the buy back of Kachemak Bay from the oil companies. There is no alternative. This must be done. We are jeopardising the future of our own fisheries if we leave them in the hands of the oil concerns.

I urge you to support the Kachemak Bay buy back.

Dear Senator Poland;

The Kenai Peninsula Chapter, Alaska Conservation Society, would like to urge your committee to approve the Senate version of the Kachemak Bay "buy-back" bill, H.B. 192.

While we obviously do not know the "politics" behind the procrastination in funding, the concept of "buy-back" had already been approved by both Senate and House.

We continue to maintain what has already been repeated many times; the Bay has both rare scenic beauty and important marine habitat value, which should not be disrupted by oil development.

As fisherpersons and concerned year-around residents of 30 and 19 years respectively, we are vitally interested in passage of HB 192 Kachemak Bay Buy Back Bill.

It seems as though there are enough other areas of the State in which to explore and/or develop oil without disturbing a critical habitat area.

We urge your support of passage for HB 192.

Dear Clem,

I find that I just do not have the time right now to write personal letters to all the members of Senate so if you wish you may pass my comments on this matter on to them.

I have lived in Alaska with my family for a good many years now, nearly all of which have been in Soldotna. During this time we have enjoyed the many wonderful recreational opportunities available to us in this general area. A fair portion of this recreational enjoyment (and subsistence use) has come from utilizing Kachemak Bay and its surroundings.

We have utilized the Bay for fishing, shrimping, crabbing, boating and just plain sight-seeing. We would certainly oppose any activity that might in any way damage any of these resources. Unfortunately oil development has proven to be one of the most detrimental uses in our age.

In addition to the personal enjoyment of the Bay's resources I feel a vested economic interest in preserving its marine life. I have in my practice many active fishermen who make all or most of their living from harvesting these same resources. These people are a valuable asset to my practice as well as a personally satisfying asset through their friendships.

What I am really trying to say, in a long way, is that I strongly support the Kachemak Bay Buy-Back Bill now before the legislature. This would remove the potentially destructive oil development from the Bay area. I believe in this case that the marine resources are saved.

Warm Regards,

Calvin Fair

10 March 1977

Dear Senator Poland:

I urge you to work for the immediate passage of the Kachemak Bay buy back bill. PLEASE don't sit on that bill until it gets lost in the shuffle!! We, the residents of the Kenai Peninsula (I've been one for 25 yrs.) need the passage of that bill to protect our renewable resources. It is not an anti-oil bill - the oil companies are getting a fair deal on this one. It is a bill that insures that our children's children will have a resource with which to work, produce, and eat... long after you and I will have died.

Since you are from the strong fishing community of Kodiak, I find it absolutely amazing that you aren't backing this bill 100%. I don't care if you hate Hammond and love Egan - push your ego aside and let your foresight have the power.

Most respectfully,
Mary Mullen

Dear Senator Poland:

Please support the bill to buy back the Standard Oil leases in Kachemak Bay, and any further bills for re-purchase of other oil leases in the Bay.

Sincerely,
