SUBJECT: Section-by-section analysis of SCS CSHB 994 regarding the Board of Welding Examiners (Work Order Number 8524)

TO: Senator Brad Bradley
Chairman, Senate Commerce Committee

FROM: Tamara Brandt Cook TBC
Legislative Counsel

You have requested a section-by section analysis of SCS for CSHB 994 entitled "An Act continuing the existence of the Board of Welding Examiners, and amending the statute relating to its powers and responsibilities; and providing for an effective date."

Section 1. The Board of Welding Examiners is reduced from seven members to five members.

Section 2. Board members may not serve more than two consecutive terms. No limit is placed on the number of terms one person may serve. This section also deletes the provision for staggering terms of members because the current board members will complete their terms, and, since the terms are staggered, new terms are automatically staggered also.

Section 3. This was amended to provide that the governor will appoint three members from the list of persons submitted by the Alaska Chapter of the American Welding Society and the Alaska Society of Professional Engineers. The remaining two board members shall be appointed from the general public, however, one of them must have knowledge of welding.

Section 4. One member of the board is required to be registered as an engineer with five years engineering experience or to hold an engineering degree and to have three years of experience in welding. Two members must be welding inspectors. The existing law provides for three board members who are engineers.

Section 5. The board must adopt regulations concerning certification of welding inspectors, as well as regulations concerning certification of welders.

Section 6. This section was amended so that certification tests required for work done for the state be also required for work done for a political subdivision of the state.

Section 7. A duty of the board is changed to eliminate the requirement that the board work with other groups to establish testing and certifying methods for all welders in the state. While the board must still work with these groups to establish testing and certifying methods, the change provides the board with some flexibility as to the particular welders which it will choose to regulate.

Section 8. The duty of the board to adopt regulations concerning the quality of welds has been expanded to include a duty to adopt regulations concerning the inspection of welds, and these obligations have been particularly applied to construction by or on behalf of the state or a subdivision of the state.

Section 9. This section adds new duties to the board including a requirement that the board prepare and submit a budget to the legislature. The board is authorized to request an appropriation to cover operating expenses, but this appropriation must not exceed the income received from fees generated through board activities. This section also requires the board to adopt regulations which would apply the latest standards and codes adopted by the American Welding Society in cases where a job specification fails to designate the standards or codes to be used.

Section 10. This change allows the board to request personnel from the Department of Commerce and Economic Development to review and analyze reports or provide field inspection. Under existing law, personnel are to be requested from the Department of Labor.

Section 11. A new power of the board is added allowing it to adopt regulations to permit welding inspectors to certify and renew certifications of welders.

Section 12. A section was added to create an exemption to AS 08.01.100(a), which requires that the Department of Commerce and Economic Development establish dates for renewal of occupational licenses. This was done so that the certificate of a welding inspector issued under this act expires on the date of expiration of the welding inspector's certification by the American Welding Society.

Section 13. June 30, 1984 is the new date of termination of the Board of Welding Examiners.

Section 14. Provisions which are inconsistent with this act are repealed.

AS 08.99.110 deletes standards set by outdated codes;

AS 08.03.010(b)(10) repeals the termination date for the Board of Welding Examiners.

Section 15. This is a temporary law providing that existing members of the board will continue to serve for the duration of their terms. In the year that the terms of three existing members expire, two terms shall not be refilled, cutting down board membership from seven to five persons.

Section 16. This is temporary law requiring that the board adopt emergency regulations in accordance with the Alaska Administrative Procedure Act at its next meeting. These regulations must

(1) provide that only if a job has been advertised or is done pursuant to a written contract must the work be performed by a certified welder;

(2) require the signature and license number of the welding inspector who issues a welding qualification certificate to appear on it;

(3) provide that a welder not be required to be continuously employed using the welding process for which he is certified in order to keep his certification valid;

(4) provide chat if inspection of a weldment is required, the inspection must be performed only by a licensed welding inspector unless exempted;

(5) permit an exemption to (4) by allowing the inspection of a weldment in a public works project by an engineer if a licensed welding inspector is not available; however, the engineer must be approved by the board; the inspection must be done under the general direction of a licensed welding inspector, and this special exemption expires January 1, 1982;

(6) include any other regulations needed to implement this act.

Section 7. This section should be corrected to read Section 17. It provides an immediate effective date.

for /Frank/ Chris,

Use this format for all sensate sectional analyses.

Disregard underlining. I shall do that.

Where there is a comparasion between the changes in the bill and the existing statute, you may not need to give the reason for the change if it is an obvious comparison, but otherwise always give a reason for the change or changes in each section. Inevitably this question is asked.

Do not take a sectional analysis as the last word or the best way to express a point. Often they confuse the issue in Legislative Affairs agency.

Always attach a copy of the referenced statute (title. chapter. section) in the order that they are mentioned in your own sectional analysis of a bill.

Don't forget to include and explain all sections that are repealed in a bill.

Follow the attached model as close as possible -- no shortcuts /Brad

MR. PRESIDENT, I MOVE THE ADOPTION OF CS FOR SB 574, WHICH IS IDENTICAL, AT THIS POINT, TO THE HOUSE BILL FOR THE SAME BOARD. WE HAVE WORKED JOINTLY TO TRY TO PREVENT AN UNNECESSARY AND OFTEN TIME-CONSUMING FREE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

THIRD READING

I will attempt to cover the changes to current law by section as quickly as possible

- SECTION 1 ESTABLISHES THE GUIDE LICENSING AND CONTROL BOARD SOLELY IN THE DIV. OF FISH AND WILDLIFE PROTECTION OF THE DEPT. OF PUBLIC SAFETY. CURRENTLY, THE BOARD IS ESTABLISHED IN THE DIV. OF OCCUPATIONAL LICENSING OF THE DEPT. OF COMMERCE AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND THIS DIVISION PLUS THE DIV. OF FISH AND WILDLIFE PROTECTION OF THE DEPT. OF PUBLIC SAFETY SHARE THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR STAFF SUPPORT. THIS SECTION ALSO ENSURES THAT THREE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD WILL BE ACTIVELY INVOLVED IN GUIDING AND THE REMAINING FOUR WILL HAVE NO INVOLVEMENT IN THE GUIDING BUSINESS. CURRENTLY, THREE MEMBERS ARE JUST REQUIRED TO HAVE A GUIDE LICENSE AND THE OTHER FOUR A GENERAL KNOWLEDGE OF GAME RESOURCES.

- SECTION 2 PROVIDES THAT THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD MAY NOT BE APPOINTED FOR MORE THAN TWO CONSECUTIVE TERMS. A TERM IS FOR THREE YEARS. CURRENTLY, THERE IS NO LIMIT TO HOW MANY CONSECUTIVE TERMS A MEMBER MAY SERVE if appointed.

- SECTION 3 REQUIRES THAT THE BOARD MUST ELECT A CHAIRMAN AND A VICE-CHAIRMAN ANNUALLY. THE CHAIRMAN MAY NOT SERVE FOR MORE THAN TWO CONSECUTIVE TERMS. TESTIMONY INDICATED THAT SUCH ROTATION WOULD ASSURE THAT THE BOARD WOULD BE MORE RESPONSIVE TO THE PUBLIC INTEREST. CURRENTLY, THERE IS NO LIMIT TO HOW LONG A CHAIRMAN CAN SERVE.

(SEC. 08.54.070(A)) P. 2, L. 7

- SECTION 4 REQUIRES GUIDE LICENSE FEES TO BE PAID BIENNIALLY AND GENERALLY INCREASES THEM 25 TO 30 PERCENT.

- SECTION 5. PERSONS SEEKING REGISTERED AND MASTER GUIDE LICENSES MUST PASS AN EXAMINATION, AND THAT EXAMINATION SHALL BE HELD TWICE A YEAR AT BOTH JUNEAU AND ANCHORAGE FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF APPLICANTS. CURRENTLY, THE EXAMINATIONS ARE ADMINISTERED ONLY IN ANCHORAGE.

- SECTION 6 ELIMINATES A LICENSURE PROVISION FOR AIR TRANSPORTERS AND IT ASSURES THAT ALL GUIDE LICENSES ARE VALID FOR AT LEAST ONE FULL YEAR. UNDER EXISTING LAW, ALL LICENSES EXPIRE ON DECEMBER 31 FOLLOWING ISSUANCE REGARDLESS OF WHEN THEY WERE ISSUED. PERSONNEL IN THE DIV. OF FISH AND WILDLIFE PROTECTION CONSIDER THE "TRANSPORTER LAWS" CONFUSING AND DIFFICULT TO ENFORCE. IN ADDITION, THE INFORMATION AND REPORTS THAT TRANSPORTERS ARE REQUIRED TO FILE ARE NOT BEING ACCOMPLISHED AND ARE NOT NEEDED TO MANAGE THE GAME RESOURCES OF THE STATE. Testimony was unanimous that the transporter license should be elimin

(SEC. 08.54.190(B)) P. 2, L. 23 — SECTION 7 REQUIRES THAT AN ASSISTANT GUIDE OR A CLASS-A ASSISTANT GUIDE THAT HAS NOT RENEWED HIS LICENSE FOR FOUR YEARS MAY NOT BE RENEWED UNTIL HE MEETS THE QUALIFICATIONS FOR AN INITIAL LICENSE. CURRENTLY, THE GRACE PERIOD IS FOR ONLY TWO YEARS.

(SEC. 08.54.200(A)) P. 2, L. 28 — SECTION 8. UNDER EXISTING LAW, THE BOARD IS REQUIRED TO HOLD A HEARING TO CONSIDER DISCIPLINARY ACTION IF IT RECEIVED COMPLAINTS FROM THREE OR MORE SEPARATE PARTIES TO WHICH A LICENSEE HAS PROVIDED SERVICES. NO TIME PERIOD WAS INDICATED; IT COULD BE THREE COMPLAINTS IN THIRTY YEARS, which is impractical. SECTION 8 PROVIDES A TIME PERIOD OF FIVE YEARS WITHIN WHICH THESE COMPLAINTS MUST BE RECEIVED BEFORE THE BOARD IS REQUIRED TO HOLD A DISCIPLINARY HEARING. THIS SECTION ALSO PROVIDES THAT THE BOARD IS NO LONGER OBLIGATED TO HOLD A DISCIPLINARY HEARING WHEN A LICENSEE IS MERELY CHARGED WITH A VIOLATION OF FEDERAL OR STATE SPORT FISH, GAME OR GUIDE STATUTES OR REGULATIONS. HOWEVER, UPON A CONVICTION, THE BOARD IS STILL REQUIRED TO HOLD A DISCIPLINARY HEARING.

(SEC. 08.54.200(C)) P. 3, L.9 — SECTION 9 PROVIDES THE BOARD THE OPTION OF REVOKING, SUSPENDING, OR DENYING RENEWAL OF A LICENSE IF THE BOARD FINDS THAT THE LICENSEE DOES NOT MEET CERTAIN REQUIREMENTS. UNDER EXISTING LAW, THE BOARD WAS REQUIRED TO REVOKE THE LICENSE UPON SUCH A FINDING. THIS SECTION ALSO PROVIDES THAT SPECIFIED DISCIPLINARY ACTION MUST BE TAKEN BY THE BOARD ONLY WHEN A LICENSEE HAS BEEN CONVICTED OF TWO VIOLATIONS OF FEDERAL OR STATE SPORT FISH, GAME OR GUIDE STATUTES OR REGULATIONS WITHIN THE PAST FIVE YEARS. UNDER CURRENT LAW, TWO VIOLATIONS TRIGGER MANDATORY DISCIPLINARY ACTION REGARDLESS OF THE TIME PERIOD.

(SEC. 08.54.210(A)(1)) P. 3, L. 20 • SECTION 10 REMOVES REFERENCE TO A TRANSPORTER BECAUSE TRANSPORTERS WILL NO LONGER BE LICENSED UNDER THIS ACT. (SEE SECTION 6 AND SEC. 08.54.142 AND 144)

P. 4, L. 16 • SECTION 15. THIS SECTION REPEALS PROVISIONS WHICH ARE INCONSISTENT WITH THIS ACT.

AS 08.01.010(20) REMOVES THE GUIDE LICENSING AND CONTROL BOARD FROM THE LIST OF BOARDS TO WHICH CHAPTER 01 APPLIES, SINCE THIS BOARD

WILL NO LONGER BE ADMINISTERED BY THE DEPT. OF COMMERCE AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT.

AS 08.54.110(12) ELIMINATES THE BOARD'S DISCRETION TO ESTABLISH QUALIFICATIONS FOR LICENSING REGISTERED GUIDES IN ADDITION TO THOSE ESTABLISHED BY STATUTE (THE SAME REASON AS FOR MASTER GUIDES ALSO APPLIES HERE);

You have requested a section-by-section analysis of Senate Bill 574 entitled "An Act continuing the existence of the Guide License and Control Board and amending the law relating to its powers and responsibilities; and providing for an effective date."

Section 1. The Guide Licensing and Control Board is established in the division of fish and wildlife protection, Department of Public Safety. This amendment ensures that three members of the board will be involved in guiding and that the remaining four members will have no involvement in the guiding business.

Section 2. This amendment provides that members of the board may not be appointed for more than two consecutive terms. Since a term is for three years, a person would have to wait three years before being reappointed to the board after serving two terms. There is no limitation on the total number of terms which a person may serve on the board.

Section 3. The board must elect a chairman and a vice-chairman annually.

Section 4. This section generally increases fees required for licenses to engage in the profession of guiding.

Section 5. Persons seeking licenses must pass an examination, and that the examination shall be held twice a year at both Juneau and Anchorage for the convenience of applicants.

Section 6. This section is amended to eliminate a licensure provision for transporters and to assure that a license is valid for at least one full year. Under existing law all licenses expire on December 31st following issuance regardless of when they were issued.

Section 7. An assistant guide license which has not been renewed for four years may not then be renewed until the applicant meets the qualifications for an initial license. Under the existing statute only a two-year grace period is provided.

Section 8. Under existing law the board is required to hold a hearing to consider disciplinary action if it receives complaints from three or more separate parties which a licensee has provided services to. The amendment provides a time period of five years within which these complaints must be received before the board is required to hold a disciplinary hearing. This section is also amended so that the board is no longer obligated to hold a disciplinary hearing when a licensee is merely charged with a violation of federal or state sport fish, game or guide statutes or regulations. Upon a conviction, however, the board is still required to hold a disciplinary hearing.

Section 9. The board is permitted the option of revoking, suspending, or denying renewal of a license if the board finds that the licensee does not meet certain requirements. Under existing law the board was required to revoke the license upon such a finding. This section is also amended to provide that specified disciplinary action must be taken by the board only when a licensee has been convicted of two violations of federal or state sport fish, game or guide statutes or regulations within the past five years. Under current law, two violations trigger mandatory disciplinary action regardless of the time period between the violations.

Section 10. This section is amended to remove reference to a transporter because transporters will no longer be licensed under this act.

Section 11 A reference to a transporter is deleted.

Section 12 A reference to a transporter is deleted.

Section 13 A new duty of the Department of Public Safety shall be the administration of the Guide License and Control Board.

Section 14. June 30, 1984 is set as the termination date for the Guide License and Control Board.

Section 15. This section repeals provisions which are inconsistent with this act.

AS 08.01.010(20) removes the Guide Licensing and Control Board from the list of boards to which Chapter 01 applies, since this board will no longer be administered by the Department of Commerce and Economic Development;

AS 08.03.010(b)(7) repeals the sunset provision for this board;

AS 08.54.100(5) eliminates the board's discretion to set qualifications in addition to those established by statute for licensure of master guides;

AS 08.54.110(12) eliminates the board's discretion in establishing qualifications for registered guide licenses in addition to those established by statute;

AS 08.54.142 repeals the section dealing with licensure of transporters;

AS 08.54.144 repeals the restrictions on transportation of hunters;

AS 08.54.146 repeals the section requiring preparation and filing of transporter reports;

AS 08.54.170(c) eliminates the license fee for a transporter;

AS 08.54.240(5) removes the definition of "transporting" and "activity of transporting";

AS 16.05.340(e) eliminates fees charged to master guides and registered guides for the taking of specified game animals;

Section 16. This act takes effect June 30, 1980, the date on which the board is scheduled to terminate.

BOARD OF WELDING EXAMINERS

Conference Call

May 12, 1980

OPERATOR:

Hello, Jane English?

ENGLISH:

Yes.

OPERATOR:

Peter Millar?

MILLAR:

Yes.

OPERATOR:

Don Delk?

DELK:

Yes.

OPERATOR:

And Don Lockman?

LOCKMAN:

Yes.

OPERATOR:

Can you all hear each other?

ENGLISH:

Yes. Where is J.C.?

LOCKMAN:

This is Don Lockman, Chairman of the Board of Welding Examiners in Anchorage. I would like to call a special board meeting to session as of 10:00, May the 12th. I would also like to have then Mr. Don Delk, the secretary of the State Board of Welding Examiners take a role call at this time.

DELK:

Okay, Chairman, Don Lockman? You're present?

LOCKMAN:

I am present, yes.

DELK:

Pete Millar?

MILLAR:

Yes.

DELK:

J.C. Wingfield?

ENGLISH:

Evidentally he didn't get back from San Francisco because he had told me he'd be on.

DELK:

There are only three of us on then?

ENGLISH:

DELK:

Well, we can't conduct a meeting.

GARRETT:

Don, this is Elaine. Let me try and see if we can get ahold of the operator and see if she tried to get ahold of J.C.

ENGLISH:

I called him personally.. No, I called J.C. personally myself and he told me that ..

GARRETT:

How do you get ahold of the operator?

ENGLISH:

100. Elaine is going to see if she can get ahold of him. He has been in San Francisco but he told me that he would be available for this conference call today.

LOCKMAN:

Okay. Well, Pete, you're available, right?

MILLAR:

Yes.

LOCKMAN:

And Don Delk. We are the only three board members. Are there any other board members on? How about other interested parties?

ENGLISH:

There aren't any other interested parties here.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, Jane, you are on the line?

ENGLISH:

Yes. And Elaine..

LOCKMAN:

And how about Elaine Garrett. Is she on the line?

ENGLISH:

She has gone to see what happened to J.C. She is going to call the operator because he told me even though he was going to be in San Francisco all last week, he would be available for a conference call today, at this time.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, we will not have anybody else on the line then..the four members, youself and Jane English, er I mean, Elaine Garrett. Right?

ENGLISH:

That's correct.

LOCKMAN:

Okay. George Parks isn't available?

ENGLISH:

No. He has gone fishing.

DELK:

That's what we ought to be doing...fishing. The only smart board member in the bunch.

ENGLISH:

There you go.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, how long of a period of time do you suppose we should wait for Elaine? Is she going to get back with us positive or negative?

ENGLISH:

Yes she is. She has gone to call right now.

LOCKMAN:

Okay.

ENGLISH:

I contacted J.C. personally and he told me he would be available.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, just to interrate a little conversation here. The applications that were submitted for licensing of welding inspectors to the last board meeting where there was no quorum was circulated to the board members for a signature of each of the applicants, for a quorum signatures and have been sent to you, Jane...

ENGLISH:

Okay.

LOCKMAN:

...via airborne for delivery to your office.

ENGLISH:

Fine.

LOCKMAN:

And you should be getting those documents, of course, we talked about them over the phone anyway but you should be getting the original signed copies probably delivered today.

ENGLISH:

Okay, I will be on the lookout for them then.

LOCKMAN:

And I made no other copies of the signature page so you might want to copy the signature page of each of the applications and submit that back to the board members.

ENGLISH:

All right, will do.

DELK:

How has the Sunset Legislation gone, Don? Have you heard anything more?

LOCKMAN:

Okay, there is a Senate Bill 994, I mean a House Bill, excuse me, 994, which ratifies the board. There is also a Senate Bill 553 which says identical wording to the House Bill except it added some things onto the House Bill. Now, neither one of those apparently have been placed in front of the legislators for enactment and wasn't intended to do so until after the regulations were adopted, which we are trying to do now. There is some changes we probably would like to make in the wording of both the House and the Senate Bill, I think they will probably be passed as one bill but we can do that later if need be or we can do it at the time that it is submitted to the Legislature to make a floor revision. So, uh, there is some verbage there that doesn't really allow us to function within the wording that they have illustrated.

MILLAR:

It just seems like this House Bill 994 that I've seen, the Legislature has taken upon themselves to enact to make up rules and regulations and I thought that was the function of the Board of Welding Examiners.

LOCKMAN:

Me too, Pete.

ENGLISH:

Can you gentlemen speak a little louder, please.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, well, the way that it apparently works is that Legislature of course has the power to vote in any bill that clears the different various committees and so forth and so the board really has no power to change the statutes and that is what they are doing with the House Bill and the Senate Bill is actually changing the statutes and not the regulations. They, however, have put into the statutes some things that were involved in the regulations. But then of course they have that right, so what they are effectively doing is doing what they are allowed to do.

DELK:

The House Bill is to change the regulation not the statute, Don.

LOCKMAN:

Well, it is a bill though.

DELK:

But it is to change the regulations, not the statute. The Senate Bill is to change the statute, which that is their responsibility. But the House Bill is talking about the regulations itself.

LOCKMAN:

That's right. What the House Bill is doing is really putting part of the regulations into the statutes.

DELK:

It doesn't say anything about the statute. 12 AAC 72 is the regulation and unless you have different paperwork than I have. It appears to me that the House Committee is trying to write the welding regulations.

MILLAR:

That's what it looks to me like, too. They are telling how many board members...

DELK:

Now, the board members is under the statute, I think.

MILLAR:

Well, I sure disagree with what they are doing. I''d much rather see us meet maybe twice a year and get out of the business of trying to qualify, and work with AWS. I think certification of welding inspectors is AWS' responsibility, not ours and I'd like to out of that all together. And not fund them and let the welding, or AWS take care of the certification of welding inspectors by themselves. And then have only have one meeting a year in Anchorage, they can test welders, that's fine. And I'd like like to see us cut back on our costs but I think we do need seven members. I don't like to see it go to five members especially if you are going to put one guy on there that is not familiar with welding at all. I don't agree with that either.

LOCKMAN:

Yea, well I don't think we are going to have much control over what the House and Senate does. Brown's Committee is going to enact, if they enact anything, it is .. if they don't enact anything, then the board, of course, will be terminated by the Sunset legislation automatically. If they enact anything, it is going to be the bill that has been proposed as revised by the Senate, which the board has no influence over other than trying to make amendments to it on the floor. It has already went through the committees. It has already went through the House and the Senate and will be submitted to the Legislature so it will take a floor enactment to change anything, a floor revision before its enactment. Okay, that is going to happen regardless of what we do or what we think. They are going to change it to three... or, I mean, to five instead of seven. They are going to change the type of people who are on the board and they are going to change to say it is going to have to be self-sufficient. All of those things that are in there. I don't think we have too much voice in the matter. If we don't..apparently if we don't agree with the regulations as written that I submitted to each board member from the Juneau meeting with the Audit Committee and House Committee members, they will put those into the statute also, and they have the legality to do that and make it all a statute, with no regulations.

ROBSON:

Don, this is Art Robson in Fairbanks. I got a call from the staff member for the House Committee late Friday afternoon and he said that Mike Colletta is holding the bill in the Senate Committee and is going to hold it so that the board will die. He is doing so at the request of VECO because basically it's a union/nonunion situation, VECO being nonunion and using out of state people wants to see the board die and has set no requirements, you know, so they can keep doing what they are doing. For one reason or another they seem to have been able to get to Colletta. Colletta has agreed to hold the bill and until and unless we can find some way of blasting him off dead center and that is something that I have been trying to figure out over the weekend. I think that there are a couple of Democrats that can help us and I hope to be able to get some Republicans like Bettisworth to help us out on the doggone thing otherwise it is going to simply go down the tube.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, if the board goes down the tube like you are saying, then so does the licensing and the statutes?

ROBSON:

Right. In other words, if the board is phased out, the whole section and everything that they enforce is phased out. The State would probably try to come back during what they call a twilight period which you have got until next, not this July 1, '80 but July 1, '81. The Department of Professional Vocational Standards would come back and try to (undisc.) licensing, which they would do themselves under whatever criteria they wanted to do, which would probably just mix up all that much more. But apparently it's a combined political union/nonunion question right now and Mike Colletta is hanging onto it unless we can get somebody to twist his arm.

LOCKMAN:

What happened to the House Bill 994 then?

ROBSON:

The House Bill has gone to Senate and has .. is in Senate Committee currently.

DELK:

What committee is Colletta on?

ROBSON:

Let me take a look here and I will tell you in a flash. It's a committee of which he is chairman. They got enough damn fool committees in here to sink a ship. Rules Committee. That's the last step. It has gone through everything before going to floor. Colletta is Chairman of the Rules Committee, and that means it has passed everything excepting going onto the floor. Colletta, as Rules Chairman, (undisc.).

LOCKMAN:

That goes for the Senate Bill 553 or the House Bill 994?

ROBSON:

Right, which throws a new complex on everything cuz it just screws everything all up again. And I don't know. I sort of intend to try to get a few people that I know who are friends of Colletta to say, hey, if you're going to do this and if this is your reason, because you want to support a company that is hiring all out of state people, we're at least going to let it be known that this is an election year for you. You know, maybe that will get him off of it, I don't know. Unless you have some different feelings, it's a good thing this thing got going this morning because maybe we can find some way around that.

LOCKMAN:

Well, if that's his reasoning, that's not very good reasoning for the State of Alaska.

ROBSON:

Yeh, obviously it kind of screws things up and I talked to Dave Aaron, you know, who we met with when we were in Juneau..

LOCKMAN:

Right.

ROBSON:

..and he said, hey, here is the situation. We have done everything that we can do at this point but Colletta said he is going to hold it and he is going to kill it because this company, which it turned out then to be VECO, he said, well, it is a company which has a nonunion operation which is on Fairbanks Street in Anchorage. That tied down to which company it was.

LOCKMAN:

Well, what we should do is to talk with Mr. Colletta as board members and find out exactly why..what his reasoning is.

ROBSON:

Yeh, it would be interesting to see what he would say to somebody who wasn't a staff person, in other words, what public reasoning that he is attaching to this.

LOCKMAN:

Well, apparently, we don't have a quorum or will not be able to get a quorum. Elaine Garrett has not confirmed back yet but maybe you can. Is J.C. Wingfield.

ROBSON:

He is on the phone now.

LOCKMAN:

Oh.

WINGFIELD:

Yeh, I have been listening to you little devils.

LOCKMAN:

Oh, I see.

GARRETT:

Don.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, then we do then have a quorum for our special board meeting at this time.

ROBSON:

I wanted to pass that one thing onto you, Don, and then I should sort of bow out, not participate because I am not a board member but I wanted to let you know what the latest political hot potato was.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, thank you very kindly.

ROBSON:

Okay.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, at this time, the things that are in front of us is the regulations which we have the power to enact, change and regulate.

We had submitted a proposed regulations adoption to the Audit Committee and in reverse, have then received an amendment to those regulations by a committee that was put together in Juneau at the last Sunset regulation hearing. Each one of us should have a copy of that in front of us but I will go ahead and read the revision as it was described back to us. And the revision of regulation 12 AAC 72.015 is rescinded and changed to read as follows: Under heading of Welder Qualification Certificate Required. Welding performed in the state which is advertised for hire or is under a written contractual agreement for compensation shall be performed by a certified welder or under the direct supervision of a certified welder employed by the responsible firm. The welder certificate or certifications shall be within the appropriate rating in accordance with the applicable welding code or standard. And the next one would be 12 AAC 72.035, amended to read the underscored language. Under the Welder Qualification Certificate Issued. The welding inspector shall issue the welding qualification certificate in the appropriate rating to the applicant or company upon the applicant's successful completion of examination. The underscored areas is, this certificate shall bear the inspector's signature and state welding inspector's license number. So that is an addition. The next area of amendment was under 12 AAC 72.045, is amended to read. Under the heading of Requirements for Maintaining a Current Welder Qualification Certificate. Area (a), A welder qualification certificate is valid if it is kept current in compliance with the code under which it is issued unless stated otherwise by the job specification. (b) The expiration or revocation of one rating does not affect any remaining ratings. The following language was deleted from the existing code. (2) The welder has been continously employed on a welding process for which he is certified. So that area was deleted, so the continuously employed has been taken out because of the seasonal occupation of Alaska. The next area that was revised was under 12 AAC 72.055, is amended to delete words in parenthesis and to add words underscored. (a) is underscored. A person may not test a welder for the purpose of issuing a welder qualification certificate (parenthesis) (or inspect a welding operation in the state which welding failure would involve hazard to life or property), that is end of parenthesis, unless he or she holds a current valid welding inspecting license.

Okay, those parenthesis were deleted, so it would then just read, a person may not a test a welder for the purpose of issing a welding certificate in the State of Alaska in which welding...Wait a minute. A person may not test a welder for the purpose of issuing a welder qualification certificate unless he or she holds a current, valid welding inspector license. That's the way that would read, as amended. The next item amendment amended was 12 AAC 72.055(b), amended to read..to add the following section. A person may not inspect a public works and welding operation which requires inspection unless he or she holds a current, valid welding inspector license. Under (c) any welding operation in the state must be inspected by a licensed welding inspector if it is part of a public works construction project or the applicable code or specifications require inspection. (d) any welding oepration in the state may be inspected by a licensed welding inspector if it is advertised for hire or is performed under a written contractual agreement for compensation, and the word is may in there, not shall. (e) an engineer approved by the State Welding Board acting under the supervision of a licensed welding inspector may inspect public works construction projects where no licensed welding inspector is available. This section shall expire January 1, 1982. (f) an engineer applying for eligibility under Subsection (e) above shall submit a resume of their experience to the State Welding Board. The board may also require an interview before granting approval. That's an addition.

GARRETT:

Don.

LOCKMAN:

The next paragraph for revision is 12 AAC 72.105(a) is..

GARRETT:

Don.

LOCKMAN:

..is amended...

GARRETT:

Don, this is Elaine, can you hear me?

LOCKMAN:

Yes.

GARRETT:

I believe what you are reading from is an older version. It isn't what we had at the meeting, at the last meeting.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, what you had at the last meeting was the bill.

GARRETT:

No, it was the regulations as drafted by the Assistant Attorney General and it is somewhat different than what you are reading now. Remember, it's two pages, legal size pages.

DELK:

My question..this is Don Delk speaking. My question is who is going to draft regulations? The Attorney General, the House Commerce Committee, or the Welding Board?

GARRETT:

The Attorney General's Office drafted these in coordination with the House Commerce Committee.

ENGLISH:

We have to work with these, don't we?

GARRETT:

Don, do you have the latest version of the regulations?

LOCKMAN:

Well, I don't remember those being given out at the meeting. I have all of the documents here that we had at the meeting.

GARRETT:

Okay, we went over them word for word at the meeting and I've got a lot of notes here on things that the board discussed at that time.

LOCKMAN:

Well, maybe I am in error then.

GARRETT:

Have you got two legal size pages with regulations on them citing the authorities and everything?

LOCKMAN:

Okay, let me see what I have got here. Boy, I don't find them.

DELK:

What is the date on these, Elaine?

GARRETT:

Well, there isn't a date on it. It's..the first page has three paragraphs and cites the authority under each and the next one has several sections citing the authority under each one. If you don't have a copy I could read it but if none of the board members have a copy, I don't know. If you are going to consider these regulations and adopt them, I don't think it would be appropriate to discuss the ones that were already revised.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, your copy there is it headed just with a 12 AAC 72.015 is amended to read?

GARRETT:

Yes, it does and then under the first paragraph the authority is AS 08.99.080(a)(1), (2), (5) and (9).

LOCKMAN:

Yeh, okay, I find it here.

GARRETT:

All right. That's the one that we need to work with.

MILLAR:

Just what do you expect the board to do? Are we suppose to agree with them or disagree with them or if we don't have any input, what difference does it make?

GARRETT:

The House Commerce Committee would like for you to agree with these and to adopt them at this time as emergency regulations, which would be in effect for 120 days.

MILLAR:

Anything else. They are just ramming this whatever way they want, whether we agree with them or disagree with them, I don't think really makes any difference.

DELK:

I agree with you, Pete.

GARRETT:

They would like to have you adopt these as emergency regulations and during the 120 day period that they would be in effect, the board would have regular regulations hearings such as you have had in the past, and sometime within that 120 days adopt regulations that you have come up with, either these or amended regulations but I am sure the Commerce Committee would like for you to not adopt them in a form that would change the intent.

MILLAR:

Well, um, without any input from the community as far as hearings go or anything like that? I couldn't say we could adopt those without changing the intent. I don't agree with what they are doing at all.

GARRETT:

No, during that 120 days you would have hearings just like you normally would under any regulation changes.

MILLAR:

Boy, what a way to pass law?

LOCKMAN:

Okay, Elaine, the legal size paper that you are referring to has not some of the wording that was originally received or was written by the temporary committee that was set up in Juneau.

GARRETT:

You're right, Don, it doesn't. It was worded this way by the Attorney General according to what her interpretation was of the draft she got and her discussions with Bob Aaron.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, let me quickly read that then. It's quite logic order. We reiterate on the revised regulation wording. Starting out at the top of the page it says 12 AAC 72.015 is amended to read: Welder Qualification Certificate Required. A person may not perform a welding operation in the state for compensation in which welding...

GARRETT:

Don.

LOCKMAN:

..or cause economic loss unless he or she holds a current, valid welder certificate.. qualification certificate in the appropriate rating.

GARRETT:

Don, that still is not the right one.

LOCKMAN:

That's the one...

GARRETT:

You are on the second page, I'm sorry.

LOCKMAN:

Pardon.

GARRETT:

I think you are on the right one, you are just on the second page.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, these are stapled together differently then but that was under 72.015 makes really no difference of whether we start on the first page or second page, they're separate paragraphs.

GARRETT:

Mine doesn't say that.

LOCKMAN:

Maybe you better read what you have, Elaine.

GARRETT:

All right, I will. 12 AAC 72.015 is amended to read: Welder Qualification Certificate Required. Welding performed in the state that is advertised for hire or is under a written contractual agreement for compensation may be performed only by a certified welder or under the direct supervision of a certified welder employed by the company responsible for performing the welding. A welder qualification certificate must be within the appropriate rating in accordance with the applicable welding code or standard. 12 AAC 72.035 is amended to read: Welder Qualification Certificate Issued. The welding inspector shall issue the welding qualification certificate in the appropriate rating to the applicant or company upon the applicant's successful completion of the examination. A certificate issued under this section must bear the welding inspector's signature and license number. 12 AAC 72.045 is amended to read: Requirements for Maintaining a Current Welder Qualification Certificate. (a) A welder qualification certificate is valid if it is kept current in compliance with the code under which it is issued unless otherwise stated in the job specification. (b) The expiration or revocation of one rating does not affect any remaining rating. 12 AAC 72.055 is amended to read: Welding Inspector License Required. (a) A person may not test a welder for the purpose of issuing a welder qualification certificate unless he or she holds a current, valid welding inspector license. (b) If the inspection of a welding operation is required by law, regulation, ordinance, code, job specification or agreement, the inspection may be performed only by a licensed welding inspector, except in the circumstances described in (e), that's "e" as in every, of this section. (c) A welding operation must be inspected by a licensed welding inspector if inspection is required by the applicable code or job specification. (d) A welding operation may be inspected by a licensed welding inspector if it is advertised for hire or is performed under a written contractual agreement for compensation. (e) An engineer approved by the board may inspect a welding operation in a public works construction project if a licensed welding inspector is not available and if the inspection is performed under directions provided by a licensed welding inspector. (f) An engineer applying for eligibility under (e) of this section shall submit a resume of his or her experience to the board. The board may also require an interview before granting approval. (g) Subsections (e), as in every, and (f) of this section expire January 1, 1982. 12 AAC 72.105(a) is amended to read: A welding inspector license is valid from the date of issuance until the expiration date of the inspector's American Welding Society welder inspector certification. 12 AAC 72.195(b), as in baby, is amended to read: Application for renewal of a welding inspector liense must be made to the department on a form provided by the department and must be accompanied by a fee of $200. That's the end of the proposed regu'ations.

LOCKMAN:

Well, that is essentially what we were reading there but there is some slight changes.

GARRETT:

Well, we just want to make sure that we are all discussing the same regulations so that if they are adopted, we will have the correct ones.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, all the board members have heard the proposed regulations' last revisions read by Elaine Garrett. The Chair at this time would entertain a motion to the adoption of those regulations.

DELK:

This is Don Delk and I would like to make a motion and I would like to make a motion that the board do not accept the proposed regulations as just read by Elaine Garrett.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, Don, you can't make a negative motion. You have to make a positive motion and then vote upon it and if you wish not to vote for it, then of course you vote against it.

DELK:

I am not sure how I would put this into a positive motion.

LOCKMAN:

Well, you just move that we adopt the regulations and then if it is seconded, we will vote either to adopt it or not to adopt it, is all. Would you like to make a positive motion there?

DELK:

Nope.

LOCKMAM:

Okay.

WINGFIELD:

This is Wingfield. I will make a motion to adopt.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, motion is made by J.C. Wingfield to adopt the regulations as read by Elaine Garrett. Do we have a second to that motion?

MILLAR:

Okay, I will second it.

LOCKMAN:

The motion has been seconded. It is now open for discussion. Do I hear any discussion?

DELK:

Yes.

LOCKMAN:

Don.

DELK:

The first...right in the first paragraph 015. It doesn't even require that a certified welder weld on projects. It says the certified welders can weld under direct supervision, I mean, welders may weld under direct supervision of a certified welder. I don't think that is even in line with what this board has been working for for years.

MILLAR:

I don't think AWS agrees with anything like that either.

WINGFIELD:

Yeh, I think we are all in agreement. Why don't you just call for the question and let it die there.

LOCKMAN:

Okay. Is there any other discussion? Hearing no discussion, no further discussion, the Chair will call for the vote of the motion at this time. All in favor of the motion signify by saying "aye" with your name. All those opposed signify "aye" with your name.

WINGFIELD:

"Aye" Wingfield.

MILLAR:

Peter Millar "aye."

DELK:

"Aye" Don Delk.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, the motion is defeated. No positive action will be taken on that regulation adoption. Okay, at this time, I would like to set the date for the next board meeting. The next board meeting to be scheduled for a regular..on a regular basis would have been July 25 had it been submitted by motion to the last board meeting where there was no quorum. At this time, the Chair would entertain a motion to set the next board meeting for July 25, Friday, at 2:00 p.m. Do I hear a motion to that effect?

WINGFIELD:

Yeh, this is Wingfield, I'll make the motion.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, J.C. Winglield moves that the next regular meeting be held July 25 at 2:00 p.m. at the same place, I presume. Now is there a second to that motion?

MILLAR:

I will second it.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, the motion has been seconded by Pete Millar. Any discussion on that? Hearing no discussion, all in favor signify by saying "aye" with your name.

WINGFIELD:

Wingfield "aye."

MILLAR:

"Aye" Millar.

DELK:

"Aye" Don Delk.

LOCKMAN:

"Aye" Don Lockman. Okay, the next .. motion carried. The next meeting then will be scheduled..a regular meeting of July 25 at 2:00 p.m. in Anchorage at the same meeting place that we have been holding at the Community College, Room 103, Building G, at the Anchorage Community College. Okay, is there any other business that we would like to attend to at this time?

WINGFIELD:

This is Wingfield.

ENGLISH:

Don, how about the welding board exam? Is it going to be the 26th of July?

LOCKMAN:

Oh, excuse me, J.C. The examination for the next AWS meeting or examination should say, would normally be held on the 26th of July. The board is apparently still having those meetings scheduled on a special meeting basis twice a year. The July 26th proposal would be a special meeting, excuse me, a special examination. Is the state still funding the cost for those, Jane?

ENGLISH:

For those special meetings?

LOCKMAN:

On those special examinations?

ENGLISH:

As far as I know.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, if there is money left in the budget to pay the American Welding Society for the special examination for July, the Chair would at this time entertain a motion that we conduct a special examination...July 26th that the Anchorage Community College campus starting at 8:00 a.m.

DELK:

This is Don Delk. I will make a motion that we hold special examinations on July 26 at 8:00.

LOCKMAN:

Do I hear a second?

MILLAR:

Second.

LOCKMAN:

Okay the motion has been made and seconded that we hold a special examination. Is there any discussion?

MILLAR:

What does it cost anyway to hold one of those special examinations?

LOCKMAN:

Jane, could you fill us in on that?

ENGLISH:

H:

I really and truly don't know what the exact amount is because Carol Fredrickkson never told me. She just paid the bill.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, the way that I understand that if they do not have to send a representative up, if we handle the proctoring ourselves, they will charge us $250 for the examination.

ENGLISH:

That's probably what she has paid then.

LOCKMAN:

If they send in a proctor, then they would charge us for his transportation and expenses.

ENGLISH:

Right.

MILLAR:

We usually have somebody come up from Juneau also to monitor that for the Welding Board?

ENGLISH:

I do.

MILLAR:

We do.

LOCKMAN:

The cost of that is incurred by the state and I am not sure how it comes out of our budget, the Welding Board, but the salary is paid on a normal basis so the individual's salary is I think taken care of on a regular basis rather than a special application. Any other discussion on the examination? Motion? Hearing no further discussion, we will call for vote. All those in favor of holding the 26th examination signify by saying "aye" with your name.

WINGFIELD:

"Aye" Wingfield.

DELK:

"Aye" Don Delk.

MILLAR:

"Aye" Pete Millar.

LOCKMAN:

And "aye" Don Lockman. Motion carried unanimously. Is there any other further discussions.. business to be brought up. J.C., you had a thing you wanted to say?

WINGFIELD:

The only thing that I wanted to say, I think that all of us if we have a chance today or the next day or so, we ought to call Colletta and find out what his thinking is when he says (undisc.).

LOCKMAN:

Okay, I am sure that we will do that.

DELK:

This is Don Delk. If Colletta is holding up what we just did not approve.. (End of Side 1)...

ENGLISH:

You are on tape now.

LOCKMAN:

Ha ha, Jane, we tricked you. We are all done.

ENGLISH:

That's not fair.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, Elaine, I would like to request that you send all the board members a copy of what you had read to us.

ENGLISH:

I will send it you. She has left.

LOCKMAN:

Okay.

ENGLISH:

I sent that up by Nancy, but I will send it to you again.

LOCKMAN:

Okay. We must have gotten it and I just misplaced it or something. I thought I had the latest in front of me but that's fine as long as we heard what the verbage was. It really met no difference who read it.

MILLAR:

Well, my understanding of this whole deal is whether this gets out of committee or not if, don't approve this emergency regulation, that the House Commerce Committee is going to recommend that we expire to start with.

LOCKMAN:

Well, that's a...there's two bills in and if either one of them makes the floor, they will probably be voted to extend the Welding Board. However, they both have to..or either one has to get through the Rules apparently and that's where it is hung up and if Colletta has enough influence to keep it from getting out of the Rules Committee, it will never get to the floor and then the board will automatically be Sunsetted.

DELK:

Well, if either on of these bills clears the House, I mean, clears the Legislature and get voted on, I don't agree with either one of them, either the Senate Bill or the House Bill, and we might as well been abondoned anyway, because I do not agree with the House Bill or the Senate Bill. Both of them have things that the Welding Board has never pushed for in the past and are against the concepts of what the Welding Board has had in the past so I don't, you know, I would never approve either the House Bill or the Senate Bill and according to my understanding, it looks like the Welding Board is going to fold.

LOCKMAN:

Well, the Welding Board has very little influence as to the statutes anyway. All we can do is make recommendations.

MILLAR:

Yes, but they have made a statute, the Senate Bill 553 has put things in their statute changes that are exactly what the Audits recommended that we not do. The Audit recommended that we change the statutes..that the statutes be changed more in line with the board's activities to where the Senate Bill is going right back to the Welding Board setting up certification tests, which is what the Welding Board has never been able to do and never will be able to do.

LOCKMAN:

That's correct. And so the revision of the statutes is not...

DELK:

It is just as bad as the revisions of the regulations. Neither one of them are any good. We don't have anything even if we are, uh, we are ... I think the Audit Committee was harder than the Senate or the House here.

WINGFIELD:

That very well may be. It sounds like it.

DELK:

If the Senate and the House are going to take over the Welding Board there is not a whole lot of sense in having a Welding Board.

LOCKMAN:

Well, as it stands at this point then, the regulations that we had submitted to the Audit Committee were the regulations that should be reprinted into the book if the board is continued. They were passed at a meeting unanimously and submitted to the House Committee on the Sunset Legislation.

DELK:

But the House Committee has not agreed, to or the Senate either one, agreed to pass the regulation changes that the board proposed and how are the proposed changes put forth by the board going to become part of the new regulations or part of the regulations? They are not going to.

LOCKMAN:

Well, probably not, but at least we have done our fair share in revising the regulations to meet the actions in which we have been working under and come in line..more in line with what we felt the state needed. If the committees, Senate, excuse me, the House Committee did not see fit to continue our efforts, our verbage, we really can't do much about that.

WINGFIELD:

Listen, gentlemen, I have got an 11:00 meeting I have got to go so I am going to cut my end of it short.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, I think we are all kind of busy so is there any further discussions on any other business to be taken upon?

ENGLISH:

I don't have any.

LOCKMAN:

Pardon.

ENGLISH:

I don't have any.

LOCKMAN:

Okay, hearing no further discussion, the Chair will entertain a motion to adjourn.

MILLAR:

I move that we adjourn.

DELK:

I will second that.

LOCKMAN:

Motion made by Pete Millar and seconded by Don Delk that we adjourn the special meeting at 10:50 a.m. All those favor signify by saying "aye" and your name.

WINGFIELD:

"Aye" Wingfield.

DELK:

"Aye" Delk.

MILLAR:

"Aye" Millar.

LOCKMAN:

"Aye" Don Lockman. Okay, motion carried. Meeting is adjourned.

III. ANALYSIS (See Fiscal Note Preparation Instructions, Section III)

This is a revision of the fiscal note prepared for SB 225 in July, 1979. If the bill should have an effective date in FY 80 an immediate startup is desired, supplemental funding would be necessary. The bill provides for the incorporation and regulation of credit unions. In addition, it provides the state-chartered credit unions will pay the cost incurred by the department in conducting examinations application investigations in accordance with AS 06.01.010. The bill requires an ann examination of each state-chartered credit union. Assuming there are approximately 1 credit unions chartered and doing business in the state and 10 man-days per credit union examination or application and including one-half the time of an administrative assistant to support the examiner would bring the total to $43,518.

It will be necessary to hire an experienced credit union examiner at the start of the program. This will involve out-of-state hire in order to find a qualified examiner.

In addition to these personnel needs, a member of the division's examination staff assisted by the administrative assistant will spend the remaining time responding to inquiries and complaints from the public concerning credit unions and take care of administrative matters relative to credit union regulation. It is estimated that at least the time of one and one-half examiners plus the full time of the administrative assistant would be necessary to handle the full administration and regulation of state-chartered credit unions under SB 225.

The present examination staff can easily use the additional one-half of an examiner to take care of the statistical matters and added workload related to the decided increase in new bank and branch applications, new savings and loan and branch applications, mergers and conversions of existing financial institutions, as well as the added examination workload.

Finally, the contractual budget for FY 81 includes $7,500 to have an individual(s) familiar with the regulation of state-chartered credit unions draft regulations and set up office and examination procedures, design reports, etc., for the administration of a credit union act. The division does not have the personnel to take care of these matters in a timely fashion and at the same time main present responsibilities.

SUBJECT: CS for House Bill No. 452 (Rules)
[Work Order No. 8305]

TO: Senator Brad Bradley
Chairman, Senate Commerce Committee

FROM: Richard A. Bradley
Legislative Counsel

I have been requested to do a sectional analysis of the Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 452 (Rules). As you recognize this is identical to the Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 225 that I prepared for your committee.

Section 1 of the bill amends AS 06.01.020 to allow the commissioner of commerce and economic development to grant to a state credit union powers that may be granted to a federally chartered credit union. This power is typically granted to the commissioner and he presently possesses such power as to banks, trust companies and savings associations as well as other federally chartered institutions doing business in the state which are subject to identified federal regulatory agencies.

Section 2 establishes the Alaska Credit Union Act by amending AS 06 to add Chapter 45.

The titles of each Section are useful to an understanding of the material in the bill and its location:

Section 010. This section deals with the responsibilities of the commissioner. It provides that he shall administer the chapter, that he may adopt regulations for the administration of the chapter, that he may delegate any authority granted by the chapter, and that records of a credit union will be kept under regulations that he adopts.

The section also provides for bonding of credit union officers under procedures approved by the commissioner.

Section 020. This section is a section under which a credit union would be established. It provides the procedures that individuals who wish to form a credit union will use. It also authorizes the commissioner to require other provisions that he considers necessary for the management of the credit union. Bylaws will also be submitted to the commissioner for approval at the time that the articles of incorporation are submitted.

Section 030. Articles of incorporation and bylaws are required to be submitted to the commissioner for his approval. Before he approves these documents and issues a certificate of authority to do business, the commissioner is required to determine whether the articles and bylaws conform to the chapter and to the regulations of the commissioner, the general character and fitness of the subscribers, and the economic advisability of establishing the proposed credit union.

Section 040. This section authorizes the commissioner to assess a fee for his expenses in processing an application. The fee is assessed under the procedures established in AS 06.01.010.

Fees are also authorized under this section for the approval of a branch of the credit union, for a merger or conversion of a credit union or for an examination of a credit union which is conducted under AS 06.45.050.

Section 050. This section authorizes the commissioner to require both an annual financial report and other financial reports required by regulations that he adopts. It also provides that a credit union is subject to examination by the commissioner.

Section 060. This section elaborates the powers of a credit union and it provides generally that a credit union has the powers to enter into a contract, to sue and be sued, to purchase, hold and dispose of property and to make loans.

Generally the maturity of a loan may not exceed 12 years. However, a residential real estate loan made to finance the acquisition of a one to four family dwelling for the principal residence of a credit union member may have a maturity not exceeding 30 years; and a loan to finance the purchase of a mobile home to be used as the residence of a credit union member may generally not exceed 15 years. The section contains other restrictions on loans made by a credit union and these restrictions are detailed in sec. 060(5)(A)(iii) and following.

Thus, at (x), the bill provides that the total dollar amount of real estate loans and mobile loans outstanding may not exceed 25 percent of the paid-in and unimpaired capital and surplus of the credit union without the written approval of the commissioner. Similarly, a credit union with a paid-in and unimpaired capital and surplus of less than $3,000,000 may make real estate loans with maturity in excess of 15 years only with the approval of the commissioner.

Section 060(7) [starting on page 7 of the bill] is the section of the bill which regulates the investments of credit union funds.

Section 060(8) and the following paragraphs identify a series of authorities of a credit union. Thus, credit unions may make deposits in national banks and in state banks, trust companies, and mutual savings banks, may borrow in accordance with regulations adopted by the commissioner from any source, may levy late charges, may enforce a lien upon the shares and dividends of a member to the extent of a loan to the member, may sell to members negotiable checks,travelers checks, and money orders, and may cash checks and money orders for members, for a fee which does not exceed the direct and indirect costs incident to providing the service, and may engage in other miscellaneous activities detailed in this portion of sec. 060 which carries on over through page 10 of the bill.

Section 070. This section deals with membership in a credit union and provides that the membership consists of the incorporators of the credit union and other persons to the extent permitted by regulations adopted by the commissioner. Credit union membership is limited to groups "having a common bond of occupation or association, or to groups within a well-defined neighborhood community or rural district."

Section 080. This section deals with meetings of members and provides that the annual meeting of a credit union shall be held within three months after December 31st of each year; special meetings may be held under the bylaws.

Section 090. This section deals with the management of a credit union and provides that the business affairs of a credit union are managed by a board of not less than five directors, a credit committee of not less than three members and a supervisory committee of not less than three members or more than five members.

The bill provides that the members of the board of directors and the members of the credit committee are elected at the annual meeting by and from the membership. The supervisory committee is appointed by the board of directors. Members of the board and of the credit and supervisory committees hold office for terms specified in the bylaws.

Section 100. This section deals with the compensation of members of the board of directors and the section provides that members of the board of directors and of credit and supervisory committees may not be compensated for service on the board or on the committees. The section further provides that reasonable health, accident and similar insurance protection is not compensation under this section.

Section 110. This section deals with the executive officers of the credit union and provides that the board of directors shall elect from the membership a president, one or more vice presidents, a secretary and a treasurer. It provides that an executive officer other than the treasurer may not be compensated as an officer.

Section 120. This section deals with the board of directors; it provides that the board of directors shall meet at least once a month and shall have general direction and control of the business affairs of the credit union.

It is the board of directors that acts on applications for membership and will fill the vacancies in the board of directors and in the credit committee.

The board of directors has responsibility for investments other than loans to members. The board also determines the interest rates on loans, the security and the maximum amount which may be loaned or provided in lines of credit to a member.

The section provides that the board of directors may appoint an executive committee of not less than three directors to exercise powers granted to it by the board of directors.

Section 130. This section deals with applications for membership. And requires the board of directors to review and approve applications for membership in the credit union at least monthly. It requires the board of directors to provide reasons if an application for membership is denied. And it provides that the board of directors may appoint a membership officer to review applications for membership; the treasurer or a loan officer may not review applications for membership.

Section 140. This section deals with the powers and duties of the credit committee. The credit committee is obliged to consider applications for loans and lines of credit as the business of the credit union may require but not less often than once a month. A majority of the entire credit committee may approve an application or lines of credit unless the approval of the board of directors is required under AS 06.-45.060(5). The credit committee may delegate to a loan officer the power to approve loans and lines of credit.

The section provides that an individual may not disburse funds of a credit union for a loan, line of credit, or application which he approves in the capacity of loan officer.

Section 150. This section establishes restrictions on loans and limits the loan to a particular member to an amount less than 10 percent of the unimpaired capital and surplus of a credit union.

Section 160. This section deals with the security required for loans.

Section 170. This section deals with the powers and duties of the supervisory committee. It is the responsibility of the supervisory committee to conduct an annual audit of the accounts of the credit union and to conduct such other supplementary audits as it considers necessary or as ordered by the commissioner. The supervisory committee is charged with the verification of the passbooks and accounts of the members from time to time. The supervisory committee is also given the authority by a unanimous vote of its membership to suspend an officer of the credit union or a member of the credit committee or the board of directors until the next meeting of the membership which shall be held within not less than seven nor more than fourteen days. The membership shall act to ratify or reject the action of the supervisory committee. This section also permits the board of directors to suspend a member of the supervisory committee until the next meeting of the membership which is called on short notice.

Section 180. This section deals with the reserves of a credit union. It establishes a formula under which the credit union will maintain reserves. I have not set out the requirements of this section since they are somewhat technical. The section itself is on page 16 of the bill. The commissioner is given authority to modify the reserve limitations of the section.

Section 190. This section deals with the dividends of the credit union. It grants to the board of directors the authority to declare a dividend at various rates on different types of shares.

Section 200. This section deals with the expulsion and withdrawal of membership.

Section 210. This section provides that shares of a credit union may be issued in the name of a minor or in trust subject to conditions prescribed by the bylaws.

Section 220. This section deals with the suspension of a credit union by the commissioner for insolvency or for operation in an unsafe and an unsound manner or for violation of its articles of incorporation, its bylaws, or violation of this chapter or regulations adopted by the commissioner under it. The commissioner is given the authority to act under AS 06.01.030 and temporarily suspend the operations of the credit union. He may then allow it to continue under his supervision.

Section 230. This section provides that a credit union is exempt from taxation by the state or a municipality of the state except for real and tangible personal property owned by it. Essentially this section means that the funds, the capital, the reserves, surplus, and other funds of the credit union as such are exempt from taxation.

This section does not prevent holdings in a credit union from being included in the valuation of the personal property of the owners under taxes imposed by the state or in political subdivisions.

Section 240. This section authorizes the commissioner of transportation and public facilities to allot space to a credit union if at least 95 percent of the membership is composed of persons who either are presently state employees or were state employees at the time of their admission to the credit union.

Section 250. This section authorizes a state credit union to convert into a federal credit union and authorizes a federal credit union to convert into a state credit union.

Section 260. This section requires a credit union under regulations of the commissioner to insure member accounts under programs offered by the National Credit Union Administration Board.

Section 270. This section permits a credit union to participate in programs offered by the National Credit Union Central Liquidity Facility under regulations of the commissioner.

Section 280. This section provides that a member of the board of directors or a member of the credit committee or the supervisory committee or an employee of the credit union may not participate in decisions affecting his own interests or the interests of a corporation, partnership or association in which he is interested; and it provides that a person who violates this section may not thereafter serve as an officer, agent or employee of a credit union.

Section 290. This section authorizes a credit union to merge with another credit union.

Secton 300. This section provides that a credit union may establish branch offices under regulations of the commissioner.

Section 310. This section makes it a class A misdemeanor for a natural person to conduct business under a name which is suggestive of a credit union business.

Section 320. This section prohibits the transfer of credit union property to preferred creditors.

Section 330. This section makes it a class B felony to deceive the commissioner or examiners of the credit union.

Section 340. This section prohibits the knowing acceptance of a deposit by an officer or employee of a credit union if that officer or employee knows that the credit union is insolvent. A violation is a class A felony.

Section 350. This section provides that a credit union may not acquire control directly or indirectly of another financial institution or invest in the shares, stocks or obligations of an insurance company, trade association, liquidity facility or any other similar organization except as provided by this chapter.

Section 400. This section is a definitions section and the terms "commissioner", "credit union", and the "credit union association" are defined in this section.

Section 3. The effective date section of the bill provides that the effective date is July 1, 1980.

the further the credit union is away from the NCUA office, the better the odds are of this occurring. If a credit union is able to inexpensively call or visit the NCUA office to check on the status of an inquiry, chances are that that inquiry will receive prompt attention.

The proliferation of regulations emanating from NCUA is also of concern to me. However, I can do nothing except voice my objections, and then abide by their regulations. Example: NCUA recently passed a regulation that effectively and severely limits the sources a credit union can borrow from. Several credit unions in California have since filed a lawsuit challanging NCUA's authority to limit such transactions. Regulations have also been proposed that would further limit the debt collection practices of Federal credit unions. Why? Because, says NCUA, last year they received 59 complaints about the collection practices of Federal credit unions. Not necessarily valid complaint, just unverified complaints. That, out of almost 13,000 credit unions. I consider that a pretty darn good track record, one that credit unions can be proud of, but NCUA thinks that merits further regulations.

I'm not saying that I would recommend my credit union convert from a Federal to a state charter as soon as possible, but I would like to have that option available.

There are many conditions in Alaska that are unique, as you all recognize. The problem is that for the most part, the uniqueness of our situation is not recognized by NCUA. subsequently, requests that might be out of the ordinary to outsiders are often rejected without considering our unique situation. Several years ago the Alaska Railroad Federal Credit Union requested an amendment to our field of membership that would allow us to serve the employees of 6 small companies that are lessees and shippers of the Railroad. Each of these groups were too small by current NCUA guidelines to form their own credit union, yet we felt there was a sufficient common bond with railroad employees to justify the request. The request was denied

No consideration was given to a unique situation. An attempt to provide credit union service to those groups failed because of the unwillingness of the regulatory agency to consider an unusual situation.

The issue at hand is not whether there will be credit unions in Alaska, but whether the State will take a role in the future of the credit unions and the services they provide the citizens of the State.

I urge you to support the passage of Senate Bill 225.

Thank you for this apportunity to present my viewpoint.

Dear Manager:

Enclosed is the latest revised draft of the Commerce Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 225, providing for state credit unions. The context has not been changed. Also enclosed is a section-by-section analysis of the changes incorporated in the latest draft bill.

As mentioned in my letter of April 6, considerable effort was made to get this bill in final form and passed this session; however, our Division of Legal Services, which assists in drafting bills, discovered numerous legal problems resulting from the latest amendments. Consequently, we were not able to meet the deadline for passage of bills during this proposed short session.

I would appreciate receiving any comments you may have pertaining to this bill. If you have any questions, please let me know of them.

I am quite certain we will get this bill through the Senate Commerce Committee early next session since the original committee substitute bill did not pass the Legislature this year. Representative Joe McKinnon attached the original bill to CSSB 118, but it did not pass the Legislature.

Sincerely,

Brad

Dear Julius:

Two items we received in yesterday's mail reminded me of our dialogue during the July 26 Senate Commerce Committee hearings on the state credit union act, concerning possible alternatives to NCUA share insurance for Alaska state-chartered credit unions. Enclosed are copies of these items for your review.

The first is a memo from Bob Bianchini, President of the Rhode Island Credit Union League, concerning an article in the July issue of "The Supervisor," the publication of the Conference of State Bank Supervisors. The article deals with threats to the dual banking system, and I share Bob's view of the similarity to current challenges to the credit union dual chartering system.

The second is a press release and copy of comments to NCUA from the National Association of State Credit Union Supervisors, expressing concern about the latest in an unending series of NCUA regulations that would usurp the prerogatives of state credit union regulators by NCUA through their share insurance function.

As we may have discussed before, my career progression included a recent two-year stint in the Washington, D. C. office of the Credit Union National Association. As part of my duties there I had frequent contact with many professional staff members of NCUA and worked with them on a wide variety of credit union issues. I'm not given to paranoia, and I'm convinced that there is a concerted attempt underway by top NCUA people to assume direct control over the large state-chartered segment of our industry. Some of them truly believe it to be in the best interests of credit unions to save them from "inept" state regulators, while others simply desire greater power and influence.

In both cases the device is the same--expanded requirements for continuation and qualification for NCUA share insurance by state-chartered credit unions through application of operational regulations that have no direct bearing on the degree of risk to the share insurance fund. These "empire builders" have accurately identified mandatory NCUA share insurance as the stranglehold needed to gain regulatory control over state-chartered credit unions.

Unfortunately, we in the credit union movement have been somewhat gullible. Accustomed in the past to a benevolent federal regulatory agency, interested in encouraging and promoting, as well as regulating credit unions, we have acquiesced to and sometimes even encouraged inclusion of provisions for mandatory NCUA share insurance in our state credit union laws. That was, I believe, an error in judgement on our parts, and will be difficult to reverse in many cases. In addition to the steady stream of NCUA regulations that limit and control the operations of state-chartered credit unions, NCUA has proposed operating the newly-authorized central liquidity facility in a manner that would undermine the movement's central credit union financial system, and my colleagues confirm that the agency exhibits ever-increasing arrogance and intransigence in dealing with credit unions and their representatives.

Julius, I see that this letter has become longer than I intended, but may help you understand our strong desire to permit established, successful alternatives to mandatory NCUA share insurance in our pending Alaska state credit union act. I think you can see that this option is key to, and has become almost as important as, the option of state chartering and regulation itself. Our dual chartering system of checks and balances is seriously out of whack, with the scales tipping precariously in the direction of Washington, D. C. We have the opportunity in Alaska to assure from the outset that you truly have the authority and responsibility to utilize your considerable talents in regulating state-chartered credit unions, without unwarranted federal interference.

Thanks for taking the time to review this letter and enclosures.

Sincerely,

David L. Chatfield
President

RHODE ISLAND CREDIT UNION LEAGUE 89 JEFFERSON BOULEVARD / WARWICK, RHODE ISLAND 02888 / (401) 785-0600

August 23, 1979

TO: Members of Association of

FROM: Bob Bianchini

In the July issue of the "The Supervisor", the monthly publication of the Conference of State Bank Supervisors, Larry Kreider, CSBS Executive Vice President, discusses the dual banking system and what must be done to preserve the relative freedom inherent in the present regulatory structure. I was struck by the similarity of the problems, particularly those of a regulatory nature, facing the banking industry and those of our credit union movement. The following are excerpts from Mr. Kreider's talk along with some personal comments . . . . .

The dual banking system means different things to different people; but there is one characteristic on which all proponents of the system agree: When permitted to work, it constitutes an excellent check and balance against government monopoly in bank regulation.

Today, this check and balance is being threatened more than ever before. There are well organized attacks on the McFadden concept - attacks designed to destroy the right of the states to determine the banking structure best suited to their particular needs; proposals to consolidate and centralize banking regulation into one federal superagency.

It's unfortunate but we must recognize that through our own actions we have in effect created a super federal regulatory agency in the form of the National Credit Union Administration. NCUA has responsibility for chartering, supervising, insuring and in its latest attempt to exert absolute control . . . liquidity management through the newly created Central Liquidity Facility for all federal and federally insured state chartered credit unions. The creation of the CLF is a classic example of transferring to the federal government a function which we have every capability of maintaining ourselves. The CLF is nothing more than a newly created U. S. Central except that it is controlled and managed by the federal government, along with the usual bureaucratic and regulatory entanglements.

The basic issue confronting the dual system is the threat of monopolistic centralized regulatory control over banking. Please recognize that this threat is real. Not only are we confronted with a long list of major proposals which would take us far in the direction of a federal bank regulatory monopoly, we also are confronted with more central oriented, monopolistic minded bank regulatory bureaucrats than at any time in history. Some of them want, and a few even state so openly, federal monopolistic control over banking! But alas, it tends to be these same proponents of monopoly in government who profess so conspicuously to favor absolute freedom of entry into banking, if they can control banks after they are chartered.

Monopolistic regulatory control, along with its companion, overregulation, is the real issue. Not only is it of concern to the CSBS, but also to many in Congress and in the federal agencies which have spawned the problem.

Again, through our own legislative policy, we have allowed a single federal agency excessive regulatory functions. At the same time, we are discouraging competition within regulation between state and federal agencies, by permitting one individual (The NCUA Chairman) the opportunity to impose similar regulations and controls to both federal and state chartered credit unions . . . . authority which even the comptroller of the currency is not permitted to exercise. Under present circumstances, why would any state chartered federally insured credit union want to continue to maintain a state charter, when the only result is additional regulation and examinations and little, if no opportunity, to exercise functions permitted by state law while the NCUA Chairman exercises his veto power.

Notwithstanding problems, there are positive signs. With apologies for my grammar, "we've got" lots of help in our long-run struggle to limit and reduce federal monopoly and overregulation.

First, there is a basic national inclination for freedom from inherently oppressive centralized power. Instinctively, we will always fight for freedom - unless the loss of freedom goes so far that we no longer are capable of fighting! And there increasingly is an underlying inclination in our nation - and perhaps in the entire world - toward greater personal freedom and less centralized control over our daily lives. Some Members of Congress and some in the federal bureaucracy are out of step with the national trend. In our relatively democratic society, that national trend eventually will prevail over centralized power and monopolistic inclinations of government officials. But, we will all have to work to make that happen.

Second, CSBS gets lots of help from other groups in this effort to achieve checks and balances in our regulatory system. Help now comes from the National Governors' Association, the National Conference of State Legislatures, state bankers associations and an increasing number of Members of Congress.

Third, more and more support for CSBS goals reflects the fact that state banking departments are stronger and more capable of discharging their responsibilities than ever before in history. The state system overall is as capable and in some areas more capable than its federal counterparts. States have strengthened their departments and have taken the lead in techniques needed to get the basic job done more efficiently, while federal agencies have tended to become overburdened by excessive compliance examination responsibilities which, in many cases, have become cost/benefit ineffective.

We da have the ability to protect the checks and balances by encouraging and fostering the growth and development of a viable alternative to federal monopoly and centralized power. As a basic premise we should determine that one reason credit unions choose a state rather than federal charter is to minimize , if not eliminate altogether, federal control and intervention in its affairs. State chartered credit unions should be subject to regulation by the states and the states alone. With respect to the insurance function, state share and deposit insurance plans have proven they are functionally and actuarially sound, CUNA and the leagues should step up their involvement and support of existing plans and the establishment of new programs emulating those existing successful programs. Cooperative activities with the National Share and Deposit Insurance Corporation and the National Association of State Credit Union Supervisors should be increased and major goals and objectives should be established.

We can all be more effective if we have basic guides for our efforts. With this in mind, discussions were held by state bank commissioners in 1977 and 1978, culminating in the CSBS "Policies on the Presence of Federal Agencies in the Examination and Regulation of State Chartered Banks and Bank Holding Companies" which were unanimously approved by the CSBS Board of Directors last Fall. What does this policy guide say?

The "Policy" calls for equality in state and national bank examination and regulatory burdens. Redundant federal examinations and regulation of state-chartered banks must be eliminated. There is no justification for the present disparity - unless federal power per se is accepted as a valid goal.

The Office of the Comptroller and state banking departments should be primary regulators of respective national and state-chartered banks. The FDIC and FRS should maintain specialized insurance and monetary policy roles.

The FDIC should have a presence in examination and regulation for safety and soundness only as it relates to its insurance function. The FDIC presence should be essentially the same for state as for national banks and should be a specialized insurance presence, not a primary role.

We must help Members of Congress realize the merits of the checks and balances inherent in our dual system. That is an ongoing effort which has only begun.

We must study federal statutes and draft revisions consistent with our goals.

We must develop greater legislative strength at state and federal levels. Obviously, the development of practical legislative strength is a major focal point of this entire "Policy" effort.

Serious consideration should be given to the introduction of federal legislation separating the functions of NCUA in a similar manner to those of the comptroller of the currency, the FDIC and the Federal Reserve Bank, with each member of the NCUA Board assuming the administration of those separate functions. No one individual should enjoy absolute regulatory authority and control over our credit union movement . . . . de facto or otherwise.

Along with legislative efforts, we should adjust our relationship with NCUA . . . . openly and without rancor. The paternalistic relationship between NCUA and our movement is just not working and it's time we recognized that fact. We must view NCUA, as it continues to gain and expand its centralized powers as any other federal bureaucracy with its accompanying regulatory burdens. We should reaffirm our basic belief that the government should do for us only those things which we can't do as well or better for ourselves. And if it is in our best interest, in order to obtain certain services, to deal with an alternative federal agency we should not hesitate to do so. For instance, if credit union escape from monetary policy is a concern of our government officials, one suggestion would be to propose U. S. Central membership in the Federal Reserve with the extension of controls through the U. S. Central to its membership. In return, direct entry to the clearing system and discount window privileges should be granted.

Problems notwithstanding, we should not assume that our system of state/federal checks and balances is near death nor that federal bureaucrats will, in fact, gain so much centralized power and will regulate to such an extreme that we will lose many of our basic personal freedoms as well as the flexibility in banking needed to serve diverse trade areas. If we accept that assumption, it might become self-fulfilling. What we all must recognize, however, is that there are powerful forces at work, attempting to achieve a federal monopoly and overregulation.

Those forces will fail. Forceful attempts to centralize and regulate our daily lives are setting in motion even more powerful counterforces which eventually will restrain those on the Potomac who are so sure they know what is better for the citizens of far away states than do the citizens of those states working through their democratic process.

You see, what we really have in Washington, D. C. is an element of arrogance and disrespect for the democratic process, particularly at the state level. It only leads to mediocrity and is not progressive, so the argument goes. Well, we all want change where change will be useful to society; but history teaches that freedom and broadly based governmental democratic processes are a far superior way to achieve progress than an elitist government monopoly.

It shall be most interesting to watch these two basic forces act and counteract over the next decade. Bet on freedom and the democratic process! They will prevail over elitism, government monopoly and overregulation!

Our leadership at both national and state levels should recognize the CLF for what it really is . . . . a duplicate U. S. Central, performing virtually identical functions (particularly if it is granted depository powers and tax exempt status as recently proposed to Congress by NCUA) and seeking the same membership . . . . our credit unions. A competitive relationship exists between our U. S. Central and the CLF . . . so let's stop ignoring that fact and establish rational courses of action. To begin with, under no circumstances should NCUA be permitted to examine any state chartered corporate credit union or the U. S. Central (Would Chase Manhattan invite Citibank in to determine who its major customers are?). Federally chartered corporate credit unions in states where strong state laws exist should convert to state charters . . . . and as I said earlier upgrading CUNA and the leagues' working relationships with NSDGA and NASCUS should become a major priority. We must increase our efforts to acquaint our individual state regulatory agencies with NCUA's growing monopolistic centralized regulatory control over the credit union movement. Goals and objectives to preserve federal and state checks and balances should be established with our state supervisors, including necessary legislative programs.

Finally . . . . the U. S. Central represents our strongest tool for preserving a credit union movement which offers a choice, and credit union leaders throughout our nation should recognize that fact and respond accordingly.

Following extensive review of the proposed National Credit Union Administration Board(NCUA) regulation "Liquidity Reserves of Insured Credit Unions," designed to impose a uniform 5% general liquidity reserve on all federally insured credit unions, the National Association of State Credit Union Supervisors (NASCUS) adopts a position in opposition to the proposed regulation.

NASCUS officials feel that each state regulator can protect the public interest and the safety and soundness of state chartered credit unions without further intrusion by the federal government. NASCUS members have always endorsed and promoted the concept of sound liquidity management for state chartered credit unions.

The major shift in policy direction by the NCUAB which this denotes with regard to their confidence in state regulation of credit unions is unnecessary and unwarranted. The healthy relationship already established between NCUAB and the state credit union supervisors should be encouraged through continued harmony and cooperation, not with additional regulation.

Especially onorous is the Depletion and Replenishment Section 742.4, which requires state chartered/federally insured credit unions to notify the appropriate NCUAB Regional Office when it's reserves dip below 5%. This section effectively by-passes the state supervisory authority - an obvious affront to that state's rights.

In addition, the state chartered credit unions would then be required to report to two regulatory bodies; the NCUAB Regional Office and the respective state regulatory agency. It is our recommendation that this section be applied only to federal credit unions. If, after careful examination of the issues raised, the NCUAB determines to enact this section, we propose that the state agencies be authorized to act as the supervisors and enforcers of the regulation.

Following careful consideration of the entire promulgated regulation NASCUS recommends that NCUAB should offer the 5% liquidity requirement as a recommended voluntary guideline, not as a regulation with the effective impact of law. A regulation could be implemented by administrative sanction by each state supervisors if they deemed that such a regulation is needed.

RE: Liquidity Reserves of Insured Credit Unions

Dear Chairman Connell:

The National Association of State Credit Union Supervisors (NASCUS), the collective voice of state credit union regulatory departments, has reviewed the proposed NCUA regulation to establish a 5% general liquidity reserve requirement for all federally insured credit unions and offer the following comments:

Proposed Liquidity Requirement

NASCUS opposes the NCUA in pre-empting states' rights in extending a 5% liquidity reserve requirement to state chartered/federally insured credit unions. We feel that such action on the part of the NCUA is not needed, not wanted and not warranted at this time. We do not recognize a demonstrated need at this time for such a sweeping regulation.

Liquidity regulations and policies exist for share drafts and overall liquidity in many states at the present time (see appendix). The NCUA's proposed regulation will result in duplication of effort and confusion among state chartered credit unions. State regulators have dealt with liquidity reserves on a formal and informal basis for many years. We can continue to protect the public interest and the safety and soundness of state chartered credit unions without the intrusion of the federal government.

Regulation is most effective at the state level. At this level, the state supervisor can use his discretion in developing regulations that reflect local market conditions or the particular problems of specific credit unions. Broad, sweeping regulations promulgated by the federal government result in rigid rules that fail to take into account the intricacies or special problems of credit unions. As an example, if National or local economic trends force an outflow of shares, state regulators are much closer to the situation than the NCUA and can react much faster, with remedial action, to stem the flow of share withdrawals.

NASCUS members have always endorsed and promoted the concept of sound liquidity management for state chartered credit unions. We feel that such management practice is prudent and in the best interest of credit union members. We constantly encourage credit union managers to employ such concepts. We do not feel that the federal government should mandate strict liquidity requirements for credit unions in place of independent management judgements.

Research Design

The economic justification provided by the NCUA does not isolate and provide an analysis of only state chartered/federally insured credit unions. In place, the data report groups the liquidity of both state and federally chartered credit unions as an aggregate figure. We feel that if NCUA desires to regulate state chartered/federally insured credit unions, it should break-out the state chartered data and provide a separate analysis of the situation.

Additionally, the data is compiled as of December 31, 1978 which is now over 7 months old. The liquidity situation may have changed significantly since that time and not be reflected in data used by the NCUA in its decision-making process. Several states have reported strong liquidity positions, i.e., North Carolina, Nebraska, Texas and Georgia(see appendix), and see no need for a federal regulation on liquidity in their states. We feel that a decision of this magnitude should be based on current data, not information that is more than 1/2 year old.

Depletion and Replenishment

We vehemently object to Section 742.4 Depletion and Replenishment, where state chartered/federally insured credit unions shall notify the appropriate NCUA Regional Office and shall replenish its liquidity reserve to the required level within 60 days, unless an extension is approved by the Administration. This section completely bypasses the state supervisory authority. Moreover, it sets up a mechanism for the NCUA to regulate and supervise state chartered/federally insured credit unions. State chartered credit unions will have to report to two regulatory bodies, both the NCUA Regional Office and their respective state regulatory agency.

We suggest that this section apply to only federal credit unions. If the regulation is indeed approved, we recommend that the state agencies act as the supervisors and enforcers of the regulation.

Federal Pre-emption

We have not seen a discussion of the federal pre-emption question in this regulation. This regulation, if implemented, will conflict with existing statutes and administrative actions and policies in several states. As an example, Tennessee, Iowa, Utah and North Dakota have liquidity regulations mandated by statute pertaining to share drafts authorized under their state programs. This proposed regulation will result in those state chartered credit unions having to comply with a regulation for share drafts and a separate regulation for all member accounts and notes payable. Needless to say, such duplication is not needed.

The state of Georgia has had a 5% liquidity policy for several years. The Michigan Department of Financial Institutions has recently instructed all state chartered credit unions to establish a liquidity policy. Please reference the Comparative Digest of Credit Union Acts published yearly by the Credit Union National Association for additional state reserve requirements.

Alternative

NASCUS believes that the NCUA should state the 5% liquidity requirement as a recommended voluntary guideline, not as regulation with the force and effect of law.

We have shown that the liquidity situation is not severe in several states, and that these states should not be saddled with a regulation that is intended for someone else. In effect, why should the majority of state chartered credit unions be affected by a regulation, when only a minority may be experiencing a liquidity squeeze?

Your point of sound liquidity management is well taken. We differ in the method of implementation. We feel that the states will promulgate a liquidity regulation if the situation warrants such action. As we have shown, not every state needs such a regulation.

The NCUA recommended guideline could be implemented by administrative sanction of state supervisory authorities. Each state agency, if they deemed that such a regulation was necessary in their particular state, could promulgate such a regulation.

NASCUS recognizes the legitimate interest which the NCUA has in protecting the soundness of their share insurance fund. However, the present liquidity situation is being adequately handled by the states, and we do not see a need for such a sweeping regulation.

This proposed regulation reflects a major shift in policy direction by the NCUA with respect to NCUA confidence in state regulation of credit unions. The federal/state partnership that has developed over the years between the NCUA and the state credit union supervisors has been successful. This partnership has worked well and we question the need to extend such a regulation to the states at this time.

We hope that you will take our comments into consideration when drafting your final regulation on liquidity reserves.

Very truly yours,

Oliver Barnett

Dear Senator Bradley,

Thank you for your letter of April 6th in which you enclosed a copy of Senate Bill 225. In reviewing that piece of legislation I find that it is a duplicate of previous year's bill therefore I would need a copy of the redraft.

I am in great hopes that a hearing might be found on this particular Bill prior to adjournment. It we can get it through one committee we might have a better chance to get it completed next year. If it is not processed at all this year I am sure there will be difficulty concluding it next year.

Dear Senator Bradley:

After reviewing Senate Bill 225 which provides for State chartered credit unions, I have some comments based on my experience as Manager of our credit union.

Page 9, Section 06.40.120 - Supervisory Committee

Annual audits should be considered as opposed to semi-annual. The scope of Supervisory Committee audits is extensive therefore only once a year is necessary. For smaller credit unions, if the audit is conducted by an ourside firm, this can be an expensive proposition. If conducted by the Supervisory Committee, which consists of volunteers who may or may not have accounting backgrounds, an audit can take quite a bit of time which could have the effect of discouraging volunteers.

Also, under this Section it states that at least one-half of passbooks or accounts must be verified each year. This has some of the same ramifications as stated above, i.e., time and expense.

Rather than a mandatory simple majority to conduct an Annual Meeting, a stated minimum should be considered. The majority concept places a burden on credit unions to get such a majority of members to attend. If their membership is spread in several different localities or is involved in shift work, or there are no suitable facilities to accomodate a large group, the credit union is placed in the position of not conforming with the State law.

Thank you for this opportunity to comment on SB 225 and for your interest in the credit union movement in general.

The Honorable Brad Bradley
The State Senate

Dear Senator Bradley:

Thanks for your recent letter and the copy of the proposed Committee substitute for Senate Bill 225, the Bill for a State Credit Union Act.

As you recall, differences between last year's bill (also introduced this year as SB 225 and HB 452) and this proposed Committee substitute were generally those suggested by Division of Banking Director Julius Brecht in discussions with our staff. We have no objections to the inclusion of provisions desired by the Banking Division to enhance the regulatory and supervision process, and are pleased to have Mr. Brecht's assistance in drafting the bill.

We keenly regret, however, that revisions caused the bill to become entangled in the logjam of proposed legislation pending review by the Division of Legal Services. This lengthy delay has apparently resulted in the bill not receiving full legislative consideration again this year. We know you agree that the bill deserves full consideration, and that decisions based on the merits of the issues should be made without further delay. Your assistance in this effort is much appreciated and will be reported to our membership at the conclusion of this year's legislative session.

We also appreciate the efforts by those involved in legislative analysis to clarify and simplify language in the Committee substitute. Most of their changes are constructive in cleaning up old "boilerplate" language. However, some of the changes they made resulted in substantive rather than technical changes to certain sections of the bill. It's unfortunate they didn't take the opportunity to contact our staff during analysis of the Committee substitute, as we suggested to Mr. Brecht and your staff, since we would have been able to explain why certain phrases and terms were used and should be retained. We appreciate this opportunity to make suggestions for changes in the proposed Committee substitute, CSSB 225.

Page 4, lines 15-19, Sec. 06.45.060. Membership. -- In modifying the Committee substitute, certain language concerning availability of membership was taken from Sec. 06.45.030. Bylaws, and inserted in this section instead. We agree with this rearrangement, but find that the section dealing with membership of organizations and associations composed primarily of members was dropped in the transition. Accordingly, we suggest that Sec. 06.45.060 (C), Page 4, lines 15-19 of CSSB 225 be changed to read as follows:

"(C) Organizations, associations and partnerships composed primarily of individuals who are eligible for membership, and corporations whose stockholders are composed primarily of individuals who are eligible for membership, may be admitted to membership in the same manner and under the same conditions as individuals."

Page 5, lines 2 and 3, Sec. 06.45.070. Powers. -- Under (6) the term "Share Certificates" was changed to "Time Certificates". Share certificates in credit unions do not have precisely the same function as time certificates in other institutions, and we disagree with this change. Further, inasmuch as share certificate and other types of accounts are separately defined in Sec. 06.45.500, we suggest that Sec. 06.45.070(6) page 5, lines 2 and 3 of CSSB 225 be changed to read as follows:

"(6) Receive savings from its members in the form of share accounts, deposit accounts, share certificate accounts or special purpose thrift accounts;"

Page 5, line 6, Sec. 06.45.070. Powers. -- In (8) the words "an aggregate" were changed to "a total". We're concerned that this could be construed to mean that a credit union could borrow a total of 50% of unimpaired capital and surplus from one source, and could borrow similar amounts from additional sources, obviously an unsafe and unsound practice. We suggest that the words "an aggregate" replace the words "a total" on page 5, line 6 of CSSB 225 to help clarify the intent.

Page 6, line 12, Sec. 06.45.070. Powers -- In (20) following "honor requests for withdrawals of those savings" the words "in any form" were removed. We feel this phrase is important in clarifying that remote withdrawals, i.e., share drafts, automatic teller and point-of-sale terminals, correspondent credit union relationships, etc., are permitted. We suggest that the words "in any form" be inserted after the word "savings" on page 6, line 12 of CSSB 225 to help clarify the intent.

Page 15, lines 4-8, Sec. 06.45.200. Special Accounts -- Certain changes and omissions occured during legislative analysis. Inasmuch as these accounts are specifically covered under both "powers" and "definitions" sections of the bill, we suggest that this section be deleted entirely and subsequent sections be renumbered accordingly.

Page 15, line 22, Sec. 06.45.210. Multiple Party Accounts. -- Wording changes in legislative analysis help to clarify this section, but we suggest that the words "qualify as", page 15, line 22 be deleted, and the word "constitute" be substituted therefor. This will clarify that accounts listed in Sec. 06.45.210(b) are not subject to the limitations under Sec. 06.45.210(a).

Page 18, line 15-16, Sec. 06.45.250. Loans -- The words "on any business day" were deleted from (f) relating to repayment of loans without prepayment penalty. These words, taken from the Federal Credit Union Act, clarify that loan repayments will be accepted and posted as of the regular business day received. Otherwise, credit unions could be expected to post as of an evening or weekend a member's loan payment was attempted or postmarked. We suggest the words "on any business day" be inserted after the word "part" on page 18, line 15 of CSSB 225.

Page 18, lines 17-19 and 22, Sec. 06.45.250. Loans.(g) -- Here again we note the use of the word "total" in place of "aggregate". We are concerned that it could be construed that more than one loan or line of credit to a member, each of which could total 10% of the credit union's unimpaired capital and surplus could be extended. This limitation is intended to apply to the aggregate loans or lines of credit to a member, and would be more clearly stated in that manner. The following adaptation of the language from the Federal Credit Union Act is suggested to replace Sec. 06.45.250 (g), page 18, lines 17-19 of CSBB 225:

> "(g) A loan or line of credit may not be made to a member if, upon the making of that loan or line of credit, the member would be indebted to the credit union upon loans made to him in an aggregate amount which would exceed 10 per cent of the credit union's unimpaired capital and surplus."

Page 18, line 22, Sec. 06.45.250. Loans (h) -- Again, we suggest use of the word "aggregate" in place of the words "the total".

Page 21, line 15, Sec. 06.45.300 Investments (6) -- It appears the analyst incorrectly assumed we had used abbreviations in listing the facility as "U.S. Central Credit Union" and turned it into "United States Central Credit Union" which, to our knowledge, does not exist. We suggest restoring the correct name of the institution, as incorporated under the laws of the state of Kansas, which is "U.S. Central Credit Union".

Page 21, line 24, Sec. 06.45.310. Reserve Allocations -- In changing the term "accounting period" to "calendar year", the analyst suggests that reserve allocations would not have to be made with each period for which the books are closed and dividends calculated and posted, but only at the end of the year. While we appreciate the attempt to lessen our accounting requirements (virtually all credit unions post dividends more often than annually), we suggest that good business practice dictates the calculation and posting of reserve allocations prior to declaring dividends (as required by NCUA). We suggest deleting the words "calendar year" on Page 21, line 24, and substituting the words "accounting period" therefor.

Page 23, line 14 -- We suggest use of the title "Commissioner" instead of "Department" to be consistant with the rest of the bill.

Page 24, line 3, Sec. 06.45.330. Merger.(a) -- After the words "present at" we suggest striking the "a" and adding an "s" to the word "meeting" to make it plural. This would clarify that one grand membership meeting of all merging credit unions is not required to vote on a proposed merger, rather that each credit union's membership should have a separate meeting to consider the merger, as is the custom elsewhere.

Page 24, line 14, Sec. 06.45.330. Merger (c) -- The analyst has removed the 60-day requirement for action by the Commissioner on a proposed merger, thus leaving an open-end time period. We suggest restoring the 60-day requirement by inserting the words "within 60 days of receipt" after the word "and" on page 24, line 14.

Page 25, lines 21 and 23 -- Again, the analyst has used "department". We suggest using the title "Commissioner" for consistancy with the rest of the bill.

Page 29, lines 16 and 17, Sec. 06.45.470. Exemption from Taxation. (a) -- The term "shares and deposits" is used in the exemption. To clarify that all types of accounts, as defined in Sec. 06.45.500 are to be exempt, and that the exemption is not limited only to "shares and deposits", we suggest deleting the words "shares and deposits" on page 29, lines 16 and 17, and substituting the word "accounts" therefor.

That completes our suggestions for changes in CSSB 225. Again, we appreciate the opportunity to analyze changes made by the Division of Legal Services. The many technical amendments they made that we have not discussed have improved and clarified certain sections of the bill.

We look forward to further progress on this important bill and stand ready to assist you in any way possible.

Sincerely,

Dear Brad:

Thank you for sending me the information and the copy of SB 225 providing for state credit unions.

We continue to oppose this legislation as it basically establishes a commercial bank operating under the title of "credit union". This gives the credit union all banking powers without the regulations, taxation and protection to the depositors that the commercial banking system offers.

The arguments made by the credit unions that a state charter is necessary is misleading. At the present time to our knowledge there are no people that cannot be served under the federal chartering. To expand to state chartering will only increase our cost of government and not serve the public in any beneficial way. I would hope that this Bill would not become law this or next Session as, in my opinion, it is not a good piece of legislation, nor will it develop the free enterprise system. If credit unions want to be commercial banks, regulate them identically. The cost of doing business is the same, and the protection is afforded to the depositors.

Dear Brad:

I received your letter of April 6th regarding the Senate Bill #225 providing for state credit unions and have talked to the other bankers at a meeting the other day and wanted to let you know that although you had not heard too much from the bankers, we still feel that this credit union bill would not be a good thing for the people of the State of Alaska.

We continue to feel that it is nothing but a commercial bank under the guise of being called a credit union and one that is very liberal without proper controls and without proper capitalization. We also feel that it is a type of financial institution that is unfair competition because of the fact that it does not have to pay taxes. They can compete in every way and in more ways than commercial banks but yet do not have to pay taxes.

I was mentioning this to a state person the other day that if we establish enough of these types of non-taxible entities that in time there would not be sufficient taxes to pay the salaries of the state people or legislators.

Brad, I know that you are under pressure, but really when you look at this type of legislation, it cannot be good for the community, cannot be good for the State and, of course, is very bad for the tax paying institutions of Alaska. We certainly hope that you can contain it and not allow it to become law.

Dear Senator Bradley:

I have just reviewed the transcript for the hearing which your committee held on July 25-26, 1979 on the proposed CS SB225, an Act providing for state-chartered credit unions.

I note from the testimony towards the end of the July 26 hearing that it would appear that you and Senator Sturgulewski would like to see draft regulations in the areas of field of membership, share drafts, and application procedures. I said, during the hearing, that the division would certainly cooperate with the committee if it wanted to become more directly involved in the review of proposed regulations, separate from the authority for the Legislature to review all regulations of State agencies. I would draw your attention to the fiscal note that was submitted along with my testimony. That fiscal note provides for funding for an individual to draft regulations and to set up procedures for the regulating of credit unions under CS SB225. It may, therefore, be premature to come up with draft regulations prior to the enactment of the bill.

I would suggest that if the committee feels strongly that certain guidelines be followed in the drafting of those regulations, that the committee adopt a Letter of Intent setting out those guidelines. I would be happy to discuss this further with you as well as members of your committee and staff. My reason for hesitating in drafting regulations at this time, is that we have no assurance that the bill that may be eventually enacted will be, in fact, that which is presently before the committee. In my estimation, it would be best to draft regulations after we have a firm statement from the Legislature as to what the law is going to be.

In any event, please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any further comments on the matters touched on in this letter or other matters relating to this bill.

Sincerely,

Julius J. Brecht

The Senate Commerce Committee will come to order. Today, of course, we are taking up the state chartered credit union bill, Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 225 and we will start out with Nome. There were no witnesses or observers in Nome at that time. We'll check back with Nome later and proceed on with Sitka. There were no witnesses or observers in Sitka at that time. Proceed on to Soldotna. There were no witnesses or observers at that time. Proceed on to Fairbanks. Fairbanks had three witnesses. First witness Anita Davis from Eielson Credit Union.

"Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee, I am Anita Davis from the Eielson Credit Union and I would like to thank you for the opportunity of talking with you this morning and expressing my support to the bill that is before you. I am sure that after all of the hearings and all that you have been listening to that some of it has been very repetitious. We feel, though, that this is caused by the fact that we are all very united in our position on this bill. The strong points involving the bill are something that needs to be said time and time again. I, personally, have been with the credit union for 15 years. I believe in the credit union movement; I believe in Alaska. Thirteen of those years that I have been with the credit union have been in Alaska. I, personally, feel that the Alaskans are a proud and independent people and do not like to be placed in the position of being in the minority. We are one out of only four states left that does not have a state credit union act. I also would like to say that I feel the people of Alaska would like most certainly to avoid any further involvement by the federal government in matters that the state can handle. As I said before, I believe in the credit union, I believe in the philosophy of people helping people. I believe that people getting involved in this spirit adds quality to their lives. We have a great many people in the Fairbanks area that do not have credit union services available to them. This is caused by the federal chartering laws requiring common bond of the people forming a credit union. We are approached many times by people that would like to form credit unions that have none available to them. My own particular situation being a Department of Defense or government related credit union; they cannot join our credit union and we cannot refer them to any other credit union in the area. I am not aware of any of the present credit unions that operate within the state that are contemplating any type of a charter conversion. We all are very much aware of how much more effective we can be if we have an alternative available to us and this means a dual chartering system. Our NCUA administrator himself is a strong supporter of the dual system. He at one time was a state regulator. It has taken the credit unions a long time to be recognized as a viable financial institution. We would like very much now for the state to recognize the fact that we are here, we are real, we are serving a great many peoples' needs and we feel that the people of the state should have the opportunity to take advantage of some of the services that we have to offer. Thank you very much."

No questions were asked of Ms. Davis. Next witness was called. Ethel Stoneman, Ft. Wainwright Credit Union.

"Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, this is Ethel Stoneman from the Ft. Wainwright Credit Union. As Anita said, everything that we are all saying probably is repetitious because we feel so strongly on this. Credit unions were formed by people who have something in common. A good return on savings and low interest loans are the principal service. Because they operate without a profit motive and because all earnings are passed on to the member/owner credit members, credit unions have been and continue to be the most consumer-oriented type of financial institution. We have all heard that credit unions thrive very well in Alaska without a charter, but the reason we have is because they are consumer-oriented. There are still a lot of people in Alaska that are not eligible to be members because they do not belong to the common bond of one that is already in effect. The federal charters do not always accommodate all of the people. We, as Alaskans, are fighting very strongly at this time trying to get out from under so much federal government rule. We feel our state government can supervise much easier and as good if not better than the federal government. State control would permit more timely legislative changes when it appears necessary to adapt the law to the altering social and economic conditions. State legislators are here in Alaska and are more aware of and sympathetic to our needs. Our needs are not the same as the lower 48, therefore, we need to be able to have some control here in our state so that we have a better control of the situation. There are only four states that do not have their own act and Alaska is one of them. I just returned from two weeks at a credit union school in Wisconsin where both state credit unions, federal credit union employees and officials from all over were in attendance. Without fail, every state credit union person that I talked to showed me it was better to be in control by a state charter. They meet the individual state's needs more efficiently than federal control. At this time I do not know of any of the credit unions that plan to change their charters, but it would be much easier for credit unions to help the people that do not have charters at this time. That concludes my testimony."

Next witness was called to testify. Mebble Hansen from the Wien Credit Union.

"Mr. Chairman and members of the Committee. My name is Mebble Hansen of the Wien Employees Federal Credit Union. I appreciate this opportunity to give testimony in support of the bill that is now before your committee for consideration. In Alaska we do have 30 federal credit unions with a federal charter but we do not have a state act. Alaska is only one of four states left which does not allow its own credit union act. While a federal charter is meeting the needs of our members, there is still many unmet needs for the people of Alaska because of the federal authorities who are either unwilling or unable to recognize for our smaller population and small businesses. We believe a state act would give federal chartered credit unions more leverage when dealing with their regulatory agencies by providing an alternative to charter conversion. We at federal chartered credit unions have no options except to conform to their requests whether they are necessary or required by law. We believe that the needs of smaller credit unions can be met and better served by a state agency that would permit a much more simple administration and regulation to meet the demands of certain geographic regions. Alaska is now dependent on federal authority for administration of our consumers deposits with no control over your credit union chartering or rates. We believe that the state of Alaska would want to take a more active role in controlling the destiny of our depository institutions in Alaska. Credit unions are here and we are serving our members and will continue to do so whether the state act is enacted. Enacting a state credit union act will only help us seek a choice of Alaska's other financial institutions which is a choice of a state of federal chartering provisions. We thank you for letting us testify today in behalf of this issue and we urge your support. Thank you."

No other witnesses in Fairbanks at that time. Senator Bradley stated, for the benefit of those testifying in Fairbanks, who was present at the hearing in Anchorage. Chairman Bradley checked back with the outlying sites, but no witnesses or observes had materialized. The teleconference recognized Kodiak. Mr. Tim Johnson, Fedalaska Federal Credit Union in Kodiak.

"Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, this is Tim Johnson from Fedalaska Credit Union in Kodiak. I appreciate the opportunity to speak in support of the bill before you now. As you know, we are an island and not uncommon at all with other cities in Alaska, and particularly in the needs of its people. I would like to particularly state that this bill would give an opportunity to towns like Kodiak to develop area type credit unions to service the needs of the communities as the federal regulator is not a local person it is very difficult to accomplish the needs of the people here. For example, five years ago Kodiak did operate under an area type charter where it had the municipal, state and federal employees. However, since then, the regulating body has been shifted to remove the city, state and borough associations from our charter and make it federal only. This leaves people without a credit union to take care of their economic needs. Again, it primarily is unique to us by being far away from the regulators, not to have their support and it makes us feel detached from the whole program. That is all I have to say at this time."

Proceeded to Juneau. First witness, Brian Andrews, with Alaska State Employees Federal Credit Union.

"Chairman Bradley, members of the Commerce Committee and interested parties. My name is Brian Andrews and I am the General Manager of the Alaska State Employees Federal Credit Union. My testimony today will be very brief and pointed towards to what I feel is the most important element of this state act and why it should be enacted. That element is the flexibility and timeliness of the act which allows us to meet the changing economic conditions of today and still maintain our goal of improving the economic and social conditions of our membership. The federal regulatory body NCUA, I believe, has failed us by not changing to meet today's economic conditions. Specifically, their inability to adjust our interest ceilings. With today's inflation being the worst since World War II, there has been a tremendous pressure to maintain a profit margin which, consequently, adversely affects our services and monetary return to our membership. It is this inability of the federal government to provide an adequate profit spread which is destroying, in my mind, the very existence of the credit union movement and that is why I strongly advocate the state charter. I can assure you that if this act is enacted into law, we will be one of the first to recharter and refirm our goal of improving the economic conditions to our membership. Thank you."

Next witness was called. Stephen Vlahovich, Tlingit/Haida Federal Credit Union.

"Good morning Mr. Chairman, members of the committee. I think you all know me, I have been on this committee for many years now. My testimony today is in favor, as usual, of the state chartered credit union act. All the reasons given for the act are legitimate and valid. I do have some areas of the bill itself which I would like to address. First is in the big seven where it states that the par value of the credit union share shall be in $5 multiples of not less than $5 and no more than $25. There has been some studies done in federal credit unions on the size of the share deposit and it has been proven, statistically, that share deposits of less than $50 are a loser to the credit union itself and the credit union does not incur any benefit to its membership by holding a deposit of less than $50. It would be my recommendation that the $25 be increased to $50 and then multiples of $5 thereafter. The other part of the bill I would like to address is on page 25 section 06.45.280, Insurance, part B. All credit unions chartered under this chapter shall be required to furnish evidence of insurance coverage by a national credit union administration. In talking to the federal examiner, what happens when a state chartered credit union applies for insurance coverage for shares through the national credit union administration is, if the bill providing the chartering of state credit unions has powers which the national credit union administration feels are not warranted in their operation, they usually require that credit union, in order to provide the insurance coverage, to drop those powers. Making an agreement with the national credit union administration. This,

I feel, would be an unwarranted invasion into the powers of the state to direct its own operation. I feel that there should be language added there that the credit union charter, say in the state of Alaska, would have the ability to purchase share insurance from another state chartered share insurance corporation or from a private insurance corporation. That's the end of my testimony today."

STURGULEWSKI: I do have one question if we could go back to page 7. Are you suggesting that the wording would be $5 multiples not less than $50 and then with some upward limit. What kind of wording might you suggest?

ANDREWS: The language would only have to rely on the fact that you would have a $50 minimum share, initial purchase and then multiples of $5 thereafter.

STURGULEWSKI: Thank you.

BRADLEY: Question for Mr. Chatfield for the benefit of those listening. Dave, don't some credit unions already implement this, a minimum of $50?

CHATFIELD: Thank you Mr. Chairman. To my knowledge there are no provisions in state charters elsewhere providing for that high a minimum par value on a share. Federal credit unions, by the federal act, may not increase the par value of a share above $5 at this time although there are proposals before the Congress to change that. I appreciate what Stephen is saying; I would be willing to discuss with you the possibility of increasing the allowable par value. I think perhaps a minimum of $50 might be a bit high. $5 multiples perhaps starting a $5 and with a maximum of $100 would be possible avenue to take on this.

BRADLEY: Thank you very much, David. Do you have anything further Stephen?

VLAHOVICH: Thank you Mr. Chairman, I don't.

BRADLEY: Thank you, Stephen. Proceed to next witness.

Third witness, Julius Brecht, Director, Division of Banking and Securities.

BRECHT: Good morning Mr. Chairman and members of the committee. I wish to thank you for giving me the opportunity to come forward and offer testimony on the bill before the committee on behalf of the administration. As you all know, the bill provides for the establishment of a state chartered credit union. At the present time there are approximately 33 credit unions doing business in the state. They are all federally chartered. The credit union as an institution is only one of several forms of financial institutions which are doing business in the state including commercial banks, mutual banks, bank holding companies, foreign banks, trust companies, savings and loan associations, finance companies and premium finance companies as well as credit unions. Each institution performs a service to the public and each is subject to regulation by state and/or federal agencies. I've made this statement before, but those institutions providing a wider range of services are subject to more extensive regulations. For example, commercial banks provide perhaps the widest range of services to the public, and they are also the most heavily regulated by both state and federal agencies. The regulation of a financial institution in the best interest of the public and the customers of that institution must be commersurate with the scope of services rendered and the risk of loss to depositors, shareholders and other creditors should the institution fail. I believe that if the Legislature enacts legislation providing for state chartered credit unions there must be provisions for adequate regulatory control of these financial institutions by the state commensurate with the services offered. I do have some specific comments on the draft bill which I could go through at this time at the pleasure of the committee.

BRADLEY: Go ahead please, Julius.

BRECHT: A number of these are really more in the vein of drafting type changes, but I think they should be brought to your attention at this time. The first one is on page 11 of the draft, line 11. Reference to AS 06.25.010-06.25.350. That, of course, is the trust company act. I think it should be just a reference to AS 06.25 in the event that sometime in the future that act is extended beyond section .350 and has an inadvertent omission of the appropriate change in this bill if it were to become law. Second item goes to page 16, lines 24-26. There is a reference to what might be termed wild card statute. It, in effect, allows the department to authorize state chartered credit unions to provide those services that a federally chartered credit union is allowed to provide, but which are not specifically provided for in the statute. There is a similar wild card statute that applies to other financial institutions and is found in a new chapter that was enacted by the Legislature last year. Chapter 1, entitled Administration and within that chapter I would suggest that the provisions of C on page 16 of the bill be deleted and in its place a reference be made in section 06.01.020 to the national credit union administration. In this way the same provisions of C in the bill will apply but will be put in a more logical place within Title 6. Is that clear to the committee?

BRADLEY: I think so, but hold just a moment. Do you have any comments, Dave? We have a comment from Mr. Dave Chatfield.

CHATFIELD: Thank you Mr. Chairman. Julius, we have no big problem with that. I think you have recognized the fact that the conformity provision or advantageous powers, or other names that it goes by is in the statute for other financial institutions and this would simply duplicate that for credit unions. In most cases the state credit union acts are fairly well self-contained rather than implying provisions of other parts of the banking code and things that would pertain to credit unions. I guess we have a preference to leave it in here so that this act remains self-contained, but as long as the effect is the same, we have no big problem with that.

BRECHT: The purpose of establishing Chapter 1 was to put in one place rather than in several different chapters, those provisions that would generally apply to all institutions. For instance, Chapter 1 now has provisions dealing with administrative procedures, examination policy, charging of fees for examinations and investigations and the general power of the department to use what I term a wild card statute.

CHATFIELD: We have a request for the specific statute reference of the conformitive provisions for the other financial institutions. I don't have that at hand.

BRECHT: I would suggest that national credit union administration be inserted after Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in AS 06.01.020.

CHATFIELD: Thank you Julius, I think we have it referenced now. Again, we have no big problem with this. We would prefer the thing to be self-contained but we recognize that there are other provisions of the banking code that apply.

BRADLEY: Attorney Sharyn Campbell has a comment.

CAMPBELL: Julius, we have discussed this previously and there was a technical difference in the standards that are provided. Subsection 1 of 020 requires that one of the standards be that it serve the public convenience and advantage and if you are going to incorporate the wild card provision it has to be clear in the legislative record that the public convenience standard is not the same as it would be with respect to institutions that can serve the general public because the credit union membership is limited to its field of membership.

BRECHT: Well then an appropriate amendment could be made to paragraph 1. Or in the legislative history of the bill we could make clear that the public convenience and advantage of the membership of the credit union, but at least in that way all wild card type of statutes would appear at one place in the financial institution's title.

BRADLEY: I think I follow you, Julius, but let me see if anyone else has a comment.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman I think what we need is to have your staff take a look at that and discuss it and draw up a possible amendment and then we can have some further input on it. I like the idea of it all being together, but I agree with Ms. Campbell's comments that it has to apply, definitely, to the credit union field of membership.

BRADLEY: Did you understand that Julius? It was from Senator Sturgulewski.

BRECHT: Yes, I understand. On pages 21, 25 and 28 there are several references to the national credit union administration. I think that there are enough references here that the acronym could be used in the term defined to decrease the verbage within the bill.

BRADLEY: I agree; I'm a great advocate for such. Spell it out the first time and use an acronym from there on because it is long terminology.

BRECHT: Specifically for the record, on page 21, line 14, page 25, lines 18, 20, 21 and 23, page 23, line 1 there is reference for returning small loans and savings and loan associations and since this work draft was based on that, the repealer was part of the work draft and it is not appropriate for the final bill.

BRADLEY: Then if I understand you, you agree that this repealer should be omitted?

CHATFIELD: That's correct because this, as a matter of fact, was dealt with with the legislature during the last session and this happened to appear on the work draft that we're now viewing, but it has been dealt with by the legislature and has no bearing to the credit union act itself.

BRADLEY: Fine, I missed that discussion between Mr. Chatfiel and Mr. Basler, the administrative assistant. Do you have anything further to add, Julius?

BRECHT: Just that the provisions of the proposed committee substitute in the context of the comments that I have made are what I view as adequate regulatory guidelines for credit unions their members, and the department. I will also submit to the committee a copy of a fiscal note that was prepared by the Division earlier this year and it should still reflect a reasonable projection of the Division for the cost of administering a credit union act. That fiscal note is dated February 23, 1979.

BRADLEY: I understand and would appreciate your submitting an up-to-date fiscal note, Julius. Would there not be some changes in the previous fiscal note?

BRECHT: Well, there might be some changes due to inflation, but other than that, I think that the fiscal note assumes that approximately 15 credit unions would be chartered and doing business in the state and from there makes projections as to how much time would be necessary to investigate and examine. There is an estimate for the need of one and one-half examiners to administer that program and an additional one-half examiners could easily be used to support other activities of the banking section within the division.

BRADLEY: I would appreciate your considering if there were any changes because from past experience I know from one section to another sometimes it's a frequent question that is this an updated fiscal note from one year to the next, one session to the next, so maybe to avoid any unnecessary discussion on that we might give it all the consideration that you think necessary, but if not I think I could explain it away on the floor. Mr. Chatfield has a comment.

CHATFIELD: I would like to suggest at this time that it is the committee's desire we may wish to touch on the issue raised by Stephen Vlahovich concerning an alternative for share insurance. If it is the committee's desire it might be well to do that while Julius is on the other end.

BRADLEY: Please go ahead.

CHATFIELD: I can see Stephen's concern and I think this bears on a question that Rep. Martin asked on Tuesday concerning the potential for regulation and I think that that is the only place where there might be possible dual regulation or any conflict of it arises.

For example, if the standards of NCUA concerning state chartered credit unions retaining their share insurance would be different from or in conflict with the standards that the banking division might have, so perhaps it would be a good idea to discuss at this time other options and I guess one way to do that would be to consider page 25, line 18 after national credit union administration inserting the words "or similar share insurance program approved by the commissioner." This would solve the problem as far as at least leaving the door open to alternative programs. Now we know of some other share insurance programs that do accept credit unions for insurance purposes from other states so if the words" or similar share insurance program approved by the commissioner" were inserted after the word administration on page 25, line 18, that would leave that door open and then I would suggest if that is done that to conform elsewhere in that paragraph, paragraph b on page 25, the words "national credit union administration" be changed to "insuring organization". I guess I would like to know Julius' feelings on that.

BRECHT: This question has been raised from time to time, not only in the context of credit unions, but other financial institutions. One real advantage of having a federal agency insure a financial institution is that you have the good full faith and credit of the U.S. government behind that insurance. The committee should be aware of the one decided disadvantage of stepping away from that is the possibility of getting involved in insurance problems in the context of financial institutions. Certain states have had considerable difficulty with private insurers. Maybe not necessarily in the context of credit unions, but in the context of other financial institutions and I think that the committee should be very careful about considering the possibility of insurance other than through a federal agency.

CHATFIELD: Yes Julius, I think we have considered that and we realize that there are some problems with that during the time that this has been kicked around. I think it's obvious that it would be actuarily unsound to attempt to do that, to form a share insurance organization just for Alaska credit unions because the numbers aren't large enough to be able to spread the risk properly. However there is the national share and guaranty corporation. There are other share insurance corporations which insure large numbrs of credit unions in other states. They are quasi-government agencies, they are supervised by the state agencies in those states and some of them operate on a regional basis or permit insurance and membershi by credit unions in other states, so with the wording "as approved by the commissioner" in there, would you feel uneasy about at least leaving the door open that much?

BRECHT: It would, of course, be at the discretion of the Commissioner, but what you do by, it depends, you could have a hypothetical at sometime in the future where there was considerable pressure put on a future commissioner to allow private insurance in this context and maybe perhaps in other contexts involving other financial institutions. Perhaps in the long run the net effect was not in the best interest of the institutions or their customers. It could be inserted, but I would still be rather cautious about the use of any insurance other than through a federal agency.

CHATFIELD: Julius, I think we share your concerns and we know that there have been some problems with private insurance companies insuring the deposits of other financial institutions. Fortunately none of those have occurred in connection with credit unions. But I think we share those concerns and it would certainly be our desire to see credit unions financially strong and insured by financially strong organizations and this, again, would address the problem that Rep. Martin brought up on Tuesday about the potential for dual responsibilities, dual regulations. This appears to be the only area where that's possible. Where state chartered credit unions would be required to have and maintain share insurance as their only option and if the NCUA standards for that insurance prove to be different or in conflict with those of your department. I think that's the only opportunity or potential problem area as far as dual regulation is concerned.

VLAHOVICH: I have a question to ask Dave. It's my understanding that the NCUA's share insurance program is not backed by the total good faith and credit of the U.S. government; it is basically a privately funded program supported by the credit unions throughout the United States.

CHATFIELD: Stephen, that's partly true and partly a little narrower than the actual fact. The share insurance fund was developed and is sustained by assessments against the credit unions that are insured -- premiums for that type of insurance. However, it does have guarantees and draws from the U.S. treasury to maintain its liquid status.

VLAHOVICH: Thank you.

BRECHT: Well, I guess my final comment on this would be that if that language were inserted it would certainly be used with caution by the administration.

BRADLEY: Thank you Julius; any further comments.

STURGULEWSKI: Julius, several areas. First, the page that refers to the seven member aggregate, $1,000 and then it goes on on the next page and one of the things that has to be looked at by the Commissioner is that the proposed credit union is economically feasible. We've heard a lot of debate or discussion over the last couple of days of hearings regarding the fact that, in Alaska we have somewhat of a unique situation in that the groups here, for the common bond, may not be as large as outside, so we have some very unique conditions that we need to bring together and utilize a broader definition of the common bond. I'm wondering, just from a philosophical point if you might like to speak on what kind of standards you apply to see that a common bond exists and that it is economically feasible. I'm wondering what kind of standards would be developed; would they be in the form of regulations or can it be that precise?

BRECHT: Yes, Senator Sturgulewski. A part of the fiscal note envisions an appropriation for a study and for the drafting of regulations to interpret and implement an act that would become law. The question of common bond and several other questions that may be raised regarding the present bill need to be clarified.

STURGULEWSKI: In other words you don't have those standards set up and you would anticipate that they would be done by regulation. Is that correct?

BRECHT: Preferably by regulation, we would of course look to what the history had been in other states that seem to be at least somewhat similar to Alaska. We would look to the regulations and procedures of the NCUA. They certainly would have more experience in this than we would starting right off. Again, going back to the fiscal note, the study would outline what has to be done to establish an appropriate mechanism for the regulation of credit unions under the act.

STURGULEWSKI: Okay, I've been rather of the feeling that there may have been more done on that; it sounds as though you have a way to go if this bill is enacted in that area. On page 9, line 13, under section 06.45.060 on membership. I'm just wondering if the way that's laid out, including the one at the end, members of the immediate family of a member. Is that a normal standard and inclusion?

BRECHT: I believe that the substance of this bill, to a large extent, comes from the model credit union act and certain other state acts that are thought to be progressive. As to where this specific language comes from, I'd have to defer to Mr. Chatfield who might be more familiar with it.

STURGULEWSKI: Julius, if you go to page 30, line 18. Talking in that particular section about the suspension and just begin kind of an overview. It calls for an annual report. There are certain percentages listed throughout the bill as to where a credit union can put their money and the amount of loans and so on. How onerous a burden is it going to be as far as a regulatory process goes to see that credit unions, in fact, stay healthy. Have you really carefully looked at that in drawing up your fiscal note. Because I think that if this bill passes, we're saying to the public that we are going to take over a certain responsibility and I'm frankly pretty shocked in some of our sunset reviews to find that our ability to enforce and police the laws and regulations that are enacted is extremely weak. My concern here is, are we holding out that we are going to do a job and then find that we don't have the resources to do it. I'd like some comment on that.

BRECHT: We have tried to address that in the fiscal note. We tried to estimate how much time it would take to do a typical examination and took our own experience in examining other types of financial institutions and drawn on the experience of certain other states in their experiences in examining institutions. We have that as a basis for our estimate. We are also estimating that we would have approximately 15 credit unions that would either charter or convert. If it was a much larger number, then obviously we would be saturated with business in that respect and would go beyond the projections of the fiscal note.

STURGULEWSKI: Julius, in the matter of financial institutions that are regulated by the state charter, do you have a specified time that you go on annual inspections. If the answer is yes, would you anticipate in the credit unions that you would actually go and make an inspection or is it just as a report to you. Do you go out in the field and verify that?

BRECHT: Our policy, let's say with respect to other financial institutions, would be to do a field examination. On a periodic basis. We would do the same with credit unions if this bill becomes law. In fact, I think this bill specifies an annual examination so we would be required to do an examination at least once a year. There might be a need for special examinations if there were particular problems with a specific credit union.

STURGULEWSKI: Julius, one other question. There was some discussion at the earlier hearing that you didn't have an opportunity to hear. There was talk about possible adoption of a fee schedule that would go a long way toward funding the necessary staff to regulate. What is your feeling on that as far as credit unions meeting part of the cost of the operation of your department?

BRECHT: The fee schedule that had appeared in a previous version of this bill would generate fees that would not come close to paying the cost of doing an examination and the reason why the credit unions will pay the full cost incurred by the department in conducting an examination is to put them on a par with other financial institutions with respect to payment of fees. Under the present law, under AS 06.01.010, any financial institution that is subject to the regulation of the department must pay the costs incurred by the department in examination or investigations. It's pretty clear as to how far that goes. It includes the cost of the examiner, the salary and benefits of the examiner, plus travel and per diem if it's a field examination. During the course of the on-site examination and including the time necessary to write up the examination report with the investigative report after the examiner returns from the field. That is a large portion of the cost of administering the program. Rough figures, 25% or so. I would say that if we're going to have some sort of administrative fee or assessment for administrative costs that it should be applied across the board on all financial institutions.

STURGULEWSKI: Julius, I'm afraid I'm a little bit lost. You refer to .010 where you have the full cost. Does it mean then that with this bill we're covered for the field examination and all the attendent costs. But it does not go beyond that, is that basically what you said?

BRECHT: That's right, it does not cover, for instance, the time that would be spent by an examiner in answering a consumer complaint or the time spent in preparing statistics in response to inquiries from the public or from legislative personnel or whatever. There are certain administrative costs that are involved in administering the bank and financial institutions titles that no institution at the present time pays for. It's the taxpayer that pays for it.

STURGULEWSKI: Okay, but what is in the law now. It's consistent with other financial institutions so credit unions would just fit in and pay the same fees or same proportions.

BRECHT: Alright, I said I didn't know the exact citation, but there is a provision for examination for financial institutions.

Here, for example, section 06.45.450 on page 34 makes reference to the cost of the investigation incurred in making application for a branch by the department shall be paid by the applicant in accordance with AS 06.01.010. That ties directly into that statute. There is a similar provision for processing an application for a new association probably closer to the bill.

CHATFIELD: At the bottom of page 16 and the top of page 17 there are references to that statute and the fact that the credit union shall be required to pay the fees necessary for investigations and examinations. Let me say that it is our intention that the supervision of credit unions be self-sustaining. That is the case with the NCUA; that agency has no appropriation from the general fund of the United States. They are strictly self supporting based on examination and investigation fees. That is our intention here although we realize that it might work some burden on smaller credit unions. I think we do not wish to take issue with the fiscal note that Julius has done, however, he may have been a little optimistic in the number of credit unions and I think his fiscal note includes some start-up costs for the initial guidelines and regulations that would be required. We have, and I will provide you with, a copy of a survey of state regulators of all the various states and I believe it includes the Canadian provinces as well, which may be of less significance, showing the number of financial institutions that each of them supervises and the number of persons that they have employed to do that. Again, it is our intent to be self-supporting, we are self-supporting on the national level; we intend to pay the fees necessary to support proper supervision of credit unions under this act.

STURGULEWSKI: Julius, one further question. What type of magic hat did you use to arrive at your figure of some 15. I'm just curious; I'd like to think about if this bill passes, what happens in the state to the credit unions. We have had quite a bit of testimony from people stating that they feel that there will not necessarily be a mass change from federal to state. Of course they have to wait and see how regulations and so on are developed under the new law, but what basis, if any, did you use for picking that figure and what's your feeling as to what will happen in the credit union field in Alaska if this bill, in fact, does become law?

BRECHT: The figure 15, I must admit, is an arbitrary figure. But it's based in some respect on the general interest in this legislation. The sustained interest over the past three years that I have been associated with it and even before that. And, in fact, in previous times there was more talk about conversion to state charter. There was one person who testified that they would be very likely to submit an application for conversion to state charter. I think that those other federal credit unions that have testified obviously letting their present regulators know that they are just chafing at the bit to convert once the state charter legislation was provided. In any case, I think that it would take at least one examiner, a very conservative estimate, to handle the necessary examination of the institutions. Obviously if we have one or two new institutions and no more, that's a different story from 10 to 15. But if we get something like 10 to 15 we're going to be talking about keeping one examiner busy pretty much full time and very likely more than one examiner, one and one-half examiners. I'm not suggesting that the department BRADLEY: Thank you very much, Mike. Mr. Buzz Hoffman, your current president of the Alaska Bankers Association has insisted that we have one more hearing when your lobbyist, Wes Coyner, arrives back from his vacation. So, in all fairness, I think we possibly will have to have one more and so at that time you will have another opportunity to testify.

Fairbanks testimony was concluded.

CHATFIELD: First of all, I think that the testimony that you've heard over the two days of hearings has been beneficial to us as well as to yourselves. I think there were many good points brought out; a lot of questions raised and perhaps it would be best to address a couple of those now. On Tuesday there were a couple of questions concerning the function of the central credit union provided for in this bill. It was mentioned again that it is a credit union for credit unions. It serves a corporate function in correcting liquidity mismatches in essence. Shifting funds from credit unions that are in a liquid position to those that have needs to borrow. These tend to be seasonal things and the example was used of teachers credit unions that have surpluses at times of the year when agricultural or other credit unions may have needs for borrowing. As far as what happens now, I believe that was asked. There is some informal interlending between credit unions in the state to serve this liquidity mismatch problem. However, it is informal and most of this activity flows to and from the Westcorp Federal Credit Union which is a corporate central credit union in California that has agreed to serve this region. If there is no state act, then, in fact, we will file for a federal corporate central charter would just run off and immediately hire two additional examiners. We would hire additional examiners as the workload required.

STURGULEWSKI: Thank you Julius. Just a final question. If you turn to page 23, line 8. I'm sure that this is a question that will be answered by some of the people here, but are those standard percentages for real estate loans; are you comfortable with those?

BRECHT: I believe that that was standard language from another act. Mr. Chatfield might be able to answer that.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chatfield indicates that those are federal regulations. Thank you very much, Julius.

Testimony was concluded from Juneau. Chairman Bradley checked back with the other sites for additional witnesses. Fairbanks had one witness, Michael Weis from First National Bank of Fairbanks.

WEIS: I would just like to emphasize that I am speaking on behalf of the 1st National Bank of Fairbanks and the banking industry in general. We at the 1st National Bank of Fairbanks, as we have indicated to numerous members of the credit union association, do, in principal, agree with the bill that is now before the legislature. We feel that the bill is consistent with the existing financial system of dual structure that was established within the constitution of the United States and we also feel that the increased competitive nature of the bill for the benefit of the Alaskan consumer is welcomed by our bank in enabling us to sharpen our skills and better benefit those individuals.

because we feel this is an important function that is not yet served in Alaska. I have had the papers on my desk for several months to file an application for a federal corporate central charter and I have not submitted those pending resolution of what happens with the state act. It would be our desire to have state supervision for the other reasons that have been stated. For the corporate central as well as for the individual credit unions that might come under the act.

STURGULEWSKI: On that issue, are there other functions that they fill such as in the case of a suspension or one that's in temporary financial problems or is this liquidity mismatch the primary reason for the establishment of the credit union's credit union.

CHATFIELD: There are perhaps some other functions that the central would fill in terms of settlement and wire transfers and some other needs that occur to the corporate functio of the credit union. However, some central credit unions serve as liquidating agents but they are generally those credit unions that also serve individual members and since this credit union is intended to serve a corporate function only, I rather doubt that it would engage its services as a liquidating agent although that's possible, but this is not intended to be an individual member type credit union. This association would have corporate members consisting of credit unions within the state that choose to join. Perhaps now we could move on to address the questions on the field of membership and Sen. Sturgulewski and others may have raised some questions on this. Julius Brecht I make reference to it, but we might talk now about section 60 concerning the field of membership of credit unions. This generally follows federal procedures, however, the federal credit union act itself is rather narrow about what is says about field of membership. It permits, for example, the kinds of gathering together of similar groups that we have talked about in this bill. The problem has been in the regulations, so what we have here is an enumeration of the types of credit unions that could be formed. The main difference between this and what is currently available from the national credit union administration is in the term "employees of related or neighboring industries". This is an issue which NCUA has gone back and forth on and sometimes been inconsistent. Sometimes they say yes you can charter a credit union to serve everybody in this industrial park and next year they say no we're not doing that anymore. So we're talking here about related employee groups, related fields of membership, related people to serve such groups as the bar association that you heard from, the broadcaster's association, which you heard from which is composed of small employer's in a wide field, but without sufficient numbers to form their own credit union so we're clearly talking about a situation that is not unique to, but more serious in Alaska than some other places. We're talking about small groups of employees and a way to serve those by this language "employees of related or neighboring industries" and the neighboring industries, the industrial park example, might be an example of how you would serve some small employers through that provision. Senator Sturgulewski, have Julius' and my comments answered your questions?

STURGULEWSKI: I think the area I would be interested in taking a look at would be the regulations because these words are certainly broad enough to bring in and meet some very specific needs, but from the safety of the individual deposit, obviously, those standards that are used to determine the economic health of it are terribly important as well as the ongoing regulations to be sure that it continues to be a viable organization.

CHATFIELD: Yes, I appreciate that and I was going to address this economic viability question next, but I think that you have brought up some very good points in noting that the field of membership includes members of the immediate family and that's further defined within that section and I think the fact that this closely follows the federal credit union provisions except for those we have talked about for neighboring and related industries particularly to serve the needs of Alaskans.

MARTIN: I have concerns similar to Sen. Sturgulewski on the start-up costs, Mr. Chatfield, and sometimes in the testimony that's given I feel that we're promising that golden light for everybody; here's the answer to all your financial worries in the world and the start-up costs, now that we've gotten more into it, seem to be prohibitive for certain groups, especially with the regulations seems to be a deal where the people want to fund their own organization even though they will be paying the government for services. Seems we're developing false pretenses to begin with; there are only so many groups that you can divide up into to take care of yourself. We can have the Scandinavians of Alaska, we can have the Cuban groups of Alaska, and all these would be viable people saying we deserve to be recognized but yet they can't pay for themselves. Is there anything to protect the taxpayers from saying well, we have a discriminatory law here, therefore these groups who cannot fund themselves will be exempt from these regulatory start-up costs and perhaps because these people are what they are and their economic conditions, we will waive the cost. How do you feel about that?

CHATFIELD: First of all, just as a matter of information, there are credit unions in various parts of the country serving groups such as the Cubans located here or the Scandinavians located there. Those kinds of things do exist although thus far not in Alaska. We're talking about the economic viability, and it's been noted that the Commissioner is charged with the responsibility of determining that, and Julius listed the ways in which they would attempt to do that. We're also talking about start-up costs that can be amortized over a certain period and that's the way it's done now. When credit unions are formed there are certain start-up costs that are incurred and those are amortized over an accounting period so that they need not be expensed off all at once with the accompanying burden that that would bring on the credit union. But I can tell you that we are also not interested in forming a lot of marginal credit unions that would require constant work and struggle to keep them active, because as the state trade association of credit unions, that function would fall upon us and we don't have the resources nor the desire to see a bunch of credit unions brought into being that would require constant handholding on a long term basis. We don't have the resources to do that and that is our responsibility should it occur, so we have a definite interest in saying credit unions formed have good economic potential, that have solid leadership and that we can guide in their growth periods and that can become successful credit unions.

Juneau came back on-line with a comment from Julius Brecht.

BRECHT: I thought I might make one statement here to make sure there isn't a misunderstanding. When we were going through the administrative costs as opposed to the cost of examination and investigation, I want to make clear that the cost of developing regulations or guidelines to regulate credit unions would not be charged to the individual credit unions, chartered or in the process of being chartered under the state law. That would be a good example of an administrative cost that would be borne by the taxpayer. The only cost that would be borne by the credit unions themselves are the costs incurred directly to the examining or investigative effort on that specific credit union.

CHATFIELD: Let me say that that differs, and I can't speak to banks but I can speak to what happens now with federal credit unions, since the NCUA is only chartered to supervise, examine and otherwise keep track of credit unions then there is no problem, therewith passing administrative costs as well as direct examination costs on to credit unions and their examination schedule, which, by the way, was the examination schedule that Julius referred to which was in an earlier version of this bill. It was the same examination schedule as for federal credit unions. However, we realize that they have certain economies of scale because of their nationwide operation that perhaps those same rates would not result in self-sustaining supervision in Alaska. In the case of federal credit unions those costs, all costs, including administration, are reflected in the examination and investigation fees that are used to support the entire agency and again that agency does not have an appropriation from the general fund of the United States; it is completely self-sustaining and the administration costs are levelled out and included in the cost of supervision.

STURGULEWSKI: I can see the tremendous interrelationship between that economic standard and the field of membership. I would hope that if this bill passes that indeed it can be adapted more to the Alaskan conditions that we might take in, for example, the bar membership is good, not just the bar association, but the firms and employees. I don't think that it's going to be an easy task necessarily, to go to what has happened in other areas to give us too much in the way of guidelines on setting up those economic standards. We might well have to develop new ones. I think that is of sufficient interest that I would hope that it is not out of line to ask that, possibly, those regulations could be shared with the Commerce Committee so that we could take a look at that to see that we're not unduly restricting, putting impositions, on the membership and the groups can go ahead and form. I think that's going to be terribly important as to how this whole act works. The interrelationship between the economic health and the field of membership.

CHATFIELD: It is certainly out intent to try to work very closely as closely as conditions require and will permit, with the Division of Banking, with this committee, and with other interested parties in making the thing to work to its best advantage so that there are successful credit unions so that the needs of the members are properly served and that the credit unions are financially stable. We would be happy to have some input into the regulations; we would also be pleased to assist the Department in its charter investigation as we now do with the NCUA. We submit an investigation report for proposed credit unions to assist them in making their decisions. We would be pleased to do that for the Department.

BRADLEY: Dave and Julius, on the first page of the bill it's mentioned it only takes seven people and $1,000 to form a credit union. That obviously would not be a viable credit union. That's all it takes to begin it, but how would we prevent one from forming with that as the initial requirement. It may not be any more than that, or a few more than that and it definitely would not be a viable credit union. You think this is misleading?

CHATFIELD: The other standards and things that the department is charged with determining as far as economic feasibility are certainly good provisions and valid provisions to have. And, again, we are not interested in seeing a bunch of credit unions form that are not economically feasible and don't have good potential for success. The seven people with the $1,000 is more restrictive than the federal act where seven people with $5 each or a total of $35 can apply for a federal credit union charter. However, that's just the beginning. There is obviously much more than that. There is an investigation there are reports rendered, the economic feasibility is determined, the proposed field of membership is examined and obviously that would be true under the state act as well. I think it's important to note the very different capital requirements of credit unions as they begin versus other financial institutions. When a bank first opens its doors it must have offices proper to house its operations and to put the desired image across to its customers, must have a full time staff, must have sufficient funds to meet its lending objectives, must have certain support facilities to service that business including such things as data processing. There are very substantial capital requirements before a bank should begin operation. Contrast that with the credit union where typically a credit union does not begin with cause for office space; it's usually operated out of a volunteer's home, it does not have paid staff for the first several years of its existence. It's operated entirely by volunteers donating their time to develop this organization for the rest of the members. It generally begins with hand posting and a couple of years down the road may graduate to a bookkeeping machine and starts out making very small loans for such things as furniture, appliances, medical and emergency needs. It has very different loan requirements and overall a very different set of capital requirements than do other financial institutions. I think it's important to note that because this seven people with the $1,000 thing has come up before and I don't think that argument recognizes the very different capital needs of the two institutions.

BRECHT: There are a number of members where the minimum might be 200 members as opposed to another area where the minimum might be 300 members, so we're talking about an institution that would have more than just the seven incorporators.

BRADLEY: Thank you, Julius. Mr. Chatfield has another comment.

CHATFIELD: I just wanted to say that those were a couple of areas that I think were left hanging from Tuesday that I did want to cover. In summary, the record will show that you have heard from representatives from 15 credit unions; those 15 credit unions represent total membership of approximately 190,000 persons, we have heard testimony from other organizations including the bar association, native corporations, broadcasters and this morning you heard from a banker in Fairbanks who said he was not opposed to the bill. Also present is Mr. George Diener, Vice President of Alaska Pacific Bank, which I believe has a similar view and I am sure Mr. Diener would be happy to answer your questions on that. In addition, I have telegrams that I would like to submit for the record which were received in May, they are in consideration of this bill and one is from a bank that was not able to appear at these hearings, Alaska Bank of Commerce, which indicated it had no opposition to the bill. I think we have had a broad, open discussion of the issue, you have heard the opinion of the banking division and I think that the hearing records will reflect a very in-depth discussion that was held. We were very happy to see these questions raised and if you have any further questions, I would be happy to try and answer them at this time.

STURGULEWSKI: Just one, and again, this is for my learning a bit more. This bill does allow for the utilization of the share drafts and I would like just a little background information; was the federal ruling not really on the issue, as to whether it was appropriate or not, but simply that it exceeded the present federal law and regulation. Is that correct?

CHATFIELD: The issue concerning share drafts for federal credit unions is a fairly complex one. The federal regulator, NCUA, permitted an experimental program some years ago for share drafts which are an improvement on the existing transaction accounts and do provide for payment of earnings or dividends on the unused funds in those accounts which can then be accessed by negotiable instrument. Permitted the experimental program and then found that after that successful experimental program it was in accordance with the statute and the best interest of the consumer to allow federal credit unions to offer that program on a wider basis and they did that and another financial organization promptly sued them charging that it did go beyond the scope of current law; the federal district court agreed with the NCUA that it was permitted under current statute, it was then appealed to the United States court of appeals in Washington, D.C. They linked it in with a couple of other related issues concerning automatic transfer from savings to checking for banks and remote service units for savings and loans. I think in linking it together that made it difficult for the court to then say well this one's okay and this one is not. That really was the key to the court's adverse opinion on April 20 of this year, that the program exceeded what was currently permitted by statute. We happen to agree with the regulator agencies' interpretation of that statute under the implied powers that this is a proper function under the statute, for credit unions to be able to perform. There are steps being taken to appeal that ruling to the United States Supreme Court, but in the meantime we are seeking legislative action before the Congress to clarify and remove the cloud from this whole program. To specifically provide for the use of share drafts by the federal credit unions. That whole thing is separate from this bill. There is wording in this bill that says that credit unions may make their withdrawals in any form and that wording would include the share drafts. It might, at some point, include such other things as automatic teller machines if the Commissioner deemed it appropriate. That is a separate issue, but we believe we are going to be successful at the federal level. We disagree with the court's decision and we feel that if the Congress does not take action in time, then the Supreme Court would, but some of those things remain to be seen.

STURUGLEWSKI: In that case, we would need, say there's no further federal ruling for some time, regulations to handle the method of withdrawal here or does that just open it totally by the wording we have in this law.

CHATFIELD: The wording in this law is that the credit unions may honor withdrawals from its share savings accounts by its members. Those withdrawals can take any form and obviously the Department, the banking division and the credit unions would draw heavily upon the successful experience the federal credit unions have with share drafts and the procedures involved in that. However, there is with this particular statute, this bill would not go beyond permitting those withdrawals in any form. Again, it would not be tied to whatever happens on the federal level.

STURGULEWSKI: I think I would like a little bit better understanding of, is the wording too broad as far as allowing withdrawals in any form; are we, in effect, allowing for complete checking privileges. What part of the statute is that?

CHATFIELD: I believe it's under the powers section, under withdrawals. On page 11, at the beginning of line 17. The last part of that paragraph says "on a request for withdrawals of these savings in any form, subject to reserves, bonds or other conditions required by the Commissioner.

STURGULEWSKI: Is the wording complete in itself; will it need regulations to implement, if not would it be broad enough to allow full checking privileges without the conditions that were set up on the share draft?

BRECHT: My rating of paragraph 20 is that it would allow for a checking account subject to reserves, bonds, or other conditions required by the Commissioner. The Division has recently noticed the intent to adopt regulations to provide for NOW accounts or mutual banks and also for commercial banks.

STURGULEWSKI: What kind of accounts?

BRECHT: Negotiable order of withdrawal accounts. Basically a mechanism to pay interest on a demand account.

CHATFIELD: Negotiable order of withdrawal accounts are currently under consideration by the Congress for nationwide use by other thrift institutions and have been in use in New England under experimental basis for quite some time. It's important to note that the language of this paragraph would permit various forms of electronic funds transfer, electronic teller machines, perhaps point of sale terminals and other things that might be appropriate and as determined by the Commissioner under the language in the rest of this section.

STURGULEWSKI: I'd like a direct response on this. This would allow, then, far more flexibility than currently would be available if the share draft regulations were still in effect.

CHATFIELD: Yes, that is correct, but if the share drafts were found to be not appropriate and not available for use by federal credit unions, then this would be broader than that. However, I don't think anybody in Washington, D.C. seriously believes that there is going to be an interruption in the share draft program. We believe that the Congress will take action before the deadline established by the court and in failing that, the Supreme would take action. To that extent, yes, it would be broader, but those services are not broader than those currently available for federal credit unions, including share drafts, those that have automatic teller machines and there are some point of sale terminal experiments underway now. To that extent it would not be broader, but if federal credit unions were to lose share drafts then, yes, this would be a bit broader.

STURGULEWSKI: That doesn't answer my question. Let's assume that we can use share drafts on the national level if they are found to be acceptable. As I read 20, this is not constrained by those regulations that are utilized in connection with the share drafts. It is, in fact, broader than what is allowable under the share draft Is that correct?

CHATFIELD: It is my understanding that it would be as broad in terms of withdrawals in various forms as the Commissioner would deem appropriate.

STURGULEWSKI: I asked if it would be necessary to have regulations and I think it was given to me that, no, there would be maximum flexibility. It would not necessarily be subject to regulation.

CAMPBELL: I'm not sure, I think there might be a couple of things you are alluding to that probably should be addressed. The share draft regulation itself, that applies to federal credit unions, is not really that restrictive. It does require a couple of technical things. One of which is truncation. Truncation simply means that the original draft isn't returned and whether the Department wanted truncation required by state credit unions offering share drafts is something that would remain to be discussed in regulatory hearings. The essence, really, is that if there is a need for regulation the general regulatory authority would provide for it. If state credit unions, or say a federal credit union converted simply continued its existing share draft program, it would still be clearing through the banking system, it would still be offering the same type of service, it would still offer a rate of return that would be established by the board of directors and consistent with the standards that are similar to federal law in terms of classes of accounts and in order to offer credit union members the same type of thing that they can expect from other credit unions. It's likely to be comparable to the existing share draft program. The important thing to recognize is that credit unions offering any third party payment power would have to offer it consistent with Uniform Commercial Code and with the standards that the federals apply to the banking system for purposes of clearing.

STURGULEWSKI: This is an area that I would appreciate a bit more information on it and possibly that could be supplied by Julius and also by members of the credit union league. I just need to understand it and I don't. I'd like to know what the federal requirements are, how this provision likely would work

BRADLEY: While we're on this subject, since Director Julius Brecht will be providing these regulations, subject to our approval, let's let him briefly comment on it.

BRECHT: I meant to mention earlier in the hearing that the members of this committee plus the other legislators will be advised of any intent to adopt regulations pursuant to the Alaska Administrative Procedure Act, would each receive a copy of a notice of that intent, but in addition to that, if this committee wishes to have some further input in the review of these regulations we can certainly accommodate them in that respect.

BRADLEY: Any further questions? Rep. Martin has a question.

MARTIN: I'm concerned again about the starting up, and in hopes of not giving false hopes to i dividuals, is it possible to have in this bill and/or regulations other things that will be necessary for the standard procedures for starting up rather than simple minimum requirements of certain bodies and so many dollars. Can we present a realistic picture to them of some of the things they might face and perhaps it would be good for the administration, in the first place, to throw out applicants that aren't serious.

BRECHT: As I understand it, Mr. Chatfield has alluded to the fact that perspective credit unions could be cleared through the state league, that is if the league itself could provide some of assistance in helping groups of people who think that they would like to be able to establish a credit union to come to the realization that yes it is feasible or not it isn't. The second step would be to contact the Division and request information on the chartering of a credit union. In that respect I can say that our procedure in processing applications for other types of financial institutions is to answer questions that the individual might have to make copies of the regulations available to them so they can have a better idea as to what will be expected of them in the application process. I don't see why a drastically different procedure would be followed for credit unions; we would have the same general procedure; the Division would make itself available to answer questions. If we, in fact, had a large number of requests, it is very likely that we would have some brochure put together to answer some of the basic questions. It also brings back points on where we got the estimates for charters within the first fiscal year. I mentioned that that number was somewhat of an arbitrary figure, but it should be put in context. There are presently 33 credit unions doing business in the state. That gives us some indication of the interest in the state assuming that there was at least 50% greater interest that would amount to somewhat like 15 applications being processed. That could be a gross underestimate. I might add that in the context of the previous financing act enacted session before last, that we had estimated a certain number of institutions being licensed and what we found is that there was a much larger number of persons doing business in the state that need to be licensed and it turned out that the estimate that we gave in that respect was a real underestimate and we have been very busy in processing license applications

So I don't know that the number 15 is all that unrealistic. It could possibly be an underestimate or could be a good estimate. I don't think we can really reconsider until we get through at least one year of operations and get some better idea as to the interest from the Alaska public in this type of institution.

CHATFIELD: I don't know that 15 is unrealistic; I think that it's as good a number to use as any at this time. You've heard from two credit unions that indicated they would probably entertain the thought of converting to a state charter if this bill became law. We're aware of perhaps 3 maybe 4 other groups that would be interested in obtaining a new charter under this law. We are not aware of any definite interest beyond that, but obviously you have to hang your estimates on some kind of a figure. I wouldn't disagree with 15 as an arbitrary figure in trying to estimate those costs. I think it is also important to look at the chartering requirements and perhaps it would be helpful to include arbitrary standards within the act, but obviously the Commissioner and the Director would establish some kind of standards within regulations and then people could be aware of the requirements as Julius has said, that they could be expected to meet before they could give a credit union a charter.

BRADLEY: I've been enlightened quite a bit in that accordance with the regulations and with the Director of Banking giving the final word of approval, seems to me there are enough safeguards and I could answer any questions in that regard pretty well.

MARTIN: What would the start-up procedures be for the individual groups that would be interested, if we might not also warn them of the costs -- I am not satisfied that taxpayers would not be burdened by special interest groups -- if we feel that the administration has the potential of spending $75,000-$200,000 in getting this thing rolling that if there are 15 groups that would participate then perhaps the pie should be divided up after the $6,000 immediately is going to be used for your start-up costs and help pay the government institution that is responsible for your regulation. Is this fair?

CHATFIELD: I think, generally speaking, that would be appropriate. There will be start-up costs, it is again the intent of the credit union community to assume those costs that newly chartered credit unions would assume those costs and pay them and amortize them over accounting periods in their books. That's what they do now. Those costs may differ from costs that involved in obtaining a federal charter and they may, in fact, be higher and I suggest they will be because of the lack of the economy's scale that we talked about. That's the sort of thing we anticipated and Julius may wish to comment further.

BRECHT: As far as putting the perspective applicant on notice as to the charges that might be incurred, we do that as a matter of course right now. We try to make clear to the perspective applicant what it is they are getting themselves into in the way of financial responsibility, during the organizational process and also responsibility otherwise. There is responsibility for establishing an institution and following through on it. I don't think that would change. As for the start-up costs for a program, it's hard to say, if, for instance, we had 30 or 40 applicants for institutions in the first fiscal year perhaps it wouldn't be unreasonable to amortize the start-up costs of establishing the program from the standpoint of state administration amongst those 30 or so applicants and charge it to maybe 10 or less might be a considerable burden on those individual institutions. What I might suggest would be that if some time in the future the credit union movement, assuming there was a state chartered system established, there would probably be some way some legislation at a later time to pay for the administrative costs of administering the credit union act and that way the full cost would be paid and the Alaska taxpayer would not in any way be charged for administering the program.

CHATFIELD: I guess I would just reiterate the fact that we plan to be self-supporting although we recognize that there will be some start-up costs for the Department. I think once the start-up costs and the initial set up and the regulations and those guidelines are determined that we would certainly support any effort to provide for full self-sustaining status for the reasonable supervision costs of our credit unions.

STURGULEWSKI: There has been a lot of good input on this bill and I would like to see it move along quickly through the process. I wonder if you could outline for us -- you indicated that it was necessary that there be another public hearing, are you perhaps expecting that to be done prior to the start of the next session of the legislature and that we could perhaps see action, at least as far as our committee, taken early in the session? Is that waht you are looking for?

you're looking for?

BRADLEY: I was anticipating that it would be the first bill taken up at the next session. Normally you have a couple or sometimes three weeks before any bills are ready to go to the Senate floor. You may have a few insignificant resolutions or something of that sort, but that's what's anticipated. In fact, I was hoping that maybe we could finalize it today, but since it's been insisted that we wait til the Alaska Bankers Association lobbyist, who normally doesn't testify, someone else more knowledgeable in the banking matters normally does the testifying, there may not be anybody else. But as soon as we can get what we have already in the way of written transcription prepared for the members who were not able to be here today so they can peruse those and then have one more quick meeting prior to the next session, then we'll be all ready to take it up as possibly the first bill. One other comment, and I think we'll need to do that, incidentally. I don't think we want to give anyone any excuses that we haven't been fair and given everyone an ample opportunity to testify. Frankly, I don't anticipate any more testimony. But the request was made and I think it would be unfair if we didn't recognize it. As soon as we can get this done we can get two of the members of the committee that are missing today back here for that final session after they have had time to peruse all the testimony, then we'll sign a committee report and date it after we convene in January.

CHATFIELD: I guess we wish there had been objections raised, if in fact there are some objections during this process which everybody received due notice of. We were certainly prepared and would be at a future time to address any objections. It's important to note that everyone was notified and had the same opportunity to appear and that there were no objections registered during this hearing. However, if there are objections we would be happy to discuss any points that are raised. We hope to have that opportunity.

BRADLEY: Too, we need to have the signatures of the other members on the report. I think in all fairness to them, we don't need to give anyone any excuses. We think we have a good bill here and we thing, in regard to costs, many beneficial services to the public. There will always be start-up costs, but then many beneficial services to the taxpayer cost a little tax money. I'm not overly concerned about that. I have no further comments, but I think before we close off, in fairness to all stations and any latecomers, we will contact all stations before Mr. George Diener testifies.

No stations had witnesses.

DIENER: My comments will be brief and basically a reaffirmation of the position of Alaska Pacific Bank of non-opposition to this bill. We feel that the question is not "shall there be credit unions" because there is, and obviously will continue to be, credit unions even if they are all federally chartered. As we read the bill, it appears to us that the bill is not asking for authority to do anything that is not already provided for under federal charters, we do not believe that it is seeking any change in the competitive balance. CSSB 225 would provide the credit unions with the same option enjoyed by the banking industry, by the savings and loans and by the mutuals, that has long been recognzied in our industry that one of the strengths of the banking industry in this country has rested on the dual chartering of financial institutions. I for one fail to see the logic or the fairness in depriving the same option to the credit unions. That's basically my statement.

BRADLEY: Thank you; any questions by committee members?

No further questions or comments. Commerce Commitee adjourned at 11:20 a.m.

SCOPE OF STUDY

The Comparative Digest of Credit Union Acts deals with the credit union laws of forty-six states, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Federal Credit Union Act and the Model Credit Union Act. (There are no credit union laws for the states of Alaska, Delaware, South Dakota and Wyoming and the District of Columbia.) The research for the Digest was based on the texts of those laws, as amended to December 1, 1978, and as found in the Credit Union Guide, a law service published by Prentice-Hall, Inc.

Except for the federal and model acts, all law provisions in the Comparative Digest are in summary form or are quoted in substance only. For the complete law text, the U.S. and state codes cited in the appendix or the Credit Union Guide should be consulted. Statutory section numbers are given throughout the Digest.

The Comparative Digest limits itself to analysis of credit union statutes. For a complete and accurate reflection of the powers and services of credit unions, one must go beyond the credit union act.

In many instances, there is no clear-cut statutory provision setting forth permissible or prohibited activity. Often a grant of power flows from a so-called "incidental powers" clause authorizing a credit union to exercise such powers as are necessary or requisite to enable it to carry on its business effectively. Sometimes a law other than the credit union act may apply to an activity or service.

A complex system of general law, regulations, standard bylaws, agency rulings, attorney general opinions, and, in some cases, court decisions, define more specifically what credit unions can and cannot do. Such an exhaustive survey goes beyond the scope of this study.

Preface

70 Years of Progress in the Nation's Legislative Halls 1909 - 1979

This new edition of CUNA's "yearbook" of credit union laws marks the 70th year of progressive credit union legislation in the United States, from passage of the first credit union act by Massachusetts in 1909 to the restructure of the federal credit union system last October.

The 1979 Comparative Digest of Credit Union Acts also chronicles the attainment of a goal sought by credit unions for many of those 70 years — the establishment of an effective vehicle for meeting the liquidity requirements of credit unions. The early credit union pioneers, Filene and Bergengren, were looking for ways in the 1920's to operate a central credit union system on a nation-wide basis. When the federal credit union program was created by Congress in 1934, a separate title in the bill would have established a federal central credit union in each state, but the proposal did not pass. Central liquidity legislation of one kind or another was reintroduced in ten succeeding Congresses over the intervening years, but those bills all failed to pass.

It was last year's 95th Congress — perhaps the most sensitive to credit union needs in over 40 years — that recognized the vital role of credit unions in the nation's financial system by creating a central liquidity facility for credit unions, housed within a restructured National Credit Union Administration. It was the same 95th Congress, only a year and a half earlier that had greatly expanded the powers and services of federal credit unions by Public Law 95-22.

Central Liquidity Facility Created

To commence operations in October 1979, the central liquidity facility will be a permanent, federal central bank for credit unions designed to meet their short-term, seasonal and emergency liquidity needs. Both credit unions and corporate centrals will be eligible to join the CLF and to borrow from it. The CLF is authorized to borrow on the open market and from the U. S. Treasury, within specified limits.

The revamped National Credit Union Administration is also due to become operative in 1979. It will be headed by a three-man administrative board, appointed by the President, with tenured terms of office.

States Refine Liquidity Management

The nation's capital was not the only place where credit union liquidity management was a legislative concern. Seven states acted to broaden or refine the role of central credit unions — Arizona, Massachusetts, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, and Tennessee. In the main, this involved securing broader powers for central credit unions and more precisely defining their membership base.

Government Supervision Enhanced

The 1978 sessions of the state legislatures brought significant gains for credit unions in other areas as well, including government supervision.

A 10 year campaign culminated in Iowa with establishment of an independent credit union agency. It will be directed by an administrator, and have an advisory board, both appointed by the governor. Ohio created a separate credit union division within the Commerce Department headed by a superintendent. Both agencies are to be self-supporting from fees paid by credit unions.

Formerly Ohio credit unions were regulated by the Securities Division, while Iowa credit unions fell under the Banking Department — a situation which obtains in 26 states. Besides Iowa, only three other states have independent credit union agencies — Kansas, Texas, and Wisconsin. Five states grant credit unions divisional status on a par with other financial institutions, as in Ohio.

Mandatory Share Insurance

Four more states — Alabama, Iowa, Pennsylvania, and Vermont — passed laws in 1978 requiring credit unions to insure members' savings and deposits. Thirty-five states now have statutory share insurance requirements, and at last count nearly 75 percent of all state credit unions were insured.

Other Services and Powers Revised

Share certificates classified according to maturities, rates, and conditions, became legally possible in New York and South Carolina. Both laws prescribe the federal standards for such accounts. Credit unions in 24 states may now offer varied forms of shares.

A liberalized reserve formula, similar to the two-tiered one adopted for federal credit unions in 1977, became law in Louisiana, Maryland, Minnesota and South Carolina. Basically, the formula permits older, well-established credit unions with assets over $500,000 to taper off allocations to the regular reserve after accumulating 4% of total loans and risk assets.

Electronic Funds Transfer

Use of electronic funds transfer systems became legal for credit unions in three additional states — Connecticut, Michigan, and Minnesota. Sixteen states now include credit unions among those institutions permitted to use EFT facilities.

Wild card laws were enacted in Ohio and Maryland. They permit state-chartered credit unions to exercise advantageous powers and privileges granted to federal credit unions. Twenty-seven states now have such authority.

10th Edition of Comparative Digest

All of these changes in credit union laws and others are dealt with in this 10th edition of the Comparative Digest of Credit Union Acts. In the appendix, there is found a summary of each credit union bill enacted during the past year by the various states and the U.S. Congress. The main body of the Digest offers a selective analysis of 130 separate provisions found in the credit union statutes of 46 states, Puerto Rico and the federal act. It compares those provisions with one another and with the Model Credit Union Act.

The Comparative Digest is not intended to be a prototype for credit union legislation, but only a convenient reference to existing enactments, revealing both strengths and weaknesses. It is within that context that both credit union lawmakers and lawseekers over the years have had need to consult its pages. Thus, CUNA's Governmental Affairs division annually publishes a current edition of the Comparative Digest in the expectation that it will, in some measure, facilitate the legislative process, and contribute towards sound and progressive credit union laws.

Credit Union Laws Enacted in 1978

As of December 1, 1978

FEDERAL CREDIT UNIONS

"The Financial Insitutions Regulatory and Interest Rate Control Act of 1978" (HR 14275) passed Congress on October 15, 1978, was approved by President Carter on November 10, as Public Law 95-630. The Act contains 21 titles and is primarily designed to reform and restructure the nation's financial regulatory machinery for commercial banks, savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks, and credit unions. Title V restructures the National Credit Union Administration and Title XVIII creates a central liquidity facility for credit unions. Several other titles affect credit union regulation also.

NCUA Restructure—Creates the three-member National Credit Union Administration board, appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. Board members serve for six-year terms on a staggered basis, and may not succeed themselves. A chairman of the board is to be designated by the President, and will determine each board member's area of responsibility, and act as primary spokesman for the agency. Provides for a single fee schedule payable by federal credit unions to support the agency. In determining the fee schedule, the board is directed to take into consideration the operating expenses of the NCUA and the ability of credit unions to pay.

Central Liquidity Facility—Creates a Central Liquidity Facility for credit unions to meet the short term, temporary and emergency liquidity needs of a credit union. Membership in the facility is voluntary, and an individual credit union may become a regular member of the facility by subscribing to capital stock in an amount not less than ½ of 1 percent of the credit union's paid-in capital and surplus.

Credit unions that interact with member corporate centrals may automatically become members and will be assessed accordingly. Credit will be extended or refused to a member credit union within five working days after giving due consideration to the creditworthiness of the institution. The borrowing authority of the CLF shall not exceed twelve times the subscribed capital stock. In the event that the facility does not have the funds to meet the liquidity needs of credit unions, the Administrator is authorized to borrow up to $500,000,000 from the Treasury.

Regulatory Controls—Federal regulatory agencies, including the National Credit Union Administration, given additional powers over the institutions they regulate. May assess severe money penalties against institutions or individuals for violation of law or regulation. May issue cease and desist orders against individuals or institutions who either violate law or regulations or engage in unsafe or unsound business practices. Agencies empowered to remove officers or directors when the individual has evidenced personal dishonesty or demonstrated wilful disregard for the safety and soundness of the institution.

Management Interlocks—Prohibits interlocking directors among banks, savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks, and credit unions, which are located within the same Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area or in the same city, town or village. Grants an exemption to a credit union being served by an official of another credit union, but a credit union director may not serve on the board of a commercial bank, savings and loan association, or a savings bank.

Examination Council—Creates the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council, composed of the Comptroller of the Currency, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., a governor from the Federal Reserve, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, and chairman of the National Credit Union Administration Board. The purpose of the council is to establish standards in examination and reporting and to develop innovative procedures.

Central System—Authorizes: loans to other credit unions anywhere in the United States; deposits in legally chartered financial institutions, including centrals; and membership in central-type credit union organizations, state or federal.

Also revises credit union internal operations by allowing: 1) appointment of an executive committee to act on behalf of the board; 2) changing titles of officials; and 3) prohibiting directors and treasurer or assistant treasurer from serving on supervisory committee.

Repeals $750 limit on approval authority of loan officers, and authorizes them to approve share withdrawals, releases and substitutions of security within limits specified by credit committee. Requires only an annual examination of affairs of the credit union by supervisory committee. Liberalizes officer borrowing privileges.

Allows credit union to act as issuing agent for Treasury savings bonds. Gives credit union right to refuse withdrawals pending a determination of the rights of all parties involved. Provides penalties for anyone representing themselves unlawfully as a credit union. (H. 1659; approved 6/23)

Mandatory Share Insurance—Requires all credit unions to obtain share insurance through the National Credit Union Administration or some other approved insurance fund within two years. (S 1457; approved 10/5)

RHODE ISLAND

VERMONT

The only course . . .

"The credit union is consistent with the evolutionary development of economic democracy, and while we may have a battle here and there and a setback occasionally, we are a part of a better tomorrow and will go forward as inevitably as the human race goes forward. The only course of action for us to take is to persistently seek the laws, regulations and rulings we need . . ."

LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS AGENCY

MEMORANDUM May 4, 1979

SUBJECT: Changes Incorporated in the Draft Commerce Committee Substitute for SB 225

TO: The Honorable Brad Bradley

FROM: Ken Humphreys, Senior Policy Analyst J.K.H.

As you requested, the following section-by-section analysis will address changes to SB 225 contained in the attached draft Commerce Committee Substitute. The draft which is analyzed here incorporates the changes suggested in letter of April 23, 1979, to Senator Bradley from David Chatfield.

This analysis is indexed by section numbers in the draft committee substitute; however, when a page and line is referenced without any qualification, it refers to SB 225 as originally introduced. If the only changes in a given section are clearly of a technical nature or only affect drafting style or organization, the section is not mentioned.

Sec. 06.45.010 FORMATION OF CREDIT UNION. The reference to "common bond" (p. 1, line 13) has been deleted and the incorporators now must simply "...meet the requirements of AS 06.45.060 and the requirements of this section...." All membership requirements are now found under AS 06.45.060.

In subsection (b) (p. 1, line 24), the commissioner was required to determine that the "incorporators are fit and of good general character" before he approved the application. The fitness requirement has been removed.

Subparagraph (d) permits credit unions to share office space and to contract for the provision of personnel and facilities. In the original bill, this power was found on p.34, lines 11-13).

Sec. 06.45.020. ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION. Instead of requiring that the "proposed field of membership be specified in detail (p. 2, lines 16-17), the requirements of AS 06.45.060 are referenced (CS, p. 2, lines 27-28) and "specified in detail" is deleted.

Sec. 06.45.030. BYLAWS. Again, conditions relating to the field of membership as set out in the bylaws have been removed and AS 06.45.-060 which now contains all membership requirements is referenced.

Paragraph (6) requires that "the manner in which bylaws may be adopted, amended or repealed" be prescribed in the bylaws. Originally, it was simply stated that "The members of the credit union may alter, amend or repeal the bylaws or adopt new bylaws." (p. 2, lines 23-24)

It is no longer required that "the method of receipting for money paid on accounts" (p. 3, line 18) be specified in the bylaws.

Sec. 06.45.040. NAME. Prohibits adopting the same name as that of another "credit union doing business in the state" rather than "of any other existing credit union."

Sec. 06.45.070 POWERS. In paragraph (4), property transactions are limited to those "necessary to its operation"; previously it was only "...in part, necessary" (p.4, line 25).

In paragraph (6), the forms in which savings may be received are: share accounts, deposit accounts, share certificate accounts, or special purpose thrift accounts. Formerly it was: shares, deposits, time certificates or special purpose thrift accounts. The new language is consistent and the terms are defined in sec. 06.45.090. There is no clear substantive difference.

In paragraph (8), borrowing is permitted "...to meet operational needs..." rather than just for "share withdrawals" (p.5, line 5).

Paragraph (9) permits the discounting and sale of eligible obligations; formerly this power was found in sec. 06.40.070(8).

Paragraph (11) permits membership in any central credit union, not just one "...organized under this chapter..." (p.5, line 17).

Paragraphs (16) and (17) which permit acting as a servicing agent for credit union loans and as fiscal agent for any corporation, trust, or similar entity, are new.

Sales and purchases of assets under paragraph (19) are no longer "subject to the approval of the commissioner" (p.6, line 4).

In paragraph (20) "deposits" has been changed to "savings" and the types of accounts are as "authorized by this chapter" rather than as "approved by the administrator of the National Credit Union Administration for federally chartered credit unions...." (p.6, lines 6-8).

Paragraph (22) has been reworked by inserting language from sec. 06.40.-440 of the original bill to provide for facilitating the "voluntary" purchase of goods and services "...in the interest of improving economic and social conditions of the members" rather than "...which promotes the purposes of the credit union" (p.6, lines 16-17). Sec. 440, Group Purchasing, was apparently superfluous and was deleted.

Sec. 06.45.080. MEMBERS' MEETINGS. Members are no longer allowed to vote by proxy and a majority is no longer required to conduct the annual meeting. Formerly at least a simple majority had to be present or represented by proxies, although proxies would be divided equally among those present (p.6, lines 24-27).

Sec. 06.45.120. SUPERVISORY COMMITTEE. In subsection (a), the supervisory committee is required to make an annual, rather than semi-annual, audit. The committee is no longer required to verify passbooks, only accounts.

Sec. 06.45.140. SUPERVISION AND FEES. Generally, this section has been changed to more closely approximate the requirements for banks set out in AS 06.01.010. Under subsections (d) and (e), actual expenses of investigations and examinations are charged in accordance with AS 06.01.010.

Formerly, investigation expenses charged for the issuance of a certificate of approval were limited to $100 (p.11, line 23). Supervision fees were to be charged on the basis of assets rather than expenses and a credit union was not liable for a supervision fee for the first year in which it operated if the charter was issued after June 30 (p.11, line 19; p.12, line 15).

Sec. 06.45.150. EXAMINATIONS. Subsection (a) no longer requires that the board of directors make a copy of the annual examination report available to all members (p.13, lines 1 & 2). This change probably reflects the fact that confidential material relating to the character and personal finances of members may be contained in the report.

Sec. 06.45.180. CENTRAL CREDIT UNION. In subsection (a), membership in the central credit union is limited to credit unions chartered in this state, another state or under the federal credit union act. In the original version, membership was also open to a broad category of individuals associated with credit unions as well as "employees of a common employer with insufficient numbers to form or conduct the affairs of a separate credit union..." (p.15, lines 5-6).

Sec. 06.45.190. SHARES. Subsection (a) no longer contains a prohibition against issuing a certificate to denote the ownership of shares (p.16, lines 3-4). This is apparently consistent with the definition of "share certificate account" in sec. 06.45.490(5).

In (c), a credit union whose total assets amount to less than 90 percent of the amount due shareholders is required to immediately notify the department. In the original version, if assets fell below 100 percent of the amount due shareholders, the credit union was required to immediately advise the department, but, in addition, this condition constituted grounds for proportionately reducing the value of shares to cover the loss (p.16, lines 13-19).

Sec. 06.45.200. MULTIPLE PARTY ACCOUNTS. Subsections (a) and (b) are similar to those in sec. 06.40.200 of the original bill; however, subsections (c)-(f) and the next three sections, sec. 06.40.210-230, from the original bill have been deleted. These were procedural provisions relating to multiple party accounts. These were protective provisions designed to free the credit union from having to examine the factual relationship between the multiple parties.

Sec. 06.45.240. LOANS. In subsection (a) loan maturities of up to 15 years, instead of 10 (p.21, line 11), are permitted when the loan is secured by something other than improved real estate. Permits loans to "other credit unions and credit union organizations," not just to members.

In (b), financial information about the guarantor of every loan is required; in the original, this applied only to loans in amounts over $2000 (p.21, line 16).

In (d), the "disclosure of terms" is expressly required.

There are several changes in subsection (e) on real estate loans. In the original bill, real estate loans were, generally, "...under rules and regulations that apply to federally chartered credit unions...." with certain additional provisions. In (e)(1), a residential loan is no longer required to be for the "principal" (p.22, line 24) residence of a member. In (e)(1)(B), loans are permitted for up to 80 percent of the appraised value instead of up to "150 percent of the median sales price of residential real property situated in the geographical area..." (p.22, lines 26-27). Subparagraph (B) allows the 80 percent limit to be relaxed if the loan is insured.

In (e)(2), the limit placed on the total dollar amount of real estate loans outstanding is 25 percent of the assets of the credit union. In the original bill, the limit was "...50 per cent of the paid-in capital of the credit union" (p.23, lines 12-13).

Paragraph (e)(3) is new and requires that a credit union with assets of less than $3,000,000 secure the prior written consent of the commissioner to make real estate loans.

Subsection (f) applies the maximum interest rate under AS 45.45.010(b) (the general usury statute) to all loans, not just when "...applicable for real estate loans..." (p.21, lines 3-4); the rate in other cases was "...one per cent per month on the unpaid balance..." (p.21, line 1).

In (h), loans to directors or committee members which exceed $5,000 plus pledged shares must be approved by the board of directors; the limit was formerly $2,500 (p.22, lines 8-9).

Subsection (i) added trusts and political subdivisions to the list of those who may participate with a credit union in making loans to its members.

Sec. 06.45.280. INSURANCE. In subsection (b), the commissioner no longer establishes the amounts of loss to be protected or guaranteed (p.24, lines 26-28).

Sec. 06.45.290. INVESTMENTS. In (4), the limit on the total amount of loans to or shares or deposits of other credit unions is increased from 10 to 25 per cent of the paid-in capital (p.25, lines 20-21).

In (6), deposits in the National Credit Union Central Liquidity Facility have been added. The U. S. Central Credit Union is correct, not United States Central Credit Union (p.25, line 26).

Sec. 06.45.300. RESERVE ALLOCATIONS. In (a)(1), the less stringent reserve schedule formerly applicable to all credit unions with assets of more than $500,000 would now be applied to those larger credit unions only with the written approval of the commissioner.

Subsection (c) is new. In the original there was no provision to allow the commissioner to decrease a reserve requirement.

In (d)(9), the commissioner's approval of an investment as a non-risk investment is required in order for the accrued interest on that investment to be considered a nonrisk asset.

Sec. 06.45.320. MERGER. In subsection (a), the fees required for a merger are "in accordance with AS 06.01.010," rather than as established by regulation (p.28, lines 4-5). This change is consistent with others which align the supervision of credit unions with that of banks.

Sec. 06.45.340. SUSPENSION. When the commissioner issues an order to take possession of an insolvent credit union, the provisions in AS 06.01.030(a) are referenced: further alignment with the banking code.

Sec. 06.45.350. DISSOLUTION AND LIQUIDATION. In subsection (a), a member not present at a meeting held to consider dissolution is granted 90 days, rather than 20 (p.30, line 9), to vote by signing a form.

Subsection (c) gives the order in which obligations are to be discharged by a liquidating credit union. "Corporate liabilities" have been substituted for "any liability due nonmembers" (p.31, line 2) in third place. In (4), "share certificate accounts as provided in this chapter" has been substituted for "deposits and savings club accounts as provided in this chapter."

Sec. 06.40.375. SLANDER AND LIBEL OF CREDIT UNION. This section, from the original bill (p.32, line 21 - p.33, line 1), has been deleted.

Sec. 06.45.450. BRANCH OFFICE FACILITIES. Consistent with other changes, subsection (a) refers to AS 06.01.010 for the payment of costs of investigation associated with an application to establish a branch office.

Sec. 06.85.490. DEFINITIONS. Paragraphs (3) - (6) define the types of accounts. In the original, the terminology was somewhat different and definitions were not provided, but there is no clear substantive difference.

Re: Number of State Supervisory Personnel

Dear Dave:

Bill Drohan of the National Association of State Credit Union Supervisors informs me that his organization surveyed each supervisor last September relative to the number of personnel employed on credit union supervision. He also asked about the number of credit unions, their assets, etc. The findings were compiled and distributed at the NASCUS annual meeting in October, and I enclose a photocopy of the pertinent material.

Drohan noted that each agency was asked to list only its personnel working exclusively on credit unions, but a few misunderstood or could not provide such a breakout. So in a few instances you will find that the employment figures reflect personnel who supervise other financial institutions in addition to credit unions.

Nonetheless, I think you will find the information helpful in your efforts to dispel misgivings about the number of employees needed to supervise state credit unions.

Another suggestion you may want to consider: contacting Glen Reese of the Nevada League and the new Commissioner of Credit Unions in Nevada, Norman Okada. As you know, the Nevada Act was enacted only three years ago, and they had to start from scratch. There are now ten credit unions chartered under the Nevada Act. The situation there is not too unlike what might obtain should Alaska pass a credit union law. Okada can be reached at:

Dave, I hope this information will be of some help to you in your work on behalf of the credit union bill. I will write you soon on the other matters mentioned in your telephone call on Wednesday.

Sincerely,

In accordance with the intent of Alaska Statutes 24.20.271(1) and 44.66.050 (sunset legislation), a review of the Alaska State Medical Board was conducted to review Board activities and accomplishments to determine if the Board has been operating in an effective, efficient and economical manner.

As required by legislative intent, this report shall be considered during the legislative oversight function in determining whether the Alaska State Medical Board should be reestablished. The law currently specifies that this Board will terminate on June 30, 1979, but will continue until June 30, 1980 for the purpose of concluding its affairs.

Scope

The major areas reviewed were the Board's operations and its licensing, examination, administration, complaint and affirmative action functions. Our review consisted of analyzing and evaluating the following:

(1) Applicable statutes and Board regulations;

(2) Interviews with Board members and questionnaires sent to the Board;

(3) Interviews with health agencies and professional association;

(4) Tests of records and documents of the Board and the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL), Department of Commerce and Economic Development;

(5) Interviews with OL employees;

(6) Complaints filed with OL, the Ombudsman's Office, Consumer Affairs Agency, and the Equal Employment Opportunity Office;

(7) Other states' statutes and regulations; and

(8) Questionnaires sent to persons regulated by the Medical Board.

Scope Constraints

This review was hampered by the following constraints:

(1) The Board has not established and reported financial and program plans as required by AS 37.07.050 nor has it developed and reported performance information regarding its effectiveness and accomplishments as required by AS 37.07.090.

(2) The Division of Occupational Licensing has not adequately collected, recorded and maintained pertinent files and statistics relating to the Board to effectively and efficiently carry out its administrative responsibilities.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTION

The State Medical Board is a regulatory board with seven members - five licensed physicians, and two public members with no direct financial interest in the health care industry. It is preferable that the licensed physicians reside in as many separate Alaska judicial districts as possible.

The function of the Board is to determine the minimum quality of medical care in the State by:

1. Examining and issuing licenses to qualified applicants.

2. Establishing or amending rules and regulations necessary and desirable to enforce the statutes of the State.

3. Hold hearings in order to revoke, annul or suspend the license of a person violating the medical statutes and regulations.

The Board regulates the following groups engaged in medical practice in Alaska: physicians, osteopaths, physician assistants (PA's), podiatrists, chiropodists, advanced nurse practitioners (ANP's), and acupuncturists. Most licensing requirements are established by statute. However, statutes have granted power to waive some requirements in favor of conditions concerning special licenses - those by endorsement, those for temporary licensure up to eight months or until the Board meets to consider the application, whichever occurs first, and a temporary locum tenens permit which is valid for 120 consecutive days.

Applicants for registration as a medical practitioner must have passed an examination given by the National Board of Medical Examiners or the Federation of State Medical Boards of the United States. An oral interview is also administered by a member of the Board. Foreign medical graduates who are graduated from medical colleges not recognized by the American Medical Association or one of its agencies must be certified by the Educational Council of Foreign Medical Graduates or be licensed by examination in another state or territory of the United States or a province in Canada.

Licensure by a temporary permit allows a practitioner the opportunity to practice medicine when all other requirements are met. It is renewable only once, thereafter reapplication must be made.

REPORT CONCLUSION

Policy Issues

This review contains policy issues raised as a result of our evaluation of various Board practices. The final policy decisions affecting these practices are not within the scope of this review but require legislative consideration. In debating these decisions, the legislative oversight committees should take into consideration the findings and alternatives presented in this report, so that the potential impact of policy changes can be evaluated.

Report Conclusion

In our opinion, the State Medical Board should be reestablished with consideration given to our recommendations that the Board be reorganized to provide a greater public awareness on the Board.

The practices of medicine, osteopathy, and acupuncture by physicians, osteopaths, paramedics, podiatrists, chiropodists, and physician assistants is regulated by the Alaska State Medical Board. In addition, the Medical Board jointly regulates the practice of medicine by advanced nurse practitioners with the Board of Nursing. Because these occupations affect the public health, safety and welfare, in our opinion they should be subject to regulations and controls. Establishing minimum educational experience requirements provides the public reasonable assurance that persons licensed are qualified. In addition, an active investigation of complaints from the public and other practitioners assures the public that those licensed continue to practice in a competent manner.

In our opinion, these functions are needed for the protection of the public. However, we do not believe the Medical Board has effectively accomplished these functions. We are making recommendations which should be implemented in order for the State Medical Board to effectively serve the Alaska public.

We recommend a reorganization to prevent one occupational group from acting to the detriment of another and to provide a greater assurance that the public's interest is considered (see Recommendation No. 7).

We have recommended that the Board act in a timely manner to pass regulations needed to protect the public. The emergence of the mid-range medical profession has not been effectively handled. After four years, the Board has not passed regulations establishing the qualifications and scope of practice of the mid-range health care practitioner (see Recommendation No. 1).

We have recommended that consumer complaints be examined on the basis of merit. Regulations are needed to define improper business practices engaged in while practicing medicine as a violation of the licensing law. Presently, consumer complaints are either not examined or referred to the Alaska State Medical Association's grievance committees (see Recommendation No. 2).

The Board has not effectively policed the profession. This is primarily due to the fact that the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) has not provided the required investigations for the Board. However, the Board has powers defined under the Administrative Procedures Act, which could be used to investigate instances involving the threat of life or severe public harm (see Recommendation No. 3).

We have also recommended possible statutory amendments in areas where such changes increase the effectiveness of the Board (see Recommendations No's. 4 and 8).

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Findings and Recommendations No. 1 through No. 8 are addressed to the State Medical Board. Findings and Recommendations No. 9 and 10 are addressed to the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) and should be read in conjunction with "A Performance Review of the Division of Occupational Licensing, Department of Commerce and Economic Development, October 30, 1978", issued under a separate cover.

Recommendation No. 1

The Alaska State Medical Board should adopt necessary regulations to protect the public in a more timely manner.

In 1974 AS 08.64.107 was passed which required the Board to adopt regulations for physicians' assistants (PA's), establishing their qualifications and scope of activities. In 1973 AS 08.68.410(5) was passed which required the State Medical Board to jointly pass regulations with the State Board of Nursing for advanced nurse practitioners (ANP's). The emergence of these new mid-range practitioners caused confusion in the medical community regarding their role in providing health services. In addition, the Board did not recognize the trained physician's assistant as a health care professional. Some physicians were concerned that the emergence of physicians' assistants as professionals would threaten the existence of the traditional physician-helper or health aide. Defining the role of the physician's assistant and the type of relationship that should exist between him/her and the supervising physician appears to be the primary difficulty of the State Medical Board in passing regulations controlling the minimum qualifications of the physician assistant.

In our opinion, the Board should have passed regulations defining the minimum qualifications of mid-range health practitioners working independently or in an extended relationship from the supervising physicians. Because the Board took over four years to pass these regulations, there are presently persons providing health services who have questionable qualifications to do so. In questionnaires returned by the medical profession, we found: 75% believed PA's are needed, 76% believed ANP's are needed, 89% believed regulations should be established to assure that both PA's and ANP's have obtained technical competency, and 31% were aware of PA's or ANP's that may have not achieved such technical competency (see Appendix E).

The Board on September 22, 1978 proposed regulations which should provide the framework for the mid-range medical professions. This occurred after a Letter of Intent for SB 556 from the Alaska Legislature strongly urged the Board to pass regulations for physicians' assistants (see Appendix B), and after considerable lobbying on the part of both the profession and concerned members of public and private groups.

The proposed regulations passed for ANP's and PA's have some potential problems:

A) There are inequities in the legal treatment of PA's and ANP's which could place an economic hardship on the physician's assistant. For example, the PA must work under a more restrictive supervision arrangement than the ANP.

B) The Board requires supervising physicians to visit rural clinics every two weeks unless a waiver is granted. If waivers are not freely granted many rural clinics will not be economically feasible, reducing the health care available in rural Alaska.

C) The regulations do not address the prescribing authority for physician's assistants, and the prescribing authority regulations for advanced nurse practitioners are vague. Regulations should specify whether mid-range practitioners are licensed to prescribe drugs and define any limitations on their prescribing authority.

D) The regulations do not address malpractice insurance. The regulations should require physicians' assistants and advanced nurse practitioners to demonstrate, before licensure, that they are covered by the supervising physician insurance policy or that they have obtained malpractice insurance on their own.

E) There is no requirement that the physician assistant identify himself or herself as a physician's assistant rather than as a medical doctor. The Pharmacy Board has noted that this is already a problem because the public at times is unaware that they have seen a physician's assistant rather than a medical doctor.

F) Proposed regulations for physician's assistants attempt to establish a license fee schedule in conflict with AS 08.64.315 in which license fees to be changed are set.

G) Since rural health clinic services are mandatory under Title XIX of the Medicaid regulations and since these clinics are to use the services of PA's and ANP's, if regulations for the qualifications of the PA's and ANP's are not promulgated by the Board, the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare could withhold all or part of Alaska's Medicaid funding. In FY'79 the Medicaid appropriation is $38,000,000 (see Appendix C).

Legislation may be needed to assure public access to qualified health care practitioners if the problems discussed above are not addressed by the State Medical Board in a timely manner.

Recommendation No. 2

Regulations are needed to ensure that consumer complaints receive an impartial examination on the basis of merit.

Presently only complaints filed by physicians are investigated. Consumer complaints have not been properly examined for merit. The State Medical Board has resolved that all consumer complaints are to be sent to the Alaska State Medical Association's local grievance committees. These committees, composed of local physicians, are informal and have no regulatory powers. Therefore, to assure an impartial review, consumer complaints should not be sent to the Alaska State Medical Association, and the State Medical Board should rescind this resolution.

We recommend the Board establish regulations defining economic actions to be considered improper and not in the best interest of the public. Presently consumer complaints are not examined because they address economic issues. Economic improprieties by licensed persons should be considered unprofessional conduct subject to licensure revocation or disciplinary action by the Board. The licensed person has a greater responsibility for self-restraint because the consumer does not always have the technical knowledge or the ability to make a choice of providers.

Regulations should be established to ensure that improper acts and practices by the profession are considered licensing violations. They should include, but not be limited to:

A. Entering into fee sharing agreements or kick-back arrangements.

B. Refusing to provide services to any group of people or organization based on race, religion, creed or ethnic background.

C. Engaging in false or misleading advertising. The present statute AS 08.64.380 (D) prohibiting advertising is unconstitional based on an Attorney General's opinion and a U.S. Supreme Court decision.

D. Engaging in unfair business practices which are deceptive, fraudulent or not in the best interests of the public's economic welfare.

The auditors were informed that the Board's past action on consumer complaints resulted from the Board's inability to have extremely serious problems investigated by the Division of Occupational Licensing. We agree that the Division has not provided the necessary support, and we also agree that it is better to have the Alaska State Medical Association examine consumer complaints than to have no action taken at all.

A preferred method would be to have an impartial review of complaints made on the basis of merit, regardless of who files the complaint. In a performance review of the Division of Occupational Licensing we have made recommendations which, if implemented, should provide the investigative and clerical support needed to review consumer complaints.

Recommendation No. 3

The State Medical Board needs to more effectively police those persons regulated by the Board.

The Board has not been able to effectively police persons regulated by the Board because they have not received the required investigative support prescribed by AS 08.01.050(19). In a performance review of the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) we make recommendations which if implemented should provide this support.

During the last 4 years the Board has demanded prompt action on the part of the investigative staff, but they were informed there was insufficient manpower or that the investigators were busy on other cases. The performance review of the Division noted 24 cases classified as life threatening or which pose a severe threat to the public; 14 of these cases had received no investigative action by the Division.

However, the Board is granted substantial authority to investigate and enforce statutes and regulations effecting the Board by the Admisistrative Procedures Act. If proper investigative assistance is not provided, then the Board, in serious cases, should exercise the powers granted to it.

In addition, investigations are hindered by the lack of regulations promulgated by the Board for the enforcement of Medical Board Statutes. The Board should identify violations and penalties for business and professional actions of persons licensed by the Board which are not in the best interest of the Alaska public, as discussed in Recommendation No. 2.

Recommendation No. 4

Hospitals should be required to notify the State Medical Board when a practitioner's hospital privileges are refused or restricted because that person is a real or potential danger to the public. This may require a statutory change.

Under AS 08.64.336 physicians are required to report to the Medical Board any patient who practices medicine and who represents a real or potential danger to the public.

However, there is no requirement for a hospital to report a practitioner who is a possible danger to the public. Because a hospital normally refuses or restricts a practitioner's hospital privileges when a practitioner is a possible danger to the hospital's patients, such restrictions should be reported to the Board for investigation. In some cases, the investigative unit of the Division of Occupational Licensing has not been able to provide a timely investigative effort because they were unaware of existing problems.

If hospitals were to report such actions, the Medical Board could initiate an investigation to determine if a questionable practitioner should retain his license.

Recommendation No. 5

The State Medical Board should establish formal goals, objectives and quantifiable measures which should be included in the OL's budget document.

Objectives describe what an agency or Board is seeking to accomplish during a specific year. Well formulated objectives are capable of measurement and should include numerical targets so that actual accomplishments can be compared with stated targets. Without goals and objectives, the Board's performance cannot be adequately evaluated and analyzed.

OL establishes its own budget goals and objectives. The budget documents do not include any goals or measures for individual boards. Without the Board's goals and measures being identified or measured, neither the Governor's Office nor the Legislature can evaluate the Board's performance.

In addition, AS 08.64.140 requires that the Board furnish an annual report on the Board's activities for the preceeding year. This has not been done.

Recommendation No. 6

Regulations are needed to enact the continuing education requirements established by statute.

In 1976, the Legislature required the Board to promote a high degree of competency in the practice of medicine by requiring every licensed physician to fulfill continuing education requirements to be established by the board. This is a commendable objective and should be required of all persons who are regulated by the Board.

The Board approved, on September 22, 1978, continuing education requirements. These regulations will not be finalalized until they have been reviewed by the Attorney General and have gone to public hearings. We encourage the Board to enact the regulations proposed to promote continued competency.

In questionnaires returned by the profession, a substantial majority believed continuing education for all occupations should be established. The delay in establishing these regulations does not appear to have had an adverse effect on the qualifications of the profession. Ninety-eight percent (98%) of the practitioners stated they had attended continuing education classes or seminars within the last two years. The average classroom hours attended was 87 (see Appendix E).

Recommendation No. 7

The Board should record oral interviews with applicants seeking licensure.

The Board presently does not record oral interviews with applicants. AS 08.64.255 requires each applicant for a license by endorsement to have an interview in person with at least one Board member. The interview is required to be recorded, and the record preserved. If an applicant is denied licensure on the basis of the interview, he must be so informed in writing.

To protect the rights of the applicant and to assure that possible allegations of improper questions, grading or favoritism can be refuted by the Board, a record of the interview should be made. This record should then be placed into the custody of OL to be preserved.

Recommendation No. 8

A statutory change should be considered which will allow all persons regulated by the Board and the public to be adequately represented on the State Medical Board.

The Board regulates physicians, osteopaths, physician assistants, paramedics, podiatrists, and advanced nurse practitioners. The Board is currently composed of five physicians and two public members.

Allowing participation of all occupations regulated by the Board would ensure that one occupational group does not promote its interests over the interests of a non-represented occupational group. In questionnaires returned by the medical profession, 8% believed the Medical Board discriminated in licensing or investigative actions and 6% believed the Board discriminated in licensing minority groups. Some respondents commented that the Board had discriminated in licensing PA's and ANP's or in licensure of non-United States physicians.

Because the regulations and policies of the State Medical Board have a substantial impact on the health, welfare and ultimately the medical costs paid by the public, the use of additional public members is desirable. Knowledgeable active public members provide a valuable point of view otherwise absent on a board on which a substantial majority of the members are license holders. Public members represent the consumer's view, and are therefore more likely to be concerned with consumer complaints.

To assure uniformity in the practice of medicine in Alaska, it would be desirable to have as a member an advanced nurse practitioner. This person could work as a liaison between the Board of Nursing and the Medical Board. In our examination of the Board's performance, we noted that a formal means of communication between the two Boards will be necessary if there are to be meaningful regulations and continuity in the practice of medicine in Alaska.

In questionnaires returned by the profession 56% believed persons regulated by the Board should be represented, 33% did not, and 11% had no opinion. We asked if the Board had operated in the public's best interest; only 48% said yes, 20% said no, and 32% had no opinion. We asked how the membership of the Board should be structured; 61% wanted a majority of physicians, 31% wanted an equal number of public members and only 6% wanted a majority of public members on the Board.

Recommendation No. 9

The Division of Occupational Licensing should issue licenses only after Alaska State Medical Board approval as required by AS 08.64.130.

Our review of licenses issued between 1975 and 1978 found the Division issued licenses without evidence of Board approval documented in the minutes, or in the licensees' files as required by statute. Some files were reviewed by two Board members but there is no evidence of Board approval.

The lack of documented Board approval for licensees may raise questions as to the legality of licenses issued. To assure that those persons in possession of non-approved licenses are qualified, we recommend the Board review those licenses and verify their validity.

The Board is required by AS 08.64.130 to preserve a record of all applicants. This function is a Division responsibility which has not been performed. OL should establish procedures to assure that only licensees approved by the Board receive licenses.

Recommendation No. 10

The Division of Occupational Licensing should collect, record and maintain for five year periods files and statistics of license and testing applicants and related workload of the licensing examiner.

The Division needs relevant facts and statistics for evaluating the performance of its personnel and Board activity. Many past records have not been collected and maintained, such as:

1. Number of persons licensed by the Board in past years;

2. Records of those applicants failing the examination;

3. Numbers of applicants denied the chance to take the examination due to lack of qualifications;

4. Number of complaints and criticisms about the performance of the Board and its staff;

5. Correspondence workload of license examiners; and

6. Number of persons requesting applications.

It is to the advantage of the Division to keep these records in order to support its budget request, evaluate its personnel and keep the Board informed as to its progress. Also, feedback from the Board and the public should be encouraged to determine whether staff performance is adequate (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

ANALYSIS OF PUBLIC NEED

Limited Analysis

The following analyses indicate both positive and negative attainments as Board activities relate to the public need factors defined in the "Sunset" law. These analyses are not intended to be comprehensive in nature, but address those areas we were able to cover within the scope of our review.

I. The extent to which the board, commission or program has operated in the public interest.

A. The following demonstrate the Board's performance in the public's best interest:

1. The Board has held an average of 4 meetings a year in various locations in Alaska.

2. In 1974, the Board held public hearings on proposed regulations for phusicians' assistants.

3. The Board provides an examination twice a year for candidates.

4. On Nobember 8, 1975, the Board established regulations for midwives.

B. The following conditions and activities existed which could not be demonstrated to be in the public's best interest:

1. Although the Board held hearings in 1974 on physicians' assistants, no regulations were promulgated. This has raised accusations the Board is functioning in a restrictive manner. In addition, because these regulations were not passed persons with questionable qualifications are practicing medicine (see Recommendation No. 1).

2. In questionnaires returned by the profession, 20% believed the Board has not acted in the public's best interest, although 72% believed the Board was necessary (see Appendix E).

3. There has been no examination of complaints by consumers because AS 08.64.380 does not specify unethical economic or business practices as unprofessional conduct (see Recommendation No. 2 and the OL Performance Audit Report).

II. The extent to which the operation of the board, commission, or agency program has been impeded or enhanced by existing statutes, procedures, and practices which it has adopted, and any other matter, including budgetary, resource and personnel matters.

A. The following enhanced the performance of the Medical Board.

1) The Board received funding and support from OL in the amount of $43,300 (see Appendix A).

2) The Board believes that they usually receive competent support from the clerical staff of OL (see Appendix D).

B. The following practices have impeded the Board's performance:

1) The Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) has not maintained updated records, files, and statistics for Board use (see Recommendation No. 10 and the OL Performance Audit Report).

2) The Division has not provided necessary investigation required by AS 08.01.025(19); and the Board has not provided regulations covering unethical or improper actions on the part of licensees (see Recommendation No. 3 and the OL Performance Audit Report).

3) One Board member believes the Board needed telephone credit cards to allow members to do Board business without excessive personal cost (see Appendix D).

4) Two Board members believe that having a full-time clerical support position would enhance the Board's performance and that high turnover in the clerical support position has hindered the Board's performance.

III. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has recommended statutory changes which are generally of benefit to the public interest.

A. The following statutory changes were recommended by the Board:

1) Resolved that AS 08.64.311 be changed to allow relicensure every three years.

2) Resolved that a proposed statute change which would have allowed optometrists to prescribe drugs not be passed.

IV. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged interested persons to report to it concerning the effect of its regulations and decisions on the effectiveness of service, economy of service, and availability of service which it has provided.

A. Encouragement of persons to report to the Board is demonstrated by the following:

1. In 1974, public hearings were held on the use of PA's in Alaska.

2. Since 1974, extensive testimony and numerous statements have been presented to the Board concerning licensure and regulations for PA's. These include regulations drafted by the Physician's Assistant Academy, regulations drafted by the State Board of Pharmacy, letters from public and private groups and a letter of intent from the Legislature (see Appendix B).

3. In July 1978, the State Board of Nursing presented regulations and testimony to the Medical Board on the need to regulate advanced nurse practitioners.

4. In July 1978, proposed regulations for paramedics were presented with testimony on the need to regulate paramedics. These regulations were approved for public hearings.

V. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged public participation in the making of its regulations and decisions.

A. The Board's meetings, examinations and public hearings are advertised in newspapers by OL to encourage public participation. In some cases, OL has placed the advertisements for examinations after the deadline to submit an application (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

VI. The efficiency with which public inquiries or complaints regarding the activities of the board, commission or agency filed with it, with the department to which a board or commission is administratively assigned, or with the office of the ombudsman have been processed and resolved.

A. One complaint has been filed with the Ombudsman's office concerning the length of time the Board has taken to present regulations for PA's. The complaint was found justified. The Board has approved for public hearings regulations for PA's (see Recommendation No. 1).

B. Public complaints have not been efficiently handled (see Recommendation No. 2 and 3 and the OL Performance Audit Report).

VII. The extent to which a board or commission which regulates entry into an occupation or profession has presented qualified applicants to serve the public.

A. The following demonstrate the Board's performance in the past 4 years in presenting qualified applicants, and assuring their continued competence:

1. The Board has issued 220 licenses and 217 temporary licenses since June of 1976.

2. The Board has requested several investigations based on complaints from physicians. In addition, the Board has taken action by way of resolution and discussions wiht OL's personnel in attempts to have investigations pursued (see Recommendation No. 3 and the OL Performance Audit Report).

3. The Board has requested the submission of one licensee's license, and has revoked one temporary license.

4. The Board has demonstrated a liberal policy of licensing by endorseing physicians from other states.

B. The following conditions and activities existed which could not be demonstrated as presenting qualified applicants, and assuring their continued competence.

1. During 1978, there were 14 investigative open files, which should be classified as life threatening or posing a severe threat to the public, that were not investigated by OL (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. The Board has resolved to turn over consumer complaints to the Alaska State Medical Association's grievance committees for review. We recommend procedures be established to ensure impartial review of all complaints (see Recommendation No. 2 and the OL Performance Audit Report).

3. The Medical Board was unable to examine a complaint against a PA because the Board had not established standards for PA's performance. The complaint was referred to the Academy of Physician Assistants.

4. The Medical Board did not establish continuing education requirements as required by statute. These regulations have been approved for public hearings.

VIII. The extent to which state personnel practices, including affirmative action requirements, have been complied with by the board, commission or agency to its own activities and the area of activity or interst.

A. Applications require unnecessary information such as an applicant's picture, race, and sex. This is a violation of Equal Employment Opportunity requirements (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

B. In questionnaires returned by the profession, there were statements the Board had discriminated in actions with the non-physician occupations regulated, and had discriminated in the licensure of graduates of foreign medical schools (see Appendix E).

IX. The extent to which statutory, regulatory, budgeting or other changes are necessary to enable the agency, board or commission to better serve the interests of the public and to comply with the factors enumerated in this subsection.

A. The Division of Legislative Audit has recommended a review of the following statutes for possible revision

1. A statutory change for AS 08.64.010 should be considered to allow all occupations regulated by the Board, to be represented on the Board (see Recommendation No. 8).

2. A statutory change for AS 08.64.336 should be considered to require hospitals to report to the Medical Board, when a practitioners hospital privileges are refused or restricted, because that person poses a danger to the public (see Recommendation No. 4).

B. The Division of Legislative Audit recommended the Medical Board consider regulations to protect the public in the following areas:

1. Regulations are needed to assure that mid-range medical persons working in an extended medical role are qualified to do so (see Recommendation No. 1).

2. Regulations are needed to make actions on the part of licensed persons, which are unethical, improper and not in the best interest of the welfare of the public violations of the licensing act (see Recommendation No. 2).

Most of the medical revenues are composed of renewal registration fees. These fees are collected once every two years and cause revenues in one year to be much greater than the revenues collected in the next year. Therefore, we calculated and reported an average of the revenues collected in fiscal years 1977 and 1978 in order to obtain an accurate representation of collected revenues.

Note 2

Expenditures included those made by Board members, such as travel and per diem and an allocated percentage (estimated) of total administrative expenses of OL. They do not include expenditures for efforts of other departments, such as the Department of Law, that may be assisting the Board and OL.

Note 3

This data is not presently effective. It is a segment of proposed regulations with regards to Physicians' Assistants adopted by the Alaska State Medical Board, and is in conflict with the licensing fees established by statutes (see Recommendation No. 1).

Dear Mr. Busch:

This is in response to your letter of September 5, 1978. In it you requested an analysis of Alaska's need for regulations regarding qualifications of nurse practitioners and physician assistants under Medicaid. You also asked if there is a possible fiscal impact on Medicaid funds if regulations are not promulgated concerning the practice of these mid-range professionals.

Public Law 95-210 amended Title XVIII (Medicare) and Title XIX (Medicaid) of the Social Security Act to provide payment for rural health clinic services staffed by mid-level professionals, i.e. nurse practitioners and physician assistants. The definitions of nurse practitioners and physician assistants are found in Section 1861 (aa)(3) of the Social Security Act which states "The term 'physician assistant' and the term 'nurse practitioner' mean a physician assistant or nurse practitioner who performs such services as such individual is legally authorized to perform (in the State in which the individual performs such services) in accordance with State law (or the State regulatory mechanism provided by State law), and who meets such training, education, and experience requirements (or any combination thereof) as the Secretary may prescribe in regulations."

The minimum qualifications as prescribed by the Secretary are found in 42 CFR 481.2(b) for Nurse Practitioner and 42 CFR 481.2(d) for Physician Assistant and read as follows:

> (b) "Nurse practitioner" means a registered professional nurse who is currently licensed to practice in the State, who meets the State's requirements governing the qualifications of nurse practitioners, and who meets one of the following conditions:
> (1) Is currently certified as a primary care nurse practitioner by the American Nurses' Association or by the National Board of Pediatric Nurse Practitioners and Associates; or

(2) Has satisfactorily completed a formal one academic year educational program that:

(i) Prepares registered nurses to perform an expanded role in the delivery of primary care;

(ii) Includes at least four months (in the aggregate) of classroom instruction and a component of supervised clinical practice; and

(iii) Awards a degree, diploma, or certificate to persons who successfully complete the program; or

(3) Has successfully completed a formal educational program (for preparing registered nurses to perform an expanded role in the delivery of primary care) that does not meet the requirements of paragraph (b)(2) of this section, and has been performing an expanded role in the delivery of primary care for a total of 12 months during the 18 month period immediately preceding the effective date of this subpart.

(d) "Physician assistant" means a person who meets the applicable State requirements governing the qualifications for assistants to primary care physicians, and who meets at least one of the following conditions:

(1) Is currently certified by the National Commission on Certification of Physician Assistants to assist primary care physicians; or

(2) Has satisfactorily completed a program for preparing physician assistants that:

(i) Was at least one academic year in length;

(ii) Consisted of supervised clinical practice and at least four months (in the aggregate) of classroom instruction directed toward preparing students to deliver health care; and

(iii) Was accredited by the American Medical Association's Committee on Allied Health Education and Accreditation; or

(3) Has satisfactorily completed a formal educational program (for preparing physician assistants) that does not meet the requirements of paragraph (d)(2) of this section and has been assisting primary care physicians for a total of 12 months during the 18 month period immediately preceding the effective date of this subpart.

Both the Federal law and regulations make reference to State laws or regulations governing the qualifications of the practitioners as a requirement for certification of Rural Health Clinics.

Since Rural Health Clinic services are mandatory under Title XIX, a question of compliance could be raised if regulations governing the qualifications of the practitioners are not promulgated by the State.

In such a situation the HCFA Administrator pursuant to 45 CFR 201.6(a) could withhold, in whole, or in part, Federal payment made for Title XIX expenditures until the compliance question is resolved.

I understand that the Medical Board and Board of Nursing approved practitioner regulations at their September meeting and that these regulations are currently being processed through the State's hearing and adoption process. In view of this action, we believe the entire issue will be resolved shortly.

b. In one member's opinion, because the ANP had more classroom training, they should be allowed more independence than the PA.

B. What degree of medical responsibility should be assigned to each:

1. Physician's Assistant?

a. Should perform those duties assigned by the supervising physician, within the scope of practice of the supervising physician.

b. Actions on the part of the PA not in the best interests of the public should be the responsibility of the PA.

2. Emergency Care Paramedic?

a. Should perform life-sustaining measures only under the supervision of a physician. The physician should therefore be considered the responsible party.

3. Advanced Nurse Practitioner?

a. Should perform those duties assigned by supervising physician within the scope of practice of the supervising physician.

LEGISLATIVE

January 9, 1979

Mr. Gerald Wilkerson
Legislative Auditor
Division of Legislative Audit
Pouch W
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

We have reviewed your preliminary reports as shown below:

1. Board of Examiners in Optometry
2. Board of Dispensing Opticians
3. Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners
4. Board of Chiropractic Examiners
5. Alaska State Medical Board
6. Board of Veterinary Examiners
7. State Physical Therapy Board
8. Board of Pharmacy
9. Board of Nursing
10. Board of Nursing Home Administrators
11. Board of Dental Examiners
12. Alaska Transportation Commission

We view these reviews of agency programs and activities which are specifically subject to termination in a manner different from those made of State departments or agencies. Usually we in the Executive Branch endeavor to respond directly to each finding and recommendation. However, in regard to the Boards and Commissions, the Executive Branch agency during a public hearing shall demonstrate a public need for its continued existence or the discontinuation of the program, and the extent to which any change in the manner of exercise of its functions or activities may increase efficiency of administration or operation consistent with the public interest.

The Executive Branch of Alaska Government has made an extensive study of the above Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission. We are continuing to study those entities, their origin, their present and future potential, and other related subjects in conjunction with Alaska statutes 24 and 44 (Sunset Legislation). As prescribed in AS 44.66.050 one or more legislative hearings are to be held to receive testimony from the public, the Commissioner of the department having administrative responsibility for each, and the members of the Boards or Commission involved. During those hearings we will present our findings and recommendations affecting each of the foregoing Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission.

Accordingly, we are presenting this in addition to the responses from the Department of Commerce, Department of Law, and the individual Board or Commission members and others on an interim basis.

Sincerely,

Michael Harper

Gerald L. Wilkerson, CPA
Legislative Auditor
Division of Legislative Audit
Pouch W
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

The following comments are in response to the Performance Review of the Alaska State Medical Board, as submitted by the Division of Legislative Audit.

Recommendation No. 1. Agreed. The division recommends regulations be adopted to protect the public from incompetent practitioners, and practices. A cautious approach should be taken whenever regulations of such great importance to the public and the profession are to be promulgated. We agree there are many potential problems within the proposed regulations. The public hearings brought forth many of these same comments. The Medical Board and the Board of Nursing will consider all public testimony prior to finalizing these regulations. The division will assist the boards in every possible way in order to solve this problem.

Recommendation No. 2. Complaints are not sent to the board until fully investigated and all due process requirements are fulfilled; unless, investigation reveals it is not within the division's jurisdiction but could be possibly handled by the board or a peer review committee. In any case, complaints should always be referred to or filed with the division, not the board. There have been some instances whereby complaints have reached the board prematurely, although in error. Every precaution is being taken to eliminate this in the future. The promulgating of regulations would be one method of handling these problems.

Recommendation No. 3. We agree with the general recommendation. You refer to the review of the division where you make recommendations which if implemented should provide investigative support. Managerial controls and clerical support are valid recommendations and will contribute to this goal.

Recommendation No. 4. Hospitals should be required to report the loss of hospital privileges to the division for investigation. Upon full investigation, if needed, the matter would be presented to the board.

Recommendation No. 5. Agreed. All boards will be contacted in March or April, 1979 for input into the division's budget for FY 1981. This input will address the board's goals, objectives and financial needs.

Recommendation No. 6. Agreed. The Medical Board agrees with this recommendation and has taken the steps necessary leading to formal adoption of these regulations.

Recommendation No. 7. Agreed. The division will recommend to the board that all statutory requirements will be complied with as a safeguard to the applicant and the board member.

Recommendation No. 8. The present board consists of two public members and five members from the medical profession. Of these five, two are engaged in the practice of internal medicine, and one each in the practice of general practice, ophthalmology, and otolaryngology. We believe the present membership adequately represents the medical profession.

Recommendation No. 9. Agreed. Corrective action was taken at the last meeting of the board to include licensee names in the board minutes. Further issuance of licenses will conform to this recommendation.

Recommendation No. 10. Agreed. Complete reorganization of files and procedures within the agency are expected to be accomplished by the end of calendar year 1979. Some changes have recently been initiated by the agency.

I appreciate the time and efforts expended by your staff.

Yours truly,

Dear Mr. Perkins:

The Legislative Audit (preliminary report) directed to the Board of Medical Examiners has errors which may (should) prove embarrassing to the Division of Legislative Audit if not corrected.

I personally approve of the report and believe it reflects many of my own frustrations developed over four years of Board membership. I am anxious that the report be corrected to aid its final credibility and effectiveness.

Note: Some errors are repeated throughout the report. For brevity they will be mentioned at their most significant place.

Error #1: [Page 5, Third paragraph, lines number 3 and 4.]

The State Medical Board does not regulate Advanced Nurse Practitioners. This is done by the Board of Nursing. The Medical Board, as per Statute 08.68.410 #5 (page 11), shall jointly promulgate regulation only as they pertain to "acts of medical diagnosis, or the prescription of medical therapeutic or corrective measures." Once these regulations are promulgated the State Medical Board has no more statutory authority.

This precept is less incorrectly stated on page 6, third paragraph, beginning line 4, but continues to make the error that the Medical Board has continuing statutory authority to regulate Advanced Nurse Practitioners.

Error #2: [Page 8, Under Recommendation #1, Paragraph #2, beginning line #4.]

"Because the Board took over four years to pass these regulations, there are presently persons providing health services who have questionable qualifications to do so."

The present statutes place physician assistants under the direct supervision of a physician AS 08.64.170 (a) (1) "A physician assistant may examine, diagnose or treat persons under the supervision, control and responsibility of either a physician licensed under this chapter or a physician exempted from licensure."

The new regulations will merely regulate practitioners who wish to attain a level of proficiency known as a Physician Assistant. Their job description and proper names are now established giving them job protection. There will remain many people who assist physicians in levels other than the PA. They will remain under AS 08.64.170. If the PA regulations become comprehensive there will be some 300 Native Health Aides in violation of the law! The Attorney General's office is now considering this point.

Error #3:

The opinion poll (see Appendix E) described in the report is vague, nonspecific and without description as to sample technique, population selection, statistical methods, etc.

Error #4: Page 9, #B.

The two week visit by a physician to a rural clinic is a Federal Regulation. (See Appendix A).

[Rural Health Clinics: Conditions for Certification
Action Transmitted / HCFA-AT-14 (MMB;MAB) Feburary 8, 1978

As the report pointed out (page 9, #G) the State can loose $38,000,000 if the two week criteria is not met.

In addition, this specific criteria was insisted on by the lay members of the Board (see minutes of 1978 Juneau meeting).

#B coupled with #G indicates a failure to comprehensively read the Federal Regulations.

Error #5: [Page 9, #C.]

The Pharmacy Board has developed comprehensive prescribing regulations which not only will cover PA's and NP's but the inevitable emergence of future midlevel health practitioners.

Error #8: [Page 10, Recommendation #2.]

"Presently only complaints filed by physicians are investigated." THIS IS SIMPLY NOT TRUE. A call to the Anchorage Division of Occupational Licensing (12/18/78) revealed that many consumer complaints are being investigated. I personally know of one from a lawyer and another from a hospital.

This impression comes from an incomplete review of the Board minutes. On January 14, 1977, as a response to inadequate investigative activities from the Department of Occupational Licensure, the Board suggested using the local grievance committees to investigate consumer grievances by:

> "RESOLVED that all consumer grievances relevant to medical care should be first taken to a specific local medical society grievance committee or the nearest available, for resolution. If the local grievance committee cannot satisfy the problem the consumer should then take it to the State Medical Society Grievance Committee. If no resolution can be found, it should then be presented to the State Medical Board."

However after discussion with Sharon Andrew, Director, the resolution was modified to read (minutes of April 22, 1977):

"RESOLVED that all complaints go through the Department of Commerce and Economic Development and all complaints which do not appear to be a licensing violation will be referred to the local grievance committee of the State Medical Association. All actions taken by the department will be reviewed by the Board at the following board meeting."

Error #9: [Page 10, last two paragraphs.

What statutory authority does the Board have to develop economic regulations for medical care, with the exception of fee splitting?

Error #10: [Page 12, Recommendation N4, paragraph one, 2nd line.]

Is the word "patient" correct here?

Error #11: [Page 15, top two lines.]

By Department of Occupational Licensure direction it was resolved April 7, 1978, "that two members of the Board are sufficient for approving a candidate for licensure." Again an incomplete review of the Board's minutes.

Error #12: [Page 20, VIII, A.]

To protect the public from fake credentials the most important factor is to connect the person with the credentials. A notarized photo is the best way to do this. CHAPTER IV—HEALTH CARE FINANCING ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

PART 431—CERTIFICATION OF CERTAIN HEALTH FACILITIES

Rural Health Clinics: Conditions for Certification

AGENCY: Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), HEW

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: These regulations establish the conditions that rural health clinics must meet in order to be certified as suppliers of services under Medicare and Medicaid. They implement some of the provisions of the Rural Health Clinic Services Act of 1977 (Pub. L. 95-210) which is effective on March 1, 1978, for Medicare, and on July 1, 1978, for Medicaid. The intent is to increase the availability of medical care and services to residents of rural areas that have a shortage of health manpower.

EFFECTIVE DATE: February 8, 1978. Although notice of proposed rulemaking has been waived, we will welcome written comments, suggestions, or objections received by (45 days) with a view to revising these regulations. Please refer to HSO-47-RC. Agencies and organizations are requested to submit comments in duplicate.

ADDRESSES: Address comments to: Administrator, Health Care Financing Administration, P.O. Box 2332, Washington, D.C. 20013. Comments will be available for public inspection, beginning approximately 2 weeks after publication, in room 5225 of the Department's offices at 330 C Street SW., Washington, D.C., on Monday through Friday of each week from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. 202-245-0950.

Lorraine Kyttle, Health Standards and Quality Bureau, HCFA, Rm. 349, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Md. 21235, 301-594-9748.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Many isolated rural communities have not been able to attract or retain physicians and residents of these areas needing medical care must rely on clinics that cannot follow the traditional model of physician delivery of medical services. These clinics are, in many instances, staffed by nurse practitioners and physician assistants who are specially trained to provide medical care traditionally furnished by physicians. Although there is physician supervision, it is often indirect rather than "over-the-shoulder."

The Rural Health Clinic Services Act of 1977 (Pub. L. 95-210, December 13, 1977) extends Medicare and Medicaid coverage for medical services, furnished by a rural health clinic that meets the terms and conditions of the Act, which would otherwise be covered if furnished by a physician or incident to a physician's services.

The regulation sets forth the requirements which a clinic must meet in order to be certified for participation in Medicare or Medicaid. The Department will soon be issuing two more regulations to implement Pub. L. 95-210. One will govern coverage and reimbursement under Medicare, and will become effective for services furnished by a certified rural health clinic beginning March 1, 1978. The other will govern coverage and reimbursement under Medicaid, for which certified rural health clinics become eligible beginning July 1, 1978.

A rural health clinic interested in becoming certified under this regulation can obtain further information and application forms from the State agency responsible generally for certifying providers and suppliers of medical services for participation in Medicare and Medicaid. Typically, this is the State Health Department.

In drafting these regulations, the Department has tried to heed the clear legislative intent that the requirements for these clinics take into account their unique circumstances and be more flexible and less complex than requirements applicable to hospitals and other large institutions. (See House Report 95-548, Part II, p. 10.) The Department intends to implement these regulations in the same spirit.

MAJOR PROVISIONS

1. Location of the clinic. In order to be certified, a clinic must be located in an area that has been designated by the [illegible] of the Census as rural and has been designated by the Secretary of [illegible] as having a shortage of personal health services or primary medical care manpower. For convenience, the criteria for such designations are summarized in section 491.5 of the regulation, but the governing requirements are not reproduced in their entirety. A rural area is any area not designated as an urbanized area. Anyone who wishes to determine whether an area in question falls within the Bureau of Census criteria could locate at the nearest public library.

Determinations of shortage areas are made by the Secretary under two alternative provisions. One is section 1302(7) of the Public Health Services Act, for which the responsibility within HEW has been given to the Bureau of Community Health Services, Health Services Administration. The most recent listing of shortage areas under this section was published on October 15, 1976 in volume 41 of the FEDERAL REGISTER, page 45716.

The other provision for designating shortage areas is section 332(a)(1)(A) of the Public Health Services Act, for which responsibility lies with the Bureau of Health Manpower, Health Resources Administration. Designations under this section are set forth at volume 42, page 1563 of the FEDERAL REGISTER (January 10, 1973).

The statute sets forth two "grandfather" provisions, under which a clinic may obtain or retain certification, even if the conditions for being in a rural, shortage area are not met. First, if a facility qualifies as a rural health clinic but the area in which it is located subsequently loses its designation as rural or as a shortage area, the clinic will remain qualified. Second, a private, nonprofit clinic that was operating on July 1, 1977 in a rural area which is not designated as a shortage area, but which the Secretary determines to have an insufficient supply of physicians, can qualify for certification. These two provisions are spelled out in section 491.5 of the regulation.

2. Staffing requirements. The major innovation accomplished by P.L. 95-210 is to provide Medicare and Medicaid coverage for medical services furnished by a qualified physician assistant or nurse practitioner. Although a clinic must still have one or more physicians available to provide medical direction and carry out other specified responsibilities, the clinic's services may be furnished by a nurse practitioner or physician assistant. These terms are defined in the regulation. Moreover, every clinic must have at least one nurse practitioner or physician assistant on the staff, irrespective of how many hours a physician, in fact, is present at the clinic. [illegible] is a statutory requirement and is [illegible] that rural health clinics can be [illegible]fied only if the State permits—that is, does not explicitly prohibit—the [illegible]y of primary health care by a nurse practitioner or a physician assistant. The clinic staff may also [illegible] other health professionals, such [illegible] as nurse-midwives and other nurse [illegible]tioners who specialize in a particular [illegible]age of services.

The respective responsibilities of physicians and the physician assistants or nurse practitioners are specified in section 491.8. In brief, a physician must provide medical supervision and guidance for the physician assistant and the nurse practitioner, prepare medical orders, and review periodically the services furnished by the clinic. A physician must be present at the clinic for sufficient periods of time to perform these responsibilities and must be available at all other times, by direct means of communication, for advice and assistance on patient referrals and medical emergencies. In order to assure the presence of a physician on a regular, but only minimally burdensome basis, the regulation requires that a physician be present at the clinic at least once in every two week period, subject to extraordinary circumstances. A clinic operated by a nurse practitioner or physician assistant may satisfy these requirements through agreements with one or more physicians.

In addition to furnishing clinic services, the nurse practitioners and physician assistants participate in developing and administering the clinic's patient care policies, assure proper maintenance of patient records, arrange for patients to receive [illegible]ary services not furnished by the [illegible]

In accordance with the [illegible] authorization to establish [illegible] education and experience requirements for nurse practitioners and physician assistants, this regulation sets [illegible] alternative, minimum credentials [illegible] the definition of those terms. OCCUPATIONAL LICENSING

Mr. Byron Perkins, Licensing Examiner
Division of Occupational Licensing
Pouch D
Juneau, AK 99811

Dear Byron:

Despite our recent discussion, I felt that the press of time forces me to pass my comments regarding the Legislative Audit report through you so that they may go simulataneously to Dr. Hendrickson and the Division of Legislative Audit. I would add to Dr. Harrison's Dec. 20th letter, with which I basically concur, the following comments.

1) Page 9, Par. E. I believe the draft regulations for Physicians Assistants do set up penalties for for Physicians' Assistants falsely identifying themselves, and I think a PA posing as a doctor would come under the provision of AS 08.64.360 governing practicing medicine without an appropriate license.

2) It would be helpful to expand on the comment in the second to last paragraph on Page 11 regarding the Board's exercising its powers to investigate.

3) A similar comment would apply to Recommendation No. 7 on Board members' recording interviews.

4) I continue to be strongly opposed to putting representatives of every segment of the medical professions on the Board(Page 14). Such persons, I believe, would tend to view themselves as having been put on the Board mainly to protect the interests of their constituencies. The representation of the public interest would suffer badly from such a move.

5) The analysis of the professional respondents (Last paragraph, Recommendation 8, Page 14) is extremely naive.

6) Page 18, No. V. I think advertising of Board meetings requires considerable improvement. Meetings in Anchorage have been publicized in papers other than in Anchorage and left out of local ones. Often ads are put in the legal notices instead of more noticed places where other state board meetings are advertised.

7) Recommendation No. 2, Page 10. This should be put on our agenda for the next meeting to see whether the Board wants to pass regulations, recommend any necessary statute changes, etc.

I hope I'm not putting too much of a burden on you to distribute this. Thanks for your help.

BUDGET AND AUDIT COMMITTEE

AUDIT DIVISION
POUCH W—ALASKA OFFICE BUILDING

FINANCE DIVISION
POUCH WF—STATE CAPITOL

JUNEAU, ALASKA 99811

January 12, 1979

Members of the Legislative Budget and Audit Committee:

We have reviewed the Medical Board's responses to the Performance Review of the Alaska State Medical Board dated October 30, 1978. We believe the following clarification of the Board's responses as they relate to our report is needed.

Response Error #1

We do not believe we have made an error. The Board states:

> "The State Medical Board does not regulate Advanced Nurse Practitioners. This is done by the Board of Nursing. The Medical Board, as per Statute 08.68. 410(5) and (9), shall jointly promulgate regulation only as they pertain to "acts of medical diagnosis, or the prescription of medical therapeutic or corrective measures.""

The act of promulgating regulations for Advanced Nurse Practitioners (ANP's) and the Medical Board's sole responsibility for promulgating regulations defining the types of relationships physicians may enter into with ANP's, in our opinion, constitutes authority to regulate ANP's.

Response Error #2

We do not believe we have made an error. The Board states:

> "The present statutes place physician assistants under the direct supervision of a physician AS 08.64.170 (a) (1) "A physician assistant may examine, diagnose or treat persons under the supervision, control and responsibility of either a physician licensed under this chapter or a physician exempted from licensure.""

However, in addition to this statute AS 08.64.107 provides:

> "The Board shall adopt regulations regarding the registration of physician assistants and physician-trained mobile intensive care paramedics and the medical service that each may perform, including but not limited to (1) the educational and other qualifications (2) the application and registration procedures (3) the scope of activities authorized and (4) the responsibilities of the supervising or training physician."

In our opinion the Medical Board is responsible for providing reasonable assurances that physician assistants are qualified to practice medicine.

We can find no basis for the Board's statement that:

"If the physician assistant regulations become comprehensive there will be some 300 Native Health Aids in violation of the law!"

The term physician assistant is defined under public law 95-210 and Federal Register VOOL 43, No 27 § 481.2(d) as the following:

""Physician assistant" means a person who meets the applicable State requirements governing the qualifications for assistants to primary care physicians, and who meets at least one of the following conditions:
(1) Is currently certified by the National Commission on Certification of Physician Assistants to assist primary care physicians; or
(2) Has satisfactorily completed a program for preparing physician's assistants that:
(i) Was at least 1 academic year in length;
(ii) Consisted of supervised clinical practice and at least 4 months (in the aggregate) of classroom instruction directed toward preparing students to deliver health care: and
(iii) Was accredited by the American Medical Association's Committee on Allied Health Education and Accreditation; or
(3) Has satisfactorily completed a formal educational program that does not meet the requirements of paragraph (d)(2) of this section and has been assisting primary care physicians for a total of 12 months during the 18-month period immediately preceeding the effective date of this subpart."

It is our opinion the term physician assistant used in AS 08.64.107 referred to the above defined profession, and that regulations establishing qualifications for the physician assistant would have no effect upon the use of health aids or other "physician-helpers".

Response Error #3

Our questionnaire was sent to approximately 33% of the persons holding active licenses. The sample was drawn by selecting every third item on an alphabetical list provided by Occupational Licensing. In addition, we selected a sample of non-urban physicians, and a sample of physician assistants. Our sample size was 192; 136 were returned giving us a response rate of 71%. We would like to note had we used a statistical sampling with a 90% confidence level and a precission of ± 4% we would only have had to question 70 license holders.

Response Error #4 and Error #7

As noted by the response the physician visit every two weeks to a rural clinic is a Federal requirement for certification. However, the Federal regulation also make provision for less frequent visits in extraordinary circumstances. In discussions with the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Region X, personnel we were informed that the economic and physical difficulties of visiting every two weeks to many rural Alaska areas could be considered extraordinary circumstances.

Response Error #5

We concur that the Pharmacy Board acted in a commendable manner in developing comprehensive prescribing regulations in a timely manner. However, there is a legal question whether the Pharmacy Board has legal authority for physicians, physician assistants, and advanced nurse practitioners as regulation of these professions is the responsibility of the Medical Board, and in the case of the ANP's the joint responsibility of the Medical Board and Nursing Board.

Response Error #6

We concur SLA 1978 Chapter 177 removed requirements that health care professionals have malpractice insurance.

Response Error #8

We concur it is the present policy of the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) to review consumer complaints on the basis of merit. However, during the period under review consumer complaints were not properly examined (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

We reaffirm our recommendation the State Medical Board rescind their resolution to send confidential complaints received from the public to the Alaska State Medical Association, a private organization.

Response Error #9

We were informed by legal council from Legislative Affairs and the Attorney General's Office that the Board has the authority to develop regulations concerning unethical acts, including business practices engaged in in a professional capacity which are deceptive, fraudulent and not in the best interests of the public's economic welfare.

Response Error #10

We believe the word patient is correct. AS 08.64.336 states:

> "A physician who professionally treats a person licensed to practice medicine and surgery or osteopathy in this state for alcoholism or drug addiction, or for mental, emotional or personality disorders, shall report it to the board if he feels that the person may constitute a danger to the health and welfare of his patients or the public if he continues in practice. The report shall state the name and address of the person and the condition found."

Response Error #11

The Board states that they resolved April 7, 1978, "that two members of the Board are sufficient for approving a candidate for licensure."

In our review of the Board's minutes we found they had resolved "that the Division of Occupational Licensing would ascertain that two members of the Board are sufficient for approving a candidate for licensure."

To our knowledge OL did not seek legal advice regarding this resolution. However, our primary concern is that licenses should not be issued by OL without Board approval.

Response Error #12

The Board states:

> "To protect the public from fake credentials the most important factor is to connect the person with the credentials. A notarized photo is the best way to do this."

The Equal Employment Opportunity standards allow the use of a photo, questions on race, sex and ethnic background if it can be demonstrated such information is necessary and not used for discriminatory purposes. We recommend the Board discuss its identification needs with the Division of Occupational Licensing. In the performance review of OL we have recommended it review all licensing applications to assure that they comply with Equal Employment Opportunity guidelines.

PROCEDURE FOR OBTAINING A LICENSE TO PRACTICE MEDICINE AND SURGERY IN THE STATE OF ALASKA

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS: All copies of documents must be certified by a Notary Public to be true copies of the original documents. Copies no larger than 8 1/2" by 11" are preferred. Your application and supporting credentials will be returned if they are not complete and in proper form. Non-citizens must have permanent resident status in the United States. All applicants for licensure must be interviewed by a member of the Medical Board prior to licensure. (List of Board members is enclosed.) If you have previously received a temporary permit, your interview for the permit may serve as your interview for permanent licensure. If you have previously received a locum tenens permit and decide to apply for permanent licensure, your interview for the permit may serve as your interview for permanent licensure at the discretion of the Board member who issued your permit.

FOREIGN MEDICAL GRADUATES: You must either (1) be certified by the Educational Commission for Foreign Medical Graduates (ECFMG) or (2) be licensed by examination in a state or territory of the United States or a province of Canada. In addition, you must have completed a full year in an internship or residency program approved by the American Medical Association or the Canadian Medical Association. If you meet the foregoing requirements you may be licensed on substantially the same basis as graduates of U. S. and Canadian medical schools. Please follow the applicable licensing procedure below. Note that all copies of foreign-language credentials must be certified by a Notary Public and must be accompanied by certified translations by a recognized translator. If you hold the ECFMG certificate, you must submit a certified copy for permanent filing. Once your application is complete it will be reviewed by the Medical Board.

LICENSURE BY EXAMINATION: The State Medical Board offers the Federation Licensing Examination (FLEX) twice yearly in June and December on dates established by the Federation of State Medical Boards. You must take the examination in Alaska; you cannot be proctored by another state. FLEX is a three day examination and consists of the following: Part I - Anatomy, Physiology, Biochemistry, Microbiology, Pharmacology and Pathology; Part II - Medicine, OB-Gyn, Pediatrics, Preventive Medicine and Public Health, Psychiatry and Surgery; Part III - Clinical Competence. A booklet describing the examination is available upon request. Applications for examination must be complete and on file 40 days in advance of the examination date. The following items must be on file:

1. Completed application - including items 1 through 33
2. Certified copy of your medical school diploma.
3. Certified copy of your certificate internship or residency.
4. Verification of the status of your license in all states, territories or provinces to which you hold or have held licenses. Three forms are enclosed. A sheet listing the addresses of all state boards of medical examiners is also enclosed for your use.
5. Fee: $150 - includes a nonrefundable $25 application fee and $125 examination fee.

AMA Biographical Data and Narcotics clearance - Upon receipt of your application this office will request a review of your credentials through the AMA and clearance from the Drug Enforcement Administration. This review takes approximately a month.

08-449 (Rev. 7/75)

DO NOT SUBMIT YOUR APPLICATION UNTIL IT IS COMPLETE. Once your application has been approved you will receive an admittance card which lists the date, time and location of the examination and your State Identification Number. This card must be surrendered to the monitor at the time of your examination. A FLEX weighted average of 75% is required to pass the exam. Upon successful completion of the exam and oral interview, your permanent certificate will be awarded.

LICENSURE BY ENDORSEMENT: The State Medical Board may waive their written examination and license you by endorsement if you either (1) hold an active license issued after examination in a state or territory of the United States or a province of Canada or (2) are a Diplomate of the National Board of Medical Examiners or have passed the Federation Licensing Examination with a FLEX weighted average of 75%. The following items must be on file:

1. Completed application - including items 1 through 34. NOTE: #34 must be completed. In order for you to be eligible for waiver of our examination, we must have evidence that you were examined in the clinical and basic sciences. The verification of licensure form is not acceptable in lieu of #34.
2. Certified copy of your medical school diploma.
3. Certified copy of your certificate of internship or residency.
4. Verification of the status of your license in all states, territories or provinces in which you hold or have held licenses. Three forms are enclosed. A sheet listing the addresses of all state boards of medical examiners is also enclosed for your use.
5. Fee: $125 - includes a nonrefundable $25 application fee and $100 endorsement fee.

AMA Biographical Data and Narcotics clearance - Upon receipt of your application this office will request a review of your credentials through the AMA and clearance from the Drug Enforcement Administration. This review takes approximately a month, and as a result it will be to your advantage to submit your application well in advance of the date you intend to start practicing to ensure that this office has adequate time to request the review. If any part of your application is incomplete at the time you intend to start practicing, it will be necessary for you to apply for a temporary permit. The Board will not review your application until all necessary information has been received.

DO NOT SUBMIT YOUR APPLICATION UNTIL IT IS COMPLETE. Once it has been approved and you have been interviewed and recommended for licensure by a member of the Board, your permanent certificate will be awarded.

TEMPORARY PERMIT: Any member of the Medical Board may issue you a temporary permit providing you intend to apply for permanent licensure by examination or endorsement. Temporary permits are issued as a courtesy to allow you to practice while you are completing your application for permanent licensure. Board members interview all candidates for temporary licensure and require that the following be submitted:

1. Certified copy of your medical school diploma.
2. Certified copy of your certificate of internship or residency.
3. Fee: $25 - cannot be credited toward fees for permanent licensure.

PLEASE NOTE: (1) If you are applying for examination your permit will remain valid until the results of the first examination for which you are scheduled are available. If you fail to take the first examination for which you are scheduled, your permit will automatically be revoked on the day of the examination. (2) If you are applying for endorsement your permit will remain valid for eight months or until the Board meets to consider your application, whichever occurs first.

LOCUM TENENS PERMIT: Any member of the Medical Board may issue you a locum tenens permit which will allow you to provide temporary coverage for a physician licensed in Alaska. Board members interview all candidates for such permits and require that the following be submitted:

1. Certified copy of your medical school diploma.
2. Certified copy of your certificate of internship or residency.
3. Certified evidence of current licensure in a state or territory of the U. S. or a province of Canada. Evidence of current licensure must be in the form of a renewal certificate or the like unless your original certificate has just been issued and you have not been required to renew it.
   Fee: $25.

PLEASE NOTE: Your locum tenens permit will remain valid for 120 consecutive days. If circumstances warrant the Board may grant an extension. Obtaining a locum tenens permit does not obligate you to apply for permanent licensure.

GENERAL INFORMATION: Once your license has been issued it must be filed with the Clerk of the Superior Court in the judicial district in which you intend to practice. Should you move to another district it must again be filed as above.

All permanent licenses must be renewed by December 31 of even-numbered years. Initial licensing fees are not related to renewal fees, and your license will remain valid only until the renewal following issuance. Notification of the necessity to renew will be mailed to each licensee approximately 30 days before the renewal date. Failure to receive a renewal notice is not considered an excuse for nonrenewal. A license which is not renewed by the due date lapses. In order to reinstate a license which remains lapsed for more than 60 days, a $10 penalty fee must be submitted along with the renewal fee. Fees are as follows: $100 - active renewal; $25 - inactive, out of state renewal. You must reside and practice outside Alaska to be eligible for inactive renewal. If you practice in state intermittently you must renew on an active basis. Should you renew on an inactive basis and subsequently come to Alaska to practice, you must activate your license by payment of a $75 fee.

NOTE: It is illegal to practice on a lapsed license. It is your responsibility to keep this office advised of your current address at all times to enable us to send renewal notices to you.

FOR INFORMATION ON PRACTICE OPPORTUNITIES PLEASE CONTACT: Alaska State Medical Association, 1135 West 8th Avenue, Anchorage, Alaska 99501.

PROCEDURE FOR OBTAINING A LICENSE TO PRACTICE PODIATRY IN THE STATE OF ALASKA

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS: All copies of documents must be certified by a Notary Public to be true copies of the original documents. Copies no larger than 8 1/2" by 11" are preferred. Your application and supporting credentials will be returned if they are not complete and in proper form. Non-citizens must have permanent resident status in the United States. All applicants for licensure must be interviewed by a member of the Medical Board prior to licensure. (List of Board members is enclosed.) If you have previously received a temporary permit, your interview for the permit may serve as your interview for permanent licensure. If you have previously received a locum tenens permit and decide to apply for permanent licensure, your interview for the permit may serve as your interview for permanent licensure at the discretion of the Board member who issued your permit.

LICENSURE BY ENDORSEMENT: The State Medical Board may waive their written examination and license you by endorsement if you are a Diplomate of the National Board of Podiatry Examiners. The following items must be on file:

1. Completed application - including items 1 through 33.
2. Certified copy of your medical school diploma.
3. An original or certified copy of your score report from N.B.P.E.
4. Verification of the status of your license in all states, territories or provinces in which you hold or have held licenses. Three forms are enclosed.
5. Fee: $125 - includes a nonrefundable $25 application fee and $100 endorsement fee.

LICENSURE BY EXAMINATION: Applications for examination must be complete and on file 40 days in advance of the examination date. The Following items must be on file:

1. Completed application - including items 1 through 33
2. Certified copy of your medical school diploma
3. Verification of the status of your license in all states, territories or provinces in which you hold or have held licenses. Three forms are enclosed.
4. Fee: $150 - includes a nonrefundable $25 application fee and $125 examination fee.

TEMPORARY PERMIT: Any member of the Medical Board may issue you a temporary permit providing you intend to apply for permanent licensure by examination or endorsement. Temporary permits are issued as a courtesy to allow you to practice while you are completing your application for permanent licensure. Board members interview all candidates for temporary licensure and require that the following be submitted.

1. Certified copy of your medical school diploma.
2. Fee: $25 - cannot be credited toward fees for permanent licensure.

PLEASE NOTE: (1) If you are applying for examination your permit will remain valid until the results of the first examination for which you are scheduled are available. (2) If you are applying for endorsement your permit will remain valide for eight months or until the Board meets to consider your application, whichever occurs first.

LOCUM TENENS PERMIT: Any member of the Medical Board may issue you a locum tenens permit which will allow you to provide temporary coverage for a podiatrist licensed in Alaska. Board members interview all candidates for such permits and require that the following be submitted:

1. Certified copy of your medical school diploma.
3. Certified evidence of current licensure in a state or territory of the U.S. or province of Canada. Evidence of current licensure must be in the form of a renewal certificate of the like unless your original certificate has just been issued and you have not been required to renew it.
4. Fee: $25

PLEASE NOTE: Your locum tenens permit will remain valid for 120 consecutive days. If circumstances warrant the Board may grant an extension. Obtaining a locum tenens permit does not obligate you to apply for permanent licensure.

GENERAL INFORMATION: Upon receipt of your application this office will request clearance from the Drug Enforcement Administration. This review takes approximately a month, and as a result it will be to your advantage to submit your application well in advance of the date you intend to start practicing to ensure that this office had adequate time to request the review. If any part of your application is incomplete at the time you intend to start practicing, it will be necessary for you to apply for a temporary permit. The Board will not review your application until all necessary information has been received. DO NOT SUBMIT YOUR APPLICATION UNTIL IT IS COMPLETE. Once your application is complete and you have been interviewed and recommended for licensure by a member of the Board your file will be ready for Board review at their next scheduled meeting. Meetings are held every 3 - 4 months.

Once your license has been issued it must be filed with the Clerk of the Superior Court in the judicial district in which you intend to practice. Should you move to another district it must again be filed as above.

All permanent licenses must be renewed by December 31 of even-numbered years. Initial licensing fees are not related to renewal fees, and your license will remain valid only until the renewal following issuance. Notification of the necessity to renew will be mailed to each licensee approximately 30 days before the renewal date. Failure to receive a renewal notice is not considered an excuse for nonrenewal. A license which is not renewed by the due date lapses. In order to reinstate a license which remains lapsed for more than 60 days, a $10 penalty fee must be submitted along with the renewal fee. Fees are as follows: $100 - active renewal; $25 - inactive, out of state renewal. You must reside and practice outside Alaska to be eligible for inactive renewal. If you practice in state intermittently you must renew on an active basis. Should you renew on an inactive basis and subsequently come to Alaska to practice, you must activate you license by payment of a $75 fee.

PLEASE NOTE: It is illegal to practice on a lapsed license. It is your responsibility to keep this office advised of your current address at all times to enable us to send renewal notices to you.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF THE REVIEW

Purpose

In accordance with the provisions of Alaska Statutes 24.20.271(1) and 44.66.050 (sunset legislation), a review of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board was conducted to determine whether there is a demonstrated need to continue liquor regulation in its present form. To determine that need we reviewed Board activities to see if the Board has been operating in an efficient and effective manner.

AS 44.66.010(1) specifies that the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board will terminate on June 30, 1979 but will continue until June 30 of the following year for the purpose of concluding its affairs. This report shall be considered during the legislative oversight function in determining whether the Board should be allowed to terminate, be reestablished in its present form or be reestablished in a modified form.

Scope

The major areas reviewed were the Board's program, licensing, enforcement, administration and affirmative action functions. Our review consisted of analyzing and evaluating the following:

(1) Applicable statutes and regulations;

(2) Questionnaires sent to Board members;

(3) Interviews with, and questionnaires to, ABC Board employees;

(4) Interviews with and reports by the consulting attorney for the Alaska Code Revision Commission;

(5) Tests of records and documents of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board;

(6) Tests of records and documents of the Office of the Governor on appointments to the ABC Board;

(7) Questionnaires to Alaska law enforcement agencies;

(8) Questionnaires to 1978 Alaska Municipal League Members;

(9) Questionnaires to 206 current licensees of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board;

(10) Correspondence with the Commissioners of the Departments of Public Safety and Commerce and Economic Development;

(11) A review of studies and major Alaska Supreme Court decisions concerning the Board;

(12) Observation of two ABC Board meetings;

(13) Observation of meetings with the Attorney General's Office, District Attorney's Office, and the Alaska Code Revision Commission; and

(14) Complaints filed with the Ombudsman's Office.

Scope Constraints

This review was hampered by the following constraint: The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board had not adequately collected, recorded and maintained files and/or statistics on enforcement activity of the Board prior to October 1977.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTION

In 1933 the Territorial Legislature created the Board of Liquor Control with full power, authority and control to prescribe (1) rules and regulations to govern the manufacture, barter, sale and possession of intoxicating liquors, (2) qualifications of those engaged in that business, and (3) license fees and excise taxes. The present Alcoholic Beverage Control Board (hereinafter referred to as the ABC Board or the Board) was established in 1959, and the same broad powers and duties conferred on the Board of Liquor Control were transferred to the new ABC Board at that time.

Members are appointed for three-year terms by the Governor and serve at his pleasure subject to confirmation by the Legislature. Membership is limited by statute to five persons (two liquor industry representatives, three non-industry representatives). A director, also appointed by the Governor, serves as executive officer and is responsible for enforcement of Title 4 liquor laws and rules and regulations developed by the Board. Although he is not a member of the Board, the director may cast a tie-breaking vote.

Under Title 4 of the Alaska Statutes the ABC Board is charged with the general duties, powers and responsibilities involved in the control of alcoholic beverages, including the promulgation of rules and regulations and the hearing of appeals. Its authority is mostly discretionary. Provisions of AS 04.05.030 direct the Board to issue, reissue, revoke, transfer or suspend liquor licenses in accordance with what the Board considers to be the public's best interests. Concerning its general powers of regulation AS 04.05.030 states:

> "The Board may control the manufacture, barter, sale and possession of intoxicating liquors in the State, and may adopt necessary rules and regulations in a manner that will protect the public health, safety and welfare."

Title 4 prescribes the types of licenses, fees and specific activities allowed under each license classification (see schedule of license types and fees in Appendix B). Fees are payable at the time of application and are not reduced or prorated in any way for periods less than the statutory calendar year. To renew an already existing liquor license the application must be filed (and the corresponding fees paid) on or before February 28.

The staff of the ABC Board is divided into three major functions: administration, licensing and enforcement. A brief description of the services provided by those functions follows:

Administration. The director of the ABC Board provides all administrative support needed by the Board including overseeing all staff functions, preparing budget documents, and directing the preparation and implementation of administrative and public hearings, and directing special enforcement investigations.

Licensing. The licensing staff currently consists of three full-time employees responsible for issuing and receiving application forms, maintaining records and files for all licenses, collecting fees, issuing all licenses and permits authorized by the Board, and answering inquiries from the general public on routine licensing matters.

Enforcement. The ABC Board currently employs five investigators; three operating from the Anchorage central office and two operating from the Fairbanks field office. Services provided include (1) routine surveillance and inspections of licensed premises, (2) investigations to obtain information to be used in criminal and civil proceedings and investigations into suspected licensing violations, and (3) assisting the licensing staff in handling inquiries from the general public.

REPORT CONCLUSION

Policy Issues

This review contains policy issues raised as a result of our evaluation of various Board practices. The final policy decisions affecting these practices are not within the scope of this review but require legislative consideration. In debating these decisions, the legislative oversight committees should take into consideration the findings and alternatives presented in this report, so that the potential impact of the policy changes can be evaluated.

Report Conclusion

In our opinion, the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should continue to regulate and license those persons engaged in the liquor industry. Title 4 of the Alaska Statutes established the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board to control the manufacture, barter, sale and possession of intoxicating liquors to protect the public's health, safety and welfare. Because of the growing body of knowledge on the potential dangers of alcohol and its attendant social and economic costs, we concur that the public need for this type of regulation continues to exist.

However, certain changes need to be implemented for the ABC Board to more effectively execute its mandated responsibilities. Enforcement responsibilities of the Board should be transferred to a special investigative unit within the Department of Public Safety. This shift in responsibility would correct the existing deficiencies in ABC Board enforcement. The three elements of ABC enforcement, routine inspections, investigations and licensing assistance, are deficient in the following ways:

Routine Inspections:

- they are not performed on a regular, timely basis,
- ratings assigned are not based on a uniform set of standards,
- ABC inspections duplicate, to a large extent, Division of Public Health inspections, and
- discrepancies noted during these inspections are seldom followed up.

Investigations:

- documentation on enforcement activity is not accurate and not maintained in a current manner,

- the Notice of Violation procedures are ineffective because they are not issued in sufficient quantity, do not always result from original ABC work, are not always followed up, and carry no penalty,

- ABC enforcement officers do not have sufficient authority.

Licensing Assistance:

- ABC enforcement staff spend approximately 15% of their time assisting the licensing staff, when 100% of their time should be devoted to enforcement efforts.

A transfer of responsibility would remove the State from a position of potential liability which results since the ABC enforcement officers are not commissioned, and are not employed by a "police agency", yet act as agents of the State (see Recommendation No. 1).

If enforcement responsibilities are transferred to the Department of Public Safety, the ABC Board will be left with five full-time employees: two administrative staff members and three licensing staff members. A transfer of the licensing responsibilities to the Department of Commerce and Economic Development, Division of Occupational Licensing would eliminate the need for the administrative positions and would result in an annual savings to the State of approximately $54,000 (see Recommendation No. 2).

Our review of the licensing function revealed the following. Renewals of liquor licenses currently take longer to process than new issuances because of all licenses being renewed at the same time and conflicting statutory requirements. Public notice requirements under AS 04.10.270 have hindered the Board from automatically renewing licenses as provided under AS 04.10.350. The need for public notice for license renewals should be reviewed as municipalities and boroughs have used it only as a tax collection service for unpaid local taxes (see Recommendation No. 5).

We also noted that the need for the $2,500 cash or surety bond required for a beverage dispensary license is obsolete. The requirement was established by a 1939 amendment as a penal sum to be forfeited upon revocation. Its penal impact has diminished in the 39 years since it was established and a forfeiture has not been imposed by the Board in at least five years (see Recommendation No. 6).

We also reviewed Board activity, composition and appointments and found the following. The ABC Board currently spends the majority of its meeting time in routine issuances, transfers, and renewals of unprotested licenses. The Board should adopt a regulation delegating the authority to the Director of the Division of Occupational Licensing to perform those routine administrative functions as authorized by AS 04.05.040. This action would result in (1) the need for fewer meetings, (2) reduction in processing time of unprotested applications, and (3) more economical and efficient use of existing funds and manpower (see Recommendation No. 3).

Alcoholic beverage industry representation on the ABC Board should be reduced from the required two members to one member. This action would eliminate the possibility of an industry quorum when the minimum number of members needed for a quorum attend a meeting, and two of those three members are industry representatives. This situation could introduce an unfavorable bias into the Board's actions and its ability to act in the public's best interests (see Recommendation No. 4).

A review of Board appointment activity performed by the Office of the Governor pointed out two problem areas: (1) vacant ABC Board seats have not been filled in a timely manner, and (2) have not been staggered. The establishment of a talent pool by the Office of the Governor for all Board appointments would allow for the immediate appointment of Board members when terms expire or a position is vacated (see Recommendation No. 7).

In conclusion, the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should analyze and evaluate the purpose of the Board and take the necessary actions needed to perform and fulfill its responsibilities to the public.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Recommendation No. 1

Enforcement responsibilities for the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should be transferred to a special ABC enforcement unit within the Department of Public Safety.

The enforcement staff for the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board is currently responsible for:

A. Routine surveillance and inspection of licensed premises,

B. Investigations to obtain information to be used in criminal and civil proceedings and investigations into suspected licensing violations, and

C. Assisting the licensing staff by handling inquiries from the general public on regulations, procedures and licensing requirements.

We reviewed these three functions and noted the following deficiencies in each:

A. Routine Surveillance and Inspection

1. Licensed premise inspection reports are prepared subjectively.

The ABC Board developed the check-off list to be used in routine inspections as recommended in a previous Legislative Audit report. The licensed premise is evaluated in 9 categories (e.g. exterior, interior, overall appearance, etc.) and rated as excellent, good, satisfactory or unacceptable. However, no uniform written standards have been developed to explain the specific requirements necessary to receive a given rating.

No written standards have been developed in conjunction with the check-off list used in routine inspections and, therefore, each report reflects the subjective judgment of the inspector preparing it. For standardized reports to be useful and fair they must be prepared uniformly and objectively which can only occur when each report is based on an accepted common set of standards.

2. Licensed premises are not being inspected on a regular or timely basis.

The ABC Board has not adopted a policy on frequency of routine inspections needed to assure compliance with licensing regulations, or established a procedure for assuring that all licensed premises receive inspections in a timely manner

We reviewed a random sample of 100 license files which excluded initial inspections and licenses issued in 1978, to determine frequency of routine inspections and found the following:

Time last routine inspection performed		No. of Licenses
a.	within the last 6 months	13
b.	6 months to one year ago	16
c.	one year to two years ago	31
d.	over two years ago	3
e.	never	37
	Total	100

As can be noted above 71% of the licenses in our sample had not been inspected in the last year.

3. The enforcement staff of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board does not follow-up on unacceptable ratings given or discrepancies noted during routine inspections.

Our review of the 100 files noted in 2 above disclosed five which contained unacceptable ratings. There was no evidence of any following action taken on those cases in the files. ABC management indicated the cause to be a lax attitude towards follow-up.

4. One of the primary purposes of ABC's routine inspections is to verify conformance with sanitary requirements also inspected by the Department of Health and Social Services, Division of Public Health - an obvious duplication of effort.

   The Department of Health and Social Services is mandated by AS 18.35.120 with the enforcement of these requirements by means including but not limited to periodic inspections. There is, therefore, no obvious need for this duty to also be performed by the enforcement staff of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

B. Investigations

1. There is insufficient managerial control over documentation of enforcement activity of the ABC Board.

   A review of the license files and enforcement files maintained by the ABC revealed that neither is accurate as to amount or type of investigation activity or maintained in a current manner.

   We attempted to locate and review all Notices of Violation and criminal complaints reported as issued in the October 1977 through July 1978 monthly activity reports, and found the following:

   a. of the 56 Notices of Violations reported as issued only 38 (68%) could be located, and

   b. of the 13 criminal complaints reported as issued only 6 (46%) could be located.

   This lack of control over enforcement documentation has two serious effects. The major effect is limitation of the ABC Board's effectiveness in protecting the public's heath, safety and welfare by assessing penalties against violators of the ABC laws and regulations. The Board cannot adequately accomplish this goal without accurate, timely information on the nature and type of violations occurring on licensed premises. Where penalties for violations increase with number of offenses it becomes important that the information their decisions are based on be accurate.

The secondary effect is the loss to management of an effective measurement tool of the staff's performance level. For performance reports, such as the ABC Board's monthly activity report, to be useful, the information contained in them must be accurate and properly supported.

2. Notices of Violation issued by ABC enforcement staff have limited effectiveness in reducing the number of violations occurring.

   a. Notices of violation are not issued in sufficient quantity to provide a meaningful deterrent to violations. As noted in the previous findings we were only able to verify 38 Notices of Violation being issued in a nine-month period by five full-time enforcement staff members. This is an average of less than one enforcement action per month per individual.

   b. These Notices of Violation which have been issued are not necessarily the result of original investigative work by ABC enforcement staff. Of the 38 Notices of Violation located in our test period, 24 (63%) resulted from copies of arrest reports sent to ABC by local law enforcement agencies. These notices then required a minimum amount of effort on the part of ABC and served only to duplicate the work of the local law enforcement agency.

   c. ABC enforcement staff does not provide adequate follow-up on Notices of Violation. Of the 38 Notices located in our test period only 3 (8%) resulted in further action--two leading to criminal complaints being filed and one leading to a formal letter of accusation. There was no evidence available to indicate any follow-up action being taken on the balance of the cases or any indication that the violations were ever corrected.

   d. Notices of Violation carry no penalty, either singly or based on an accumulation of them.

As may be seen by the findings listed above the Notices of Violation system employed by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board serves only to notify the licensee of a violation and carries no threat of subsequent action by the enforcement staff or by the Board. This system is an ineffective method of enforcement and has only limited effectiveness in deterring violations from occurring.

3. ABC enforcement officers do not have sufficient authority to enforce liquor law violations.

   At present, penalties (suspension or revocation of a license) are only assessed against licensees for violations of liquor laws as a result of convictions for those violations. Thus, the most effective enforcement effort that could be used by the ABC Board would be any effort that led to a conviction. Without minimum police powers, (i.e. powers of arrest, search and seizure authority, right to carry weapons) however, any effort to accumulate sufficient evidence to lead to a criminal conviction is severely hindered.

   The amount of authority of the present enforcement staff has been under debate for several years. ABC regulation 15 AAC 20.060 gave the director and all persons employed by the Board for the administration and enforcement of Title 4 all the powers of peace officers. However, an informal opinion rendered by the Attorney General's office stated that because peace officer status was not specifically given in Title 4, agents of the ABC Board could not be considered peace officers.

   The reaction to this situation by ABC administration has been a verbal directive to enforcement staff to not exercise any police powers on their own, but to coordinate all enforcement efforts with local law enforcement agents. This enforcement approach has obvious practical limitations. Local law enforcement agents cannot accompany ABC agents on all investigative work. Therefore, when ABC agents are working without the assistance of a commissioned police officer and encounter a violation in progress, they are powerless to take immediate action. Any action that might be taken could place the ABC agent in personal danger and the State in a position of liability because of the confusion over this agent's legal authority.

C. Assistance to Licensing Staff

1. ABC enforcement staff spend approximately 15% of their time assisting the licensing staff.

   Included in the description of duties for an ABC Investigator is the duty of assisting the licensing staff by handling inquiries from the general public on regulations, procedures and licensing requirements. Because enforcement staff is required to have specialized training in law enforcement or investigative work, their time should be spent exclusively on those duties, rather than on licensing duties which require a lesser degree of specialization.

In addition to the underutilization of specialized staff, another problem arises from enforcement staff advising licensees on licensing issues. This is the natural reluctance that would develop on the part of the licensee to question an enforcement agent on what might be a violation or problem.

Summary

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board has been ineffective in its mandated responsibility of enforcement of ABC laws and regulations. Routine inspections are not made on a regular or timely basis. When they are performed, the ratings assigned are not based on a uniform, objective set of standards and duplicate, to a large extent, the inspections being performed by the Department of Health and Social Services, Division of Public Health. Additionally, when discrepancies are noted during these inspections, they are seldom followed up.

Investigations leading to Notices of Viclation are ineffective as Notices of Violation carry no penalty or threat of subsequent action by enforcement staff or by the Board. The most effective enforcement effort that could be employed by the staff is that effort which leads to convictions. The enforcement staff has been able to accomplish this goal to a limited extent, but could be much more effective if given sufficient authority. Finally, specially trained enforcement staff should not be used for routine, administrative tasks such as licensing assistance.

To correct these deficiencies, we recommend that the enforcement responsibilities of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board be transferred to the Department of Public Safety. A special ABC investigative unit should be established within that Department with the dual responsibilities of (a) investigations of ABC law violations, and (b) sharing of their specialized knowledge of ABC laws with other law enforcement agents through an organized training program.

There is support for this recommendation by the Commissioner of the Department of Public Safety, Richard L. Burton, ABC enforcement officers, and other law enforcement agents. The Commissioner concurred that ABC enforcement officers should be replaced by state troopers. He also pointed out that because non-commissioned enforcement agents are not employed by a "police agency" they do not have to meet the licensing certification requirement for police officers, yet they act as agents of the State thereby placing the taxpayers of the State in a liability situation.

The responses to our questionnaire to the Alaska law enforcement agencies (Appendix C) supported our finding that ABC enforcement as organized is ineffective, and that there is a need for greater enforcement activity. Several respondents volunteered the suggestion that a transfer of enforcement staff to Public Safety would help accomplish that goal. Transferring the enforcement staff would provide continuing managerial control, proper training and supervision, and insulate the officers from possible Board influence. An organizational change such as this would also logically result in increased cooperation between ABC enforcement agents and other law enforcement agents by equalizing their professional status and clarifying their role in liquor law enforcement.

The alternative to this recommendation, retention of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board enforcement section under the Department of Revenue, should only be considered in conjunction with the following recommendations: (1) ABC enforcement agents should be commissioned as special police officers with full police powers and authority to effectively enforce the alcoholic beverage control laws, and (2) responsibility for routine inspections to fulfill initial license requirements should be transferred to local law enforcement agencies, and (3) all other routine surveillance inspection activities should be curtailed. We believe, however, that this is a weak alternative to our primary recommendation as the effectiveness of the enforcement staff will always be limited while under the control of a non-enforcement oriented management.

Recommendation No. 2

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should be placed under the administrative control of the Department of Commerce and Economic Development, with administrative and licensing responsibilities transferred to the Division of Occupational Licensing.

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board is the only regulatory Board now operating under the administrative control of the Department of Revenue. The support staff for the Board provides three types of services: administrative, licensing and enforcement. The licensing staff of the ABC Board provides the following services: issues and receives application forms; collects license fees; maintains records and files for all licenses; notifies applicants of acceptance or rejection; issues, renews and transfers licenses and permits; and answers general inquiries on licensing procedures.

These services are the same as the services being provided to the 21 regulatory boards under the administrative control of the Department of Commerce and Economic Development by the Division of Occupational Licensing.

If Recommendation No. 1, transfer of enforcement responsibilities to Department of Public Safety, is implemented, the ABC Board will be left with five full-time employees, three licensing staff members and two administrative staff members. The need for two full-time administrative staff members to oversee three licensing staff members at an annual cost to the State of approximately $54,000 is not justified. We therefore recommend transfer of the licensing responsibilities to Department of Commerce and Economic Development, Division of Occupational Licensing and elimination of the two administrative positions.

Recommendation No. 3

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should adopt a regulation delegating authority to the director of the Division of Occupational Licensing for the routine issuance, transfer and renewal of unprotested licenses.

During our review we noted that the majority of issues discussed at ABC Board meetings during our audit period, (January 1, 1974 to June 30, 1978) were the routine issuance, transfer and renewal of unprotested licenses. The Board automatically issues a new license, or a transfer or renewal of an existing license, if it meets the following criteria:

(1) the local governing body does not protest the issuance of the license, and (2) there are not grounds for denial of the license based on state statutes or regulations.

The power of Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, as defined by AS 04.05.040, specifically includes "...providing for the delegation to the director of routine administrative functions and powers, including the issuance, transfer and renewal of licenses and permits where there is no contest or protest".

Effecting this delegation of power would logically produce the following results: (1) The need for fewer meetings. The Board currently meets an average of eleven times per year, but is only mandated to meet four times per year. (2) A reduction in processing time of all uncontested, routine applications, and (3) More economical and efficient use of existing funds and manpower.

The Board is currently revising the alcoholic beverage control regulations and is considering this delegation of authority in that process. We recommend that the regulation be adopted and implemented as soon as possible.

Recommendation No. 4

No two members of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should be engaged in the same business, occupation or profession.

A 1970 amendment to AS 04.05.010 increased ABC Board membership from three to five members and correspondingly increased the number of industry representatives from one to two. That amendment also changed the number of members necessary to comprise a quorum for the conduct of business from two to three. It is evident from these changes that the legislature wished to retain the alcoholic beverage industry representation on the Board in a minority position.

What has occurred, however, is the creation of a situation where just the opposite can occur. When the minimum number of members necessary for a quorum attend a meeting, and two of those three members are engaged in the alcoholic beverage industry, then Board business can be conducted by an industry majority.

A review of 48 meetings held during the period of January 1, 1974 to June 30, 1978 shows that this situation did occur a minimum of 5 times.

There are several alternatives available to correct this situation. One alternative is elimination of industry representation from the Board and allowing for the creation of a non-voting advisory group of industry representatives.

However, although this would be an uncompensated group, the State would be responsible for travel expenses and per diem for more individuals and may be undesirable from a purely economic viewpoint.

A second alternative is a statutory increase in the number of members necessary to constitute a quorum. However, whereas the ABC Board is a voluntary board serving without compensation except for travel and per diem, it would be unreasonable to expect all members to attend all meetings. A review of attendance at the 48 meetings from 1/1/74 to 6/30/78 supports this theory as full Board membership was in attendance for only 16 (33%) of those meetings.

The third alternative to the current situation is to amend AS 04.05.010 so that no two members of the ABC Board have similar interests or background and be in the same business, occupation or profession. This would retain the necessary input from the liquor industry while not affording an opportunity for imbalance in decision-making. This alternative was also supported by the Analysis of Alcohol Problems

Project, Dennis Kelso, Ph.D., Project Director in Working Papers: Descriptive Analysis of the Impact of Alcoholism and Alcohol Abuse in Alaska, 1975.

Recommendation No. 5

Renewals of licenses should be made in a timely manner.

A review of 99 renewals indicated that the average processing time is 70 days, ten days longer than the average processing time for new applications. We were able to determine two major causes of this delay. One is due solely to volume for although the application process for renewal of licenses is almost identical for the application process for new licenses, all alcoholic beverage licenses are renewed at the same time each year, thus causing a large backlog for several months each year.

The second cause for the delay results from conflicting statutory requirements for renewing licenses. AS 04.10.270 requires the Board to transmit written notice of its intent to approve the renewal of a license to the local governing body (city or borough), allowing it 30 days in which to protest its issuance. However, AS 04.10.350 requires the Board to renew licenses automatically if the fee is paid except in the case of conviction of the licensee or protest of a license that is outside a municipality.

ABC licensing staff estimated that of the approximately 1300 licenses renewed in 1978 only 50 were protested by local governing bodies and most, if not all of these protests, were for non-payment of local property taxes. The need for causing the processing delay of all applications to accomplish this tax collection service should be reviewed for its merits. If found to be without merit, AS 04.10.270 should be amended to exclude renewals from the section.

If found to be of merit, however, the following alternative should be considered to reduce processing delays: blanket notification to municipalities or boroughs prior to the renewal period of the ABC Board's intent to renew all liquor licenses in their jurisdiction subject to receipt of application and fees. This would allow the protest period to run concurrent with, rather than subsequent to, the renewal period, thus allowing for automatic renewal unless a protest has been received.

Recommendation No. 6

The requirement for a $2500 cash or surety bond for a beverage dispensary license should be eliminated from AS 04.10.040.

The requirement of a cash or surety bond in the amount of $2500 for beverage dispensary license was established by a 1939 amendment to the Laws of Alaska. At that time beverage dispensary licenses had no economic value and the amount of the bond was established as a penal sum to be forfeited upon revocation of a license.

Since 1939, however, beverage dispensary licenses have gained economic value in areas where the quota for that type of license has been reached. Thus, the revocation of a beverage dispensary license is a financially penalizing action in its own right. Additionally, with the rate of economic growth experienced in Alaska in the last 39 years it is obvious that $2500 no longer has the penal impact it did in 1939.

A review of the ABC Board records disclosed no evidence of the Board requiring forfeiture of the bond in the past five years. The bond requirement does, however, create additional work for the licensing staff and occasional delays in the application process. The need for this cash or surety bond requirement has become obsolete.

Recommendation No. 7

The Office of the Governor should keep appointments of members of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board current and stagger them as required by AS 39.05.060.

During our review of ABC Board appointments during the period of January 1, 1974 to June 30, 1978, we noted the following exception. The ABC Board was allowed to operate without a five-member complement as required by law during the following periods:

1. February 1, 1974 through February 27, 1974: one vacancy for 27 days.

2. March 14, 1974 through March 23, 1975: one vacancy for 336 days, two vacancies for 35 days, three vacancies for 4 days. Total time period: 375 days.

3. November 20, 1976 through January 17, 1977: one vacancy for 59 days.

4. February 1, 1978 through February 8, 1978: three vacancies for 8 days.

As a result of these vacancies, the ABC Board was not in compliance with AS 04.05.010 which created it. Additionally, the ratio of public representation to industry representation established by AS 04.05.010 was upset allowing a possible unfavorable bias to enter into the Board's decision-making process.

Per AS 39.05.060, initial appointments were to be made for one, two, three, four and five years and each vacancy occurring during a term of office is filled in the same manner as the original appointment and is made for the balance of the unexpired term. During our review, however, we noted that there are currently three ABC Board memberw whose terms expire on the same day: January 31, 1981. This is an obvious violation of the intent of AS 39.05.060.

We recommend that the Office of the Governor appoint new members or reappoint current members to vacant ABC Board seats in a timely manner and stagger appointment terms as required by AS 39.05.060.

We further recommend that the Office of the Governor consider establishing a talent pool for Board appointments. The concept of a talent pool is to have a list of persons available and desiring to serve as a Board member. Many sources exist in the State to establish such a pool. Liquor industry associations could be requested to provide a list of members who would like to serve as the industry representative on the Board. Retired citizens offer an excellent pool of potential talent for public member appointments and should be contacted for possible inclusion in the talent pool.

An established talent pool, updated at reasonable intervals, would allow for immediate appointment of Board members when terms expire or a position is vacated.

ANALYSIS OF PUBLIC NEED

Limited Analysis

The following analysis indicated both positive and negative attainments of the ABC Board and how its activities relate to the public need factors defined by AS 44.66.050. This analysis is not intended to be comprehensive in nature. It has been limited by the scope of our review and the constraints placed on this review as mentioned in the scope section of this report.

I. The extent to which the board, commission or program has operated in the public interest.

Public protection gained through licensing to control liquor manufacture and traffic has been adequately provided by the ABC Board. However, the Board is also charged with enforcement of the alcoholic beverage control laws, rules, and regulations and, as previously documented in this report, has not demonstrated any effectiveness in this area. Thus, the Board has not met one of its statutory responsibilities in protecting public health, safety, and welfare (see Recommendation No. 1).

II. The extent to which the operation of the board, commission, or agency program has been impeded or enhanced by existing statutes, procedures, and practices which it has adopted, and any other matter, including budgetary, resource, and personal matters.

The operation of the ABC Board has been impeded by current statutes. The Legislature acknowledged in Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 88 (1978) that the laws in Title 4 are in serious disarray as a result of patchwork amending over several decades. Those laws are currently under review for revision by a joint interim committee of the Legislative Council and by the Alaska Code Revision Commission.

III. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has recommended statutory changes which are generally of benefit to the public interest.

There was no evidence available of any activity on the part of the current ABC Board to recommend statutory changes.

IV. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged interested persons to report to it concerning the effect of its regulations and decisions on the effectiveness of service, economy of service, and availability of service which it has provided.

The ABC Board has met an average of eleven times a year, at least once in each of the four judicial districts. Each meeting has been adequately advertised and open to all interested persons. The staff of the ABC Board is located in both Anchorage and Fairbanks and is available to answer inquiries of the general public during all normal business hours. We believe this has provided an adequate forum for allowing public input on Board regulations and decisions.

V. The extent to which the board, commission, or agency has encouraged public participation in the making of its regulations and decisions.

As noted above, the Board has provided an adequate forum for obtaining public input in general. The Board is currently in the process of rewriting its regulations which have not been revised since 1963. We cannot, therefore, draw any conclusions on the extent of public participation in the process.

VI. The efficiency with which public inquiries or complaints regarding the activities of the board, commission or agency filed with it, with the department to which a board or commission is administratively assigned, or with the office of the ombudsman have been processed and resolved.

The majority of complainants of ABC Board decisions requesting hearings under the Administrative Procedures Act in the past year have dropped their request for those hearings. Delays in holding a hearing under that Act have resulted primarily from delays in appointing hearing officers by the Office of the Governor.

The ABC Board also has the authority to hold its own hearings on protests which it has begun exercising with greater frequency. Hearings held in this manner have been accomplished in a timely manner because of the frequency of regular Board meetings.

VII. The extent to which a board or commission which regulated entry into an occupation or profession has presented qualified applicants to serve the public.

Our review of licensing activity of the ABC Board to determine whether all statutory qualifications of licensees were being met revealed no exceptions. The Board has therefore, presented qualified applicants to serve the public.

VIII. The extent to which state personnel practices, including affirmative action requirements, have been complied with by the board, commission, or agency to its own activities and the area of activity or interest.

No material discrepancies were noted during our review of the ABC Board affirmative action program. Additionally, our survey of current licensees of the ABC Board elicited only one complaint on discriminatory practices of the Board which was found to be without grounds.

IX. The extent to which statutory, regularory, budgeting, or other changes are necessary to enable the agency, board or commission to better serve the interests of the public and to comply with the factors enumerated in this subsection.

Please refer to the previous section, Findings and Recommendations.

STATE OF ALASKA

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER

JAY S. HAMMOND, GOVERNOR

POUCH S – JUNEAU

February 6, 1979

Mr. Gerald Wilkerson
Legislative Auditor
Division of Legislative Audit
Pouch W
Juneau, AK 99811

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

This letter responds to the preliminary report as a result of your sunset review of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board. My response to each finding follows:

Recommendation No. 1

Enforcement responsibilities for the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should be transferred to a special ABC enforcement unit within the Department of Public Safety.

We disagree.

You might find this disagreement ironic in view of the fact that I proposed moving the Alcoholic Beverage Control function to the Department of Public Safety four years ago. When I first became Commissioner I wanted to concentrate the department's efforts in taxation and treasury matters. Accordingly, I proposed transferring the Motor Vehicle Division and the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board to the Department of Public Safety. Although the Legislature accepted our proposal with regard to the Motor Vehicle Division it rejected our proposed transfer of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

Since that time I have come to believe that it is not as important which agency a particular division resides in as it is how it functions. In particular, I believe that if there are problems in the enforcement area, those problems should be dealt with directly rather than with the superficial answer of transferring between agencies. I also think that splitting the division between two agencies would be disastrous and would lead to confusion, lack of communication and direction. All parts of the Alcoholic Beverage Control program must be coordinated and work together.

Again, as I have said, it is far less important which agency is responsible for the program as is the commitment by the particular agency to make the program work. I believe that the Department of Revenue has the commitment to making the ABC program work well and to solve its problems. To solve problems in the enforcement area we have been working on several fronts. First of all we have been seeking additional enforcement staff to increase our enforcement effort and have had some success. We have been working to get our enforcement staff properly trained and have been able to secure investigator training at the State Trooper Academy for several of our enforcement officers. We have also been working on establishing uniform enforcement procedures and regulations. Our first step in that direction was the adoption of a procedures manual, and we are now near completion of a comprehensive set of regulations on all phases of Alcoholic Beverage Control including enforcement related topics. We will continue our efforts in obtaining adequate staffing and training for the staff and uniform rules of conduct which will be followed by the enforcement staff. In particular in our regulation effort we are attempting for the first time to set out in specific terms the rules of substantive conduct for licensees and their licensed premises. When we are finished we hope to have a full explanation as to what conduct is prohibited, what is needed to prove a violation and what penalty will be assessed for a particular violation. With these comprehensive rules our enforcement efforts will be many times more successful. Although the enforcement program still needs improvement I believe it has come a long way in just the last couple of years.

The thrust of this recommendation seems to be aimed at criminal enforcement, which is why I assume you are are most concerned that the enforcement officers carry weapons and have the power of arrest. Criminal enforcement, however, is only one aspect of the total enforcement program. Only a portion of the violations rise to the level of criminal behavior. Most violations are of a civil nature and demand civil action in the form of license suspension, revocation, premises closure, or other monetary penalty. Enforcement officers must be able to deal in the full range of enforcement activities whether civil or criminal. In all areas they should be equipped to put together the necessary evidence and documentation to insure compliance with the law, but you certainly don't need to carry weapons to have a successful enforcement program. If criminal behavior is present the enforcement officers should work closely with the local police and the state troopers as they have in the past. Several criminal complaints have been filed in the past year through the coordinated work of our enforcement officers and police agencies. We should not forget however the important area of civil enforcement and enforcement officers must be trained and motivated in this enforcement area as well.

In summary, I believe that problems in the enforcement area should be dealt with directly through adequate funding, training and uniform procedures, all of which we have been working towards. I do not believe that transferring the enforcement program to a police agency is the answer, and I believe that substantial progress is being made to upgrade our enforcement program.

Recommendation No. 2

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should be placed under the administrative control of the Department of Commerce and Economic Development with administrative and licensing responsibilities transferred to the Division of Occupational Licensing.

We disagree.

As I mentioned in response to Recommendation No. 1, nothing is to be gained from transferring Alcoholic Beverage Control to another agency. I also think it would be especially bad to separate licensing, administration and enforcement because a total coordinated approach is needed for Alcoholic Beverage Control. Enforcement, licensing and administration and Board activity depend upon each other and separation between agencies would make this coordination difficult.

With regard to your recommendation for separating the enforcement functions from the rest of the ABC program, I am particularly puzzled by the statement in the report that the enforcement officers should be insulated from the influence of the board. I do not understand this statement since it is the board which the Legislature has given the authority and policy making power for Alcoholic Beverage Control. They should not only influence enforcement efforts, they should direct enforcement efforts through their enforcement policy decisions. Enforcement officers, as any of the staff, should be accountable to the board for their actions in following or not following board policy.

Recommendation No. 3

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should adopt a regulation delegating authority to the director for the routine issuance, transfer and renewal of unprotested licenses.

We agree. As you mentioned the board is considering a regulation which will do this very thing. We made this suggestion to the board several months ago in our regulation effort and they agreed that it made sense. Just this one change will help to insure that the board is able to conduct its true function as the body which sets basic policy through the adoption of regulations and insures that its policy is being correctly carried out by making the final decision in appeals of actions taken by the staff. This action will streamline the licensing program tremendously.

In making this delegation, however, we want to make sure that there are careful checks and controls to avoid abuses and insure that the board's public policy is being carried out.

Recommendation No. 4

No two members of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should be engaged in the same business, occupation or profession.

We agree.

Recommendation No. 5

Renewals of licenses should be made in a timely manner.

We agree with the statement that renewals should be made in a timely manner. We disagree, however, with your assumptions and your conclusions regarding municipal input during the renewal process. In summary, we believe that there are efficiencies which could be made to shorten the renewal process but we don't think that full and deliberate municipal comment should be sacrificed simply for the sake of efficiency.

First, it should be noted that the notice of renewal requirement to municipalities is not a tax collection service. It provides an annual review by the public and municipal officials at the municipal level of liquor establishments within their boundaries with the right to protest a renewal if the municipality believes it woul not be in the public interest. There are several reasons other than the nonpayment of taxes for a municipality to protest the renewal of a license including the health, safety and general welfare of its citizens.

I believe the public interest of allowing full and deliberate review and input by the public and municipal officials in renewing licenses, far outweighs shortened renewal time.

Recommendation No. 6

The requirement for a $2,500 cash or surety bond for a beverage dispensary license should be eliminated from AS 04.15.090.

We disagree that the penal bond for a beverage dispensary license should be eliminated but believe instead that it should be increased and applied to all other licenses.

Although in some areas of the state the quota of licenses has been reached so that licenses have become valuable in their right, other areas of the state have not reached that point.

In addition, a cash or surety bond provides a form of security to satisfy any claims that the state may have against a licensee. We agree, however, that because of inflation $2,500 may be unrealistically low today. Therefore we believe that it should be raised to $10,000 and perhaps applied to all licensees.

Recommendation No. 7

The Office of the Governor should keep appointments of members of the Alcoholic Beverage Control current and stagger them as required by AS 39.05.060.

We understand that the Governor's Office has already responded to this recommendation and therefore no further comment is necessary.

Sincerely,

Sterling Gallagher
Commissioner

Mr. Gerald Wilkerson, Legislative Auditor
Division of Legislative Audit
Pouch W
Juneau, Alaska 99801

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

This letter is to be in response to your preliminary "Performance Review of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board", dated November 3, 1978. Please also consider my letter of November 13, 1978 as a response as well, where applicable.

I could only agree with the statements concerning routine inspections, as I have no evidence to the contrary. I cannot, as Board Member, conduct the kind of review to determine if such inspections are made except to ask about specific cases.

Your comments about Notices of Violation have been made several times by me at Board meetings. They may have a "limited" utility in getting the attention of a licensee, otherwise they have no teeth. Due process probably dictates that such "Notices" absent a conviction could not be used in a future disciplinary action. However, they could be the basis of whether or not to take action on a license, if they are subsequent to the latest renewal. The same goes for information transmitted by a local police unit. If the local police observes illegal activity it should prosecute and if possible obtain a conviction - not merely forward information to the ABC Board staff.

Yes, enforcement staff should spend their time in enforcement, not assisting the licensing staff. Given the size of the staff and the need often to answer questions quickly, I think 15% is not unreasonable as a factor of time spent by enforcement.

The major deficiency is that the ABC investigator has limited authority. As I understand it, the Department of Revenue does not support the idea that an investigator should have police officer authority, despite my efforts at persuasion. This problem would be cured by transfer to the Department of Public Safety. However, this alone may not be sufficient to take care of the deficiencies you have noted. I am sure that greater manpower is necessary to adequately regulate and police 1,300 establishments. The Department of Public Safety would be foolish to accept this responsibility without making a very strong pitch for more than five personnel. I have said before I am neither enthusiastic of the transfer nor firmly in opposition. Perhaps such a change would be dramatic enough to accomplish a useful purpose, simply because it is a change.

Obviously, an alternative is a bigger and better trained staff with greater authority and better cooperation with local and state police.

Recommendation #2 is really part of #1. The two together raise serious and legitimate questions as to the current administrative structure. The Board is appointed by the Governor with certain powers over regulation of the liquor industry. The staff is hired by the Department of Revenue (including the Director) with no voice from the Board. The Board presumably has some authority over the staff, yet there little real authority, and the Board, because of its part-time status can not really supervise closely.

Yet, historically, control and regulation of liquor was deemed important enough to establish an independent agency with nothing else to do.

Recommendation #3 is now and has been a part of the regulations in the adoption process. These have been needed for several years, as the ones in existence are often poorly written, vague or out of date. This project is one we have been working since I came on the Board two years ago. We did get additional money in the budget to pay for it. This must be the number one priority for the Board. Included in regulations adopted should be the standards you earlier referred to. Regulations can also give the public notice as to what is required for licensure or protest.

The next priority must be a complete re-write of Title 4. Title 4 creates many many problems just in its own interpretation. Piecemeal amendments must stop until this is accomplished. I urged this to a luncheon meeting of the Senate Alcoholism Committee chaired by Senator Colletta in November, 1977. I am delighted the project is underway.

Recommendation #4 is not really that important. See my response of November 13, 1978 for a complete response. This change would have no real impact and is probably going to raise emotions unnecessarily. The text suggests "industry" domination of the Board is possible. I suspect on only a very few issues, if any, has there been an "industry" position.

Recommendation #5 is hard to argue with - but I don't think we ought to remove the notice to the local government, so it can protest. However, we should find a way to speed up renewals. Perhaps by delegating renewals and licenses issuances to the Director we could speed up the process. Also, as in all municipal protests, there should be a clear protest set forth with specific reasons, not necessarily including non-payment of taxes. (As an aside, we should also review the merits of requiring creditors be satisfied prior to transfer.)

Recommendations #6 and #7, are meritorious.

An area of specific concern to me is the so called hotel-motel license exception to the population quota. This section could result in the elimination of the small neighborhood bar.

In summary, the number one priority of the legislature should be a complete and sensible re-write of Title 4, the other suggestions will not be of much use unless that is accomplished. Indeed, if only your suggestions are adopted, the problem of enforcement of ABC laws will be exacerbated, because there will be a feeling the problem is solved. The priority of the Board should be adoption of a comprehensive set of regulations.

Thank you for an opportunity to comment on your report.

Yours truly,

Timothy G. Middleton

SUMMARY OF: A Performance Review of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

PURPOSE OF THE REVIEW

In accordance with the provisions of Alaska Statutes 24.20.271(1) and 44.66.050 (sunset legislation), a review of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board was conducted to determine whether there is a demonstrated need to continue liquor regulation in its present form. To determine that need we reviewed Board activities to see if the Board has been operating in an efficient and effective manner. The major areas reviewed were the Board's program, licensing, enforcement, administration and affirmative action functions.

REPORT CONCLUSION

In our opinion, the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should continue to regulate and license those persons engaged in the liquor industry. Because of the growing body of knowledge on the potential dangers of alcohol and its attendant social and economic costs, we concur that the public need for this type of regulation continues to exist.

However, certain changes need to be implemented for the ABC Board to more effectively execute its mandated responsibilities. Enforcement responsibilities of the Board should be transferred to a special investigative unit within the Department of Public Safety. This transfer would eliminate the deficiencies in the ABC enforcement operation which render it ineffective and would provide continuing managerial control, proper training and supervision, and insulate the enforcement staff from possible Board influence.

The transfer of enforcement responsibilities to the Department of Public Safety would reduce the ABC staff to a size too small to justify maintaining a separate agency. We therefore recommend that the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board be placed under the administrative control of the Department of Commerce and Economic Development.

Administrative and licensing responsibilities of the Board should be transferred to that Department's Division of Occupational Licensing with authority for routine issuances, transfers and renewals of unprotested licenses delegated by the Board to the Director of the Division.

Other possible amendments to Title 4 which would improve the efficiency of the licensing function are: (1) removal of the requirement for public notice to local governing bodies on renewals of liquor licenses in AS 04.10.270 which is used primarily as a tax collection service for unpaid local taxes, and (2) removal of the requirement for the $2,500 surety or cash bond in AS 04.10.040 which has become obsolete since its enactment in 1939.

Liquor industry representation on the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should be limited to one member to eliminate the possibility of an industry majority comprising a quorum of the Board and conducting its business. Appointments of all members of the Board when terms expire or positions are vacated should be made by the Office of the Governor in a timely manner and terms should be properly staggered as required by AS 39.05.060.

In conclusion, the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should analyze and evaluate its purpose and methods and take the necessary actions needed to perform and fulfill its responsibilities to the public.

Sec. 10. Applicant Assistance in Determining Population Criteria

In preparing an application for a license in an area outside an incorporated city or unified municipality, an applicant shall assist in the determination of the population criteria by submitting the following information with their application for a new license or for transfer or relocation of an existing license:

(1) certification of population total of the applicable area provided by an official governing body if such is available;

(2) a United States Geodetic Survey map showing the population circle under consideration within the applicable area required by statute or regulation, with the proposed premises as center of the circle and the radius required extending therefrom;

(3) a narrative of how the estimated population was determined within the applicable circle;

(4) a graphic designation on a map of the location of each presently existing license of a like class within the applicable circle that was counted by the applicant;

(5) if a petition is required, a graphic designation on a map showing a population circle for the applicable area and showing the general area where petition signatures were obtained.

Sec. 20. Applying the Population Criteria

(a) Unless otherwise notified by the incorporated city or unified municipality, the director shall use the annual population figures published by the Department of Community and Regional Affairs in establishing a population figure for purposes of approval of licenses, which figure shall be made a matter of official record. Once a population figure for an area is established, it remains in effect until officially revised by the director. In the event of a change in population in an area, the new population figure would not go into effect for purposes of calculating quotas for the approval of licenses until a formal communication is received by the director from the local governing body verifying the new figure.

(b) The board shall maintain an official record of the total of licensed premises of each class within an established village, incorporated city or unified municipality. The board shall make available upon request its determination whether the statutory population criteria would allow the approval of a license within a class.

(c) In determining whether the population criteria would allow the approval of a license, the board shall count all licenses in the class in the appropriate area, regardless of whether any license was issued under an exception to the population criteria under Title 4 or these regulations.

(d) In determining the population criteria for an area outside an incorporated city, only persons residing within the circle established by statutory designation of a radius and who also reside outside an incorporated city are counted.

(e) Signatures for petitions regarding licensed premises located outside an incorporated city may be obtained from persons residing within the circle established by statutory designation of a radius whether or not such persons reside within or outside of an incorporated city.

(f) For purposes of determining how many signatures are required for a petition, all persons residing within the radius and qualified to sign the petition shall be counted.

(g) Except as set out in Section 30 below, applications for new licenses which are mutually exclusive because of the statutory population criteria shall be considered by the director (1) if received more than 30 days apart, in order of priority determined by the date that a sufficient application is received; (2) if received within 30 days of each other, each application shall be considered on its own merits, and if more applications are tentatively approved than can be granted, then an impartial drawing shall be held to select the application or applications which shall be granted a license; if a tentatively approved application is formally protested, the drawing will be delayed until resolution of the protest.

Sec. 30. Processing Applications For Licenses in a Previously Filled Class

When any class of license has been issued such that the population criteria set out in AS 04.10.210 has been met or exceeded, and the population in the area is then increased or a previously granted license is terminated so that an additional license or licenses in the previously filled class may be granted, the board shall publish a notice to the public of the fact that applications for a new license in the previously filled class will be accepted for a specific limited time, and that the applications will be processed and considered by the board, not on a first-come/first-serve basis, but as a group, and the board shall process and consider in the manner set out in the public notice all applications properly and timely submitted.

Sec. 40. Local Control

(a) Under Title 4 there are four statutory schemes for granting local control over the distribution of alcoholic beverages within a community. These four schemes are:

(1) Local option elections by incorporated cities under AS 04.10.430(a), with special provisions for some incorporated cities under 430(d);

(2) Local protest and election by established villages and their immediate environs under AS 04.10.300(b);

(3) Approval of a community liquor license to a qualified first or second class city under AS 04.10.139 and 430(c);

(4) passage by a city of local ordinances under AS 04.15.0.0.

A city which elects a local option status under (1) may also utilize (4) to make the sale of alcoholic beverages a misdemeanor. A city which qualifies under both (1) and (3) may utilize both these schemes.

(b) A license for a premises within a city, or within an established village or two miles of the boundaries of the village, when in a local election the city or village voted against the issuance of licenses or sale of alcoholic beverages, remains in effect only until midnight of December 31 of the year for which the license is issued.

(c) A license for a premises outside of but within five miles of the boundaries of a city which has voted against the sale of alcoholic beverages continues in effect, and may be considered for renewal by the board; however, the board may not issue a new beverage dispensary or retail license within this five-mile area.

Sec. 50. Community Prohibitions on Alcoholic Beverages

(a) The barter, sale, possession for sale or trafficking in alcoholic beverages is prohibited:

(1) within the boundaries of an established village or within the area two miles from the boundary of such village when a majority of the voters have voted against the issuance of liquor licenses in this area under the provisions of AS 04.10.300(b);

(2) within the boundaries of an incorporated city when a majority of the voters have voted against the sale of alcoholic beverages in this area under the provisions of AS 04.10.430(a);

(3) within the boundaries of an incorporated city which qualifies as a "dry" community under the provisions of AS 04.10.430(d).

(b) Section (a) above does not apply to licensees within the area affected by a local election during the period following the election and prior to the expiration of their valid license, to employees of a city which has a community liquor license when in the scope of their employment relating to the license, nor to premises specifically excepted under AS 04.10.430(c).

(c) The board shall maintain an official record available to all licensees and the public of the established villages and incorporated cities within which the barter, sale, possession for sale, or trafficking in alcoholic beverages is prohibited as provided in (a) above.

Sec. 60. Third Party Purchases for Consideration

(a) It is prohibited for any person for consideration charged for the act of making the purchase rather than for the cost of the product, to purchase or solicit the sale of alcoholic beverages on behalf of a consumer.

(b) It is prohibited for any person other than a licensee or a licensed common carrier to transport or to store during transport of alcoholic beverages for consideration.

Sec. 70. Written Orders for Alcoholic Beverages

(a) To comply with statutory requirements, a retail licensee may sell alcoholic beverages in response to a written order only as follows. The order must be in writing from a legally qualified purchaser. The order must be accompanied by the equivalent of cash from the person making the written order. The order must be (1) filled, boxed, addressed and shipped by the licensee to the purchaser and must be shipped by licensed common carrier to the purchaser; or (2) immediately delivered on the licensed premises to an individual specifically authorized by name by the purchaser in the written order to receive the purchase and to deliver it to the purchaser.

(b) In a mail order sale made in response to a written order as in (a) above, title to the alcoholic beverages passes to the purchaser at the time the alcoholic beverages are packed and identified to the purchaser, and these actions are sufficient to constitute a sale on the premises under AS 45.05.126 and Title 4.

(c) No telephone orders may be filled or mailed from any premises unless paid for on the licensed premises prior to delivery.

Sec. 80. Security Interests

(a) Licensees and secured parties must file with the board all instruments creating, or purporting to create, security interests in licenses.

(b) Insofar as security interests may be created in liquor licenses, such interests are subject to the requirement that the board approve the transfer of any license or interest therein upon application by the transferor, who may be the licensee or the secured party, and the transferee, who may be the secured party or a third party, respectively.

(c) Any secured party who deprives a licensee of a license shall immediately surrender the license to the board.

(d) Any licensee who loses his license to a secured creditor must close the licensed premises.

(e) Any secured party who shall force the involuntary transfer of an existing license shall bear the responsibility for the satisfaction of creditors as provided by statute.

(f) A secured party who legally deprives a licensee of a license pursuant to a security interest does not acquire any right, title or interest in the license or the conduct of business upon the licensed premises, except the right to apply to the board for approval of transfer of the license.

(g) Upon approval granted by the director, a secured party legally in possession of a license may make application for the transfer of ownership without the approval or signature of the licensee.

(h) A secured party who legally deprives a licensee of a license and the licensed premises may be given approval for the interim conduct of business upon the licensed premises for a reasonable time, upon terms and conditions approved by the board, pending tranfer of the license.

(i) Unless a license itself is mentioned as a security interest, foreclosure by a secured party of the licensed premises does not affect the licensee's interest in his license.

(j) A secured party should not be named on a licensed merely to protect a security interest. However, any secured party who is involved in the operation, management or profits of a business must be named on the license as a licensee.

Sec. 90. Destraint for the Payment of Taxes

State and federal taxing authorities with the power of destraint of licenses for the payment of taxes shall exercise that authority in accordance with the provisions of these regulations governing security interests.

Sec. 100. Hours on Election Day

M. on the day designated as an election day under the statute and shall remain closed until 8:00 P. M. that night. After all polls have closed at 8:00 P. M., licensed premises may open. Hotels, motels, restaurants and roadhouses may be open on election day for business purposes other than selling alcoholic beverages and which are not in violation with the statute.

(b) In unorganized areas of the state, the provisions of (a) above shall apply to all state and local elections, whether a candidate is running for public office or otherwise.

Sec. 130. Zoning Restrictions

(a) Each local government entity shall inform the board of any zoning regulations or ordinances which prohibit the sale or consumption of intoxicating liquors within their jurisdiction.

(b) When a municipality denies a license due to zoning regulations or ordinances, the applicant's recourse is to request the entity to reconsider its refusal to grant a zoning exception or other relief from the restriction, prior to the matter coming before the director for a final decision.

Sec. 150. Bottle Clubs

No person may maintain, operate or lease any room for the purpose of providing therein, for a consideration, a place for the consuming of alcholic beverages by members of the public or of a club, corporation or association unless the person is a licensee or permit holder under Title 4 or these regulations. As used herein, consideration includes cover charge, the sale of food, ice, mixers or other liquid or non-liquid accessories used with alcoholic beverage drinks, or the furnishing of glassware or other containers for use in the consumption of alcoholic beverage drinks.

Purpose

In accordance with the intent of Alaska Statutes 24.20.271(1) and 44.66.050 (sunset legislation), a review of the Board of Chiropractic Examiners was conducted to review Board activities and accomplishments to determine if the Board has been operating in an effective, efficient and economical manner.

As required by legislative intent, this report shall be considered during the legislative oversight function in determining whether the Board of Chiropractic Examiners should be reestablished. The law currently specifies that this Board will terminate on June 30, 1979 but will continue until June 30, 1980 for the purpose of concluding its affairs.

Scope

The major areas reviewed were the Board's operations and its licensing, examination, administration, complaint and affirmative action functions. Our review consisted of analyzing and evaluating the following:

(1) Applicable statutes and Board regulations;

(2) Interviews with Board members;

(3) Questionnaires to Board members and licensed members of the profession and analysis of responses;

(4) Discussions with the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) employees;

(5) Tests of records and documents of the Board and the Division of Occupational Licensing, Department of Commerce and Economic Development;

(6) Complaints filed with OL, Ombudsman's Office, Consumer Affairs Agency, Equal Employment Opportunity Office and the Office of the Governor;

(7) Discussions with the Federation of Chiropractic Licensing Boards, National Board of Chiropractic Examiners and the Council on Chiropractic Education;

(8) Review of other states' licensing requirements; and

(9) Discussions and meetings with various licensed chiropractors.

Scope Constraints

This review was conducted with the following restrictions:

(1) The Board has not established and reported financial and program plans as required by AS 37.07.050;

(2) The Board has not developed and reported performance information regarding its effectiveness and accomplishments as required by AS 37.07.090;

(3) The Division of Occupational Licensing has not adequately collected, recorded or maintained the necessary files and statistics regarding the Board to effectively and efficiently carry out their administrative responsibilities; and

(4) Board meeting minutes were not adequately prepared to be relied upon as being representations of Board actions.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTION

Created in 1939, the Alaska Board of Chiropractic Examiners is a regulatory board comprised of five members - three chiropractors and two public individuals - appointed by the Governor.

The underlying reasons for this Board are fourfold. First, the Board is responsible for reviewing the applications of individuals desiring to enter the chiropractic profession in Alaska. Secondly, the Board has the responsibility of administering an examination to test the applicant's ability. Third, the Board is responsible for the adoption of regulations regarding the standards of professional practice in Alaska and fourth, to investigate and act upon complaints filed against members of the regulated profession.

The Board of Chiropractic Examiners determines and controls the quality of chiropractic care in Alaska by:

1. Determining and implementing statutory and regulatory definitions of chiropractic care;

2. examining applicants and issuing licenses to qualified candidates for licensure; and

3. having the authority - within statutory boundaries - to hold hearings for the consideration of revoking or suspending the license of a person violating the chiropractic statutes or regulations.

To assist the Board, it has the staff support of OL in the Department of Commerce and Economic Development which is comprised of two sections. The licensing section, which processes applications, maintains license files, gathers and collects statistics and answers inquiries, provides administrative help to the Board. The other section provides investigative services to the Board in the event of consumer or other professional complaints.

To practice chiropractic in Alaska, the applicant must first receive licensure from the Board. Licensure may be made by one, or more, of three means.

One method of licensure is by tempory permit. The Board may, in its determination, issue a permit to an apparently qualified applicant to practice chiropractic only until the next examination at which time the permit is terminated and the applicant sits for the Board exam.

The second catagory of licensure is the Associate License. This license is issued when all licensing requirements, inclusive of passing the State examination, have been met with the exception of completing two years liberal arts or science studies. This license is valid for three years during which time the associate license holder must satisfy the two years undergraduate studies requirement. Associate license holders must be a contracted employee of a fully licensed chiropractor during this period.

The third license issued by the Board is full licensure. This is issued to the applicant who has successfully passed the State examination and has met all licensing and educational requirements.

Applicants for Alaskan licensure must first pass a nationally administered examination. After the required national test has been completed, the applicant takes a State written and clinical examination. The State written examination tests the applicant in areas tested previously at the national level and the clinical examination tests the applicant in the areas of X-ray identification and interpretation, and places the examinee in a case situtation where testing of adjustive techniques are made.

All applicants, except those issued temporary permits, must first pass the State examination prior to practicing chiropractic in Alaska.

REPORT CONCLUSIONS

Policy Issues

This review contains policy issues raised as a result of our evaluation of Board practices. The final policy decisions affecting these practices are not within the scope of this review but requires legislative consideration. In debating these decisions, the legislative oversight committees should take into consideration the findings and alternatives presented in this report so that the potential impact of policy changes can be evaluated.

Report Conclusions

Based upon our review, we recommend the Board of Chiropractic Examiners be reestablished, as the practice of chiropractic in Alaska affects the public's health, safety and welfare and should be subject to control and regulation. It is a matter of public interest - and concern - that the chiropractic profession receive the confidence of the public through a fair and representative regulating authority - the Board of Chiropractic Examiners. We believe that when regulation of professions is necessary to protect consumers, as is chiropractic, government involvement should be minimized. However, evidence of abuses by regulatory boards should be considered in determining whether government supervision is desirable.

Changes need to be made in the Board of Chiropractic Examiners operations to make the Board more effective in the protection of the public.

Current Board licensure policies and actions are restricting the entry of qualified Doctors of Chiropractic in Alaska, which is detrimental to the public's best interest. For example, the Board requires applicants for Alaskan licensure to first pass a nationally administered written examination. The applicant is then tested at the State level with another written and a clinical examination. The State written examination, which is subjective, tests the applicant on areas previously examined at the national level (see Recommendation No. 1).

The Board has no reciprocity or endorsement agreements with other states. Qualified Doctors of Chiropractic from outside Alaska with years of experience may avoid Alaska because of the Board's nonrecognition of licenses from other jurisdictions (see Recommendation No. 3). Using calendar year 1977 figures, the State of Alaska has a chiropractor: resident ratio of 1:10,436 compared to a national average of 1:7,138 (see Appendix D). Current Board licensing policies may be a contributing factor to this disparity between Alaska and national averages.

Actions of the Board (in some cases lack of action) and actions of some individual Board members do not truly represent the public's best interest. For example, there are no formal grading procedures which the Board should follow when reviewing an examination. This results in an apparent flexible grading policy which provides for dissension amongst the professional Board members (see Recommendation No. 4). The Board also permits the two divergent theories of chiropractic application to affect its responsibilities in governing the profession in Alaska (see Recommendation No. 6).

The Board has given almost no guidance concerning license violations. The public, as well as the chiropractic profession, would be better protected from unscrupulous activities if regulations concerning license violations were better defined by the Board.

The Board needs to evaluate present statutes and regulations for relevancy, legality and protection of the public. For instance, associate licensee contract requirements appear to permit unnecessary control over associates through possibly unenforceable contract provisions (see Recommendation No. 2). Chiropractic license violation statutes restrict advertising which is unconstitutional as established by the United States Supreme Court (see Recommendation No. 9). There are no statutes requiring continuing education for chiropractors. Post-graduate educational requirements help prevent professional obsolescence and would provide an effective control over the quality of chiropractic in the State (see Recommedation No. 7).

In conclusion, the Board of Chiropractic Examiners should analyze and evaluate the purpose of the Board from the point of view that regulation should not unreasonably restrict the entrance of all qualified persons into the profession. The Board should take the necessary actions needed to perform and fulfill their responsibilities to the public.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The following Findings and Recommendations are addressed to the Board of Chiropractic Examiners and should be read in conjunction with "A Performance Review of the Division of Occupational Licensing, Department of Commerce and Economic Development, October 30, 1978" issued under separate cover.

Recommendation No. 1

The Board of Chiropractic Examiners should eliminate Part I (written) of the State examination.

The Alaska State Board of Chiropractic Examiners has recognized the National Board examination by adopting through proposed regulation "persons applying for a chiropractic license by examination in the State of Alaska, graduating after January 1, 1978, are required to submit a Diplomate Certificate from the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners". The Diplomate Certificate is certification that the applicant has taken Parts I and II of the National Board and indicates the areas tested and examination results. The following areas of chiropractic are tested at the National level: anatomy, physiology, chemistry, bacteriology, hygiene, diagnosis, gynecology, x-ray, geriatrics, principles of chiropractic, jurisprudence and ethics, pathology and physiotherapy and the examination questions are objective in nature.

In addition to the requirement that the applicant provide the Board with the Diplomate Certificate, the State Board administers a State examination which basically consists of three parts. Part I, is a written examination consisting mostly of subjective type questions. Part II, involves X-ray identification and interpretation and Part III, consists of practical application of chiropractic technique. While Parts II and III of the State examination involve physical application of the applicants knowledge through oral testing and actual adjustive techniques in case situations, the merits of the written examination (Part I) are questionable.

The State written examination, Part I, tests the applicant on topics previously examined at the National Board level, such areas as anatomy, physiology, physiotherapy, chiropractic, diagnosis and x-ray. Also, in a 1971 opinion, the Attorney General has stated that "the Board of Chiropractic Examiners has the authority to require an applicant to demonstrate competence only in those subjects not covered by the National Board".

Therefore, considering the redundancy of the State written examination over the National Board, the Attorney General's opinion on the topic and the State requirement of the applicant to take the National Board, we recommend the discontinuance of the State written examination.

Recommendation No. 2

The Board of Chiropractic Examiners should take an active role in complying with the Administrative Regulations governing associate licensees' employment contracts.

Under 12 AAC 16.210(2) of the Alaska Administrative Code (AAC), the associate must "execute a contract with a supervising chiropractor which provides for a definite salary and not fee splitting..." and 12 AAC 16.210(3)(b) states "The board will deny the practice of an associate if in the opinion of the board the contract permits unfair advantage to be taken of the associate".

Several Doctors of Chiropractic were licensed under the associate provisions and accordingly executed employment contracts with various established, fully licensed chiropractors.

From documentation available, these employment contracts have certain provisions which clearly do not serve the public's best interest and are unfair to the associate chiropractor.

The contracts we examined included the following terms:

(1) The contract prohibits the associate from establishing a practice in a wide radius of the employing chiropractor (25-30 miles) within two years after the associate ceases employment under the contract;

(2) the contract provides for substantial payments to the previously employing chiropractor if a practice is established within two years in the restricted area; and

(3) the contract establishes a compensation schedule based upon monthly cash receipts.

In the opinion of the Legislative Affairs Agency, Division of Legal Services, certain legal problems exist with these type contracts and that courts may decline to enforce such an agreement. The payments required for establishing a practice within a specific area and during a specified period are oppressive and punitive and "courts routinely refuse to enforce contracts calling for punitive damages".

The opinion further states that compensation schedules based upon a percentage of monthly gross receipts appears to be fee-splitting and the monthly salary of an associate under such an agreement is not definite but ascertainable only after monthly cash receipts are known. This is in violation of 12 AAC 16.210(2).

We recommend the Board of Chiropractic Examiners exercise its responsibilities under 12 AAC 16.210(3)(b) and review the associate contracts in light of the facts stated above and promulgate regulations setting out what may or may not be in the contracts of associates.

Recommendation No. 3

The encouragement of additional chiropractic services in Alaska should be made through more flexible licensing policies by introducing legislation to repeal certain statutes.

Data compiled from the United States Department of Commerce for 1977 and the Directory published by the Federation of Chiropractic Licensing Boards reveal a shortage of chiropractors in Alaska exists. These figures show a chiropractor: resident ratio of 1:10,436 while the national average is 1:7,138 (see Appendix D).

Licensing policies of the Board should be to get the much needed health services to the pubic and at the same time maintain the high standards and quality of the profession.

To meet the need of chiropractic services in Alaska - and yet maintain these standards of quality - the Board should implement changes in its licensing policies to permit the full licensure of experienced, licensed Doctors of Chiropractic (D.C.), from other licensing jurisdictions. It is recommended this type of licensure be made, regardless of whether the currently licensed and experienced D.C. has met the preprofessional academic requirements as experience far outweighs the completion of liberal arts or science studies. The full licensure should also be made on the basis of individual ability and experience, not on the consideration of does the other licensing jurisdiction afford the same to Alaska.

Seventy percent (70%) of the respondents to our questionnaire felt that chiropractors should be licensed on a reciprocity basis (see Appendix B). In addition, 67% and 54% believed the issuance of temporary permits and associate licenses, respectively, were in the public's best interest (see Appendix B).

Most of the states shown on Appendix D have more flexible licensing policies than Alaska and accordingly have a better chiropractor to resident ratio than does Alaska. Most of these states permit the National Board examinations to be used in lieu of a state written and have a more liberal "reciprocal" licensing arrangement than Alaska.

To encourage additional chiropractic services in Alaska, we recommend the introduction of legislation to repeal the portions of AS 08.20.140 that prevents reciprocity type licensure.

Recommendation No. 4

The Board of Chiropractic Examiners should establish examination guidelines, examination grading procedures and examination controls.

Presently, there are no formal examination procedures to control the examination process. The Board should adopt written procedures as to how the examination is to be administered and outlining the grading process.

From information available and discussions with various D.C.'s, we were informed that without grading procedures and adherence to specific examination answers, the Board was able to exercise considerable flexibility in the grading of exams. In one case the Board, after considerable delay and non-agreement amongst themselves in the grading, failed an examinee by 1%. It is also alleged that some members of the Board, for personal and interprofessional political reasons could not objectively grade the examination. As a result, the examinee, a licensed chiropractor from another jurisdiction, left Alaska to practice in another state.

Also, allegations were made regarding distribution of the State written examination prior to the testing date to at least one applicant for licensure by examination. These allegations were forwarded to the Department of Law for their review.

Recommendation No. 5

The Board of Chiropractic Examiners should adhere to the Administrative Procedures Act when license violations and suspension are being considered.

Title 44 Chapter 62 of the Alaska Statutes, known as the Administrative Procedures Act, applies to most agencies, boards and commissions of the State. In particular, AS 44.62.330-630 ("Administrative Adjudication") applies to the Board of Chiropractic Examiners. This section of the Act provides the guidelines which the Board must follow in the process of considering the "revoking, suspending, limiting or conditioning" of a license.

From documentation available it is alleged that the Board President took it upon himself to temporarily suspend an assoicate license. Also, the Board terminated a temporary permit of an applicant who was waiting to take the State examination. Temporary permits are valid only until the next examination subsequent to the issuance of the permit. However, it appears that due to the loss of an examination application by the Board on two separate occassions, the permit holder was not allowed to take the examination. As a result of this the temporary permit was terminated. Since, from all appearances, the Board was responsible for the loss of the application that nullified the applicants right to examination, the temporary permit should have remained valid until the next examination.

Also, in each of these examples, Board meeting minutes do not show a formal decision which justified these actions.

Recommendation No. 6

The Board of Chiropractic Examiners should restructure the membership of the Board.

The basic purpose of the Board is the regulation of chiropractic to serve the public's best interest in the licensing of chiropractors.

The science of chiropractic is composed of two schools of thought, the "mixers" and "straights". The current Board is composed of a majority of one "school of thought" which results in inadequate representation of both chiropractic theories on the Board.

Therefore, we recommend the introduction of legislation to repeal the current statutory Board make-up. Accordingly, we recommend a Board of seven individuals; four chiropractors and three lay members. A majority of the professional members should not be graduated from the same chiropractic college and Southeastern, Interior and South Central Alaska representation - at a minimum - should be on the Board.

In addition, Board meeting minutes do not indicate a re-election of Board officers as required by AS 08.20.040.

Recommendation No. 7

Legislation should be introduced requiring continuing education for Chiropractors as a provision for license renewal.

The underlying purpose of continuing education is to permit professional education on a post-graduate level and allow for the maintenance and upgrading of professional competency.

According to the most recent figures provided by the Federation of Chiropractic Licensing Board's, thirty-nine states require some form of continuing education for license renewal. In December of 1977 the Alaska Chiropractic Society notified the Board of Chiropractic Examiners of its unanimous endorsement of a requirement of continuing education for license renewal. Of more significance, 94% of the respondents to the questionnaire were in favor of such a requirement and 78% knew of workshops or seminars that may qualify as continuing education that were in the respondents locality (see Appendix B).

From information available, it appears the Board expressed interest in a continuing education requirement in early 1977. We recommend that this worthwhile interest be regenerated towards implementing a sound post-graduate education requirement tied to the biennial license renewal. Accordingly, regulations should be promulgated for the administration of such a program by the Board.

Recommendation No. 8

The Board of Chiropractic Examiners should adopt a Code of Ethics binding upon the members of the profession in Alaska.

12 AAC 16.010(b) states that the board will adhere to the Code of Ethics of either the American Chiropractic Association or the International Chiropractic Association as a basis for determining what comprises the duties and obligations of the chiropractor to the public. This appears not to be a binding Code of Ethics for practitioners in Alaska, but rather an either/or situation should a violation of professional responsibility occur.

In the opinion of the Legislative Affairs Agency, Divison of Legal Services, it is arguable that both codes represent not a binding Code of Ethics for practitioners in Alaska but rather general norms against which individual conduct will be measured. In such a situation, an accusation against a chiropractor will succeed only if it is based on conduct not meeting the rules in either Code of Ethics.

Therefore, we recommend the Board of Chiropractic Examiners develop and adopt a binding single Code of Ethics surrounding the definition of Chiropractic in AS 08.20.220.

Recommendation No. 9

We recommend the Board of Chiropractic Examiners review its regulations on advertising and eliminate, by legislation, unconstitutional prohibitions.

The United States Supreme Court ruling on John Bates and Van O'Steen V. State Bar of Arizona established that many advertising restrictions of professionals were unconstitutional.

The Alaska Administrative Code (12 AAC 16.240) provides definitions of unprofessional conduct, most of which center around the advertising by a chiropractor.

In an Attorney General's opinion addressed to the Commissioner of the Department of Commerce and Economic Development on March 15, 1978, it was stated:

> "In order to avoid future litigation...it is suggested that the commissioner request the various licensing boards to undertake, in conjunction with this department, a review of all price advertising restrictions pertaining to both products and services for the purpose of recommending appropriate legislative or regulatory amendments as soon as possible."

Recommendation No. 10

The Board of Chiropractic Examiners should establish formal goals, objectives and quantifiable measures which should be included in the OL's budget document.

Objectives describe what an agency or Board is seeking to accomplish during a specific year. Well formulated objectives are capable of measurement and should include numerical targets so that actual accomplishements can be compared with stated targets. Without goals and objectives, the Board's performance cannot be adequately evaluated and analyzed.

OL establishes its own budget goals and objectives. The budget documents do not include any goals or measures for individual boards. Without the Board's goals and measures being identified or measured, both the Governor's Office and the Legislature cannot evaluate the Board's performance (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

ANALYSIS OF PUBLIC NEED

Limited Analysis

The following analyses indicate both positive and negative attainments as Board activities relate to the public need factors defined by "Sunset" law. These analyses are not intended to be comprehensive but address those areas covered in the scope of our review.

I. The extent to which the board, commission or program has operated in the public interest.

1. The Board of Chiropractic Examiners has not developed regulations or formal procedures for the grading of examinations (see Recommendation No. 4).

2. The Board did not comply with the Administrative Procedures Act when suspending an associate's license (see Recommemdation No. 5).

3. The per capita ratio of chiropractors to population in Alaska is 1:10,436 versus a national ratio of 1:7,138 indicating a shortage of chiropractic services (see Appendix D).

4. The Board has inadequate controls over the written examination. In addition, the written examination requirement is redundant of required National Board examinations, resulting in two testings of Alaskan applicants (see Recommendations No. 1 and No. 4).

5. The Board should do more to assure that "not to compete provisions" in associate employee employment contracts are not unduly restrictive (see Recommendation No. 2).

6. There are no stated Board objectives relating to the public's best interest either by statute or in the budget documents (see Recommendation No. 10 and see the OL Performance Audit Report).

II. The extent to which the operation of the board, commission, or agency program has been impeded or enhanced by existing statutes, procedures, and any other matter, including budgetary, resource, and personnel matters.

1. The Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) has not provided updated records, files and statistics for Board use (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. Current statutory Board make-up permits inter-professional opinion differences to effect Board operations (see Recommendations 4 and 6).

III. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has recommended statutory changes which are generally of benefit to the public interest.

1. The Board has proposed regulations in an attempt to standardize professional education requirement.

2. The Board has not adopted reciprocity or continuing education amendments to its enabling legislation.

IV. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged interested persons to report to it concerning the effect of its regulation and decisions on the effectiveness of service, economy of service, and availability of service which it has provided.

1. No documentation was available to us to determine the extent of the Board's solicitation of interested party input to its regulatory effects.

V. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged public participation in the making of its regulations and decisions.

1. By statute the Board is to publish notices of its meetings and examinations to encourage public participation. The Board holds its meetings on the same date of examinations so there are no individual public notices relating to examinations and meetings. We found the following adverstisements were published during the last two and one-half years.

Number of Meetings and Examinations	7
Number of Advertisements	19
Average Advertisements per Newspaper	1

The average per newspaper publication of meeting and examination notices is based upon the use of four papers, one in Ketchikan, Fairbanks, Juneau and Anchorage. The breakdown of meetings, and notices, is as follows:

Meeting of	Newspapers Used
11/75	1
01/76	2
06/76	4
01/77	4
07/77	4

For the June 1978 examination, notice was published in one paper specifying the examination application deadline was May 10, 1978. The one time notice was published May 10, 1978 (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. Meetings minutes for the past two and one-half years indicate no public participation or attendance.

VI. The efficiency with which public inquiries or complaints regarding the activities of the board, commission or agency filed with it, with the department to which a board or commission is administratively assigned, or with the office of the ombudsman have been processed and resolved.

1. According to the Department of Commerce and Economic Development records, five complaints have been filed with the Department and/or the Board. Of the five complaints, only two were considered as closed files at August 29, 1978. The remaining three complaints (2 filed April 1977 and 1 filed December 1977) remained open as of August 29, 1978 (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

VII. The extent to which a board or commission which regulates entry into an occupation or profession has presented qualified applicants to serve the public.

1. A low number of complaints are on file with Occupational Licensing against chiropractic practitioners for a total of six over the past three years.

2. However, allegations and statements by practitioners - some of which are under review - cast a doubt over the present methods used in determining an applicants qualifications. Some of these are:

   a. Use of a State written examination redundant of required National Board exams (see Recommendation No. 1).

b. Unwritten examination grading procedures used by the Board (see Recommendation No. 4).

c. The use of questionable employment contracts, previously unscrutinized by the Board, containing restrictive not-to-compete provisions (see Recommendation No. 2).

VIII. The extent to which state personnel practices, including affirmative action requirements, have been complied with by the board, commission or agency to its own activities and the area of activity or interest.

1. Overall, the Board has not engaged in discriminatory practices. However, Chiropractic examination applications require unnecessary information such as age, date of birth, place of birth, original surname (if changed) and a picture of the applicant. These application requirements - if not justifiable by the Board - may be in violation of Equal Employment Opportunity requirements (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

IX. The extent to which statutory, regulatory, budgeting or other changes are necessary to enable the agency, board or commission to better serve the interests of the public and to comply with the factors enumerated in this subsection.

Please refer to the previous section - Findings and Recommendations - for detail on recommended changes to enable the Board to better serve the public interest.

Most of the Boards revenue is generated from license issuance and renewal. These revenues are collected once every two years, which causes revenues to be greater in one year than revenues of the next year. Therefore, we calculated and reported an average of the revenues collected in fiscal years 1977 and 1978 to obtain an accurate representation of Board revenues.

Expenditures included those made by Board members, such as travel and per diem, and an allocated percentage (estimated) of total administrative expenses of OL. They do not include expenditures for efforts of other departments, such as the Department of Law, that may be assisting the Board and OL.

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

We have reviewed your preliminary reports as shown below:

1. Board of Examiners in Optometry
2. Board of Dispensing Opticians
3. Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners
4. Board of Chiropractic Examiners
5. Alaska State Medical Board
6. Board of Veterinary Examiners
7. State Physical Therapy Board
8. Board of Pharmacy
9. Board of Nursing
10. Board of Nursing Home Administrators
11. Board of Dental Examiners
12. Alaska Transportation Commission

We view these reviews of agency programs and activities which are specifically subject to termination in a manner different from those made of State departments or agencies. Usually we in the Executive Branch endeavor to respond directly to each finding and recommendation. However, in regard to the Boards and Commissions, the Executive Branch agency during a public hearing shall demonstrate a public need for its continued existence or the discontinuation of the program, and the extent to which any change in the manner of exercise of its functions or activities may increase efficiency of administration or operation consistent with the public interest.

The Executive Branch of Alaska Government has made an extensive study of the above Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission. We are continuing to study those entities, their origin, their present and future potential, and other related subjects in conjunction with Alaska statutes 24 and 44 (Sunset Legislation). As prescribed in AS 44.66.050 one or more legislative hearings are to be held to receive testimony from the public, the Commissioner of the department having administrative responsibility for each, and the members of the Boards or Commission involved. During those hearings we will present our findings and recommendations affecting each of the foregoing Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission.

Accordingly, we are presenting this in addition to the responses from the Department of Commerce, Department of Law, and the individual Board or Commission members and others on an interim basis.

Sincerely,

Michael Harper

LEGISLATIVE AUDIT

Gerald L. Wilkerson, CPA
Legislative Auditor
Division of Legislative Audit

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

The following comments are in response to the performance review of the Board of Chiropractic Examiners as submitted by the Division of Legislative Audit.

Recommendation No. 1. Agreed. Discussions will be held with the board concerning this recommendation as AS 08.20.130 mandates board authority in this area.

Recommendation No. 2. We agree. The division has referred this particular problem to the Attorney General's office for a legal opinion. It will also be discussed at the next meeting of the board scheduled for January 6, 1979.

Recommendation No. 3. Agree. However, statute changes would have to be considered for applicant qualifications and licensure of out-of-State individuals. AS 08.20.140 clearly addresses license by reciprocity rather than by endorsement. We believe either method of licensure is acceptable, but would favor licensure by endorsement over licensure by reciprocity.

Recommendation No. 4. Agreed. Regulations adopted by the board in 1971 will be updated to reflect these recommendations. Discussions will be held with the board on January 6, 1979 concerning revision of regulations.

Recommendation No. 5 Agreed. The board president temporarily suspended an associate license under interpretation of 12 AAC 16.210(c).

The board president was notified to adhere to the Administrative Procedures Act and that the actions would have to be taken by the full board.

It should be noted the board realized a possible error in the loss of an application and, in fact, held a special examination in August 1978 for the benefit of this candidate.

Recommendation No. 6. I do not recommend increased board membership. Five members is sufficient to conduct board duties in a fair and impartial manner. Discussions will be held with the board on January 6, 1979 concerning the composition of the board.

Recommendation No. 7. We agree that continuing education is desirable and needed as a condition for relicensure, however, quality control of education programs would be established. Again, discussions will be held with the board concerning legislation in this area.

Recommendation No. 8. Agreed. A single code of ethics should be agreed upon by the full board.

Recommendation No. 9. Agreed. The division is addressing this matter for all boards through introduction of legislation to eliminate unconstitutional restrictions on advertising.

Recommendation No. 10. Agreed. This board as well as all boards, will be contacted in March or April 1979 for input into the division's budget for FY '81. This input will address the boards goals, objectives, and financial needs.

I appreciate the time and efforts expended by your staff.

Attn: Mr. Robert Bilden, Auditor

Gentlemen:

The following comments contain the Board of Chiropractic Examiners response to the Legislative Audit committee's preliminary report.

Recommendation #1
Currently an applicant is not given Part I or Part II of the state examination when he/she has successfully completed the National Board exam, Part I and Part II. When the applicant does not have the National Board, the state is obligated to test the competency of the chiropractor in the basic science and chiropractic discipline subjects.

Recommendation #2
The board has undertaken extensive changes in the regulations relating to the associate chiropractor regulations which should clarify this problem.

Recommendation #3
Since 1975 twenty-four applicants have been examined for licensure with only two failing. This equals less than a 10% failure rate compared to other states failure rates of 25-50%.

The Chiropractic Board has taken steps to simplify application and examination procedures and made changes in the regulations to clarify the procedures an applicant takes to obtain licensure in the State of Alaska.

The Board has requested the Division of Occupational Licensing to contact other state chiropractic licensing boards to establish endorsement or reciprocal licensing agreements.

Recommendation #4
The Board considered current procedures relating to grading and examination procedures during its January 5-6, 1979 meeting. The Board has set the direction for innovative changes to insure uniform grading and examination procedures will occur in future exams. The Division of Occupational Licensing will be sharing their input in a proposed manual for testing and grading procedures.

Recommendation #5
The Board concurs with this recommendation.

Recommendation #6
It is felt that the present make-up of the board satisfactorily corresponds with state demographics.

Recommendation #7
The Board unanimously concurs with this recommendation.

Recommendation #8
It was the Board's decision to allow sections of the statutes and regulations relating to grounds for suspension and revocation of license to act as the code of ethics.

Recommendation #9
In order to bring the regulations in compliance with current legal opinions, the board took at its January 5-6, 1979 meeting appropriate action to eliminate unconstitutional prohibitions.

Recommendation #10
The Board concurs with this recommendation.

Members of the Legislative Budget and Audit Committee:

We have reviewed the Board of Chiropractic Examiners response to our report dated October 16, 1978. Our comments on the response follow:

Recommendation No. 1

The Board stated that "currently an applicant is not given Part I or Part II of the State examination when he/she has successfully completed the National Board Exam, Part I and Part II".

It is our belief the response was in reference to the Board not administering the National Examination when the applicant has previously satisfied the National Board Examination requirements, and the Board will continue with the administering of a State written examination, redundant of the National Examination.

Implementation of Recommendation No. 1 will permit the Board to test the applicant using examinations obtained from the National Board for the areas the applicant is deficient in at the National level and will give the Board the flexibility to test, at the State level, through oral and clinical (adjustive technique) situations while eliminating the subjective and redundant State written examination.

Chapter 03. Termination, Continuation and Reestablishment of Regulatory Boards

Section
10. Termination, continuation and reestablishment of regulatory boards

Cross reference. — As to review of the activities of agencies, boards and commissions, see AS 44.66.010 et seq.

Editor's note. — Section 1, ch. 149, SLA 1977, provides: "The legislature finds that the substantial increase in the number of state agencies, boards and commissions, and the proliferation of rules and regulations which each has adopted have contributed to a public disenchantment with the operation of state government, and that there is need for an effective and regular system of scrutiny of the programs and activities of all agencies, boards and commissions. The legislature further finds that the establishment of a system for periodic review by the public and the executive and legislative branches of certain state agencies, boards and commissions will help the governor and the legislature to determine the need for the continued existence of each of the agencies, boards and commissions."

PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF THE REVIEW

Purpose

In accordance with the intent of Alaska Statutes 24.20.271(1) and 44.66.050 (sunset legislation), a review of the Board of Dental Examiners was conducted to review Board activities and accomplishments to determine if the Board has been operating in an effective, efficient, and economical manner.

As required by legislative intent, this report shall be considered during the legislative oversight function in determining whether the Board of Dental Examiners should be reestablished. The law currently specifies that this Board will terminate on June 30, 1979, but will continue until June 30, 1980 for the purpose of concluding its affairs.

Scope

The major areas reviewed were the Board's operations and its licensing, examination, administration, complaint and affirmative action functions. Our review consisted of analyzing and evaluating the following:

(1) Applicable statutes and Board regulations;

(2) Interviews with Board members and questionnaires sent to the Board;

(3) Interviews with health agencies and professional associations;

(4) Tests of records and documents of the Board and the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL), Department of Commerce and Economic Development;

(5) Interviews with OL employees;

(6) Complaints filed with OL, the Ombudsman's Office, Consumer Affairs Agency, and the Equal Employment Opportunity Office;

(7) Questionnaires sent to 15 dental schools;

(8) Questionnaires sent to State licensed dentists and dental hygienists; and

(9) Review of other states' licensing requirements.

Scope Constraints

This review was hampered by the following constraints:

(1) The Board has not established and reported financial and program plans as required by AS 37.07.050 nor has it developed and reported performance information regarding its effectiveness and accomplishments as required by AS 37.07.090.

(2) OL has not adequately collected, recorded or maintained pertinent files and statistics relating to the Board to effectively and efficiently carry out its administrative responsibilities.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTION

The Board of Dental Examiners was first created in 1906. Today, it is a regulatory board with seven members - five dentists, one dental hygienist and one public member. The purpose of the Board and dental regulations is defined by an editor's note to AS 08.36.010:

> "The practice of dentistry in the state is hereby declared to affect the public health, safety and welfare and to be subject to regulation and control in the public interest. It is further declared to be a matter of public interest and concern that the dental profession merit and receive the confidence of the public and that only qualified dentists be permitted to practice dentistry in the state. All provisions of this chapter relating to the practice of dentistry and dental hygiene and to the registration of dental laboratories shall be liberally construed to carry out these objects and purposes."

Basically, the Board determines the minimum quality of dental care in the State by:

1. Examining and issuing licenses to qualified applicants;

2. Establishing or amending rules and regulations necessary and desirable to enforce State statutes;

3. Holding hearings in order to revoke, annul or suspend the license of a person violating the dental statutes and regulations.

In addition, the Board has staff support from OL which is composed of two sections. The licensing section which processes applications is supposed to maintain license files, gather and collect statistics, answer inquiries and provide other administrative help to the licensing boards. The other section provides investigative services to the Board in the event of consumer or other professional complaints.

The Board regulates three groups of dental practitioners in the State: dentists, dentists specializing in specific fields and dental hygienists who perform limited dental services. Most licensing requirements are established by statute. However, statutes have granted the power of waiving the dental examination if applicants have certain qualifications. In addition, Alaska Statutes allow the Board to grant special permits for the practice of dentistry without taking the clinical examination. One is a temporary permit for applicants waiting to take the examination.

The permit limits the area of practice to areas where there are currently no dentists practicing and is valid for one year. Another special permit is granted to those federal agencies that supply dentistry to critical shortage areas.

The clinical examination given by the Board to prospective dentists tests two areas: oral diagnosis and operative dentistry. The operative dentistry section is graded by Board members. The oral diagnostic test is composed and graded by a national organization. All dental applicants, except those given special permits, must take the clinical examination before practicing dentistry in Alaska.

Dental hygienists are required to take a clinical examination. However, reciprocity is allowed if applicants meet certain requirements. Dental specialists are licensed if applicants have certain qualifications. They are not required to take a test, although they must be Alaska licensed dentists.

REPORT CONCLUSION

Policy Issues

This review contains policy issues raised as a result of our evaluation of various Board practices. The final policy decisions affecting these practices are not within the scope of this review but require legislative consideration. In debating these decisions, the legislative oversight committees should take into consideration the findings and alternatives presented in this report, so that the potential impact of policy changes can be evaluated.

Report Conclusion

In our opinion, the Board of Dental Examiners should continue to regulate and license dental professionals. The regulation and licensing of these professionals is necessary to protect the public's health, safety and welfare.

However, certain changes need to be implemented in order for the Board of Dental Examiners to effectively perform its duties. Presently there is a dental manpower shortage noted in several areas of Alaska. Board policies are restricting the entry of qualified dentists and are not in the public's best interest. For example, the Board has no reciprocity or endorsement agreements with other states. Also, the Board's clinical examination required for licensing is given only once a year. Because of these policies and a low pass rate for dental applicants on the last clinical examination of 48%, the dental manpower shortage has not improved (see Recommendation No. 1).

In addition, the Board's clinical examination has several deficiencies with its procedures and examination subjects. The deficiencies, first noted several years ago in hearings to evaluate the fairness of the clinical examination, have not been corrected (see Recommendation No. 2).

The Board has given almost no guidance concerning license violations. The public, as well as the dental profession, would be better protected if regulations concerning license violations were better defined by the Board (see Recommendation No. 4).

The Board needs to evaluate present Alaska Statutes for relevancy and protection of the public. For instance, temporary dental permit statutes establish a double standard of public protection in rural and urban areas (see Recommendation No. 3). Dental license violation statutes restrict advertizing which is unconstitutional as determined by the United States Supreme Court (see Recommendation No. 7).

There are no statutes requiring continuing education for dentists, dental hygienists and dental specialists. This requirement would help prevent professional obsolescence and may provide an effective control over the quality of dentistry in the State (see Recommendation No. 5).

In conclusion, the Board of Dental Examiners should analyze and evaluate the purpose of the Board and take the necessary actions needed to perform and fulfill their responsibilities to the public.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Findings and Recommendations No. 1 through No. 6 are addressed to the Board of Dental Examiners. Findings and Recommendations No. 7 through No. 10 are addressed to the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL), and should be read in conjunction with "A Performance Review of the Division of Occupational Licensing, Department of Commerce and Economic Development, October 30, 1978", issued under separate cover.

Recommendation No. 1

The Board of Dental Examiners should institute changes in its procedures and regulations which will encourage more dental services to be provided in Alaska.

Presently there is a shortage of dental manpower in several areas of Alaska. This has been substantiated by studies conducted by two nonprofit, federally-funded agencies - the Southeast Alaska Health Systems Agency and the South Central Health Planning and Development Agency. In addition, the federal government on July 25, 1978, listed 14 divisional areas in Alaska as dental manpower shortage areas (Appendix J). Also, 24 of 56 dentists responded to a Legislative Audit questionnaire (Appendix H) that they believed rural areas of Alaska are not adequately serviced by dentists in private practice.

Several of the Board's policies have not helped solve this problem. For instance, even though Alaska statutes allow the Board to establish reciprocity agreements with other states, the Board has not chosen to do so. Fifty-seven percent of those State dentists responding to a Legislative Audit survey believe that Alaska should establish reciprocity agreements for dentists with other states. Also, the clinical examination for dentist licenses is given only once a year. In addition, there is a potential conflict of interest that exists when Alaska Board members who are practicing dentists grade the performance of applicants who represent potential competition. However, no instances of deliberate grading bias have been noted.

In order to encourage more qualified dentists to practice in Alaska, we recommend that the Board attempt to join a regional testing board and establish reciprocity agreements with participating states. For instance, the Western Regional Testing Board is comprised of the states of Arizona, Utah, and Oregon. Their clinical examinations are given at least twice a year and comply with all of Alaska statutory requirements (See Recommendation No. 2). They allow Board members to participate in the grading and will pay transportation and per diem costs for participating Board members.

Also, the Board should promptly institute regulations which allow dental paraprofessicnals, such as dental hygienists, to provide many needed services to Alaska's rural areas without the direct supervision of dentists. During the 1978 legislative session, the Alaska Legislature approved a bill to expand the duties that dental hygienists may perform within the State. Committee Substi ute House Bill 809 established that the Board of Dental Examiners will promulgate regulations defining the expanded duties performed by qualified dental hygienists without the direct supervision of a dentist.

In various completed studies including one by the National Task Force on State Dental Policies, a committee composed of various officials from several states, it was found that many dental hygienists were qualified to perform more dental functions than currently allowed by statutes. The Board will better serve and protect the public and encourage more dental services to be provided in Alaska by instituting regulations which will allow an expansion of dental hygienists' duties.

Recommendation No. 2

In the event Recommendation No. 1 is not implemented, the Board of Dental Examiners should change test procedures and content for examining dental and dental hygiene applicants in order to comply with legal requirements.

In the last three years, the Board of Dental Examiners has made improvements on its dental and dental hygiene clinical examinations. However, there are still many weaknesses and problems with the test. For example:

1. The clinical test for dentists does not test applicants' knowledge of prosthetic dentistry as required by Alaska Statute 08.36.160.

2. Board members do not inquire about the general health of patients used for the practical examination. Although applicants provide the patients, the Board should make certain that patients have good health and are not allergic to the anesthesia given.

3. The Board has no policy of restricting unsupervised visitors talking to applicants during the examination. A local dentist who was not connected with the examination process was observed talking to applicants without a Board member monitoring or supervising his presence.

4. The Board has no written examination procedures for either the dental or dental hygienist clinical examination. During the last examination, conflicting instructions were given to a dental hygienist applicant by different Board members.

5. Grade sheets and information sheets issued to dental hygienists contain conflicting grade information.

6. The Board has not formally established or communicated to dental hygiene applicants the minimum passing grade for the examination.

7. The Board requires that an outside laboratory be used in the casting of an applicant's work for the clinical examination for dentists. However, the applicant's grade can be affected by the laboratory's work. Such grading is unfair to the applicant and does not give him due process consideration.

A questionnaire and a copy of the Board's regulations describing the clinical examination for dentists was sent to 15 dental schools throughout the United States (Appendix F). Nine schools responded that they thought Alaska's test did not adequately measure the competency of prospective dentists. The most prevalent criticism was that the examination was not comprehensive enough. Thirteen of the 15 schools mentioned that the practical examination conducted in their states included the testing of an applicant's knowledge in prosthetic procedures.

In addition, dentists licensed in Alaska responded to a questionnaire in which 28 out of 56 dentists said that the clinical examination was not valid or useful as a tool for measuring the competency of dental applicants.

Twice in the last three years, dental applicants have filed complaints with the Board of Dental Examiners about the fairness of the clinical examination. Independent hearing officers were appointed by the Governor. Each time the officers found several deficiencies in the testing subjects, procedures and regulations. As a result the Board wrote regulations outlining the test subjects and made procedural changes. However, some problems were not corrected and may cause future costly litigations.

In order to correct the noted problems, we recommend that the following be implemented.

1. The clinical examination for dentists should include a section on prosthetic dentistry.

2. The Board should create a test manual including testing and grading procedures outlined for Board members who will grade applicants and for the examiner from OL. Also, any facts and studies demonstrating the relevancy of testing subjects and measuring the consistency and quality of grading by Board members should be collected and included in the test manual.

3. The Board should establish additional regulations for examination. Such regulations should include:

   a. Grading criteria for the testing of dental hygiene applicants;

   b. A minimum passing grade for the dental hygiene examination;

   c. A requirement for applicants to furnish medical histories of dental patients; and

   d. A requirement that people not taking or grading the examination must have prior Board approval to attend the examination and will be supervised. This regulation should be strictly enforced.

4. The Board should give the option to applicants taking the dentist clinical examination to do all of their own laboratory work or use a professional laboratory.

Recommendation No. 3

Legislation should be introduced to amend the temporary permit statutes for dentists in order to alleviate the double standard found in the current law.

Alaska statutes allow temporary permits to be given to qualified applicants who are applying to take the clinical examination and who will practice in those areas which have no practicing dentists. The Board believes that temporary permit requirements with those provisions establish a double standard of quality of public protection against incompetent dentists in rural and urban areas and has stopped granting permits. This restriction may also be in violation of State and federal anti-trust laws.

The implementation of Recommendation No. 1, which provides more frequent tests and allows reciprocity, will increase the speed and frequency of the application process. Amending AS 08.36.280, which is the legal basis for temporary permits for dentists, will prevent double standards of the quality of public protection in rural and urban areas.

In the event our Recommendation No. 1 is not considered as a viable solution to the dental manpower shortage problem in Alaska, we recommend an alternative would be to amend the temporary permit statute relaxing the use of permits throughout the State.

Recommendation No. 4

The Board of Dental Examiners, in conjunction with the Attorney General, should compose formal regulations which define and list examples of license violations.

Alaska Statute 08.36.310 outlines dental license violations which are grounds for the suspension o revocation of a dental license. The list includes vague terms such as "moral turpitude" and "unprofessional conduct", which many dentists probably would not understand without a lawyer's advice.

Presently the Board has not clarified or given examples of violations of "moral turpitude" or "unprofessional conduct" in its regulations. The public and dentistry profession would be better protected if licensed professionals had better guidance as to what are prohibited acts.

For instance, unsanitary conditions of dental offices is not specifically listed as a license violation. Listed in the responses to a questionnaire sent to state dentists and dental hygienists, there were five noted observations of unsanitary offices. Although unsanitary conditions may be covered under the term "unprofessional conduct", the condition should be specifically identified in the regulations as a license violation.

Recommendation No. 5

Legislation should be introduced requiring continuing education for dentists, dental hygienists and dental specialists.

Dental practitioners are acutely aware of the public trust that they maintain their professional competency. Required continuing education is one means of fulfilling that trust. In addition, a program of continuing education will recognize individual interests and efforts, avoid professional obsolescence and keep practitioners aware of changes taking place in the profession.

According to the Council of State Governments, a nonprofit organization which studies state practices, eight states have required continuing education for dentists. Twenty-eight of 56 dentists (50%) and 22 of 25 dental hygienists (88%) responded to a Legislative Audit questionnaire that they believed continuing education should be required of their professions.

Recommendation No. 6

Board of Dental Examiners should submit an annual report to the Governor's office and to the Alaska Dental Society in accordance with AS 08.36.070.

The Board of Dental Examiners issued its last annual report in 1975. AS 08.36.070 requires that these reports be submitted annually to the Governor's office and the Alaska Dental Society. Without this report, the Governor and the public cannot adequately evaluate the performance of the Board.

We recommend that the Board include, at a minimum, the following information in its report.

1. Board's purpose, goals and measures.

2. Receipts and disbursements related to the Board's operations.

3. Board member participation (based on Board minutes, one Board member has missed over forty percent of the meetings).

4. Number of investigations of dental license violations started and completed.

5. New dental regulations and statutes.

Recommendation No. 7

Legislation should be introduced to delete license violations which are unconstitutional and not in the public's best interest.

The United States Supreme Court ruling on John Bates and Van O'Steen vs. State Bar of Arizona established that many advertising restrictions of professionals were unconsitutional. AS 08.36.310 lists many license violations which prohibit advertising. For example, grounds for revocation of license under AS 08.36.310 include:

> (14) advertises prices for professional service;...
> (17) advertises by a medium other than the carrying or publishing of a modest professional card or the display of a modest window or street sign at the licensee's office containing the name, address, profession, office hours, telephone number and speciality;

(16) permits the use of his name as a dentists by others in the sale or advertisement of products;...

Number (14) is unconstitutional and (17) and (18) are not in the public's best interest to have restricted. These statutes restrict the free flow of information and may increase the cost of dental care to the public.

In an Attorney General's opinion addressed to the Commissioner of the Department of Commerce and Economic Development on March 15, 1978, it was stated:

> "In order to avoid future litigation...it is suggested that the commissioner request the various licensing boards to undertake, in conjunction with this department, a review of all price advertising restrictions pertaining to both products and services for the purpose of recommending appropriate legislative or regulatory amendments as soon as possible."

Recommendation No. 8

The Board of Dental Examiners should establish formal goals, objectives and quantifiable measures which should be included in the OL's budget document.

Objectives describe what an agency or Board is seeking to accomplish during a specific year. Well formulated objectives are capable of measurement and should include numerical targets so that actual accomplishments can be compared with stated targets. Without goals and objectives, the Board's performance cannot be adequately evaluated and analyzed.

OL establishes its own budget goals and objectives. The budget documents do not include any goals or measures for individual boards. Without each Board's goals and measures being identified or measured, both the Governor's Office and the Legislature cannot evaluate a Board's performance (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

Recommendation No. 9

The Division of Occupational Licensing should collect, record and maintain for five year periods, files and statistics of license and testing applicants and related workload of the licensing examiner.

The Division needs relevant facts and statistics for evaluating the performance of its personnel and Board activity. Many past records have not been collected and maintained, such as:

1. Number of dentists and dental hygienists licensed in past years;

2. Records of those applicants failing the examination;

3. Numbers of applicants denied the chance to take the examination due to lack of qualifications;

4. Number of complaints and criticisms about the performance of the Board and its staff;

5. Correspondence workload of license examiners; and

6. Number of persons requesting applications.

It is to the advantage of the Division to keep these records in order to support its budget request, evaluate its personnel and keep the Board informed as to its progress. Also, feedback from the Board and the public should be encouraged to determine whether staff performance is adequate.

Recommendation No. 10

Legislation should be pursued which will allow all interest groups to be adequately represented on the Board of Dental Examiners.

The Board regulates dentists, dental hygienists and dental specialists for the purpose of public protection. The Board is currently composed of five dentists, one dental hygienist and one public member.

There are numerous dental specialist fields such as orthodontics and oral surgery. The statutory qualification requirements for specialists are more restrictive than for dentists, by requiring at least two years of advanced education in the specialty. By requiring that a dental specialist be on the Board, the State ensures that the views of the specialists are adequately represented.

In addition, the public should have its views represented on the Board since the purpose of the Board is for public protection. It is questionable whether one public member adequately represents the public interests. The State of California, through its 1977 Public Members Act requires that one-third (1/3) of all health related Board members be represented by the public. California feels that the public's confidence and well-being have been enhanced by this law.

ANALYSIS OF PUBLIC NEED

Limited Analysis

The following analyses indicate both positive and negative attainments as Board activities relate to the public need factors defined in the "Sunset" law. These analyses are not intended to be comprehensive in nature, but address those areas we were able to cover within the scope of our review.

I. The extent to which the board, commission or program has operated in the public interest.

1. The Board of Dental Examiners has composed regulations governing the administration of general anesthesia. Regulations were also drafted to describe the dental clinical examination subjects and grading. However, because the examination regulations were not filed in accordance with the Administrative Procedures Act, they did not go into effect and will have to be refiled by the Board.

2. In the larger urban areas of Alaska, the per capita ratio of dentists to population is equal to or less than the national average of 1 dentist to 2,000 population. However, in the rural areas, the ratio is much higher (see Appendix J) which demonstrates a shortage of dentists in these areas.

3. The Board of Dental Examiners has held an average of four meetings per year, only one clinical examination per year, and started 28 investigations in the last five years of which ten have been completed.

II. The extent to which the operation of the board, commission, or agency program has been impeded or enhanced by existing statutes, procedures, and practices which it has adopted, and any other matter, including budgetary, resource, and personnel matters.

1. The Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) has not maintained updated records, files, and statistics for Board use (see Recommendation No. 9 and the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. Investigations of dental complaints have not been made in a timely manner. The investigative section of OL had spent an average of 12.8 months on each of eighteen (18) unresolved cases as of July 30, 1978 (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

III. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has recommended statutory changes which are generally of benefit to the public interest.

1. The only statutory change which the Board evaluated before their July 1978 meeting was to increase the grade for passing part of the clinical examination. It is highly questionable whether this would be in the public's interest.

IV. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged interested persons to report to it concerning the effect of its regulations and decisions on the effectiveness of service, economy of service, and availability of service which it has provided.

1. The Board has held special meetings to listen to dental applicants and evaluate special cases.

2. The Board received and reviewed a report from the Southeast Alaska Health Association concerning dental manpower shortages in southeast communities. Because of the report, the license examiner from OL was authorized by the Board to tell prospective dental applicants about the shortages.

V. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged public participation in the making of its regulations and decisions.

1. The Board advertises in newspapers to encourage public participation and also sends notices to interested associations. During the last two and a half years, approximately one advertisement was published per newspaper for a meeting. Slightly more advertisements were published for examinations, and one advertisement was published for the Board's regulations. This complies with the requirements of the Administrative Procedures Act.

2. During the past five years, six persons other than Board members and state employees were present during Board meetings as recorded by Board minutes.

VI. The efficiency with which public inquiries or complaints regarding the activities of the board, commission or agency filed with it, with the department to which a board or commission is administratively assigned, or with the office of the ombudsman have been processed and resolved.

1. Three complaints about the fairness of the Board's clinical examination were recorded with OL and adjudicated by independent hearing officers in favor of the complainant. Some of the officers' findings have not been corrected (see Recommendation No. 2).

2. One complaint filed with the Ombudsman's Office concerned a license decision by the Board. The complaint was found justified and was quickly corrected by the Board.

VII. The extent to which a board or commission which regulated entry into an occupation or profession has presented qualified applicants to serve the public.

1. A total of 25 complaints in four years are on file with CL against state dental practitioners.

2. However, the dental clinical examination does not adequately test an applicant's competence as supported by the following:

   a. The test does not comply with statutory requirements;

   b. In a questionnaire, 9 of 15 dental schools evaluated the test as inadequate;

   c. Most other states test additional subjects.

VIII. The extent to which state personnel practices, including affirmative action requirements, have been complied with by the board, commission or agency to its own activities and the area of activity or interest.

1. Dental and dental hygiene applications require unnecessary information such as an applicant's picture, race, and sex. This is a violation of Equal Employment Opportunity requirements (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

IX. The extent to which statutory, regulatory, budgeting or other changes are necessary to enable the agency, board or commission to better serve the interests of the public and to comply with the factors enumerated in this subsection.

Please refer to the previous section, Findings and Recommendations.

and reported an average of the revenues collected in fiscal years 1977 and 1978 in order to obtain an accurate representation of collected revenues.

Note 2

Expenditures include those made by Board members, such as travel and per diem and an allocated percentage (estimated) of total administrative expenses of OL. They do not include expenditures for efforts of other departments, such as the Department of Law, that may be assisting the Board and OL.

APPENDIX B

PRACTICAL EXAMINATION

Description

The operative section of the dental examination is comprised of three parts:

1. Preparation and finishing of amalgams;
2. Preparation and finishing of gold inlays; and
3. Preparation and finishing of gold foils.

A dental applicant must furnish his/her own patient and many of the tools. The examination has recently been given in the Teamster's Clinic in Anchorage.

The oral diagnostic examination is a multiple choice test created and graded by the American Association of Dental Examiners. In this test, an applicant views a slide and question and registers the grade on a grade sheet.

The dental hygiene clinical examination grades the abilities of removing calcifications from teeth and other dental abilities by the applicant. Applicants must also furnish his/her own patient and tools.

Mr. Gerald Wilkerson
Legislative Auditor
Division of Legislative Audit

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

We have reviewed your preliminary reports as shown below:

1. Board of Examiners in Optometry
2. Board of Dispensing Opticians
3. Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners
4. Board of Chiropractic Examiners
5. Alaska State Medical Board
6. Board of Veterinary Examiners
7. State Physical Therapy Board
8. Board of Pharmacy
9. Board of Nursing
10. Board of Nursing Home Administrators
11. Board of Dental Examiners
12. Alaska Transportation Commission

We view these reviews of agency programs and activities which are specifically subject to termination in a manner different from those made of State departments or agencies. Usually we in the Executive Branch endeavor to respond directly to each finding and recommendation. However, in regard to the Boards and Commissions, the Executive Branch agency during a public hearing shall demonstrate a public need for its continued existence or the discontinuation of the program, and the extent to which any change in the manner of exercise of its functions or activities may increase efficiency of administration or operation consistent with the public interest.

The Executive Branch of Alaska Government has made an extensive study of the above Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission. We are continuing to study those entities, their origin, their present and future potential, and other related subjects in conjunction with Alaska statutes 24 and 44 (Sunset Legislation). As prescribed in AS 44.66.050 one or more legislative hearings are to be held to receive testimony from the public, the Commissioner of the department having administrative responsibility for each, and the members of the Boards or Commission involved. During those hearings we will present our findings and recommendations affecting each of the foregoing Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission.

Accordingly, we are presenting this in addition to the responses from the Department of Commerce, Department of Law, and the individual Board or Commission members and others on an interim basis.

Sincerely,

Michael Harper
Administrative Assistant

Gerald L. Wilkerson, CPA
Legislative Auditor
Division of Legislative Audit

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

The following comments are in response to the Performance Review of the Board of Dental Examiners submitted by the Division of Legislative Audit.

Recommendation No. 1. We agree there may be a shortage of dental manpower in several areas of Alaska. The majority of these shortages are in rural areas; however, it is our belief the main reason is purely economic and may not be a function of "encouraging . . . dentists to become licensed in Alaska."

The board should explore the possibility of licensing out-of-State applicants by reciprocity, although licensing by endorsement is considered to be more desirable. We agree that examinations should be given more often, provided the number of applicants warrants such a practice. The potential conflict of interest is noted, yet the inference that board members may act in restraint of competition is a charge of a serious nature. However, AS 08.36.130 would have to be changed as it states . . . the board shall appoint from its membership an examination committee.

The participation in regional examinations will be discussed, again, with the board at a future meeting.

Regulations governing expanded duties of dental hygienists have been discussed and are presently being promulgated by a sub-committee of the board for its consideration at the next meeting.

08-H8LH

Recommendation No. 2. Agreed. This recommendation has been discussed with the board. The evaluation of the Regional Testing Board should also provide answers to most, if not all, of these recommendations.

Recommendation No. 3. Agreed. The temporary permit provision should be retained and permits should be issued to qualified applicants, regardless of where in the State they wish to practice dentistry.

Recommendation No. 4. Agreed. However, great care must be taken in defining moral turpitude and unprofessional conduct. A list of violations that could be interpreted as all inclusive would be difficult to compile. Any violation not listed would still be an infraction, but difficult to enforce.

Recommendation No. 5. We agree that continuing education is a step toward improving quality dental care.

Recommendation No. 6. Agreed. The board is aware of this requirement and is preparing its report for FY '78.

Recommendation No. 7. Agreed. Legislation has been introduced concerning unconstitutional advertising restrictions.

Recommendation No. 8. Agreed. Discussions will be held with the board at future meetings and appropriate steps taken to include this information in the budget documents for the division.

Recommendation No. 9. Agreed. Complete reorganization of files and improved procedures within the agency are expected to be accomplished by the end of calendar year 1979. Some gathering of data is currently being initiated.

Recommendation No. 10. Disagree. Legislation requiring representation of all professional areas would be cumbersome to administer. Present statutory provisions do not preclude membership of any licensed dentist. We agree that public membership could be increased, but would oppose an increase in total membership of the board.

We appreciate the time and efforts expended by your staff.

Sincerely,

H. Phillip Hubbard
Commissioner

ARTHUR S. HANSEN, D.D.S.
"A PROFESSIONAL CORPORATION"

January 3, 1979

The following is my response to the State of Alaska Division of Legislative Audit Performance Review of the Board of Dental Examiners.

Report Conclusion

Pg. 7
Paragraph 3--No substantiation for statement that there is a man power shortage in Alaska. There may be a man power distribution problem, but this is because of human preference in life style as documented by the A.D.A. Presently there are adequate numbers of dentists within the state who are willing to cover more remote and sparsely populated areas as evidenced by a listing of these dentists kept by the Alaska Dental Society. Use of the list is infrequent, indicating that perhaps it is the consumer of dentistry who is not interested in the services available and not the fact that the man power isn't available. It is the Board's opinion that a man power shortage does not exist and therefore this factor should not be used as a reason for more than one clinical examination in a year.

Paragraph 3--The Board is presently working on the reciprocity statute as it relates to licensing dentists who are licensed in another state. The Board will in most likelihood recommend to the legislature a change in this statute to one of licensing by credential since there have been no reciprocal agreements made with another state over the past several years. Licensure by credentials would allow for licensing without reciprocity and also allow for close Board scrutiny of an applicant, thus assuring the same degree of quality.

Paragraph 3--The low pass rate for dental applicants is not an indication of the Board's reluctance to pass, as the report seems to indicate, but an indication of the lessoning of the quality of the dentist being produced. This low rate is not unique to Alaska. For instance, Washington State failed over 50% of the University of Washington Dental Students last year. I believe Utah passed less than 30% of it's applicants.

Paragraph 4--The Board is and has been attempting to correct deficiencies in it's examinations. However, due to procedural errors and a constant and rapid change in the dental environement, the Board has had some difficulty in this area. This combined with the lack of funding for sufficient meeting time has led to constant delays and postponement of this important area of the Board's activities.

Paragraph 5--No activity has been forth coming concerning license violations many due to lack of funding and lack of meeting time to undertake this task.

Paragraph 6--The Board is presently evaluating the Alaska Statutes and attempting to formulate recommendations to the legislature for statute changes it deems necessary to make them more responsive to consumer as well as the dental profession. Once again, funding for meetings and a lack of time and information concerning suggested changes has hampered the Board's activities.

Findings and Recommendations

Rec. #1

Paragraph #1--The Board views the federal studies with reservations since: 1. Conditions change rapidly, 2. The federal government is trying to establish its HMO concept in Alaska (with the resultant loss of state supervision and control of such a program), 3. The Alaska Dental Society surveys contradict the federal and even the A.D.A. statistics, 4. The Alaska Dental Society list for rural areas is rarely used.

Paragraph #2--As far as the Board is concerned, there is no conflict of interest in the grading system. This is a serious charge to make especially by a lay person regarding a profession he know little or nothing about. The Board is only interested in seeing that the public receives qualified dentistry.

Rec. #2

The Board is trying to rectify all of the areas mentioned in this recommendation plus many others it recognizes as potential problems. Lack of funding and time are the primary elements working to the Board's disadvantage in trying to cope with these problems. Attempts are being made to take the necessary steps to answer to our known problems.

Rec. #3

The Board is on record to remove the permit from the statutes. It's now up to the legislature to do so. This will be included in the Board's recommendations for statute changes.

Rec. #4

We agree something should be done here. In addition the Board should have greater power with less red tape to carry out judgements on offenses.

Rec. #5

Although the concept of requiring continuing education is good, there are some inherent drawbacks. First of all, attendance must be assured. Secondly, the quality of the courses being offered must be such that it will benefit the student (dentist) as well as the public. Thirdly, the courses offered must be readily available so that requirements can be met. This is not easy in Alaska, let alone for those working in the bush. Fourthly administration of such programs is astronomical. California just recently has dropped its continuing education requirements primarily because of the administrative problems with it.

Dr. Hansen's report from the National A.A.D.E. meeting in October which is included in the Board's minutes has information pro and con for this recommendation and should be reviewed.

Rec. #6

For some reason this has been overlooked in the past, but attempts are being made to rectify this.

Rec. #7
The Board recognizes this problem and is in the process of reviewing the statutes in order to make recommendations, but funds, time, and lack of meetings make this a somewhat impossible task.

Rec. #8
Good idea.

Rec. #9
Good idea.

Rec. #10
The Board currently has a specialist on it though it doesn't think this is necessary. The statutes give the Board the power to enlist the services of specialists or general practitioners for that matter, when it deems their help necessary in order to carry out it's functions.

Additional public members would not be objectionable as long as they have an interest in dentistry and can contribute to the public's well being. The Board presently consists of five dentists and two public members, one of whom is a dental hygienist. Additional public members would thus exceed the 1/3 you are recommending.

With public hearings and the capability of the board to call on the public for additional comment and information, the Board feels the present composition adequately represents the public interests.

Analysis # VIII

This information is necessary so that the examining officer can identify the applicant as the person taking the examination. The Board members only know the applicants by exam number, thus have no means of assuring the examinee is the person who applied.

Generally the Board is trying to be fulfilling it's obligations to the public. However, it is greatly hampered due to limited funds, which in turn limits meeting times and lengths of meetings. Admittedly past records from the Board are not the best, but attempts are being made to rectify this situation.

The Board is presently gathering information concerning points presented in the audit plus several others that are not mentioned. Sufficient time has not past to gather all of the information the Board feels it needs to make or propose necessary legislative and regulatory changes. In addition, insufficient funding and meeting time has not allowed the Board to review and sort out materials it has gathered. The Board is willing to do the job it is charged with, but it needs help in doing it.

I am sure there are many areas I have briefly touched on that could be discussed in much greater detail. If it is the desire of the legislature to make the Board more effective, I would suggest you solicit their help, but remember they are a volunteer Board. They must be compensated in some way or their participation will be limited due to their professional responsibilities to their patients, not to mention the tremendous financial losses incurred while serving in a Board capacity at a meeting, Etc.

Respectfully submitted,

Arthur S. Hansen, D.D.S.

Rec. #1

I disagree with this recommendation on the grounds that no where in 08.36.32 of 08.36.30 is the Board charged with encouraging dentists to practice in Alaska. I think the State in its powers should protect the consumer, not try to coddle the citizen from birth to death. I do not believe it is the intent of the State or its agencies to regulate the supply and demand of the marketplace. As for the reported manpower shortage presented by the Southeast Alaska Health System Agency and South Central Health Planning and Development Agency, they are as best as I can tell addressing shortage in care for public funded health programs, (I.H.S.) and community health centers that would be handled by the Public Health Service. The Alaska Dental Society has a list of dentists that will go out into the bush when these services are needed.

The Board has discussed joining regional testing services but the consensus of opinion at this time is to not do so. The primary reason for this posture is the loss of ascertainment of quality of the clinical operator being judged by non-residents of this state.

Reciprocity is addressed in the State as statute under 08.36.210 and 08.36.22.

Rec. #2

(1) Agree. Will remedy in the future.
(2) A Health question has been included for this examination. I believe it has been incorporated in the regulations.
(3) Agree.
(4) The Board had written exam procedures for hygeinists. They were given them with their applications at the meeting the night before the exam started.
(5) Standardization is now being worked on.
(6) Agree.
(7) An understanding of casting principles will clarify this utilization of commercial laboratories.

Subject: Support H.B. 401

Dear Mr. Bradley:

You may already be aware of the efforts of the Aleutian/Pribilof Island Association to bring adequate dental health care to the people of the Aleutian Islands, but we want you to know more about our mobile dental clinic and the problems we have had in getting authorization from the State Dental Board needed to allow our volunteer dentists and dental students in training to offer their services in Alaska. The Dental Board wants no permits to practice issued even though the present law specifies they are to issue permits - as a matter of fact, they refuse to issue any permits at all.

Last summer we had 22 volunteers standing by waiting to get permission to volunteer their services - we finally ran the program through the United States Public Health Service. The present law and contrived conditions which exist in Alaska prevent any volunteer who would fix kids teeth without charge from practicing.

Representative Osterback has submitted a bill this session which will exempt volunteer dental personnel from permit requirements thus paving the way for a new summer program of dental health care aboard the mobile unit. Your support of H.B. 401 is essential to the health care of all bush Alaskans. Your Yes vote on this measure is essential this session.

Thousands of Alaskans go to work every day of their lives with a tooth ache or in need of dental care because the cost of dentistry is prohibitive. Some fly to Europe for dental work because it's cheaper than staying home and having the work done by an Alaskan dentist.

Eventually of course, over pricing, indifference and greed will move the citizenry to action - and dentistry will become a publicly supported element of our society. In the meanwhile we need your support now of H.B. 401 so we can bring in the sensitive socially conscious volunteers who want to come to Alaska for a few weeks to improve the overall dental health of our people.

Sincerely yours,

Patrick Plettnikoff

Dear Sir

The Legislative Committee of the Alaska Nurses Association has given testimony in favor of the activities of the Board of Nursing. We are in definite agreement with the continuation of the Board of Nursing for the regulation, maintenance and education in the area of professional nursing.

The following is a specific response regarding each of the proposed recommendations by the legislative audit committee.

1. Mandatory Continuing Education. We support what the Board of Nursing must do in response to the legislative audit report. We do recommend that the necessary statutory changes be given careful and serious thought and the input be gained from various sources regarding how the changes should be made. Simply implementing mandatory continuing education without quality, control and specific, clearly delineated implementation plans will not be the answer to improving nursing practice. The Alaska Nurses Association will be polling members regarding specific suggestions and hopefully specific implementation recommendations can be made as a result of the June 1979 State Convention. We further caution that an effective date for implementation could not be before 1982. It will be especially important to consider the added responsibility for implementing mandatory continuing education in terms of necessary resources and financial backing.

2. Representation. We clearly support this recommendation regarding the board consistency.

3. Foreign graduates. Considering the high failure rate of foreign graduates on the State Boards, the Legislative Committee of the Alaska Nurses Association can not completely support the issuance of temporary permits to all graduates. The suggestion of the Board of Nursing regarding the issuance of temporary permits according to the scoring on the International Nursing Exam given in foreign countries seems like a feasible one.

4,5 & 6 Define license violation, Goals & Objectives and Duty of Executive Officer. We support these recommendations.

Please feel free to call on us for any further information or questions regarding the above.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF THE REVIEW

Purpose

In accordance with the intent of Alaska Statutes 24.20.271(1) and 44.66.050 (sunset legislation), a review of the Board of Nursing was conducted to determine if the Board has been operating in an effective, efficient and economical manner.

As required by legislative intent, this report shall be considered during the legislative oversight function in determining whether the Board of Nursing should be re-established. The law currently specifies that this Board will terminate on June 30, 1979, but will continue until June 30, 1980 for the purpose of concluding its affairs.

Scope

The major areas reviewed were the Board's operations and its licensing, examination, administration, complaint and affirmative action functions. Our review consisted of analyzing and evaluating the following:

(1) Applicable statutes and Board regulations;

(2) Interviews with Board members and questionnaires sent to the Board;

(3) Correspondence with health agencies and professional associations;

(4) Tests of records and documents of the Board and the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL), Department of Commerce and Economic Development;

(5) Interviews with OL employees;

(6) Complaints filed with OL, the Ombudsman's Office, the Equal Employment Opportunity Office and the Human Rights Commission;

(7) Questionnaires sent to State licensed nurses; and

(8) Review of other states' licensing requirements.

Scope Constraints

This review was hampered by the following constraints:

(1) The Board has not established and reported formal financial and program plans as required by AS 37.

07.050 nor has it developed and reported performance irformation regarding its effectiveness and accomplishments as required by AS 37.07.090.

(2) OL has not adequately collected, recorded or maintained pertinent files and statistics relating to the Board to effectively and efficiently carry out their administrative responsibilities.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTION

The Board of Nursing, created in 1941, is a regulatory board composed of seven members - five registered nurses and two public members. The primary purpose of the Board is to protect the public's health, safety and welfare through the regulation of nursing practice.

The Board determines the minimum quality of nursing care in the State by:

1. Establishing or amending rules and regulations necessary and desirable to enforce State statutes;

2. Approving curricula, adopting standards and accrediting nursing education programs;

3. Examining and issuing licenses to qualified applicants; and

4. Holding hearings in order to revoke, suspend or take other action on the license of a person violating the nursing statutes and regulations.

In addition, the Board has staff support from OL. The Division employs an Executive Officer of the Board who is statutorily responsible for performing administrative duties, carrying out regulations and policy decisions of the Board and assisting the Board in conducting examinations and educational programs.

OL is composed of two sections. The licensing section processes applications, prepares license files, collects fees, issues licenses and permits as authorized, answers inquiries and provides other administrative assistance to the Board. The other section provides investigative services to the Board in the event of consumer or other professional complaints.

The Board currently regulates the practice of professional nursing (RNs), practical nursing (LPNs) and nurse midwifery. In 1973, the Legislature amended AS 08.68. 410(5) to allow practice as an advanced nurse practitioner (ANP). An ANP is a registered nurse who by virtue of specialized education and experience, has become certified to perform acts of medical diagnosis, and prescription of medical, therapeutic or corrective measures. The 1973 amendment required ANP regulations to be promulgated jointly by the Board of Nursing and the State Medical Board. In September of 1978, after commendable efforts by the Board of Nursing and little cooperation from the State Medical Board, proposed regulations were approved by the Boards for public hearing which will allow registered nurses to perform an expanded role in the delivery of health care.

Most licensing requirements are established by statute. Nurses are licensed by either examination or endorsement. The Board of Nursing recognizes and uses the State Board Test Pool Examination, a national test prepared by the National League of Nurses. Licenses by endorsement are issued to nurses licensed in other states that have licensing requirements acceptable to the Board of Nursing. In addition, temporary permits are issued to applicants awaiting examination or license by endorsement if they meet certain requirements..

REPORT CONCLUSION

Policy Issues

This review contains policy issues raised as a result of our evaluation of various Board practices. The final policy decisions affecting these practices are not within the scope of this review but require legislative consideration. In debating these decisions, the legislative oversight committees should take into consideration the findings and alternatives presented in this report, so that the potential impact of policy changes can be evaluated.

Report Conclusions

In our opinion, the Board of Nursing is operating in the public's best interest and should continue to regulate the practice of nursing. This control is necessary to protect the public's health, safety and welfare.

However, certain changes should be made to improve the Board's responsibility to the public. Legislation is needed in two areas - continuing education and Board makeup and qualifications. Currently, there are no continuing education requirements for licensed nurses. The underlying purpose of continuing education is to permit professional education on a postgraduate level and allow for the maintenance and upgrading of professional competency. Legislation should be enacted enabling the Board to promulgate continuing education requirements (see Recommendation No. 1).

In addition, legislation should be enacted to ensure that licensed practical nurses and advanced nurse practitioners are adequately represented on the Board. The current qualification statute requires Board members, except public members, to be registered nurses and the Board makeup statute does not require a member to be an advanced nurse practitioner (see Recommendation No. 2).

The Board of Nursing should discontinue its policy of requiring foreign nurse graduates to have one year of work experience before a temporary permit can be issued. This policy, related to applications for examination, discriminates against foreign graduates. Once a foreign graduate qualifies for examination, he/she is on equal status with all qualified applicants and temporary permits should be issued consistantly without further restrictions on the foreign graduate (see Recommendation No. 3).

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Recommendations No. 1 through No. 5 are addressed to the Board of Nursing. Recommendation No. 6 is addressed to the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) and should be read in conjunction with "A Performance Review of the Division of Occupational Licensing, Department of Commerce and Economic Development, October 30, 1978", issued under separate cover.

Recommendation No. 1

Legislation should be introduced requiring continuing education for nurses as a provision for license renewal.

The underlying purpose of continuing education (CE) is to permit professional education on a postgraduate level and allow for the maintenance and upgrading of professional competency.

As stated in a continuing education brochure of the Alaska Nurses Association, "People in the United States today view health care as a fundamental right. Nursing care is a major component of health care. Full participation of well-prepared nurses who systematically build upon their basic preparation through life-long learning is vital to improving the quality of health services. The Alaska Nurses Association believes that continuing education is an essential means by which nurses maintain professional competence".

In response to Legislative Audit questionnaires (see Appendixes D and E), six of the seven members of the Board of Nursing believe that the absence of CE is detrimental to the public's best interest; 73% of the licensed nurses responded that they had attended some form of CE seminars or classes in the past two years; and 57%, 53% and 68% of the nurses favored CE requirements for RNs, LPNs and ANPs respectively.

The Alaska Nurses Association currently has a voluntary CE program for registered nurses. Furthermore, the University of Alaska's School of Nursing has been designing CE programs in preparation for a mandatory requirement. These programs, if implemented, would provide CE classes throughout the State. The Board of Nursing should encourage and fully support the efforts of the School of Nursing.

A legislative continuing education requirement will necessitate the promulgation of regulations for the proper administration of such a program by the Board. In drafting these regulations, the Board should consider:

1. An effective date that will allow adequate time for the establishment of proper CE programs so as not to place an unnecessary hardship on the Alaska nurse;

2. Reviewing and approving CE programs offered in Alaska that meet Board requirements;

3. A provision allowing waivers of the CE requirement if undue hardship is justified; and

4. Approval of out-of-state CE programs that, in the opinion of the Board, meet Alaska's requirements."

Recommendation No. 2

A statutory amendment is needed to ensure that all regulated nurses are adquately represented on the Board of Nursing.

The Board presently regulates LPNs, RNs and ANPs. AS 08.68.060, which defines the qualifications of Board members, restricts the membership to RNs only. Therefore, LPNs cannot be assured of adequate representation. In addition, although all advanced nurse practitioners must be RNs and a current member of the Board is an ANP, AS 08.68.010 does not specify that a member of the Board be an ANP. Therefore, ANPs cannot be assured that they will be represented in the future. This is of particular importance considering the Board has regulations in the formal approval process that will expand existing ANP regulations to include all areas of specialization.

We recommend the Board consist of three RNs, one ANP, one LPN and two public members. By amending the current Board makeup and qualification statutes, all nurses will be assured of adequate representation.

Recommendation No. 3

The Board of Nursing should discontinue its policy of requiring foreign nurse graduates to have one year of work experience before a temporary permit can be issued.

Graduates of foreign nursing education programs applying for license by examination are required to meet the same basic qualifications required of United States nursing graduates. However, once these requirements are met, the U. S. graduate may be granted a temporary permit to practice nursing until the next examination is given. The foreign graduate, having met the same requirements, may only be issued a temporary permit if they have had one year of successful employment in the United States.

As is evident by examination statistics (see Appendix B), foreign graduates historically have had difficulty passing the examination. The Board recognized this and in an attempt to protect the public, adoped this temporary permit policy.

However, this policy requirement discriminates against the foreign graduate. Once a foreign graduate qualifies for examination, he/she is on equal status with all qualified applicants.

Instead, we recommend the Board more closely review the original application for license by examination to ensure the foreign graduate meets the minimum qualifications.

According to OL personnel, the possible cause of the foreign graduates' examination difficulty is not thoroughly understanding the English language. If so, we recommend the Board consider requiring the successful completion of an English comprehension exam as an initial qualification. The State of New Jersey recognizes the Test of English as a Foreign Language offered by the Educational Testing Service. An alternative the Board should consider is the Foreign Graduate Examination discussed by the Board at its May 1978, meeting.

In general, the Board's attention is needed to identify the cause of the low foreign graduate pass rate and take the proper and legal actions necessary to protect the Alaska public.

However, once the foreign graduate qualifies for examination, temporary permits should be issued consistantly to all requesting applicants without further restrictions on the foreign graduate.

Recommendation No. 4

The Board of Nursing, in conjunction with the Attorney General, should compose formal regulations which define and list examples of license violations.

As 08.68.270 outlines nursing license violations which are grounds for denial, suspension or revocation of a license. The list includes vague terms such as "moral turpitude" and "unprofessional conduct" which many nurses probably would not understand without a lawyer's advice. To date, the Board has not clarified or given examples of these terms.

The public and the nursing profession would be better informed and protected if they had better guidance as to what are illegal acts.

Recommendation No. 5

The Board of Nursing should refine their formal goals and objectives, include quantifiable measures and submit a performance report as required by AS 37.07.

Objectives describe what an agency or board is seeking to accomplish during a specific year. Well formulated objectives are capable of measurement and should include numerical targets so that actual accomplishments can be compared with stated targets. Without measurable goals and objectives, the Board's performance cannot be adequately evaluated and analyzed.

The Board has formally adopted certain desirable goals and objectives. However, several are not capable of being measured. The Board should refine their goals and objectives so that they can be measured. Assistance, if needed, should be obtained from OL and/or the Office of the Governor's Division of Budget and Management. The refined goals, objectives and measures should be included in OL's budget documents to allow the Governor and the Legislature to properly evaluate the Board's performance.

The Executive Budget Act requires each State agency to submit a performance report to the Division of Budget and Management no later than September 1, for the preceding fiscal year. The Division of Budget and Management has not requested nor has the Board and OL prepared the required report.

In the 1977 Session, the Legislature, in conjunction with sunset legislation, amended the performance reporting statute (AS 37.07.090) to require agencies to specifically address eight criteria. The report, based on those criteria, would provide a useful tool for evaluating the Board in the future (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

Recommendation No. 6

The Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) should comply with the Board of Nursing resolution requiring the Executive Officer to review and approve all applications for license by endorsement.

During our review, we found that OL's licensing examiner for the Board has been reviewing and approving applications for license by endorsement without the formal authorization of the Board. OL also recognized this and requested the Board to formally authorize this procedure. At the September, 1978 meeting, the Board resolved that, although the current licensing examiner is more than adequately providing the review, they prefer that the Executive Officer, a professional nurse, perform the review and approval function.

To date, the transfer of responsibilities to the Executive Officer has not occurred. We recommend that OL complete this transfer to keep the review and approval process within authorized and legal bounds.

ANALYSIS OF PUBLIC NEED

Limited Analysis

The following analyses indicate both positive and negative attainments as Board activities relate to the public need factors defined in the "Sunset" law. These analyses are not intended to be comprehensive in nature, but address those areas we were able to cover within the scope of our review.

I. The extent to which the board, commission or program has operated in the public interest.

1. The Board of Nursing has promulgated regulations governing nurse midwifery.

2. As a result of Board efforts, advanced nurse practitioner regulations which will allow registered nurses to perform an expanded role in the delivery of health care are presently in the formal approval process.

3. The Board accredits and periodically surveys Alaska nursing education programs to ensure educational standards are maintained.

II. The extent to which the operation of the board, commission, or agency program has been impeded or enhanced by existing statutes, procedures, and practices which it has adopted, and any other matter, including budgetary, resource, and personnel matters.

1. OL's investigative performance was not sufficient to provide adequate public protection (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. The Board was impeded in their efforts to compose and approve advanced nurse practitioner regulations by the State Medical Board which was jointly responsible for the promulgation of the regulations (see "A Performance Review of the Alaska State Medical Board, October 30, 1978", issued under a separate cover).

III. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has recommended statutory changes which are generally of benefit to the public interest.

1. The Board is currently considering revisions to the Nurse Practice Act.

2. The Board frequently notifies, usually by an official letter, legislators, legislative committees and professional associations of their support or nonsupport of legislation affecting the practice and licensing of nurses.

IV. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged interested persons to report to it concerning the effect of its regulations and decisions on the effectiveness of service, economy of service, and availability of service which it has provided.

1. The Board has, on occasion, assisted nursing applicants who had failed the examination in obtaining tutoring or refresher courses.

V. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged public participation in the making of its regulations and decisions.

1. The Board advertises meetings and examinations in newspapers in Anchorage, Fairbanks, Juneau and Ketchikan. This complies with the requirements of the Administrative Procedures Act (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. During the past three years, approximately 40 persons other than Board members and state employees were present during Board meetings as recorded by Board minutes.

VI. The efficiency with which public inquiries or complaints regarding the activities of the board, commission or agency filed with it, with the department to which a board or commission is administratively assigned, or with the office of the ombudsman have been processed and resolved.

1. OL's investigative performance was not sufficient to provide adequate public protection (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. Two complaints filed with the Ombudsman's Office concerning licensure of foreign nurses were found to be unsupported.

3. One complaint filed with the Human Rights Commission concerning discrimination due to national origin was found to be unsupported.

VII. The extent to which a board or commission which regulates entry into an occupation or profession has presented qualified applicants to serve the public.

1. In the past three years, the Board has issued approximately 1,900 licenses and 1,300 temporary permits to practice nursing in Alaska. Approximately 85% of the licenses issued are through the Board's statutory and regulatory endorsement procedures (see Appendix C).

2. However, the Board has not adopted regulations requiring continuing education for the nursing profession (see Recommendation No. 1).

3. All nursing examinations are given in Anchorage. This places an unnecessary hardship on nursing applicants from other areas of the State.

VIII. The extent to which state personnel practices, including affirmative action requirements, have been complied with by the board, commission or agency to its own activities and the area of activity or interest.

1. Nursing applications require unnecessary information such as an applicant's photograph, marital status and spouse's name. This is in violation of Equal Employment Opportunity requirements (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. A Board policy concerning temporary permits for foreign nursing graduates is discriminatory (see Recommendation No. 3).

IX. The extent to which statutory, regulatory, budgeting or other changes are necessary to enable the agency, board or commission to better serve the interests of the public and to comply with the factors enumerated in this subsection.

Please refer to the previous section, Findings and Recommendations.

Note 1

Most of the nursing revenues are composed of license renewal fees. These fees are collected once every two years and cause revenues in one year to be much greater than the revenues collected in the next year. Therefore, we calculated and reported an average of the revenues collected in fiscal year 1977 and 1978 in order to obtain an accurate representation of collected revenues.

Note 2

Expenditures included those made by Board members, such as travel and per diem and an allocated percentage (estimated) of total administrative expenses of OL. They do not include expenditures for efforts of other departments, such as the Department of Law, assisting the Board and OL.

EXAMINATION STATISTICS

Description

The State Board Test Pool Examination is prepared by the National League of Nurses with input from the fifty State Boards of Nursing.

It is used by all fifty states to test nursing applicants for licensure.

The test is composed of five parts: psychiatric, obstetric, surgical, medical and nursing for children.

A grade of 350 on each part is considered a passing grade by all states except Hawaii.

APPENDIX D

QUESTIONNAIRE SENT TO BOARD MEMBERS

1. What do you believe to be the goals and objectives of the Board of Nursing?

To protect citizens of Alaska from unsafe and unqualified practitioners. In addition the Board has established written objectives and Board philosophy.

2. How does the Board measure its progress in meeting its goals and objectives?

Methods used to make this measurement include public and professional input, results of examinations and board experiences in other states. The Board of Nursing can then review, evaluate and modify, as necessary, activity plans relating to long and short term objectives and goals.

3. Is the staff from the Department of Commerce and/or other departments adequate to perform and enforce all laws and regulations relating to the Board of Nursing? What staff support services are provided adequately? Inadequately? Are investigations performed adequately/inadequately?

Staff support of the licensing section is presently adequate. In the past, however, staff turnover and secretarial support was a problem. Investigative support is inadequate.

4. Are there any statutes or regulations that you believe to be obsolete, vague, unduly restrictive, and/or inadequate to provide the Board with the responsibility and power to properly govern the purpose and activities of the Board? Please list and explain.

The Board intends to revise the Nursing Practice Act. Areas of concern include:

1. Rules and regulations that must be promulgated with the State Medical Board.

2. Board make-up.

3. License fees set by statute.

5. What evidence exists demonstrating that the absence of nursing regulations and/or the Board would be detrimental to the public's best interest?

The Nursing Board, using nursing statutes and regulations, determines the minimuim level of competence for a nurse. The limits and controls on the qualifications, licensure and practice of a nurse assures the public that a practicing nurse has met this minimum level of competence.

6. What changes could be made to the Board which would improve its service to the nursing profession and/or the public?

The Nursing Board would like to hold more meetings in different locations. This would increase visibility and interaction between the Board and the public.

An increase in staff support would also improve services.

A change in the statutes concerning adding a L.P.N. to the Board, better liason with the State Medical Board and timely replacement of Board members would improve services.

7. Do you belive that the absence of continuing education requirements is detrimental to the public's best interest? Please explain.

Six Board members agree and one member disagrees that the absense of continuing education requirements is detrimental to the public's best interest.

8. Do you believe that the issuance of temporary permits to non-licensed nursing applicants is in the public's best interest? Please explain.

All Board members believe it is in the public's best interest to issue temporary permits to applicants if statutory and regulatory requirements are met.

9. Do you believe that the ratio of two public members to five nurses on the Board of Nursing is adequate for the Board to perform its duties?

Five of the Board members believe that the ratio of two public members to five nurses on the Board is adequate for the Board to perform it's duties. Of the two members who disagree, one member wants less public members while the other member wants more public members.

9. (cont'd.)

In answering, the members noted the importance of having nurses on the Board and that new members should have more orientation.

10. Do you believe there is a nurse shortage in Alaska? If yes, in what areas?

Most Board members believe there is a shortage of nurses at the baccalaureate level, at hospitals, and in the bush areas.

Other Board members feel there might not be a shortage of nurses, but rather a distribution problem or that nursing jobs are not as attractive as others, so nurses are taking jobs outside the nursing field.

11. If you answered yes to No. 10 above, what steps are or should the Board take to correct the nurse shortage?

Nursing standards should not be lowered. Applications should be handled in a more timely manner. More refresher courses and classes should be offered to help nurses in the bush.

12. Any additional comments.

The Board is hampered in performing its duties by outside factors such as inadequate support in the area of investigations, inadequate funds and untimely appointments to the Board.

Mr. Gerald Wilkerson

Dear Mr. Wilkerson

We have reviewed your preliminary reports as shown below:

1. Board of Examiners in Optometry
2. Board of Dispensing Opticians
3. Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners
4. Board of Chiropractic Examiners
5. Alaska State Medical Board
6. Board of Veterinary Examiners
7. State Physical Therapy Board
8. Board of Pharmacy
9. Board of Nursing
10. Board of Nursing Home Administrators
11. Board of Dental Examiners
12. Alaska Transportation Commission

We view these reviews of agency programs and activities which are specifically subject to termination in a manner different from those made of State departments or agencies. Usually we in the Executive Branch endeavor to respond directly to each finding and recommendation. However, in regard to the Boards and Commissions, the Executive Branch agency during a public hearing shall demonstrate a public need for its continued existence or the discontinuation of the program, and the extent to which any change in the manner of exercise of its functions or activities may increase efficiency of administration or operation consistent with the public interest.

The Executive Branch of Alaska Government has made an extensive study of the above Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission. We are continuing to study those entities, their origin, their present and future potential, and other related subjects in conjunction with Alaska statutes 24 and 44 (Sunset Legislation). As prescribed in AS 44.66.050 one or more legislative hearings are to be held to receive testimony from the public, the Commissioner of the department having administrative responsibility for each, and the members of the Boards or Commission involved. During those hearings we will present our findings and recommendations affecting each of the foregoing Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission.

Accordingly, we are presenting this in addition to the responses from the Department of Commerce, Department of Law, and the individual Board or Commission members and others on an interim basis.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

The following comments are in response to the Performance Review of the Board of Nursing, as submitted by the Division of Legislative Audit.

Recommendation No. 1. Agreed. Mandatory continuing education is one method of attempting to insure that practitioners maintain some level of competence. Remote areas of the state should not be exempt from such requirements, but special compliance provisions may have to be made by the board.

Recommendation No. 2. Agreed. The only category of nurse presently excluded from membership is the LPN which is specifically excluded by statute. As you are no doubt aware, the only currently licensed ANP in the state is a board member.

Recommendation No. 3. Agreed. This subject will be discussed by the board at its next regular meeting and appropriate procedures or recommendations will be implemented.

Recommendation No. 4. Agreed. Licensing violations for all boards should be more clearly defined, however, a list of examples should not imply that it is all-inclusive.

Recommendation No. 5. Agreed. The board's objectives and goals will be incorporated within the division's budget document. This board, and all others, will be contacted in March or April, 1979 for input into the FY 1981 budget.

08-H8LH

Recommendation No. 6. Agreed. This recommendation has been discussed with the board and has been implemented by the division.

I appreciate the time and efforts expended by your staff.

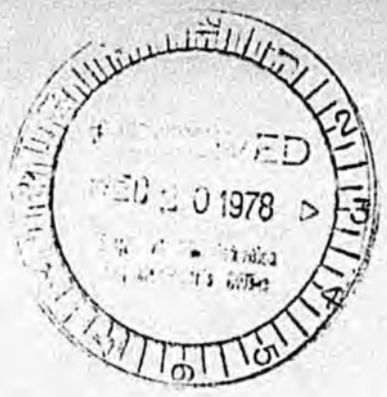
LEGISLATIVE AUDIT



Gerald L. Wilkerson C.P.A.
Legislative Auditor
Division of Legislative Audit
Pouch W
Alaska Office Bldg.
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

Thank you for your report of October sixth on the Board of Nursing. The Board has looked forward to this report and is basically in agreement with your recommendations. Below follow our comments on each of your suggestions.

Recommendation No. 1 - Legislation should be introduced requiring continuing education for nurses as a provision for license renewal.
Except for one member, we are in favor of mandatory continuing education. As you have noted within your report, we are planning to introduce statute changes in the 1980 legislative session. Continuing education requirements will be incorporated into these proposed changes. It should be noted that the present nurse practitioner regulations do have a mandatory continuing education requirement.

The one member of the Board who was not in favor of mandatory continuing education felt that continuing education offerings are not widely available within the state. The Board would like to see funds appropriated to the School of Nursing for additional administrative and teaching staff in their Continuing Education Department. I understand that the director of the school, Dr. Glair Martin, has currently drafted a budget request for the next fiscal year for this purpose.

Continuing education credits may be earned through independent study modules. Many of these are available through nursing journals, and the School of Nursing presently is developing four. These may assist nurses who are in remote areas to partially fulfill their requirement. However, the Board is willing to consider an exception where c.e. may constitute hardship for a licensee and/or perhaps deprive the public of needed nursing care.

Your suggestion that the Board review and approve continuing education programs is impractical. It might cause a time delay in offering courses as well as place a heavy time burden on Board members. What we would do is to approve an approval mechanism. The voluntary continuing education (CEAR?) program, for instance, is functioning well and has been recently awarded national accreditation as an approval and recognition mechanism.

Recommendation No. 2 - A statutory amendment is needed to ensure that all regulated nurses are adequately represented on the Board of Nursing.
The board is in agreement that an LPN and an advanced nurse practitioner should be represented on the board. One member of the board would like the Board to consist of four RNs, one advanced registered nurse practioner, one LPN and one rather than two public members. All of the other members of the board who responded, however, were in agreement with three RNs, one advanced nurse practitioner, one LPN and two public members.

Again, legislation to this effect will be introduced in 1980 with our proposed statute changes.

Recommendation No. 3 - The Board of Nursing should discontinue its policy of requiring foreign nurse graduates to have one year of work experience before a temporary permit can be issued.

OL personell may agree that the possible cause of the FNG's examination difficulty is English. The Board agrees that this may contribute to the low pass rate, but several other factors enter into it. These include a difference in the length and focus of foreign programs. American nursing programs place a great deal of emphasis on psycho-social aspects of nursing care, for instance. Most foreign programs do not. Many foreign programs do not address all the subject areas tested for by the SBTPE - obstetrical and psychiatric nursing are two examples.

In the past, the Board has tried to evaluate the programs of foreign nurse graduates. This proved to be very difficult - due to differences in language, terminology, inavailability of transcripts, etc. It was due to this that the policy of requiring some indication of proficiency (1 year work experience) developed.

COGFNS (The Committee on Graduates of Foreign Nursing Schools) has developed a proficiency exam for foreign nurses to take in their homeland as an indicator of whether or not they are able to pass the SBTPE. This, if made available in the United States, could serve as a basis for issuance of a temporary permit.

Until that time, the Board is faced with a dilemma. If it is unable to evaluate foreign nursing programs, how is it to be assured that a person is a safe practitioner even if they can speak English? Should a nurse who speaks English well, but has never had a course in obstetrical nursing, be given a temporary permit which allows the practice of nursing in this specialty?

This has been placed on the agenda for discussion at the next meeting and the Executive Officer has been directed to gather data from other states in the hopes of finding a solution to this problem.

Recommendation No. 4 - The Board of Nursing, in conjunction with the Attorney General, should compose formal regulations which define and list examples of license violations.

The board is heartily in agreement with this recommendation and would welcome assistance from the Attorney General's Office. We had planned to address this area in our statute revision.

The Board has drafted legal standards but we have not formally adopted these due to other priorities. These need discussion and refining, but they are a beginning.

Recommendation No. 5 - The Board of Nursing should refine their formal goals and objectives, include quantifiable measures and submit a performance report as required by AS 37.07.

Health care is becoming more concerned with outcomes. Nursing care plans (required by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals to be done on each patient) necessitate that a measurable objective which includes evaluation criteria be written for each patient problem identified. Educational institutions require learning objectives be written for courses and lessons taught.

The Board of Nursing includes five nurses, and four educators. Goals and objectives are formulated and utilized by us almost daily in our professional careers.

We have attempted to write goals and objectives for the Board at various times (see enclosures from March and September meetings) to serve as guidelines and, in retrospect, of evaluation. They have not always been as refined as those we use as educators and nurses. The Board is heartily in agreement that this be done. We will write formal goals annually and review them each year. They will contain evaluation criteria and be specific and measureable.

The Board prepares an annual report for the governor. We are presently preparing a report to addressthe Sunset Act criteria, (See minutes enclosed.) The report is currently in draft form - being reviewed by Board members after the Executive Officer compiled a draft from their input. We are on schedule as outlined in our minutes.

We have never been informed of any other reporting requirements. If we had, we would have been pleased to comply.

Recommendation No. 6 - The Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) should comply with the Board of Nursing resolution requiring the Executive Officer to review and approve all applications for license by endorsement.
The Executive Officer has been reviewing and making the final decision on all licenses for about the past month. Therefore, OL has complied with this recommendation.

There are other areas in the report that deserve comment. The Board agrees that reference to marital status should be deleted on the application. However, we wish to retain the photograph requirement. In the past, it has helped us to identify false applications. It also is helpful for identification for testing.

The Board agrees that fees should not be set in the statutes or regulations. I believe this has been noted in past Board minutes.

Offering the SBTPE in areas other than Anchorage presents some problems. It would be more costly to offer at two test sites. The security of the exam necessitates that an experienced, highly reliable individual monitor the entire procedure. We have always required the Executive Officer to do this. A break in security could jeopardize our ability to hold future exams in the state, as well as the exam scores of nurses taking it at that time both in Alaska and nationwide.

One area I personally wished to see addressed was the amount of time this Board spends on review of test questions for the SBTPE. This is most time consuming - usually necessitates the review of about one thousand questions at each meeting several times per year.

The time periodallowed for me to address this report has been too short. The report was received December third. At my own expense it was duplicated and sent express to Anchorage to be distributed to Board members. As of today, I have received replies from all of the nurses on the Board. (The public members have not responded.) I have drafted this from the comments of the Board members who replied, as well as my own opinions. There has not been the opportunity to send it out to Board members for final approval. Please be aware of this when reading the report. I suggest more time be alloted for a reply in future audits.

In summary, the Board is pleased with the report, feels it was well done, and is in agreement with most of the recommendations. We look forward to future evaluations of the Board's effectiveness.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF THE REVIEW

Purpose

In accordance with the intent of Alaska Statutes 24.20.271(1) and 44.66.050 (sunset legislation), a review of the Board of Nursing Home Administrators was conducted to review Board activities and accomplishments to determine if the Board has operated in an effective, efficient, and economical manner.

As required by legislative intent, this report shall be considered during the legislative oversight function in determining whether the Board of Nursing Home Administrators should be reestablished. The law currently specifies that this Board will terminate on June 30, 1979, but will continue until June 30, 1980, for the purpose of concluding its affairs.

Scope

The major areas reviewed were the Board's operations and its licensing, examination, administration, complaint and affirmative action functions. Our review consisted of analyzing and evaluating the following:

(1) Applicable statutes and Board regulations;

(2) Interviews with Board members and questionnaires sent to the Board;

(3) Tests of records and documents of the Board and the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL), Department of Commerce and Economic Development;

(4) Interviews with OL employees;

(5) Complaints filed with OL, the Ombudsman's Office, Consumer Affairs Agency, the Human Rights Commission, and the Equal Employment Opportunity Office;

(6) Questionnaires sent to the nursing home administrators currently licensed by the Board;

(7) Other states' licensing requirements;

(8) Interviews with professional associations and personnel from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Scope Constraints

This review was hampered by the following constraints:

(1) The Board has not established and reported financial and program plans as required by AS 37.07.050 nor has it developed and reported performance information regarding its effectiveness and accomplishments as required by AS 37.07.090.

(2) OL has not adequately collected, recorded or maintained pertinent files and statistics relating to the Board to effectively and efficiently carry out its administrative responsibilities.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTION

Federal regulations (United States Code, Title 42, Subchapter XIX, § 1396 a(29)) require a state to license nursing home administrators in order for that state to receive medical assistance from the federal government (Medicaid assistance). Thus, to receive Medicaid funding, a nursing home must be administered by a licensed nursing home administrator.

In response to the federal regulations, the Board of Nursing Home Administrators was created by the Alaska Legislature in 1975. The Board is comprised of five members - two nursing home administrators, one registered nurse and two public members. The purpose of the Board is to establish standards to ensure that nursing home administrators have the knowledge and experience necessary to be competent administrators; to issue licenses to applicants who meet these standards; and to ensure that licensed administrators continue to uphold the standards.

The major duties of the Board are issuing initial licenses to qualified applicants and monitoring continuing education for renewal of licenses. The Board is assisted in these duties by staff support from the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL). OL processes applications, maintains licensing files, answers correspondence dealing with the Board and provides other administrative support as needed by the Board. In addition, OL's Investigations Unit investigates any complaints involving nursing home administrators.

Qualifications for licensure as a nursing home administrator include educational requirements and a passing score on an examination. The exam is given on a nationwide basis and is prepared and graded by a national organization.

If an administrator has taken the exam in another state and has been licensed by that other state as a nursing home administrator, she/he may be licensed in Alaska by endorsement without retaking the exam. The licensing requirements in that other state must be substantially equal to Alaska's requirements.

Before a license can be renewed, the licensee must show that she/he attended a course, seminar or workshop which qualifies for continuing education credit. License renewal is required yearly.

There are currently twelve nursing homes in the state which are required to have licensed administrators.

REPORT CONCLUSION

Policy Issues

This review contains policy issues raised as a result of our evaluations of various Board practices. The final policy decisions affecting these practices are not within the scope of this review but require legislative consideration. In debating these decisions, the legislative oversight committees should take into consideration the findings and alternatives presented in this report, so that the potential impact of policy changes can be evaluated.

Report Conclusion

In our opinion, the Board of Nursing Home Administrators has minimal public value. However, the Board needs to be re-established only because nursing home administrators (NHA's) must be licensed in order to comply with federal regulations. These regulations require nursing homes to be administered by licensed NHA's if the nursing homes are to be eligible to receive Medicaid financial assistance. We are recommending appropriate legislative action to obtain the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's (HEW) approval to turn the licensing of NHA's over to the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) (see Recommendation No. 1).

In the event it is determined that the Board of Nursing Home Administrators must be continued, the following recommendations need Board attention. If the Board is not reinstated, OL should implement the procedures where applicable to solve the problems addressed.

We found that certain requirements for licensing are either being ignored or are being applied inconsistently to applicants (see Recommendation No. 2). Provisional licenses are not being used as intended by law (see Recommendation No. 5).

Continuing education requirements for NHAs should be made more reasonable and should be applied consistently to all licensees (see Recommendation No. 3).

Licenses are currently required to be renewed annually. This creates an unnecessary burden on the Board, the Division of Occupational Licensing and the licensees (see Recommendation No. 4).

The Nursing Home Administrator statutes as they now stand do not allow the Board to revoke a NHA's license if the NHA commits an unethical or illegal act (see Recommendation No. 6).

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Findings and Recommendations No. 1 through No. 6 are addressed to the Board of Nursing Home Administrators. Findings and Recommendations No. 7 and 8 are addressed to the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) and should be read in conjunction with "A Performance Review of the Division of Occupational Licensing, Department of Commerce and Economic Development, October 30, 1978", issued under separate cover.

Recommendation No. 1

We recommend that appropriate action be initiated to obtain U. S. Department of HEW approval to terminate the Board of Nursing Home Administrators and allow the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) to assume the licensing function without jeopardizing Medicaid funds.

We found no evidence the continuation of the Board of Nursing Home Administrators will benefit the public's safety or welfare. However, federal law U. S. Code, Title 42, Subchapter XIX § 1396 a(29) requires the state to have either a Board of Nursing Home Administrators or an agency of the state responsible for licensing under the Healing Arts Act of the state. Since Alaska does not have a Healing Arts Act, the State is mandated to have a licensing board.

We were informed by the Office of General Counsel, U. S. Department of HEW, Region 10, that the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) is not eligible to assume the functions of licensing for nursing home administrators (NHA's). If Alaska does not reestablish the Board of Nursing Home Administrators, the Department of HEW could deny Medicaid funds.

The purpose of a licensing board is to protect the public through regulation of licensure. Licensure is necessary when:

1. The unlicensed practice of an occupation poses a serious risk to consumers' lives, health and safety, or economic well-being.

   Nursing home administrators do not, by themselves, pose a serious risk to a patient's health and safety or economic well-being. Economic harm caused by NHAs is possible; however, other persons, such as owners of nursing homes, who are involved in making the decisions regarding financial matters, are not required to be licensed.

2. Potential users of the occupational service can not be expected to possess the knowledge needed to properly evaluate the qualifications of those offering services.

   This is not applicable in the case of nursing home administrators. The qualifications of NHA's do not have a direct relationship on potential users of a nursing home. NHA's are employed by the owners of the nursing homes.

3. Benefits to the public clearly outweigh any potential harmful effects such as a decrease in availability of practitioners, higher costs of goods and services.

   We found no evidence to demonstrate that the licensure of NHA's protects the public.

Furthermore, we believe that as a result of the federal requirements, state laws and regulations governing NHA's have proliferated to the point of unnecessarily restricting entry into the profession.

One example of this is the educational qualifications required by Alaska Administrative Code 12.46.010(b). After December 31, 1979, to be licensed as a nursing home administrator, a person will be required to possess a baccalaureate degree in either health care administration or business administration. If the applicants have a business administration degree, they will be required to have one year of experience in a health care facility.

We believe that requirements like this should be set by the employer, not by state regulation. The State does not attempt to require hotel managers or even hospital administrators to possess certain qualifications - to require a NHA to have a degree appears to restrict entry into the profession, not protect the public's welfare.

The following quote comes from the May 16, 1975 House Journal - it is a Statement of Intent from the House Judiciary Committee relating to SB 132, which created the Board of NHA's:

> "In view of the relatively small number of potential licensees, the committee was reluctant to create another Title 8 licensing board and would have preferred to include the licensing of the nursing home administrators in an already existing medical board. However, federal statutes seem to require a Uniform Healing Arts statute or the creation of a separate board. Since Alaska has no such statute, the new board is necessary to comply with federal law. With the numerous medically related licensing boards already in existence, the committee suggests that a Uniform Healing Arts licensing statute, which might be placed under the Department of Health and Social Services instead of the Department of Commerce, be drawn up for legislative consideration."

In addition, both the Board members and the Department of Commerce and Economic Development concurred that the Board should not be reinstated. In view of the position of the legal counsel for HEW, we recommend that appropriate action be initiated to obtain HEW's approval to terminate this Board and allow OL to carry on the licensing function without jeopardizing Medicaid funding.

In the event it is determined that the Board of Nursing Home Administrators must be continued, the following recommendations need Board attention. If the Board is not reinstated, OL should implement the procedures where applicable to solve the problems addressed.

Recommendation No. 2

The statutes and regulations which govern the licensing requirements for nursing home administrators should be complied with and should be applied to all applicants on a consistent basis.

In testing individual NHA licensing files in OL we found that certain requirements for licensing are either totally disregarded or are not being applied consistently to all applicants.

The following problems were noted which need special Board attention:

a) The regulations (AAC 12.46.070(1)) require a sworn statement of continued good moral character by an administrator for renewal of a NHA license.

   The renewal forms used for the 1978 renewals did not contain this statement.

b) Educational requirements have not been consistently applied. An associate degree in administration is required for licensure, as of January 1, 1978. Since that date, five persons have been licensed who do not meet this qualification.

c) The Board has not consistently enforced continuing education requirements. Two administrators were denied renewal of their licenses because they did not meet the Board standards. However, other administrators, in similar situations, were given credit for their continuing education (see Recommendation No. 3).

d) The regulations (AAC 12.46.020(3)) require applicants for licensure to submit official college transcripts. There is a difference of opinion between the licensing examiner at OL and the Board as to what constitutes an "official transcript" - whether the transcript should come to OL directly from the applicant's college or whether a notarized copy from the applicant is sufficient.

e) The Board has violated the Administrative Procedures Act (Alaska Statutes 44.62. 330 - 630) by not notifying the two administrators, whose license renewals were denied, of their right of due process in the reinstatement of their licenses.

A possible explanation for these exceptions is that the regulations are either too vague and leave much room for interpretation, or they are unreasonable. For example, before 1978, a licensee was required to have one year of administrative experience. However, "administrative experience" is not defined in the regulations. The regulation now in effect which requires an associate degree in administration is unduly restrictive. Other degrees, such as nursing, may make the person equally qualified.

We recommend that applicable laws and statutes be strictly and consistently applied to all applicants for licensure. If a statute or regulation cannot be complied with or applied consistently because it is ambiguous or unreasonable, the Board should take the initiative to have the statute or regulation amended.

Recommendation No. 3

Continuing education requirements should be reasonably applied on a consistent basis.

As noted in Recommendation No. 2, continuing education (CE) requirements have not been applied consistently to NHA licensees. The two licensees referred to in the Recommendation were denied renewal for the following reasons: they did not obtain 60-day prior approval of the courses submitted for continuing education credit as required by the Board; they did not provide the Board with proof of attendance at the continuing education course; and/or they did not complete the continuing education requirement in 1977. As pointed out, other administrators in similar situations were given credit for their continuing education.

In addition, one person was granted renewal of his 1978 license even though he had not attended a continuing education course.

Ten of the fourteen responses received to the questionnaires we sent to NHA's indicated that the Board's handling of the continuing education requirement is not satisfactory. Common complaints about the continuing education requirements were as follows: the Board is slow in responding to inquiries about continuing education; requests for approval of continuing education courses were not acknowledged in adequate time to allow the NHA to attend the course; there are no written criteria for acceptable continuing education courses.

We recommend that the Board apply CE requirements consistently to all licensees. In addition, the following recommendations should make the continuing education requirement more equitable:

1. The requirement that non-academic continuing education courses be approved 60 days in advance is unreasonable. Failure to submit an advance request for the approval of a course should not be grounds in itself for denial of the renewal of a license. The Board should establish a system to respond to requests for approval of courses in a timely manner.

2. Responses to the questionnaires indicated that many licensees did not know what the continuing education requirements were. We recommend the Board inform each administrator about the continuing education requirements and the procedures to be followed in fulfilling each requirement.

3. The Board should set down written criteria to outline the types of academic and non-academic courses, workshops and/or seminars which are acceptable to the Board for continuing education credit. These criteria should be added to the regulations.

4. A section should be added to the regulations to allow the Board some latitude in dealing with licensees who absolutely cannot meet the continuing education requirement. Criteria should be set down in the regulations to describe cases where leniency may be required.

Recommendation No. 4

Renewal of nursing home administrator licenses should be required biennially, rather than annually, as currently required by law.

Currently, nursing home administrators are required to renew their licenses annually. This places an undue burden on NHA's and the Board, and is an unnecessary cost to OL.

The yearly renewal increases the paperwork duties of the Board and OL. Since the licensing of NHA's is not a critical matter, this extra paperwork is unnecessary. The other ten health-related boards require only biennial renewal.

Recommendation No. 5

The Board of Nursing Home Administrators should issue provisional licenses in accordance with the statutes.

AS 08.70.130 allows the Board to issue a provisional license to an applicant without examination, if the applicant meets the other requirements for licensure and is needed to fill a vacancy in an administrative position. A provisional license is valid for six months and is nonrenewable. Administrative Code 12 AAC 46.020(d) further states that an applicant for a provisional license shall submit a written statement from his prospective employer of the circumstances of his need to fill the position. Because Alaska Statute 08.70.080 states that only a licensed NHA may be the administrator of a nursing home, an administrator should possess either a provisional or permanent license before he assumes the role of administrator.

We found cases where persons were acting as administrators, but had received neither a provisional nor a permanent license. Three persons were working as administrators and had applied for provisional licenses, but the Board had denied the granting of the provisional licenses.

According to the Board, the granting of provisional licenses has been downplayed by the Board. For Medicaid funding purposes an administrator need only show that he has made an attempt to obtain licensure - the home is not penalized if the administrator has not actually received a license.

In addition to the above problems, we found that where administrators have been granted provisional licenses, the Board has not obtained a letter from the prospective employer as required.

We recommend the Board comply with the statutes and regulations by issuing provisional licenses to nursing home administrators who are working as administrators but are awaiting permanent licensure. Also, the letters from employers should be required.

Recommendation No. 6

An amendment to the regulations is needed to allow license revocation for persons who do not uphold the standards established by the Board.

Presently neither the statutes nor regulations that make actions by nursing home administrators, which are contrary to standards of conduct, grounds for suspension or revocation of a license.

Alaska Administrative Code 12.46.900(5) gives the Board's definition of "good moral character" and is one of the requirements for initial licensure and for license renewal. However, there is nothing expressed in the regulations which makes an act which is contrary to this definition of good moral character a licensing violation.

The Board should comply with Alaska Statute 08.70.050(a)(3) which states:

> The Board shall establish procedures to ensure that licensees continue to uphold the Board's standards; revoke, suspend or refuse to renew licenses of persons who fail to uphold those standards.

In our opinion, certain unethical or illegal acts by nursing home administrators should result in the revocation or suspension of that administrator's license. Examples of such acts are: conviction of a felony relative to work as a nursing home administrator; misconduct in the operation of a nursing home; receiving or paying consideration for solicitation of nursing home patronage.

We recommend an amendment to the regulations making acts of this type grounds for revocation or suspension of a license. The addition should ensure that any proceedings to revoke, suspend, or deny renewal of a license will be carried out according to the Administrative Procedures Act (Alaska Statutes, Title 44.62.330-630).

Recommendation No. 7

The Board of Nursing Home Administrators should establish formal goals, objectives and quantifiable measures which should be included in the OL's budget document.

Objectives describe what an agency or Board is seeking to accomplish during a specific year. Well formulated objectives are capable of measurement and should include numerical targets so that actual accomplishments can be compared with stated targets. Without goals and objectives, the Board's performance cannot be adequately evaluated and analyzed.

OL established its own budget goals and objectives. The budget documents do not include any goals or measures for individual boards. Without the Board's goals and measures being identified or measured, neither the Governor's Office nor the Legislature can evaluate the Board's performance.

In addition, the Board is required by statute AS 08.70.050(5) to submit annual activity reports to the Governor and the Legislature. Since the inception of the Board in 1975, the Board has not prepared an annual report. We recommend the Board submit these annual reports as required.

Recommendation No. 8

The Division of Occupational Licensing should collect, record and maintain for five years files and statistics of license and testing applicants and related workload of the licensing examiner.

The Division needs relevant facts and statistics for evaluating the performance of its personnel and Board activity. Many past records have not been collected and maintained, such as:

1. Number of nursing home administrators licensed each year and total number of licensed nursing home administrators;

2. Records of those applicants failing the examination;

3. Number of applicants denied the chance to take the examination due to lack of qualifications;

4. Number of complaints and criticisms about the performance of the Board and its staff;

5. Correspondence workload of license examiners;

6. Number of persons requesting applications.

It is to the advantage of the Division to keep these records in order to support its budget request, evaluate its personnel and keep the Board informed as to its progress. Also, feedback from the Board and the public should be encouraged to determine whether staff performance is adequate.

ANALYSIS OF PUBLIC NEED

Limited Analysis

The following analyses indicate both positive and negative attainments as Board activities relate to the public need factors defined in the "Sunset" law. These analyses are not intended to be comprehensive in nature, but address those areas we were able to cover within the scope of our review.

In the event it is determined that the Board of Nursing Home Administrators must be continued, the following recommendations need Board attention. If the Board is not reinstated, OL should implement the procedures where applicable to solve the problems addressed.

I. The extent to which the board, commission or program has operated in the public interest.

1. We have determined that no public need for the Board has been demonstrated. The Board was created to comply with federal regulations (see Recommendation No. 1).

II. The extent to which the operation of the board, commission, or agency program has been impeded or enhanced by existing statutes, procedures, and practices which it has adopted, and any other matter, including budgetary, resource, and personnel matters.

1. Until June of 1978, the Board was operating with only three members. The Board feels it was greatly hindered by not having a full Board. The lack of appointments is due to the Governor's Office not making timely appointments (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. Because of high turnover within the Division of Occupational Licensing, the Board of Nursing Home Administrators has had a number of different licensing examiners. This has caused a lack of continuity in licensing requirements.

3. The statutes require yearly renewal of NHA licenses. The Board agrees that this yearly renewal requirement places an undue burden on the licensing examiner, the Board and the licensees (see Recommendation No. 4).

III. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has recommended statutory changes which are generally of benefit to the public interest.

1. The make-up of the Board by statute originally included one NHA, one medical doctor, one nurse and two public members. Because a doctor could not be found to serve on the Board, the Board initiated legislation to change the number of nursing home administrators to two and to delete the requirement of a medical doctor all together.

IV. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged interested persons to report to it concerning the effect of its regulations and decisions on the effectiveness of service, economy of service, and availability of service which it has provided.

1. The public is invited to attend Board meetings and to give their input about the workings of the Board. Notices of meetings are advertised generally one time only in each of four newspapers throughout the State. We found that often the time between the publishing of the notice and the meeting is not sufficient to allow persons wishing to attend a meeting time to prepare for it. The publishing of the advertisements is handled by the Division of Occupational Licensing (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

V. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged public participation in the making of its regulations and decisions.

1. As stated under criteria IV, the public is invited, by published notices in newspapers, to attend Board meetings to give their input about Board regulations.

2. A public hearing was held on February 21, 1977, for the purpose of allowing the public to testify on proposed regulations. One person gave testimony at the hearing. The hearing was held in Juneau.

3. Written testimony was solicited on more proposed regulations in September of 1978. A notice about the proposed regulations was published once in each of four newspapers. The Division received no responses to the solicitation of written testimony.

VI. The efficiency with which public inquiries or complaints regarding the activities of the board, commission or agency filed with it, with the department to which a board or commission is administratively assigned, or with the Office of the Ombudsman have been processed and resolved.

1. Only one complaint involving nursing home administrators has been filed with the Investigations Unit within the Division of Occupational Licensing. The complaint was filed in 1976 and to date, the complaint has not been dealt with (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. Two complaints involving individual nursing homes have been filed with the Human Rights Commission. The complaints have been resolved by the Commission.

VII. The extent to which a board or commission which regulates entry into an occupation or profession has presented qualified applicants to serve the public.

1. The Board has regulated the licensure of nursing home administrators to the point of unnecessarily restricting entry into the profession (see Recommendation No. 1).

2. The Board has not consistently applied these regulations; five persons licensed in 1978 do not meet the educational criteria set down by the Board (see Recommendation No. 2).

3. The Board is not issuing provisional licenses in compliance with the statutes; thus administrators are operating nursing homes before receiving either a provisional or permanent license (see Recommendation No. 5).

4. Alaska Statute 08.70.080 specifically exempts the administrators of the Alaska Pioneers Homes from having to be licensed as NHA's. The State nursing homes do not have to maintain the standards that are expected of private nursing homes.

VIII. The extent to which state personnel practices, including affirmative action requirements, have been complied with by the board, commission or agency to its own activities and the area of activity or interest.

1. We found evidence in the Board's correspondence that the Board considered affirmative action requirements in drawing up the application for licensure as a NHA. However, the application does contain questions which could lead to discrimination against the applicant (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

IX. The extent to which statutory, regulatory, budgeting or other changes are necessary to enable the agency, board or commission to better serve the interests of the public and to comply with the factors enumerated in this subsection.

1. The Division of Occupational Licensing in conjunction with the Board should prepare a procedures manual to be used by the licensing examiner in conducting the Board's business.

2. The Board of Nursing Home Administrators should be added to the lists of boards, commissions and/or agencies which come under the Administrative Procedures Act and the Central Licensing Act. This is a technicality since the Board is covered by both acts.

3. Please refer also to the Findings and Recommendations section of this report and the OL Performance Audit Report.

APPENDIX C

QUESTIONNAIRE SENT TO BOARD MEMBERS
(see Note 1)

1. What do you believe to be the goals and objectives of the Board of Nursing Home Administrators?

Description

To adopt standards for licensing nursing home administrators.

To examine, license and renew licenses of qualified persons.

To establish procedures to ensure that licensees continue to uphold the Board's standards.

To adopt criteria for educational programs for preparing for the licensing examination and for continuing education for licensees.

To keep a record of its proceedings and submit annual reports to the Governor and the Legislature.

2. Do you believe that the Board is achieving its goals as you perceive them in question number 1? Please show how the goals and objectives are or are not being achieved.

Description

The goals are being met, however, they could be more effectively met with a complete Board.

The objectives are being met by regulations.

Objectives are met by examining applicants twice yearly and licensing and renewing licenses yearly.

Criteria for continuing education programs have been established.

One year, an annual report was written by a Board member while in other years, the Board submitted to the examiner a list of activities and achievements.

3. Is the staff from the Department of Commerce and/or other departments adequate to perform all the administrative and enforcement duties necessary for the operation of the Board? What staff support services are provided adequately/inadequately?

Description

The current examiner and staff are performing all the duties required by the Board.

In the past, many problems were caused by continual staff turnover.

4. Are there any statutes or regulations that you believe to be obsolete, vague, unduly restrictive, and/or inadequate to provide the Board with the responsibility and power to properly govern the purpose and activities of the Board? Please list and explain.

Description

AS.08.70.140(a): yearly renewal is too frequent and the paperwork creates a burden on both the licensee and the Division.

AS. 08.70.150(3): License Fees should be changed to $100 every two years.

AS. 08.70.020: The Board has never had five members because the Office of the Governor has not appointed that number at any one time.

5. Do you think any changes should be made to the current continuing education requirements? If so, please state what changes could be made and why.

Description

Both responses were no. One member did indicate that the 60-day requirement was needed by the Board for prior approval but due to unexpected circumstances on the part of the licensee, it was not always possible.

6. What changes could be made to the Board which would improve its service to the public?

Description

The appointment of a full five-member board is necessary and important to provide sufficient input and representation from all portions of the State.

7. Any other comments?

Description

Criteria is needed for the removal of a Board member for cause - namely, inactivity or nonperformance.

Also, assurance that a timely replacement will be effected is essential due to the small size of the Board. Presently, all members of the Board are necessary for a quorum.

At some future time, the Department may be able to perform the duties now performed by this Board, but until such a time that the regulations are completed and proven through usage, this Board should remain intact.

The Board is more capable of setting standards and monitoring and would have continuing validity for its existance.

Note 1

At the time this questionnaire was mailed from the Division of Legislative Audit there were only three members on the Board of Nursing Home Administrators. Each of the three board members was sent a questionnaire and Legislative Audit received two responses which are summarized above.

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

We have reviewed your preliminary reports as shown below:

1. Board of Examiners in Optometry
2. Board of Dispensing Opticians
3. Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners
4. Board of Chiropractic Examiners
5. Alaska State Medical Board
6. Board of Veterinary Examiners
7. State Physical Therapy Board
8. Board of Pharmacy
9. Board of Nursing
10. Board of Nursing Home Administrators
11. Board of Dental Examiners
12. Alaska Transportation Commission

We view these reviews of agency programs and activities which are specifically subject to termination in a manner different from those made of State departments or agencies. Usually we in the Executive Branch endeavor to respond directly to each finding and recommendation. However, in regard to the Boards and Commissions, the Executive Branch agency during a public hearing shall demonstrate a public need for its continued existence or the discontinuation of the program, and the extent to which any change in the manner of exercise of its functions or activities may increase efficiency of administration or operation consistent with the public interest.

The Executive Branch of Alaska Government has made an extensive study of the above Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission. We are continuing to study those entities, their origin, their present and future potential, and other related subjects in conjunction with Alaska statutes 24 and 44 (Sunset Legislation). As prescribed in AS 44.66.050 one or more legislative hearings are to be held to receive testimony from the public, the Commissioner of the department having administrative responsibility for each, and the members of the Boards or Commission involved. During those hearings we will present our findings and recommendations affecting each of the foregoing Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission.

Accordingly, we are presenting this in addition to the responses from the Department of Commerce, Department of Law, and the individual Board or Commission members and others on an interim basis.

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

The following comments are in response to the Performance Review of the Board of Nursing Home Administrators, as submitted by the Division of Legislative Audit.

Recommendation No. 1. Agreed. We agree that if the board is not a federal requirement to qualify for medicade funds should be allowed to terminate, and the examining and licensing functions should be assumed by the division. We further concur that board policies and regulations are in need of review.

Recommendation No. 2. Agreed. Regulations that are in effect should be complied with. This recommendation will be discussed with the board at its next meeting and appropriate revisions promulgated.

Recommendation No. 3. Agreed. This will be discussed with the board at its next regular meeting.

Recommendation No. 4. Agreed. This would be consistent with renewal requirements for all other boards and will be discussed at the next meeting.

Recommendation No. 5. Agreed. Statutory and regulatory provisions should be utilized uniformly. The board and the division will discuss this and initiate appropriate enforcement procedures.

Recommendation No. 6. Agreed. Such provisions would be consistent with those of other boards and will be discussed.

08-H8LH

Recommendation No. 7. Agreed. The board's objectives and goals will be incorporated within the division's budget document. This board, and all others, will be contacted in March or April, 1979 for input into the FY 1981 budget.

Recommendation No. 8. Agreed. Complete reorganization of files and procedures within the division are expected to be accomplished by the end of calendar year 1979. Some changes have recently been initiated by the division.

Through: Mr. B. B. Allen, Commissioner
Department of Administration

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

Ms. Dove M. Kull and I have reviewed the Preliminary Audit report on A Performance Review of the Board of Nursing Home Administrators, October 20, 1978, sent with your letter of November 20, 1978. Our responses to the report conclusions and recommendations in the report are as follows:

Kull: Report Conclusion.--I question this and request backup reasoning. I recommend licenses be issued for 2 years with the potential (if the nursing home is operating well) of 3 years or even 4 years. The review for the renewal need not be so detailed as the initial licensing.

Recommendation No. 1.--We recommend that appropriate action be initiated to obtain U. S. Department of HEW approval to terminate the Board of Nursing Home Administrators and allow the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) to assume the licensing function without jeopardizing Medicaid funds.

Hanna: I concur with this recommendation providing the Division of Occupational Licensing is properly staffed to assume the responsibilities of the Board. As of now, they are not staffed to properly provide the support functions we request.

However, I strongly disagree with the reasons set forth in support of this recommendation. I believe the present system of licensing Nursing Home Administration is in the public interest and does provide a measure of protection to the potential users. I do not agree that the employer can be relied upon in all cases to set adequate standards.

Kull: I strongly disagree until I know the rationale for the recommendation.

Recommendation No. 2.--The statutes and regulations which govern the licensing requirements for nursing home administrators should be complied with and should be applied to all applicants on a consistent basis.

Hanna: I agree with this finding. However, this situation again is a reflection on the Division of Occupational Licensing rather than the Board.

Kull: Page 8, paragraph 3. There should be evidence presented to confirm the protection is being provided by the Board.

I do not agree that the employer should set the requirements.

Page 10, paragraph (d). The college transcript should come from the college.

Recommendation No. 3.--Continuing education requirements should be reasonably applied on a consistent basis.

Hanna: I agree with this finding.

1. The Board will address the 60-day advance approval requirement. It appears that after-the-fact approvals may be the appropriate stand.

2. I believe it is incumbent on the licensees to be knowledgeable of the CE requirements.

3. This has been done and is set forth under 12 AAC 46.040.

4. We believe a 2-year licensing period will alleviate this situation.

Kull: Page 11, paragraph 3. I agree the Board should set down written criteria. See comment 3 above.

Recommendation No. 4.--Renewal of nursing home administrator licenses should be required biennially, rather than annually, as currently required by law.

Hanna and Kull: We agree with this finding. Legislation is being drafted to accomplish this.

Recommendation No. 5.--The Board of Nursing Home Administrators should issue provisional licenses in accordance with the statutes.

Hanna: I don't agree with the recommendation as stated. The statutes for provisional licenses as written are too restrictive since examinations are offered only twice a year. I believe the manner in which the Board has dealt with this situation is satisfactory.

Recommendation No. 6.--An amendment to the regulations is needed to allow license revocation for persons who do not uphold the standards established by the Board.

Hanna: I will not quarrel with this recommendation. However, I believe there are adequate provisions to handle such a situation should it occur. To date, the Board has had no problem in this area.

Kull: I agree with this recommendation

Recommendation No. 7.--The Board of Nursing Home Administrators should establish formal goals, objectives, and quantifiable measures which should be included in the OL's budget document.

Hanna: The Board wishes to be on record that it has prepared and made available annual reports to the Division of Occupational Licensing, which have been returned.

Kull: I agree (see above comment).

Recommendation No. 8.--The Division of Occupational Licensing should collect, record, and maintain for 5 years files and statistics of license and testing applicants and related workload of the licensing examiner.

Hanna and Kull: We agree that such records should be kept by the Division of Occupational Licensing and the Board stands ready to cooperate.

Kull: Page 18, paragraph VI-1. This situation raises the question: Why hasn't the complaint been dealt with?

Page 19, 1st paragraph. What are these questions which could lead to discrimination against the applicant?

Page 19, IX - 1 & 2. I agree with these recommendations.

Mrs. Dove Kull has also reviewed the Preliminary Audit Report on a Performance Review of the Division of Occupational Licensing, Department of Commerce and Economic Development. She offers the following comments, in which I also concur.

Recommendation No. 1.--The Division of Occupational Licensing's investigation unit should be transferred to the Department of Public Safety.

I question this recommendation and request the reasons for it.

Page 7, item 2. Regarding the investigations made: Who investigates nursing home complaints? Are these persons qualified? Are the staff members of the DHSS? If not, they should be. Pertinent data is needed as to the number of investigative staff and the number of hours spent in investigation. Also, why didn't the Division hire the number of investigators authorized? (20 of 43 man-months were vacant during FY78).

In this area, there is no apparent accountability, which should be required. Follow-up should be routine.

Recommendation No. 3.--The Office of the Governor should keep the appointments of members of the occupational licensing boards current.

I believe this is an excellent recommendation.

Page 10. A talent pool is an excellent suggestion. Why not more retired persons who have expertise in the fields needed?

Recommendation No. 4.--Legislation should be enacted limiting the length of service for all board members to two consecutive terms.

This is a good recommendation

Recommendation No. 5.--The Department of Commerce and Economic Development should improve the operation, security and internal control of the 3M-Linolex minicomputer system.

This is also an excellent recommendation. The suggestion of an Operating Procedures Manual under paragraph 7 is especially good.

Recommendation No. 6.--The Department of Commerce and Economic Development should review the license fee structure of all boards and seek appropriate revisions.

I concur in the need for a review of licensing fees.

Page 13. Recommendations No. 7 and No. 8 are very good. Let the Department, Governor's office, the Boards, and the public know the results of licensing, etc.

Recommendation No. 10.--The 11 health-related boards, in conjunction with the Division of Occupational Licensing, should review their applications for licensure and delete any questions which could lead to discrimination against applicants.

This is an excellent recommendation and is needed to remain legal.

Recommendation No. 11.--The Department of Commerce and Economic Development should improve formal board minutes.

I agree. Improvement in formal board minutes is urgently needed.

Recommendation No. 12.--The Department of Commerce and Economic Development and all licensing boards should ensure that public notices of examinations are sufficiently and timely advertised.

This is a good recommendation.

Sincerely yours,

Sarah Jane Hanna

PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF THE REVIEW

Purpose

In accordance with the intent of Alaska Statutes 24.20.271(1) and 44.66.050 (sunset legislation), a review of the Board of Pharmacy was conducted to review Board activities and accomplishments to determine if the Board has been operating in an effective, efficient and economical manner.

As required by legislative intent, this report shall be considered during the legislative oversight function in determing whether the Board of Pharmacy should be reestablished. The law currently specifies that this Board will terminate on June 30, 1979, but will continue until June 30, 1980 for the purpose of concluding its affairs.

Scope

The major areas reviewed were the Board's operations and its licensing, examination, administration, complaint and affirmative action functions. Our review consisted of analyzing and evaluating the following:

(1) Applicable statutes and Board regulations;

(2) Interviews with Board members and questionnaires sent to the Board;

(3) Interviews with health agencies and professional associations;

(4) Tests of records and documents of the Board and the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL), Department of Commerce and Economic Development;

(5) Interviews with OL employees;

(6) Complaints filed with OL, the Ombudsman's Office, Consumer Affairs Agency, and the Equal Employment Opportunity Office; and

(7) Questionnaires sent to state licensed pharmacists.

Scope Constraints

This review was hampered by the following constraints:

(1) The Board has not established and reported financial and program plans as required by AS 37.07.050 nor has it developed and reported performance information regarding its effectiveness and accomplishments as required by AS 37.07.090.

(2) The Division of Occupational Licensing has not adequately collected, recorded and maintained pertinent files and statistics relating to the Board to effectively and efficiently carry out their administrative responsibilities.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTION

The Board of Pharmacy is a regulatory board with seven members; five pharmacists licensed in the State having 3 three years practical experience, and two public members with no direct financial interest in the health care industry. It is desired to have each of the four judicial districts represented by at least one Board member.

The Board regulates six groups engaged in pharmacy in the State; pharmacists, intern pharmacists, retail pharmacies, wholesale pharmacies, drug rooms, and shopkeepers. The function of the Board is to determine the minimum quality of pharmacy in the State by:

1. Examining and issuing licenses to qualified applicants;

2. Establishing or amending rules and regulations necessary and desirable to enforce State statutes; and

3. Holding hearings in order to revoke, annul or suspend the license of a person violating the pharmacy statutes and regulations.

Applicants for registration as a pharmacist are required to pass an examination by a board of pharmacy approved by the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy (NABP). Those seeking registration in Alaska by examination must also pass a prescription and jurisprudence examination for Alaska. It is required that this segment be graded by a Board member residing in a different judicial district than the applicant.

Statutes have given the Board the power to waive the examination if applicants meet certain qualifications in order to grant a license by endorsement. A temporary license, valid for three months or until the next regular Board meeting, whichever is longer, may be issued upon certification by a Board member of a written or oral exam passage and meeting other certain qualifications. Another waiver is an emergency permit, which requires proof of holding a license in good standing in a state recognized by NABP. This permit is valid for a period not to exceed 60 days.

REPORT CONCLUSION

Policy Issues

This review contains policy issues raised as a result of out evaluation of various Board practices. The final policy decisions affecting these practices are not within the scope of this review but require legislative consideration. In debating these decisions, the legislative oversight committees should take into consideration the findings and alternatives presented in this report so that the potential impact of policy changes can be evaluated.

Report Conclusion

In our opinion, the Board of Pharmacy should continue to be the body that regulates and licenses its profession. The regulation and licensing of the professionals, pharmacies and drug rooms is necessary to protect the public health, safety and welfare.

The practice of pharmacy is regulated by the Alaska State Board of Pharmacy. Also, the Board is required to license shopkeepers dispensing non-prescription drugs. Because the practice of pharmacy affects the public's health, safety and welfare, we believe pharmacists should be subject to regulations and controls. The establishment of minimum educational and experience requirements provides the public with a reasonable assurance that persons licensed are qualified. In addition, an active investigation of complaints assure the public that those licensed continue to practice in a competent manner. In our opinion, these functions have been performed by the Board of Pharmacy.

However, we are making recommendations which, if implemented, will improve the effectiveness of the Board in serving the Alaska public.

We recommend the Board fulfill all of its statutory responsibilities to adopt regulations, report to the Legislature, and to issue shopkeeper permits while seeking changes in the Alaska Statutes (see Recommendation No. 1).

We recommend that qualified pharmacist applicants, who are licensed in another state, but who have not had 540 hours of postgraduate internship, be licensed. In addition, we recommend licensed pharmacists be required to demonstrate continued competency through continuing education or re-examination (see Recommendation No. 2 and 3).

We recommend that the Board comply with statutory requirements for grading examinations and establish internal controls to assure that the administration of examinations is not open to accusations of bias (see Recommendation No. 4).

We recommend legislation be considered to establish an annual inspection of pharmacies by the Board. Presently, some inspections are being performed by the Board. We recommend this program be formalized to provide additional public protection (see Recommendation No. 5).

We recommend a limitation on the consecutive number of terms a Board member can serve. Although we found many examples of commendable public service on the part of Board members, several pharmacists have complained the Board members do not represent all pharmacists (see Recommendation No. 6).

In addition, we recommend the Board promulgate regulations which will define and list examples of acts by pharmacists which should be considered licensing violations (see Recommendation No. 7).

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Findings and Recommendations No. 1 through No. 8 are addressed to the Board of Pharmacy. Findings and Recommendations No. 9 and No. 10 are addressed to the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) and should be read in conjunction with "A Performance Review of the Division of Occupational Licensing, Department of Commerce and Economic Development, October 30, 1978", issued under separate cover.

Recommendation No. 1

The Board of Pharmacy should fulfill all of its statutory responsibilities while seeking necessary statutory changes.

The Board of Pharmacy has not:

A. Issued a list of potentially dangerous ingredients or preparations that may be sold only under the direct supervision of a licensed pharmacist as required by AS 03.80.040(6).

In 1974, the Board issued proposed regulations which listed potentially dangerous ingredients and preparations which could be sold only under the direct supervision of a licensed pharmacist. The proposed regulations also included a list of non-prescription drugs which could be sold by stores other than licensed pharmacies, provided those stores had a State issued shopkeepers permit.

Due to the potential anti-competive effect of these regulations, they were not approved by the Department of Law. We agree the regulations would have restricted competition and reduced the vailability of non-prescription drugs.

The need for additional controls on non-prescription drugs, preparations and ingredients is questionable. The public protection afforded by additional controls, especially those mandated by AS 08.80.040(6) is not likely to outweigh the anti-competitive effects and the reduced availability of non-prescription drugs. As a result, repeal of AS 08.80.040(6) should be considered.

If state drug laws, in conjunction with Federal drug laws, do not adequately protect the public, revision of those statutes should be considered. This might be accomplished by the adoption of a uniform Controlled Substances Act, as recommended by the Board of Pharmacy.

If AS 08.80.040(6) is not repealed, the Board of Pharmacy, with the help of the Department of Law, should prepare regulations addressing potentially dangerous ingredients and preparations which are not anti-competive and are consistent with other State and Federal drug laws.

B. Issued shopkeeper permits as required by AS 08.80.040(7).

Currently, the Board is recommending the repeal of the statutes requiring permits for shopkeepers who dispense non-prescription drugs. We agree that this permit is not needed. The issuance of a shopkeepers permit to a grocery store that sells aspirin increases government, business and individual costs while doing little to protect the public.

Repeal of the statutes relating to the issuance of shopkeeper permit should be considered. However, if these statutes are not repealed the Board should begin issuing the shopkeeper permits.

C. Adopted into their regulations a schedule of fines for violation of the substitution statute as required by AS 08.80.460.

Adequate enforcement of protective regulations requires the adoption of penalties for violations. Although the Board approved a schedule of fines in January, 1977, OL did not draft regulations for Board approval and public hearings.

D. Submitted an annual report to the Legislature on the condition of pharmacy within Alaska as required by AS 08.80.040(4).

Although the Board requested OL to prepare the 1976 report the last report submitted was for 1974.

The annual report to the Legislature can be used to advise the Legislature of the Board's goals and achievements as well as the current problems and needs, especially statutory changes needed within the pharmacy profession.

In order to assure that its statutory responsibilities are fulfilled, the Board should follow up on all Board requests for OL action.

Recommendation No. 2

Consideration should be given to statutory changes needed to assure that all qualified applicants are licensed and that all licensed pharmacists remain qualified.

The following areas require consideration:

A. The Board of Pharmacy is recommending a change in the statutes which will require 540 hours of postgraduate internship in order to be licensed by endorsement. This change will make the requirements for licensure by endorsement consistent with the basic licensure requirements. However, since 32 states do not require a postgraduate internship for licensure, the change could restrict qualified licensed pharmacists from other states from obtaining Alaska licensure.

It is the Board's policy to allow licensed work experience to substitute for a postgraduate internship requirement for endorsement purposes. We believe that this substitution provision is necessary. However, the recommendation statute change does not allow for this substitution.

If the Board's recommended changes in the endorsement requirement are adopted, they should be accompanied by a provision which allows licensed work experience to substitute for the internship.

B. The statutes do not require a pharmacist to demonstrate continued competency in order to renew a current license. Although the Board encourages continuing education by pharmacists, it has not recommended continuing education be a requirement for licensure renewal. Nor has the Board recommended any other methods, such as a reexamination, to ensure the continued competency of licensed pharmacists.

Thirty-nine percent of the licensed pharmacists who responded to our questionnaire said they thought continuing education should be a requirement for license renewal (see Appendix F). We believe that some competency indicator is needed. In addition, competency requirements should be consistently applied, unless a hardship can be demonstrated to the Board.

A pharmacist who has not practiced for three or more years, but who has kept his license renewed can begin practicing again without proof of competency. However, if that pharmacist allows his registration to lapse for 2 or more years AS 08.80.250 requires the pharmacist to satisify the Board of his competence. All pharmacists' license renewals should based on the indication of continued competency.

If continuing educational requirements are established, they should allow the Board some discretionary latitude in the application of these competency requirements. Continuing education requirements may place an undue hardship on certain rural pharmacists. Rather than deny relicensure and reduce pharmaceutical care in rural areas, the Board should be allowed the right to waive this requirement in special cases.

Recommendation No. 3

The Board of Pharmacy should ensure that all qualified applicants are licensed.

In response to our questionnaire, pharmacists stated that the Board is not following the statutes in issuing licenses. The following Board policies either support those statements or make it difficult to determine if unjustified license denial has occurred.

A. Temporary licenses are denied to endorsement applicants contrary to the law. During the October 5, 1978 meeting of the Board, an applicant was denied a temporary license because he did not have 540 hours of postgraduate internship.

Internship is not currently a statutory requirement for licensure by endorsement. However, the Board has interpeted the law in a manner which supports their actions.

We recommend that the Board obtain a legal opinion on this matter before denying any more temporary permits on the basis of an internship requirement.

B. It is Board policy not to accept California, Florida or Hawaii licensure for endorsement. This is because these three states do not grant licenses by reciprocity. The fact that other states restrict licensure should not justify the denial of Alaska licensure by endorsement for qualified applicants from those states. The Board should apply endorsement to qualified applicants from all states. In cases where the applicant can not show proof of qualifications, licensure should not be granted.

C. Currently, applications are being sumitted by applicants directly to Board members for processing.

It is the policy of the Board to forward the original application documents to OL.

Although there is no evidence of improprieties on the part of the Board, there is no assurance all applications are received by OL, or that the Board does not arbitrarily refuse to accept an application for licensure. In addition, because OL does not have data on applicants denied licensure, we can not determine the extent of license denial or if inappropriate denial has occured.

Because AS 08.01.050 places this responsibility on the Department, and in order to reduce the potential for criticism, all applications for licensure should be submitted by the applicant directly to OL. This would also allow OL to generate accurate statistics on pharmacy applications and licensure.

D. License application forms may not comply with Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) guidelines. The forms currently used request information from the applicant which is not essential to determine an applicants qualifications for licensure. In order to ensure that application forms do not request information which could result in unlawful discrimination of applicants, the Board should, in conjunction with the Division, seek legal council and if necessary review and revise these forms (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

Recommendation No. 4

The Board of Pharmacy should revise examination procedures to ensure conformance with Departmental policy and statutory requirements.

The following examination procedures require the Board's attention:

A. Jurisprudence examinations are administered without the presence of a Department or otherwise independent observer. This practice leaves the Board open to accusations of partiality during the administering of examinations.

B. Jurisprudence examinations are not graded in accordance with AS 08.80.040(1) which requires examinations to be graded by a Board member who resides in a judicial district other than the district in which the applicant resides. Although the Board has stated that the jurisprudence examination is used primarily as an educational tool, the Board has required the passage of this examination for licensure.

The Board is presently recommending the inclusion of the jurisprudence examination as a requirement for licensure by endorsement.

In light of the current use of the jurisprudence examination and the recommended statutory changes, the Board should revise their procedures to conform with the statutes in order to assure the rights of applicants.

Recommendation No. 5

Legislation is needed which establishes an annual inspection of licensed pharmacies, drug rooms and nursing home dispensaries by the Board of Pharmacy.

The Board of Pharmacy has established a pharmacy inspection program. The Board should be commended for initiating this needed program.

The current inspection program is carried out in two ways. First, retail pharmacists inspect their own stores and return a completed inspection form to the Board. Secondly, Board members perform on-site inspections of pharmacies.

In response to our questionnaire several licensed pharmacists have mentioned a need for a more extensive inspection program. Several states, such as Washington, have very extensive pharmacy inspection programs and all states have an annual pharmacy inspection. Inspections help ensure pharmacies are sanitary, sufficiently equipped and that drugs are dispensed according to the law.

The Board could carry on a systematic annual inspection of pharmacies for a reasonable cost. By continuing to utilize Board member expertise, a comprehensive program could be implemented for an estimated $5,500 in per diem and $6,000 in travel expenses. This is substantially less than hiring a full-time pharmacy inspector, at an estimated cost of $60,000.

Specific legislation is needed to clarify the Board's authority to perform and require a pharmacy inspection. A possible method off-setting the cost of an inspection program would be to require an annual inspection fee from pharmacies doing business in the State.

Recommendation No. 6

Board appointment policies and a code of conduct for Board members should be developed, documented and adopted.

Currently several conditions exist within the Board of Pharmacy which should be noted:

A. Board membership does not represent all segments of the pharmacy profession. Hospital and employee pharmacists are not represented by Board membership.

B. By the time current terms expire, one Board member will have served 20 consecutive years on the Board while two other members will have served fifteen consecutive years. In addition, a previous Board member served for twenty-five consecutive years.

C. Of the members of the Board, two are public members and five are licensed pharmacists.

In response to our questionnaire, several licensed pharmacists said the Board should be more representative of the profession and there should be increased opportunities to serve on the Board. We agree that a regulatory board should have reasonable turnover in membership. This could be accomplished by limiting appointments to two consecutive terms. However, this should not be considered criticism of the individual members. In our review, we found many examples of commendable public service and self-sacrifice on the part of the Board members.

Because the regulations, and policies of the Board of Pharmacy have a substantial impact on the health, welfare, and ultimately the pharmaceutical costs paid by the public, the use of additional public members is desirable. Knowledgeable active public members provide a valuable point of view otherwise absent on a board on which a substantial majority of the members are license holders.

In addition to improving membership appointment policies a code of conduct for Board members needs to be set down in writing by OL. The Board has an unwritten code of ethics within its membership. There is evidence that this code has been adhered to in numerous cases.

The development and adherence to a formal code of ethics is essential for a regulatory board to ensure conflicts of interest do not occur. The Board of Pharmacy has established an example which should be followed by all boards (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

Recommendation No. 7

The Board of Pharmacy, in conjunction with the Attorney General, should compose formal regulations which define and list examples of license violations.

Alaska Statute 08.80.260 outlines pharmacist license violations which are grounds for the suspension of revocation of a license. The list includes vague terms such as "moral turpitude" and "conduct or habits inconsistent with professional standards", which many pharmacists probably would not understand without a lawyer's advice.

Presently, the Board has not clarified or given examples of violations of "moral turpitude" or "conduct or habits inconsistent with professional standards" in their regulations. The public and the pharmacy profession would be better protected if licensed professionals had better guidance as to what are prohibited acts.

There are several practices which may be covered under "conduct or habits inconsistent with professional standards" which are not specifically listed as licensing violations. Such practices by pharmacists include, but are not limited to:

A. Entering into fee sharing agreements with prescribers;

B. Refusing to provide services to any group of people or organization based on race, religion, creed or ethnic background;

C. Attempting to diagnose, treat or prescribe for diseases or illnesses; and

D. Engaging in false or misleading advertising.

Clearer definitions of improper professional acts would also make it easier for the investigators to determine if a complaint involves a licensing violation (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

Recommendation No. 8

The Board of Pharmacy should establish formal goals, objectives and quantifiable measures which should be included in the OL's budget document.

Objectives describe what an agency or Board is seeking to accomplish during a specific year. Well formulated objectives are capable of measurement and should include numerical targets so that actual acccomplishments can be compared with stated targets. With goals and objectives, the Board's performance cannot be adequately evaluated and analyzed.

OL established its own budget goals and objectives. The budget documents do not include any goals or measures for individual boards. Without the Board's goals and measures being identified or measured, neither the Governor's Office nor the Legislature can evaluate the Board's performance (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

Recommendation No. 9

OL should issue licenses only after the Board, with a quorum present, approves licensure as documented in the meeting minutes.

The Division issues licenses to pharmacists without the documented approval of the Board. Licenses are issued upon the authorization of the Board secretary after he determines an applicant's file is complete and other Board members are notified.

AS 08.80.040 directs the Board to issue licenses. This requires a meeting with a quorum present. Licensing documents should be reviewed by all Board members present at such a meeting in order to ensure adequate review. Action on the individual applicants should be recorded in the meeting minutes.

In order to document for the public record license approvals, as well as other important issues discussed during Board meetings, the Division should include adequate detail of the Board proceedings in the Board minutes. Minutes of past Board meetings do not include enough detail to determine the substance of Board actions.

We recommend that the Board, in coordination with the Division, revise their procedures in order to avoid potential criticism of licensing improprieties and to provide an adequate record of Board action (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

Recommendation No. 10

OL should collect, record and maintain for a five year period files and statistics of license and testing applicants and related workload of the licensing examiner.

The Division needs relevant facts and statistics for evaluating the performance of their personnel and Board activity. Many past records have not been collected and maintained, such as:

1. Number of persons licensed by the Board in past years;

2. Records of those applicants failing the examination;

3. Number of applicants denied the chance to take the examination due lack of qualifications;

4. Number of complaints and criticisms about the performance of the Board and its staff;

5. Correspondence workload of license examiners; and

6. Number of persons requesting applications.

It is to the advantage of the Division to keep these records in order to support their budget request, evaluate their personnel and keep the Board informed as to their progress. Also, feedback from the Board and the public should be encouraged so as to determine whether staff performance is adequate (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

ANALYSIS OF PUBLIC NEED

Limited Analysis

The following analyses indicate both positive and negative attainments as Board activities relate to the public need factors defined in the "Sunset" law. These analyses are not intended to be comprehensive in nature, but address those areas we were able to cover within the scope of our review.

I. The extent to which the board, commission or program has operated in the public interest.

A. The following demonstrate the Board's performance in the public's best interest.

1. The Board has held an average of two meetings a year in various locations in Alaska.

2. The Board has established and adhered to a Code of Ethics for Board members.

3. The Board provides a national examination once a year.

4. The Board has also attempted to pass regulations for potentially dangerous ingredients and fines for violations of the substitution statute.

5. The Board has written proposed regulations for the Medical Board for physician assistants.

B. The Board members' personal actions have been commendable and in the best interests of the public. We observed several examples of self-sacrifice, and of placing the needs of the public before the needs of the profession.

II. The extent to which the operation of the board, commission, or agency program has been impeded or enhanced by existing statutes, procedures, and practices which it has adopted, and any other matter, including budgetary, resource, and personnel matters.

A. The following enhanced the performance of the Board of Pharmacy:

1. Active knowledgeable Board members seeking to assure that pharmacy is practiced in the best interest of the public (see Appendix F).

2. The Board received funding and support from OL in the amount of $17,500 (see Appendix A).

B. The following practices have impeded the Board's performance:

1. The investigative staff has not informed the Board of all licensing complaints (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. The Board believed that OL has not been able to provide adequate support, for example regulations passed were not drafted for public hearings (see Recommendation No. 2).

3. There has been a high turnover in clerical support in OL hindering the Board performance. One member believed that a full-time clerical support position would enhance the Board's performance.

4. Alaska's drug laws do not agree with federal drug laws creating conflicting legal requirements for pharmacists.

III. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has recommended statutory changes which are generally of benefit to the public interest.

A. The Board of Pharmacy has recommended many statutory changes which are generally of benefit to the public interest. The following is a brief summary. Some recommendations have been made several times.

1. The Board has requested that Title 17 be deleted and that the Uniform Controlled Substance Act be adopted.

2. The Board requested additional authority to investigate improper practices of pharmacy (AS 08.80.030(c)).

3. The Board has requested physicians be required to label prescriptions (AS. 08.80.400).

4. The Board has requested that shopkeeper permits not be required (AS 08.80.040).

5. The Board recommended fines for noncompliance with the substitution law (AS 08.80.295).

6. The Board has requested statute changes to require applicants licensed by endorsement to pass a Jurisprudence Examination (see Recommendation No. 4).

IV. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged interested persons to report to it concerning the effect of its regulations and decisions on the effectiveness of service, economy of service, and availability of service which it has provided.

A. We found no evidence the Board has encouraged interested persons to report to it. The minutes are not sufficient to determine the extent of public participation. We were told by the Board members that they encouraged public participation, and that concerned persons had reported to the Board.

B. The Board members did not believe that it was a Board function to increase the availability of pharmacists in the State (see Appendix E).

V. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged public participation in the making of its regulations and decisions.

A. The Board's meetings, examinations, and public hearings are advertised in newspapers, by OL, to encourage public participation. There were cases noted where two tests were advertised 12 days or less before the examination was given. This is clearly not a sufficient time lapse. We found no other indication the public has been encouraged to participate (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

VI. The efficiency with which public inquiries or complaints regarding the activities of the board, commission or agency filed with it, with the department to which a board or commission is administratively assigned, or with the office of the ombudsman have been processed and resolved.

A. The only complaints we became aware of concerning the Board were from persons responding to our questionnaire. There were two areas of concern:

1) The board membership does not reflect the employee pharmacists and hospital pharmacists (see Recommendation No. 6 and Appendix F).

2) The board inspection program is not sufficient to protect the public (see Recommendation No. 5 and Appendix F).

VII. The extent to which a board or commission which regulates entry into an occupation or profession has presented qualified applicants to serve the public.

A. The Board has actively pursued complaints and inquiries. We observed cases where the Board has personally investigated complaints.

B. The Board has assigned one member to work with the investigative staff to provide technical assistance.

C. The Board has issued 136 permanent licenses, 16 honorary licenses, and 1 temporary permit in the past four years.

D. In Anchorage, the Board members have developed a "Hot Line" by which all pharmacists in the area can be alerted of potential problems.

VIII. The extent to which state personnel practices, including affirmative action requirements, have been complied with by the board, commission or agency to its own activities and the area of activity or interest.

A. Applications require unnecessary information such as an applicant's sex, age, picture, past convictions. This is in violation of the Equal Employment Opportunity requirements. However, this information may be necessary to confirm an applicant's qualification. We have recommended the Board seek legal counsel to determine if they are in compliance.(see Recommendation No. 3 and the OL Performance Audit Report).

IX. The extent to which statutory, regulatory, budgeting or other changes are necessary to enable the agency, board or commission to better serve the interests of the public and to comply with the factors enumerated in this subsection.

Please refer to the recommendation section of this report, and the OL Performance Audit Report.

Expenditures included those made by Board members, such as travel and per diem and an allocated percentage (estimated) of total administrative expenses of OL. They do not include expenditures for efforts of other departments, such as the Department of Law, that may be assisting the Board and OL.

Shopkeepers permits have not been issued.

APPENDIX E

QUESTIONNAIRE FOR MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF PHARMACY
(See Note 1)

Please answer the following questions as completely as possible. The answers will help us to evaluate the Board's activities.

1. What do you believe to be the goals and objectives of the Board of Pharmacy?

   A. The number one justification for the existence of a Board of Pharmacy is for the protection of the public. All goals and objectives have to be subordinate to and compatible with this protection of the public.

   B. Examine applicants for registration as pharmacists and grant certificates of registration only to those who meet standards as to education and training, and who are of good moral character and free from addiction to drugs or alcohol.

   C. Examine intern applicants and register them as intern pharmacists, only after research as to qualifications, education, moral character as above for pharmacists.

   D. Investigate individually or collectively, or through its agents, for violations of the pharmacy laws of both State and Federal government.

   E. Follow a legend drug and or controlled substance through the various channels from suppliers, to wholesalers, to retail pharmacies, to physicians, and finally to the ultimate user so that this distribution is done in compliance with the various laws of the State and nation, and the incidence or opportunity of diversion of these dangerous drugs is kept at a minimum.

   F. Through association with the National Board of Pharmacies, keep up with all national laws and keep alert for forged documents and those with drug and alcohol problems and even addicts who might attempt to practice pharmacy in this State to the detriment of the people of the State.

   G. Inspecting pharmacies to assure that they are clean and have the necessary equipment to properly fill prescriptions.

2. How does the Board measure its progress in meeting its goals and objectives?

   A. The Board conducts entrance examinations annually for those graduates of pharmacy schools desiring to practice in Alaska.

   B. The Board provides self-examination forms for self-inspection, and periodic on-site inspections are made by Board members.

   C. The number of regulations considered, rewritten and passed.

   D. The volume of business conducted by the Board at the meetings.

   E. The Board has received very few complaints on the profession.

3. Is the staff from the Department of Commerce and Economic Development and/or other departments adequate to perform and enforce all laws and regulations relating to the Board of Pharmacy? What staff support services are provided adequately/inadequately? Are investigations performed adequately/inadequately?

   A. The staff from Department of Commerce and Economic Development is inadequate to perform and enforce all of the laws and regulations pertaining to the practice of Pharmacy. Having Board members in various cities around the State amounts to have a State official in the areas at a fraction of the cost of maintaining a permanent employee.

   B. Investigations performed by the Department are thorough, but the caseload per investigator is such that investigations are sometimes delayed.

4. What evidence exists demonstrating that the absence of pharmacy regulations and/or the Board would be detrimental to the public's best interest?

   A. The Board has intercepted and rejected licenses for a number of people who could definetely be detrimental to the public's best interest. I do not believe that these people would have been rejected had the Board not investigated them carefully and stood firm in its decision when we felt they were not qualified.

B. The fact that the Board has intercepted a good number of bad actors over the years is the best answer to this question. Without knowledable interogation and investigation, with co-operation of the NABP and other State boards, we would now have a good number of bad actors practicing in Alaska who in a short time could do a great deal of damage, both to themselves and the public. The Board's record on this is good and it is our belief that this could not be done by non professionals with a degree of success that we have enjoyed.

C. Even in the pipe line boom times when every shaddy character in the profession was in and out of Alaska, our record is good, and we did not license pharmacists to practice in this State who where not of good moral character and fully qualified.

5. Are there any statutes or regulations that you believe to be obsolete, vague, unduly restricitve, and/or inadequate to provide the Board with the responsibility and power to properly govern the purpose and activities of the Board? Please list and explain.

A. Most of the members of the Board of Pharmacy believe that the best laws are the least laws that will do the job and that the people of the State and the regulations themselves will benefit from clear, concise, and needed laws and regulations. But, that we do not need a vast number of restrictive and unnecessary laws or regulations.

B. The most pressing need is for a Uniform Controlled Substance Act that closely parallels the Federal law. This will allow the State to prosecute violations at the State level without involving Federal Law anymore than possible, particularly if both laws are much the same. Our Controlled Substance Laws are obsolete and must be rewritten soon.

C. The Board of Pharmacy should take an active part in the writing of these laws and can be a great help to those in the Legislature who are considering the Controlled Substance Law Revision.

6. Based on the March 15, 1978 Attorney General's Opinion that AS 08.80.420(b), which prohibits pharmacists from advertising, is unconstitutional, do you believe it is necessary for the Board of Pharmacy to seek legislation to prohibit pharmacists from using false or misleading advertising?

Yes it is necessary. When a highly professional service is advertised or a product that is difficult for trained people to fully understand, such as most of the complicated drugs used today, it is necessary that regulations be written to prevent the public from being victimized or even "talked into" using drugs that they really do not need. Some of the very dangerous tranquilizer drugs that have a key place in certain aspects of medical science, should not be advertised as a cure all for those who might think they need this type of medication, without also informing the public of the many and complicated side effects of these drugs. Tremendous pressure could be put on physicians by patients who believe the glib TV ad or the glossy magazine or newspaper advertising. This type of advertising, tied to a price, could be detrimental to many people.

7. Presently, there is approximately 1 pharmacist to every 2,600 persons in Alaska, while the national average is 1 pharmacist to every 1,800 persons.

   A. Do you believe more pharmacists are needed in Alaska?

      1. Yes.....but this should be done by those needing the pharmacists. The Board should aid all those involved, and process applications thoroughly, but expediently, when application is made, but should not enter into a tax funded program to solicit pharmacists.

      2. There seems to be an adequate number of pharmacists to serve the people of Alaska. Possibly the disparity between the Alaska and national average is the lack of density of the Alaska population.

   B. Do you believe it is the Board's responsibility to actively recruit additional qualified pharmacists for Alaska?

      The members do not believe that the Board should recruit pharmacists or act as an employment bureau.

8. Presently, the Board is composed of five pharmacists and two public members. Do you believe an increased number of public members would tend to make the Board:

	Number Responding
A. Mcre receptive to public need.	-0-
B. Less receptive to public need.	1
C. No change.	2

Probably "C" above would apply. However, "B" might prove to be a fact. Two lay persons are really enough to assure full protection from an over profession oriented board. A further dilution of knowledgeable professionals would probably also dilute the effectiveness of the Board ans slow the process of registration. Two lay people can be educated to the real needs of the Board as it serves both the profession, from a licensing standpoint, and the people, from a protection standpoint and any addition of lay people would be nonproductive.

Note 1

A digest of the Board's comments was prepared by the Auditors. Four of the seven Board members assisted us by answering our questions and by supplying us with supplemental information. Other Board members provided us with verbal response to questions, and assisted by providing us with supplemental information.

25.	Are the current reciprocity policies of the Board of Pharmacy fairly and consistently applied to all licensees seeking licensure in Alaska by reciprocity?	85%	1%	14%
	If not, please comment: Statutes discriminate against Alaska student who attend school in the lower 48 and want to return to Alaska - Board is requiring 540 hours of postgraduate internship for endorsement.
26.	Are there any alternatives to the regulation of the profession by the Board of Pharmacy which would better serve the public's interest?	14%	48%	38%
	If so, please discuss: Board actions should be more representative of the profession and should work to enhance professionalism - these concerns do not have to conflict with the public's best interest.

27. Any additional comments?

Many pharmacists expressed repeatedly the Board is not representative citing the following conditions:

1) The non-public (professional) members of the Board are all store-owners.

2) Pharmacy chains, hospital pharmacists, staff pharmacists, independent pharmacists, employee pharmacists, and the Alaska State Pharma utical Association are not directly represented on the Board.

3) The Board should be rotated more often.

a. As their present terms expire, 3 Board members will have served 15 or more consecutive years on the Board.

b. Several inquired as to how one could become a Board member.

c. Progressive points of view from new sources can't be realized if they aren't given a chance to be proven.

4) Board is an elitist group whose view point is financial, not professional.

5) Both professional and consumer sectors need representation.

6) Board hasn't kept its constituency aware.

The Board needs to take definite action toward establishing continuing education requirements, an all inclusive inspection program on a regular basis, and work to have a Controlled Substances Act passed. Several respondents wanted the Board to act on proposing legislation to establish temporary licenses for various circumstances.

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

We have reviewed your preliminary reports as shown below:

1. Board of Examiners in Optometry
2. Board of Dispensing Opticians
3. Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners
4. Board of Chiropractic Examiners
5. Alaska State Medical Board

We view these reviews of agency programs and activities which are specifically subject to termination in a manner different from those made of State departments or agencies. Usually we in the Executive Branch endeavor to respond directly to each finding and recommendation. However, in regard to the Boards and Commissions, the Executive Branch agency during a public hearing shall demonstrate a public need for its continued existence or the discontinuation of the program, and the extent to which any change in the manner of exercise of its functions or activities may increase efficiency of administration or operation consistent with the public interest.

The Executive Branch of Alaska Government has made an extensive study of the above Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission. We are continuing to study those entities, their origin, their present and future potential, and other related subjects in conjunction with Alaska statutes 24 and 44 (Sunset Legislation). As prescribed in AS 44.66.050 one or more legislative hearings are to be held to receive testimony from the public, the Commissioner of the department having administrative responsibility for each, and the members of the Boards or Commission involved. During those hearings we will present our findings and recommendations affecting each of the foregoing Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission.

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

The following comments are in response to the performance review of the Board of Pharmacy as submitted by the Division of Legislative Audit.

Recommendation No. 1. Agreed in that all boards should comply with statutes. The board should take further action either in promulgating the appropriate listing of dangerous ingredients or requesting a statutory change. The board has indicated that it wishes to repeal shopkeeper provisions. These subjects, the matter of a fine schedule and the board's annual report will be discussed with the board at its next meeting and will be acted upon by the division in conjunction with the board. The division will advise and provide administrative support to the board in implementing these recommendations.

Recommendation No. 2. Agreed. Applicants for licensure by endorsement or examination should be required to have substantially similar minimum qualifications.

We believe that mandatory continuing education is one method of attempting to insure that practitioners maintain some level of competency. However, special consideration would be required for the bush areas in meeting these requirements.

Recommendation No. 3. Agreed. In an effort to assure that all applicants are qualified through internship or experience the board has recommended a statutory change which would prohibit independent practice by an inexperienced graduate.

08-H8LH

Pharmancy statutes address licensure by endorsement. If the other states' qualifications are not acceptable for licensure in Alaska, these statutes permit the board the option of not licensing individuals from those states.

Preliminary discussions have been held with the board regarding agency responsibility for applications and files. Cooperative efforts will be made to implement this recommendation.

Recommendation No. 4. Agreed. Again, discussions concerning these areas have recently been and will continue to be held with this board.

Recommendation No. 5. Agreed. AS 08.80.030(3) could be expanded to specifically provide inspection authority. However, the frequency of inspections as well as the costs involved should be seriously considered prior to the imposition of mandatory scheduling.

Recommendation No. 6. Agreed. Present statutory provisions do not preclude membership of any licensed pharmacist. We agree that there should be a turnover in membership which would facilitate broader representation and that public members on this board are desirable. We would have no objection to increasing the ratio of public to professional members but would oppose any increase in total board membership.

The division has started preliminary discussions with the Attorney General's Office on developing a code of conduct and ethics for all boards.

Recommendation No. 7. Agreed. Licensing violations should be clearly defined, however, not meant to be all inclusive.

Recommendation No. 8. Agreed. This board, as well as all boards, will be contacted in March or April 1979 for input into the division's budget for FY 1981. This input will address the boards goals, objectives, and financial needs.

Recommendation No. 9. Agreed. Action will be taken after discussion with the board, to implement this recommendation. All licnesees approved or disapproved will be listed in board minutes verifying board action.

Recommendation No. 10. Agreed. Complete reorganization of files and procedures within the agency is expected to be accomplished by the end of calendar year 1979. Some changes have recently been initiated by the agency.

I appreciate the time and efforts expended by your staff.

Yours truly,

ATTN: MR. GERALD L. WILKERSON, CPA

DEAR MR. WILKERSON;

THANK YOU FOR YOUR LETTER OF NOVEMBER 29TH REGARDING THE PERFORMANCE REVIEW OF THE BOARD OF PHARMACY. ON PAGE 1 OF YOUR REVIEW, UNDER MEMBERS OF THE PHARMACY BOARD, MR. LES ELKINS TITLE SHOULD BE VICE PRESIDENT.

ON PAGE 5 OF THE REPORT WHERE YOU STATE IT IS REQUIRED THAT THE JURISPRUDENCE EXAM BE GRADED BY A BOARD MEMBER RESIDING IN A DIFFERENT JUDICIAL DISTRICT. THIS IS NOT CORRECT. WHEN THE COMPLETE EXAM WAS ADMINISTERED IN ALASKA AND WAS GRADED IN ALASKA, THEN THIS WAS THE REQUIREMENT, HOWEVER, NOW THE EXAMS ARE GRADED BY THE TESTING SERVICE USING A COMPUTER AND OUR JURISPRUDENCE EXAM IS MERELY A PART OF THIS EXAM THAT IS REALLY NOT COVERED BY THE STATUTE.

ON PAGE 6 YOU RECOMMEND THAT QUALIFIED PHARMACISTS LICENSED IN ANOTHER STATE, BUT WHO HAVE NOT HAD 540 HOURS OF POST GRADUATE INTERNSHIP, BE LICENSED. THE BOARD HAS TAKEN THIS INTO CONSIDERATION AND HAS DEEMED IT WISE TO CONTINUE WITH THE 540 HOURS OF POST GRADUATION INTERNSHIP AT THIS TIME. THERE ARE MANY GOOD REASONS FOR THIS REQUIREMENT IN THAT MANY PHARMACISTS IMMEDIATELY TAKE OVER A PHARMACY PRACTICE IN ONE DRUG STORE TOWNS IN ALASKA AS SOON AS THEY ARE LICENSED AND IN THE BOARDS OPINION THIS WOULD NOT BE ADEQUATELY PROTECTING THE PUBLIC TO ALLOW THIS TO HAPPEN WITHOUT THE PHARMACIST HAVING SOME ACTUAL HOURS OF EXPERIENCE IN A PHARMACY.

YOU RECOMMEND THAT LICENSED PHARMACISTS BE REQUIRED TO DEMONSTRATE CONTINUED COMPETENCY THROUGH CE OR REEXAMINATION. THE BOARD HAS EXAMINED THESE RECOMMENDATIONS MANY TIMES IN THE PAST AND STRONGLY FEEL THAT SINCE THERE IS NO COMPETENCY EXAMINATION THAT HAS BEEN FOUND TO BE PRACTICAL BY ANY OF THE NATIONAL PHARMACY ORGANIZATIONS, THAT IT CERTAINLY WOULD BE PREMATURE TO THINK THAT THE ALASKA BOARD OF PHARMACY COULD COME UP WITH AN EXAM THAT WOULD BE LEGITIMATE.

THE BOARD HAS PUBLISHED MEMOS TO ALL THE LICENSED PHARMACISTS IN ALASKA STATING THAT THE BOARD IS STRONGLY IN FAVOR OF CONTINUING EDUCATION BUT THE BOARD DOES NOT CONCUR AT THIS TIME THAT THIS SHOULD BE MADE MANDATORY. MANY OF THE STATES THAT MADE CE MANDATORY HAVE FOUND THEY HAVE SERIOUS PROBLEMS WITH THIS AND POSSIBLY WHEN THE BOARD FEELS THAT THE STATES THAT ARE NOW USING CE HAVE WORKED OUT MOST OF THESE PROBLEMS AND HAVE CE THAT SHOWS SOME DEFINITE GOOD RESULTS THAT IT WILL BE INSTITUTED BY THE BOARD, HOWEVER, AT THIS TIME THE BOARD DOES NOT FEEL THAT CE SHOULD BE MADE MANDATORY.

ON PAGE 7 YOU RECOMMEND THAT THE BOARD COMPLY WITH STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADING EXAMINATIONS AND ESTABLISHING INTERNAL CONTROLS. WE FEEL THAT YOU ARE NOT FAMILIAR WITH THE NATIONAL EXAM THAT WE ADMINISTER AND THAT THERE IS NO POSSBILITY THAT THE ADMINISTRATION OF OUR NATIONAL EXAM IS OPEN TO ANY ACCUZATION OF BIAS THAT WOULD STAND UP, NOR THAT IT WOULD BE TENDERED BY ANYONE TAKING THE EXAM.

ON PAGE 7 THE BOARD WOULD NOT AGREE THAT IT WOULD BE BENIFICIAL FOR A LIMITATION OF THE NUMBER OF TERMS A BOARD MEMBER CAN SERVE. IN ALASKA THE BOARD HAS TWO MEETINGS A YEAR AND WHILE MANY THINGS ARE DONE IN BETWEEN BOARD MEETINGS, IT TAKES A BOARD MEMBER SEVERAL YEARS TO BECOME FAMILIAR WITH THE STATUTES AND REGULATIONS THAT WE ARE ADMINISTERING TO THE DEGREE THAT THE MEMBER CAN GRASP THE NEED FOR NEW LEGISLATION OR REGULATIONS. WE FEEL THAT WE HAVE A VERY HARD WORKING, KNOWLEDGEABLE BOARD AND THE MAIN REASON FOR THIS IS DUE TO THE FACT THAT SEVERAL BOARD MEMBERS HAVE BEEN ON THE BOARD FOR LONG PERIODS OF TIME. POSSIBLY LEGISLATORS COULD UNDERSTAND THE POSITION OF THE BOARD MEMBER IF THEY LIKENED A BOARD MEMBER WHO HAS SERVED FIVE YEARS AND HAS NEVER MISSED A MEETING, HE WOULD HAVE WORKED TWENTY DAYS IN THE FIVE YEARS. A LEGISLATOR HAVING SERVED TWENTY DAYS OF HIS FIRST TERM IN OFFICE CERTAINLY WOULD NOT FEEL THAT HE HAD SERVED WITH HIS MOST EFFECTIVENESS AND PROBABLY WOULD FEEL HE WAS MOST EFFECTIVE AFTER SERVING SEVERAL TERMS. WE FEEL THAT IF THE OLDEST BOARD MEMBERS SERVED ONLY TWO TERMS THAT THE DEPARTMENT OF OCCUPATIONAL LICENSING WOULD HAVE TO MAKE MOST OF THE DECISIONS AND THIS WOULD BE A VERY POOR POLICY. THE DEPARTMENT MANY TIMES LACK THE EXPERTISE NECESSARY FROM KNOWLEDGEABLE PHARMACIST BOARD MEMBERS AND AT THE NATIONAL MEETINGS IN DISCUSSING THE EFFECT OF THIS LIMITATION, IN A FEW OF THE STATES WHERE THEY HAVE PASSED IT, WE HAVE LEARNED THAT THE PEOPLE REPRESENTING THE BOARDS SOON SEEM TO BE THE STATE EMPLOYEES OF THE DEPARTMENTS AND IN OUR OPINION THIS IS NOT ADQUATE PROTECTION FOR THE PUBLIC.

THE SAME PAGAGRAPH REGARDING PHARMACISTS NOT REPRESENTING ALL CLASSES OF PHARMACISTS, IT IS THE FEELING OF THE BOARD THAT THE PHARMACIST IS A PHARMACIST AND WE DO NOT LICENSE DIFFERENT CATAGORIES, HOWEVER, THE FIVE REGULAR PHARMACIST ON THE BOARD REPRESENT ACTUALLY 5 DIFFERENT CATEGORIES: 1. COMMUNITY PHARMACY, JAMES MCCORCLE (ONE STORE IN COMMUNITY SETTING), 2, CHAIN PHARMACY, ELDON R. ULMER (4 OR MORE STORES), 3. RETIRED PHARMACISTS, LESTER E'KINS, 4. STRICTLY PROFESSIONAL PHARMACY, JAMES MURPHY (IN MEDICAL SETTING CLINIC ORIENTED), 5. WHOLESALE PHARMACY, CHARLES R. RUSH. PHARMACIST DO INTERCHANGE BETWEEN RETAIL, HOSPITAL, WHOLESALE AND CONSULTING PHARMACISTS WITHOUT ANY CHANGE OF LICENSURE OR ADVICE TO THE BOARD.

ON PAGE 8, WHERE YOU STATE THAT YOU AGREE OUR REGULATION WOULD HAVE RESTRICTED COMPETITION AND REDUCE THE AVAILABILITY OF NON-PRESCRIPTION DRUGS YOU ARE NOT AGREEING WITH US AS THAT IS NOT OUR OPINION. WE FEEL THAT OUR REGULATION WOULD NOT HAVE RESTRICTED COMPETITION OR REDUCED THE AVAILABILITY OF OF NON-PRESCRIPTION DRUGS AS THE ONLY DRUGS THAT WE WERE RESTRICTING OR REDUCING THE AVAILABILITY OF ARE NOT FOUND AT THIS TIME IN OTHER OUTLETS UNLESS IT IS BY ERROR. EVEN WITHOUT OUR REGULATIONS NO STORES OTHER THAN LICENSED PHARMACIES, WOULD WANT OR TRY TO CARRY THE ITEMS THAT WERE RESTRICTED BY OUR REGULATIONS AND IN THE BOARDS OPINION THERE WAS NO REASON FOR THESE REGULATIONS NOT BEING PROMULGATED, EXCEPT AN ATTORNEY GENERALS ATTORNEY WHO CHANGED HIS MIND DUE TO WHAT THE BOARD FEELS WAS POLITICAL PRESSURE AND NOT THE SAFEGARDING OF THE PUBLIC. FURTHER THE BOARD WHOULD ASSUME FROM YOUR RECOMMENDATIONS THAT YOUR STATEMENT REGARDING THE UNIFORM CONTROLED SUBSTANCES ACT, THAT WE HAVE RECOMMENDED, WAS GOING TO TAKE THE PLACE OF, OR BE RELATED TO THE REGULATIONS CONNECTED WITH THE SHOPKEEPERS PERMITS. THIS IS NOT THE CASE AS THE DRUGS UNDER THE UNIFORM CONTROLLED SUBSTANCE ACT ARE DIFFERENT THAN THOSE WHICH WE LISTED AS DANGEROUS UNDER OUR SHOPKEEPERS PERMITS.

ON PAGE 9, REGARDING B, C, AND D AS YOU STATE THESE ARE ITEMS THAT THE BOARD APPROVED AND GAVE TO THE DEPARTMENT FOR ACTION WHICH HAS NOT HAPPENED, EVEN THOUGH WE HAVE INQUIRED AS TO WHAT ACTION WE SHOULD TAKE WHEN WE DO NOT GET ANY ACTION FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF CENTRAL LICENSING WHEN THEY STATE THE PERSONNEL IN OUR DEPARTMENT HAS RESIGNED AND NEW PERSONNEL HAS NOT BEEN ASSIGNED.

REGARDING A, ON PAGE 11, THERE HAS NEVER BEEN ANY QUESTION AS TO OUR INTERNSHIP REQUIREMENTS BEING 540 HOURS OF POST GRADUATE INTERNSHIP OR HOURS WORKED AS A REGULAR PHARMACIST IN ANOTHER STATE IN LIEU OF INTERNSHIP. NO STATE HAS SEPARATE INTERNSHIP REQUIREMENT FOR EXAMINATION AND LICENSE THROUGH RECIPROCITY. IF SUCH A REQUIREMENT WERE TO BE INTRODUCED IT WOULD MOST CERTAINLY BE FOUND TO BE ILLEGAL AS THERE IS NO LIGITIMATE REASON FOR A STATE TO REQUIRE DIFFERENT INTERNSHIPS FOR DIFFERENT WAYS OF BECOMING LICENSED. THE APPLICANT THAT

YOU MENTIONED IN YOUR REPORT MARKED ON HIS JURISPRUDENCE EXAM THAT THE INTERNSHIP REQUIREMENTS WERE 540 HOURS AFTER GRADUATION SO IT APPEARS THAT HE WAS NOT CONFUSED AS TO THE INTERNSHIP REQUIREMENTS IN THE STATE OF ALASKA. ALSO THIS INFORMATION IS GIVEN OUT IN THE BOOKLET THAT IS SENT OUT BY NABP TO ANY PHARMACIST WHO RECIPROCATES.

REGARDING B,ON PAGE 11, THE STATE OF ALASKA WOULD BE REMISS IN ITS PROTECTION OF THE PUBLIC WERE IT TO ACCEPT PHARMACISTS WHO HAVE BECOME LICENSED IN STATES WHERE WE KNOW NOTHING ABOUT THE TYPE OF LICENSING EXAM GIVEN IN THAT STATE. AT THE PRESENT TIME THERE IS SOME CONTROVERSY IN EVEN ACCEPTING ALL OF THE STATES WHO GIVE THE SAME NATIONAL EXAM THAT WE DO. A COUPLE OF STATES HAVE DECIDED THAT THEY ARE GOING TO GRADE THIS NATIONAL EXAM ON A CURVE IN ORDER FOR SOME OF THEIR PHARMACISTS TO PASS WHO WOULD NOT PASS THE EXAM IN OUR STATE OR IN MOST OF THE STATES. IF THEY CONTINUE TO DO THIS WE WILL PROBABLY GO TO THE ATTORNEY GENERALS OFFICE TO ALSO INCLUDE THESE STATES IN ONES WHOSE RECIPROCITY APPLICATIONS WE WOULD NOT ACCEPT, HOWEVER, THEY WOULD BE ABLE TO TAKE OUR EXAM. IF WE LICENSED PHARMACISTS WHO HAVE PASSED AN EXAM WE KNOW NOTHING ABOUT WE WOULD CERTAINLY JEOPORDIZE THE VALIDITY OF FAILING A PHARMACIST WHO FLUNKS THE NATIONAL EXAM.

ON PAGE 12, UNDER C, YOUR RECOMMENDATION FOR PHARMACISTS TO FIRST APPLY TO THE DEPARTMENT IN JUNEAU IS UNREALISTIC. WE MANY TIMES HAVE PHARMACISTS WHO ARE NEEDED TO GO TO WORK ON SHORT NOTICE AND FLY DIRECTLY TO EITHER FAIRBANKS, ANCHORAGE OR AREAS CLOSE TO THESE CITIES. TO REQUIRE THESE PEOPLE TO GO TO JUNEAU FIRST AND WAIT UNTIL THEIR APPLICATION IS PROCESSED WOULD BE AN UNDUE BURDEN ON THE APPLICANT AND A TREMENDOUS ADDED EXPENSE FOR NO APPARENT REASON. I FEEL THERE WOULD BE FAR MORE POTENTIAL FOR CRITISM WERE WE TO ADOPT ANYTHING REQUIRING THE APPLICANT TO ONLY PROCESS THEIR APPLICATION THROUGH JUNEAU AS A BOARD MEMBER MUST GIVE THE JURISPRUDENCE EXAM ANYWAY BEFORE LICENSURE.

ON PAGE 14, UNDER D, WHICH WE HAVE ALREADY TOUCHED ON WE FEEL WE SHOULD EMPHASIZE AGAIN THAT WE CERTAINLY DO NOT BELIEVE THAT TURN OVER IN MEMBERSHIP ON THE BOARD HAS ANY ADVANTAGES. WE ARE VERY FAMILIAR WITH TURNOVER IN THE DEPARTMENT OF OCCUPATIONAL LICENSING AND IF THERE WERE ANY WAY WE COULD HAVE HAD ANY EMPLOYEE IN THE DPARTMENT OF OCCUPATIONAL LICENSING WHO HELPED WITH OUR WORK THAT WERE THERE ANYWHERE NEAR TWENTY YEARS IT WOULD HAVE BEEN A TREMENDOUS BENEFIT AND WE HOPE YOU ARE NOT ALSO MAKING THIS RECOMMENDATION TO THE DEPARTMENT, AS MOST OF OUR PROBLEMS SEEM TO BE WITH TURNOVER IN PERSONNEL.

ON PAGE 14, WHERE YOU MAKE THE STATEMENT THAT YOU FEEL ADDITIONAL PUBLIC MEMBERS ARE DESIRABLE WE WOULD CERTAINLY DISAGREE. WE FEEL THAT OUR PUBLIC MEMBERS ALSO WOULD RECOMMEND THAT THERE NOT BE MORE THAN TWO PUBLIC MEMBERS ON OUR BOARD OR PROBABLY ANY OTHER PROFESSIONAL BOARD. WE FEEL THAT OUR PUBLIC MEM-BERS WOULD VERIFY THAT THE PHARMACY BOARD DOES NOT PROTECT OR HELP THE PHARMACIST BUT DOES ALL IN ITS POWER TO PROTECT AND ASSIST THE PATIENT.

ON PAGE 15, C[illegible]OUR RECOMMENDATION NUMBER 7, IF WE TRY TO LIST ALL THE P[illegible]SSIBLE VIOLATIONS THAT COULD OCCUR IT WOULD BE AN UNWIELDY TASK. THE BOARD FEELS WITH THE DESCRIPTIONS GIVEN , WE CAN ENFORCE ALL LICENSE VIOLATIONS AND CERTAINLY HAVE NEVER FELT HAMPERED BY NOT HAVING THE AUTHORITY TO CORRECT ANY PROBLEM AGAINST ANY PHARMACIST OR PHARMACY THAT HAS BEEN BROUGHT TO OUR ATTENTION.

ON PAGE 16, UNDER RECOMMENDATION NUMBER 8, WE CERTAINLY FEEL THAT FOR OUR TOTAL BUDGET FOR $4,500 THAT WE SHOULD NOT HAVE TO PREPARE ANY LONG LIST TO JUSTIFY THIS. IF YOU CONSIDER THE COST OF BRINGING SEVEN MEMBERS FROM AROUND THE STATE FOR TWO MEETINGS A YEAR OF TWO DAYS EACH, PLUS THE PER DIEM, IT SEEMS THE LEGISLATURE SHOULD CONCUR THAT THE $4,500 BUDGET WHICH WE ARE ALLOCATED IS NECESSARY.

ON PAGE 16, UNDER YOUR RECOMMENDATION NUMBER 9, WE WOULD LIKE SOME TYPE OF ATTORNEY GENERALS RULING THAT IT IS A REQUIREMENT THAT WE HAVE A QUORUM PRESENT TO APPROVE A LICENSE. THIS SEEMS LIKE A TREMENDOUS BURDEN ON THE APPLICANTS AND IN THE PAST WE HAVE NOT HANDLED IT IN THIS MANNER AS IT SEEMS WRONG FOR PHARMACISTS TO HAVE TO WAIT 6 MONTHS TO RECEIVE THEIR LICENSE. ALL MEMBERS HAVE KNOWLEDGE OF THE APPLICANTS AND ALL CONCUR THAT THEY SHOULD BE LICENSED, HOWEVER, HOLDING THESE FOR A MEETING WITH A QUORUM PRESENT WHEN THIS MEETING ONLY HAPPENS TWICE A YEAR, DOES NOT SEEM TO BE THE BEST PROCEDURE.

ON PAGE 17, YOUR RECOMMENDATION NUMBER 10, REGARDING OCCUPATIONAL LICENSING HAS CERTAINLY BEEN DONE AND CERTAINLY MUST BE ON FILE IN THE DEPARTMENT. THEY HAVE BEEN GIVEN ALL THIS INFORMATION AND IN THE BOARD MEETINGS IN JUNEAU, LICENSE APPLICATIONS AND FILES HAVE BEEN AVAILABLE, AND TO OUR KNOWLEDGE ARE VERY COMPLETE.

THIS SEEMS TO BE THE PORTION OF THE REPORT THAT WE ARE TO ANSWER AND WHILE THESE ANSWERS ARE NOT AS COMPLETE AS WE WOULD HAVE PREFERRED THEM TO BE, WE THOUGHT THAT IF THERE WERE FURTHER QUESTIONS YOU COULD ADDRESS THEM TO US AND POSSIBLY WE COULD ANSWER THEM VERBALLY. THERE ARE OTHER QUESTIONS IN YOUR REPORT THAT WE DO NOT AGREE COMPLETELY WITH BUT THESE ARE THE ITEMS YOU HAVE ADDRESSED TO US AND WE HAVE TRIED TO ANSWER THEM TO THE BEST OF OUR ABILITY.

SINCERELY,

Members of the Legislative Budget and Audit Committee:

We have reviewed the response of the Board of Pharmacy to our Performance Review of the Board of Pharmacy dated October 30, 1978.

1. In response to our review the Pharmacy Board stated that we were not familiar with the National Examination for pharmacists and how it is administered.

Our Recommendation No. 4 is directed toward the administration of the Jurisprudence Examination, not the National Examination.

2. In response to our recommendation that all applications for licensure be submitted by the applicant directly to Occupational Licensing (see Recommendation No. 3, C.) the Board stated that the recommendation is unrealistic. The Board states that to require unlicensed pharmacists to go to Juneau first and wait until their application is processed would be an undue burden on the applicant.

Submission of the application information to Occupational Licensing does not require the applicant's physical presence in Juneau. The submission can be made by mail.

Dear Senators & Representatives

The pharmacists of the State of Alaska are unalterably opposed to the restructuring of the State Board of Pharmacy from its current status to a watered down, weakened & ineffective board as proposed by State Representative Brown Commerce Committee.

The current Board has displayed in the past its ability to perform adequately, efficiently & effectively for the protection of the public & the overseeing of the profession of pharmacy in the State of Alaska.

The State Board of Pharmacy is already operating on an unsatisfactory budget of $4500 annually. The Department of Occupational Licensing, with a budget of nearly four times this amount, has failed in the past to complete its required tasks. From taxpayers' points of view, we feel that the State Board of Pharmacy, given the same amount could more efficiently & at less expense, license its own approximately 250 pharmacists, oversee the profession & protect the public.

Since the legislature has already approved retaining the State Board of Pharmacy under the "Sunset Review", why dilute the expertise of the members by limiting the term of office to 4 years?

PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF THE REVIEW

Purpose

In accordance with the intent of Alaska Statutes 24.20.271(1) and 44.66.050 (sunset legislation), a review of the State Physical Therapy Board was conducted to review Board activities and accomplishments to determine if the Board has operated in an effective, efficient and economical manner.

As required by legislative intent, this report shall be considered during the legislative oversight function in determining whether the State Physical Therapy Board should be reestablished. The law currently specifies that this Board will terminate on June 30, 1979, but will continue until June 30, 1980, for the purpose of concluding its affairs.

Scope

The major areas reviewed were the Board's operations and its licensing, examination, administration, complaint and affirmative action functions. Our review consisted of analyzing and evaluating the following:

(1) Applicable statutes and Board regulations;

(2) Interviews with Board members and questionnaires sent to the Board members;

(3) Interviews with professional associations;

(4) Tests of records and documents of the Board and the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL), Department of Commerce and Economic Development;

(5) Interviews with OL employees;

(6) Complaints filed with OL, the Ombudsman's Office, Consumer Affairs Agency, the Human Rights Commission, and the Equal Employment Opportunity Office;

(7) Questionnaires sent to state licensed physical therapists and physical therapist assistants; and

(8) Other states' licensing requirements.

Scope Constraints

This review was hampered by the following constraints:

(1) The Board has not established and reported financial and program plans as required by AS 37.07.050 nor has it developed and reported performance information regarding its effectiveness and accomplishments as required by AS 37.07.090.

(2) OL has not adequately collected, recorded or maintained pertinent files and statistics relating to the Board to effectively and efficiently carry out its responsibilities.

(3) The Physical Therapy Board, at the time of this review, had four members. Only one member was responsive during this review.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTION

As of September 1, 1957, physical therapists (PT's) were required to be registered by the territorial government. They were registered at that time by the Territorial Medical Board, under the authority of Chapter 74, SLA 57.

In 1974 the State Physical Therapy Board was created by Chapter 71, SLA 1974. At this time, physical therapy assistants (PTA's) were also required to be licensed. The difference between a PT and a PTA is that a four-year degree is required for a PT and a two-year associate degree is required for a PTA.

AS 08.84.010 states that the Board shall be made up of three PTs, one medical doctor, and one lay person. The purpose of the Board is to control all matters pertaining to the registration of PTs and PTAs and the practice of physical therapy.

The major duties of the Board are to pass on the qualifications of applicants, conduct examinations, issue temporary permits and registration certificates to qualified PTs and PTAs, suspend or revoke licenses, when necessary, keep a current register of licensed PTs and PTAs and keep a record of its meetings, proceedings and hearings. The Board is assisted in these duties by the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL). OL processes applications, maintains files, answers correspondence dealing with the Board and provides other administrative support as needed by the Board. In addition, OL's Investigations Unit investigates any complaints made involving PTs or PTAs.

Qualifications for licensure include educational requirements and a passing score on an examination. The examination is given on a nation-wide basis and is prepared and graded by a national organization (Professional Examination Service).

If a PT or PTA has taken the examination in another state and has been licensed by that state as a PT or PTA, they may be licensed in Alaska by endorsement without retaking the examination. The licensing requirements in the other state must be substantially equal to Alaska's requirements.

To get a PT or PTA license renewed, a licensee must submit an application with a fee by June 30 every even numbered year.

Physical therapy is the treatment of illness and injury by physical means. The goal of the PT is to help the patient function normally via rehabilitation. Although the PT may spend time in consultation, research, teaching and administering, in general the PT's job is to give supervision and direction of care of the patients assigned to him or her.

A doctor must, by statute, refer a patient to a PT and during treatment, the PT must keep the doctor informed of the patient's progress during the treatment.

REPORT CONCLUSION

Policy Issues

This review contains policy issues raised as a result of our evaluation of various Board practices. The final policy decisions affecting these practices are not within the scope of this review but require legislative oversight consideration. In debating these decisions, the legislative oversight committees should take into consideration the findings and alternatives presented in this report, so that the potential impact of policy changes can be evaluated.

Report Conclusion

In our opinion, the State Physical Therapy Board should continue to regulate and license the physical therapy (PT) profession in order to protect the public's health, safety and welfare.

However, the Physical Therapy Board needs to assure continued competence of licensed PTs. We are recommending that continuing education be required for license renewal (see Recommendation No. 2).

The Board is doing a good job of licensing qualified PTs. However, we are recommending that they improve licensing procedures for the use of temporary permits, in order to prevent unqualified persons from obtaining temporary permits (see Recommendation No. 3).

We found three statutory problems:

1) The Board does not have the authority to promulgate regulations (see Recommendation No. 1).

2) Qualified foreign-trained PTs may not be licensed in this state (see Recommendation No. 4).

3) The statutes in establishing illegal acts relating to the practice of PT do not define such terms as "unprofessional conduct" and "moral turpitude" (see Recommendation No. 5).

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Recommendations No. 1 through No. 5 are addressed to the State Physical Therapy Board. Recommendations 6 and 7 are addressed to the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) and should be read in conjunction with "A Performance Review of the Division of Occupational Licensing, Department of Commerce and Economic Development, October 30, 1978", issued under separate cover.

Recommendation No. 1

The State Physical Therapy Board should be allowed to promulgate regulations.

Alaska Statute 08.84, which is the statute creating the State Physical Therapy Board, does not grant the Board the authority to promulgate administrative regulations, according to the Attorney General's Office. The Board has formalized policies; however, these policies do not have the effect of law. The Board feels that lack of regulation-making power has been detrimental to the Board's operations.

We recommend that a section be added to the Physical Therapy Board's statutes which will give the Board authority to promulgate regulations. Otherwise the Board does not have the authority to establish professional standards, and enforce compliance of such standards.

Recommendation No. 2

The State Physical Therapy Board should require physical therapists and physical therapy assistants to obtain continuing education in order to get their licenses renewed.

To obtain an initial physical therapist's license in Alaska, an applicant is required to possess a bachelor's degree in physical therapy and pass a national examination. Renewal of licenses is required every two years. Presently, licensees do not have to demonstrate continued competency to maintain their license.

Once a professional is granted a license to practice an occupation they have an implied obligation to maintain that minimum competence. Quality health care is dependent upon competent performance of the professional. Continuing education is one means by which professionals gain knowledge and skill so they can maintain and improve their performance.

In response to our questionnaires, 47% of the PTs and 37% of the PTAs believed continuing education should be required, and 70% stated that they were aware of continuing education courses or seminars in their areas (see Appendix D).

The Board should have discretionary latitude in requiring continuing education requirements. For example, by requiring continuing education, an undue hardship might be placed on a PT practicing in rural areas. Rather than deny re-licensure and reduce the health care in these areas, the Board should be allowed to waive this requirement in special cases.

Recommendation No. 3

Controls over temporary licenses should be improved.

Alaska Statute 08.84.065 allows the Board to issue nonrenewable temporary permits to applicants who are awaiting permanent licensure by examination or endorsement. The temporary permits are valid either until the examination results are received or all the documents for licensure by endorsement are received, or for eight months, whichever occurs first.

We noted two problems with temporary permits:

1) An applicant may receive a temporary permit by submitting his credentials to a Board member. The Board member may then issue a temporary permit without consulting the rest of the Board. As a result, temporary licenses could be issued to unqualified persons. We found that temporary licenses were issued to applicants before documentation of their qualifications was received by the Board or licensing examiner.

2) In testing the individual licensing files, we found cases where temporary licenses had lapsed, because of the eight-month limitation, before permanent licenses were issued. The PTs were in violation of the statute which requires that PTs must be licensed in order to practice.

We recommend the following to combat these problems: documentation required for temporary licensure should go to the licensing examiner in all cases. Then, upon notification by the licensing examiner that the applicant has filed all necessary documents, a Board member can decide if a temporary license should be issued.

Also, the Board should take all steps possible to ensure that applicants are issued their permanent licenses before their temporary permits expire.

Recommendation No. 4

Statutory changes should be made to allow qualified foreign-trained physical therapists to practice physical therapy in Alaska.

To be licensed as a physical therapist in Alaska, an applicant must have graduated from a college of physical therapy which is approved either by the American Physical Therapy Association or the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association. However, neither of these two groups approve foreign schools. A foreign-trained PT thus may not be licensed to practice physical therapy in Alaska. An exception to this has been made in an Attorney General's opinion which states that if foreign-trained PTs have been licensed in another state, they may be licensed in Alaska. However, any foreign-trained physical therapist who has not been licensed in other states is denied licensure in Alaska.

Twenty-eight other states license foreign-trained PTs on the basis of evaluations done on an applicants education by a Credential Evaluation Service. The Service evaluates an applicant's credentials by comparing them with American standards. If they are found to be substantially equal, the applicant may be licensed. This service is endorsed by the American Physical Therapy Association.

We recommend that the statutes be amended to allow persons, whose foreign education is found to be substantially equal to an American's by this credentialing Service, to be licensed in Alaska.

Recommendation No. 5

The State Physical Therapy Board in conjunction with the Attorney General, should compose formal regulations which define and list examples of licensing violations.

Alaska Statute 08.84.120 lists violations which are grounds for denial, suspension and revocation of a license. The list includes vague terms such as "moral turpitude" and "unprofessional conduct" which many physical therapists probably would not be able to understand without the advice of a lawyer. The Board should clarify and give examples of these terms.

Physical therapists and the public would be better informed and protected if they had guidance as to what actions by a physical therapist are illegal. An example of unprofessional conduct would be the commission of a fraudulent act while practicing physical therapy.

Recommendation No. 6

The State Physical Therapy Board should establish formal goals, objectives and quantifiable measures which should be included in the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) budget documents.

Objectives describe what an agency or Board is seeking to accomplish during a specific year. Well formulated objectives are capable of measurement and should include numerical targets so that actual accomplishments can be compared with stated targets. Without goals and objectives, the Board's performance cannot be adequately evaluated and analyzed.

OL established its own budget goals and objectives. However, the budget documents do not include any goals or measures for individual boards. Without the Board's goals and measures being identified or measured, both the Governor's Office and the Legislature cannot evaluate the Board's performance (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

Recommendation No. 7

The Division of Occupational Licensing should collect, record and maintain for five years files and statistics of license and testing applicants and related workload of the licensing examiner.

The Division needs relevant facts and statistics for evaluating the performance of their personnel and Board activity. Many past records have not been collected and maintained, such as:

1. Number of physical therapists and physical therapy assistants licensed each year and total number of licensed physical therapists and physical therapy assistants;

2. Records of those applicants failing the examination;

3. Number of applicants denied the chance to take the examination due to lack of qualifications;

4. Number of complaints and criticisms about the performance of the Board and its staff;

5. Correspondence workload of license examiners;

6. Number of persons requesting applications.

It is to the advantage of the Division to keep these records in order to support their budget request, evaluate their personnel and keep the Board informed as to their progress. Also, feedback from the Board and the public should be encouraged so as to determine whether staff performance is adequate (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

ANALYSIS OF PUBLIC NEED

Limited Analysis

The following analyses indicate both positive and negative attainments as Board activities relate to the public need factors defined in the "Sunset" law. These analyses are not intended to be comprehensive in nature, but address those areas we were able to cover within the scope of our review.

I. The extent to which the board, commission or program has operated in the public interest.

1. In testing the individual licensing files, we found that the Board is conscientious in the licensing of PTs, except for the problems with temporary licenses as noted in Recommendation No. 3.

II. The extent to which the operation of the board, commission, or agency program has been impeded or enhanced by existing statutes, procedures, and practices which it has adopted, and any other matter, including budgetary, resource, and personnel matters.

1. The Board's statutes do not give the Board the authority to promulgate regulations - the Board has written policies, but they do not have the effect of law (see Recommendation No. 1).

2. The statutes do not allow the Board to license foreign-trained PTs (see Recommendation No. 4).

3. The Board feels its operations are seriously hampered by the inefficient handling of complaints by the Investigations Unit within OL (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

4. The turnover of the licensing examiners in OL has caused some inefficiency in the Board's operations.

5. One member of the State Physical Therapy Board has attended only 44 per cent of the meetings. The Board is not getting the benefit of having a full Board (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

6. The terms of three Board members had been lapsed for approximately a year before the Office of the Governor reappointed the Board members (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

III. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has recommended statutory changes which are generally of benefit to the public interest.

1. Since 1974, when the PT Board was created, only minor language changes have been made; except for the amendment to allow the PT Board members to receive per diem and travel allowances. These changes were initiated by the Department of Commerce and Economic Development and the Office of the Governor.

2. No changes have been recommended by the Board.

IV. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged interested persons to report to it concerning the effect of its regulations and decisions on the effectiveness of service, economy of service, and availability of service which it has provided.

1. The public is invited to attend Board meetings to give their opinions about Board proceedings. Board meetings and examinations are advertised one time only in each of four newspapers throughout the state (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

V. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged public participation in the making of its regulations and decisions.

1. As noted in IV, the public is invited to attend Board meetings via newspaper advertisements. We found no other evidence that the Board has encouraged public participation

2. Since 1974, only three persons have attended Board meetings.

VI. The efficiency with which public inquiries or complaints regarding the activities of the board, commission or agency filed with it, with the department to which a board or commission is administratively assigned, or with the office of the ombudsman have been processed and resolved.

1. Since its inception, the Board has requested the Investigations Unit in OL investigate two complaints - no action has been taken on the complaints (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. One complaint involving the Board of Physical Therapy was made to the Ombudsman Office. The complaint, which involved a foreign-trained PT, was satisfactorily resolved as a result of an Attorney General's Opinion.

VII. The extent to which a board or commission which regulates entry into an occupation or profession has presented qualified applicants to serve the public.

1. The Board requires an applicant to have the following credentials to be licensed as a PT: a degree from a physical therapy school (which includes a 9-month internship program) and a passing score on a national written examination.

2. Since the Physical Therapy Board took over in 1974, it has licensed approximately 60 PTs.

3. The Board does not require continuing education for PTs to ensure continued competence (see Recommendation No. 2).

VIII. The extent to which state personnel practices, including affirmative action requirements, have been complied with by the board, commission or agency to its own activities and the area of activity or interest.

1. The application for licensure contains questions which could lead to discrimination on the Board's part against an applicant (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. The statutes do not allow foreign-trained physical therapists to be licensed to practice in Alaska (see Recommendation No. 4).

IX. The extent to which statutory, regulatory, budgeting or other changes are necessary to enable the agency, board or commission to better serve the interests of the public and to comply with the factors enumerated in this subsection.

1. The PT Board should be added to the list of Boards which are under the jurisdiction of the Administrative Procedures Act (AS 44.62. 330).

2. Please refer also to the previous section, Findings and Recommendations.

This revenue figure includes application and examination fees plus renewal fees. Since the renewal fees are collected once every two years, they cause the revenues in one year to be much greater than the revenues collected in the next year. Therefore, we calculated and reported an average of the revenues collected in fiscal years 1977 and 1978 in order to obtain an accurate representation of collected revenues.

Note 2

Expenditures include those made by Board members, such as travel and per diem, and an allocated percentage (estimated) of total administrative expenses of OL. They do not include expenditures for efforts that other departments, such as the Department of Law, may have incurred in assisting the Board and OL.

APPENDIX C

QUESTIONNAIRE SENT TO BOARD MEMBERS
(see Note 1)

1. Why do you think physical therapists should be registered by a State agency?

   To use the law for enforcement of policies.

2. What do you believe to be the goals and objectives of the State Physical Therapy Board?

   1. To provide optimum physical therapy care to the public and protect them from fraud.

   2. To ensure that licensure is of qualified therapists.

   3. To handle any complaints concerning the practice of physical therapy.

3. Do you feel that the Board is achieving its goals as you perceive them in question number 2?

   Yes.

4. Do you feel more emphasis should be places on some goals and less on others? Please describe any areas you feel would be applicable.

   No.

   However, more support and better service for investigating complaints is needed from investigators of the Division.

5. What evidence exists demonstrating that the absence of regulations governing the practice of physical therapy and/or the Board would be detrimental to the public's best interest?

   One individual is advertising as providing "physical therapy". She is not trained in any way as a therapist, but the public does not know so. Even with the law this occurs. Without the law it could occur very frequently.

6. Is the staff of Occupational Licensing and/or other State agencies adequate to handle the administrative and enforcement needs of the Board? What staff support services are provided adequately? Inadequately?

6. (cont'd.)

Need more enforcement help.

At times, administrative needs are not met.

Licensing Examiners are very busy. For a time, we had a new one every few months and nothing was done as it needed to be.

7. Are there any statutes or regulations that you believe are too obsolete, vague, unduly restrictive and/or inadequate to allow the Board to carry out its purposes? Please cite specific statutes and their weaknesses.

The statute stating Physical Therapists must be graduated from a school approved by the APTA restricts us in licensing foreign-trained therapists.

8. What changes could be made to the Board which would improve its service to the public?

No comment.

9. Any other comments?

No comment.

Note 1

At the time this questionnaire was mailed from the Division of Legislative Audit, there were only four members on the State Physical Therapy Board. Each of the four Board members was sent a questionnaire and Legislative Audit received one response which is summarized above.

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

We have reviewed your preliminary reports as shown below:

1. Board of Examiners in Optometry
2. Board of Dispensing Opticians
3. Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners
4. Board of Chiropractic Examiners
5. Alaska State Medical Board
6. Board of Veterinary Examiners
7. State Physical Therapy Board
8. Board of Pharmacy
9. Board of Nursing
10. Board of Nursing Home Administrators
11. Board of Dental Examiners
12. Alaska Transportation Commission

We view these reviews of agency programs and activities which are specifically subject to termination in a manner different from those made of State departments or agencies. Usually we in the Executive Branch endeavor to respond directly to each finding and recommendation. However, in regard to the Boards and Commissions, the Executive Branch agency during a public hearing shall demonstrate a public need for its continued existence or the discontinuation of the program, and the extent to which any change in the manner of exercise of its functions or activities may increase efficiency of administration or operation consistent with the public interest.

The Executive Branch of Alaska Government has made an extensive study of the above Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission. We are continuing to study those entities, their origin, their present and future potential, and other related subjects in conjunction with Alaska statutes 24 and 44 (Sunset Legislation). As prescribed in AS 44.66.050 one or more legislative hearings are to be held to receive testimony from the public, the Commissioner of the department having administrative responsibility for each, and the members of the Boards or Commission involved. During those hearings we will present our findings and recommendations affecting each of the foregoing Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission.

Accordingly, we are presenting this in addition to the responses from the Department of Commerce, Department of Law, and the individual Board or Commission members and others on an interim basis.

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

The following comments are in response to the Performance Review of the State Physical Therapy Board, as submitted by the Division of Legislative Audit.

Recommendation No. 1. Agreed. The lack of authority to promulgate regulations is a detriment to efficient board operations. Pending the outcome of Sunset Review, the division will propose legislation to grant this authority.

Recommendation No. 2. Agreed. Continuing education is one method of maintaining and improving quality care in the health care fields. We also agree that special consideration should be given to those licensees practicing and residing in rural areas where availability of educational courses is nonexistant, however, we would not advocate that they be exempt.

Recommendation No. 3. Agreed. Discussions will be held with the board and through cooperative efforts this recommendation should be complied with in the near future.

Recommendation No. 4. Foreign trained physical therapists should be licensed to practice in Alaska, if fully qualified. The division will discuss this issue and your recommendation with the board at its next meeting.

Recommendation No. 5. Agreed. Licensing violations should be as clearly defined as possible, as long as care is taken where the definition could not be interpreted as all-inclusive.

08-H8LH

Recommendation No. 6. Agreed. This board, as well as all boards, will be contacted in March or April, 1979 for input into the division's budget for FY 1981. This input will address the board's goals, objectives, and financial needs.

Recommendation No. 7. Agreed. Complete reorganization of files and procedures within the agency are expected to be accomplished by the end of calendar year 1979. Some changes have recently been initiated by the agency.

I appreciate the time and efforts expended by your staff.

LEGISLATIVE AUDIT

PHYSICAL THERAPY BOARD

RESPONSE TO LEGISLATIVE AUDIT COMMITTEE

The following are the Board's responses to the recommendations in the preliminary performance review of the State Physical Therapy Board, dated October 20, 1978, from the Division of Legislative Audit.

Recommendation No. 1

The State Physical Therapy Board should be allowed to promulgate regulations.

The Board agrees with this recommendation and is making appropriate suggested changes for the statutes. Ammendments will be submitted during the next Legislative Session to provide for the Board to make rules and regulations.

Recommendation No. 2

The State Physical Therapy Board should require physical therapists and physical therapy assistants to obtain continuing education in order to get their licenses renewed.

The Board agrees with the importance of and the idea behind continuing education. However, the Board does not feel it is ready to handle mandatory continuing education at this time because of:

1. Difficulty in getting quality coarses in Alaska due to the expense of "importing" instructors.
2. Great distances and costs involved for rural therapists to attend inservice coarses.
3. Lack of standards determining the quality of continuing education coarses. There is no professional Physical Therpay School in Alaska to offer continuing education. The local chapter of the American Physical Therapy Association does an excellent job of providing education seminars; however most of these are given by local physical therapists, and uniform standards have not been set.

The Board will be setting up a task force to study and make recommendations for the problems of providing continuing education in Alaska. February 1979.

As there have been no complaints from the public regarding degree of professionalism (knowledge, skills, services) of physical therapists, the Board feels lack of required continuing education is not an urgent problem.

Recommendation No. 3

Controls over temporary licenses should be improved.

It is the responsibility of all Board members to know the qualifications for licensure. Therefore the premise in the first paragraph under recommendation No. 3 is incorrect. We question whether one Occupational Licensing Examiner knows the qualifications for licensure better than one Board member. As it is the responsibility of the Board member to issue temporary permits, at least copies of the documents should be seen by the issuing member. The current Board members are not aware of any instance where an applicant was issued a temporary permit before documentation of their qualifications was received by either the Board member or Licensing Examiner.

The temporary licenses which lapsed before permit licenses were issued occured when there were several rapid changes of the licensing examiners, and when the State was requiring financial disclosure of all Board members, as several physical therapy members resigned causing lack of a quorum. The Board has since made a policy (which hopefully will become a regulation) that the Licensing Examiner shall notify all applicants two months prior to expiration of their temporary permit, if their application is not complete and ready for permanent licensure. In the past year, since this policy, it is believed that there has been no problems.

The Board disagrees that the licensing examiner must first receive all documents for a temporary permit. An applicant may present all documents personally to a Board member and recieve a temporary permit. Documents will then be sent to Juneau by certified mail. It is the responsibility of the Board to pass on the qualifications of the applicant rather than the licensing examiner.

The Board agrees with the last statement of this recommendation and is attempting to do so.

Recommendation No. 4

Statutory changes should be made to allow qualified foreign-trained physical therapists to practice physical therapy in Alaska.

The Board agrees with this recommendation and is proposing statute changes accordingly.

Recommendation No. 5

The State Physical Therapy Board in conjunction with the Attorney General, should compose formal requlations which define and list examples of licensing violations.

The Board agrees, but first must receive the athority to make regulations. The Board is recommending statute changes in order to make rules and regulations, and has already made a partial list of violations.

Recommendation No. 6

The State Physical Therapy Board should establish formal goals, objectives and quantifiable measures which should be included in the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) budget documents.

This has been done for the past year, 1978, by the Board and was sent to the Division of Occupational Licensing. The Division was to write up the report in final format. Report items sent to Juneau Oct. 78.

Recommendation No. 7

The Division of Occupational Licensing should collect, record and maintain for five years files and statistics of license and testing applicants and related workload of the licensing examiner.

The Board agrees.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF THE REVIEW

Purpose

In accordance with the intent of Alaska Statutes 24.20.271(1) and 44.66.050 (sunset legislation), a review of the Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners was conducted to review Board activities and accomplishments to determine if the Board has been operating in an effective, efficient, and economical manner.

As required by legislative intent, this report shall be considered during the legislative oversight function in determining whether the Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners should be reestablished. The law currently specifies that this Board will terminate on June 30, 1979, but will continue until June 30, 1980 for the purpose of concluding its affairs.

Scope

The major areas reviewed were the Board's operations and its licensing, examination, administration, complaint and affirmative action functions. Our review consisted of analyzing and evaluating the following:

(1) Applicable statutes and Board regulations;

(2) Interviews with Board members and questionnaires sent to the Board;

(3) Interviews with health agencies and professional associations;

(4) Tests of records and documents of the Board and the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL), Department of Commerce and Economic Development;

(5) Interviews with OL employees;

(6) Complaints filed with OL, the Ombudsman's Office, Consumer Affairs Agency, and the Equal Employment Opportunity Office;

(7) Questionnaires sent to State licensed psychologists and psychological associates; and

(8) Review of other states' licensing requirements.

Scope Constraints

This review was hampered by the following constraints:

(1) The Board has not established and reported financial and program plans as required by AS 37.07.050 nor has it developed and reported performance information regarding its effectiveness and accomplishments as required by AS 37.07.090.

(2) OL has not adequately collected, recorded or maintained pertinent files and statistics relating to the Board to effectively and efficiently carry out its administrative responsibilities.

(3) While conducting this review, we received little or no cooperation from some Board members.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTION

The Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners (PPAE) was established in 1967 under the provisions of Title 8, Chapter 86 of the Alaska Statutes. The Board consists of three licensed psychologists and two public members appointed by the Governor and approved by the Legislature.

The Board regulates licensed psychologists and psychological associates in the State. A psychologist associate is allowed by statute to practice counseling and administer and interpret psychology tests. A psychologist is allowed by statute to practice counseling and psychotherapy.

The Board's duties are basically the following:

1) Examining and issuing licenses to qualified applicants;

2) Establishing or amending rules and regulations necessary and desirable to enforce state statutes;

3) Holding hearings in order to revoke, annul or suspend the license of a person violating the psychologist and psychological associate statutes and regulations.

An applicant may be licensed as a psychologist by passing an examination given by the Board or by endorsement. For endorsement, an applicant must provide proof of licensure in another state with equal licensing requirements at the time of original licensing.

In order to qualify for licensure by examination, an applicant must pass a written examination, have a doctorate and one year of experience. The Board has proposed regulations defining the type of acceptable experience. For applicants filing before December 31, 1978, acceptable experience would be:

(1) graduation from an American Psychology Association (APA) approved doctoral program or a program which meets the APA standards; or

(2) one year of supervised post-doctoral experience acquired in a facility authorized to provide psychological services; or which meets the APA program standards.

After December 31, 1978, applicants must have one year of post-doctoral experience acquired under the supervision of a licensed psychologist or a diplomate of the American Board of Examiners in Professional Psychology.

Psychological associates may be licensed after examination if they have a master's degree and three years experience, two of which must be in Alaska.

REPORT CONCLUSION

Policy Issues

This review contains policy issues raised as a result of our evaluation of various ard practices. The final policy decisions affecting these practices are not within the scope of this review but require legislative consideration. The legislative oversight committees should take into consideration the findings and alternatives presented in this report, so that the potential impact of policy changes can be evaluated.

Report Conclusion

In our opinion, the Board should continue to regulate and license the psychology and counseling professionals. The regulation and licensing of these professionals is necessary to protect the public's health, safety and welfare.

However, a statutory change should be considered which will increase the number of public members on the Board and allow the public to be better represented (see Recommendation No. 1). Board actions have not been made in the public's best interest. For instance, the Board has been inconsistently evaluating applicants' qualifications and licensing psychologists since the Board's inception (see Recommendation No. 2). Also the Board has been conducting its meetings and making its deliberations and decisions in secrecy (see Recommendation No. 3).

In order for it to perform effectively and efficiently, the Board needs to make several changes. For instance, it needs to comply with the advice from the Attorney General's office to avoid costly litigation proceedings (see Recommendation No. 7). Also the Board needs to update its application forms in order to decrease the current average application processing time of 28 weeks (see Recommendation No. 5).

In addition, the Board needs to develop grading standards and a test manual for its examinations. Problems with examination procedures have already caused one complaint and may result in other court suits (see Recommendation No. 7).

There are at least four unlicensed practitioners in Alaska who may be advertising and practicing psychology or counseling in violation of the Alaska Statutes. In order to adequately protect the public from the practice of unlicensed and unqualified psychologists and psychological associates, the Board should develop a more aggressive investigative policy (see Recommendation No. 6).

In conclusion, the Board needs to analyze and evaluate its purpose and take the necessary actions needed to perform and fulfill its responsibilities.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Findings and Recommendations No. 1 through 9 are addressed to the Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners. Findings and Recommendations No. 10 and 11 are addressed to the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL), and should be read in conjunction with "A Performance Review of the Division of Occupational Licensing, Department of Commerce and Economic Development, October 30, 1978", issued under separate cover.

Recommendation No. 1

A statutory change should be considered which will increase the number of public members on the Board and allow the public to be better represented.

The Board is currently composed of three psychologists and two public members. In questionnaires returned by State licensed psychologists, 39% of the respondents believed the Board has not operated in the public's best interest.

Our findings support this view. For instance, the Board has been inconsistently licensing applicants even though an Attorney General's opinion and a prior Division of Legislative Audit report, dated August 5, 1975, noted prior inconsistencies and made recommendations to change these practices (see Recommendation No. 2). Also, the Board has been conducting its meetings and making its deliberations and decisions in secrecy (see Recommendation No. 3). Such actions not only expose the State to lawsuits, but also threaten recruiting efforts of State mental health institutions for qualified psychologists and counselors (see Recommendation No. 2).

The regulations and policies of the Board have a substanital impact on the health, welfare and ultimately the costs and services for mental health care in Alaska. The use of additional public members is desirable because knowledgeable active public members provide a valuable point of view and safeguard against problems cited above.

If the above recommendation is found to be infeasible, or if the Board continues to inconsistently apply the statutes after it has had an opportunity to implement its proposed regulations, then it is recommended that the Legislature amend the law transferring the Board's licensing function to the Department of Commerce and Economic Development.

Recommendation No. 2

The Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners should consistently apply statutory licensing criteria to all applicants.

In a prior Division of Legislative Audit report dated August 5, 1975, it was found that the provisions of AS 08.86, outlining the required qualifications for licensure of psychologists and psychological associates, had not been consistently applied by the Board. A more recent review of available records filed after 1975 indicates that this condition still exists.

The Attorney General sent a memorandum, dated February 9, 1976, to the Board stating that the licensing requirement "experience acceptable to the board" found in AS 08.86. 130(3), was unconstitutionally vague without clarification from adopted regulations. It was also pointed out that a former Board member said that the Board has accepted clinical internship program experience for purposes of AS 08.86. 130(3). Therefore, it would be illegal to deny a person with this type of experience the opportunity to take the examination.

Delaying and denial of licensure for qualified applicants not only discourages applicants, but also affects the public's best interests. In a Legislative Audit questionnaire sent to licensed psychologists, 50% of those responding said they believed there is a shortage of psychologists in the State. Thirty-nine percent responded that there was no psychologist shortage and 11% had no opinion. In addition, a proposed report by the Statewide Health Coordinating Council dated September, 1978, noted that family violence, child abuse and neglect, violent crimes and alcohol abuse are major mental health problems in Alaska.

In January, 1977, the Mental Health Advisory Council, a citizen advisory council to the Division of Mental Health and Development Disabilities, Department of Health and Social Services, passed a resolution which listed numerous problems concerning the licensing of psychologists by the Board. The resolution further stated that these problems threaten the viability of many mental health programs in Alaska. Statutes require the director of these programs to have an Alaskan psychologist license.

Psychology regulations have been proposed but have not become effective as of September 30, 1978. Effective regulations will help guide the Board to consistently license qualified applicants. However, if regulations are not promptly implemented, then it is recommended that legislation be introduced to clarify AS 08.36.130(3).

Recommendation No. 3

The Board should openly conduct its meetings and provide documentation supporting its deliberations and decisions.

The Board is conducting its deliberations and parts of its meetings in secrecy. In addition, there is insufficient documentation to identify its decisions. Examples are:

1. Board did not allow license examiners to record or take minutes of the first half of a public meeting.

2. Minutes are ambiguous as to what the Board has decided.

3. There is no documentation in the files identifying Board decisions and actions.

Ambiguous minutes and lack of documentation in the applicants' files have caused licensing problems. For instance, an applicant took the State psychology examination two years ago and passed. The current Board only recently granted the applicant his license, because they say the prior Board decided the person was not qualified. Board minutes support the current Board's position. However, there is conflicting documentation in the applicant's folder as to whether the applicant was approved by the prior Board or allowed to take the examination with only one Board member's approval.

In other instances, we found no evidence in six licensed psychologist files identifying that the Board approved their licenses.

AS 44.62.312(a)(2) states:

> "It is the policy of the state that it is the intent of the law that actions of those units (governmental units) be taken openly and that their deliberations be conducted openly."

This statute covers all meetings of a board and, therefore, should be strictly adhered to. Without compliance, the Board gives the impression that the decision making process is not for public knowledge. Also, it is difficult for Board members and others to determine and trace the reasons for prior Baord decisions without proper documentation (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

Recommendation No. 4

The Board should comply with the Attorney General's advice and in those cases where the Board disregards this advice, the Attorney General should inform Board members that they may be personally liable for their actions.

Several cases have occurred where the Board has disregarded the Attorney General's advice. Such actions by the Board could expose the State to costly litigation proceedings.

For example, the Attorney General recently advised the Board that a particular applicant was eligible for licensure. The applicant passed the psychology examination in 1976 with the approval of a prior Board chairman. The current Board refused to license the applicant because Board minutes show that the prior Board disapproved of the applicant's eligibility. AS 08.86.120 states that a person who passed the examination given by the Board is entitled to be licensed as a psychologist.

In addition, the Board refused to honor an agreement made by the Department of Law with a license applicant who charged that the psychology examination was unfair. The agreement was for the applicant to take only part of the examination again. The Board wanted the applicant to retake all of the examination (see Recommendation No. 7).

By refusing to follow its counsel, who is the Attorney General, the Board not only exposes the State to litigation proceedings, but also members can become personally liable for actions taken.

The Board has changed its position regarding the above two cases. It recently licensed the first individual discussed above and is allowing the second person to take part of the psychology examination in compliance with the Attorney General's agreement. The decision was made after the Board listened to the advice of OL officials and a representative of the Attorney General's office.

Recommendation No. 5

The Board should update its application forms and regulations in order to promptly process and analyze applications.

It takes the Board an average of 28 weeks, or over 6 months, to receive an application and make a final determination of whether the applicant is qualified. Such long delays are a result of:

A. Inconsistent licensing (see Recommendation No. 2);

B. Requests by the Board for additional information from applicants; and

C. Lack of written guidelines for licensure.

The Board made over 10 requests in the last three years for applicants to supply more detailed information regarding post-doctoral supervised experience. Application forms and verification forms of post-doctoral supervised experience and out-of-state licenses should require that the applicant submit sufficient information so the Board can properly evaluate the applicant's qualifications.

In addition, the Board should list in regulations those states whose statutory requirements are similar and dissimilar to Alaska's requirements. This would better inform applicants of whether they are qualified for endorsement or for the examination.

And finally, the Board should develop standard procedures and guidelines for evaluating and licensing applicants. Written guidelines followed consistently by the Board should help lower the application processing time to a more reasonable average.

Recommendation No. 6

The Board should develop a more aggressive investigation policy by establishing clear regulations for licensing violations and by promptly filing complaints against those practitioners who violate the law.

AS 08.86.180 and AS 08.86.185 state that no person may practice or offer to practice psychology, counseling, and psychometrics unless that person is a licensed psychologist or psychological associate, or specifically exempt by the statutes. In addition, the statutes further define that a person who violates these statutes is guilty of a misdemeanor.

There are at least four unlicensed practitioners in Alaska who may be advertising and practicing psychology or counseling in violation of AS 08.86.180 and 08.86.185. In addition, several licensed psychologists expressed concern in a Legislative Audit questionnaire that psychologists educated in areas other than clinical psychology may obtain a license and practice clinical psychology without being qualified to do so.

AS 08.86.220 allows the Board to restrict the practice of a licensed psychologist by specialty, upon a finding that there is a demonstrated problem with competence, experience, education or health. However, according to investigative files and Board meeting minutes, the Board has never sought to do so. Nor has it composed regulations to provide guidance in this investigative area.

In order to adequately protect the public from the practice of unlicensed and unqualified psychologists and psychological associates, the Board should implement regulations which specifically define under what conditions a licensed psychologist may be restricted to by specialty. Also, the Board should promptly file complaints against any psychologists violating the Alaska psychology statutes.

Recommendation No. 7

The Board should develop standards and a test manual for the examination given to license applicants.

Several respondents to a Legislative Audit questionnaire sent to licensed psychologists in the State noted that the essay and oral questions were exactly identical. A review of past tests shows that the Board made no marks of grading on the test sheets. In addition, there are no written standard answers or grade sheets with which the Board can properly evaluate and grade applicants' tests. Already one examinee has charged that the examination is unfair (see Recommendation No. 3).

In the Ethical Standards of Psychologists published by the American Psychology Association (APA), Principle 8 states that a person examined has the right to know the results and the data on which the judgements were made. It also states that a test manual should be composed that fully describes the development of the test, the rationale and the evidence of validity and reliability.

The Board should follow the APA ethical standards by proposing and implementing regulations and a test manual. Such actions will help the Board treat all applicants in a consistent manner and avoid costly litigations against the Board.

Recommendation No. 8

Legislation should be introduced to change licensing statutes for psychological associates in order to encourage more qualified applicants to apply and become licensed in the State.

Psychological associates include those persons practicing, counseling and administering psychological evaluation and guidance tests. Alaska statutes require that applicants qualified to be licensed as psychological associates must take an examination. In order to take the examination, an applicant must have at least three years experience, two of which must be in Alaska.

As of September 30, 1978, there are only 3 licensed psychological associates in the State. Other psychological associates who are statutorily exempt from being licensed may also be practicing in the State. However, at least two applicants were denied licensure in the last three years because of the licensing requirements. Others may have been discouraged from applying. By removing the requirement for Alaskan experience, the statutes will encourage more qualified applicants to become licensed and practice in the State.

Another method to encourage more qualified applicants without lowering standards is to allow out-of-state qualified licensed practitioners to obtain their Alaska license without taking the examination. Endorsement is currently allowed for psychologists, but not for psychological associates.

Recommendation No. 9

Legislation should be introduced requiring continuing education for psychologists and psychological associates.

Psychologists and psychological associates are acutely aware of the public's trust that they maintain tneir professional competency. Required continuing education is one means of fulfilling that trust. In addition, a program of continuing education will assist in avoiding professional obsolesence and keep practitioners aware of changes taking place in the profession.

Twenty-two of 28 psychologists responded to a Legislative Audit questionnaire that they believed continuing education should be required for their profession. In addition, the American Psychology Association endorses the concept and has determined that 11 states require it.

Recommendation No. 10

The Board should establish formal goals, objectives and quantifiable measures which should be included in the OL's budget document.

Objectives describe what an agency or Board is seeking to accomplish during a specific year. Well formulated objectives are capable of measurement and should include numerical targets so that actual accomplishments can be compared with stated targets. Without goals and objectives, the Board's performance cannot be adequately evaluated and analyzed.

OL established its own budget goals and objectives. The budget documents do not include any goals or measures for individual boards. Without the Board's goals and measures being identified or measured neither the Governor's Office nor the Legislature can evaluate the Board's performance (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

Recommendation No. 11

The Division of Occupational Licensing should develop a procedure manual for the licensing examiner supporting the Board.

Currently the licensing examiner supporting the Board has no procedure manual with which to guide his/her actions. There have been five license examiners for the Board in the last two years. With this high turnover, it is necessary that there are standard guidelines to help new and old employees.

It is recommended that the Division enlist the advice of the Board to construct specific guidelines for the examiner. This will help to ensure that the manual accurately reflects any licensing procedure changes made in compliance with Recommendation No. 2.

ANALYSIS OF PUBLIC NEED

Limited Analysis

The following analyses indicate both positive and negative attainments as Board activities relate to the public need factors defined in the "Sunset" law. These analyses are not intended to be comprehensive in nature, but address those areas we were able to cover within the scope of our review.

I. The extent to which the board, commission or program has operated in the public interest.

1. The Board has inconsistently applied the psychology licensing requirements listed in the Alaska Statutes. The Board has also denied several apparently qualified applicants the opportunity to take the psychology examination. Such policies are not in the public's best interest (see Recommendation No. 2).

2. In January, 1977, the Mental Health Advisory Council, a citizen advisory council to the Division of Mental Health and Development Disabilities, Department of Health and Social Serivices, passed a resolution which listed numerous problems concerning the licensing of psychologists by the Board. The resolution further stated that these problems threaten the viability of many mental health programs in Alaska. Statutes require the director of these programs to have an Alaskan psychologist license.

3. The Board has been disregarding the Attorney General's advice which could expose the State to costly litigation proceedings (see Recommendation No. 4).

4. Several unlicensed psychologists or psychological associates may be advertising or practicing as psychologists or counselors in violation of Alaska Statutes. In order to better protect the public, the Board needs to develop a more agressive investigative policy (see Recommendation No. 6).

5. The Board has proposed but not implemented regulations defining standards for licensing requirements. This occurred three years after a prior Legislative Audit report dated August 5, 1975, recommended that regulations be adopted and implemented (see Recommendation No. 2).

II. The extent to which the operation of the board, commission, or agency program has been impeded or enhanced by existing statutes, procedures, and practices which it has adopted, and any other matter, including budgetary, resource, and personnel matters.

1. The Division of Occupational Licensing (OL) has not maintained updated records, files and statistics for Board use (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

2. Investigations have not been processed by the investigation section of OL in a timely manner There are several investigations that are over two years old (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

3. Statutory requirements for licensing psychological associates are unnecessarily restrictive by requiring two of the three years of acquired experience to be completed in Alaska (see Recommendation No. 8).

III. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has recommended statutory changes which are generally of benefit to the public interest.

1. The Board has made two recommendations for statutory changes. The first would have required that applicants have one year of continuous residency in Alaska before being licensed. It is doubtful whether this is in the public's interest, since it would discriminate against professionals who just moved from other states.

   The other recommendation was to delete the statutes which exempt governmental, educational and private agency supervised psychologists and psychological associates from being licensed. We have found no evidence which demonstrates that there is a need for this change in the statutes.

IV. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged interested persons to report to it concerning the effect of its regulations and decisions on the effectiveness of service, economy of service, and availability of service which it has provided.

1. We noted no evidence which demonstrates Board encouragement.

V. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged public participation in the making of its regulations and decisions.

1. The Board appears to conduct its deliberations and meetings in secrecy (see Recommendation No. 3).

2. During the past four years, thirty-four persons other than Board members and State employees were present during Board meetings as recorded by Board minutes. Many of those participants attended three public meetings to discuss the proposed regulations. Other participants were applicants and other licensed psychologists.

3. The Board advertises in several newspapers to encourage public participation. During the last three years, the advertisements averaged approximately one advertisement per paper for each meeting. Also the advertisements for examinations averaged slightly more than one advertisement per paper. No advertisements were published for public hearings on proposed regulations which is in violation of the Administrative Procedures Act. However, notices of the meetings were sent to interested agencies, which include the Alaska Psychology Association and mental health clinics, and sent to newspapers which did not publish them.

VI. The efficiency with which public inquiries or complaints regarding the activities of the board, commission or agency filed with it, with the department to which a board or commission is administratively assigned, or with the Office of the Ombudsman have been processed and resolved.

1. Two complaints were filed and investigated by the Ombudsman's Office. One was regarding a denial of license by the Board; the other was a complaint about OL misplacing a receipt for a temporary license. The first complaint was labeled by the Ombudsman's Office as a complaint "unsupported" and was "rectified". The other was found to be "justified" and "rectified".

2. A complaint was recorded with OL about the fairness of PPAE's examination. The complaint was resolved with an agreement whereby the applicant only has to retake only part of the examination (see Recommendation No. 4).

VII. The extent to which a board or commission which regulates entry into an occupation or profession has presented qualified applicants to serve the public.

1. A small number of complaints are recorded with OL against state psychology practitioners. There were eight complaints in four years (see Appendix B).

VIII. The extent to which state personnel practices, including affirmative action requirements, have been complied with by the board, commission or agency to its own activities and the area of activity or interest.

1. Psychology and psychological associate applications require unnecessary information such as an applicant's age and picture (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

IX. The extent to which statutory, regulatory, budgeting or other changes are necessary to enable the agency, board or commission to better serve the interests of the public and to comply with the factors enumerated in this subsection.

Please refer to the previous section, Findings and Recommendations.

Expenditures inculde those made by Board members, such as travel and per diem and an allocated percentage (estimated) of total administrative expenses of OL. They do not include expenditures for efforts of other departments, such as the Department of Law, that may be assisting the Board and OL.

5. What evidence exists demonstrating that the absence of psychological regulations and/or the Board would be detrimental to the public's best interest?

Description	Number of Board Members' Responses
Since Board has received many inquiries from aspiring psychologists who never apply for licensure, it might be assumed those people could become self-appointed practitioners.	1
Every state has licensing laws for psychologists.	1
No hard evidence except that Board is aware of persons practicing, counseling whose practice is not helpful and is even harmful to the public.	1

Description	Number of Board Members' Responses
Actions by the Attorney General have become necessary because of the vagueness of the licensure statutes. Regulations were essential to clarify these cases	1
Recurrent complaints of misrepresentation and unethical practice evidence the need for licensing laws.	1
Don't know.	1

6. Has the Board recommended any statutory changes which are generally in the public's best interest?

Description	Number of Board Members' Responses
The Board recommended the deletion of the statute which exempts those unlicensed psychologists who are working in governmental, educational and private agencies where they could be appropriately supervised.	1

Description	Number of Board Members' Responses
There is concern that with three professional members and two public members, the balance in a vote may be critical. Also, in the examination process, each public member has the same power to pass and fail test items as the professional members, thus making it morally impossible for a professional member to be absent for any reason.	1
The screening, testing, and interviewing process needs improvements.	1
Addition of one more professional and public member would be helpful.	1
Don't know.	1

We view these reviews of agency programs and activities which are specifically subject to termination in a manner different from those made of State departments or agencies. Usually we in the Executive Branch endeavor to respond directly to each finding and recommendation. However, in regard to the Boards and Commissions, the Executive Branch agency during a public hearing shall demonstrate a public need for its continued existence or the discontinuation of the program, and the extent to which any change in the manner of exercise of its functions or activities may increase efficiency of administration or operation consistent with the public interest.

The Executive Branch of Alaska Government has made an extensive study of the above Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission. We are continuing to study those entities, their origin, their present and future potential, and other related subjects in conjunction with Alaska statutes 24 and 44 (Sunset Legislation). As prescribed in AS 44.66.050 one or more legislative hearings are to be held to receive testimony from the public, the Commissioner of the department having administrative responsibility for each, and the members of the Boards or Commission involved. During those hearings we will present our findings and recommendations affecting each of the foregoing Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission.

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

This department has reviewed recommendation number 4 of the performance review of the Board of Psychologists and Psychological Associate Examiners submitted by your division.

Recommendation number 4 reads:

> The Board should comply with the Attorney General's advice and in those cases where the Board disregards this advice, the Attorney General should inform Board members that they may be personally liable for their actions.

Please be advised that the recommendation of your division represents what has been the consistent policy of this department with respect to every occupational licensing board under the Department of Commerce and Economic Development, including the Board of Psychologists and Psychological Associate Examiners. While the minutes of the Board of Psychologists and Psychological Associate Examiners may not reflect this department's admonition to Board members that failure to license certain applicants contrary to our express advice would subject them to possible personal liability, the department has done so on at least three occasions.

Should you wish further clarification or verification of this policy as we have applied it to the Board of Psychologists and Psychological Associate Examiners, please do not hesitate to contact this office.

Gerald L. Wilkerson, CPA
Legislative Auditor
Division of Legislative Audit

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

The following comments are in response to the Performance Review of the Board of Psychologists and Psychological Associate Examiners, as submitted by the Division of Legislative Audit.

Recommendation No. 1. Agreed. The use of additional public members could provide a beneficial overall perspective in board operations. However, we would not advocate increasing the size of board membership.

Recommendation No 2. Your basic premise underlying this recommendation is that effective regulations will help guide the board in consistently licensing qualified applicants. I am in complete agreement.

The proposed regulations were signed by the Lieutenant Governor and will become effective on December 24, 1978. I feel these regulations will provide the necessary frame work for applicants to be dealt with consistently.

Recommendation No. 3. Agreed. I have forwarded a copy of AS 44.62.312(a)(2) concerning public meetings to the board for their information. The Director of the Division of Occupational Licensing has also discussed this situation with the board. All meetings are now recorded and minutes taken. This recommendation has been implemented.

Recommendation No. 4. Agreed. The regulations referred to in my response to recommendation no. 1 will remedy the major portion of your recommendation. Your additional comment concerning board members becoming personally liable is a legal question which I feel should be answered by an attorney within the Department of Law.

Recommendation No. 5. Agreed. The portion of this recommendation concerning updating regulations has been answered in responding to recommendation no. 1. The application form will be revised by December 31, 1979.

Recommendation No. 6. AS 08.86.070 describes the duties of the board. It is the responsibility of the Division of Occpational Licensing to investigate complaints and the board will act as a quasi-judicial body. I do agree that the board may request an investigation. Should any board member request an investigation the division will proceed.

Recommendation No. 7. Agreed. Regulations discussed in recommendation no. 1 will in effect partially institute this recommendation. The division will work with the board concerning implementation.

Recommendation No. 8. Agreed. The board is reviewing this recommendation. The division will provide any assistance necessary or requested in order to rectify this problem.

Recommendation No. 9. I agree with the concept concerning continuing education as a condition of relicensure.

Recommendation No. 10. Agreed. This board, as well as all boards, will be contacted in March or April, 1979 for input into the division's budget for FY 1981. This input will address the board's goals, objectives and financial needs.

Recommendation No. 11. Agreed. Discussions will be held with the board and through cooperative efforts a procedure manual will be formulated by the end of calendar year 1979.

I appreciate the time and efforts expended by your staff.

Yours truly,

H. Phillip Hubbard

Entry Requirements for Professional Practice of Psychology

A Guide for Students and Faculty

American Association of State Psychology Boards

The Purpose of this Brochure

The American Association of State Psychology Boards (AASPB) has become increasingly concerned that students preparing for professional practice of psychology be made aware of the legal requirements for entry into such practice. The purpose of this brochure is to acquaint students with typical requirements for licensure or certification in the various jurisdictions in the United States and Canada. The Association hopes that an understanding of these requirements will enable the student to better meet the standards established by law to regulate the practice of psychology in the public interest.

What is the American Association of State Psychology Boards?

The AASPB was formed in 1961 to serve a number of needs of state psychology boards throughout North America. One primary need was the establishment of a standardized, written examination for professional practice in psychology which could be used by all jurisdictions to examine candidates for licensure or certification. In addition to that purpose, the AASPB also serves to coordinate efforts of the various boards, facilitate communication among boards, and act as a voice for those responsible for the legal regulation of the practice of psychology.

The Purpose of Licensure or Certification of Psychologists*

The practice of professional psychology is now regulated by law in 49 of the 50 states of the U.S., as well as the District of Columbia and 7 provinces of Canada. The laws are intended to protect the public by limiting licensure to those persons who are qualified to practice psychology as defined by state law.

The legal basis for licensure lies in the right of the state to enact legislation to protect its citizens. Caveat emptor or "buyer beware," is felt to be an unsound maxim when the "buyer" of services cannot be sufficiently well informed to beware, and hence states have established regulatory Boards to license qualified practitioners. A professional board is a state agency acting to protect the public, not to serve the profession. However, by insuring high standards for those who practice independently, the Board is simultaneously serving the best interests of both the public and profession. The major functions of any professional board are: (1) To determine the standards for admission into the profession and to administer appropriate procedures for selection and examination, and (2) To regulate practice and to conduct disciplinary proceedings involving violation of standards of professional conduct embodied in law.

Those who practice the profession of psychology in a research laboratory, in a state or federal institution or agency, or in a college or university are still exempt from the requirements of licensure in some states, although there is a trend toward requiring licensure of agency employees. The psychologist who offers direct services to the public for a fee must be licensed.

Typical Requirements of Psychology Licensing Laws

Licensing laws in the various jurisdictions differ considerably, yet most have a common core of agreement. Of course, each board is the final authority on all matters of requirements within its jurisdiction and should be contacted for specifics. The typical requirements for licensure in the various jurisdictions are as follows:

A) Education
Achievement of a doctoral degree in psychology from an approved program, or the equivalent as deemed by the board. The definitions of approved programs vary widely, but often refer to accreditation of the academic institutions by recognized accrediting bodies. (Some states have two or more levels of licensure or certification, with the lower level requiring less than the doctoral degree and entailing more restrictions on the practitioner.)

B) Experience
One or two years supervised experience in a setting approved by the state board. Most, but not all, states require that some of the supervised experience be postdoctoral.

C) Examination
Demonstration of relevant knowledge through passing an objective written examination. The Examination of Professional Practice in Psychology, constructed by a committee of AASPB in association with the Professional Examination Service, is used in about 48 jurisdictions. The cut-off point for successful performance on the examination is determined by the board having authority for the jurisdiction. In some states, successful performance is required on an oral and/or essay examination conducted by the Board or a committee designated by the Board. Specialty examinations, e.g. in clinical psychology, industrial psychology, or school psychology may become common in the near future.

D) Administrative requirements
In addition to the foregoing requirements, the various state laws specify different citizenship, age, and residence requirements, as well as requiring evidence of good moral character.

Stated succinctly, the major hurdles which any candidate must meet in the evaluation by the board are:

1) The Board's review of credentials (transcripts, application, references).
2) Examination (written and/or oral)

Most candidates successfully pass these hurdles, but some fail. Potential sources of difficulty are discussed below

How to Prepare for Successfully Meeting the Requirements of Licensure

Although well prepared candidates have little or no problem with the licensing process, certain areas can be identified in which difficulties are most likely to occur. These potential problem areas are:

1) Knowledge of the law and regulations. The applicant should examine the law for the jurisdiction in which licensure is sought to assure that there has been full compliance with the law before an application is submitted. The applicant also should be familiar with, and comply with, any regulations of the board with respect to qualifications.

2) Adequacy of training and/or experience. The problems subsumed under this heading include a lack of the appropriate degree specified by the law (usually a Ph.D. in psychology); failure of the candidate to complete the required number of graduate hours in psychology; failure of the institution from which the degree was granted to meet the criteria for approval by the board; failure of the specific curriculum in which the student was enrolled to meet the requirements of the particular state board. With regard to the last-mentioned criterion, most laws contain a stipulation that the graduate work be predominantly psychological in nature, and the doctoral degree be based upon a dissertation which is psychological in content. It should also be noted that some jurisdictions require evidence of continuing education, beyond the Ph.D., for psychologists to retain their licenses.

In addition to these problems having to do with the nature of the candidate's education, each law specifies the duration of experience required, and each board stipulates the type of setting in which approved experience may be obtained. Typical of such approved settings are the APA-approved internship programs. Each candidate should plan for supervised experience that will satisfy the legal requirements for practice in the jurisdiction in which licensure is desired.

3) Examination Performance. Successful performance in state licensing examinations usually requires demonstration of knowledge of basic psychology which is relevant to professional practice, along with knowledge of professional ethics and professional affairs. While numerous factors are undoubtedly operative, probably the most frequent source of failure is the candidate's possession of insufficient knowledge of basic psychology. Candidates may also be disqualified in oral examinations as a consequence of demonstration of insufficient knowledge about the management of professional problems, particularly ethical problems.

*When both the title and practice of psychology are regulated, the law is called a licensing law; when only the title of psychologist is regulated, the law is called a certification law. To avoid redundancy in the remainder of our discussion the word "licensure" will be used to stand for either licensure or certification.

Throughout this text the term "state" will refer to Canada's provinces as well as political subdivisions of the U.S.

The Content of the Examination of Professional Practice in Psychology

In order to help the candidate to prepare for the Examination of Professional Practice in Psychology (EPPP), a separate brochure has been prepared by AASPB, and is available from AASPB, the Professional Examination Service, or the board of examiners in those jurisdictions using the exam. In the paragraphs below, the content of that examination is summarized briefly.

1) Background knowledge: physiological psychology and comparative psychology, learning, history, theory and systems, sensation and perception, motivation, social psychology, personality, cognitive processes, developmental psychology, psychopharmacology;
2) Methodology: research design and interpretation, statistics, test construction and interpretation, scaling;
3) Professional practice:
   a) Clinical psychology: test usage and interpretation, diagnosis, psychopathology, therapy, judgment in clinical situations, community health;
   b) Behavior modification: Learning, applications;
   c) Other specialities: Management consulting, industrial and human engineering, social psychology, T-groups, counseling and guidance, communications, systems analysis;
   d) Professional conduct, affairs, and ethics: Interdisciplinary relations, professional conduct, knowledge of professional affairs.

The EPPP is published in various forms, with new forms published periodically. The examination varies from 150 to 200 items in length. The content areas enumerated above are not equally weighted.

The requirements for licensure, delineated above, and the discussion of potential bases for denial, suggest that the student who seeks out a broad and sophisticated background in psychology is likely to encounter few problems in the licensing process. The student should especially seek experiences which emphasize the application of psychological knowledge to problems likely to be encountered as a professional psychologist. Narrowly based training, avoiding the complexity of the field of psychology, is probably not in the student's best interest if professional practice is a goal. Cursory or limited supervision, or supervision by other than a qualified psychologist, is also likely to lead to deficiencies. Moreover, since psychologists tend to be mobile, a broad background acceptable to all or most boards is preferable to training narrowly designed to meet the requirements of a single jurisdiction. Students who have sought out experiences consistent with APA standards and have taken training at recognized facilities of quality rarely experience difficulty in obtaining licensure.

An Interstate Reporting Service has been established by the Professional Examination Service to facilitate mobility by permitting easier endorsement of licenses among states. The Reporting Service maintains a permanent record of examination scores on the EPPP for those candidates who choose to register. On the candidate's request, the Service will report the score, accompanied by appropriate normative data, to the board of another state in which licensure is being sought.

It cannot be overemphasized that the final and absolute word concerning requirements for licensure in any state must be obtained from the specific board in question. Addresses for state boards are published each calendar year in the American Psychologist. When in doubt, write or call your board. Dear Brad:

I am deeply concerned that the Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners may be terminated under sunset review. I will not go into detailed history of what has happened concerning this professional licensing board except to say that I was in the House when the original bill passed that body in 1964 and have been concerned about professional standards in my field for the past quarter century.

During the past several years while I have been Secretary of this Board, we have attempted to tighten up procedures and indeed, the first regulations for the Board were finally approved in December of 1978. Unfortunately, some of the statements made in both the sunset audit review and other investigations are difficult to address without lengthy explanation and refutation.

I would hope that your committee would see fit to extend the life of this Board since I do not think it would be in the public interest for this function to be assumed by a government agency, rather than by professionals in the field.

The impact of our Board being sunsetted would place in jeopardy anyone who is licensed in Alaska who attempted to move to another licensing jurisdiction (every state, Washington, D.C., and Puerto Rico have similar boards and standards). This is crucial, since every state board checks to see if standards of screening and testing are equal to those in their jurisdiction.

In addition to a national objective examination, each state gives a state examination to attempt to evaluate factors of professional ethics, work samples and similar issues.

Sincerely,

James C. Parsons, Secretary
Alaska Board of Psychologist and Psychological Associate Examiners

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF STATE PSYCHOLOGY BOARDS

Committee on Supervision

The American Association of State Psychology Boards established a Committee on Supervision with the charge that it develop Guidelines for the attainment of that amount of supervised practice which is required as a pre-condition to licensure. The need for such Guidelines has been evidenced by mounting pressure towards uniform standards for licensing on a Federal level, as well as the continuing feedback that many States were having difficulty arriving at consistent standards for evaluating this aspect of their applicants' credentials. The Committee was also charged with the development of Guidelines for Supervision of unlicensed persons providing psychological services. This initial report concerns itself with the first of these issues.

A period of supervised professional work experience is widely recognized by statute as one of the prerequisites for credentialing for autonomous practice. The process of supervision, that is, the management of a work experience and evaluation of the psychologist's performance, serves as a bridge between graduate education and practicum training, and the detailed application of professional skills in specific client situations.

The supervisory function serves a multiplicity of purposes. It provides guidance in administrative issues in the practice setting, it continues and expands education in skills, it offers emotional support, and it provides evaluation for purposes of the supervisee's growth, as well as administrative judgment relative to the supervisee's capacity for autonomous professional functioning. The supervisor assigns work, sets realistic standards for achievement, and offers evaluation of the supervisee's performance. The supervisor offers a perspective on the relationship between the supervisee's assignment, the rest of the agency and the facilities available outside of the agency, in order that the supervisee's diagnostic and intervention procedures are intelligently placed within the context of all of the systems effecting and influencing the client. In addition to all of this, the supervisor must deal with the personal characteristics of the supervisee which either enhance or interfere with his work efficiency.

The following Guidelines are based on a careful review of the operation of all of the State Boards of Examiners, and intensive consideration and debate of the Executive committee of the American Association of State Psychology Boards. In addition to detailing what we deem to be reasonable minimal standards for supervised practice, this document underlines and emphasizes the legal, administrative and professional responsibility of the licensed psychologist designated as supervisor. It is the supervisor's obligation to limit supervision to those areas in which he/she has professional expertise, as well as to develop the specialized skills necessary to render competent supervision.

SUPERVISED PRACTICE AS PREREQUISITE FOR LICENSURE

I. Duration and Setting of Supervised Practice

A. Two years of supervised and documented experience shall be required prior to considering a candidate as eligible for admission to examination for full licensure.

1. The first year of supervised experience shall be credited only after accruing the equivalent of two years of full time graduate study in an integrated sequence of course work in psychology. The second year of supervised experience must be obtained post-doctorally. Credit shall not be granted for practice in connection with course work practicum experience for which graduate credits are granted.

B. Supervised experience shall be credited only for professional practice in an organized public or private agency, institution or organization which will provide an opportunity for contact with other disciplines, and an opportunity for work with a broad range of clients. Other settings may be considered only by prior arrangement with, and approval, of the Board.

1. A minimum qualifying placement shall consist of the equivalent of one full year (35 hours per week) assignment to insure a comprehensive, supervised work experience.

II. Qualifications of Supervisors

A. Overall supervision of the psychologist's professional growth resides in the licensed psychologist. Specific skill training may be assigned to other specialists, under the authority of the supervising psychologist. The non-psychologist supervisor shall have clearly established practice and teaching skills demonstrable to the satisfaction of both the supervising psychologist, and the supervisee.

B. The supervisor shall so limit supervisory responsibilities as to be certain to maintain a level of supervision and practice consistent with professional standards insuring the welfare of the supervisee and the client.

III. Amount of Supervisory Contact

In keeping with previous recommendations, there shall be one hour per week as a minimum for general administrative supervision. Specific case discussion and skill training require additional supervisory contact. Supervision is to be conducted on a one to one basis, and shall not be substituted for by group seminars or consultation which may be excellent training procedures in their own right. It is likely that much more than one hour per week would be required, especially with supervisees of lesser experience.

IV. Conduct of Supervision

A. The committee recognizes that, under all circumstances, the variability in preparation for practice of the trainee will require individually tailored supervision. The specific content of the supervised procedures will have to be worked out between the individual and the supervisee.

B. The licensed psychologist who provides supervision for the candidate for licensure, must have legal, administrative, and professional responsibility for the work of the supervisee. This means that the supervisor must be available to the supervisee, at the point of the decision making. The supervisor's relationship with the supervisee shall be clearly differentiated from that of consultant, who may be called in at the discretion of the consultee, and who has none of the legal, administrative or professional accountability for the services performed, and the welfare of the client.

V. Evaluation and Accreditation of Supervised Practice

A. The Board shall require submission of information by the supervisor(s) which will enable it to evaluate and credit the extent and quality of the candidate's supervised practice.

The form requesting such information shall cover the following:

a. Name of Supervisee
b. Educational level of Supervisee
c. Supervisor's name, address, license number, State in which granted and area of specialization.
d. Name and nature of setting in which supervised practice took place.
e. Dates of practice covered in this report.
f. Number of practice hours during this period.
g. Supervisee's duties.
h. Number of one to one supervisory hours.
i. Assessment of supervisee's performance.

B. Supervised practice time during which the Supervisor deems Supervisee's performance to have been unacceptable shall not be credited towards the required supervised practice hours.

d. Name and nature of setting in which supervised practice took place.
e. Dates of practice covered in this report.

h. Number of one to one supervisory hours.
i. Assessment of supervisee's performance.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF THE REVIEW

Purpose

In accordance with the intent of Alaska Statutes 24.20.271(1) and 44.66.050 (sunset legislation), a review of the Board of Veterinary Examiners was conducted to review board activities and accomplishments to determine if the board has been operating in an effective, efficient and economical manner.

As required by legislative intent, this report shall be considered during the legislative oversight function in determining whether the Board of Veterinary Examiners should be reestablished. The law currently specifies that this Board will terminate on June 30, 1979, but will continue until June 30, 1980 for the purpose of concluding its affairs.

Scope

The major areas reviewed were the Board's operations and its licensing, examination, administration, complaint and affirmative action functions. Our review consisted of analyzing and evaluating the following:

(1) Applicable statutes and Board regulations;

(2) Interviews with Board members and questionnaires sent to the Board;

(3) Interviews with professional associations;

(4) Tests of records and documents of the Board and the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL), Department of Commerce and Economic Development;

(5) Interviews with OL employees;

(6) Complaints filed with OL, the Ombudsman's Office, Consumer Affairs Agency, and the Equal Employment Opportunity Office;

(7) Questionaires sent to State licensed veterinarians; and

(8) Review of other states' licensing requirements.

Scope Constraints

This review was hampered by the following constraints:

(1) The Board has not established and reported financial and program plans as required by AS 37.07.050 nor has it developed and reported performance information regarding its effectiveness and accomplishments as required by AS 37.07.090.

(2) OL has not adequately collected, recorded or maintained pertinent files and statistics relating to the Board to effectively and efficiently carry out its administrative responsibilities.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTION

The Board of Veterinary Examiners is a regulatory board consisting of three licensed veterinarians. The authority of the Board is outlined by Alaska Statutes 08.08.010-.250.

Basically, the Board determines the minimum quality of veterinary care in the State by:

1. Examining and issuing licenses to qualified applicants;

2. Establishing or amending rules and regulations necessary or desirable to enforce State statutes; and

3. Holding hearings in order to revoke, or suspend the license of a person violating the veterinary statutes and regulations.

An applicant is statutorily qualified to take an examination if he has graduated from a Board approved school, has never had a license revoked, and is of good moral character.

Presently, the examination contains three parts: A multiple choice test provided by Professional Examinational Service, a written test and an oral examination prepared by the Board.

A candidate is statutorily qualified for licensure by endorsement if the applicant passed a veterinary examination, actively practiced veterinary medicine at least five of the last seven years, and graduated from an accredited veterinary college.

Temporary permits are allowed for applicants who are qualified to take the examination and such permits are valid only until the results of the examination have been determined.

The Board has staff support from the Division of Occupational Licensing which consists of two sections. The licensing section, which processess applications, is supposed to maintain license files, gather and collect statistics, answer inquiries and provide other administrative help to the licensing boards. The other section provides investigative services to the Board in the event of consumer or professional complaints.

REPORT CONCLUSION

Policy Issues

This review contains policy issues raised as a result of our evaluation of various Board practices. The final policy decisions affecting these practices are not within the scope of this review but require legislative consideration. In debating these decisions, the legislative oversight committees should take into consideration the findings and alternatives presented in this report, so that the potential impact of policy changes can be evaluated.

Report Conclusion

In our opinion, the Board of Veterinary Examiners should continue to regulate and license veterinarians. The regulation and licensing of these professionals is necessary to protect the public's health, safety and welfare.

However, certain changes need to be implemented in order for the Board to efficiently perform its duties. The Board needs to develop standards, regulations and formal procedures for the examination given to license applicants. (see Recommendation No. 1).

Legislation should be introduced which will require continuing education for veterinarians. Continuing education will assist in avoiding professional obolescence and keep practitioners aware of changes taking place in their profession (see Recommendation No. 2).

Legislation should also be introduced which will require public members be appointed to the Board. Public representation on the Board will help insure that the public's interest is represented and protected (see Recommendation No. 3).

OL should provide adequate assistance and support necessary for the proper functioning of the Board. In 1975 and 1976 the Board requested, but did not receive, assistance from OL to propose legislative changes to the Veterinary Practice Act (see Recommendation No. 4).

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Findings and Recommendations No. 1 and No. 2 are addressed to the Board of Veterinary Examiners. Findings and Recommendations No. 3 through No. 5 are addressed to the Division of Occupational Licensing (OL), and should be read in conjunction with "A Performance Review of the Division of Occupational Licensing, Department of Commerce and Economic Development, October 30, 1978" issued under separate cover.

Recommendation No. 1

The Board of Veterinary Examiners should develop grading standards, procedures and regulations for the examination given to license applicants.

In a Legislative Audit questionnaire sent to State licensed veterinarians, several respondents mentioned that they were asked irrelevant questions by a Board member during the veterinary oral examination. The following are problems with the examination given to applicants:

1. Lack of regulations specifying what types of tests will be required for applicants with certain qualifications;

2. lack of grading and scoring procedures for the Alaska written and oral examination; and

3. applicants are not anonymous to Board members grading the oral examination. Applicants' pictures must be submitted with applications. These are reviewed by the Board prior to the oral examination and allow the Board members to associate the applicants with their applications and pictures. This lack of anonymity would allow applicants who failed the test to charge grading discrimination.

The Board keeps completed examinations although Alaska Statutes establish that OL is responsible for maintaining past examinations. OL is better suited to keep examination papers because they can provide adequate security. Also, OL will have quicker and easier access to the examination papers if questions arise.

Standardization and consistency serves to protect the interests of the applicants, Board and public. The following is recommended:

1. Regulations should be implemented which define:

   a. Grading procedures;

b. types of tests required for applicants with certain qualifications; and

c. a Board policy of no grading discrimination.

2. A test manual should be created in which standard test answers, examination procedures and grading procedures are outlined to guide all graders.

3. The Board should not require an applicant's picture to be on an application. The licensing examiner can require that an identification card be shown when an applicant first enters the examination rooms. The examiner should not be involved with the grading.

Recommendation No. 2

Legislation should be introduced which will require continuing education for veterinarians.

Veterinary practitioners are acutely aware of the public trust involved in maintaining their professional competency. Required continuing education is one means of fulfilling that trust.

Twenty-nine of the 42 veterinarians responding to a Legislative Audit questionnaire believe that continuing education should be required of their profession. A program of continuing education will help avoid professional obsolescence and keep practitioners aware of changes taking place in their profession.

Recommendation No. 3

Legislation should be introduced to require public members on the Board of Veterinary Examiners.

The Board regulates veterinarians for the purpose of public protection. The Board is currently composed of only three licensed veterinarians. At the last Board meeting, the Board requested the Department of Commerce to pursue the possiblities of having a public member at the Board meetings.

We agree with the Board that the public should have its views represented since the Board's purpose is for public protection. In 1977, the State of California passed the Public Members Act which requires that one-third (1/3) of all health related board members be represented by the public. California claims that the public's confidence and well being have been enhanced by this law.

Recommendation No. 4

OL should provide adequate assistance and support necessary for the proper functioning of the Board of Veterinary Examiners.

In 1975 and 1976 the Board requested assistance from the Division in order to propose legislative changes to the Veterinary Practice Act. There is no evidence showing that the Division provided help to the Board. As a result, the Board was forced to go to the Alaska State Veterinary Association for the help and aid that it needed.

OL is required by statute to provide administrative services to the Board. In order for the Board to properly discharge its responsibilities, it needs and requires the cooperation and help of the Division.

Recommendation No. 5

The Board of Veterinary Examiners should establish formal goals, objectives and quantifiable measures which should be included in the OL's budget document.

Objectives describe what an agency or Board is seeking to accomplish during a specific year. Well formulated objectives are capable of measurement and should include numerical targets so that actual accomplishments can be compared with stated targets. Without goals and objectives, the Board's performance cannot be adequately evaluted and analyzed.

OL establishes its own budget goals and objectives. The budget documents do not include any goals or measures for individual boards. Without the Board's goals and measures being identified or measured, neither the Governor's Office nor the Legislature can evaluate the Board's performance (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

ANALYSIS OF PUBLIC NEED

Limited Analysis

The following analyses indicate both positive and negative attainments as Board activities relate to the public need factors defined by "Sunset" law. These analyses are not intended to be comprehensive in nature but address those areas covered in the scope of our review

I. The extent to which the board, commission or program has operated in the public interest.

1. The Board of Veterinary Examiners has composed regulations concerning application procedures, definitions of licensing violations and clarifications of acceptable veterinary practice.

2. The Board has held an average of one meeting per year and one examination per year (see Schedule B).

3. The Board has promptly processed and evaluated applications. They have averaged seven weeks per application.

II. The extent to which the operation of the board, commission, or agency program has been impeded or enhanced by existing statutes, procedures, and any other matter, including budgetary, resource, and personnel matters.

1. OL has not provided adequate assistance and support necessary for the proper functioning of the Board (see Recommendation No. 4).

2. OL has not maintained updated records, files and statistics for Board use (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

3. Investigations have not been processed by the investigation section of OL in a timely manner. It has been noted that a complaint against veterinarians averages about a year to be processed.

III. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has recommended statutory changes which are generally of benefit to the public interest.

1. The Board has made five requests for statutory changes, according to Board meeting minutes. Two requests were to implement a new Veterinary Practice Act. There is little evidence which demonstrates a need for this revision. However, some of the recommended changes are in the public's best interest, including a continuing education requirement (see Recommendation No. 2) and the placement of public members on the Board (see Recommendation No. 3).

Another recommendation was to amend the temporary license permit requirements to require that all veterinarians granted a temporary permit work under the supervision of a State licensed veterinarian. We have seen no evidence or complaints against veterinarians with temporary licenses which demonstate that this change is needed.

In addition, the Board has proposed a regulation that all applicants must take the State Veterinary Examination. Again, we have seen nc evidence which demonstates that this change is needed.

IV. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged interested persons to report to it concerning the effect of its regulations and decisions on the effectiveness of service, economy of service, and availability of service which it has provided.

1. There is no documentation in the Board minutes which identifies that the Board has encouraged feedback.

V. The extent to which the board, commission or agency has encouraged public participation in the making of its regulations and decisions.

1. The Board advertises in newspapers to encourage public participation and also sends notices to interested associations. During the last three years, the Board has averaged slightly more than one advertisement per newspaper for each meeting and examination. One advertisement was published per paper for a regulations change.

2. During the past four years, no one other than Board members and support staff participated in Board meetings, as recorded by Board minutes.

VI. The efficiency with which public inquiries or complaints regarding the activities of the board, commission or agency filed with it, with the department to which a board or commission is administratively assigned, or with the office of the ombudsman have been processed and resolved.

1. We found no filed complaints against the Board.

VII. The extent to which a board or commission which regulates entry into an occupation or profession has presented qualified applicants to serve the public.

1. Complaints against veterinarians are indicators of the quality of veterinary practice in the State. We found only two complaints against veterinarians on file with OL (see Appendix B).

VIII. The extent to which state personnel practices, including affirmative action requirements, have been complied with by the board, mission or agency to its own activities and the a of activity or interest.

1. Veterinary applications require unneccessary information such as an applicant's age and picture. This is a violation of Equal Employment Opportunity requirements (see the OL Performance Audit Report).

IX. The extent to which statutory, regulatory, budgeting or other changes are necessary to enable the agency, board or commission to better serve the interests of the public and to comply with the factors enumerated in this subsection.

Please refer to the previous section, Findings and Recommendations.

Note 1

Most of the veterinary revenues are composed of renewal registration fees. These fees are collected once every two years and cause revenues in one year to be much greater than the revenues collected in the next year. Therefore, we calculated and reported an average of the revenues collected in fiscal years 1977 and 1978 in order to obtain an accurate representation of collected revenues.

Note 2

Expenditures include those made by Board members, such as travel and per diem and an allocated percentage (estimated) of total administrative expenses of OL. They do not include expenditures for efforts of other departments, such as the Department of Law, that may be assisting the Board and OL.

Usually we in the Executive Branch endeavor to respond directly to each finding and recommendation. However, in regard to the Boards and Commissions, the Executive Branch agency during a public hearing shall demonstrate a public need for its continued existence or the discontinuation of the program, and the extent to which any change in the manner of exercise of its functions or activities may increase efficiency of administration or operation consistent with the public interest.

The Executive Branch of Alaska Government has made an extensive study of the above Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission. We are continuing to study those entities, their origin, their present and future potential, and other related subjects in conjunction with Alaska statutes 24 and 44 (Sunset Legislation). As prescribed in AS 44.66.050 one or more legislative hearings are to be held to receive testimony from the public, the Commissioner of the department having administrative responsibility for each, and the members of the Boards or Commission involved. During those hearings we will present our findings and recommendations affecting each of the foregoing Boards and the Alaska Transportation Commission.

Dear Mr. Wilkerson:

The following comments are in response to the Performance Review of the Board of Veterinary Examiners, as submitted by the Division of Legislative Audit.

Recommendation No. 1. Agreed. Grading standards, regulations and formal examination procedures are desirable for all licensing boards. The proposed act, requested by the board and introduced through the department, addresses these concerns.

Recommendation No. 2. Agreed. Continuing competency is generally advocated as one method of assuring that practitioners remain qualified once licensed. The proposed act, requested by the board and introduced through the department, addresses this subject.

Recommendation No. 3. Agreed. We agree that the public should be represented through membership on the board. The proposed practice act also addresses this subject.

Recommendation No. 4. Agreed. The division should, and currently is, providing administrative assistance to the board although past deficiencies are recognized.

Recommendation No. 5. Agreed. The board's goals and objectives will be incorporated within the division's budget document. Contact will be made with all boards in March or April, 1979 for input to the budget for FY 1981

The recommendations cited will be acted upon regardless of action taken on the proposed practice act.

LEGISLATIVE AUDIT

A Performance Review of the
Board of Veterinary Examiners--
Comments of Board of Veterinary Examiners

Page 5, Paragraph 5 concerning licensing by endorsement:

The board does not feel that a candidate is statutorily qualified for licensure by endorsement if the applicant has passed a veterinary examination, actively practiced veterinary medicine at least five of the last seven years and graduated from an accredited veterinary college.

According to Section 08.98.210, a veterinarian may be licensed without examination if he fulfills the above criteria. In this section the word "may" is very important as it gives the board the option of licensure by endorsement or by examination. The board feels this authority is very important if it is to assure to the public a "certain degree" of competance of licensed veterinarians. A July 5, 1978, interpretation of the statute by the Attorney General's office states that we do not have this authority. The board has asked the Attorney General's office for a re-interpretation of this section.

The board agrees almost completely with the recommendation.

1. Regulations should be implemented which define:

   a. grading procedures--the board enters in the board minutes at each examination the grading procedure. We agree that this should be in the regulation but were not aware of the necessity previously.

   b. types of tests required for an license with certain qualifications- the board agrees with the concern over oral examination. At the December, 1978, examination no oral examination was given nor will this type of examination be used in the future. The board feels that anonymity is important and all examinations are graded with only an identification number identifying each examination. The department alone knows which applicant has which identification number.

2. A test manual should be created--the board feels this would be a definite improvement to the administration of the board examinations. However, this would take a great amount of time as well as expertise in preparing and wording examination questions. In 1978, in California, certain questions on the veterinary board examination were successfully challenged because they were ambiguous. The California board states that "from now on, experts will be used to prepare the exam".

Continuation of:
(2.)

The board feels that monies should be appropriated to fund a group with the expertise to draft such a test manual.

3. The board agrees that pictures of applicants are not necessary on the application. At the December, 1978, board meeting, the board instructed the department to remove the requirement of a picture from the application.

Recommendation Number 2:

The board agrees that continuing education for all licensed veterinarians would be an important way of maintaining professional competancy as well as assuring public trust in practicing veterinarians. We also agree that it will keep practioners aware of changes taking place in their profession. The board wishes to note that continuing education requirements do not assure that all licensed veterinarians will maintain a high level of competance.

Recommendation Number 5:

Establish goals and objectives--the board feels this is certainly a worthwhile procedure, but was not aware of its requirement. At its December, 1978, board meeting the board asked the department to draft an outline which would help the board develop formal goals, objectives, and quantifiable measures which then could be included in the Occupational Licensing's budget document.

Page 11:

Recommendation of board to repeal the temporary license permit requirements. The present statutes allow an applicant to practice veterinary medicine without supervision, with a temporary license, until the results of the next examination are published. This time period could be six months to one year, depending on whether one examination or two are given during a particular year. The board feels that allowing an applicant to practice medicine without supervision is not in the public's best interests. (Some states no longer offer temporary permits.) The Medical Board does offer temporary permits, but the applicant must have completed an internship and taken and have passed a national examination. The Division of Audit states that because there have been no complaints, they see no reason for any change. The board does not feel that we should wait for a comqlaint or for a problem to exist before suggesting a change. We do not feel that requiring an applicant to work under the supervision of a licensed veterinarian is that great a hardship on the applicant. In return, we feel we better guard the public's best interest.

Page 11, Paragraph 3:

Recommendation by the board that all applicants may be required by the board to take the state portion of the veterinary examination. The Division of Audit again states that they have seen no evidence which demonstrates that this change is needed. The board does not feel that waiting until there is a problem before taking action is the best approach. The state portion of the examination is of a more practical nature as opposed to the national examination which is more detailed and technical. The board feels that if a veterinarian is keeping current with continuing education, that he or she should be able to pass the practical portion of the examination. The board also realizes that once a veterinarian is given a license, it is very difficult to prove incompetance and have his or her license revoked. More and more, Alaska is becoming a popular state for people to retire in. Of this group are veterinarians who are no longer in active practice, who may have graduated twenty to thirty years ago, but who would like to be licensed to practice veterinary medicine in Alaska. This type of applicant is very difficult for the board to evaluate for competancy without giving a practical examination.

Application picture and applicant's age--the board has instructed the department to omit the requirement of age and a recent photo from all application forms.

Appendix A, Page 14:

Expenditures, 10,000

The board questions where the 10,000 figure comes from. Certainly, per diem and travel are a very small portion. The board was denied the request to send a member to a national board of veterinary examiners meeting as had been done the previous two years. The board feels this is an extra method of keeping current in trends, problems, and improvements of examining boards.

Perhaps the 10,000 amount was arrived at by taking a per cent of department expenses and allocating them to the board of veterinary examiners. We do not feel we have received this amount of service from the department.

The board feels it is important to point out that many hours of each member's time is devoted to board activities each year without monetary compensation. Filling out questionnaires, responding to reports such as the audit reports associated with the Sunset Law are examples of additional time required of board members.

The board is concerned over the large difference between revenue and expenditures. At the December 6, 1978, board meeting the board suggested that biennial renewal of license fees be increased from 50 to $100.

Continuation of:

Power of Investigation:

Presently the board has no power of investigation. There is a department-wide investigation division that handles all complaints. The board's position is to be an impartial board and to make a ruling on the complaint after the investigation is completed. The board has no knowledge of an investigation or the person or persons being investigated nor the party making the complaint. The rationale is to assure that the board does not become influenced during an investigation but remains an impartial board enabling it to make a fair and just ruling on the complaint after the investigation is completed. The board has no complaint with this procedure; however, this procedure does create certain problems and perhaps shortcomings.

1. Many complaints are made directly to board members. The board members are the persons the public will turn to with a problem or complaint.

2. The present investigation procedure is quite slow, owing directly to a large workload.

3. Spending time investigating a complaint that is perhaps more of a misunderstanding than a complaint.

4. Investigation being performed by persons with no expertise in the field in which they are investigating.

Perhaps communication between the investigator and the board would be advantageous in the following ways:

1. Help in deciding whether or not a complaint is a serious violation of the state statutes or a minor violation or perhaps a misunderstanding.

2. Shorten the investigation necessary if the complaint is not felt to be serious or is a misunderstanding.

3. If the complaint is a serious violation, then immediate attention is necessary to decide if the complaint is valid. If the complaint is valid, then quick action would be necessary to prevent additional violations from occurring.

4. By facilitating the investigation and possibly eliminating investigation on minor complaints, time and money could be saved by the investigation division.

5. Shorten the time it is now taking to have a complaint investigated.

Page 21, Number 6, Questionnaire sent to veterinarians:

Procedures felt more relevant and useful for testing the abilities of a veterinary applicant? Most often mentioned was a practical examination.

The state portion of the board examination is primarily practical in nature. The difficulty of a practical examination is that it is difficult to avoid ambiguity and it also requires an opinion. The Professional Examining Service has now developed a practical portion of their examination and it will be incorporated into the veterinary board examination for the year 1979.

The veterinary school at Washington State University will also be contacted to see if they have slides or transparancies for our use in the examination.

THE ALASKA STATE VETERINARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

February 7, 1979

The Honorable W. E. (Brad) Bradley
Pouch V
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Senator Bradley:

The Alaska State Veterinary Medical Association has written a new practice act, known as House Bill No. 86, that will be introduced this legislative session. The purpose of my letter is to give you an understanding of the bill.

We now have a veterinary practice act which was enacted in 1963 and has had no major revisions since then. We chose to write a new act rather than revise the old because in nearly all parts of the act changes have been proposed to clarify the intent. Writing a new act seemed the easiest way to accomplish this.

We have compared the content of the old act with the proposed act. In nearly all cases, the proposed act and the old act handle regulation and licensing of the profession in the same way. Notable exceptions are as follows:

The size of the Board of Veterinary Examiners was increased from three to five members. This was done because the present board size of three members often proved inadequate due to the absence of members for various reasons.

A public member was provided as one of the members of the Board to encourage representation of the public interest in regulation of the profession.

A section was included which defines the legal responsibilities of aides and trained technicians working under the direction of a veterinarian. The present act makes no mention of persons employed by veterinarians leaving it legally open to question as to whether or to what extent a veterinarian may use these people to aid in treatment of animals.

The new act provides for the examination and registration of Animal Health Technicians. Technicians are a relatively new profession employed by veterinarians to do a wide variety of technical tasks. Many technicians are presently employed in Alaska; however, there is no provision made for them in the present statutes.

Registration is necessary for up-to-date, immediate reference of all veterinary technicians engaged in animal care in the state with reference to qualifications, addresses, license status, etc. This provision allows the Board to adopt appropriate standards for those engaged in animal technology and the issuance of permits to such persons found competent.

Temporary licensing has been changed from the existing uncontrolled situation giving temporary licenses to all applicants who qualify for a license. Under the present law a person who has never passed a national or state examination can obtain a temporary unrestricted license to practice.

The new act proposes that two classes of temporary licenses be issued:

One type would be issued to any technician qualified to take the examination provided he work with a practitioner licensed in the state.

A second type would be issued for a 60-day period to a veterinarian who is licensed in another state. The license would allow the licensee to take over the practice of a veterinarian who is absent.

Examination of licensees has been changed to require a state exam and a national exam for every applicant unless the applicant has either (1) passed a National Board Examination in the last three years, or, (2) has been an active practicing veterinarian in another state. Persons qualifying would be required to to take only the state exam.

Presently, veterinarians who have "practiced" for five of the last seven years in another state may receive a license without exam. The problem with this is that the definition of "Veterinary Practice" is so broad that people involved with activities not commonly considered to be the active practice of veterinary medicine would qualify for license. Examples of this could include meat inspectors, animal consultants, and certain types of researchers. The new act would require all applicants to take the state exam.

The new act provides a legal means by which to cope with the problem of animals left in the care of veterinarians and later abandoned. This is a frequent problem that is not dealt with in the present act.

We would appreciate your support on this bill.

Respectfully,

Jon Thomas, DVM

The Honorable W. E. "Brad" Bradley

Dear Senator Bradley:

It appears that the House Budge and Audit Review (Sunset) Committee will recommend to "sunset" the veterinary board, along with many other health related boards after six months.

I feel that this action cannot be within the original concept of "Sunset Review" for the following reasons. Alternate systems to take over board functions are bound to be more costly since the boards are presently volunteer. Any new system will probably involve another level of full or parttime personnel which will add to bureaucracy and will make these positions political.

I do not think that the present veterinary board is functioning inefficiently, is "turf guarding" or is otherwise limiting competition in veterinary medicine. The minor problems that do exist could be corrected by statutory changes, policy changes in occupational licensing, improved communications with the department, and correction of funding deficiencies.

Sincerely,

Jon Thomas, DVM

ALASKA LANDLORD & PROPERTY MANAGERS ASSOCIATION

MY NAME IS: SAMUEL CLEMENS

I REPRESENT THE ALASKA LANDLORD & PROPERTY MANAGERS ASSOCIATION

I HAVE BEEN IN THE RENTAL BUSINESS HERE IN ALASKA SINCE 1965. I AM A RELATIVELY SMALL LANDLORD WITH JUST 16 UNITS.

I AM RETIRED FROM THE NAVY, WITH OVER 30 YEARS OF SERVICE AND ALSO RETIRED FROM THE STATE OF ALASKA. I AM A LANDLORD BECAUSE I HAVE FOUND THIS TYPE OF ENTERPRISE AFFORDS ME THE OPPORTUNITY TO AUGMENT MY RETIREMENT INCOME AND ALLOWS ME TO BE INDEPENTLY SELF EMPLOYED WITHOUT ACTUALLY BEING EMPLOYED.

PRIMARILY I AM HERE TO REPRESENT THE ALASKA LANDLORD & PROPERTY MANAGERS ASSOCIATION. AS PRESIDENT OF THIS ASSOCIATION I REPRESENT A GOOD PORTION OF THE LANDLORDS AND PROPERTY MANAGERS WITHIN ALASKA. WE HAVE A MEMBERSHIP OF 175 MEMBERS, REPRESENTING 3,080 RENTAL UNITS IN ANCHORAGE ALONE. WE ALSO HAVE MEMBERS OPERATING IN OTHER CITIES OF ALASKA INCLUDING FAIRBANKS (WITH 620 UNITS REPRESENTED), KETCHIKAN, DOUGLAS AND SOLDOTNA WITH A SUBSTANTIAL NUMBER OF UNITS.

ADDRESSING ATTENTION TO THREE SENATE BILLS, SB-36, SB-38 AND SB-57. ALL OF WHICH HAVE BEEN INTRODUCED AS PROPOSED CHANGES, ADDITIONS OR AS CLARIFICATIONS OF ARTICLES WITHIN ALASKA STATUTES.

ALASKA STATUTES TITLE 34.03 - UNIFORM RESIDENTIAL LANDLORD & TENANT ACT SAYS:

1. SIMPLIFY, CLARIFY, MODERNIZE AND REVISE THE LAW GOVERNING THE RENTAL OF DWELLING UNITS AND THE RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS OF LANDLORD AND TENANT;

2. ENCOURAGE LANDLORD AND TENANT TO MAINTAIN AND IMPROVE THE QUALITY OF HOUSING;

3. MAKE UNIFORM THE LAW AMONG THOSE STATES WHICH ENACT IT.

WITH THAT AS BACKGROUND I FEEL THAT IS EXACTLY WHY THESE THREE SENATE BILLS HAVE BEEN INTRODUCED.

SENATE BILL 36 - A NEW SECTION TO BE ADDED TO THE STATUTES

I FEEL THAT THE LANDLORD SHOULD BE PROTECTED BY STATE LAW FROM BEING VICTIMIZED BY WORTHLESS CHECKS, THE SAME AS ANY OTHER TYPE OF BUSINESSMAN. IF IT IS A MISDEMEANOR TO PASS A BAD CHECK TO A MOTEL, HOTEL OR INNKEEPER, THEN THE SAME SHOULD APPLY LIKEWISE TO LANDLORDS. GRANTED HOTELS OPERATE ON A DAY TO DAY, OR A FEW DAYS OCCUPANCY AND A LANDLORD OPERATES ON A LONGER TIME SPAN AND EVEN THOUGH THE TWO TYPES OF LODGING ARE SIMILAR I NEVER-THE-LESS FEEL THAT THE LANDLORD HAS A GREATER INVOLVEMENT OF LIABILITY COMMITTMENTS, AGREEMENTS AND A MUCH LONGER TIME. THE POINT IS THAT A B A D C H E C K IS EXACTLY THAT! AS A LANDLORD I WOULD LIKE TO FEEL THAT I DO HAVE PROTECTION OR AN AVENUE OF RECOURSE UNDER THE LAW.

SENATE BILL 38 - A NEW SECTION TO BE ADDED TO THE STATUTES

THIS BILL CLARIFIES WHERE THE RESPONSIBILITY RESTS FOR THE PROPER AND ADEQUATE SERVICES. IS IS PROTECTIVE IN NATURE. IT ALLOWS THE LANDLORD TO TAKE IMMEDIATE ACTION TO PROTECT HIS PROPERTY WHEN IT IS APPARENT THAT IT IS JEOPARIZED BY ANOTHER PERSONS NEGLIGENCE. I BELIEVE THIS BILL HAS BEEN INTRODUCED WITH THE INTENT OF PROTECTION OF BOTH LANDLORDS AND TENANTS. THERE IS MORE AT STAKE, SO TO SPEAK, IN A MULTIPLE DWELLING COMPLEX, THAN A LANDLORD AND A TENANT. IF ONE TENANT DID GET CARELESS IT COULD EFFECT THE SAFETY OF OTHER TENANTS. I FEEL THAT THE REMEDIAL PROVISIONS AS STATED ARE NECESSARY.

RELATE THE EXPERIENCE I HAD WITH TENANTS IN APT. "B", 40TH STREET - IF APPROPRIATE AND TIME ALLOWS.

SENATE BILL 57 - IN SUPPORT OF THIS BILL I WOULD LIKE TO READ A LETTER FROM AN ALPMA MEMBER AND ANCHORAGE ATTORNEY-AT-LAW:

READ LETTER -

MR. MAFFEI'S PROPOSED CHANGE AND AMENDMENT IS WELL SUPPORTED BY ALPMA. WE FEEL THAT THE TENANT SHOULD PROVIDE THE LANDLORD A FORWARDING ADDRESS AND ALSO THAT IN MANY CASES IT APPEARS THAT THE 14 DAY PERIOD IS NOT SUFFICIENT TIME TO DO ADEQUATE CHECKING ON CLOSE OUT OF UTILITY SERVICES AND TO KNOW THAT THERE WILL NOT BE ANY DELAYED BILLINGS PLACED ON THE LANDLORD AFTER THE TENANT HAS MOVED, THE NOTICE HAS BEEN TIMELY FORWARDED TO THE TENANT AND SO TO, SO TO SPEAK, THE TRANSACTION CLOSED.

SPEAKING OF PERSONAL EXPERIENCES, I PRESENTLY HAVE A LIKE SITUATION. THE TENANT BECAME UNEMPLOYED. EARLY IN JANUARY HE CONTACTED THE RESIDENT MANAGER AND STATED THAT THEY MAY HAVE TO MOVE AND ASKED IF THEY COULD USE UP THE SECURITY DEPOSIT AS RENT THROUGH THE 15TH. THE MATTER WAS REFERRED TO ME. THE NEXT DAY I TALKED WITH THE MAN AND EXPLAINED WHY I WOULD NOT AGREE WITH HIS REQUEST. WE DISCUSSED POSSIBILITIES OF THEM REMAINING IN THE APARTMENT. HE STATED THAT HE SHOULD BE RECEIVING AN UNEMPLOYMENT CHECK ON THE 15TH OF THE MONTH. WE AGREED TO THEM PAYING THE FULL MONTHS RENT AT THAT TIME. I ALSO INFORMED THEM THAT BY STATE LAW AND THE RENTAL AGREEMENT THEY WERE REQUIRED TO GIVE A 30 DAY NOTICE TO VACATE AND WHEN THEY DID VACATE AND IF ALL REQUIREMENTS WERE MET THAT THEY WOULD BE RECEIVING A REFUND OF SECURITY DEPOSIT. IT ALL SEEMED TO BE UNDERSTOOD. THEY WERE GOOD TENANTS.

ON JANUARY 15TH, EARLY EVENING, I WAS INFORMED BY THE MANAGER THAT THE TENANTS HAD MOVED. THEY HAD LEFT THE KEY IN THE MANAGERS MAIL BOX AND LEFT A NOTE THAT THEY HAD MOVED. THEY HAVE NOT GIVEN A FORWARDING ADDRESS OR PHONE NUMBER OR WHERE THEY COULD BE LOCATED. THIS IS AN EXAMPLE OF WHAT HAPPENS.

IN CONCLUSION AND SPEAKING IN BEHALF OF THE ALASKA LANDLORD AND PROPERTY MANAGERS ASSOCIATION I RECOMMEND AND URGE THAT EACH OF THESE BILLS BE PASSED, WHICH WILL CLARIFY AND STRENGTHEN THE STATUTES IN IT'S INTENT AND PURPOSE.

THANK YOU.

RE: Landlord Tenant Act-Security Deposits

Dear Ben:

In my practice over the past several years regarding the Landlord-Tenant Act, it appears that the most troublesome provision is the one requiring the return of the security deposit.

The provision under AS 34.03.070(b), which provides that accrued rent and damages must be itemized by the landlord in a written notice delivered to the tenant, together with the amount due, no later than 14 days after termination of the tenancy and delivery of possession by the tenant is the one that causes the problems and probably should be amended.

The problem is the written notice delivered to the tenant. Generally, I have advised my clients that if a tenant does not give any written or verbal notice of his new address and the landlord has no actual notice of his new address, then the written notice should be delivered to the tenant at his last known address, which is the landlord's premises. This is impractical, however, since obviously the tenant has moved and unless he has left a forwarding address, the notice will not be delivered to him.

The question is if the notice is not delivered to the tenant, then may he bring action against the landlord for twice the actual amount withheld?

The law should be clarified to either provide that the tenant must notify the landlord in writing of his new address, or put the responsibility upon the tenant to make demand for the return of the security deposit giving his address and where he can be located, and then require that the landlord deliver to him within 14 days either the security deposit or the written notice. This would seem to be fair since rarely does the tenant give his landlord notice of where he intends to move, and usually the tenant just skips without giving any notice, and waits until the 14 days have expired, and then brings an action for double the amount of the security deposit. If the landlord does not give a notice, obviously the tenant will be sucessful.

I would appreciate hearing from you regarding this matter.

Very truly yours,

Thank you for sending the Court System several of your bills for comment and statements concerning fiscal impact. I have reviewed each of these bills, including SB 36, 37, 38, 42, 43, and 44, and find the impact of these bills on the operations of the Alaska Court System should be minimal. Each of these bills is related to substantive issues of law relating to landlords and remedies under the Landlord and Tenant Act. As a result of these bills there may be more or less litigation in various types of disputes but it is unlikely that the level of litigation will increase enough to have a serious impact on the Court System.

Mr. George Oliver
President
Anchorage Board of Realtors
301 E. Fireweed
Anchorage, Alaska 99503

Dear Mr. Oliver:

It has come to my attention that certain requirements of the Alaska Statutes and Regulations relating to Real Estate Brokers and salesmen are not in the best interest of property owners. In fact, specific statutes act to prevent property owners from effectively managing their own investments. Other statutes hinder those having a fudiciary responsibility from managing an owner's property by the most efficient and ecomonical means.

Below are some specific statutes which I urge the Real Estate Board to carefully study and seek legislative change which will be more in the interest of real estate owners:

1. Article 2 Section 08.88.161 (1) which reads, "unless licensed as a real estate broker, associate real estate broker, or real estate salesman, no natural person, foreign or domestic corporation, or partnership, or limited partnership, or other entity may sell, exchange, rent, lease, auction, or purchase real estate."

   Comment: The intent of this part of the statutes is undoubtedly to protect an owner against persons not having proper training and qualifications. But, literally interpreted, the words rent and lease prevent an owner from employing an unlicensed person from renting or leasing real estate in the owners behalf. I feel quite certain many owners absent from Alaska, or simply involved with their own enterprises authorize resident managers to sign rental and lease agreements for the owner. The owner should certainly have this right without placing an unlicensed resident manager in violation of the statutes. The exceptions found in Section 08.88.421 are not explicit enough to prevent some from insisting that an unlicensed non-owner is unauthorized to sign a rent or lease agreement.

   Subparagraph (3) of the above reference section reads, "Collect rent for the use of real estate;"

REALTOR®

Comment: This part of the statute is very specific and less subject to interpretation. It prohibits an owner or a professional management firm from including collecting rent monies as part of the duties assigned to an on-site manager. This is over regulation for the following reasons:

1) It is normally cost prohibitive to employ a licansed individual to work as a resident manager.

2) Residents of an apartment complex without a qualified (licensed) resident manager to collect rents are inconvenienced and incur travel expenses to pay rent monies.

3) It is a real estate owner's risk and right to employ a resident manager to collect rents in the owner's behalf.

4) Professional property management firms routinely provide a fidelity bond on employees to protect their client's interest. (See our own enclosed management agreement). Even though we are providing fidelity bonds on our employees, we are unable to utilize on-site managers to collect rents.

2. Article 3, Section 8.88.331 states:
"All transactions in real estate by a real estate salesman or associate real estate broker shall be processed through his employing real estate broker's office, whether the transactions are for the real estate salesman's or associate real estate broker's own use or the use of a client."

Article 3, Section 8.88.341 (1) states:
"A real estate broker shall (1) keep a complete record of all real estate transactions made by himself or persons in his employ for at least three years" etc.

Comment: While I am in complete agreement agreement that the statute, as it relates to the real estate client is very appropriate, to deny the real estate salesman or associate real estate broker the freedom and privacy of renting, leasing and maintaining records on their own investments is very inappropriate.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That Article 4 of Section 08.88.421 be amended as follows:
Subparagraph (10) be added:
(10) A person employed by a real estate owner or licensed owner's agent, whose responsibilities are limited to "on-site" management, office administration, or bookkeeping.

2. That article 4, of section 8.88.421 (1) be amended as follows: Subparagraph (11) be added - a person, though licenced, who rents leases, and maintains records or property he owns.

3. That a subparagraph (c) be added to Chapter 64 12 AAC 64.230 to read: (c) a licensee engaged in property management must provide a fidelity bond in adequate amounts on all employees who handle or are responsible for owner's monies.

I am certain you will insure the above recommendations will be given early study and action by the Anchorage Real Estate Board.
Thank you for your interest and dedication in these matters.

Sincerely,

Re: Senate Bill 98

Dear Senator Bradley:

You have asked Dick Pegues, Administrative Officer for the Department of Law, for his comments on Senate Bill 98. I have been requested to respond to your letter in his stead.

If a fiscal note is required by SB 98, the Department of Public Safety would be the appropriate agency to inquire of, as this would fall within their expertise.

With respect to the substance of SB 98, the Department of Law has several objections which mitigate against its passage. As a primary consideration, should this bill become law there would be selective enforcement, at best. This is because the person at the counter in the Division of Motor Vehicles would have no way of knowing how long a person attempting to register a vehicle had been in the state, nor whether a person was employed nor for how long the person was employed. Should a person registering a vehicle admit that he has been in the state for longer than 90 days or employed for more than 15 days, he would be subject to the penalty reflected in SB 98. However, it is highly likely that people would soon be aware of the obvious advantages of misrepresenting these facts, and in this regard, the bill encourages misrepresentation.

In addition, the bill discriminates between residents and non-residents who register their vehicles at a time later than that required by law. There appears to be no valid reason for this distinction other than the possibly more difficult job of enforcing registration requirements on out-of-state vehicles.

It would appear that the best way to approach this problem is simply more strict enforcement of existing laws. I have consulted the Department of Public Safety; and the concerns expressed above are shared by that department.

If I may be of any further assistance, please contact me at your convenience.

Dear Senator Bradley,

Regarding the effort to repeal the present guide law(limited guiding areas and liscense control by Guide board), I hope you will vote for and enlist support for the repeal of this law and the return of the previous method of regulating the guiding industry. At present nearly 80% of the guides in Alaska are in favor of the repeal of this arbitrary and restrictive law, including many of them who have drawn some benefit from it. Personally, I've been severly limited in my ability to make a living these past 3 years, because I've no area to limit in, though I've been guiding in the Wrangells and Chugach ranges for 15 years and am liscensed for all 8 units in South Central Alaska.

Sincerely hope you and your fellow Senators will repeal the unfair guide law, and return things to normal as they were in 74.

Dear Sen. Bradley:

I understand that you are presently discussing matters pertaining to the Guide Law. The purpose of this letter is to voice my full support of the repeal of this law.

I have been an active registered guide since 1962, but because of arbitrary and unfair regulations promulgated by the Guide Licensing & Control Board, I find myself without any area in which to guide. This is in spite of the fact that I am registered in Units 6 through 17.

In my opinion, the whole concept of allocating guide areas was ill conceived, badly timed, and expertly blundered. The same could be said for placing licensing and control in the hands of this Board. We were, I'm sorry to say, much better off as a profession when these functions were handled by the Department of Fish & Game.

Dear Brad:

It has been some time since I have had the opportunity to set down and talk with you. Next time you have a chance drop by and see us. We are out of the taxidermy business but are still envolved in Alaska raw furs.

The purpose of my letter is to urge you and your colleagues to give serious consideration to Mr. Ron Hayes' proposal to do away with the present guide law. In my position I have the opportunity to talk to guides, sportsmen and other interested personnel on a daily basis. I attend most of the guide board meetings and many of the fish and game board meetings. I have participated with the APHA and have donated considerable time and money to assist them in their efforts.

During the many years you and I have been in Alaska we have watched the guide hassle and it continues to get worse. The distribution of guide areas in the state is so complex and unfair that it has caused far more problems than it has resolved.

The loss of respect for the Alaskan Guides by the American Sportsman in the last few years is primarily due to the haggling presently going on in the guide board.

Let's clean up the guide business by putting it in the Alaskan Court system where it belongs! Let's do away with "dual jeopardy"--where the guide is tried by the courts and then again by the guide board. This would also do away with the unfairness caused by assigning guide areas. Remember--D-2 will amplify all the problems the guide board has been causing.

You are to be congratulated on the fine job you are doing in Juneau. Keep up the good work.

Sincerely,

We were happy you introduced Senate Bill 101 also. This one was needed as well as the above. If we can be of any help in either of these let us know.

I can't think of any other group that would be interested in this legislation.

I understand some of the legislators are under the impression Mr. Tom Biss still represents APHA. This is not true, that arrangement was terminated Feb. 7, 1979. Would appreciate it if you would make a note of that for your Commerce Committee.

We certainly appreciate your work on our behave with the above legislation.

I hope you will vote to repeal the present Guide law, which limits guiding areas and gives liscense control to the Guide board, and return the guiding industry to jurisdiction of the ADF & G where it belongs, as it was until a few years ago. Dear Mr. Bradley,

The present guide board is not forfill[illegible] it's job to the general guiding public. I think the guide area law sh[illegible] be thrown out and a more capable group of persons redue it if the a[illegible] thing is necessary. The fish and Game did a better job. Now as it stands, there are a few guides with large areas while others like myself have nothing. For two years I hunted on my own and make a good salary of under $20,000.00. Now I don't have an area and for the last two years I had to stratch a major part of my income. Others have been grantede areas so large they can still make $100,000. plus and have room to expand.

Something must be done or all the state has succeeded in doing "again" is supporting another group of lucky people while the profession lays stagnant to those like myself who where fairly new in the area. I hope you can do something.

I am opposed to any further government interference i.e. laws, regulations etc on the guiding industry. I feel the present law is abused from what it was intended for. Any additional legislation means sabotages, red tape and all things associated.

Sincerely Tom V. Zimmerman

Sec. 08.54.190. Expiration and renewal. (a) A master guide, registered guide, class-A assistant guide, assistant guide or transporter license expires on December 31, following issuance.

(b) No license may be issued to a class-A assistant guide or assistant guide who has failed to renew his license for two consecutive years unless he again meets the qualifications for initial issuance of the license.

Effect of amendments. — The 1974 amendment substituted "class-A assistant guide" for "class-A guide" in subsection (b).

The 1976 amendment substituted "assistant guide or transporter license" for "or assistant guide license" in subsection (a) and added "following issuance" to the end of that subsection.

Editor's note. — Section 10, ch. 106, SLA 1976, provides: "Nothing in this Act gives a person licensed as a transporter a right as an air carrier which he does not otherwise hold under law."

Legislative committee report. — For report on ch. 127, SLA 1974 (SCSHB 817 am S), see 1974 House Journal, p. 657.

(3) a licensee has been convicted of a violation of federal or state sport fish, game or guide statute or regulation.

((b) After a hearing, the board may revoke, suspend, or deny renewal of a license if the board finds that the licensee

(1) engaged in unethical activity, unsafe activity, or activity which adversely affects the natural resources of the state when such activity is unrelated to the legal and legitimate purposes of the contract hunt; or

((2) violated a provision of a federal or state sport fish, game or guide statute or regulation.

(3) has been convicted of two violations of federal or state sport fish, game or guide statutes or regulations.

(d) No person who is disciplined under this section may engage in any guiding or transporting activity during the period of license revocation

Dear Senator Bradley:

Your letter of February 19, regarding Department comments and a fiscal note on SB 102 was not received in our office until February 27, thus our written response is somewhat tardy. I did discuss this matter with one of your staff members on February 28, and indicated that a letter would be forthcoming.

The Department of Fish and Game does not plan to comment on SB 102 as we have essentially nothing to do with the administration of the State's guiding industry. This authority is vested in the Department of Commerce and Mr. Don Hostak administers the program. I believe that he will be commenting on the bill and would be the best source for preparation of a fiscal note.

If we can be of assistance to you on other matters, please feel free to contact our office.

RE: SB 102

Dear Senator Bradley:

The Department of Public Safety supports SB 102. This bill does not alter current practices and in effect, would have little impact on current procedures. Complaints that are over five years old are not considered reasonably admissable in court and consequently not used.

You may want to contact the Department of Fish and Game, as it appears they will have an interest in the bill. There will not be a fiscal impact on this Department regardless of whether the bill passes or not.

I will be happy to meet with you at your convenience to answer any questions you may have.

Dear Mr. Bradley:

The Alaska Professional Hunters Association is deeply concerned about the current move underway to remove the Guide Law from Alaska Statutes.

We would appreciate your considering the following points in behalf of retaining the Guide Law.

A. It could be people are short sighted in their desire t throw out the guide law. Under the guide Licensing an Control Board it is known in what areas each guide is working. If we have no guide law everyone a plane, boat, snowmachine, horses etc. will be taking out hunt Certainly there eill be no respect to areas or who has been there traditionally, be they native or non-native

B. It could not be at a worse time to rid ourselves of th guide law. That, in our opioion, would give the envir mentalist the very thing they need to further restrict more land in order to keep the land and wildlife resou ces from beigg raped by uncontrolled hunting pressure by thes one act. Secretary Andrus and Representive Morris Udall have already used these type tactice in their effort to gain more locked up land.

C. The Alaska Game Board is meeting in April and, should they believe the guide law had a chance of being throw out, it would greatly increase the passibility of them closing more areas to sport hunting or putting all big game under a permit system. By supporting a move to throw out the guide law, you will be killing the guidi industry as well as drastically curtailing the opportu ity for resident sport hunting and working directly in the anti-hunting forces' hands.

D. Some may feel they will benefit by the removal of the guide law, those who have lost their license or didnot qualify for an exclusive guide area. This is very short sighted, perhaps they can for a period of a year. However, a year down the road, the guidi industry will die and that will effect all Alaskans.

We urge to support the Alaska Professional Hunters Association's position on this vital issue. The enclosed "Open Letter" will give you more detailed description of the above points and some others.

Mr. Tom Biss has not represented APHA as a lobbyist since Februa 7, 1979.

An Open Letter to the Guiding Industry-

Fellow guides, throwing out the Guide Law will not turn the calendar back to the days when we could take our clients into any area open for hunting. Nor will it solve the probl caused by the Antiquities Act closures, dwindling wildlife resources, or the irrational associated with this recent subsistence issue. To the contrary, it will only hasten restrictions and wreck havoc with what chance we have to survive in the guiding industry. These are pretty strong words to those of us who lost a substantial portion of our Exclusive Guide Area(s) to Carter's actions, but truth none-the-less.

I'd like to attempt to explain why I make the above statement. The most obivlous argument to such statements is that "if the Guide Law is thrown out, and the Exclusive Guid Areas with it, then those of us who lost areas will be able to hunt anywhere we want to and therefore remain in business I'll not argue that this may be true for this coming fall season, and I've thought of it myself as I lost a substantia portion of my fall area to the McKinley Extensions-BUT it's a damn short-sighted point of view if we look ahead about fou teen months to the Spring, 1980 meetings of the Game Board.

Suppose we throw out the Guide Law, or at least the Ex-clusive Area concept. Then this fall we all hustle our clie into the open areas; and it won't be just a few clients, but as many hunters as each of us feels we can handle 'cause this may be the last chance we have to make a buck in this business. And besides, it will be easy to book hunters this year because the word's out that permits may be darn hard to get next year. It doesn't take much imagination to see what happens next! But let's follow things on through.....

This fall, when sheep hunters all over Alaska are re-stricted to hunting about half the areas they've had in the past, we guides would be right there with them, in greater force than ever before because our areas have also been reduced and we have no place else to hunt.

Competition for airstrips, areas to hunt, and trophies would be at an unprecedented high level, and resultant conflicts between guides and residents would sky-rocket. Not only would every resident sportsman in the State raise hell about guides that dit this, and guides that did that, but even more devastating for the guides who hope to remain in business, or retire with some self-respect, would be our success rates as compared to the resident harvest figures. At the same time the resident harvest will drop by an estimated 40 to 80 percent (depending upon whether we go to a full curl law or not), it is conceivable that by overbooking hustling, and just plain out-hunting we could approach or even surpass last fall's harvest. But any way we cut it, we would be considerably more successful than the resident hunter.

"So, what's so bad about this?"

I don't think any of us are so naive that we can expect the State and its residents to accept their cut in the harvest unless our non-resident clients are cut just as much in proportion, or even more, now that the crunch is on. And this is no idle observation, for speculation of the very speculation of the very sutuation I've described has been discussed between both the Department and the Board of Game and representatives of your Guide Association. All we, as an industry, have to do to cut our own throats and destroy any hope we have to head off lottery permit systems on sheep and bears is to sweep the the available harvest this fall. If this happens and the non-resident harvest isn't correspondingly reduced along with the resident harvest in 1979 we are going to see so damn many anti-guide, anti-non-resident, pro-regional and discriminatory proposals from the public, Department of Fish and Game, Administration (we may see these anyway) and even the Game Board, that even if the 1980 Game Regulations don't put us all out of business the legislative and regional game boards will! Before ANY of us jumps on the band wagon to throw out the Exclusive Guide Areas we had better take a long hard look at the consequences; and at the motives of those proposing such action.

Most of us received a letter from Ron Hayes advocating that we join the Natives in their efforts to throw out the Guide Law. I doubt that many of us will disagree with some of Ron's reasons, but I sure take exception to his reasonning that they'll cooperate with us in the future. Bull----! If we haven't learned yet about cooperation with groups like AFN, RuralCap and the National Park Service during this D-2 battle then we damn well deserve what would happen to us if the Guide Law were thrown out at this time. I don't care what we do, those Regional Corporations are going to try and stop us everyway they can, and the ONLY cooperation we'll as guides if the Regional Board concept goes, is the cooperation we BUY with our knowledge and expertise in booking clients and managing hunts. I'll not deny that many as any guide in business- but for the next couple years, and until the Regional Corporations realize that clients won't book with them or their people without going through guys like us who have the contacts and reputation, we aren't going to be able to even slow down this anti-white-guide movement that's been building along the coast ever since the Marine Mammal Act was passed in 1972 (and even before), much less expect any cooperation that's not forced upon them. There are admitte exceptions, but in my experience with dog-team polar bear hunting, walrus and muskox, I've long since learned that "exceptions" have to live in the village too, and it's going to take time before the "exceptions" are in the majority and any degree of cooperation can be acheived.

What it boils down to is this. If the Guide Law were thrown out today, the guides don't have the clout necessary in Juneau to get another guide law established that would not be regional in nature. Fellows, you know as well as I do, if we are ever forced to operate under regional guide laws you had better move to the villages and get yourself adopted....it's simple as that. There will be no home in Anchorage, and guide area in Unit 9; we'll be guiding in our own back yard, or not at all.

There are several more considerations too. Those of us that lose areas to the new Monuments have an excellent chance of receiving compensation for our losses a couple years down the road when D-2 is settled and we can begin instigating class action and individual condemnation suits against the Federal Government. But these condemnation suits will only hold water IF our Exclusive Guide Area concept is effective. If the Exclusive Area concept is thrown out, or if the Board continues to accept filings on top of existing Exclusive Guide Areas, even the dumbest government attorney will be able to successfully challange our position by simply pointing out that the Exclusive Guide Areas do not, in fact, protect and insure our businesses. And if they do not protect our businesses, then they were worthless at the time of the Antiquities Act and no compensation is justified. If, on the other hand, we can successfully demonstrate, as an industyr, that the Exclusive Guide Areas are what holds the industry together and makes the system work (look at Kodiak-that system could never work without Exclusive areas, and it's being used as a model to help shape future permit systems), then we have every reason to expect to win these suits.

A last major consideration is the current situation with D-2 legislation in Washington. As an industry we have had considerable impact in the D-2 issue, as evidenced by the House version of HR-39 which gave guides grandfather rights for up to 25 years in certain National Parks created by that Act. During the past serveral months your Association and others have been working to expand this influence but our efforts can only succeed if we present a unified and responsible 'front'. If we are in-fighting over areas and guide laws-and even the basic concept on which the industry survives, it won't take our enemies long to sense our confusion and make us look like a bunch of greedy, savage entrepreneurs back in Washington.

Yet I'm not suggesting that we sit back and do nothing. Ron's letter points out two basic areas of conflict between the existing system and the industry; the issue of double jeopardy by Guide Board action after being found Not-guilty in a court of law, and the issues are controversial, but I'd like to think that they can be best handled within the industry rather than to throw them out on the floor of the legislature along with the entire Guide Law.

The Guide License and Control Board just appointed an Advisory Committee consisting of Association representatives, non-affiliated guide members, a representative of the A.G. 's office and a Guide Boar member which presumably will be able to voice these conflicts to the Board and suggest corrective measures. Following the December meeting such suggestions might well have been hooted, but I think those of you who attended the Jan/Feb meetings came away with a different feeling. Guide Board member Chuck Keim said it best when he stated to those in attendence that one of the Board's primary functions in the future would be to stand as yet another bulwark between the ethical guide who is trying to make a living, and the Governmental (agencies) who would like to take this right away from him without just cause .

In another action the Board voted unanimously to adopt a resoluti not to hear or act upon any case against a guide for Federal treaspass violation.

I sure don't know all the answers, but it's kind've like being an American- I don't like everything that goes on. but it's still the best game in town and worth fighting for. Let's keep our Guide Law, let's fight to make certain any special guiding privileges extended to coastal residents for marine mammals come under jurisdiction of our existing Guide Board, and let's support the Advisory Committee and get our beefs before the Board, not before the public and our ememies in Juneau and Washington.

Thank you,

Lynn Castle, APHA Director

TESTIMONY OF JULIUS J. BRECHT, DIRECTOR
DIVISION OF BANKING AND SECURITIES
DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

BEFORE
SENATE COMMERCE COMMITTEE

March 1, 1979

Good afternoon. My name is Julius J. Brecht, Director of the Division of Banking and Securities within the Department of Commerce and Economic Development. I would first like to take this opportunity to thank you for the opportunity to appear before this committee to offer comment on SB 112.

The Corporations and Associations Title, AS 10, requires the department to accept filings for incorporation of domestic corporations (incorporated in Alaska) and registrations of articles of incorporation for foreign corporations (incorporated outside of Alaska) doing business in the State and to maintain those files as official files of the State. The title also requires that corporations and associations keep the information on file current through the submission of annual reports and other filings.

The duties of the department in the context of AS 10 are carried out through the Corporations Section within the Division of Banking and Securities. All of the files maintained by the division in this respect are open to the public.

Fees are charged for the reproduction of various documents and certification of documents or the certification of the status of corporations on file with the division. These fees are supposedly set to cover the cost incurred by the division in administering AS 10. Those fees were set in many cases a number of years ago. Several fees were increased by statute in 1976. However, we again find ourselves faced with the situation where the dollars generated by the combined fee structure provided by AS 10 are not adequate to cover the costs incurred by the division in administering the title. These costs if not paid by the corporations in the form of fees are, of course, ultimately borne by the Alaska taxpayer.

The department, therefore, finds itself once more having to go the Legislature to seek a change in the fees at a time when the Legislature has many extremely important issues to resolve and limited time in which to accomplish those tasks.

The present bill would remedy this situation by replacing all references to specific fees in AS 10 by a directive to the department to adopt regulations setting forth the fees. Of course, those regulations are reviewable by the Legislature pursuant to AS 44.62.190(a). The bill does not attempt to relegate to regulation the setting of taxes or penalties for late filings. Those are clear prerogatives of the Legislature. However, since the fees provided for in AS 10 are specifically to cover the cost of administering that title, setting those fees by regulation would allow the department to adjust the fees from time to time to pay the reasonable costs of administration of the title. In this way, those who enjoy the advantages of incorporation, e.g., limited personal liability, will pay for the service rather than the Alaska taxpayer.

Another provision of the bill allows for the distribution of assets of a business or non-profit corporation by the board of directors of the corporation after the corporation has been either voluntarily or involuntarily dissolved. In effect, the provision allows the corporate existence to continue up to seven years after the corporation has been dissolved for the sole purpose of distribution of assets discovered after dissolution. After that time period has lapsed, interested parties could go to court to get a determination on the discovered assets.

In summary, the provisions of the bill before you are of a housekeeping nature and will aid the corporations and associations served through a streamlined fee structure as well as aid the department in administering the title. By keeping the fees current, the corporations and not the Alaska taxpayer will pay the reasonable cost of the services rendered by the department through the Corporations Section within this division. A section-by-section analysis of the bill is attached dated January 19, 1979 and is submitted for your information.

I, therefore, urge the members of the committee to carefully consider the provisions of SB 112 and take affirmative action on it.

STATE of ALASKA

MEMORANDUM

TO: Members of the Committee

DATE: January 19, 1979

FILE NO:

TELEPHONE NO:

FROM: Julius J. Brecht, Director
Division of Banking & Securities
Department of Commerce &
Economic Development

SUBJECT: SB-112
Corporations and Associations Title
10 Amendment Bill
Narrative Supplement

The proposed corporations and associations legislation before you provides a number of changes to the Alaska Corporations and Associations Title, AS 10. Much of the present law was enacted in 1959 and has undergone a number of changes from time to time. A large portion of the provisions of this bill are of a "housekeeping" nature and are proposed to streamline the fee structure set out in the various chapters of AS 10.

The major provisions of the bill include (1) provision for a procedure for profit and nonprofit corporations to dispose of assets discovered after dissolution; (2) the repeal of references throughout the Title to specific fees for various services rendered by the Department of Commerce and Economic Development ("department") to corporations, cooperatives and associations doing business in the state and to the public; (3) provision that those fees will be established by the department by regulation; and (4) provision for the department to charge a fixed average annual fee per corporation, cooperative or association to each of them subject to the Title in place of charging them the various fees specified in the Title with certain exceptions. Those exceptions go mainly to the fees required for incorporation.

The following is a section-by-section review of the provisions of the bill.

Section 1. (AS 10.05.039(a)). This section repeals the reference to the specific fee for the registration of a corporation name under the Alaska Business Corporation Act ("ABCA") and replaces that provision with a requirement that the fee shall be established by the department by regulation.

Section 2. (AS 10.05.042). This section repeals the reference to a specific fee for the renewal of a registered name under ABCA and replaces it with a requirement that the fee be established by regulation.

Section 3. (AS 10.05.519(d)). This section repeals the explicit reference to "limited partnership" in the context of corporate name availability upon reinstatement of a corporation under ABCA. The department does not have the authority to regulate and does not maintain files on limited partnership names. Therefore the reference to limited partnerships in Sec. 519(d) is meaningless.

Section 4. (AS 10.05.594). This section provides a procedure for a corporation to dispose of assets discovered after dissolution of a corporation under ABCA. Presently, Alaskan corporations may not be reinstated if they have been dissolved for more than two years, and therefore timely distribution of assets is severely hampered. There have been several instances in the recent past where good title could not be given to property discovered after dissolution. This section continues the corporate existance for an additional five years after dissolution solely for the purpose of disposing of the property. After that five year period, the section provides that a court resolution could be obtained. See, Section 19 of this memorandum for a similar provision for nonprofit corporations under AS 10.20.

Section 5. (AS 10.05.708(a)). This section repeals the reference in ABCA to specific filing fees for the filing of articles of incorporation for domestic and foreign corporations, with the exception of nonprofit corporations regulated under AS 10.20, based on the capital stock of a corporation. That provision is replaced with the requirement that the department establish these fees by regulation based on the amount of authorized capital stock.

Section 6. (AS 10.05.711(a)). This section repeals the reference in ABCA to specific filing fees for filing amendatory or supplemental articles of incorporation for domestic and foreign corporations, with the exception of nonprofit corporations regulated under AS 10.20, based on the capital stock of a corporation. That provision is replaced with the requirement that the department establish these fees by regulation based on the amount of change in the authorized capital stock.

Section 7. (AS 10.05.714). This section repeals the reference to the specific fees for appointment, amendment, or revocation of appointment of a process agent for a foreign corporation under ABCA and replaces those provisions by the requirement that the fees be established by the department by regulation.

Section 8. (AS 10.05.720). This section repeals the reference to the explicit fee for the issuance of a certificate or a duplicate of a certificate of the payment of the annual tax and filing of the annual report required of business corporations under ABCA. In place of the explicit fee there is established the requirement that the department set the fee by regulation.

Section 9. (AS 10.05.747). In (a) of this section, the reference to a specific filing fee for instruments not otherwise provided in ABCA is repealed and replaced by a requirement that the fee be established by regulation. In (b) of the section, the department is given authority to establish by regulation and charge a fixed average annual fee per corporation to each corporation subject to ABCA. This fee would be charged by the department in place of charging corporations the various fees specified in ABCA with certain exceptions. Those exceptions go to the following: (1) the fee required for the registration of a corporate name, (2) the incorporation fee based on the initial capitalization of a corporation, and (3) the fee based on a subsequent change of the capitalization of the corporation. The fixed annual fee would also cover the cost of routine administrative services rendered to the corporation by the department. For example, a given corporation may require numerous services of the department throughout the year including change of registered agent, amendment of the articles of incorporation (other than changes of capitalization), etc. All of these various fees require the department's corporation staff to expend considerable time maintaining a system to collect the correct fees required by statute for approximately 10,000 corporations. With one flat fee, the accounting system would be far easier and less burdensome on both the department and the corporation in that seperate accounting of each and every fee on a case-by-case basis could be avoided. See, Sections 18, 21 and 23 of this memorandum for similar provisions under AS 10.15, 10.20, and 10.25.

Section 10. (AS 10.05.750). This section repeals the requirement of ABCA that a certificate of withdrawal of a foreign corporation from registration be filed with the Office of the Clerk of the Superior Court, in addition to a filing with the department. At the present time, the department maintains the primary files on foreign corporations and is required to provide the Superior Court with an updated list pursuant to AS 10.05.630. The additional filing with the Superior Court under Sec. 750 is therefore redundant and unnecessary. In addition, this section repeals the reference to the specific fee for the filing of the certificate and replaces it with the requirement that the department establish the fee by regulation.

Section 11. (AS 10.05.753). This section repeals the reference in ABCA to the specific fee for the dissolution of a domestic business corporation and replaces it by a requirement that the fee be established by the department by regulation.

Section 12. (AS 10.05.756). This section repeals the reference in ABCA to the specific fee for filing a certificate of dissolution from the state of origin of a foreign corporation and replaces it with the requirement that the fee be established by the department by regulation.

Section 13. (AS 10.05.762). This section repeals the fee required for furnishing a certified copy of any instrument under ABCA and replaces it with the requirement that the fee be established by the department by regulation.

Section 14. (AS 10.15.255). This section repeals the reference in the Alaska Cooperative Corporation Act ("ACCA") to the specific fee for filing of terminated contracts and replaces it with the requirement that the fee be established by the department by regulation.

Section 15. (AS 10.15.260). This section repeals the reference in ACCA to a specific fee for filing of a list of names of all persons whose contracts have been terminated and replaces it with the requirement that the fees be established by the department by regulation.

Section 16. (AS 10.15.535). This section repeals and reenacts the requirement in ACCA that a license fee be charged to each cooperative authorized by its articles to issue stock, and the fee is to be established by the department by regulation based on the amount of stock issued.

Section 17. (AS 10.15.545). This section repeals the reference in ACCA to the specific license fee for cooperatives having no authorized shares of capital stock and replaces it by the requirement that the fee will be established by the department by regulation.

Section 18. (AS 10.15.555). In (a) of this section, the reference in ACCA to the specific fees for various services rendered to cooperative corporations are repealed and replaced by the requirement that the fees will be established by regulation. Those services include the filing of the articles of incorporation or articles of consolidation for a new cooperative, articles of amendment, restated articles, or articles of merger, statement of intent to dissolve, statement of revocation of voluntary dissolution proceedings, articles of dissolution, and other statements. In (b) of this section, the department is given the authority to establish by regulation and charge a fixed average annual fee per cooperative corporation to each corporation subject to ACCA. This fee would be charged by the department in place of charging the corporations the various fees specified in ACCA with the exception of fees related to the initial incorporation of the corporation. The fixed annual fee would also cover the cost of routine administrative services rendered to the cooperative by the department. See, Section 9 of this memorandum for further explanation.

Section 19. (AS 10.20.450). This section provides a procedure for a nonprofit corporation under the Alaska Nonprofit Corporations Act ("ANCA") to dispose of assets discovered after dissolution. Presently an Alaskan nonprofit corporation may not be reinstated if it has been dissolved for more than two years, and therefore the timely distribution of assets is severely hampered. There have been several instances in the recent past where good title could not be given to property discovered after dissolution. This section continues the corporate existance for an additional five years after dissolution solely for the purpose of disposing of the property. After that five year period, the section provides that a court resolution could be obtained. See, Section 4 of this memorandum for a similar provision for business corporations under ABCA.

Section 20. (AS 10.20.530). This section repeals the reference in ANCA to the specific fee for service of process on the commissioner for nonprofit corporations and replaces that provision with a requirement that the fee be established by the department by regulation.

Section 21. (AS 10.20.635). In (a) of this section, the reference to the specific fees for various services rendered by the department are repealed and replaced by the requirement that the fees will be established by the department by regulation. In (b) of this section, the department is given authority to establish by regulation and charge a fixed average annual fee per corporation for each corporation subject to ANCA. The fixed annual fee would be charged by the department in place of charging corporations the various fees specified in ANCA with the exception of the fee for incorporation. The fixed annual fee would also cover the cost of routine administrative services rendered by the department to the corporation. See, Section 9 of this memorandum for further explanation.

Section 22. (AS 10.20.640). This section repeals the reference in ANCA to the specific fee structure to be charged for certified copies of instruments and requires the department to establish a fee structure by regulation.

Section 23. (AS 10.25.530). In (a) of this section, reference in the Alaska Electric and Telephone Cooperative Act ("AETCA") to various specific fees is repealed and replaced by the requirement that the fees will be established by the department by regulation. In (b) of this section, the department is given authority to establish by regulation and charge a fixed annual fee per cooperative for each cooperative subject to AETCA. This fee would be charged by the department in place of charging corporations the various fees that are specified in AETCA with one exception. A cooperative would still have to pay the initial incorporation fee required by Sec. 530(a)(1). The fixed annual fee would also cover the cost of routine administrative services rendered to the corporation by the department. See, Section 9 of this memorandum for further information.

Section 24. (AS 10.35.060). This section repeals the reference in the Alaska Business Act ("ABA") to the specific fee for the registration of a business name and replaces it with the requirement that the fee be established by the department by regulation.

Section 25. (AS 10.35.070). This section repeals the reference in ABA to the specific fee for the renewal of a registered business name and replaces it by the requirement that the fee be established by the department by regulation.

Section 26. (AS 10.40.140(a)). This section repeals the reference in the Alaska Religious Corporations Act to the specific fee for a filing of any document and requires that the fee be established by the department by regulation.

Section 27. This section states the effective date of the Act as July 1, 1979. This date is chosen as the beginning of FY '80. It is felt that regulations establishing the various fees could be in finalized form by that time, and if necessary the fees could be adopted by emergency regulation.

In summary, the bill before you is basically a housekeeping measure to aid in the better administration of the Corporations and Associations Title and to provide a reasonable mechanism for the distribution of assets discovered after dissolution of a business or nonprofit corporation.

I urge the committee to consider thoughtfully the provisions of the bill. I stand ready to answer any questions you may have concerning this legislation.

IN THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA

ELEVENTH LEGISLATURE - FIRST SESSION

For an Act entitled. "An Act relating to corporate dissolution and reinstatement, and fees paid by businesses and corporations; and providing for an effective date."

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA:

* Section 1. AS 10.05.039(a) is amended to read:

A corporation which has registered its corporate name may renew the registration from year to year by filing an application for renewal each year setting out the facts required in an original application for registration and a certificate of good standing required for an original registration and by paying a fee established by the department by regulation [OF $10]. An application for renewal may be filed between October 1 and December 31 in each year. The renewal of the registration extends the registration for the following calendar year.

* Sec. 3. AS 10.05.519(d) is amended to read:

(d) A corporation dissolved by the commissioner under the provisions of this section may be reinstated by the commissioner at any time within two years from the date of the certificate of involuntary dissolution whenever it is established to the satisfaction of the commissioner that in fact there was no cause for the dissolution, or whenever the neglect or delinquency resulting in dissolution has been corrected and payment made of double the amount delinquent along with the amount the corporation would have paid had it not been dissolved. Reinstatement may not be authorized if the same or a deceptively similar corporate, [LIMITED PARTNERSHIP,] reserved or registered name is currently on file with the commissioner, unless the corporation being reinstated contemporaneously amends its articles of incorporation to change its name to conform with the provisions of this chapter.

A dissolved corporation through its board of directors, continues to exist for the purpose of being made a party in any action or proceeding arising before its dissolution and involving the title to real or personal property or any interest in it. The action or proceeding may be instituted and maintained in the same manner as the dissolution of the corporation. This subsection does not affect or suspend any statute of limitations applicable to a claim.

(c) For the purpose of service of process, notice, or demand within the prescribed time following dissolution, the commissioner is an agent of the dissolved corporation upon whom service may be made in the manner prescribed in AS 10.05.057(b).

* Sec. 5. AS 10.05.708(a) is amended to read:

The filing fee shall be based on the amount of authorized capital stock of the corporation.

[,(1) IF THE AUTHORIZED CAPITAL STOCK OF THE CORPORATION IS $100,000, OR LESS, A FILING FEE OF $30;

(2) IF THE AUTHORIZED CAPITAL STOCK OF THE CORPORATION EXCEEDS $100,000, THE FEE SET FORTH IN (1) OF THIS SUBSECTION PLUS AN ADDITIONAL FEE OF 20 CENTS FOR EACH $1,000, OR FRACTION OF $1,000, OF AUTHORIZED CAPITAL STOCK ABOVE $100,000;

* Sec. 6. AS 10.05.711(a) is amended to read:

(a) A domestic or foreign corporation, except corporations organized under AS 10.20 and foreign corporations organized under the laws of the United States or the laws of a state or territory of the United States or the laws of a foreign country for the same purposes as those allowed under AS 10.20, filing amendatory or supplemental articles of incorporation, or certificates of increase or decrease of capital stock with the department, shall pay to the commissioner

No domestic or foreign corporation may commence or maintain a suit, action or proceeding in a court in the state without alleging and proving that it has paid its annual corporation tax last due and has filed it annual report for the last calendar or fiscal year for which the report became due. A certificate of the payment of the annual tax and filing of the annual report is prima facie evidence of the payment of the tax and the filing of the annual report. The commissioner shall issue the certificate or a duplicate for a fee established by the department by regulation [OF 25 CENTS].

* Sec. 9. AS 10.05.747 is amended to read:

Sec. 10.05.747. OTHER FILING FEES [FOR INSTRUMENTS NOT OTHERWISE PROVIDED FOR]. (a) The filing fee for an instrument not otherwise provided for in this chapter shall be established by the department by regulation [IS $10].

(b) The department may by regulation charge each corporation subject to this chapter a fixed fee in place of the various fees specified in this chapter, with the exception of AS 10.05.039, 10.05.708, and 10.05.711, and for routine administrative services rendered to a corporation by the department.

(2) articles of amendment, restated articles, or articles of merger, [$10,] and, if the articles provide for an increase of the amount of authorized capital stock of the cooperative, the filing cooperative shall also pay the proportionate part of the annual license fee for the succeeding fraction of the fiscal year, payable by a cooperative whose authorized shares equal the newly increased authorized shares of the filing cooperative, less the annual license fee already paid for the succeeding fraction of the fiscal year by the filing cooperative; but filing articles decreasing the authorized shares does not reduce the annual license fee of the filing cooperative until the beginning of the fiscal year following that in which the articles were filed;

III. ANALYSIS (See Fiscal Note Preparation Instructions, Section III)

It is estimated that between one and two additional days per week of attorney time will be required to enforce the corporate records discovery provisions of this bill. Since this time is less than one-half of an attorney's time, no additional personal services expense has been shown. If this new work is undertaken, however, some delay in existing workload will occur. Direct out-of-pocket expenses are estimated $7,500 for travel and $5,000 for deposition/reporter services, during the first year. Since many of the corporations to be examined are headquartered out of state, substantial travel will be required. Costs have been increased by 8% annually for inflation.

APUC COMMENTS ON SB 133

Senate Bill No. 133 would exempt from economic regulation the following non-profit cooperative corporations:

Alaska Village Electric Cooperative, Inc. (AVEC)
Chugach Electric Association
Copper Valley Electric Association
Glacier Highway Electric Association
Golden Valley Electric Association
Homer Electric Association
Kodiak Electric Association
Kotzebue Electric Associaton
Matanuska Electric Association
Naknek Electric Association
Nushagak Electric Cooperative
OTZ Telephone Cooperative, Inc.

Bristol Bay Telephone Cooperative
Copper Valley Telephone Cooperative, Inc.
Matanuska Telephone Association
Nushagak Telephone Cooperative, Inc.

The number of customers served by the above named electric cooperatives is approximately 72,000 and the telephone cooperative consumers who would be affected by this bill are approximately 20,000. Under the existing statute the Commission provides public protection to these 92,000 consumers in the determination of reasonable and fair rates and the resolution of consumer complaints regarding billing practices, rates and charges, quality and availability of service. In addition the Commission has provided a streamlined procedure for approval of rate increases necessitated by an increase in the cost of fuel, guaranteeing to the consumer that documented increases in fuel costs have been received by the Commission.

An analysis of the action taken by the Commission during the past two years in regard to cooperative utilities indicates minimum discrepancies between the revenue requirement requested by a utility and granted by the Commission. In the area of rate design, however, the Commission has responded to innovated requests by both electric and telephone cooperatives. The Staff has and is currently performing analysis of and recommendations for the following specific rate design requests:

(1) A reserve capacity ch for residential, commercial and large er consumers of Matanuska Electric Association

(2) The elimination of el ctric heat promotional rates;

(3) Changes in the traditional electric declining block rate structures;

(4) Elimination of numerous rate schedules for various types of electric consumers;

(5) The "unbundling" of telephone rates of Matanuska Telephone Association;

(6) Seasonal electric rates.

In addition, the Commission was directed and funded by the 1977 State Legislature to provide a cost-of-service and management audit of AVEC in order to avert an economic crisis created by the refusal of the REAA schools to sign purchase power contracts with AVEC because the schools believed the rate structure to be discriminatory.

The position of the Consumer Protection and Information Section of the Commission may be of interest in that it specifically provides assistance to the consumers of all utilities, when a customer, after first contacting the utility, has been unable to resolve a problem or complaint. The attached table provides information regarding the number of complaints received by the Commission in 1978 and a breakdown of those customer complaints of cooperative electric and telephone utilities. When asked to provide input in regard to SB 133, the Consumer Protection and Information Section provided the following opinion:

> "This Section does not perceive any difference between REA cooperatives or any other public utility even though their Boards of Directors are elected by consumer members of the Association. The consumer complaints reaching the Staff are identical to those of the investor-owned utilities. It is evident that the customers of REA cooperatives experience the same problems in the resolution of their complaints as do the customers of privately-owned utilities. Further, it is apparent to this Section that customers of the cooperatives do not perceive a difference between utilities regardless of the ownership structure. The question as we perceive it is not one of who "owns" the cooperative but who "controls" the cooperative.

Ther are a number of issues that the Legislature may wish to consider in making a determination of whether this bill is in the public interest. They include:

1) The Public Utilities Regulatory Policies Act of 1978, a part of the National Energy Act requires that at least one electric cooperative, Chugach Electric Association, if not regulated by a State Commission, submit to FERC regulation for the purpose of conside ng standards to carry out the Federal purposes conservation of energy supplied by utilities efficicient use of utility resources; equitable rates. Those ratemaking standards that either a federal or state regulating agency must address for an electric utility selling more than 500 million kwh annually, include;

cost of service
declining block rate time of day rat s seasonal rates
interruptable rates
load management techniques

Five additional regulatory policy standards must also be addressed, including:

master metering
automatic adjustment clauses
information to consumers procedures for termination of electric service advertising.

2) The recent and rapid developments in telecommunications indicate possible confrontations between CATV and local exchange telephone utilities which could, in the absense of regulation, result in wasteful duplication.

3) Funding

The Commission has no knowledge at this time of whether the passage of this Legislation would jeopardize REA funding to any of the telephone and electric cooperatives in the State. During the year 1978, the former field representative of REA indicated that one-quarter of the annual monies available to cooperatives in the U.S. was allocated to utilities within the State of Alaska.

As some of the legislators are aware, the Tlingit Haida Regional Electric Authority (THREA) which, although not effected by this bill, has been exempt from regulation since its inception. However, to receive additional REA loan monies, in order to avoid bankruptcy, REA required THREA to submit to regulation by the Alaska Public Utilities Commission.

The Commission is available to answer any questions of the Legislature in its determination of whether the public interest would be served by the economic deregulation of electric and telephone cooperatives within the State of Alaska.

SENATE BILL 133

Testimony by David Hutchins, Executive Director
Alaska Rural Electric Cooperative Association

SENATE COMMERCE COMMITTEE
March 8, 1979

The purpose of SB 133 is to scale down APUC regulation of non-profit electric cooperatives to the same level of regulation now provided by law for municipally owned utilities.

The current responsibility of the APUC to provide very intensive regulation is more than can be adequately performed by the commission with the resources that have been provided. The Legislature needs to make a very basic policy decision:
(1) The responsibilities of the APUC must be reduced or,
(2) Very substantial increases in funding and staff salaries must be made in order for the APUC to attract and retain the expertise needed to make intensive regulation work.

In his resignation statement as Administrator of the APUC in January, Mr. Ronald Lindes stated that "he believes the agency's control of utility businesses is excessive." Certainly, in so far as electric cooperatives are concerned, we believe Mr. Lindes is correct. We believe that the reduction of regulation contemplated by SB 133 is the clear choice in resolving the current problems rather than investing large new sums of money in the present level of regulations.

We believe that the public interest would be well served by de-regulating the electric cooperatives because:

(1) THE MEMBER OWNED NON-PROFIT COOPERATIVE IS INHERENTLY SELF-REGULATING.

The affairs and business practices of the cooperative are directly controlled by a member - consumer Board of Directors which is elected by and reports to the membership at least annually.

(2) A BOARD OF DIRECTORS COMPRISED OF CONSUMERS IS A BETTER REGULATOR THAN A GOVERNMENT AGENCY.

When the applications to the APUC for rate changes are examined, it is found that in nearly every case the rate increases requested have been less than the facts justified based on rates of return allowed by the APUC.

(3) ANY RATES WHICH MIGHT BE CHARGED BY A COOPERATIVE IN EXCESS OF THOSE ALLOWED BY THE APUC WOULD SIMPLY INCREASE THE CONSUMER'S EQUITY IN THE COOPERATIVE.

No profits are paid to any outside investors. All assets are used for the benefit of the consumers, and each consumer's equity is returned to him when he ceases to be a member.

(4) REGULATION BY THE APUC SUBSTANTIALLY INCREASES THE COSTS OF THE COOPERATIVE WHICH MUST BE PAID BY THE CONSUMERS.

The attached sheet provides examples of recent costs of regulation incurred by Alaska's electric cooperatives.

SENATE BILL 133

Testimony of David Hutchens, Executive Director
Alaska Rural Electric Cooperative Association

Senate Commerce Committee
March 13, 1979

The bulk of the testimony given by Commissioner Carolyn Guess of the APUC on March 8 dealt with the need perceived by the Commission to retain jurisdiction over telephone service and to retain authority to provide consumer protection and information services for the consumers served by the electric cooperatives.

In response to these comments from Commissioner Guess, a proposed substitute for SB 133 has been drafted. This proposal restricts its application only to non-profit electric cooperatives. Also, the exemption for these electric cooperatives would apply only to rates. The APUC would still retain all other jurisdiction including certification of territories to be served (Article 3), standards of service and facilities (Article 4), accounts, records, and reports (Article 6), financial and management regulation (Article 7), penalties and enforcement (Article 8), and miscellaneous provisions (Article 9).

The only exemption which this proposal would grant the electric cooperatives is an exemption from the APUC ratemaking process. Commissioner Guess testified that there have been "mi mum discrepancies between the revenue requirement requested by a ility and granted by the Commission." But despite the fact that we have eventually been granted the rates which the APUC concedes have been reasonable, it is this rate making process which provides a financial burden on the electric cooperatives.

If the proposed substitute is adopted, the only issue remaining among those raised by the Commissioner is the question of rate design. As a member of the APUC, the Commissioner would like to retain full control over exactly how the rates should be structured. We believe that this is a matter which should properly be left to the discretion of the elected representatives of the consumers. We know that our consumers are intelligent people who are quite capable of running their own cooperatives.

I would close by reiterating the point I made on March 8. The APUC is not now able to attract and retain the expertise required to make the current scheme of intensive regulation work. The Legislature needs to decide either to provide the additional funds the APUC needs to do the job it now has, or reduce the job required of the APUC. We believe that the rate regulation of non-profit electric cooperatives is one area in which the public interest would be well served by reducing the responsibility of the APUC, and I urge the adoption of the proposed substitute for SB 133.

TESTIMONY

NAME: RONALD L. LINDOR
LIFELONG CITIZEN OF ANCHORAGE, ALASKA
PAST EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR of the Public Utilities Commission

Speaking as a private citizen with close personal knowledge of public utility regulation in Alaska

I strongly support Senate Bill #133 as a first step in the direction of sorely needed restraint on the regulatory powers of the Alaska Public Utilities Commission. The present degree of utility regulation is excessive. This proposed bill affords a modest degree of deregulation in a area where safeguards to protect the public interest are more than adequate.

Cooperatives organized under Alaska statute are member owned, non profit entities. The management of these cooperatives is carefully supervised by boards of directors that are elected by members of the cooperatives. There are certainly few social endeavors that are more democratic illustrative of our system of democracy in action than cooperatives organized and managed for the benefit of the people. A well run cooperative will prosper and offer a vitally necessary service to its members. Certainly the public interest is well served by cooperatives. Not everyone in a cooperative will be completely satisfied but on balance it is truly democracy in action.

The regulators, through their spokesperson Commissioner Cross, have spoken in general opposition to ~~any~~ the relaxation of regulation. The commissioners have taken the approach that only they know best what is in the "pubic intrest" of the consumer. This attitude of paternalism is running counter to the ~~national~~ state and national feeling that government is too deeply involved in our personal and local affairs. While we in Alaska decry the over bearing paternalism of the federal government in ~~telling us~~ dictating what is best for Alaskans, we have been applying the same paternalism on a state government basis over local governments and cooperatives through the APUC. The right to succeed comes with it the right to fail. I trust more in the probably that ~~right of~~ cooperatives to succeed in their own affairs than I do in the commission with less intrest in that success or failure. Who knows best what is in the public intrest? Is it the public or bureaucratic government?

The legislature has the power to regulate commerce in Alaska. ~~You have delegated this respon~~ In the area of Utilities and other businesses you have delegated this authority to the Alaska Public Utilities Commission. ~~etc~~ Your guidance to the Commission is in the form of AS 42.05 ~~which~~ of which ~~this~~ sent to Bill # 133 is an amendment.

AS 42.05 is very broadly written legislation that grant extensive powers to the commissioners to ~~exercise~~ exercise the powers of the legislature. Commissioners are nominated by the governor and confirmed by the legislature for terms of 6 years. (This means that the commissioners do not have to come back to the legislature to renew.) The AS 42.05 is so broadly written as to ~~permit~~ permit central state control over more than ~~dance~~ dramatic performances and ~~stage plays~~ outdoor rock concerts if the commissioners so decide.

Your commissioners have not been reluctant in using the heavy powers of this legislation. It has been an activist commission badly in need of restraint, either self imposed or imposed by the legislature. I suspect that this will be an issue you will address next year as the AVTC comes up for review under the Alaska Sunset law with help from the legislative Audit report of ~~the~~ activities commission, which ~~should be~~ is presently in progress.

If deregulation of the cooperatives is not ~~[illegible]~~ pursued by the legislature, you are saying to your constituents that some state office ~~is better~~ knows better what is in ~~their~~ public interest than they do themselves. If this is not true then What is the power of their board of directors. Is it only the power to propose while the APUC has the power to dispose? Don't the will of the people to improve service, expand facilities or plan for the future thwarted by this approach?

The commission has exercised hindsight. What is required is foresight and that's a more difficult task better left to those with ~~the~~ economic ~~and~~ and social interest at the local level. Those that deal with their cooperative on a daily basis are far better judges of what is in their best interest. They don't need a political commission in Anchorage to tell them what is best. From first hand knowledge I can tell you that the capability of the APUC staff accurately to analyze financial proposals of utilities does not exist. It has not existed for years and it is not likely to exist for sometime in the future.

In summary, I support the proposed legislation as immediate the first and most obvious step in rectifying regulatory ills that have plagued utilities and other businesses in Alaska. A through review of the legislature that grants regulatory powers to the RPUC is sorely needed!
both electric & telephone
The partial deregulation of cooperatives is a prudent very low risk step in the reversal of the ominous movement towards governmental control over our daily lives.

Henry David Thoreau said in 1848 "That government is best that governs best."
Governor Hammond was reelected espousing a similar philosophy. If you agree with this premise, then I urge you to return power to the people by voting this proposed legislation out of committee today with your unanimous do pass
recommendation.

I Thank you for your attention Q?

APUC COMMENTS ON SB 133

Senate Bill No. 133 would exempt from economic regulation the following non-profit cooperative corporations:

Alaska Village Electric Cooperative, Inc. (AVEC)

Chugach Electric Association

Copper Valley Electric Association

Glacier Highway Electric Association

Golden Valley Electric Association

Homer Electric Association

Kodiak Electric Association

Kotzebue Electric Associaton

Matanuska Electric Association

Naknek Electric Association

Nushagak Electric Cooperative

OTZ Telephone Cooperative, Inc.

Bristol Bay Telephone Cooperative

Copper Valley Telephone Cooperative, Inc.

Matanuska Telephone Association

Nushagak Telephone Cooperative, Inc.

The number of customers served by the above named electric cooperatives is approximately 72,000 and the telephone cooperative consumers who would be affected by this bill are approximately 20,000. Under the existing statute the Commission provides public protection to these 92,000 consumers in the determination of reasonable and fair rates and the resolution of consumer complaints regarding billing practices, rates and charges, quality and availability of service. In addition the Commission has provided a streamlined procedure for approval of rate increases necessitated by an increase in the cost of fuel, guaranteeing to the consumer that documented increases in fuel costs have been received by the Commission.

An analysis of the action taken by the Commission during the past two years in regard to cooperative utilities indicates minimum discrepancies between the revenue requirement requested by a utility and granted by the Commission. In the area of rate design, however, the Commission has responded to innovated requests by both electric and telephone ccoperatives. The Staff has and is currently performing analysis of and recommendations for the following specific rate design requests:

(1) A reserve capacity charge for residential, commercial and large power consumers of Matanuska Electric Association;

(2) The elimination of electric heat promotional rates;

(3) Changes in the traditional electric declining block rate structures;

(4) Elimination of numerous rate schedules for various types of electric consumers;

(5) The "unbundling" of telephone rates of Matanuska Telephone Association;

(6) Seasonal electric rates.

In addition, the Commission was directed and funded by the 1977 State Legislature to provide a cost-of-service and management audit of AVEC in order to avert an economic crisis created by the refusal of the REAA schools to sign purchase power contracts with AVEC because the schools believed the rate structure to be discriminatory.

The position of the Consumer Protection and Information Section of the Commission may be of interest in that it specifically provides assistance to the consumers of all utilities, when a customer, after first contacting the utility, has been unable to resolve a problem or complaint. The attached table provides information regarding the number of complaints received by the Commission in 1978 and a breakdown of those customer complaints of cooperative electric and telephone utilities. When asked to provide input in regard to SB 133, the Consumer Protection and Information Section provided the following opinion:

> "This Section does not perceive any difference between REA cooperatives or any other public utility even though their Boards of Directors are elected by consumer members of the Association. The consumer complaints reaching the Staff are identical to those of the investor-owned utilities. It is evident that the customers of REA cooperatives experience the same problems in the resolution of their complaints as do the customers of privately-owned utilities. Further, it is apparent to this Section that customers of the cooperatives do not perceive a difference between utilities regardless of the ownership structure. The question as we perceive it is not one of who "owns" the cooperative but who "controls" the cooperative.

Ther are a number of issues that the Legislature may wish to consider in making a determination of whether this bill is in the public interest. They include:

1) The Public Utilities Regulatory Policies Act of 1978, a part of the National Energy Act requires that at least one electric cooperative, Chugach Electric Association, if not regulated by a State Commission, submit to FERC regulation for the purpose of considering standards to carry out the Federal purposes conservation of energy supplied by utilities efficicient use of utility resources; equitable rates. Those ratemaking standards that either a federal or state regulating agency must address for an electric utility selling more than 500 million kwh annually, include; pulls less than

cost of service
declining block rate
time of day rates
seasonal rates
interruptable rates
load management techniques

Five additional regulatory policy standards must also be addressed, including:

master metering
automatic adjustment clauses
information to consumers
procedures for termination of electric service
advertising.

2) The recent and rapid developments in telecommunications indicate possible confrontations between CATV and local exchange telephone utilities which could, in the absense of regulation, result in wasteful duplication.

3) Funding

The Commission has no knowledge at this time of whether the passage of this Legislation would jeopardize REA funding to any of the telephone and electric cooperatives in the State. During the year 1978, the former field representative of REA indicated that one-quarter of the annual monies available to cooperatives in the U.S. was allocated to utilities within the State of Alaska.

As some of the legislators are aware, the Tlingit Haida Regional Electric Authority (THREA) which, although not effected by this bill, has been exempt from regulation since its inception. However, to receive additional REA loan monies, in order to avoid bankruptcy, REA required THREA to submit to regulation by the Alaska Public Utilities Commission.

The Commission is available to answer any questions of the Legislature in its determination of whether the public interest would be served by the economic deregulation of electric and telephone cooperatives within the State of Alaska.

SENATE BILL NO. 224

IN THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA

ELEVENTH LEGISLATURE - FIRST SESSION

A BILL

For an Act entitled: "An Act relating to the motor fuel tax; and providing for an effective date."

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA:

* Section 1. AS 43.40.010(a) is amended to read:

(a) There is levied a tax of 19 per cent of the retail value of each [EIGHT CENTS A] gallon on all motor fuel sold or otherwise transferred within the state, except that

(1) the tax on aviation gasoline is 14 per cent of the retail value of each [FOUR CENTS A] gallon,

(2) the tax on motor fuel used in and on watercraft of all descriptions is six per cent of the retail value of each [FIVE CENTS A] gallon, and

(3) the tax on all aviation fuel other than gasoline is nine per cent of the retail value of each [TWO AND ONE-HALF CENTS A] gallon.

* Sec. 2. AS 43.40.010(b) is amended to read:

(b) There is levied a tax of 19 per cent of the retail value of each [EIGHT CENTS A] gallon on all motor fuel consumed by a user, except that

(1) the tax on aviation gasoline consumed is 14 per cent of the retail value of each [FOUR CENTS A] gallon,

(2) the tax on motor fuel used in and on watercraft of all descriptions is six per cent of the retail value of each [FIVE CENTS A] gallon, and

(3) the tax on all aviation fuel other than gasoline is nine per cent of the retail value of each [TWO AND ONE-HALF CENTS A] gallon.

* Sec. 3. AS 43.40.010 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

(1) The Department of Revenue shall annually determine the retail value of the motor fuels taxed under this chapter and, after applying the percentages set out in this section, shall, by regulation adopted no later than May 1 of each year, establish the applicable cents-per-gallon rates to be applied on a uniform, statewide basis to each category of motor fuel. These rates become effective on the first day of the next tax year.

* Sec. 4. AS 43.40.030(a) is amended to read:

(a) Except as specified in sec. 10(j) of this chapter, a person who uses motor fuel to operate an internal combustion engine is entitled to a refund of 40 per cent of the state tax on each [SIX CENTS A] gallon if

(1) the tax on the motor fuel has been paid;

(2) the motor fuel is not aviation fuel, or motor fuel used in or on watercraft; and

(3) the internal combustion engine is not used in or in conjunction with a motor vehicle licensed to be operated on public ways.

* Sec. 5. AS 43.40.100 is amended by adding new paragraphs to read:

(4) "retail value" means the average retail price of motor fuel in each category for the previous calendar year, calculated by the Department of Revenue, based on a statewide statistical sample taken from, at least, 10 representative communities in the state on a monthly basis and published in a report to be submitted each year to the legislature no later than January 30 for that year;

(5) "tax year" means the period commencing on July 1 and ending on June 30 of the following calendar year.

* Sec. 6. TRANSITION. For the first tax year under this Act, the Department of Revenue shall determine the applicable retail values and rates of taxation under this Act for the 1979 tax year, calculated on the basis of statistical data compiled by the department in accordance with AS 43.40.100(4) for the period between the effective date of this Act and September 1, 1979. The Department of Revenue shall promulgate those rates no later than November 1, 1979. These rates become effective January 1, 1980, and remain in effect until substituted rates are established for the tax year commencing on July 1, 1980.

* Sec. 7. This Act takes effect immediately in accordance with AS 01.10.070(c).

AUTOMOBILE OPERATORS would face heavy new tax burdens if the Legislature adopts a proposal to change the gasoline taxes from a flat rate to a sliding scale based on retail prices. The new tax measure was recommended by Gov. Jay Hammond as one way to build up the general fund so that the state can have more money in its operational budget.

Gasoline that now retails at 75 cents a gallon would cost 79.7 cents a gallon under the new law. The present eight-cent tax that is included in the 75 cents would become a big 12.7 cents bite out of the 79.7 cent price. This would be a 59 percent tax increase for the motorist.

More frightening would be the prospect of paying higher and higher state taxes as the retail prices of gasoline increase this spring and summer. Gas that would sell for 80 cents under the present law would cost 85.6 cents under the new law. As prices continue to rise, the motorists would find their tax load increased 117 percent by the time gas is $1 a gallon. Gas that would sell for $1 under the present law would cost $1.09½ under the proposed law.

The new law would hit the motorist's pocketbook this way: a 20-gal. tankful that now costs $15 would cost $15.94 immediately and as the retail price exceeded 75 cents a gallon, the total cost would increase further. When the retail price gets to $1 a gallon the same 20-gallon tankful would cost $21.88.

STATE STATISTICS show that 62 percent of all motor vehicles are registered in Anchorage. Another 18 percent are registered in Fairbanks, Juneau and Ketchikan. Thus 80 percent of them are in the four cities.

Collections from motor fuel taxes were $24.5 million during the year ended last June 30. A 59 percent increase in this tax revenue would take $14.5 more away from the motorists than at present. If the retail price climbs and the tax rate is increased 117 percent, the extra pinch on the taxpayer would be $28.7 million.

Fuel for aircraft and boats would also come under the new tax with automatic escalation as the retail prices climb. Aviation gas is taxed under existing law at a flat rate of four cents a gallon. Under the new law this would be replaced by a tax of 14 percent of its retail price.

Thus aviation gas that now retails at $1 a gallon would become $1.09½ a gallon. If aviation gas prices climb, the gas that would under present law cost $1.30 a gallon would be $1.53½ under the proposed law. This would mean the operator of a small plane that burns 15 gallons an hour would have his operating costs increased $1.41 an hour immediately and $2.04 if the gas price climbs to $1.30.

Other aviation fuels, for jet aircraft, would also be subject to an escalating tax. Domestic airlines would be hit hard. Many international airlines would escape this tax because they use fuels brought to Anchorage under bond and delivered free of state taxes.

THIS TAX CHANGE would be obnoxious to all motor vehicle operators. It discriminates against them by compelling them, as a special category, to provide additional funds for the general operations of the state.

The state budget is already slanted against the urban centers and in favor of rural areas. Everybody is facing the pinch of local tax increases from their local governments because the state is not providing a fair share of the state revenue-sharing funds.

The 1980 budget now before the Legislature provides no increase in revenue-sharing funds for the state's municipalities. That means that the cities will receive less than in 1979 because of the inflation factor. The state pays only 80 percent of the cost of school buildings in the larger cities while it pays 100 percent of the cost in rural communities.

Only minor increases have been proposed for those state programs that aid the people of the cities, more than half the state's population. The budget calls for an increase of 2.7 percent in the work incentive program, 6.2 percent increase in child assistance, 6.6 in public health nursing, 4.8 in environmental health and only .6 percent in family health.

For rural areas, however, the increases run much higher. The budget calls for 20 percent increase in aid for commercial fishing, 69 percent in fish and wildlife and subsistence programs, 29 percent in village water programs, 24 percent in remote village radio programs.

It is high time that Alaskans in the urban centers should become aware of the unfair treatment they are getting from the legislature when state budgets are drafted.

Urban residents are getting to be like the big oil companies that have been the target of the legislature for discriminatory taxation. A difference is, however, that oil companies can leave Alaska. Alaskans can't. Another difference is that Alaskans vote and that makes elected officials more sensitive them.

An organized presentation should be made by gasoline users — and that includes most all urban residents — of their opposition to the proposed changes in the gasoline tax. Indeed, some kind of rebellion against the unfair budgeting of state funds, as well as discriminatory taxation, is long overdue.

ALASKA AIR CARRIERS ASSOCIATION

SB 224

FOR THE MAJORITY OF THIS TESTIMONY, I AM REPRESENTING THE ALASKA AIR CARRIERS ASSOCIATION, WHICH REPRESENTS AN $83 MILLION GROSS REVENUE INDUSTRY OF THIS STATE. THE MEMBER CARRIERS REPRESENT 85 TO 90% OF THE TOTAL REVENUE GENERATED, AND WE ARE OPPOSED TO SB 224.

I AM OPPOSED TO SB 224 AND ANY INCREASE IN MOTOR FUEL TAX.

WITH THE COST OF FUEL INCREASING ALL TOO FREQUENTLY, I BELIEVE WE WOULD BE CREATING AN UNDUE ADDED EXPENSE TO ALL USERS. THIS PROPOSED CHANGE IN MOTOR FUEL TAX WOULD COST OUR INDUSTRY AN ADDITIONAL 2.9 MILLION ACCORDING TO DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE FIGURES. I BELIEVE THAT FIGURE IS LOW BECAUSE THEIR FIGURES ARE NOT EVEN ON CURRENT RETAIL PRICES, THAT IS AVIATION FUELS ONLY.

THE DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE HAS HAD A SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE IN MOTOR FUEL TAX COLLECTED DURING THE PAST 10 YEARS, SOMETHING ON THE ORDER OF 42% PER YEAR. OUR BUSINESS HAS HAD LESS THAN 6% PER YEAR. IN 1968 TOTAL REVENUE FROM AVIATION MOTOR FUEL TAX WAS $778,000: IN 1978 IT WAS $3.3 MILLION - THAT'S OVER 400%. THERE ARE SEVERAL AREAS IN THE STATE WHERE THIS TAX IS NOT ALWAYS COLLECTED.

(EXAMPLE: PEOPLE HAVE BBL FILLED AT BULK PLANT, NOT PUT INTO AIRCRAFT)

IF ALL DISTRIBUTORS WERE REQUIRED TO COLLECT THE TAX, IT WOULD CREATE AN INCREASE IN REVENUE, WITHOUT AN INCREASE IN TAX.

THIS BILL WOULD ENPOWER THE DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE TO ESTABLISH AVERAGE RETAIL VALVE. I QUESTION THEIR ABILITY TO DO THIS, THEY ARE USING THE AIRLINE CONTRACT PRICE FOR JET FUEL IN THE ESTIMATE AND I DON'T THINK THEY KNOW WHERE THEY GOT THE PRICE FOR AVIATION GAS.

(EXAMPLE: JET - DEPT. OF REVENUE PRICE $.45

LIVINGSTON BULK RATE $.497

JUNEAU AIRPORT RETAIL W/O TAX $.692 UNDER 50 GALLONS
$.597 ~~UNDER~~ OVER 50 GALLONS

I CAN SEE ADDITIONAL PERSONNEL NEEDED TO ADMINISTER THIS EXTRA WORK LOAD, WE DON'T NEED TO ADD TO THE BUREAUCRACY.

I WILL GIVE AN EXAMPLE OF WHAT THIS PROPOSED CHANGE IN TAX STRUCTURE WILL DO. USING 100,000 GALLONS, WHICH WILL REPRESENT ABOUT 4000 FLIGHT HOURS. TODAY WE PAY $4000.00 TAX ON AVIATION GAS. UNDER PROPOSED CHANGES, USING CURRENT BULK PRICE (NOT RETAIL PRICE) OF $.66 PER GALLON, TAX WOULD BE $9240.00, OR MORE THAN DOUBLE. USING RETAIL VALVE WOULD ADD MORE THAN AN ADDITIONAL $1500.00 (JUNEAU AIRPORT).

EXAMPLE ON JET FUEL: 100,000 GALLONS REPRESENT ABOUT 3000 FLIGHT HOURS. TODAY WE PAY $2500 TAX. UNDER PROPOSED CHANGE, USING CURRENT BULK PRICE (NOT RETAIL PRICE) $.497 PER GALLON, TAX WOULD BE $4473. USING RETAIL PRICE WOULD INCREASE THIS OVER $1800 (JUNEAU AIRPORT).

AS YOU CAN SEE, THIS TAX CHANGE WOULD DOUBLE THE EXISTING TAX COLLECTED, ASSUMING NO INCREASE IN VOLUME. ALSO, AS PRICE OF FUEL ESCALATES, TAX WOULD ESCALATE ALSO, A VICIOUS CIRCLE.

THE DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE IS ESTIMATING THIS TAX WILL GENERATE a $10,000,000 INCREASE IN MOTOR FUEL TAXES. I QUESTION THOSE FIGURES. EXAMPLE: $.45 ON JET, AND OUR BULK PRICE IS $.497. JET IS RETAILING AT THE JUNEAU AIRPORT AT $.692 + TAX.

THE EXTRA EXPENSES WILL HAVE TO BE PASSED ON TO THE CONSUMER, YOUR CONSTITUENTS - OUR CUSTOMERS. WE ARE ALREADY FACED WITH HIGH INFLATION, ALL THESE REVISED TAXES WOULD DO IS ADD FUEL TO OUR RATE OF INFLATION.

AGAIN, THE ALASKA AIR CARRIERS ASSOCIATION AND ALL MEMBERS, REPRESENTING 80 TO 95% OF THE AIR TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM IN THIS STATE, ARE OPPOSED TO SB 224. WE ARE MORE THAN PREPARTED TO DO WITHOUT WHATEVER SERVICES, IF ANY, THIS TAX WOULD CREATE. THERE IS NO GUARANTEE WE WOULD SEE ANY OF THE TAX BECAUSE IT GOES TO THE GENERAL FUND.

Dear Bill:

There has been no action on SB 224 to date but am requesting an opportunity to testify if it comes up in Sen. Bradley's Commerce Committee. As I interpret the bill the following would result:

Sec. 431401010(a) - Motor fuel tax.

Gasoline - 8¢ to 17¢ or a 112.5% increase
Diesel - 8¢ to 10¢ or a 25% increase

(a)(1) - Aviation gasoline.

4¢ to 12.6¢ or a 215% increase

(a)(2) - Watercraft use.

Gasoline - 5¢ to 5.1¢ or a 2% increase
Diesel - 5¢ to 3.2¢ or a 36% decrease

(a)(3) - Aviation other than gasoline.

2.5% to 4.8% or a 92% increase

Sec. 43.40.030(a) - Refund on off-highway use.

Present law - 6¢ on an 8¢ tax or 75%

New law - Gasoline 6.8¢ on a 17¢ tax or 40%
Diesel - 4¢ on a 10¢ tax or 40%

Where the present law results in a final tax of 2¢ per gallon for off-highway use, the new law would result in a tax of 10.2¢ for gasoline and 6¢ for diesel, or an increase of 410% and 200% respectively.

From the above you can see that the hardest hit are the off-highway users of gasoline. Next are the users of aviation gasoline, followed closely by the off-highway users of diesel.

These latter two groups are certain to register strong objections to the proposal, particularly when bush plane service and heavy equipment operations for road construction and mining are essential to maintain the present level of travel and employment.

The other two groups who will also oppose this legislation are the highway travelers (over 100% tax increase), and the scheduled airlines using jet fuel (a 92% increase). The only users who would have their present tax reduced are commercial fishermen, tug boat operators, etc. using diesel for fuel (a 36% decrease). Overall I would say that the passage of this legislation could result in "unequal treatment" of various classes of users, and could probably be shot down on that basis.

It has not been demonstrated that nonregulation of landscape architecture adversely impacts the public health, safety or welfare. This profession is concerned with esthetics and does not involve activities related directly to human life or well being. Actual need, not imagined need, should be established.

Consumers of these services are most likely to have substantial resources and recourses. Practitioners may be presently certified by the National Association of Landscape Architects if they wish such status. Nothing in AS 08.48 prohibits or restricts the profession. It does not appear that either the public or the profession requires governmental regulation of another group of practitioners.

Background Information

1978?

Adomian does not support this legislation.

We have consistently suggested that occupational regulation is an inappropriate use of the state's police power in the absence of evidence of overt public abuse.

The proponents of this legislation argue in its favor that the service is concerned with public health, welfare and safety - That incompetence can result in damage. We concur. Damages can result to the consumer from incompetence in any occupation. That premise is insufficient in our viewpoint to require government regulation. Actual, not imagined, need should be established.

2. They will argue that there is no way for the average consumer of landscape architectural services to discriminate between the competent and incompetent. We do not agree.

~~Thirdly~~ First the average consumer is unlikely to be your average man in the street. He is most likely a person with either substantial private resources, such as EXXON or public resources, such as the State.

Second, private institutions exist which already provide evaluative ability — the Nat Soc. of Landscape Architects will certify any person meeting its requirements which are rigorous. Educational institutions routinely attest to an educational achievements of their graduates on request of the graduate.

3. They will argue that Alaska's Regis. Act for A. C. & L. S. inhibits them from working by requiring their designs be sealed by a registered professional. A S 08.48.331(2) specifically exempts ~~from~~ "the practice of any other legally recognized profession." Although "lawfully recognized" is not defined, surely this language was intended to exempt ~~[illegible]~~ more than just regulated occupations. We do not regulate traffic engineers nor do we attempt to prevent them from practicing. The situations are analogous.

~~That includes may [illegible] if you have any questions~~

In short it does not appear that either the public or the profession requires government intrusion into this area of private enterprise.

SOME PRACTICAL QUESTIONS RELATING TO LICENSURE OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS

TO: THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA
TENTH LEGISLATURE - SECOND SESSION

RE: SENATE BILL NO. 416
HOUSE BILL NO. 655

PREPARED BY: ALASKA CHAPTER, AMERICAN SOCIETY OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS - CONTACT: MR. ROSS HART - 586-6400

SOME PRACTICAL QUESTIONS

1. WHY IS LICENSURE NEEDED?

Grounded in the responsibility of the State of Alaska to maintain means for protecting health, safety, and welfare of their citizens, licensure provides a basis for making a determination of minimum competency. When that determination has been made, the state may then confer the priviledge of doing some thing(s) or engaging in certain practices as indicated on a license issued to the person proven competent. The most widely known is the driver's license issued upon an individual's passing a driving test.

In essence, a license holder has been granted permission to do something that, if done improperly, could harm others. Such permission must be granted by a duly established authority in order to protect the public, assure competence, weed out incompetence, and to provide discipline, redress, or revocation where bad practice has been proven. Moreover, since an average client cannot be reasonably expected to have the level of sophistication necessary to adequately evaluate either the sepcialized services offered by Landscape Architects or the level of competence of a given practitioner, that client needs the specialized protections provided by licensure. In addition, since certain elements of specialized practice may already have been legally sanctioned as being under the pervue of other more established professions whose requirements to sit for examination may prohibit members of younger professions from qualifying, due process must be available to applicants whose newer area of expertise is not provided for by the older boards or the examinations they adminster.

2. HOW IS LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE INVOLVED WITH HEALTH, SAFETY, AND WELFARE?

"Clear and direct" relationships between protection of the public and the practice of Landscape Architecture may be seen in the following examples:

a. Improperly specified relationships between water supplies, such as to artificial ponds, fountains, etc., and water drainage facilities could result in contamination of a water supply system of an entire community.

b. Improper design of outdoor lighting systems and their supply lines could present undue fire and/or shock hazards.

c. Inadequate design of outdoor structures such as those used in parks and other recreational facilities could result in injury should those structures fail. Such structures can include small shelters, footbridges, gazebos, kiosks, decks, rest facilities, among others.

d. Specification of unsafe playground equipment could result in injury and consequent liabilities.

f. Inadequate provision for drainage can result in flooding of foundations, basements, walkways, highway rights of way, recreation areas, and other kinds of facilities used by the public. This could present particularly serious hazards under the freezing conditions of Alaska.

g. Lack of adequate knowledge of plant materials and their functional charcteristics and interrelationships with various kinds of soils and other environmental elements can present at least these kinds of hazards:

   i. trees placed in soils whose structural characteristics do not provide its root system adequate physical support under stress of certain wind conditions.

   ii. root systems placed too near foundations of structures will ultimately weaken the structure.

   iii. certain toxic or otherwise harmful species could harm childern in a variety of ways.

   iv. specification of hardwood trees on highway medians or otherwise too close to rights-of-way present a serious hazard to motorists and their passengers.

   v. specification of plant materials on incompatible soils can result in deadwood that provides fire hazards.

h. Improper specifications for grading and filling can result in soil slippage and washing or even massive erosion.

3. HOW HAVE LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS BEEN PREVENTED FROM PRACTICING UNDER PRESENT LAW?

Restraint from practice has occured:

a. under those conditions when Landscape Architects may not even submit a bid for contract because some portion of work they are trained to do has been allocated jurisdictionally to the purview of regulatory boards of related environmental design professions.

b. under those conditions where a call for bids specifies or falls under more general policy provisions of given private and public agencies requiring that the bidder hold a valid license as proof of minimum competency.

Existence of either or both of the two conditions given above not only by themselves may constitute a restraint of trade impediment within given jurisdictions but also becomes a particularly severe restraint on Landscape Architects seeking out of state work while their home state provides no licensure through which they may present a legally sanctioned proof of competence.

4. DON'T LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS JUST WANT LICENSURE AS A STATUS SYMBOL?

Landscape Architects want licensure in order that the profession will not be marred by the adverse effect of not insuring competence of all practitioners whose work directly affects public safety. They recognize that their service-oriented activities are not readily evaluated by the lay public; average citizens may not be expected to have adequate knowledge to protect them from manifestations of bad practice.

Landscape Architects want licensure in order that they may compete, without restraint, for work both within as well as outside of their home jurisdictions.

5. WHY CANNOT LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS BECOME LICENSED UNDER PRESENT LAW AS ARCHITECTS, ENGINEERS, OR LAND SURVEYORS?

The critical elements here are the separate and distinctly different definitions of the respective professions which reveal activities of often overlapping but quite distinct scope or range. There would be legally indefensible inconsistencies in not recognizing the horticultural background underlying the distinctly unique body of knowledge, and concomitant skills, through which their knowledge is manifested in the contemporary practice of Landscape Architecture. The specialized services offered by architects, engineers, and land surveyors do not derive from knowledge developed out of horticultural context. However, among the things Landscape Architects often do have in common with architects and with some kinds of engineers are design-oriented activities. Among the things Landscape Architects have in common with surveyors are knowledge and skills in topography and grading.

Another critical element lies with the educational background and other qualifications necessary for a candidate to fulfill in order to even sit for licensure examination of other professions. No person should be obliged to face unreasonable requirements that would prevent his sitting for examination. We should recall that provisions of due process must apply not only to license holders but also to applicants.

6. WHAT IS THE FORMAL TRAINING OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS?

After completing high school, there are several levels of education available in Landscape Architecture. These include vocational programs (certificates or Associate degrees), pre-professional programs (Baccalaureate degrees), undergraduate professionals degree programs (Bachelor of Science in Landscape Architecture), and graduate professional degree programs (Master of Science in Landscape Architecure or Master of Landscape Architecture). Vocational programs entail about two academic years of study and a summer of field experience. These programs normally focus on residential and commerical scale projects and emphasize practical knowledge, such as construction detailing, grading, horticultural practices, grounds maintenance, and business practices. The purpose of these programs is to train leaders for the landscape industry, thus studio courses stress detail scale design such as surfacings, planting composition and minor structural elements. Upon completion, graduates of vocational programs enter supervisory roles in nursery or contracting firms and relatively few continue their formal education.

In recent years, undergraduate pre-professional degree programs have been developed at several universities to provide an academic foundation for advanced work in any one of several design disciplines. Seven schools, all with graduate level landscape porgrams, have instituted "generalist" programs that award either a Bachelor in Environmental Design or a Bachelor in Environmental Studies degree. These programs stress broad-scoped social science and natural science course work and offer only limited amounts of design studies and technical material, for graduates are expected to continue their professional developemnt in the Master's program.

By contrast, other undergraduate programs award professional degrees in Landscape Architecture and have a full compliment of design and technical education in their curricula. These programs are either four or five years in length with the latter generally providing for more elective opportunities and some individual specialization. It is estimated that about 80% of the graduates from these programs enter practices in professional offices or planning agencies. Of the remaining 20%, about half pursue graduate studies and the rest find employment in the landscape industry.

Graduate degrees, either M.S. or M.L.A., are available at approximately twenty schools in this country, frequently at the same institution as professional degree undergraduate programs. These advance programs require from one to three-and-one-half years of study depending on the applicant's background. For those with an undergraduate professional degree in Landscape Architecture, the advanced program usually amounts to a year-and-one-half or two years. For students coming with pre-professional degrees as well as those with non-design backgrounds, Master's programs normally require a residency of three to three-and-one-half years.

7. WON'T LICENSURE OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS ADVERSELY AFFECT NURSERYMEN?

Nurserymen who are engaged in raising and selling plant materials to their customers will not be adversely affected by passage of a licensure law for Landscape Architecture. Activities of the two occupations, while related, are entirely different: a nurseryman's products are botanical, and a Landscape Architect's products are designs for envisioned works which usually include, but are not limited to, botanical elements. Moreover, the one deals in products while the other often provides only services; goods can be inspected by a prospective buyer, generally services cannot.

If some nurserymen are adversely affected by a licensure law, then it may be because they are enganged in design activity for which they may not have appropriate training or experience through which they obtain competence.

8. HAVE ANY LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS BEEN DENIED HAVING PLANS ACCEPTED BY PRIVATE OR GOVERNMENT AGENCIES FOR LACK OF LICENSURE?

Yes. However, the more frequent consequence of lack of licensure is that firms which cannot afford to prepare plans for private or government agencies requiring licensure of its bidders simply do not enter the bidding process when they know they will be excluded under existing regulations.

9. DOES THE LICENSING BOARD OF ARCHITECTS, ENGINEERS, AND LAND SURVEYORS FEEL LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS SHOULD BE LICNESED?

The answer is yes. At a meeting at the board on September 22, 1977 a resolution was unaminously passed "that the board support the concept of registration of Landscape Architects".

10. PRESENT LAW RESTRICTS LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS FROM JOINING OTHER PROFESSIONALS IN A PROFESSIONAL CORPORATION. IF THIS RESTRICTION WERE ELIMINATED, WHY SHOULD LICENSURE BE NEEDED FOR LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS?

In some states that kind of restriction exists. However, its elimination would still not remove the fundamental need for licensure of Landscape Architects for these reasons:

a. The basic purpose of licensure protecting public health, safety, and welfare would remain unachieved.

b. Without licensure Landscape Architects could not be prinicipals of such a firm. In consequence, engineers and architects would continue doing Landscape Architectural work in an activity where they have not been proven competent.

c. Removal of this restriction would not provide for licensure needs of individual private practitioners who are not members of such firms. Absence of benefit of licensure would discourage or prevent many one-man offices from being located on a given jurisdiction.

11. IS IT TRUE THAT ONCE LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS ARE LICENSED, THEY THEN AMEND THE LAW TO RESTRICT THE OPERATION OF NURSERYMEN?

Under provisions of the law, no persons should be restrained from practicing Landscape Architecture so long as those individuals are able to prove their competence. Moreover, no persons should be required to face unreasonable requirements that would prevent their sitting for examination. However, where there are unqualified people engaged in the practice of Landscape Architecture, and thereby impinging on public safety, those people should be proven competent.

12. HOW MANY STATES CURRENTLY LICENSE LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS? HOW MANY HAVE HAD LICENSURE REPEALED?

Thirty-eight states currently provide licensure for Landscape Architects. One state has, under provision of a hastily enacted sunset law, repealed an inadequate title act and is currently drafting a practice law that would replace it.

13. DO LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS DESIGN BUILDINGS?

Landscape Architects do design some buildings such as park structures. However, Landscape Architects do not design habitable buildings.

14. WON'T LICENSURE OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS INCREASE THE COST OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURAL SERVICE TO THE PUBLIC?

It is possible that the cost of licensure may initially cause a small increment on some fees. However, experience indicates that these will soon become insignificant by comparison with the much larger effects of cyclical swings of economic cycles.

Here, again, a licensure operation should be of such effectiveness on fulfilling its stated societal purpose that it would be judged cost-effective.

Dear Don:

I have again reviewed the committee substitute for Senate Bill No. 416, introduced in the last session of the Legislature, pertaining to the Licensing of Landscape Architects.

I am opposed to the Licensing of Landscape Architects for three reasons:

1. In my judgement the practice of Landscape Architecture does not impact the public health, safety or welfare as, in its simplest terms, Landscape Architecture is concerned basically with esthetics. There is a very definite trend, both in the state of Alaska and Nationally, to abolish unnecessary licensing requirements and to create another licensed profession which has no demonstrated need for protection of the public is, in my opinion, imprudent.

2. Paragraph 15 of 08.48.341 as written is in conflict with the presently defined areas of expertise of Architects, Civil Engineers and Land Surveyors. Each of these three established diciplines are involved with various phases of "preservation, enhancement, or improvement of natural land features" and it would appear that the act would create numerous areas of overlapping jurisdiction with resultant problems.

3. Since the public Safety, Health and Welfare is not affected by the dicipline of Landscape Architecture, I see no need to require the public to pay for such services. The addition of a Landscape Architect to the design team for a commercial building, for instance, would increase the design costs for no tangible reason.

Very truly yours,

James M. Lake, P.E.

Dear Erma:

I have received the copy of CS for Senate Bill 416 which you sent me. As to my comments thereon, I am still opposed to licensing of landscape architects for the same reasons as I stated last year when this came up. At a time when we are in the process of paring down boards under the Sunset Law, why add another branch of individuals of this sort?

Also, I cannot see how their activities effect "health and safety" of the public. Their work is mainly cosmetic, like that of a hairdresser. I do not believe they belong on a common board with architects, engineers and land surveyors in any event.

I firmly oppose their registration as proposed under this bill.

Please convey my comments to Mr. Hostak by copy of this letter.

RE: Landscape Architects Bill

DATE: January 31, 1979

FROM: Loren H. Lounsbury

I am opposed to the regulation of landscape architects as proposed by the bill to be introduced to the Alaska Legislature. In my opinion there is no need to register landscape architects as the work they perform does not endanger the health, safety or welfare of the public. Therefore, it is inappropriate to include them with architects, engineers and land surveyors.

Since the legislature passed Sunset Legislation it appears they are concerned with limiting regulation to those professions that have a direct affect on the health, safety and welfare of the public.

It would seem to me that the landscape architects should make a showing that they do affect the health, welfare and safety of the public before this legislation is considered.

If this bill is passed every nursery operator, gardener, or anyone who has ever done any landscaping would have to be registered to practice under Grandfather Rights. I am not aware of any move by the public or the people who have provided landscape services in the past to be concerned about the registration and regulation. Therefore, it would appear to me that unless there is a huge outcry by the public that they need protection by the practicers of landscaping, we would be just adding another costly regulation to the State Statutes.

Dear Don,

I received a memorandum from Erma Norland indicating that you would like comments and reasons for favoring or opposing the proposed legislation.

I have reviewed last year's Senate Bill #416 to add landscape architects to the present Board of Registration for Architects, Engineers and Land Surveyors. I am not opposed to the concept of requiring professional registration for landscape architects. There are, however, many questions to be answered before I could support adding landscape architects to our present registration statutes.

As we are registered for the health, welfare and protection of the public, I believe it is imperative that it be clarified how the public is threatened by the lack of professional registration for landscape designers.

An acceptable definition of landscape architecture must be prepared for review. The definition submitted last year literally carved out professional requirements from existing services provided by civil engineers and architects. The proponents of the Landscape Architecture Bill have stated that there is an existing deficiency and that they are filling an existing void. This should be established prior to ligislation being proposed for legislative action.

There are many architects, engineers, landscape planners and landscape companies presently offering services that may be restricted with a Landscape Architects Bill. I believe the bill should speak more directly to the effects of such a bill on existing companies. There are approximately forty of these companies listed under landscape architects and contractors in the Anchorage Telephone Directory. I do not believe that all of these can qualify for professional registration, as civil engineering and surveying knowledge is required for topographic design. I also do not believe that these companies providing lesser services should be forced into hiring a registered professional on their staff or close their businesses.

Internally, the bill proposed would create havoc, in my opinion, for the Board of Registration. The new regulations will be in immediate conflict, and the proponents of the Landscape Architects Bill have not, so far as I know, attempted to establish regulations compatible with the presently registered professionals. I believe that a task force working with the Alaska Professional Design Council, an organization which represents all registered professionals, could probably satisfy the conflicts by introducing proposed regulations to be implemented as quickly as possible upon passage of any bill creating registration for landscape architects.

All Alaskan professionals are registered through examination or comity based upon examination. I believe more information should be presented concerning the testing and a review by the Board of Registration of the national tests given landscape architect trainees. The contents of that examination would help verify qualifications and conflicts with existing professional registrations.

Finally, as we are presently in a struggle to justify our very existence, I find it very untimely that consideration is given to expanding the Registration Board with another discipline within a year of the time required to justify the existence of the existing Board of Registration.

I shall be in Juneau February, 22nd, 23rd, 24th for the next scheduled meeting of th Board of Registration. I hope to have the opportunity of visiting with you on the morning of the 22nd. I would appreciate the opportunity to discuss the landscape architect and other Board related subjects with you at that time, if your schedule permits.

It has not been demonstrated that nonregulation of landscape architecture adversely impacts the public health, safety or welfare. This profession is concerned with esthetics and does not involve activities related directly to human life or well being. Actual need, not imagined need, should be established.

Consumers of these services are most likely to have substantial resources and recourses. Practitioners may be presently certified by the National Association of Landscape Architects if they wish such status. Nothing in AS 08.48 prohibits or restricts the profession. It does not appear that either the public or the profession requires governmental regulation of another group of practitioners.

Re: SB 274 (motor vehicle safety responsibility)

Dear Senator Bradley:

This is in response to your letter of April 28, 1979 concerning SB 274. The Department of Law will not be able to do a comprehensive analysis of this bill before the legislature adjourns, but we will say in general that we do not favor changing Alaska's Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Act into a mandatory insurance Act. In addition, this department is not the appropriate agency to do a fiscal analysis. However, we offer some brief comments:

1. Sec. 8, repealing and re-enacting AS 28.-20.440(f)(1), states that a motor vehicle liability policy may not be cancelled after the beginning of the policy period. This may cause some problems. Literally, it appears to apply to both the insured and the insurer. Could an individual cancel his or her policy upon selling the vehicle during the term of the policy? Does the current AS 28.20.540(a)(3) adequately handle this? Must the insurer continue coverage under a policy if the insured fails to pay the premiums?

2. Sec. 9, adding AS 28.20.440(f)(5), states that payment for coverage provided by a motor vehicle liability policy must be paid in full by the owner or operator before the beginning of the policy period. This provision may cause considerable economic hardship. Current practice allows for various multi-payment plans. Many people simply cannot afford to pay the full premium all at once.

3. Sec. 15 repeals (among others) AS 28.20.-300, the exception for government vehicles. There is case law which exempts United States postal drivers from state requirements to hold a drivers' license in the state in which they work. By repealing this statutory exception, the bill appears intended to require a postal delivery person to obtain a certificate of insurance in Alaska; that raises the same sort of questions as the license requirement itself.

Attached is some information on the artists' royalty bill...the California statute and a memo from Jack Chenoweth.

Quite simply, the bill is intended to allow artists to profit when their art work appreciates since right now they receive no financial benefits. As far as what the Arts Council can do with the money, the bill as drafted says on page 3, section (C) that when the Arts Council can't find the artist and the money has been in the account for two years, the money will then lapse into the general fund. We would rather see the Arts Council keep the money and use it to develop the arts in Alaska. This might be an appropriate change.

Give a call with any more questions and I'll see what else I can put together.

SUBJECT: Artist's royalty on resale of works of fine art. (Work Order Number 7775)

TO: Senator Bill Sumner

FROM: John B. Chenoweth
Legislative Counsel

Some notes on the significant differences between this bill draft and the California statute:

I have expanded the definition of "work of fine art" from the "original painting, sculpture, or drawing" of the California statute to include also "photograph or work of graphic art." The basis of the change is the comparable definition used in Chapter 8, SLA 1979, relating to protection of the artist's interest in his works of fine art placed with a dealer for sale as against claims by the creditors of the dealer.

I have deleted from the provisions of the Alaska bill the California provision excluding payment in the event of resale by a seller for a price that is lower than his original purchase price: few works of fine art of first quality would meet the test of this exclusion, but the presence of the exclusion, to me, suggests a loophole that might defeat the artist's rights or at least present problems of proof if he attempts to secure judicial relief.

I have reduced by five years, from seven to two, the time given to the Alaska State Council on the Arts to locate an artist based on my reading of the statute of limitations (AS 09.10.070) under which an artist would be able to secure judicial assistance in collecting an amount due him because of a resale of a work of fine art. Likewise, rather than impose a separate statute of limitations, as California does, for suits by an artist in furtherance of rights granted by AS 45.45.250, I have made no mention of this in the bill draft. I suggest that the applicable statute of limitations -- that is, the time in which the artist may initiate a cause of action based on rights given in AS 45.45.250 -- is two years:

No person may bring an action . . .

(3) upon a liability created by statute, other than a penalty or forfeiture, unless commenced within two years.

AS 09.10.070. If a longer statutory period seems necessary, please advise and I will redraft following your instructions.

In all other respects, I have followed the California statute as the model for this bill draft.

§ 986. [Sale of fine art]

(a) Whenever a work of fine art is sold and the seller resides in California or the sale takes place in California, the seller or his agent shall pay to the artist of such work of fine art or to such artist's agent 5 percent of the amount of such sale. The right of the artist to receive an amount equal to 5 percent of the amount of such sale is not transferable and may be waived only be a contract in writing providing for an amount in excess of 5 percent of the amount of such sale.

(1) When a work of art is sold at an auction or by a gallery, dealer, broker, museum, or other person acting as the agent for the seller the agent shall withhold 5 percent of the amount of the sale, locate the artist and pay the artist.

(2) If the seller or agent is unable to locate and pay the artist within 90 days, an amount equal to 5 percent of the amount of the sale shall be transferred to the Arts Council.

(3) If a seller or his agent fails to pay an artist the amount equal to 5 percent of the sale of a work of fine art by the artist or fails to transfer such amount to the Arts Council, the artist may bring an action for damages within three years after the date of sale or one year after the discovery of the sale, whichever is longer.

(4) Moneys received by the council pursuant to this section shall be deposited in an account in the Special Deposit Fund in the State Treasury.

(5) The Arts Council shall attempt to locate any artist for whom money is received pursuant to this section. If the council is unable to locate the artist and the artist does not file a written claim for the money received by the council within seven years of the date of sale of the work of fine art, the right of the artist terminates and such money shall be transferred to the operating fund of the council as reimbursement to fund programs of the council.

(6) Any amounts of money held by any seller or agent for the payment of artists pursuant to this section shall be exempt from attachment or execution of judgment by the creditors of such seller or agent.

(b) Subdivision (a) shall not apply to any of the following:

(1) To the initial sale of a work of fine art where legal title to such work at the time of such initial sale is vested in the artist thereof.

(3) To a resale after the death of such artist.

(4) To the resale of the work of fine art for a gross sales price less than the purchase price paid by the seller.

(5) To a transfer of a work of fine art which is exchanged for one or more works of fine art or for a combination of cash, other property, and one or more works of fine art where the fair market value of the property exchanged is less than one thousand dollars ($1,000).

(c) For purposes of this section, the following terms have the following meanings:

(1) "Artist" means the person who creates a work of fine art.

(2) "Fine art" means an original painting, sculpture, or drawing.

(d) This section shall become operative on January 1, 1977, and shall apply to works of fine art created before and after its operative date.

(e) If any provision of this section or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid for any reason, such invalidity shall not affect any other provisions or applications of this section which can be effected, without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this section are severable.

Note —Stats 1976 ch 1228 also provides: § 2. ELEVENTH LEGISLATURE - SECOND SESSION

A BILL

For an Act entitled: "An Act relating to the sale of fine art."

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA:

* Section 1. AS 45.45 is amended by adding a new section to read:

ARTICLE 6. SALE OF FINE ART.

Sec. 45.45.250. SALE OF WORKS OF FINE ART. (a) When a work of fine art is sold and the seller resides in the state or the sale of the work of fine art takes place in the state, the seller or his agent shall pay to the artist of the work of fine art, or the artist's agent, a royalty equal to five percent of the amount of the gross sales price.

(b) The right of an artist to receive a royalty equal to five percent of the amount of the gross sales price from the sale of a work of fine art is not transferable. The right may be modified only by a written contract signed by the artist or his agent and the selling party or his agent which provides for the payment of a royalty greater than five percent of the gross sales price in the event of sale of a work of art. [An artist may not waive the right to receive the royalty payment.]

(c) Payment of the amount required to be paid to an artist by this section is the responsibility of the seller or his agent. The seller or his agent shall make a [good faith] effort to locate the artist and transmit the payment required by this section. If the seller or his agent is unable to locate and pay the artist within 90 days, the amount required to be paid to the artist by this section shall be transmitted to the Alaska State Council on the Arts for deposit to a special account.

(d) This section does not apply to

(1) the initial sale of a work of fine art if legal title to the work is vested in the artist at the time of sale;

(2) the resale of a work of fine art after the death of the artist;

(3) the resale of a work of fine art for a gross sales price of less than $1,000;

(4) the exchange of a work of fine art for one or more works of fine art, or for a combination of cash, other property, and one or more works of fine art, if the fair market value of the property exchanged is less than $1,000.

(e) In this section,

(1) "artist" means the person who creates a work of fine art;

(2) "fine art" means an original painting, sculpture, drawing, photograph, or work of graphic art.

* Sec. 2. AS 45.05.120(e) is amended to read:

(e) Whenever an artist delivers or causes to be delivered a work of fine art of his own creation to an art dealer for the purpose of sale, or exhibition and sale to the public on a commission or fee or other basis of compensation, the work of fine art is not subject to the claims of the art dealer's creditors. Whenever a person who is not an artist, or the agent, of the artist, delivers a work of fine art to an art dealer for the purpose of sale and the work is sold, the amount of the gross sales price of the work of fine art which shall be withheld for payment to the artist under AS 45.45.250 is not subject to the claims of the creditors of the art dealer. For the purposes of this subsection

(1) "art dealer" means a person other than a public auctioneer engaged in the business of selling works of fine art;

(2) "artist" means the creator of a work of fine art;

AK. State Council of the Arts.

(3) "fine art" includes a painting, sculpture, drawing, photograph, or work of graphic art.

* Sec. 3. AS 44.19.930 is amended by adding a new paragraph to read:

(6) to administer a special account called the "artist's royalty account," to which the council shall deposit amounts received from sellers of works of fine art, or their agents, who are unable to locate artists for the purpose of making payment of the portion of the gross sales price under AS 45.45.250; in the administration of the special account, the council shall

(A) receive payments from the resale of a work of fine art and deposit the payments to the account;

(B) attempt to locate an artist for whom money is received under (A) of this paragraph and remit payment of the amount due to that artist;

(C) in the event of inability to locate the artist or failure of the artist to submit a written claim for a payment due to him within two years, transfer the amount due the artist to the general fund of the state; and

Re: Senate Bill 373, relating to the sale of fine art

Dear Senator Bradley:

In response to your February 4 request for comments from this department regarding this legislation, we have reviewed the bill, and offer the following comments.

While the idea of protecting the artist's interest in a work of art has considerable merit, there are some problems in this bill. For example:

(a) Its provisions apparently apply to sales of fine art by private persons (not just commercial sales), and to resales by private persons for $1,000 or more. Neither the bill nor AS 45.45 as it stands makes clear whether the intent is to cover commercial sales only. If the bill is intended to apply to non-commercial sellers, there will be a serious problem in trying to keep track of sales.

(b) The burden placed on the seller or seller's agent to locate the artist and transmit payment (subsection (c) of AS 45.45.250) may be unworkable and create another kind of enforcement problem -- keeping track of the artists. Perhaps some agency, such as the State Council on the Arts, should maintain a current listing of artists' addresses and furnish that information to sellers to aid them in fulfilling that duty. The burden would be on the artist to make sure that his or her current address was on file.

(c) It is not clear how the modification agreement under AS 45.45.250(b) will be enforced for future sales.

(d) It is unusual for a person to be able to collect repeatedly for later increases in price on resales of a product. This may give rise to litigation, e.g., regarding whether a seller obtained a higher resale price through his or her own expertise in promotion or display techniques.

(e) The definitions of "fine art" (AS 45.45.-250(e)(2) and (45.05.120(e)(3)) do not coincide (which in fact, may be intentional). The definition in AS 45.45.250(e)(2) includes the word "original", but the other section does not. Also, the definitions exclude works such as ivory carvings, prints made by silk screen or wood cut, etc., works done by weaving, and a number of other possible original creations properly thought of as fine art. This may be unfairness in the law. On the other hand, it may not be workable to include such works and still distinguish between "art" and "crafts".

(f) The word "withheld" on line 23, page 2, probably should be "held".

Our department is in no position to prepare a fiscal note on possible costs of the proposal.

Very truly yours,

RE: Senate Bill 373
An act regulating the sale of fine art

Dear Senator Bradley:

I am writing to voice my opposition to Senate Bill 373, an act relating to the sale of fine art, which I understand is presently before your committee. In essence, the act establishes an artist's royalty of 5% of the gross sales price to be paid on each resale of works of fine art. Legislation of this type is apparently intended to allow an artist to participate throught his or her life in the profits realized from the appreciation of works of fine art. Ideally, the poor struggling artist who is forced to sell his or her work at a pittance merely to survive can reap a portion of the benefits of the increased value of such works after he or she is discovered and is able to command a substantial price for his or her work. I am opposed to the Bill because neither in theory nor practice would such a law work to the benefit of most artists.

Under present law an artist is free to copyright art works and thus prohibit their reproduction. Likewise, by private contract, the artist can establish the type of royalty scheme provided by Senate Bill 373. In a free market place such a contract proposal would probably reduce the initial sales price of the work of art. If the collector must pay a royalty upon resale, he will realize a smaller profit and, accordingly, must reduce his investment in order to obtain the return he seeks. If the royalty scheme is mandated by law, the same result will occur and the initial sales price will be reduced to the detriment of the artist.

A particularly objectionable aspect of the Bill is tying the royalty of "gross sales price." If a person purchased a painting for $5,000 and because of market conditions or personal financial condition was forced to sell it for $3,000 through an agent thus netting only $2,000, because of commission, the crowning insult would be the requirement of paying the artist a further $150 royalty. Tying the matter to net profit would help cure that inequity, but in an inflationary environment "profit" on resale involves inflated dollars and the actual profit is very much smaller.

Another problem is in § 1(e)(2) defining fine art. The section provides that "'fine art' means an original painting, sculpture, drawing, photograph or work of graphic art." If the Bill is passed, the work "includes" should be substituted for the word "means" in this spot. This change would bring the provision into conformity with AS 45.05.120(e)(3) and thus would adopt a nonexclusive definition. The border line between "arts" and "crafts" is rather indistinct. Certainly if someone paid in excess of $1,000 for a weaving or piece of pottery, it would seem to fall within the category of "fine art."

I am not sure who proposed the Bill to Senator Sumner or who is lobbying in favor of it; however, the proposal to involve the Alaska State Council on the Arts simply establishes another brick in the massive of Alaskan bureaucracy. An uncharitable reviewer might even characterize the proposal as a small exercise in empire building on the part of the Alaska State Council on the Arts.

It does not appear that at the present time the Bill would work primarily to the benefit of Alaskan artists. The people who will be reaping royalties are LeRoy Neiman, Frederick Hunterwassar and other well established international artists. Under the Bill the royalty would be payable to such international artists even if the sale was consummated at a foreign auction house.

I don't believe that the proposal has any more merit than a proposal to allow architects or contractors to participate by way of royalty in the appreciation of buildings which they design or construct. Thank you for your consideration of my opinion and I urge you to oppose Senate Bill 373.

Dear Senator Sumner,

I am a consumer of the visual arts as well as a working visual artist. I urge you to re-consider your decision to support Senate Bill 373 dealing with a 5% royalty tax on the sale of fine art.

My research has shown that similar legislation in California enacted 2-3 years ago has failed to help the very artists it was supposed to help. It has encouraged the consumers of visual arts to rethink future purchasing of art.

In this day of spiraling inflation and higher taxes it seems poor monetary management to add a program of this magnitude when the Alaska State Council on the Arts does not have the staff or funding in its budget to operate this program. There is a conflict in the definitions of fine art, page 2, e 2, and page 3, e 3. I suggest if there is mass support of this Bill that the definitions reflect that fine art includes a painting, sculpture drawing, photograph, or work of graphic art.

I am opposed to Senate Bill 373 as the negative impact on the visual arts will far outway any positive effects.

Sincerely,
Christian Manley

QUESTIONNAIRE

Senate Bill 373, "An Act relating to the sales of fine art."

I. Do you favor a royalty fee on the sale of your art? If so, is 5% acceptable?

yes however I do not feel the artist should get a % of the gross, but rather a percentage (say 30%) of the increase over the ~~original~~ price (paid by the owner) (ie a percentage of the profit made in the resale)

I AM A FEMALE ARTIST + collector

II. Should the seller or his/her agent carry prime responsibility for dispersal of the royalty fee? (PLEASE DON'T USE SEXIST OR NON inclusive language in the bill) whoever handles the $ — it could be either at different times + not all sellers have agents

III. In the event that the seller or his/her agent cannot locate the artist for payment, should that payment be restricted to deposit in a special account with the Alaska State Council on the Arts?

Sounds reasonable, but artist searches could be expensive + bureaucracy being what it is.... this may not be so simple a process

If the artist is deceased, is the deposit ~~requirement~~ ~~& restriction~~ no longer required

JUNEAU ARTS COUNCIL
Box 562
Juneau, Alaska 99802

What about payment of the royalty to the estate or family of a deceased artist? I should think this would only be fair at least ~~same~~ as far as the artists immediate family (husband, wife, children, even parents).

IV. If deposited with the Alaska State Council on the Arts, are the administrative functions for the management of such funds satisfactory?

No 2 yrs is too short a time and if funds are to "disolve" into the State they should not go to general fund, but to the Arts Council (whoops - conflict of interest?) - well to something related to programs for artists, otherwise it's just an additional state tax on the sale of art

V. Would you be willing to testify before a legislative committee regarding this particular issue?

yes

VI. Other comments:

I am an artist who works in a fiber medium - I create fiber art as wall art + sculpture. Recently commissioned pieces of fiber art by the state have been ranging in $1,000 - $5,000. It is art, it is not craft. Fiber art is appreciating + the demand is currently growing at a fast rate. My work, I expect to increase in value if only because fiber art is currently underpriced. "Fine Art" should include fiber art

(c) Payment of the amount required to be paid to an artist by this section is the responsibility of the seller or his/her agent. The seller or his/her agent shall make a good faith effort to locate the artist and transmit the payment required by this section. If the seller or his/her agent is unable to locate and pay the artist within 90 days, the amount required to be paid to the artist by this section shall be transmitted to the Alaska State Council on the Arts for deposit to a special account.

(d) This section does not apply to

(1) the initial sale of a work of fine art if legal title to the work is vested in the artist at the time of sale;

(2) the resale of a work of fine art after the death of the artist;

(3) the resale of a work of fine art for a gross sales price of less than $1,000;

(4) the exchange of a work of fine art for one or more works of fine art, or for a combination of cash, other property, and one or more works of fine art, if the fair market value of the property exchanged is less than $1,000.

(e) In this section,

(3) "art" means

(1) "artist" means the person who creates a work of fine art;

(2) "fine art" means an original painting, sculpture, drawing, photograph, or work of graphic ~~art~~ or fiber art.

(e) Whenever an artist delivers or causes to be delivered a work of fine art of his own creation to an art dealer for the purpose of sale, or exhibition and sale to the public on a commission or fee or other basis of compensation, the work of fine art is not subject to the claims of the art dealer's creditors. Whenever a person who is not an artist, or the agent, of the artist, delivers a work of fine art to an art dealer for the purpose of sale and the work is sold, the amount of the gross sales price of the work of fine art which shall be withheld for payment to the artist under AS 45.45.250 is not subject to the claims of the creditors of the art dealer. For the purposes of this subsection

(1) "art dealer" means a person other than a public auctioneer engaged in the business of selling works of fine art;

(2) "artist" means the creator of a work of fine art;

(3) "fine art" includes a painting, sculpture, drawing, photograph, or work of graphic art.

* Sec. 3. AS 44.19.930 is amended by adding a new paragraph to read:

(6) to administer a special account called the "artist's royalty account," to which the council shall deposit amounts received from sellers of works of fine art, or their agents, who are unable to locate artists for the purpose of making payment of the portion of the gross sales price under AS 45.45.250; in the administration of the special account, the council shall

(A) receive payments from the resale of a work of fine art and deposit the payments to the account;

(B) attempt to locate an artist for whom money is received under (A) of this paragraph and remit payment of the amount due to that artist;

(C) in the event of inability to locate the artist or failure of the artist to submit a written claim for a payment due to him within two years, transfer the amount due the artist to the general fund of the state; and

(D) manage the account to protect the amounts on deposit.

Dear Senator Bradley:

I appreciate you forwarding copies of Senate Bills 140, 384, 387 and 430; and House Bill [illegible] to this Association.

In Senate Bill 384 and House Bill 671, page three, line three, we would suggest adding "which would also include refinanced mortgage loans", between the words "loan" and "including".

At page three, line 16 we suggest adding "federal and state savings and loan association" between the words "bank" and "or". Page four, line 27 we suggest adding "federal and state savings and loan association" between words "banks" and "or". This would insure all financial lenders an opportunity to participate in all AHFC programs.

Senate bills 387, 430 and 140 we have no comment and suggest adoption of these three bills.

Re: SB 140, 384, 387, 430
HB 671

Gentlemen:

Thank you very much for the opportunity to comment on the above listed legislation as noted in your letter of February 28, 1980.

SB 387, 430 - Clarifying the authority of Alaska Housing Finance Corporation are needed. We, therefore, urge adoption of these two bills.

SB 140 - Now amended to CSSB 140, expands the authority of Alaska Housing Finance Corporation into rural areas that should assist the public. We therefore urge adoption of the bill.

SB 384 & HB 671 - Are identical and we believe the following changes would prove beneficial as noted:

Insert "Insured bank, savings and loan association or trust company" for "banks or trust companies."

Reason - This change will clarify and insure that the financial institution will be supervised by a Federal government agency; and insure that all financial real estate lenders have an equal opportunity to participate in the various programs of Alaska Housing Finance Corp.

Add "initial or refinanced" between words "any" and "housing."

Reason - The addition of these two words will clarify and assure that all residents, whether new home buyers or long time home owners, have an equal opportunity to avail themselves of the benefits of the Alaska Housing Finance Corp. loan programs.

We have received many customer complaints over the policies of Alaska Housing Finance Corporation. The practice of discrimination over the use of the public tax dollars, when AHFC will not allow a long time home owner to refinance his home under Alaska Housing Finance program, is the one complaint that is heard most often and is impossible for the Alaska resident to comprehend.

We, therefore, recommend the above two changes and adoption of SB 384 and HB 671 as amended.

Thank you again for the opportunity to comment. We would also appreciate receiving information regarding any public hearing dates on the above or any housing related bills.

Yours truly,

Dear Brad,

Thank you for your letter of February 6 concerning SB387-Mobile Homes as Real Property. I assume the intent of the bill is to provide statutory authority for AHFC to lend on mobile homes whether or not they are permanently affixed to the land or placed on a rented lot.

Additional statutory authority should not be required. AHFC has announced publicly their program to make loans for mobile homes, which indicates they feel they have the necessary authority already. The problem seems to be getting AHFC to adopt a program that is acceptable to the special interest groups involved, and I believe SB387 would have little if any effect in reaching a solution.

I believe a more effective approach would be the following amendments to Sec. 18.56.090:

> "Par (2): make or participate in the making of mortgage loans to sponsors, developers, builders and purchasers of residential housing, including mobile homes whether or not they are permanently affixed to the real property or whether or not the mortgagor is the owner of the real property they occupy, if the corporation...."
> "Par (7): acquire real property or personal property, or any interest in real property or personal property, in its own name...."

This approach would more clearly portray the intent of the bill without creating controversy over the legal ques-

Dear Mr. Berrier:

Enclosed, please find materials relating to special vehicles, more commonly known as "street rods." I have been asked to consider introducing legislation which, in effect, would grant official recognition of street rods as having historical value and recreational purpose. In addition, the intent of the legislation would allow for some variances in safety regulations pertaining to the vehicles if such a vehicle were registered and affiliated with the National Street Rod Association.

I have included a proposal for legislation which was submitted to me by members of the Midnight Sun Street Rod Association (affiliated with the National Street Rod Association), a copy of legislation adopted by the state of Delaware and a Vehicle Safety Inspection form from the National Street Road Association.

I would appreciate a draft of legislation incorporating the points mentioned in the enclosed material and would appreciate authorship listed as "by Sumner, by request." Thanks for your help with this matter.

Juneau, AK 99811

Dear Senator Sumner:

We are in receipt of Senate Bill No. 416, "An Act relating to the registration of motor vehicles; and providing for an effective date," and it is not what we presented to you. First we will point out the incorrect portions of the Bill as presented to the Commerce and Finance Committee, and second we will discuss what our intent of the bill is. We have also enclosed a copy of what was presented to you, and you can see the difference:

Section 1. - No change.

Section 2. -

We are considering any automobile that is at least 20 years old that is modified from stock, no matter what country of manufacture. It doesn't matter to us where an auto is manufactured, and the reason we chose at least 20 years old is because age alone would make it unique; besides, if a car can last 20 years on Alaska highways, it deserves recognition.

We want in the statutes that the applicant must furnish proof that their auto is registered in an Alaska street rod club which is fully affiliated with the National Street Rod Association, and that such vehicle has a valid safety sticker displayed on its windshield showing that it has passed the National Street Rod Association safety inspection. We are not proposing this bill just to have a special plate; we are proposing this bill to insure that our hobby of having family fun with cars is not legislated out of existence. This bill will enable us to self-police our sport and verify to you that we are indeed doing our job.

Section 3. -

This is as we presented it and we apologize for being incorrect. We wish to pay an initial one-time fee of $20 and in addition the annual registration fee of $30 each year at renewal time.

Section 4. - No change.

Myself, Ron Bunn and Dave Mock, National Street Rod Association Representative for Alaska, had a meeting with Charles Hosack, Deputy Director, Division of Motor Vehicles, and Ken Simpson, Registrar, Division of Motor Vehicles, in December, 1979, in reference to our proposed legislation, and they were very receptive to our bill under certain conditions. We discussed these conditions with them and wholeheartedly agree, and we thanked them for their time and guidance.

They advised that the description of the design of the plate should not be spelled out in statute; that it is better to have statute allow a special plate for street rods and then leave it to their Division to do what they can with the plate manufacture. We also agreed with them that it would be better not to have regulations written to describe what we needed because our requirements are few; that it would be better to have them in statute.

The legislation as proposed was modeled after An Act to amend Chapter 21, Subchapter VII, Section 2196 of Delaware Title 21 of the State of Delaware. The State of Delaware was the first state to adopt this type of legislation, and since then Wisconsin, Tennessee, Minnesota and Connecticut have also passed similar legislation. Pennsylvania and New Jersey have legislation presently pending.

If you have any questions concerning this legislation or if you wish us to testify, please contact me or Ron Bunn.

(3) PROGRAM EFFECTS OF BILL

Regulations would have to be proposed and adopted, which would reflect how to interpret "subsequently modified" as a determining factor in which vehicles qualify as street rods.

Manufacturer of plates would require special dies due to mandated slogan, color (reverse of new plates), and numbering.

Loss of revenue to State as proposed law waives annual registration fee.

(4) FISCAL IMPACT: ☐ NONE ☒ FISCAL ANALYSIS ATTACHED

(5) AMENDMENTS PROPOSED:

(6) COMMENTS:

This is a request for special plates for a small special interest group. If approved, other special interest groups will rightfully ask for special consideration, and the number of different type plates could get out of hand and could become quite costly.

Oppose one-time fee and waiving all registration fees thereafter. Just because one is modified and one is not, should not be reasoning behind waiving registration fees.

Bill proposes statutory mandate relating to numbering, color, slogan, design, etc. Would prefer that design, color, etc, not be mandated, but fall under AS 28.10.161 (b).

III. ANALYSIS (See Fiscal Note Preparation Instructions, Section III)

*Expenditures would be $3.8 for first year, and approximately $.1 each year thereafter. This would cover special dies to manufacturer plates and slight increase in cost of plate over bulk rate.

Funding: There are 7,103 vehicles presently registered in Alaska which were manufactured prior to 1959. If 50% fell within "subsequently modified" regulations, the loss of revenue to the state is reflected.

Re: SB 140, 384, 387, 430
HB 671

Gentlemen:

Thank you very much for the opportunity to comment on the above listed legislation as noted in your letter of February 28, 1980.

SB 387, 430 - Clarifying the authority of Alaska Housing Finance Corporation are needed. We, therefore, urge adoption of these two bills.

SB 140 - Now amended to CSSB 140, expands the authority of Alaska Housing Finance Corporation into rural areas that should assist the public. We therefore urge adoption of the bill.

SB 384 & HB 671 - Are identical and we believe the following changes would prove beneficial as noted:

Insert "Insured bank, savings and loan association or trust company" for "banks or trust companies."

Reason - This change will clarify and insure that the financial institution will be supervised by a Federal government agency; and insure that all financial real estate lenders have an equal opportunity to participate in the various programs of Alaska Housing Finance Corp.

Add "initial or refinanced" between words "any" and "housing."

Reason - The addition of these two words will clarify and assure that all residents, whether new home buyers or long time home owners, have an equal opportunity to avail themselves of the benefits of the Alaska Housing Finance Corp. loan programs.

We have received many customer complaints over the policies of Alaska Housing Finance Corporation. The practice of discrimination over the use of the public tax dollars, when AHFC will not allow a long time home owner to refinance his home under Alaska Housing Finance program, is the one complaint that is heard most often and is impossible for the Alaska resident to comprehend.

We, therefore, recommend the above two changes and adoption of SB 384 and HB 671 as amended.

Thank you again for the opportunity to comment. We would also appreciate receiving information regarding any public hearing dates on the above or any housing related bills.

Yours truly,

Re: Senate Bill 430 (Alaska State Housing Authority)

Dear Senator Bradley:

This is in response to your request for comments from our department on the above-referenced legislation.

It appears that Senate Bill 430 would have no fiscal impact on the Department of Law. While this department has no position on the substance of this bill, one or two technical matters do come immediately to mind.

First, the title of the bill is, "An Act extending the power...," while the title and text of the amendment to AS 18.55.390 appear to be dealing with limitations on the authority's power. The proposed new language of AS 18.55.390 does appear to broaden somewhat the authority's powers regarding moderate cost and rental housing, and this may explain the use of the word "expanding" in the title of the bill. It is a bit confusing at first glance.

Second, although the existing language of AS 18.55.390 is not particularly precise, the proposed new language will give the authority clear directions as to its powers. Unfortunately I do not know what problems may have led to the need for this proposed amendment, and am thus unable to offer any concrete suggestions for tightening up the language.

Dear Senator Bradley:

I appreciate you forwarding copies of Senate Bills 140, 384, 387 and 430; and House Bill 671 to this Association.

In Senate Bill 384 and House Bill 671, page three, line three, we would suggest adding "which would also include refinanced mortgage loans", between the words "loan" and "including".

At page three, line 16 we suggest adding "federal and state savings and loan association" between the words "bank" and "or". Page four, line 27 we suggest adding "federal and state savings and loan association" between words "banks" and "or". This would insure all financial lenders an opportunity to participate in all AHFC programs.

Senate bills 387, 430 and 140 we have no comment and suggest adoption of these three bills.

SB 430

"An Act extending the power of the Alaska State Housing Authority with respect to moderate cost and rental housing."

Although the title of the bill purports to extend ASHA's power, a close analysis of the language of the bill indicates that it may do exactly the opposite. Also, the impact of the language of the bill might be more broad than was intended.

Specific comments prepared by the Alaska State Housing Authority follow.

Comments on Senate Bill No. 430: "An Act Extending the Power of the Alaska State Housing Authority with Respect to Moderate Cost and Rental Housing"

I. FACTS:

MODERATE COST AND RENTAL HOUSING is addressed in AS 18.55.300-470 inclusive. ASHA's powers and duties with respect to moderate cost and rental housing are set forth in Section 310 of Title 18 Chapter 55:

> Sec. 18.55.310. Powers and duties of authority. The authority shall construct, protect, operate, maintain, rent, and sell at the places in the State which the authority considers most appropriate moderate-cost or rental housing facilities and projects for veterans and other residents of the State. For this purpose the authority may accept funds from any source, including the Federal Government, and may enter appropriate contracts, including contracts with the Federal Government.

The powers set forth under Section 310 above are augmented by those granted ASHA elsewhere in the statutes:

> Sec. 18.55.380. Authority may use powers under other laws. Any powers of the authority under any statute, including but not limited to the powers of eminent domain and issuance of bonds and obligations, may be invoked with respect to a project undertaken or a loan made or to be made under the authorization provided in Sections 300-470 of this chapter.

At present, ASHA's authority as provided in Sections 300-470 is limited by the following provision:

> Sec. 18.55.390. Limitation on authority's power. The power of the authority to act under Sections 300-470 of this chapter is limited to projects where adequate financing on reasonable terms is not otherwise available or entrepreneurial sponsorship is lacking.

Senate Bill No. 430 proposes to repeal Section 390 and re-enact this section to read as follows:

> Sec. 18.55.390. Limitations on Authority's Power. The authority may act under AS 18.55.300-18.55.470 only with respect to a project in an area of the State where financing is not otherwise available, or with respect to a project for which there is no apparent sponsor with experience in the development of moderate cost housing.

II. ISSUE PRESENTED:

Does Senate Bill No. 430 extend the power of ASHA with respect to moderate cost and rental housing?

III. SHORT ANSWER:

No. Although the proposed re-enactment may clarify the term "entrepreneurial sponsorship" in the current provision, the proposed legislation may restrict the development of ASHA moderate cost and rental housing projects to rural areas and prohibit said development in metropolitan areas.

IV. ANALYSIS:

Under Section 18.55.390 as presently enacted, ASHA may develop moderate cost and rental housing at any time and place where "adequate financing on reasonable terms is not otherwise available" or "entrepreneurial sponsorhip is lacking". Therefore, ASHA may develop moderate cost and rental housing where:

(1) Adequate financing on reasonable terms is available but no one else is building;

(2) Private entrepreneurs are building but adequate financing is tight;

(3) Adequate financing is available but not on reasonable terms (with or without entrepreneurial sponsorship).

Therefore under the present statutory provisions, ASHA may develop in bush areas where there is no "entrepreneurial sponsorship"; in bush areas where there is no adequate financing; in bush areas where there is "entrepreneurial sponsorship" and "adequate financing", but not on reasonable terms; and in metropolitan areas where most frequently there will be adequate financing and entrepreneurial sponsorship, but no adequate financing on reasonable terms.

Under the proposed re-enactment, ASHA may be limited to developing moderate cost and rental housing in bush areas such as Bethel where no financing is available. In metropolitan areas financing will be "otherwise available" under the proposed re-enactment, whether or not the terms are reasonable. Furthermore, in metropolitan areas, it is feasible for private sponsors to qualify under certain Federal programs for the development of moderate cost housing. Therefore ASHA may be precluded from offering moderate cost and rental housing in areas where private interests wish to expand in the area of federal subsidy housing.

V. CONCLUSION:

Although Senate Bill No. 430 is an Act entitled "An Act Extending the Power of the Alaska State Housing Authority with Respect to Moderate Cost and Rental Housing", the proposed re-enactment is restrictive by its terms. The particular phraseology of the section, for instance, "an area of the State", "where financing is not otherwise available", "no apparent sponsor with experience", "development of moderate cost housing" without mention of rental housing, lead me to conclude that Senate Bill No. 430 may be an attempt by established metropolitan business concerns to restrain competition from ASHA in the area of moderate cost housing. Bankers and experienced builders appear to be requesting first "dibs" in the development of moderate cost housing, federally subsidized and otherwise. In the more remote areas where the established business concerns are unwilling to adventure themselves, they have given ASHA a free hand.

With respect to rental housing, the proposed re-enactment is all together ambiguous. "Rental housing" is included in the title of Senate Bill 430, but nowhere does "rental housing" appear in the body of the proposed re-enactment.

The proposed re-enactment does not extend the power of ASHA. If the first clause of the existing provision remains unchanged and only the second clause is amended along the lines of the proposed re-enactment, then ASHA's power may be extended inasmuch as ASHA would have the option of developing moderate cost and rental housing in the case where there existed reasonable financing and willing but inexperienced sponsors. With such an amendment, Sec. 18.55.390 would read as follows:

> Limitation on authority's power. The power of the authority to act under Sections 300-470 of this chapter is limited to projects where adequate financing on reasonable terms is not otherwise available or where there is no apparent sponsor with experience in the development of moderate cost and rental housing.

Dear Senator Bradley:

About a year and a half ago the Anchorage School Board met with the Student Advisory Board (2 representatives from each high school) to hear some of the problems and concerns which they wanted to express to us. One comment was, "Why is it necessary to say the Pledge of Allegiance every day - - couldn't we say it once each week or once each month?"

After some discussion regarding the pledge, I felt I should tell them how I feel about it. I explained that I look upon the recitation of the Pledge as an opportunity to express my appreciation for the freedoms we enjoy, the benefits that we have inherited and thankfulness to those who fought to establish this nation. We do not worship the flag, but look upon it with respect and as a symbol of freedom. We should not tire or become bored with expressions of gratitude, but should look upon them as we would our thanks offered at the dinner table. Daily expressions of appreciation and gratitude should be a part of our everyday life.

I hope these thoughts will assist you in promoting your legislation regarding the Pledge of Allegiance.

Keep up the good work.

Dear Mr. Bradley:

In your letter that refers to SB 443, I find this is in agreement with the way I feel.

I feel the pledge of allegiance emphasizes in part what we are trying to teach. We are trying to teach patriotism, loyalties and to teach individuals to be worthy citizens. Yet SB 443, also affords the opportunity to not say the pledge of allegiance for what ever reasons that individual desires.

Therefore, I am in agreement with the bill as it is written.

Thank you for asking my comments.

I am responding to your correspondence of March 4, 1980, related to SB 443.

The sponsors of this bill are certainly to be commended for the intent expressed therein.

However, I believe that the present "opportunity to recite the Pledge of Allegiance at the beginning of each school day" is currently in existence. For example, this is the present practice within the Kenai Peninsula Borough School District.

In short, I believe the intent of this legislation is worthwhile; however, I do not believe it is necessary.

I am in agreement with Senate Bill No. 443. To be honest with you, I thought this was a privilege we were now afforded. We do say the pledge at Baranof School and we do allow those who have other convictions to remain seated. We do not have a rule that mandates such procedures. They are taken for granted as an acceptable means of beginning the school day.

I suggest you strike the word "materially" in line 17 and "substantial" in line 18. I believe these words are open to interpretation, and I am sure someone would eventually go the limits.

Good luck in getting this bill out of the Senate Judiciary Committee and before the full Senate.

* Section 1. AS 14.03 is amended by adding a new section to read:

Sec. 14.03.135. PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE. An opportunity shall be afforded students and teachers in the public schools to recite the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States during the first hour of each day in session during the school term. Students and teachers who for any reason do not wish to participate in the recitation of the pledge of allegiance may keep silent, remain seated, or express their nonparticipation in any other way which does not materially disrupt classwork or involve substantial disorder or invasion of the rights of others.

I support this bill as a guide to participation. We all allow this opportunity in our school now. We as a nation have been losing our patriotism gradually for the past decade or so. This bill would call attention to this patriotic activity.

I am strongly in favor of SB 443 and certainly hope the bill is passed with as much expediency as possible.

My one suggestion for a change in statement is that in line 18 the word substantial be replaced with the word any. In a high school situation a student may interpret the word substantial with various meanings. It is an ambiguous word in this context and will undoubtedly be interpreted in a variety of ways.

Thank you very much for your letter of March 4, 1980.

I feel that students should be allowed to recite the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America. If we cannot make it mandatory, we should at least strongly encourage it. To that end I would make the following changes:

1. lines 13 & 14 — delete the restriction about having to be done only during the first hour of the day. It should be allowed to be done anytime deemed appropriate.

2. lines 16-17 — delete everything past "remain seated". It appears that non-participation should be provided for but keeping silent and remaining seated is enough latitude.

I will pass a copy of your letter and a copy of Senate Bill No. 443 on to all our elementary staff members; some may choose to coment.

Dear Mr. Bradley:

Regarding your letter of March 4, 1980 concerning SB 443, our teachers feel that they currently have the "opportunity" to recite the pledge of allegiance at the beginning of each school day, and in fact, most of them do so. Most of them feel that such a statute would "force" them to recite the pledge. They, therefore, do not feel such a law would be appropriate.

I would add that if they are misinterpreting the proposed legislation, ie., if they currently do not have the right to say the pledge, then they would be in favor of such a statute. We would certainly hate to think we are in violation of state law by leading our students in that patriotic act.

Dear Senator Bradley:

I would like to take this opportunity to respond to Senate Bills 443 and 459 forwarded to me from your office for comment.

SENATE BILL 443

I support the principle and the practice of allowing time at the beginning of the school day for students to Pledge Allegiance to the flag of the United States. This country provides its citizens with measureless benefits and opportunities. To take a few minutes each day for our students to focus on the flag that represents our nation is a good thing.

Specifically addressing the legislation, I would suggest that everything after "recitation" on line 15, be deleted and add following "recitation" on line 15 the phrase, "will not be required to participate." I don't think it is advisable to have them "express their non participation". Excusing them from participation is the intent.

SENATE BILL 459

I support this bill as presented. Our nation was founded on a strong faith in God. How students may personnally interpret that is a matter of their own conscience. To provide the opportunity daily for students to reflect on their basic beliefs and feelings is immeasurably important to them and the society in general.

Thank you for providing me the opportunity to address myself to these two bills.

Dear Senator Bradley:

Thank you very much for sending me a copy of SB443.

It is traditional in the Anchorage Elementary Schools to recite the pledge of allegiance each morning. According to my son, it is an optional exercise in the junior highs, and I don't believe that it is done in the senior high schools. From my son's remarks, which he included in a prize winning essay on the flag (the contest was sponsored by the Anchorage Elks), participation is sporadic and the demeanor of the non-participating students substantially detracts from the meaningfulness of the ceremony.

I am not certain that legislating the pledge will make a more meaningful exercise in citizenship; I fear that it will provide a source of embarrassment for those students who cherish a deep love for the flag and what it stands for.

In reference to Senate Bill No. 443: Line 15.

I have strong feelings regarding any teacher who does not wish to pledge allegiance to our countries flag. A teacher is looked up to by children who have in most cases not yet formed firmly the ideals which they will carry throughout life. A person with this attitude toward our country should not be allowed to teach. In fact, with some research, you will find cases where teachers were dismissed from their jobs due to this feeling.

I am not in favor of the last line of Senate Bill No. 443.

Attention: Senator Brad Bradley, Chairman

Dear Senator Bradley:

Senate Bill No. 443 appears to be permissive legislation that would allow students and teachers an opportunity to recite the pledge of allegiance at the beginning of each school day.

I believe that it is important for the young people of our nation to develop a sense of partriotism and participate in these types of activities. I do not see the need for this type of permissive legislation, however, unless there is some law that would prohibit this.

If there is some type of legal restriction regarding the students and teachers participation in this type of activity, it is my feeling that this piece of legislation, as written, would allow their participation.

Thank you for making me aware of this piece of legislation.

Dear Senator Bradley:

I would like to take the opportunity to comment on SB 443, "An Act affording students and teachers in the public schools an opportunity to recite the pledge of allegiance at the beginning of each school day."

As an elementary principal I oppose SB 443 for the following reasons:

Local Preference It should be left to individual communities to decide through their school boards if they want to require that the opportunity to recite the pledge of allegiance be given to students each day.

Legislating Patriotism Senate Bill 443 no doubt is proposed in the hope it will help young people to feel more pride and love for their country. It is my experience that such obligatory recitations actually become meaningless and at times are resented by students. I encourage teachers to teach students about our country and our curriculum has been developed with special emphasis on learning about our state and country. It is intelligent patriotism that schools should be teaching.

Appropriatness Even with careful teaching, most young elementary students do not understand what they are saying when they recite the pledge of allegiance. Mandatory recitation often makes the exercise less meaningful.

I want students to truly appreciate the freedoms and responsibilities our country has to offer. I want students to have a working knowledge of how our country was found and developed. I want students to understand why they should be proud and thankful they live in the United States of America. I do not want students being forced to participate in an exercise until it has meaning for them and they can relate the pledge to the greatness of our country.

It would be easy to justify passing this legislation because of the new wave of patriotism sweeping our country, but I think common sense should prevail rather than have our senators associate voting for this bill as being a good patriot.

Sincerely,

SENATE BILL NO. 443

IN THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA

ELEVENTH LEGISLATURE - SECOND SESSION

A BILL

For an Act entitled: "An Act affording students and teachers in the public schools an opportunity to recite the pledge of allegiance at the beginning of each school day."

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA:

* Section 1. AS 14.03 is amended by adding a new section to read:

Sec. 14.03.135. PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE. An opportunity shall be afforded students and teachers in the public schools to recite the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States during the first hour of each day in session during the school term. Students and teachers who for any reason do not wish to participate in the recitation of the pledge of allegiance may keep silent, remain seated, or express their nonparticipation in any other way which does not materially disrupt classwork or involve substantial disorder or invasion of the rights of others.

3-12-80

I agree to the importance of teaching patriotism and respect for flag, country and long cherished traditions that promote honor and self respect. I have no qualms concerning the above proposed Senate Bill # 443; however, in order to enhance the duty, if not the privilege of such patriotic "participation, rather than making a ritual" which could, in time, create an aggra-vation, may I suggest that the Pledge be taken weekly, that is the first order of business Monday morn - for at any other appropriate time and place?

Incidentally, I have continued to do this over the years without dissent from my government and history students, particularly, when I take the time to explain why and then invite them to join with me!

Thank you and Good Luck!!

RE: S.B. 443

Dear Mr. Bradley:

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on this piece of legislation as per your letter of March 4, 1980.

This bill would only serve to make a spectacle of a patriotic privilege. In effect, this bill would mandate a specific schedule in schools and not allow schools the right to decide how to observe the flag. Peer pressure on some students would not allow them the opportunity not to participate.

Let the people handle their patriotic participation in the American fashion, not as a dictate. I believe the courts have ruled that this activity cannot be mandated in schools. In actuality, this bill mandates the Pledge of Allegiance in a specific manner.

Therefore, please hold up any action on this bill.

Dear Senator Ziegler:

I am writing this letter to state my support for SB 443, "An Act affording students and teachers in the public schools an opportunity to recite the pledge of allegiance at the beginning of each school day."

One of the things I remember most as a child in elementary school is beginning each day with the pledge of allegiance. True, the first few years I did not fully understand what I was reciting, but I did have a feeling of pride and respect toward the American flag. When I was old enough to understand the words of the pledge, it was a definite asset to already have the pledge memorized, and my respect for the United States of America was intensified.

Fortunately, my two children have developed the same habit of reciting the pledge every morning and I have their teachers to thank for that, but not every child is afforded that opportunity. How sad it is, and what an embarrassment it is to our country when children of eleven, twelve and older do not even know the words to the pledge of allegiance to the country of which they are citizens. Hopefully, the passage of SB 443 will encourage more participation in the daily recitation of the pledge of allegiance.

Since SB 443 makes this opportunity available, and does not make the saying of the pledge obligatory to anyone I give it my whole-hearted support.

Dear Senator Bradley:

In response to your SB 443, I am unaware of any school district in Alaska or elsewhere that doesn't provide by School Board Policy or Regulation instruction of children in The Pledge of Allegiance and care of The American Flag. We in the schools have long been apprised of the rights of children/parents to not participate in this instruction/ceremony for religious and other reasons. All of this is to say that teachers and children have always had the opportunity to recite the pledge (or the right not to) since I started teaching 18 years ago.

I believe in patriotism and the school is the rightful arena to instruct/reinforce this concept. The Pledge however, is probably the least effective tool used to promote patriotism. I have never found a sixth grade child who couldn't recite the pledge. Likewise, I have never found a 6th grader who fully understood the meaning/significance of the pledge or who could define every word in it. In fact, it's the rare eighth grader who can distinguish the difference between a democracy and a republic. I will leave to you to judge the value of reciting daily something that has little, if any, meaning for a child.

While I would say your bill is not needed, should you proceed I suggest making it a general statement void of such particulars as "first hour", "each day", "keep silent", "remain seated", etc.

I appreciated being given the opportunity to respond to your proposed bill.

I appreciate your contacting me in regard to my opinion on SB 443, "An Act affording students and teachers in the public schools an opportunity to recite the pledge of allegiance at the beginning of each school day."

Our Anchorage School Board has afforded this opportunity to every student through established board policy. I feel it is most appropriate to handle this at the local level rather than legislate it by the state. If this is a major problem in Alaska, perhaps it should be more appropriately addressed through the Department of Education or the state school board.

I would not favor this specific state legislation as I believe the responsibility lies with the local school board.

Your legislative proposals, SB 459 and the amendment to SB 443, are of considerable interest to those of us who work in public schools. Thank you for soliciting our comments. However, both proposals are objectionable in that they appear to be restrictive bills designed to legislate such things as patriotism, religion, and morality. They may be appropriate as local policies, which are developed at the school board level and reflect community standards. In fact SB 459 is already ASD policy.

RE: Senate Bill 443

Dear Senator Bradley:

In response to your letter of March 4 received on March 13 concerning subject bill, I am in favor of the intent of your legislation. I think we are in a critical time of our nation and we need to develop a more acute awareness of our heritage and overcome some of the complacency and derision given toward patriotic endeavors.

I do have some reservations, however, on the latter part of line 16 and lines 17, 18 and 19. I am concerned about how students might "express their nonparticipation" in any other way which does not materially disrupt class work or involve substantial disorder or invasion of the rights of others. It would seem to me that a period after seated would be appropriate. It would prevent unnecessary judgements which the teacher of the classroom might make. I offer that suggestion to you realizing that my judgement is probably no better than yours.

I thank you for your concern in this matter.

Dear Senator Bradley:

Since you have asked, I will comment on both SB443 and SB459. I appreciate your interest in our comments and the service you are rendering by making us aware of some of the legislation that could affect us as administrators in the schools. Please be aware that my comments represent only my own personal thinking and not necessarily the school in which I work, the district for which I work, or any association of which I am a member or officer.

SB 443

This bill is very similar to a mandated practice in schools in the Anchorage School District. We have been following this procedure for the past four or five years. I, personally, am highly in favor. One problem we have noted, however, is that by repeating the pledge every day, the effect is often lost. In other words, rote repetition tends to become no more than that without any thinking or appreciation for what is being said or pledged. Our students, over the years since we started this practice, have suggested it would be more effective if we used the Pledge of Allegiance every other day, twice each week, or once each week. Nevertheless, we follow the procedure now, and I feel we are setting an example in forms of patriotism and appreciation for the United States of America by doing so.

SB 459

This one bothers me for several reasons. First, assuming passage of SB 443 (or in our district it's with or without SB 443), we are already starting with the Pledge of Allegiance. This minute of silence adds to the time we are not able to spend in the instructional program. Second, on a regular basis, I believe the moment of silence would be very difficult to enforce. Silence in a school building with 2,500 students and 150 employees is almost impossible, even if everyone is attempting to cooperate. It seems to me that unless there is total silence, the atmosphere we are trying to create is not possible to reach. Third, as a devout and practicing Christian, I believe wholeheartedly in the power of prayer. I resent, however, the state telling me when I should pray. I can appreciate the thought, but I don't need a specified period of silence to pray. I pray regularly, and I know God hears me, but I don't need the state to tell me when to talk to Him.

Fourth, all of us occasionally need a little time to ourselves to reflect, but I do not see that happening because a law says we will do it every morning. When I need to sit back and reflect I need more than a minute and I need to do it when I feel the need, not on a prescribed schedule. Fifth, meditation for the non-meditator does not happen because we say it will. This is also related to enforcement, but I can see a real problem with attempting to discipline a student who snickers or is a little noisy during the silent minute. We have enough problems without attempting to talk to parents or students who see this as just another attempt to promote prayers in school and they want no part of it. I'm willing to spend my time and effort in meetings, due process hearings, or court sessions, if necessary, with those students and parents who have violated the law or the rights of others attempting to get the most they can from our educational process. I am not as willing to spend that kind of time with a student who violates the state mandated right of others to have silence. In other words, I see many either intentionally or unintentionally being disruptive during this moment of silence, and I, as a principal, have no desire to determine whether or not it was intentional or what sort of discipline should be levied.

Sincerely,

Laurence N. Graham

Dear Senator Bradley:

I am writing in reference to SB-443 titled, ...opportunity to recite the Pledge of allegiance...."

While I realize that particular language may be the stumbling block to the successful passage of this bill, may I state that in total, the reciting of this pledge would strengthen our educational curriculum via recognizing the numerous free opportunities we enjoy in America. One might choose to reword the pledge, but I believe this would be difficult if not impossible to successfully facilitate.

Again, I favor passage of this particular bill.

Sincerely,

Dear Senator Bradley;

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on SB 459 and SB 443. I apologize for the delay in answering. The Alaska PTA has never addressed either issue in a formal meeting. Therefore, without doing some research, I could not have given an answer that would include more than my personal belief.

We have just completed a survey of the PTA's in the Fairbanks area. We had a response from 78 parents and teachers. The response for SB 443 was a whopping 100% in favor of passage.

Also, 100% of the people surveyed voted yes for passage of SB 459.

It would indicate to us that both of these bills have a broad base of support in the Fairbanks area.

Again, we thank you for the opportunity to comment. If we can be of any assistance in the future, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Representative Joyce Munson
Alaska State House of Representatives
Pouch V
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Joyce:

Please accept this letter as my comments regarding Senate Bill 509/House Bill ~~934.~~ I will limit my comments in this communication to the effect this proposed legislation, SB509/HB934, has on public broadcasting. In this letter I will provide you with A) My Understanding of the Legislation, and B) Comments, as follows: 1) General, 2) Structure, 3) Insulation, 4) Language/Intent, and 5) Options.

A) MY UNDERSTANDING OF THE LEGISLATION:

In the proposed legislation, the Department of Commerce and Economic Development will expand, becoming the Department of Commerce and Economic Development, and Telecommunications. Article II of the proposed bills sets up two telecommunications divisions administered by a deputy commissioner. This deputy commissioner is appointed by the governor and in turn appoints division directors.

Under this legislation, a Policy Board is to be established; its purpose being to advise the Division of Public Telecommunications Services on the planning and implementation of educational and health-related systems. This new legislation also absorbs the functions of the Alaska Public Broadcasting Commission and repeals its statutory authority.

B) COMMENTS:

1) General: It would appear that an aggregation of various state agencies engaged in telecommunications endeavors would best serve the public through increased efficiency and accountability. There can be no question that a mature telecommunications system in the State of Alaska will do much to enhance the quality of life. What we must bear in mind in seeking to restructure our telecommunications system is to analyze its successes as well as its shortcomings. We must be careful in fashioning any new entity so as not to fall party to "throwing the baby out with the bath water", as it were.

C o n t. . . .

A thorough analysis of each agency, which is sought to be placed in the aggregate, outlining its positive and negative aspects in serving the public, should be prerequisite to this legislation.

2) Structure: This new agency, in my opinion, suffers from a weak management structure with regard to the successful operation of public broadcasting. At present, a nine-member citizen commission, appointed by the Governor, provides the coordination, as well as legal and technical support for public broadcasting stations. This Commission also provides coordination and management functions for the Satellite Television Project. The Commission members serve without pay, and employ an executive director who serves at the pleasure of the Commission. In addition, an engineer, satellite coordinator, administrative assistant, secretary, and satellite technicians work for the Public Broadcasting Commission.

Under SB509/HB934, the Commission's functions would be absorbed by the Department of Public Telecommunications. All policy decisions would be vested in the deputy commissioner of the Department of Commerce and Economic Development and Telecommunications, with advice from the director of the Department of Public Telecommunications.

This type of vertical management structure provides for neither public comment nor participation. Further, a vertical matrix, such as the one proposed in SB509/HB934, does not provide for the continuity necessary for the efficient functioning of a public broadcasting system. It would seem that, since the Governor appoints the commissioner, who in turn appoints the deputy commissioner, who in turn appoints directors, when the gubernatorial change occurs, a "domino" effect would be felt throughout the agency. It is important for the health of the public broadcasting system to provide for stability and continuity.

SB509/HB934 also provides for a public telecommunications Advisory Board, Section 44.33.511, Paragraph (a). This Board has neither authority nor purpose. It seems to be, at best, a cosmetic trapping of the proposed legislation. Boards, such as the one proposed, without a real policy function or the ability to act upon public input, should be eliminated.

3) Insulation: The proposed management structure for Public Broadcasting, under SB509/HB934, strips away the insulation afforded to public stations by the Commission. It has been recognized on a national level, as well as for the past ten years, here, in Alaska, that public broadcasting must be free from political influence. This is accomplished, in Alaska, by having each station hold its own license and providing state funding for those stations through the Public Broadcasting

C o n t. . . .

Commission.

Under the proposed legislation, the deputy commissioner of the Department of Commerce, Economic Development and Telecommunications could directly affect the climate at a public broadcasting facility. It is important that public stations keep the kind of insulation provided them presently under the aegis of the Alaska Public Broadcasting Commission.

4) Language; The powers of the Department of Public Telecommunications are quite broad. This Department would be responsible for the coordination and support of all public broadcasting functions in the State, including, but not limited to financing and engineering. (See Section 44.33.509(b)(2)).

By providing such broad powers to this agency, which is vertically controlled, the State of Alaska walks dangerously close to the line of usurping licensee prerogative as mandated in the Communications Act of 1934. A clarification of this paragraph is absolutely essential so as not to get the State of Alaska embroiled in censoring public broadcasting's programming and, more importantly, in contravening federal law.

The Department of Public Telecommunications also is to provide technical assistance and direction in the development and production of all educational and public telecommunications materials, without taking responsibility for the content of such programming. (Section 44.33.509(b)(1)). The language in the paragraph raises a number of questions:

1) Is it the intent of the State of Alaska to go into the television and radio production business?

2) How is it possible for the State of Alaska to relinquish responsibility for the content of programming for which it provides assistance, direction, development and production?

3) Given the broad authority of this new agency, will the Department of Public Telecommunications seek to mandate the play of programming that it produces by public radio and television stations?

4) Given the language in Paragraphs 1 and 2, is it the intent of the legislature to seek state ownership of public broadcasting facilities?

C o n t. . . .

5) Options: It would seem that the Public Broadcasting Commission could be easily moved under any new department seeking to aggregate the functions of telecommunications in the State of Alaska.

Since the legislation and administration of the Commission are already in place and in operation, a legislative amendment to the Enabling Act of the Commission could easily be effected, moving it under the proposed Department of Commerce, Economic Development and Telecommunications. A move of this type would insure the integrity of Public Broadcasting, as well as foster a more efficient and innovative approach to telecommunications issues facing us.

Another option, which might be considered, would be to fashion a new agency with the same goals and intent articulated in SB509/HB934 as a commission or a department with a publicly appointed board.

I hope this letter has succeeded in providing you with my comments and thoughts on SB509/HB934. I have offered them in a positive and constructive light. Please call upon me if I may provide you with additional information regarding this letter. I look forward to working with you during this most exciting time for telecommunications in Alaska.

Dear Senator Bradley:

We have reviewed Senate Bill 489 and reached the conclusion that the new division would simply expand on the role now assigned to the Division of Policy Development and Planning and therefore not materially affect the operations within the Department of Transportation & Public Facilities. Therefore, our position on this bill is one of neutrality.

Dear Senator Bradley:

In reference to Senate Bill 489, the Department of Education supports the consolidation of telecommunications services provided by state government, since the improved efficiency of technical assistance, system development, and support service to telecommunications users would enhance the Department's ability to effectively implement telecommunications technology for the state's schools.

In any reorganization of telecommunications services, however, system planning and development of systems exclusively serving schools, as well as the development of courseware or program content, must ultimately be the responsibility of and accountable to the policies of the State Board of Education, on behalf of all public schools in the state.

In our opinion, no fiscal note is required save that which would be necessary for the internal operations of the proposed agency.

Dear Senator Bradley:

In reference to your letter regarding Senate Bill 489, let me assure you we are supportive to efforts that improve overall telecommunications within the State.

As you are aware communications are generally taxed to their limits during emergencies; therefore this office is vitally interested in any improvement in this field. This office has long been an advocate of centralizing telecommunication functions into a single responsive agency. We believe that improved services and many economies in State agencies expenditures could be realized by approaching telecommunications requirements on a total system approach rather than piecemeal by individual departments as it has been in the past.

We also fully realize that this proposed Agency will go beyond purely State office requirements and will fulfill study needs concerning advances in public and international telecommunications as well.

In this regard, we see a need for an agency to act as a clearing house for such things as advances in technology, eg., emergency 911 functions for the local telephone communities. Going beyond this, micro computer technology is opening a whole range of telecommunications advances coupled with the telephone. In the future, computer driven emergency messages could automatically alert fire, ambulance and police to emergencies in progress. Electronic mailing, voting, and polling is also possible in the future, thereby better serving the public and private telecommunications needs.

In summary, this Division feels that advances in telecommunications is expanding at an exponential rate and there is a definite need for a Communications Service Agency to advise the Governor on comprehensive State planning for telecommunications. Fiscal requirements should logically be addressed after definite scope and magnitude of the endeavor is defined.

Sincerely,

Edward S.E. Newbury

POSITION PAPER/Department of Health & Social Services

POSITION PAPER

SENATE BILL NO. 489

An Act establishing a communications service agency."

Senate Bill No. 489 would establish in the Office of the Governor a communications service agency to plan and coordinate a statewide program of telecommunications and provide technical assistance to the Governor, the Legislature, state agencies and local agencies in the field of telecommunications.

The Department of Health & Social Services endorses the concept of this bill. It appears likely that telecommunications will play an increasingly important role in the State, and coordination of the planning and implementation of the development of such a system will be required.

Within this Department, the Emergency Medical Services Section is already deeply involved in the development and use of telecommunications networks, and coordinates its activities with those of the Department of Transportation and Public Facilities and the Department of Public Safety. We foresee a greatly expanded role for telecommunications in public information and education programs conducted by several of the divisions within this Department.

A central planning and coordinating agency in State government would be a distinct advantage to this Department. It may be appropriate, though, to investigate placement in a line agency rather than in the Office of the Governor.

Telecommunications Needs as Identified by the Alaska Department of Health & Social Services

Emergency Medical Services

The emergency medical services program has three or four primary concerns with respect to telecommunications. In cities and towns there should be a single access telephone number (such as 911) for all emergency services. Most major towns and cities in Alaska, except Juneau, already have "911" systems in operation.

The second major concern is for adequate ambulance to hospital communications. This is extremely important since many ambulance personnel are now trained in advanced procedures, including starting IV's, which require physician consultation and approval. Many major highways in Alaska still lack the necessary microwave or VHF repeater links to enable ambulances in remote rural areas to communicate with hospital personnel.

Another consideration for the highway system is to make sure that there are adequate numbers of trained CB monitors, such as members of the REACT organization, so people without access to a telephone can call for emergency assistance on their CB radios.

A final major concern is for reliable village health clinic to hospital and hospital to hospital communications throughout the state. Community health aides in villages and mid-level practitioners rely upon village clinic to hospital communications for daily doctor's calls and to arrange medevacs or other assistance during medical emergencies.

At present, 57 villages rely upon small earth satellite stations for clinic to hospital communications. Due to the high cost of these dedicated links (approximately $1200 per month) the U.S. Public Health Service is unable to afford to implement this system in other villages. Furthermore, the reliability of many of these small earth satellite stations has been very poor, with many of them being out of order for several days or more at a time.

Over 100 other village health clinics rely upon HF single band radios, which have poor propagation in high latitudes and consequently are often not reliable either.

If the satellite system could be improved and expanded, it could have other potential uses besides reliable point to point voice communications. With one or two way visual and two way audio transmission capabilities, continuing education programs could be transmitted to remote hospitals throughout the state.

With expansion of television reception in villages, health education programs could be aired to rural and bush residents.

Office of Alcoholism and Drug Abuse

The Office of Alcoholism and Drug Abuse sees a need for an automated management information system with terminals at each treatment facility and at the main office in Juneau. These treatment facilities are located in Fairbanks, Kotzebue, Nome, Unalaska, Bethel, Dillingham, McGrath, Tok, Seward, Kenai, Yakutat, Juneau, Sitka, Ketchikan, Palmer, Hoonah, Petersburg and Wrangell.

They also would like to have video reception capabilities at each site with satellite based transmitting from Anchorage for training of local program staff.

Office of Aging

The Office of Aging would like to see a statewide toll free hot line established for a centralized information & referral system, which would be properly staffed with adequately trained personnel.

Division of Public Assistance

The Division of Public Assistance reports that it needs direct computer terminal lines to each of its 19 district offices, with a 5 second turn around time. At present, it has terminals in Anchorage, Juneau, Ketchikan and Fairbanks. All except the Fairbanks terminal are presently in good working order.

The other district offices are currently located in Petersburg, Sitka, Valdez, Kodiak, Palmer, Kenai, Dillingham, Bethel, Aniak, Mountain Village, Unalakleet, Galena, Nome, Kotzebue, and Fort Yukon. In the future, offices may be opened in Barrow, Wasilla, Wrangell, Seward, Tok, and the Aleutians.

Public Assistance also needs the capacity to transmit checks and other documents to district offices.

Division of Mental Health & Development Disabilities

The Division of Mental Health & Development Disabilities would like to have one way video and two way audio transmitting and receiving capabilities at Alaska Psychiatric Institute in Anchorage and at Harborview Developmental Center in Valdez. This would be useful for conducting continuing education programs for staff.

Other potential Department of Health & Social Services uses of Telecommunications

Satellite TV through its capability to reach rural and urban communities statewide, can play a vital role in providing a vehicle for the dissemination of educational and public information in both health and social service topics.

If transmission costs are reasonable, one-way video could be used by various Health & Social Services divisions and/or special offices as part of their activities to deliver educational packages for training or public information and to provide statewide public exposure to health & social service issues being discussed by a group in one location. It may also provide an opportunity for more regional unification of state programs and committees.

Additional telecommunications subsystems which could offer the Department Divisions an opportunity for improving its delivery of services include:

--Centralization of client records with instant access.
--Education of specific consumers and field based providers, i.e. food stamp and public assistance field offices.
--Conferencing - state task force committees meeting on a specific issue.

Subsystems most likely to be used for the above are two-way radio telecopies, computer systems, teleconferencing and video conferencing. Ultimate usage of any of these subsystems could lead to the saving in both time and money by reducing travel.

Expanding the teleconferencing network to more sites would enhance its usability and practicality greatly.

For the most part, the needs outlined here have not been addressed in the State FY 1981 Budget.

I am writing because the above bill is discrimatory to people desiring to obtain a Real Estate Broker or Real Estate Salesman License who live in rural areas.

Presently the real estate courses are given in Anchorage and Fairbanks and a three day stay-over in either of these cities is very restrictive to us in Southeastern or any of the people living in other communities.

However, I am in favor of the educational requirements but would stress that they be offered in all communities either through correspondence courses or through the local community colleges. This should be addressed in the above numbered bill.

Re: Senate Bill 518 (Real Estate Commission)

Dear Senator Bradley:

This is in response to your request for comments on Senate Bill 518.

The Department of Law has no position on the substance of this bill. As a technical matter, however, I would like to suggest that it is not entirely clear what the "educational requirements" are that are referred to at page 1, line 23; page 2, lines 17 and 18, and page 3, lines 6 and 7. There are at present no statutorily mandated educational requirements for real estate brokers, assistant brokers, or salespersons. The proposed amendment to AS 08.88.091 in section 1 of the bill requires the commission to establish clinics, meetings, courses, and so forth, but neither the amendment nor any existing provisions of AS 08.88 appears to authorize the commission to require persons seeking licenses to attend them.

I am not aware of what problems may have prompted the need for this bill, so perhaps I am missing something.

The bill would have no fiscal impact on this department.

(6) COMMENTS:
In our opinion the task force study and report(s), comprehensively and properly conducted and executed, is vital to a long needed analysis and improvement of the state's fire protection system. Without an approach of this type meaningful improvement of the state's fire environment is not favorable and our delivery system cost effectiveness is highly suspect.

Among the objectives of the task force would be the identification and defining of the present roles and relationships of the various agencies in the state which are involved in fire protection activities at the local, regional, state and federal levels. There is considerable overlap and duplication of effort without any viable means of coordination.

In addition to the Department of Public Safety, numerous state agencies, e.g. Department of Natural Resources, Department of Transportation and Public Facilities, Department of Health & Social Services, Department of Administration, Department of Labor, Department of Education amongst others, are involved in varying levels of fire protection programs

A state focused fire prevention and control master plan is needed and indicated. The task force could and should be the catalyst for this direly needed effort if this legislation is passed.

MEMORANDUM May 13, 1980

SUBJECT: Analysis of legal problems connected with Senate Bill 554 (Work Order Number 8552)

TO: Senator Bill Sumner
Chairman, Senate Resources Committee

FROM: Tamara Brandt Cook TBC
Legislative Counsel

You have asked me to research legal problems which may be involved with Senate Bill 554, "An Act authorizing the commissioner of the Department of Natural Resources to lease state land for industrial development." This bill presents several separate legal issues.

Section 38.05.072(b)(2) requires that a lessee of government land under this act shall agree that at least 75 percent of the persons employed by the lessee shall be state residents. The United States Supreme Court has held that a resident of one state is entitled to travel to another state for purposes of employment free from discriminatory restrictions in favor of state residents. Ward v. Maryland, 20 L.Ed. 449 (1871). More recently, it has held that unless there is a substantial reason for the discrimination, disparity of treatment between residents and nonresidents is precluded by the Privileges and Immunities Clause. A "substantial reason" for discrimination does not exist unless nonresidents constitute a peculiar source of evil and a "reasonable relationship" must exist between the danger posed by nonresidents and the discrimination practiced against them. Toomer v. Witsell, 334 U. S. 385, 192 L.Ed. 1460, 68 S. Ct. 1156 (1948).

In applying this criteria, the Supreme Court overturned the Alaska Hire statute, which provided that residents be given preference over nonresidents for employment in the state oil and gas industry. The purpose of the Alaska Hire statute was to relieve the uniquely high unemployment rate of the state, but the Court found that nonresidents were not a source of this evil since the record indicated that unemployment was a particular problem of unskilled Alaskans and Alaskans in remote areas, so that the high unemployment rate was not principally due to the influx of nonresidents seeking employment. Furthermore, the Court held that the statute was not reasonably related to the evil sought to be corrected because the preference was granted to all Alaskans regardless of their employment status instead of to only unemployed Alaskans. Hicklin v. Orbeck, 437 U. S. 518, 57 L.Ed.2d 397, 98 S. Ct. 9482 (1978). Arguably, the purpose of this act is to attract new industry to the state in order to stimulate the economy in general, rather than principally to provide jobs. However, even under such a broad interpretation of the purpose, there is little doubt that the section requiring the employment of a percentage of state residents comes squarely under the reasoning enunciated in Hicklin v. Orbeck, supra. It violates the Privileges and Immunities Clause of Article IV, section 2 of the U.S. Constitution and may also run afoul of the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment; and, if a lessee were an industry which was involved in interstate commerce, the provision could run afoul of the Commerce Clause as well.

The lease of state land for industrial development under terms which would presumably be very attractive and, therefore, favorable to a lessee could run into trouble under Article IX, section 6 of the Alaska Constitution which provides:

> No tax shall be levied, or appropriation of public money made, or public property transferred, nor shall the public credit be used, except for a public purpose. (Emphasis added).

While this act only provides for leases of state land, a lease certainly is a transfer of property rights and would be scrutinized under this section. Section 38.05.072(b) provides that a lessee may be charged no rent or real property taxes, clearly a potential transfer of public property also. While this act could be subject to attack, I feel that it would probably survive a challenge based upon this provision of the constitution. "Public purpose" is a term of great imprecision (DeArmond v. Alaska State Development Corporation, 376 P2d 717 (Alaska 1962)), and the legislature has broad discretion to choose the means to affect a public purpose, which the courts will not interfere with unless the means chosen are arbitrary and without any reasonable basis in fact. Suber v. Alaska State Bond Committee, 414 P.2d 546 (Alaska 1966). It has been held that legislation directed towards improving the economic climate of the state serves a legitimate purpose (Walker v. Alaska State Mortgage Association, 416 P.2d 245, (1966)) and that efforts to attract local industry also serve a public purpose (Wright v. City of Palmer, 468 P.2d 326 (Alaska 1970)). The purposes behind this act, to attract industry and to stimulate the economy, are similar and would likely be upheld as public purposes.

Lastly, there seems to be a potential constitutional "separation of powers" problem inherent in this act. Just as one branch of government may not infringe upon the power of another branch of government, there are limits imposed upon the extent to which one branch of government may delegate its power to another branch of government. The rule is that so long as a policy is laid down and a standard for the exercise of the power is established by statute, no unconstitutional delegation of legislative power is involved in leaving to selected governmental instrumentalities the making of rules and the determination of facts to which the policy is to apply. Schechter v. United States, 55 S. Ct. 37, 97 A. L. R. 947 (1935). The power to tax is essentially a legislative function and the legislature is authorized to grant tax exemptions. City of Nome v. Block No. H, Lots 5, 6 & 7, 502 P.2d 124 (Alaska 1972). AS 38.05.072(b) provides that the commissioner, evidently at his sole discretion, may agree that no real property taxes will be assessed against a lessee. Since the act contains no standards for the exercise of the power to exempt from taxation, it can be argued that this provision is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power. Although there are no Alaska cases directly on point, the separation of powers doctrine is recognized in Alaska (Bradner v. Hammond, 553 P.2d 1 (Alaska 1976)), and other states have recognized limits on the delegation of state legislative power under the "separation of powers" doctrine. Cities Service Gas Company v. Witt, 500 P.2d 288 (Okla. 1972); Citizens v. Smith, 396 P.2d 677 (Nev. 1964); Spokane County v. Valu-Mart, Inc., 419 P.2d 993 (Wash. 1966). Article II, section 1 of the Alaska Constitution provides that the legislative power is vested in the legislature, so it appears under the Schechter rule that the legislature would have to set standards before it could delegate the power to grant a tax exemption to the executive branch of government. This act does not comply with that requirement.

(3) alternatives to regulation considered, including possible statutory changes;

(4) recommendations, including details of any proposed system of regulation.

Sec. 08.03.070. RECOMMENDATIONS. (a) Before the department may recommend that an occupation be regulated under this title, it must determine that

(1) the unregulated practice of the occupation can harm or endanger the public health, safety and welfare and that the potential for harm is not remote;

Alaska State Legislature

Mr. Speaker:
Mr. President:

During the research of the Free Conference Committee into the hearings, audits, and history of the health and health related boards and from discussions with representatives of the administration, board members and legislators, it became increasingly clear to the Committee that additional screening processes might insure that professions which sought regulation were, indeed, needing of regulation through establishment of boards, licensing, and practice acts. It was felt by the Committee that screening of professions and development of substantive answers to a wide variety of questions about professions seeking regulation was advisable and would best be handled through the executive branch of government for action by the legislature.

Therefore, the Free Conference Committee had legislation drafted which establishes such a systematic review of professions seeking regulation. The Committee wishes to make clear that in signing this letter there is no endorsement or approval of this particular bill, as there have been no hearings on this bill. Rather, the Committee feels strongly that the concept needs to be available to the public and circulated, and the public should have an opportunity to respond to legislators regarding this concept between now and the next legislative session.

The Free Conference Committee requests that the Rules Committees of the House and of the Senate introduce this legislation so that it may be publically available for discussion, hearing and eventual action.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Richard A. Bradley

Legislative Affairs Agency

FROM: Rep. Fred Brown

Thank you for your memo of February 26, regarding this strange requirement of a "professional geologist."

Apparently because of the federal requirements involving certain coal mining and reclamation activities, the states may (is this your conclusion?) be required to have some method of designating "professional geologists."

In this age of Sunset, obviously, I am not interested in creating a brand new board with wide-ranging activities. While you are drafting a bill, please come up with the absolute bare minimum action required by the State in defining a professional geologist that you believe would meet the federal requirement.

Thank you very much for your attention to this matter.

SUBJECT: Professional Geologists
(Work Order Number 7353)

TO: Representative Fred E. Brown

FROM: Richard A. Bradley
Legislative Counsel

I have your memorandum of February 12, 1980, which I received February 21st.

On receipt of your memorandum, I read Public Law 95 - 87 again and finally discovered the phrase "professional geologist." It appears at 91 Stat. 476, in sec. 507(b)(14) of the bill. In context, the language requires that applications for "surface coal mining and reclamation permits" meet a number of requirements. Among the requirements, at paragraph (b)(14), the applicant is required to provide

> "cross section maps or plans of the land to be affected including actual area to be mined, prepared by or under the direction of and certified by a qualified registered professional engineer, or professional geologist with assistance from experts in related fields such as land surveying and landscape architecture. . . ." (Emphasis added.)

The phrase is not defined in P.L. 95 - 87 and, by implication, the states are free to provide a definition.

Based on the information in the AIPG newsletter, I located the Indiana law that was said to be enacted responsive to P.L. 95 - 87. See Indiana Statutes 25-17.5-1-1 - 25-17.5-1-9, attached. That law gives the certification responsibility to the Department of Natural Resources. While I assume that in Indiana, as in Alaska, that department may more likely have geologists on its staff, there is no need to give DNR professional certification responsibility. I suggest that Commerce receive the responsibility.

Note also that no testing is involved in the Indiana process. Rather, the department examines credentials and if the standards established in the law are met, the individual is issued a certificate which describes him as a "professional geologist" and permits the individual to describe himself as such.

There appears to be no present law in Alaska regarding the professional certification of geologists. The term is used in a number of areas of the code [AS 27.07.040, AS 31.05.-009, AS 38.05.181, and AS 41.08] but is apparently undefined otherwise.

If I understand your request, you want a bill prepared which is similar to the Indiana law. I will undertake to prepare such a bill with the responsibility given to DCED as suggested above, unless I hear from you to the contrary.

Hon. W.E. Bradley, Chairman, Senate Commerce Committee
Hon. Bill Sumner, Chairman, Senate Resources Committee
Hon. John Sackett, Chairman, Senate Finance Committee

Dear Senators:

We believe SB 587 discriminates against those working geologists who are not members of the American Institute of Professional Geologists (A.I.P.G) by requiring three years of experience to be under the supervision of a professional geologist, as narrowly defined in the bill. At the effective date of this bill, only those geologists certified by A.I.P.G. will be recognized as professional geologists under SB 587. This will require someone who is not a member of A.I.P.G. to have worked under the supervision of an A.I.P.G. member for three years to qualify on that date for certification by the Commissioner of Commerce and Economic Development.

We suggest the following changes which will allow someone who has sufficient experience to qualify for certification.

Sec. 08.53.020(a)(2) have seven years of experience in geological work. [, three of which were under the supervision of a professional geologist.]

Sec. 08.53.020(d) (new subsection) Three years after the effective date of this act, three years of the experience required in (a)(2) of this section must be under the supervision of a professional geologist.

Sec. 08.53.020 (e) (old subsection d).

We believe that with these changes geologists with many years of experience will be fully qualified to be certified directly by the Commissioner of Commerce and Economic Development, without having to join the A.I.P.G. Further, these changes will enable some geologists who are supervisors of other geologists to be recognized as professional geologists. This would expand the base of geologists who will eventually qualify for certification by the Commissioner.

Yours very truly,

Harry W. Kugler
