Re: Exemption of the Alaska General Stock Ownership
Corporation from the Investment Company Act of

Dear Dale:

I enclose a memorandum to the Budget and Audit Committee recommending several specific changes in the Alaska GSOC enabling legislation which have suggested themselves in the course of our consultations with the Staff of the SEC. We believe that representations to the Staff that these changes will be made would be most helpful in securing Staff support before the Commission for our request for a total exemption from the Investment Company Act for the first five years.

Also enclosed is a draft letter concerning these changes as well as a discussion of Alaska's law on conflict of interest which has been requested by the Staff. We ask you to clear these statutory changes and the draft letter in principle with the Committee. We will then forward the letter to the SEC Staff and ask that they recommend to the Commission that the requested exemption be granted if the Alaska legislation is amended along these lines. When and if we receive informal assurances, we will suggest that you proceed with the revisions.

The Staff has also requested more information as to the nature of the investments which are planned for the AGSOC. We have told them that we do not believe portfolio securities will be among the investments to be made, but rather that the AGSOC will seek to become a joint venturer with other large enterprises in the development of various natural resources. We have been specifically asked whether it is contemplated that the AGSOC will own in excess of 25 percent of each entity in which it invests. Please clear with the Committee a representation whether ownership of this magnitude is or is not contemplated. Any additional information you could provide as to contemplated investments would be most helpful.

Your prompt response on these matters is appreciated. On the whole we have been encouraged by the Staff's receptivity to the GSOC concept.

On the IRS front, we understand that IRS, at the urging of a representative of the Treasury, will reconsider its initial unwillingness to rule. We will of course keep you posted.

Sincerely,

MEMORANDUM FOR THE ALASKA
LEGISLATIVE BUDGET AND AUDIT COMMITTEE

Re: Exemption of the Alaska General Stock Ownership
1940.

We have submitted to the staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") our memorandum of December 5, 1979, and discussed the submission with the staff on several occasions. As a result of our discussions, we believe certain steps are necessary and appropriate to secure total exemption for five years for the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation ("AGSOC") from operation of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("ICA"). We have been given informal assurances that if the Division of Investment Management (the section of the SEC which regulates registered investment companies) will recommend granting the AGSOC total exemption for five years from operation of the ICA, SEC personnel will also recommend approval of our application for partial and temporary exemptions from operation of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934.

We suggest that certain specific changes set forth below be made to the enabling legislation before its passage in its current form to maximize our chances of persuading the Division of Investment Management that the AGSOC should be exempt from operation of the ICA. All of these suggested changes have been prompted by specific comments of the staff. The alternative will be at best a partial exemption and some measure of SEC regulation of the AGSOC.

a) Conflict of Interest

The SEC's primary concern is whether granting an exemption from operation of those provisions of the ICA which outlaw certain transactions which could involve conflicts of interest or self-dealing will result in a failure to protect AGSOC shareholders.

Section 17 of the ICA makes unlawful (absent an exemption by Commission order) certain transactions between an investment company and "affiliated persons," broadly defined.^{*/} Under section 17(a) it is unlawful for an

^{*/} The term is defined in section 2(a)(3) of the ICA:

"'Affiliated person' of another person means

"(A) any person directly or indirectly owning, controlling, or holding with power to vote, 5 per centum or more of the outstanding voting securities of such other person;

"(B) any person 5 per centum or more of whose outstanding voting securities are directly or indirectly owned, controlled, or held with power to vote, by such other person;

"affiliated" person to sell or buy property or most securities to or from the investment company or to enter into joint ventures with or borrow money from the company.^{*/}

"(C) any person directly or indirectly controlling, controlled by, or under common control with, such other person;

"(D) any officer, director, partner, copartner, or employee of such other person;

"(E) if such other person is an investment company, any investment advisor thereof or any member of an advisory board thereof; and

"(F) if such other person is an unincorporated investment company not having a board of directors, the depositor thereof."

^{*/} Section 17(a) makes it unlawful for an "affiliated" person:

"(1) knowingly to sell any security or other property to such registered company or to any company controlled by such registered company, unless such sale involves solely

"(A) securities of which the buyer is the issuer,

"(B) securities of which the seller is the issuer and which are part of a general offering to the holders of a class of its securities, or

"(C) securities deposited with the trustee of a unit investment trust or periodic payment plan by the depositor thereof;

"(2) knowingly to purchase from such registered company, or from any company controlled by such registered company, any security or any other property (except securities of which the seller is the issuer); or

The SEC staff has pointed out that various sections of the proposed AGSOC enabling legislation^{*/} could give rise to the kind of transactions which would be prohibited under section 17. For example, the Act (§§ 10.50.015(4), (5) and (7)) permits the AGSOC to buy and sell property and securities; the ICA, if applicable, would prohibit it from engaging in such a transaction with, for example, a person who is a director of the GSOC (or with a company on whose board their director also sits). The ICA might also prohibit the AGSOC from becoming a joint venturer with such a company, as contemplated in Act § 10.50.015(17), in certain circumstances.^{/} Similarly, the Act § 10.50.015(6) permits

"(3) to borrow money or other property from such registered company or from any company controlled by such registered company (unless the borrower is controlled by the lender)"

*/ References to "Act §" refer to section 1 of CSSS Senate Bill No. 170, introduced as amended April 27, 1979.

/ Section 17(d) makes it "unlawful for any affiliated person of . . . a registered investment company . . . or any affiliated person of such a person . . . acting as principal to effect any transaction in which such registered company, or a company controlled by such registered company, is a joint or a joint and several participant with such person . . . for the purpose of limiting or preventing participation by such registered or controlled company on a basis different from or less advantageous than that of such other participant."

the AGSOC to lend money to its employees; since the ICA defines employees as "affiliated persons," such a loan would constitute a violation.

One option -- an option invited by the staff -- is to argue to the Commission why existing Alaska law on conflicts of interest adequately protects the public and why therefore there is no need for section 17 of the ICA to apply to AGSOC. Attached hereto as Attachment A is a draft of a letter we propose to send to the staff for its informal reaction. If we are not successful with this approach, it may be necessary to formulate certain modifications of the enabling legislation to include explicit prohibitions of transactions with persons who may have a conflict of interest.

b) Indemnification

The staff also commented on the scope of the AGSOC's power to indemnify provided by section 10.50.020 of the enabling legislation. The staff has indicated that these standards are acceptable to them as consistent with section 17(h) of the ICA, with the exception of the open-ended power granted in Act § 10.50.020(f), which widens the scope of possible indemnity to allow any corporate choice. Although we realize that the provision was based on the American Bar Foundation's Model Business Corporation Act, it goes further than the ICA. We suggest strongly that Act § 10.50.020(f) be deleted from the legislation.

c) Miscellaneous

Below we discuss a series of miscellaneous changes to the legislation which have been suggested by our conversations with the staff. We request that you clear each of these changes in principle so that we may represent to the staff that they will be implemented if our exemption request is granted.

(i) Stock Options

The AGSOC is given the power to establish pension plans and other incentive plans for its directors, officers and employees. Act § 10.50.015(15). The staff has pointed out that section 18(d) of the ICA prohibits an investment company from granting stock options to its employees. We recommend that stock options be specifically excepted from Act § 10.50.015(15). The new section would read:

"(15) pay pensions and establish pension plans, pension trusts, profit-sharing plans, and other incentive plans for its directors, officers and employees, except that such pensions or plans shall not include the issuance of stock options;"

(ii) Later Issues

Under Act § 10.50.080, the AGSOC shareholders are permitted to set the price of shares to be sold in later issuances. The staff has pointed out that section 23(b) of the ICA requires that shares not be sold at an amount below the current net asset value of each share without the consent of a majority of the investment company's shareholders. Under Act § 10.50.150, one third of the AGSOC shareholders constitutes a quorum and, thus, one vote more than one sixth could set the price at less than net asset value. We recommend that you tighten the restriction in the AGSOC legislation to match the ICA. The second sentence of section 10.50.080 would be amended to read:

"The decision to issue shares without consideration or for consideration if that consideration is less than the current net asset value of such shares shall be made by the vote of a majority of the shareholders."

(iii) Payment Other Than Cash

The staff has also noted that Act § 10.50.085 allows payments for shares to be by transfer of property other than cash or in exchange for services. The ICA does not allow payment other than in cash (section 23(a)). We suggest conformance to the ICA in this minor matter. The first sentence of Act § 10.50.085 would be amended to read:

"Consideration for the issuance of shares if required shall be paid in cash."

(iv) Interested Directors

Section 10(a) of the ICA provides that no investment company may have more than 60 percent of its Board of Directors be "interested persons". The ICA's definition of "interested" persons includes all affiliated persons and many others.^{*/} There is currently no similar restriction on who may serve on the Board of Directors of the AGSOC. In lieu of incorporating some sort of restriction along the lines of the ICA into the AGSOC legislation, we suggest that a provision along the lines of section 41 of the Model Business Corporation Act be added to the legislation. That section provides:

DIRECTOR CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

No contract or other transaction between a corporation and one or more of its directors or any other corporation, firm, association or entity in which one or more of its directors are ^{*/} "Interested person", as defined in section 2(a)(19) of the ICA, includes (unless exempted by Commission order) members of the immediate family of affiliated persons, affiliates or other interested persons of the company's investment adviser, legal counsel for the company or any partner or employee of such counsel, and any registered broker or dealer or an affiliate of such a broker or dealer.

directors or officers or are financially interested, shall be either void or voidable because of such relationship or interest or because such director or directors are present at the meeting of the board of directors or a committee thereof which authorizes, approves or ratifies such contract or transaction or because his or their votes are counted for such purpose, if:

(a) the fact of such relationship or interest is disclosed or known to the board of directors or committee which authorizes, approves or ratifies the contract or transaction by a vote or consent sufficient for the purpose without counting the votes or consents of such interested directors; or

(b) the fact of such relationship or interest is disclosed or known to the shareholders entitled to vote and they authorize, approve or ratify such contract or transaction by vote or written consent; or

(c) the contract or transaction is fair and reasonable to the corporation.

Common or interested directors may be counted in determining the presence of a quorum at a meeting of the board of directors or a committee thereof which authorizes, approves or ratifies such contract or transaction.

We suggest the new provision follow Act § 10.50.200. This new provision will also strengthen our position with the SEC concerning the need for application of section 17 of the ICA to the AGSOC. See Attachment A.

(v) Replacing Directors

The ICA requires (section 16) that when a vacancy occurs in the Board of Directors of an investment company it may be filled only if after it is filled, two thirds of the Board has been elected by the shareholders. No such restriction exists in Act § 10.50.195, and we recommend adding such a provision. The first sentence of § 10.50.195 would then read:

"A vacancy occurring in the board of directors may be fulfilled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors if immediately after filling any such vacancy at least two thirds of the directors then holding office shall have been elected by the shareholders at a shareholders' meeting."

(vi) Disqualification

The ICA places certain restrictions on who may serve as an officer, director, or employee of an investment company, forbidding (unless an exception is granted) persons convicted within 10 years of a securities related crime or subject to an injunction arising from past securities laws violations (section 9). The staff has indicated, and our research has confirmed, that this provision of the ICA is one for which exceptions are only very infrequently given. The enabling legislation contains no equivalent, and we suggest that a provision such as the following

be added, to follow § 10.50.260:

" INELIGIBILITY OF CERTAIN AFFILIATED
PERSONS AND UNDERWRITERS

"It shall be unlawful for any of the following persons to serve or act in the capacity of employee, officer, or director of a corporation:

"(1) any person who within ten years has been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor involving the purchase or sale of any security or arising out of such person's conduct as an underwriter, broker, dealer, or investment adviser, or as an affiliated person, salesman, or employee of any investment company, bank, or insurance company; or

"(2) any person who, by reason of any misconduct, is permanently or temporarily enjoined by order, judgment, or decree of any court of competent jurisdiction from acting as an underwriter, broker, dealer, or investment adviser, or as an affiliated person, salesman, or employee of any investment company, bank, or insurance company, or from engaging in or continuing any conduct or practice in connection with any such activity or in connection with the purchase or sale of any security."

(vii) Public Utility Holding Company Act

Finally, as we have advised previously, the Public Utility Holding Company Act places very severe restrictions on a company owning in excess of 10 percent of (or otherwise controlling) a "public utility" as that term is defined in the Act. The staff has indicated that it would be useful if a mechanism were worked into the legislation so that the directors would be advised of the possibility that an investment would fall within the terms of the Public Utility Holding Company Act, and either seek specific exemption from the SEC as permitted under section 3 of that Act, or comply with the Act's extremely rigid requirements. For this reason, we suggest a new section be added to follow Act § 10.50.015:

PROHIBITION. A corporation may not own, control or hold with power to vote ten percent or more of the outstanding voting securities of a public utility company or a public utility holding company (as those terms are defined in the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, 15 U.S.C. §§ 79 et seq.), without first taking steps to come within the requirements of that Act, or seeking exemption from the Act's coverage from the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Re: Request for Exemption for Alaska
General Stock Ownership Corporation

Dear Sirs:

You have asked us to amplify our opinion as to why exemption of the AGSOC from the conflict of interest provisions of the Investment Company Act ("ICA") would not work to the detriment of the investing public. In addition, this letter responds to several other concerns you have expressed to us.

As we have stated previously (Memorandum to the Staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission, dated December 5, 1979), the AGSOC, while it may technically fit within the definition of an investment company, is not at all the sort of entity typically regulated under the ICA. It will not invest in portfolio securities, will not use traditional investment advisors or underwriters, and will not engage in more than occasional purchases or sales of securities. Thus, the traditional abuses which section 17 of the ICA was created to outlaw -- such as conflicts of interest on the part of investment advisors, mutual backscratching and other self-dealing -- will not take place. Moreover, one obvious potential for abuse -- loans to AGSOC officers and directors -- is strictly forbidden by the Alaska legislation. (Act § 10.50.225).

The AGSOC is in many ways a political entity; its few investments and loan transactions will be highly visible and a subject of widespread public comment and debate. This scrutiny alone provides a strong disincentive for self-dealing. Certain provisions of the Alaska enabling legislation provide additional "sunshine" protections against conflict of interest situations. For example, shareholders have the right to examine AGSOC books and records (Act § 10.50.270), and the AGSOC must file an annual report to the Secretary of the Treasury. 24 U.S.C. § 6039B. Extensive publicity will undoubtedly surround the appointment of officers and directors. As for deterrence, these persons are subject to court-ordered removal for fraudulent or dishonest acts and criminal penalties for defrauding shareholders or creditors or making misleading statements. (Act §§ 10.50.290, 10.50.635, 10.50.630).

In addition, Alaska law creates strict fiduciary duties owed every corporation by its officers and directors.

Although we have discovered no Alaska statutes specifically dealing with conflicts of interest, the most complete statement of Alaska law on this subject is contained in the Supreme Court of Alaska's opinion in Alvest, Inc. v. Superior Oil Corp., 398 P.2d 213 (1965), a copy of which is attached hereto. Under the rule of law set forth in this case, corporate officers or directors are fiduciaries and cannot personally profit from a corporate opportunity even with the concurrence of the company's Board of Directors. (Op. at 216). Any such conflict could only be waived by the shareholders (id.), and it is not necessary to allege bad faith by an officer or director in an action against him for dereliction of his fiduciary duties and recovery of the opportunity diverted.

We have also secured agreement from our client that a new provision modeled on section 41 of the Model Business Corporation Act will be added to the proposed Alaska legislation. The new section will provide:

DIRECTOR CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

No contract or other transaction between a corporation and one or more of its directors or any other corporation, firm, association or entity in which one or more of its directors are

directors or officers or are financially interested, shall be either void or voidable because of such relationship or interest or because such director or directors are present at the meeting of the board of directors or a committee thereof which authorizes, approves or ratifies such contract or transaction or because his or their votes are counted for such purpose, if:

(a) the fact of such relationship or interest is disclosed or known to the board of directors or committee which authorizes, approves or ratifies the contract or transaction by a vote or consent sufficient for the purpose without counting the votes or consents of such interested directors; or

(b) the fact of such relationship or interest is disclosed or known to the shareholders entitled to vote and they authorize, approve or ratify such contract or transaction by vote or written consent; or

(c) the contract or transaction is fair and reasonable to the corporation.

Common or interested directors may be counted in determining the presence of a quorum at a meeting of the board of directors or a committee thereof which authorizes, approves or ratifies such contract or transaction.

We believe that such a provision is more suited to the AGSOC than are the complex "interested person" restrictions of section 10(a) of the ICA, and that this provision will further assure that any transaction carrying the potential for abuse will be the subject of focus by a disinterested board.

Thus, persons associated with the AGSOC will have few opportunities to profit personally and even less chance to do so successfully. In light of these circumstances, we feel application of section 17 of the ICA is unnecessary in the case of the AGSOC.

* * * * *

After consultation with us, our client has agreed to make certain other changes in the state legislation to satisfy your concern that the protections offered by the ICA are adequately dealt with in the state AGSOC legislation. Below is a list of changes we propose to CSSS Senate Bill No. 170:

1. Add a new provision after § 10.50.015 as follows:

PROHIBITION. A corporation may not own, control or hold with power to vote ten percent or more of the outstanding voting securities of a public utility company or a public utility holding company (as those terms are defined in the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, 15 U.S.C. §§ 79 et seq.), without first taking steps to come within the requirements of that Act, or seeking exemption from the Act's coverage from the Securities and Exchange Commission.

2. Act § 10.50.015(15) - Amend the section to read as follows:

"(15) pay pensions and establish pension plans, pension trusts, profit-sharing plans, and other incentive plans for its directors, officers and employees, except that such pensions or plans shall not include the issuance of stock options;"

3. Act § 10.50.020(f) - Delete.

4. Act § 10.50.080 - Amend the second sentence to read as follows:

"The decision to issue shares without consideration or for consideration if that consideration is less than the current net asset value of such shares shall be made by the vote of a majority of the shareholders."

5. Act § 10.50.085 - Amend the first sentence to read as follows:

"Consideration for the issuance of shares if required shall be paid in cash."

6. Act § 10.50.195 - Amend so that the first sentence reads:

"A vacancy occurring in the board of directors may be fulfilled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors if immediately after filling any such vacancy at least two thirds of the directors then holding office shall have been elected by the shareholders at a shareholders' meeting."

7. Add new provision after § 10.50.260, as follows:

" INELIGIBILITY OF CERTAIN AFFILIATED
PERSONS AND UNDERWRITERS

"It shall be unlawful for any of the following persons to serve or act in the capacity of employee, officer, or director of a corporation:

"(1) any person who within ten years has been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor involving the purchase or sale of any security or arising out of such person's conduct as an underwriter, broker, dealer, or investment adviser, or as an affiliated person, salesman, or employee of any investment company, bank, or insurance company; or

"(2) any person who, by reason of any misconduct, is permanently or temporarily enjoined by order, judgment, or decree of any court of competent jurisdiction from acting as an underwriter, broker, dealer, or investment adviser, or as an affiliated person, salesman, or employee of any investment company, bank, or insurance company, or from engaging in or continuing any conduct or practice in connection with any such activity or in connection with the purchase or sale of any security."

We hope this submission is helpful in your review of our exemption application. Please feel free to call on us should other questions arise.

Sincerely,

Samuel A. Stern

Appellant alleges that error was committed when evidence of the value of the property in dispute, supplied by the records and testimony of a tax assessor, was admitted.

It is pointed out by appellant, there is a difference of opinion among the various jurisdictions¹⁶ as to whether such evidence should be admitted. The testimony of the tax assessor was that the taxing district regularly assessed at 100 per cent of value based upon a record of comparable sales in the area within the preceding two years.

[9] Appellant has not shown how or why this testimony was unreliable with respect to the value of the property or how its admission prejudiced his case in any particular. The basis employed in arriving at the valuation was sound. The evidence had probative value and should have been admitted. No error was committed.

The trial court, over objection, permitted counsel for appellee to question appellant in detail concerning his military record, the nature of his discharge, wounds received while in the service, the degree of disability thereby created, the amount of a government pension received by appellant and appellee's inability to obtain employment because of his wounds and disability. Admission of this testimony is asserted as error.

Appellant's first objection was overruled, presently on the ground that appellee's physical ability to earn money was material to the determination of the issues. Second objection was overruled on the ground that the evidence was necessary to carry out the intent of the parties.

[10-11] We hold that no error was committed. The financial condition of the parties in a suit of this nature is a relevant factor to be considered.¹⁷ So also may his physical ability to earn be relevant and material.

[12] Appellant's allegation of error committed in admitting certain exhibits is not briefed sufficiently to be readily understandable and will not be considered.

The findings of fact, conclusions of law and judgment are set aside and the case remanded for retrial.

ALVEST, INC., Appellant,

v.

SUPERIOR OIL CORPORATION, Appellee.

No. 503.

Supreme Court of Alaska.

Jan. 21, 1965.

Proceeding on appeal from a judgment of the Superior Court, Third Judicial District, Ralph E. Moody, J., affirming decision of state division of lands cancelling award to corporation which had been awarded first priority at noncompetitive oil and gas lease drawing. The Supreme Court, Dimond, J., held that fact that two officers of corporation filed applications for themselves in non-competitive oil and gas lease drawing conducted by state division of lands when corporation itself had filed application violated administrative regulation providing that each applicant shall have only one chance in any one drawing, and division of lands properly cancelled award to corporation which had been awarded first priority at drawing.

4. Corporations ⇨315

Where business opportunity is one in which corporation has legitimate interest, officer or director may not take opportunity for himself, and if he does, he will hold all resulting benefit and profit in his fiduciary capacity for use and benefit of corporation.

5. Corporations ⇨315

Whether business opportunity is corporate one or one within legitimate scope of individual interests of officer or director depends on facts and circumstances of each case.

6. Mines and Minerals ⇨5

Fact that two officers of corporation filed applications for themselves in non-competitive oil and gas lease drawing conducted by state division of lands when corporation itself had filed application violated administrative regulation providing that each applicant shall have only one chance in any one drawing, and division of lands properly cancelled award to corporation which had been awarded first priority at drawing.

7. Mines and Minerals ⇨5

Administrative regulation providing that each applicant in noncompetitive oil and gas lease drawing should have only one chance in any one drawing would not have precluded corporation from making successful claim for lease or its benefits against corporate officers who filed applications for themselves had either been successful at drawing.

8. Corporations ⇨315

In absence of shareholder approval, business opportunity involving application by corporate officers, as individuals and for themselves, in noncompetitive oil and gas lease drawing conducted by state division of lands was not within legitimate scope of individual interests of officers where corporation itself had filed application.

9. Corporations ⇨315

Showing of bad faith is not essential to establish duty on part of officers or directors of corporation in connection with business opportunities which they wish to acquire for themselves, and fact that business opportunity is of such nature that under particular circumstances it should fairly belong to corporation is sufficient to establish duty on part of officer or director to acquire opportunity for corporation.

Paul F. Robison, Robison, McCaskey & Lewis, Anchorage, for appellee.

Before NESBETT, C. J., and DIMOND and AREND, JJ.

DIMOND, Justice.

Appellant was awarded first priority for an oil and gas lease at a non-competitive lease drawing conducted by the state Division of Lands. Appellee was given second priority. Later the Division of Lands cancelled the award to appellant and gave it to appellee for the reason that two of appellant's officers and directors, White and Mueller, had filed applications for themselves in the same drawing. The Division of Lands held that this action on the part of White and Mueller gave appellant more than one chance at the drawing in violation of an administrative regulation provided:

"Each drawing shall be such a manner as to determine only one chance at the drawing."

The superior court held that the Division of Lands acted unlawfully.

[1-4] Appellant stands in a fiduciary relationship to the corporation. The duty of the corporation is to protect the interests of the corporation with and a business opportunity for the officer or director. When, applying ethical standards of what is fair and equitable in particular situation, the opportunity should belong to the corporation. Where business opportunity is of such nature that under particular circumstances it should fairly belong to the corporation is sufficient to establish duty on part of officer or director to acquire opportunity for the corporation.

[5, 6] Whether business opportunity is a corporate one or one within legitimate scope of individual interests of officer or director depends on facts and circumstances of each case. Appellant's claim that the Division of Lands acted unlawfully in awarding a definite priority to appellee in a similar application and the lease drawing is not sustained.

of an administrative regulation which provided:

"Each drawing shall be conducted in such a manner as the Director shall determine and each applicant shall have only one chance in any one drawing."¹

The superior court affirmed the decision of the Division of Lands and this appeal followed.

[1-4] A corporate officer or director stands in a fiduciary relationship to his corporation. Out of this relationship arises the duty of reasonably protecting the interests of the corporation. It is inconsistent with and a breach of such duty for an officer or director to take advantage of a business opportunity for his own personal profit when, applying ethical standards of what is fair and equitable in a particular situation, the opportunity should belong to the corporation. Where a business opportunity is one in which the corporation has a legitimate interest, the officer or director may not take the opportunity for himself. If he does, he will hold all resulting benefit and profit in his fiduciary capacity for the use and benefit of the corporation.²

[5, 6] Whether a business opportunity is a corporate one or one within the legitimate scope of the individual interests of the officer or director depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case.³ Here appellant's chance to be the successful applicant at the lease drawing was a business opportunity in which appellant had expressed a definite interest. That interest was a legitimate one because appellant had made similar applications in previous drawings, and the leasing of oil and gas lands was

within the scope of appellant's corporate activities. This was a corporate opportunity which appellant's officers and directors, White and Mueller, had no right to seek for themselves. If either had been the successful applicant at the drawing he would have held the lease in a fiduciary capacity for the use and benefit of appellant. This means that appellant did not have only one chance at the drawing, but three—its own, represented by the corporate application filed on its behalf, plus two additional chances, represented by White's and Mueller's individual applications. Since appellant had more than one chance in the drawing, it was not a qualified applicant under section 507.31 of the administrative regulations. The Division of Lands was correct in holding that appellant was not entitled to the lease.

[7] Appellant argues that it had only one chance at the drawing, because the regulation would have precluded appellant from making a successful claim for the lease or its benefits against White or Mueller had either been successful at the drawing. This argument is untenable. The regulation deals with the element of chance. When a lease drawing has been concluded and the successful applicant known, the element of chance is gone. What had been chance has now become something certain. The regulation pertains only to the situation which exists while the element of chance is present, and not afterwards. The regulation would have no pertinency in an action by a corporation claiming that one of its officers or directors held a lease as constructive trustee for the corporation. would not be governed by the regulation. The regulation would be relevant after a drawing had been concluded only insofar as it was established that before the drawing took place an applicant had had more than one chance to be successful. If that is established, then the regulation can be invoked to disqualify such an applicant from securing the lease. That is what was done here.

[8] Appellant contends that it could not have claimed the benefits of the lease had it been awarded to White or Mueller, because a full disclosure of their actions in filing their individual applications had been made to the corporation, and because the filing of applications by appellant's officers and directors was consistent with corporate policy. There was evidence that the members of appellant's board of directors had generally approved the appropriateness of officers and directors filing on the same land that the corporation had filed on, although it was not established that this in fact had ever been done prior to the filings in this case. But there was no evidence that the shareholders of the corporation had consented to such a policy generally, or that in this particular instance they had approved White's and Mueller's actions in filing in competition with appellant. In the absence of such approval by the shareholders, the business opportunity in this case was not within the legitimate scope of the individual interests of appellant's officers and directors.⁴

[9] Appellant states that White and Mueller had at all times been open and above board and had acted in good faith in all their dealings here. That is apparently true. But it has no bearing on the decision of the issues in this case. A showing of bad faith is not essential to establish a duty on the part of officers or directors in connection with business opportunities which they wish to acquire for themselves.

4. In re Lerch's Estate, 390 Pa. 59, 159 A.2d 506, 513 (1960); Remillard Brick Co. v. Remillard-Dandini Co., 109 Cal. App.2d 405, 241 P.2d 66, 74-75 (1952).

The fact that a business opportunity is of such a nature that under the particular circumstances of the case it should fairly belong to the corporation is sufficient to establish a duty on the part of an officer or director to acquire the opportunity for the corporation.⁵

Re: Exemption of the Alaska General Stock Ownership
Corporation from the Investment Company Act of

Dear Dale:

I enclose a memorandum to the Budget and Audit Committee recommending several specific changes in the Alaska GSOC enabling legislation which have suggested themselves in the course of our consultations with the Staff of the SEC. We believe that representations to the Staff that these changes will be made would be most helpful in securing Staff support before the Commission for our request for a total exemption from the Investment Company Act for the first five years.

Also enclosed is a draft letter concerning these changes as well as a discussion of Alaska's law on conflict of interest which has been requested by the Staff. We ask you to clear these statutory changes and the draft letter in principle with the Committee. We will then forward the letter to the SEC Staff and ask that they recommend to the Commission that the requested exemption be granted if the Alaska legislation is amended along these lines. When and if we receive informal assurances, we will suggest that you proceed with the revisions.

The Staff has also requested more information as to the nature of the investments which are planned for the AGSOC. We have told them that we do not believe portfolio securities will be among the investments to be made, but rather that the AGSOC will seek to become a joint venturer with other large enterprises in the development of various natural resources. We have been specifically asked whether it is contemplated that the AGSOC will own in excess of 25 percent of each entity in which it invests. Please clear with the Committee a representation whether ownership of this magnitude is or is not contemplated. Any additional information you could provide as to contemplated investments would be most helpful.

Your prompt response on these matters is appreciated. On the whole we have been encouraged by the Staff's receptivity to the GSOC concept.

On the IRS front, we understand that IRS, at the urging of a representative of the Treasury, will reconsider its initial unwillingness to rule. We will of course keep you posted.

Sincerely,

Samuel A. Stern

MEMORANDUM FOR THE ALASKA

Re: Exemption of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation from the Investment Company Act of 1940.

We have submitted to the staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") our memorandum of December 5, 1979, and discussed the submission with the staff on several occasions. As a result of our discussions, we believe certain steps are necessary and appropriate to secure total exemption for five years for the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation ("AGSOC") from operation of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("ICA"). We have been given informal assurances that if the Division of Investment Management (the section of the SEC which regulates registered investment companies) will recommend granting the AGSOC total exemption for five years from operation of the ICA, SEC personnel will also recommend approval of our application for partial and temporary exemptions from operation of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934.

We suggest that certain specific changes set forth below be made to the enabling legislation before its passage in its current form to maximize our chances of persuading the Division of Investment Management that the AGSOC should be exempt from operation of the ICA. All of these suggested changes have been prompted by specific comments of the staff. The alternative will be at best a partial exemption and some measure of SEC regulation of the AGSOC.

a) Conflict of Interest

The SEC's primary concern is whether granting an exemption from operation of those provisions of the ICA which outlaw certain transactions which could involve conflicts of interest or self-dealing will result in a failure to protect AGSOC shareholders.

Section 17 of the ICA makes unlawful (absent an exemption by Commission order) certain transactions between an investment company and "affiliated persons," broadly defined.^{*/} Under section 17(a) it is unlawful for an

^{*/} The term is defined in section 2(a)(3) of the ICA:

"'Affiliated person' of another person means

"(A) any person directly or indirectly owning, controlling, or holding with power to vote, 5 per centum or more of the outstanding voting securities of such other person;

"(B) any person 5 per centum or more of whose outstanding voting securities are directly or indirectly owned, controlled, or held with power to vote, by such other person;

"affiliated" person to sell or buy property or most securities to or from the investment company or to enter into joint ventures with or borrow money from the company.^{*/}

"(C) any person directly or indirectly controlling, controlled by, or under common control with, such other person;

"(D) any officer, director, partner, copartner, or employee of such other person;

"(E) if such other person is an investment company, any investment advisor thereof or any member of an advisory board thereof; and

"(F) if such other person is an unincorporated investment company not having a board of directors, the depositor thereof."

^{*/} Section 17(a) makes it unlawful for an "affiliated" person:

"(1) knowingly to sell any security or other property to such registered company or to any company controlled by such registered company, unless such sale involves solely

"(A) securities of which the buyer is the issuer,

"(B) securities of which the seller is the issuer and which are part of a general offering to the holders of a class of its securities, or

"(C) securities deposited with the trustee of a unit investment trust or periodic payment plan by the depositor thereof;

"(2) knowingly to purchase from such registered company, or from any company controlled by such registered company, any security or any other property (except securities of which the seller is the issuer); or

The SEC staff has pointed out that various sections of the proposed AGSOC enabling legislation^{*/} could give rise to the kind of transactions which would be prohibited under section 17. For example, the Act (§§ 10.50.015(4), (5) and (7)) permits the AGSOC to buy and sell property and securities; the ICA, if applicable, would prohibit it from engaging in such a transaction with, for example, a person who is a director of the GSOC (or with a company on whose board their director also sits). The ICA might also prohibit the AGSOC from becoming a joint venturer with such a company, as contemplated in Act § 10.50.015(17), in certain circumstances.^{/} Similarly, the Act § 10.50.015(6) permits

"(3) to borrow money or other property from such registered company or from any company controlled by such registered company (unless the borrower is controlled by the lender)"

*/ References to "Act §" refer to section 1 of CSSS Senate Bill No. 170, introduced as amended April 27, 1979.

/ Section 17(d) makes it "unlawful for any affiliated person of . . . a registered investment company . . . or any affiliated person of such a person . . . acting as principal to effect any transaction in which such registered company, or a company controlled by such registered company, is a joint or a joint and several participant with such person . . . for the purpose of limiting or preventing participation by such registered or controlled company on a basis different from or less advantageous than that of such other participant."

the AGSOC to lend money to its employees; since the ICA defines employees as "affiliated persons," such a loan would constitute a violation.

One option -- an option invited by the staff -- is to argue to the Commission why existing Alaska law on conflicts of interest adequately protects the public and why therefore there is no need for section 17 of the ICA to apply to AGSOC. Attached hereto as Attachment A is a draft of a letter we propose to send to the staff for its informal reaction. If we are not successful with this approach, it may be necessary to formulate certain modifications of the enabling legislation to include explicit prohibitions of transactions with persons who may have a conflict of interest.

b) Indemnification

The staff also commented on the scope of the AGSOC's power to indemnify provided by section 10.50.020 of the enabling legislation. The staff has indicated that these standards are acceptable to them as consistent with section 17(h) of the ICA, with the exception of the open-ended power granted in Act § 10.50.020(f), which widens the scope of possible indemnity to allow any corporate choice. Although we realize that the provision was based on the American Bar Foundation's Model Business Corporation Act, it goes further than the ICA. We suggest strongly that Act § 10.50.020(f) be deleted from the legislation.

c) Miscellaneous

Below we discuss a series of miscellaneous changes to the legislation which have been suggested by our conversations with the staff. We request that you clear each of these changes in principle so that we may represent to the staff that they will be implemented if our exemption request is granted.

(i) Stock Options

The AGSOC is given the power to establish pension plans and other incentive plans for its directors, officers and employees. Act § 10.50.015(15). The staff has pointed out that section 18(d) of the ICA prohibits an investment company from granting stock options to its employees. We recommend that stock options be specifically excepted from Act § 10.50.015(15). The new section would read:

"(15) pay pensions and establish pension plans, pension trusts, profit-sharing plans, and other incentive plans for its directors, officers and employees, except that such pensions or plans shall not include the issuance of stock options;"

(ii) Later Issues

Under Act § 10.50.080, the AGSOC shareholders are permitted to set the price of shares to be sold in later issuances. The staff has pointed out that section 23(b) of the ICA requires that shares not be sold at an amount below the current net asset value of each share without the consent of a majority of the investment company's shareholders. Under Act § 10.50.150, one third of the AGSOC shareholders constitutes a quorum and, thus, one vote more than one sixth could set the price at less than net asset value. We recommend that you tighten the restriction in the AGSOC legislation to match the ICA. The second sentence of section 10.50.080 would be amended to read:

"The decision to issue shares without consideration or for consideration if that consideration is less than the current net asset value of such shares shall be made by the vote of a majority of the shareholders."

(iii) Payment Other Than Cash

The staff has also noted that Act § 10.50.085 allows payments for shares to be by transfer of property other than cash or in exchange for services. The ICA does not allow payment other than in cash (section 23(a)). We suggest conformance to the ICA in this minor matter. The first sentence of Act § 10.50.085 would be amended to read:

"Consideration for the issuance of shares if required shall be paid in cash."

(iv) Interested Directors

Section 10(a) of the ICA provides that no investment company may have more than 60 percent of its Board of Directors be "interested persons". The ICA's definition of "interested" persons includes all affiliated persons and many others.^{*/} There is currently no similar restriction on who may serve on the Board of Directors of the AGSOC. In lieu of incorporating some sort of restriction along the lines of the ICA into the AGSOC legislation, we suggest that a provision along the lines of section 41 of the Model Business Corporation Act be added to the legislation. That section provides:

DIRECTOR CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

No contract or other transaction between a corporation and one or more of its directors or any other corporation, firm, association or entity in which one or more of its directors are

directors or officers or are financially interested, shall be either void or voidable because of such relationship or interest or because such director or directors are present at the meeting of the board of directors or a committee thereof which authorizes, approves or ratifies such contract or transaction or because his or their votes are counted for such purpose, if:

(a) the fact of such relationship or interest is disclosed or known to the board of directors or committee which authorizes, approves or ratifies the contract or transaction by a vote or consent sufficient for the purpose without counting the votes or consents of such interested directors; or

(b) the fact of such relationship or interest is disclosed or known to the shareholders entitled to vote and they authorize, approve or ratify such contract or transaction by vote or written consent; or

(c) the contract or transaction is fair and reasonable to the corporation.

Common or interested directors may be counted in determining the presence of a quorum at a meeting of the board of directors or a committee thereof which authorizes, approves or ratifies such contract or transaction.

We suggest the new provision follow Act § 10.50.200. This new provision will also strengthen our position with the SEC concerning the need for application of section 17 of the ICA to the AGSOC. See Attachment A.

(v) Replacing Directors

The ICA requires (section 16) that when a vacancy occurs in the Board of Directors of an investment company it may be filled only if after it is filled, two thirds of the Board has been elected by the shareholders. No such restriction exists in Act § 10.50.195, and we recommend adding such a provision. The first sentence of § 10.50.195 would then read:

"A vacancy occurring in the board of directors may be fulfilled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors if immediately after filling any such vacancy at least two thirds of the directors then holding office shall have been elected by the shareholders at a shareholders' meeting."

(vi) Disqualification

The ICA places certain restrictions on who may serve as an officer, director, or employee of an investment company, forbidding (unless an exception is granted) persons convicted within 10 years of a securities related crime or subject to an injunction arising from past securities laws violations (section 9). The staff has indicated, and our research has confirmed, that this provision of the ICA is one for which exceptions are only very infrequently given. The enabling legislation contains no equivalent, and we suggest that a provision such as the following

be added, to follow § 10.50.260:

" INELIGIBILITY OF CERTAIN AFFILIATED
PERSONS AND UNDERWRITERS

"It shall be unlawful for any of the following persons to serve or act in the capacity of employee, officer, or director of a corporation:

"(1) any person who within ten years has been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor involving the purchase or sale of any security or arising out of such person's conduct as an underwriter, broker, dealer, or investment adviser, or as an affiliated person, salesman, or employee of any investment company, bank, or insurance company; or

"(2) any person who, by reason of any misconduct, is permanently or temporarily enjoined by order, judgment, or decree of any court of competent jurisdiction from acting as an underwriter, broker, dealer, or investment adviser, or as an affiliated person, salesman, or employee of any investment company, bank, or insurance company, or from engaging in or continuing any conduct or practice in connection with any such activity or in connection with the purchase or sale of any security."

(vii) Public Utility Holding Company Act

Finally, as we have advised previously, the Public Utility Holding Company Act places very severe restrictions on a company owning in excess of 10 percent of (or otherwise controlling) a "public utility" as that term is defined in the Act. The staff has indicated that it would be useful if a mechanism were worked into the legislation so that the directors would be advised of the possibility that an investment would fall within the terms of the Public Utility Holding Company Act, and either seek specific exemption from the SEC as permitted under section 3 of that Act, or comply with the Act's extremely rigid requirements. For this reason, we suggest a new section be added to follow Act § 10.50.015:

PROHIBITION. A corporation may not own, control or hold with power to vote ten percent or more of the outstanding voting securities of a public utility company or a public utility holding company (as those terms are defined in the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, 15 U.S.C. §§ 79 et seq.), without first taking steps to come within the requirements of that Act, or seeking exemption from the Act's coverage from the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Re: Request for Exemption for Alaska
General Stock Ownership Corporation

Dear Sirs:

You have asked us to amplify our opinion as to why exemption of the AGSOC from the conflict of interest provisions of the Investment Company Act ("ICA") would not work to the detriment of the investing public. In addition, this letter responds to several other concerns you have expressed to us.

As we have stated previously (Memorandum to the Staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission, dated December 5, 1979), the AGSOC, while it may technically fit within the definition of an investment company, is not at all the sort of entity typically regulated under the ICA. It will not invest in portfolio securities, will not use traditional investment advisors or underwriters, and will not engage in more than occasional purchases or sales of securities. Thus, the traditional abuses which section 17 of the ICA was created to outlaw -- such as conflicts of interest on the part of investment advisors, mutual backscratching and other self-dealing -- will not take place. Moreover, one obvious potential for abuse -- loans to AGSOC officers and directors -- is strictly forbidden by the Alaska legislation. (Act § 10.50.225).

The AGSOC is in many ways a political entity; its few investments and loan transactions will be highly visible and a subject of widespread public comment and debate. This scrutiny alone provides a strong disincentive for self-dealing. Certain provisions of the Alaska enabling legislation provide additional "sunshine" protections against conflict of interest situations. For example, shareholders have the right to examine AGSOC books and records (Act § 10.50.270), and the AGSOC must file an annual report to the Secretary of the Treasury. 24 U.S.C. § 6039B. Extensive publicity will undoubtedly surround the appointment of officers and directors. As for deterrence, these persons are subject to court-ordered removal for fraudulent or dishonest acts and criminal penalties for defrauding shareholders or creditors or making misleading statements. (Act §§ 10.50.290, 10.50.635, 10.50.630).

In addition, Alaska law creates strict fiduciary duties owed every corporation by its officers and directors.

Although we have discovered no Alaska statutes specifically dealing with conflicts of interest, the most complete statement of Alaska law on this subject is contained in the Supreme Court of Alaska's opinion in Alvest, Inc. v. Superior Oil Corp., 398 P.2d 213 (1965), a copy of which is attached hereto. Under the rule of law set forth in this case, corporate officers or directors are fiduciaries and cannot personally profit from a corporate opportunity even with the concurrence of the company's Board of Directors. (Op. at 216). Any such conflict could only be waived by the shareholders (id.), and it is not necessary to allege bad faith by an officer or director in an action against him for dereliction of his fiduciary duties and recovery of the opportunity diverted.

We have also secured agreement from our client that a new provision modeled on section 41 of the Model Business Corporation Act will be added to the proposed Alaska legislation. The new section will provide:

DIRECTOR CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

No contract or other transaction between a corporation and one or more of its directors or any other corporation, firm, association or entity in which one or more of its directors are

directors or officers or are financially interested, shall be either void or voidable because of such relationship or interest or because such director or directors are present at the meeting of the board of directors or a committee thereof which authorizes, approves or ratifies such contract or transaction or because his or their votes are counted for such purpose, if:

(a) the fact of such relationship or interest is disclosed or known to the board of directors or committee which authorizes, approves or ratifies the contract or transaction by a vote or consent sufficient for the purpose without counting the votes or consents of such interested directors; or

(b) the fact of such relationship or interest is disclosed or known to the shareholders entitled to vote and they authorize, approve or ratify such contract or transaction by vote or written consent; or

(c) the contract or transaction is fair and reasonable to the corporation.

Common or interested directors may be counted in determining the presence of a quorum at a meeting of the board of directors or a committee thereof which authorizes, approves or ratifies such contract or transaction.

We believe that such a provision is more suited to the AGSOC than are the complex "interested person" restrictions of section 10(a) of the ICA, and that this provision will further assure that any transaction carrying the potential for abuse will be the subject of focus by a disinterested board.

Thus, persons associated with the AGSOC will have few opportunities to profit personally and even less chance to do so successfully. In light of these circumstances, we feel application of section 17 of the ICA is unnecessary in the case of the AGSOC.

* * * * *

After consultation with us, our client has agreed to make certain other changes in the state legislation to satisfy your concern that the protections offered by the ICA are adequately dealt with in the state AGSOC legislation. Below is a list of changes we propose to CSSS Senate Bill No. 170:

1. Add a new provision after § 10.50.015 as follows:

PROHIBITION. A corporation may not own, control or hold with power to vote ten percent or more of the outstanding voting securities of a public utility company or a public utility holding company (as those terms are defined in the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, 15 U.S.C. §§ 79 et seq.), without first taking steps to come within the requirements of that Act, or seeking exemption from the Act's coverage from the Securities and Exchange Commission.

2. Act § 10.50.015(15) - Amend the section to read as follows:

"(15) pay pensions and establish pension plans, pension trusts, profit-sharing plans, and other incentive plans for its directors, officers and employees, except that such pensions or plans shall not include the issuance of stock options;"

3. Act § 10.50.020(f) - Delete.

4. Act § 10.50.080 - Amend the second sentence to read as follows:

"The decision to issue shares without consideration or for consideration if that consideration is less than the current net asset value of such shares shall be made by the vote of a majority of the shareholders."

5. Act § 10.50.085 - Amend the first sentence to read as follows:

"Consideration for the issuance of shares if required shall be paid in cash."

6. Act § 10.50.195 - Amend so that the first sentence reads:

"A vacancy occurring in the board of directors may be fulfilled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors if immediately after filling any such vacancy at least two thirds of the directors then holding office shall have been elected by the shareholders at a shareholders' meeting."

7. Add new provision after § 10.50.260, as follows:

" INELIGIBILITY OF CERTAIN AFFILIATED
PERSONS AND UNDERWRITERS

"It shall be unlawful for any of the following persons to serve or act in the capacity of employee, officer, or director of a corporation:

"(1) any person who within ten years has been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor involving the purchase or sale of any security or arising out of such person's conduct as an underwriter, broker, dealer, or investment adviser, or as an affiliated person, salesman, or employee of any investment company, bank, or insurance company; or

"(2) any person who, by reason of any misconduct, is permanently or temporarily enjoined by order, judgment, or decree of any court of competent jurisdiction from acting as an underwriter, broker, dealer, or investment adviser, or as an affiliated person, salesman, or employee of any investment company, bank, or insurance company, or from engaging in or continuing any conduct or practice in connection with any such activity or in connection with the purchase or sale of any security."

We hope this submission is helpful in your review of our exemption application. Please feel free to call on us should other questions arise.

Sincerely,

Samuel A. Stern

Appellant alleges that error was committed when evidence of the value of the property in dispute, supplied by the records and testimony of a tax assessor, was admitted.

As pointed out by appellant, there is a difference of opinion among the various courts¹⁶ as to whether such evidence should be admitted. The testimony of the tax assessor was that the taxing district regularly assessed at 100 per cent of value based upon a record of comparable property in the area within the preceding two years.

[9] Appellant has not shown how or why this testimony was unreliable with respect to the value of the property or how its admission prejudiced his case in any particular. The basis employed in arriving at the valuation was sound. The evidence had no negative value and should have been admitted. No error was committed.

The trial court, over objection, permitted counsel for appellee to question appellant in detail concerning his military record, the nature of his discharge, wounds received while in the service, the degree of disability thereby created, the amount of government pension received by appellant and appellee's inability to obtain employment because of his wounds and disability. Admission of this testimony is asserted as error.

Appellant's first objection was overruled, apparently on the ground that appellee's physical ability to earn money was material to the determination of the issues. Appellant's second objection was overruled on the ground that the evidence was necessary to carry out the intent of the parties.

[11] We hold that no error was committed. The financial condition of the parties in a suit of this nature is a relevant factor to be considered.¹⁷ So also may his physical ability to earn be relevant and material.

[12] Appellant's allegation of error committed in admitting certain exhibits is not briefed sufficiently to be readily understandable and will not be considered.

The findings of fact, conclusions of law and judgment are set aside and the case remanded for retrial.

ALVEST, INC., Appellant,
v.
SUPERIOR OIL CORPORATION, Appellee.
No. 503.

Supreme Court of Alaska.

Jan. 21, 1965.

Proceeding on appeal from a judgment of the Superior Court, Third Judicial District, Ralph E. Moody, J., affirming decision of state division of lands cancelling award to corporation which had been awarded first priority at noncompetitive oil and gas lease drawing. The Supreme Court, Dimond, J., held that fact that two officers of corporation filed applications for themselves in noncompetitive oil and gas lease drawing conducted by state division of lands when corporation itself had filed application violated administrative regulation providing that each applicant shall have only one chance in any one drawing, and division of lands properly cancelled award to corporation which had been awarded first priority at drawing.

Judgment affirmed.

Corporate officer or director stands in fiduciary relationship to his corporation.

2. Corporations ⇨310(1)

Out of fiduciary relationship between corporate officer or director and corporation arises duty of reasonably protecting interests of corporation.

3. Corporations ⇨315

It is inconsistent with and breach of duty of corporate officer to reasonably protect interests of corporation for officer or director to take advantage of business opportunity for his own personal profit when, applying ethical standards of what is fair and equitable in particular situation, opportunity should belong to corporation.

Where business opportunity is one in which corporation has legitimate interest, officer or director may not take opportunity for himself, and if he does, he will hold all resulting benefit and profit in his fiduciary capacity for use and benefit of corporation.

5. Corporations ⇨315

Whether business opportunity is corporate one or one within legitimate scope of individual interests of officer or director depends on facts and circumstances of each case.

Fact that two officers of corporation filed applications for themselves in non-competitive oil and gas lease drawing conducted by state division of lands when corporation itself had filed application violated administrative regulation providing that each applicant shall have only one chance in any one drawing, and division of lands properly cancelled award to corporation which had been awarded first priority at drawing.

7. Mines and Minerals ⇨5

Administrative regulation providing that each applicant in noncompetitive oil and gas lease drawing should have only one chance in any one drawing would not have precluded corporation from making successful claim for lease or its benefits against corporate officers who filed applications for themselves had either been successful at drawing.

8. Corporations ⇨315

In absence of shareholder approval, business opportunity involving application by corporate officers, as individuals and for themselves, in noncompetitive oil and gas lease drawing conducted by state division of lands was not within legitimate scope of individual interests of officers where corporation itself had filed application.

9. Corporations ⇨315

Showing of bad faith is not essential to establish duty on part of officers or directors of corporation in connection with business opportunities which they wish to acquire for themselves, and fact that business opportunity is of such nature that under particular circumstances it should fairly belong to corporation is sufficient to establish duty on part of officer or director to acquire opportunity for corporation.

Appellant was awarded first priority for an oil and gas lease at a non-competitive lease drawing conducted by the state Division of Lands. Appellee was given second priority. Later the Division of Lands cancelled the award to appellant and gave it to appellee for the reason that two of appellant's officers and directors, White and Mueller, had filed applications for themselves in the same drawing. The Division of Lands held that this action on the part of White and Mueller gave appellant more than one chance at the drawing in violation of an administrative regulation provided:

of an administrative regulation which provided:

"Each drawing shall be conducted in such a manner as the Director shall determine and each applicant shall have only one chance in any one drawing."¹

[1-4] A corporate officer or director stands in a fiduciary relationship to his corporation. Out of this relationship arises the duty of reasonably protecting the interests of the corporation. It is inconsistent with and a breach of such duty for an officer or director to take advantage of a business opportunity for his own personal profit when, applying ethical standards of what is fair and equitable in a particular situation, the opportunity should belong to the corporation. Where a business opportunity is one in which the corporation has a legitimate interest, the officer or director may not take the opportunity for himself. If he does, he will hold all resulting benefit and profit in his fiduciary capacity for the use and benefit of the corporation.²

within the scope of appellant's corporate activities. This was a corporate opportunity which appellant's officers and directors, White and Mueller, had no right to seek for themselves. If either had been the successful applicant at the drawing he would have held the lease in a fiduciary capacity for the use and benefit of appellant. This means that appellant did not have only one chance at the drawing, but three—its own, represented by the corporate application filed on its behalf, plus two additional chances, represented by White's and Mueller's individual applications. Since appellant had more than one chance in the drawing, it was not a qualified applicant under section 507.31 of the administrative regulations. The Division of Lands was correct in holding that appellant was not entitled to the lease.

[7] Appellant argues that it had only one chance at the drawing, because the regulation would have precluded appellant from making a successful claim for the lease or its benefits against White or Mueller had either been successful at the drawing. This argument is untenable. The regulation deals with the element of chance. When a lease drawing has been concluded and the successful applicant known, the element of chance is gone. What had been chance has now become something certain. The regulation pertains only to the situation which exists while the element of chance is present, and not afterwards. The regulation would have no pertinency in an action by a corporation claiming that one of its officers or directors held a lease as constructive trustee for the corporation. would not be governed by the regulation. The regulation would be relevant after a drawing had been concluded only insofar as it was established that before the drawing took place an applicant had had more than one chance to be successful. If that is established, then the regulation can be invoked to disqualify such an applicant from securing the lease. That is what was done here.

[8] Appellant contends that it could not have claimed the benefits of the lease had it been awarded to White or Mueller, because a full disclosure of their actions in filing their individual applications had been made to the corporation, and because the filing of applications by appellant's officers and directors was consistent with corporate policy. There was evidence that the members of appellant's board of directors had generally approved the appropriateness of officers and directors filing on the same land that the corporation had filed on, although it was not established that this in fact had ever been done prior to the filings in this case. But there was no evidence that the shareholders of the corporation had consented to such a policy generally, or that in this particular instance they had approved White's and Mueller's actions in filing in competition with appellant. In the absence of such approval by the shareholders, the business opportunity in this case was not within the legitimate scope of the individual interests of appellant's officers and directors.⁴

[9] Appellant states that White and Mueller had at all times been open and above board and had acted in good faith in all their dealings here. That is apparently true. But it has no bearing on the decision of the issues in this case. A showing of bad faith is not essential to establish a duty on the part of officers or directors in connection with business opportunities which they wish to acquire for themselves.

4. In re Lerch's Estate, 300 Pa. 59, 159 A.2d 506, 513 (1960); Remillard Brick Co. v. Remillard-Dandini Co., 109 Cal. App.2d 405, 241 P.2d 66, 74-75 (1952).

The fact that a business opportunity is of such a nature that under the particular circumstances of the case it should fairly belong to the corporation is sufficient to establish a duty on the part of an officer or director to acquire the opportunity for the corporation.⁵

The judgment is affirmed.

Re: Request for No Action and for Temporary and Partial Exemptions for the Alaska
General Stock Ownership Corporation

Dear Sirs:

On behalf of the State of Alaska, we submit to each Division five copies of a memorandum which describes the General Stock Ownership Corporation ("GSOC"), a company soon to be created by Alaska under enabling federal tax legislation recently adopted by Congress. While the GSOC in many ways resembles a conventional corporation, there are significant differences -- the most striking being that one share of the company will be given without charge to each resident of Alaska.

We now request that the staff issue a no-action letter with respect to exemption of the Alaska GSOC under the 1933 Act. Moreover, in the enclosed memorandum, we have proposed desirable temporary and partial exemptions from the 1934 and 1940 Acts in light of protections for investors inherent in the planned structure of the Alaska GSOC. Since the Alaska enabling legislation has not yet been passed, there is still time to consider amendments to Thank you for your attention to this matter. Please contact the undersigned if any additional information is needed or if conferring would be useful to you. On behalf of the State, your response at your early convenience is respectfully requested.

MEMORANDUM TO THE STAFF OF THE
SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

RE: Proposals for Application of the Federal Securities Laws to the Alaska General
Stock Ownership Corporation

The State of Alaska is in the process of creating a private corporation to be owned by all its residents. The entity is to be a "GSOC" -- a General Stock Ownership Corporation. Upon the company's formation, one share of its stock will be issued to each person resident in Alaska (presently approximately 400,000 persons). Pursuant to a recent amendment to the Internal Revenue Code, 26 U.S.C. §§ 1391-97 (Subchapter U), each state may create a GSOC which, if it meets the federal statutory definition, will receive certain favorable tax treatment previously available only to closely held "subchapter S" corporations. The purpose of the GSOC, as envisioned by the sponsors of the federal legislation and by the State of Alaska, is to afford all state residents the experience of participating in capitalism, while expanding the base of ownership of projects which generate profits from the development of the state's natural resources.^{1/}

^{1/} S. Rep. No. 1263, 95th Cong. 2d Sess. 107 (1978); 124 Cong. Rec. S 19,168-69 (daily ed. Oct. 14, 1978) (remarks of Senator Gravel).

Subchapter U gives a state legislature considerable flexibility in structuring its GSOC. While the extent to which various federal securities laws apply to the unique features of the GSOC is unclear, it is Alaska's intention to structure the GSOC in a way that provides its citizen-shareholders with all the relevant protections embodied in the securities laws. Hopefully, it would not then be necessary to burden this new entity with the full range of the Commission's procedural and substantive regulations during the critical stages of its development.

For reasons discussed in this Memorandum, we believe that the GSOC bill introduced at the last session of the Alaska legislature (S. 170) will provide complete protection to GSOC shareholders without unduly hampering the GSOC experiment in its initial phase. The State seeks the staff's concurrence in this view, and the staff's suggestions for amendments, if any, to the present bill so that the legislation may be enacted in a form satisfactory to the Commission without need for the consideration of amendments after enactment.

I. The Federal Legislation

Subchapter U provides for special tax treatment of GSOCs established in conformance with its terms.^{2/} The GSOC

^{2/} A copy of Subchapter U is attached as Exhibit A.

will not be subject to corporate tax; instead the shareholders will be taxed on their pro rata share of the corporation's taxable income whether or not distributed. 26 U.S.C. §§ 1392, 1393. Shareholders also receive investment tax credits which would otherwise accrue to the corporation. § 1393(b). A GSOC is required to distribute 90 percent of its taxable income each year to its shareholders, § 1396, but must withhold 25 percent of such distribution for the IRS on behalf of shareholders. § 3402(r).^{3/}

Subchapter U permits a state to establish a GSOC between December 31, 1978 and January 1, 1984 by a charter enacted by the state legislature or a state-wide referendum. § 1391(a)(2) and (3). For the GSOC to qualify for the special tax benefits of the Subchapter, its corporate charter must contain the following restrictions with respect to stock ownership and transferability:

1. only one class of stock may be issued (§ 1391(a)(4)(A));
2. shares may be issued only to "eligible individuals"^{4/} (§1391(a)(4)(B));

^{3/} A GSOC must maintain a segregated shareholder income account for such distributions. § 1394.

^{4/} An "eligible individual" is defined as a person who is a resident of the chartering state on a date specified in the state's enabling legislation and remains a resident between that date and the date of issuance of shares. § 1391(c).

3. at least one share of stock must be issued to each "eligible individual" who does not elect not to receive his share (§ 1391(a)(4)(C));
4. shares may not be transferred for a five-year period, other than by will or by the laws of descent, except where the shareholder ceases to be a resident of the state (§ 1391(a)(4)(D)(i));
5. shares may not be transferred to anyone other than a "resident individual" (§ 1391(a)(4)(D)(ii);^{5/} and
6. each individual's ownership is limited to ten shares (§ 1391(a)(4)(D)(iii)).

In addition, a GSOC may not hold a 20 percent or greater interest in any subsidiary,^{6/} may not acquire business properties from an unwilling seller through the use of the state's power of eminent domain^{7/} and is required to file an annual report with the Secretary of the Treasury summarizing its operations for the year.^{8/}

^{8/} 26 U.S.C. § 6039B. In addition, a GSOC must file an informational tax return that, inter alia, identifies all shareholders and the distributions they have received. Id. Moreover, the staff of the Joint Committee on Taxation is required to report to Congress on the GSOC experiment within two years of the formation of the first GSOC and again by September 30, 1983. § 1391(e).

It is contemplated that a GSOC will acquire an interest in one or more business enterprises with borrowed funds; the acquired interests would be pledged to secure this debt, perhaps supplemented by state grants or guarantees. The cash flow from the acquired business interests will be used to service the debt and, to the extent of available earnings, pay dividends to the residents of the state who are its shareholders. In order to generate a sufficient cash flow, a GSOC is not likely to make portfolio investments, but will, instead, seek to participate directly as a joint venturer in specific projects. For example, while the Alaska GSOC's specific investments have not yet been identified, one possible investment might be a participating interest in an existing Alaskan pipeline in an arm's-length transaction with one of the consortium of companies that now own it. As a joint venturer, the GSOC's share of pre-tax income from the project would be sheltered under Subchapter U -- a considerable advantage over portfolio investments, where income would be limited to the issuer's after-tax distributions.

The details of the distribution of the GSOC's shares and the precise mechanisms by which the above restrictions are to be implemented have been left by Congress to be determined by each state's enabling legislation.

II. Alaska's Enabling Legislation

As far as we are aware, only one state has as yet prepared legislation to take advantage of Subchapter U. Attached as Exhibit B is a Bill which was introduced in the last session of the Alaska legislature.^{9/} Its sponsors are considering and will consider possible refinements, especially in response to the views of the SEC and IRS -- (a ruling as to the U.S. tax consequences of ownership of shares in the Alaska GSOC is currently being sought) -- but it is anticipated that the substance of S.170 will be reintroduced and enacted early in 1980.

S.170 contains the obligatory provisions required by Subchapter U,^{10/} and establishes an entity otherwise consistent with the general corporation law of Alaska.

^{9/} CSSS Senate Bill No. 170, introduced as amended April 27, 1979 (hereinafter "S.170"). Section 1 of S.170 constitutes the Alaska General Stock Ownership Act, which will herein be cited as "Act § _____."

^{10/} See Act §§ 10.50.320 (a). Of necessity, certain provisions of the Alaska legislation interpret rather than simply mirror the provisions of Subchapter U. See for example, the definitions of "eligible individual" and "resident", Act §§ 10.50.320(a)(6) and 10.50.645(11), and Alaska's decision as to what happens when a shareholder leaves Alaska, a point left open in Subchapter U. S.170, § 4(c).

III. The Securities Act of 1933

The Securities Act of 1933 ("the 33 Act") requires that a registration statement be filed, and a prospectus disclosing material information be delivered to potential investors, in connection with the offer or sale of securities. We seek the staff's concurrence in our opinion that the initial issuance of shares in the Alaska GSOC to all "eligible individuals" will not require registration under section 5 of the 33 Act.

A. No Sale is Involved.

We believe the issuance of GSOC shares will not involve a "sale" or "offer to sell" within the meaning of section 2(3) of the 33 Act. That section defines "sale" as "every . . . disposition of a security . . . for value" and defines "offer to sell" as "every attempt . . . to dispose of . . . a security . . . for value."

Subchapter U does not specify whether the initial issuance of shares in a state's GSOC must be with or without charge. However, the primary sponsor of the legislation (Senator Gravel) anticipated that shares would be issued without charge.^{11/} Although the current draft of the Alaska enabling legislation contemplates the possibility of subsequent issues for value,^{12/} the initial issuance of shares in the Alaska GSOC will be free of charge to all "eligible individuals", and all stock so issued will be considered fully paid and nonassessable.^{13/}

Assuming that the shares are issued to "eligible individuals" free of charge, there has been no "value" moving from the individuals to the GSOC and no investment decision made on the part of the individuals receiving shares. A no-action letter issued in the case of corporations created under the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act supports this conclusion. See The Native Alaska Federation of Natives, Inc. (Jan. 28, 1974).^{14/}

^{12/} Section 10.50.080 of the Act provides that:

"Shares may be issued without consideration or for consideration fixed by the shareholders before issuance. Consideration for shares shall be fixed by a vote of a majority of the shares voting on the issue."

This provision is intended to permit the Alaska GSOC to charge consideration for shares only in issuances subsequent to the initial issuance, as no shareholders will exist until then to fix the consideration.

^{13/} Of course, subsequent issuances of GSOC stock may well be for consideration; the present request for a no-action letter is not intended to encompass any such later issuances. See, e.g., Act § 10.50.085.

^{14/} While an Alaska resident has the right to decline receipt of his GSOC share, the availability of this option by

In Part IV of this Memorandum we discuss application of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 to the Alaska GSOC. In that discussion we propose dissemination of an annual report which should satisfy the disclosure principle of the 33 Act and allay any fears that granting our request for a no-action letter will result in uninformed shareholders. Compare the regulations with respect to filings by the Asian Development Bank authorized by 22 U.S.C. § 285h(a), (1978) Fed. Sec. L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 2025. In any event, since the 33 Act is designed no means renders the distribution of shares to the accepting Alaska residents, a disposition "for value." A decision to accept stock in GSOC does not entail the sacrifice of any right or claim or the making of any investment decision. For example, the SEC has long held that a dividend paid either in the form of stock or cash at the election of the shareholder is not a "sale" of the shares so distributed. Sec. Rel. No. 33-929 (July 29, 1936). The Commission's position has been that while a waiver of a vested right might constitute "value," simple election between two mutually exclusive, alternative rights, granted without consideration, does not involve the surrender of something of "value" sufficient to bring an optional stock/cash dividend within the statutory meaning of the word "sale." Id. Furthermore, the initial distribution of GSOC stock would appear to be even less a disposition "for value" than an optional stock/cash dividend since a person who elects to receive a share does not give up a right to receive cash or other property. And while it is true that a GSOC shareholder will have made a "decision" to retain his share, he will not have made an "investment" in the GSOC, which would require the giving up of "some tangible and definable consideration in return for an interest" in the corporation. Int'l Bhd. of Teamsters v. Daniel, 439 U.S. 551, 560 (1979) (discussing whether employee makes an "investment" for purposes of the securities laws in noncontributory, compulsory pension plan).

primarily to ensure disclosure sufficient to enable an investor to decide whether to invest his funds in the securities of an issuer, the test of disclosure required under the 33 Act and its regulations seems largely irrelevant to the initial free distribution of GSOC shares. We would appreciate your advising whether the staff would recommend that the Commission take no action with respect to the initial issuance of shares in the Alaska GSOC assuming that the shares are issued without charge.

B. The Transaction is Intrastate.

Even if the Alaska GSOC were to establish a subscription price for its shares, registration should not be required by virtue of the "intrastate offering" exemption provided in Section 3a(11) of the 33 Act for:

"[a]ny security which is a part of an issue offered and sold only to persons resident within a single State or Territory, where the issuer of such security is a . . . corporation, incorporated by and doing business within, such State or Territory."

The Alaska GSOC should have no difficulty meeting the requirements of this exemption. As a precaution, the legislative draftsmen are considering several changes in the draft legislation (such as legends on share certificates disclosing the various restraints on transfer) which will bring the Alaska GSOC squarely within non-exclusive Rule 147 (17

C.F.R. § 230.147). However, in the event certain technical requirements of the Rule are not satisfied, we would be prepared to submit for the staff's review the procedures the Alaska GSOC will adopt to assure that its intent to make an intrastate issue is carried out. While we realize that since the adoption of Rule 147 (S.E.C. Rel. No. 33-5420, January 7, 1974), no-action letters under section 3a(11) are not ordinarily forthcoming, we believe that staff assistance and review before an unregistered issuance of this magnitude by a unique entity would be in the public interest.

IV. The Securities Exchange Act of 1934

Subchapter U, as implemented in Alaska by S.170, will result in a novel entity. In many ways the Alaska GSOC can be seen as a conventional private corporation. Although it is primarily subject to control by the legislature at its formative stage, it is thereafter subject to governance of shareholders^{15/} and the board of directors.^{16/} Yet the GSOC is unique in other respects which are highly relevant to the purposes underlying the regulation of the Securities Exchange

^{15/} A vote of shareholders is required to amend the articles of incorporation, Act § 10.50.375, and to approve certain asset sales.

^{16/} The directors may create and amend the by-laws, Act § 10.50.125, and have other standard management powers of corporate directors.

Act of 1934 ("the 34 Act"). In short, the Alaska GSOC will be owned by over 400,000 citizens of Alaska who have made no equity investment and who each hold one share of the one class of stock issued by the GSOC.^{17/} There will be no corporate shareholders.^{18/} There can be no transfer of GSOC shares for five years from the date of issuance except by reason of death.^{19/} There can be no aggregation of shares as each resident is limited to ownership of ten shares, and for the first five years few residents will hold more than one or two shares.^{20/} Even after the initial five-year period there will remain severe restrictions on the transferability of GSOC shares which will make it difficult if not impossible for a trading market in these shares to develop.^{21/}

^{17/} Although the legislation provides that "at least one share" shall be issued to all eligible individuals, it is our understanding that Alaska plans to issue only one share to each qualifying person.

^{18/} 26 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(4)(D)(ii).

^{19/} 26 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(4)(D)(i); Act § 10.50.320 (a)(8)(A). The one exception is the case of the "eligible individual" who has received his share and then decides to leave Alaska. If he leaves Alaska within five years after date of issuance, the corporation must purchase his share (or shares) at book value. S.170, § 4(c)(1). (The corporation must also purchase at book value the share of an eligible individual who dies within five years and whose share passes by operation of law to a non-resident.)

^{20/} 26 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(4)(D)(iii); Act, § 10.50.320 (a)(8)(C). The only way a resident can hold more than his one original share during the first five years is if he inherits a share from another resident.

^{21/} Even after the five-year period shares may be transferred only to "resident individuals" of Alaska. 26

It is probable that the Alaska GSOC will at some time qualify for application of the 34 Act.^{22/} However, the Commission has authority under two separate sections to provide an exemption from the 34 Act by administrative action. Section 12(h) of the 34 Act provides in relevant part:

"The Commission may by rules and regulations, or upon application of an interested person, by order, after notice and opportunity for hearing, exempt in whole or in part any issuer or class of issuers from [the registration, reporting and proxy provisions of the 34 Act] . . . any security of which is required to be registered . . . upon such terms and conditions and for such period as it deems necessary or appropriate, if the Commission finds, by reason of the number of public investors, amount of trading interest in the securities, the nature and extent of the activities of the issuer, income

U.S.C. § 1391(a)(4)(D)(ii). It will not be possible for security brokers or dealers to make a market in Alaska GSOC shares if this section is interpreted to mean such entities cannot hold GSOC shares. Also, since an individual can own no more than ten shares, it may not be feasible to create a trading market funded through transfer fees in a manner comparable to those which exist for other private corporate securities.

^{22/} Assuming that our request for a no-action letter under the 33 Act is successful, later issuances may still require registration under the 33 Act, bringing the 34 Act into play. 34 Act, § 15(d). In addition, the Alaska GSOC may well reach $1 million in assets soon after its initial distribution of shares. 34 Act, § 12(g). No express statutory exemption to the 34 Act appears applicable to GSOC securities.

or assets of the issuer, or otherwise, that such action is not inconsistent with the public interest or the protection of investors.

Section 3(a)(12) of the 34 Act also gives the Commission the discretion to declare the securities of a GSOC "exempted securities." Section 3(a)(12) provides that "exempted securities" include:

"such other securities (which may include, among others, unregistered securities, the market in which is predominantly intra-state) as the Commission may, by such rules and regulations as it deems consistent with the public interest and the protection of investors, either unconditionally or upon specified terms and conditions or for stated periods, exempt from the operation of any one or more provisions of this title which by their terms do not apply to an 'exempted security' or to 'exempted securities.'"

We seek the staff's recommendation that the Commission exercise its discretion under sections 12(h) and 3(a)(12) to grant the Alaska GSOC a conditional and temporary exemption from operation of the 34 Act for the five-year period during which shares can generally not be transferred. We think such an exercise of discretion would be appropriate on the conditions set out below for the following reasons.

First, the anticipated market for GSOC shares will always be totally within Alaska because of the permanent prohibition against transfer to a non-resident. The only non-Alaskans to receive shares will be those few individuals who inherit a share from an Alaskan. S.170, § 4(c). See also and compare Rule 3(a)12-2, 17 C.F.R. § 240.3a 12-2 (an exemption granted for securities guaranteed and managed by a state or political sub-division).

Moreover, while there is no trading market in GSOC shares, potential investors will not require the types of disclosure the 34 Act was designed to foster, that is, the periodic disclosure of financial and other information to aid the public in making a decision whether to buy or sell shares other than in an initial distribution. Given that there will be no opportunity to make any such investment decision for the first five years, we believe that blanket application of the 34 Act's requirements for initial and periodic reporting would be unduly expensive, burdensome and unnecessary. The Commission has recognized this principle in exempting an Indian tribal corporation, whose shares were not transferable for a period of time, from the requirements of the 34 Act "until 60 days prior to the date the certificates . . . become alienable." See, In the Matter of Menominee Enterprises, Inc., Menominee Common Stock and Voting Trust. Rel. No. 10725 (April 10, 1974).^{23/}

^{23/} The common stock of the corporation was actually issued to Trustees who in turn issued trust certificates to the

Nonetheless, it remains important that shareholders receive accurate and timely financial information to allow them to review the actions of GSOC management and thereby effectively exercise their rights to select the persons to control GSOC operations. The Commission also has an interest in reviewing these materials. Accordingly, Alaska GSOC is prepared as a condition of the temporary exemption requested to distribute and file an annual report to shareholders containing substantially all the information required in annual reports under the 34 Act.^{24/} Similarly, although the Alaska legislation restricts matters that may be considered at a tribal members; the trust certificates were not transferable until January 1, 1976.

^{24/} This report would be in addition to the disclosure obligations mandated by S.170, which include each shareholder's right to examine the GSOC's books and records (Act § 10.50.270 et seq.); each shareholder's right to the GSOC's most recent financial statement (Act, § 10.50.285); the requirement that the GSOC file with the state administrator all annual reports, ballots and other materials which go to shareholders for his review and subject to his regulation concerning fairness, completeness, and non-discrimination (S.170, § 3). S.170 also makes false statements or statements with a tendency to mislead a misdemeanor by the responsible GSOC director, office or agent (Act, § 10.50.630).

In addition, Subchapter U requires the GSOC to file an informational tax return and an annual report with the Secretary of the Treasury "summarizing its operations for each year." (24 U.S.C. § 6039B.) The requirement of reports to Congress by the Joint Committee on Taxation (24 U.S.C. § 1391(e)) provides an added measure of scrutiny of GSOC operations.

shareholder's meeting to a specific agenda, requires direct shareholder voting, and does not permit voting by proxy (Act § 10.50.155), the GSOC would distribute information to shareholders regarding director candidates and other matters to be voted upon at shareholder meetings, as would be required by § 14(c) of the 34 Act and implementing regulations.

Moreover, although we believe that there is a question whether the antifraud provisions of the 34 Act would apply to these reports and to other activities of the Alaska GSOC due to the absence of any purchase or sale of securities,^{25/} the Alaska GSOC is prepared to accept that the ^{25/} While the SEC has on occasion taken the position that the term "sale" for purposes of the antifraud provisions of the Securities Acts encompasses transactions that are not "sales" for the purposes of the registration and reporting requirements of those Acts, the propriety of such a "bifurcated definition of a sale" is by no means certain. Int'l Bhd. of Teamsters v. Daniel, 439 U.S. 551, 567, n.2 (1979); see also id. at 556-557, n.8. The agency itself has stated that its inconsistent interpretations of the term "sale" have resulted in "anomalous applications of the securities laws." Rel. No. 5316 (Oct. 6, 1972) (notice of adoption of Rule 145 requiring certain "business combinations" [e.g., mergers, reorganizations, etc.] be treated as "sales" for purposes of registration requirements of the 1933 Act). Not surprisingly, courts have reached divergent conclusions as to whether the term "sale" should be given the same meaning in each of the various parts of the securities laws in which it appears. Compare Lawrence v. SEC, 398 F.2d 276 (1st Cir. 1968) and Gurvitz v. Bregman & Co., 379 F. Supp. 1283 (S.D.N.Y. 1974) with Dasho v. Susquehanna Corp., 380 F.2d 262 (7th Cir. 1967). In any event, it does seem clear that the term "sale," even as used in the antifraud provisions of the securities laws, does not include transfers made without consideration. See, e.g., Shaw v. Dreyfus, 172 F.2d 140 (2nd Cir. 1949); Turncale v. Blumberg, 80 F. Supp. 387 (S.D.N.Y.

exemption it requests should not apply to relieve it of whatever application of the antifraud provisions of the 34 Act would otherwise obtain.

We believe that the legislative treatment of the Regional Corporations created by the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. §§ 1601 et seq.) provides a useful model for the type of limited exemption we seek. Under that Act, Congress disbursed federal funds to native peoples of Alaska in settlement of outstanding aboriginal land claims, and authorized the creation under Alaska law of a number of Regional Corporations to administer the funds and oversee land investment on behalf of native residents. The Act, as amended, provides for total exemption of the Corporations from the 34 Act during the period that shares cannot be traded, but also accomplishes in large measure the disclosure function of the 34 Act by requiring that the Corporations send an annual report to shareholders. 43 U.S.C. § 1625.^{26/} The original legislation,

As discussed at pp. 7-8, supra, the initial issuance of shares will be made without payment of consideration of any type by the citizens of Alaska and, therefore, the distribution of these shares would not seem to provide an occasion for applying the antifraud provisions of the securities laws to the Alaska GSOC.

passed in 1971, did not address the question of the applicability of the federal securities laws and regulations to the Regional Corporations, but provided for an annual independent audit of each corporation, the results of which were to be transmitted to each shareholder, to the Secretary of the Interior, and to appropriate committees of Congress. As a result, the various Corporations were forced to seek individual administrative relief from the SEC. In 1975, the Act was amended to provide for total exemption of the Regional Corporations from operation of the 33 Act, the 34 Act and the Investment Company Act of 1940, for the years during which

"Any corporation organized pursuant to this chapter shall be exempt from the provisions of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (54 Stat. 789), the Securities Act of 1933 (48 Stat. 74), and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (48 Stat. 881), as amended, through December 31, 1991. Nothing in this section, however, shall be construed to mean that any such corporation shall or shall not, after such date, be subject to the provisions of such Acts. Any such corporation which, but for this section, would be subject to the provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 shall transmit to its stockholders each year a report containing substantially all the information required to be included in an annual report to stockholders by a corporation which is subject to the provisions of such Act."

shares in the Regional Corporations could not be transferred except by divorce, separation or death.^{27/} We believe that our proposed disclosures, which follow the line Congress took in the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act, will promote all relevant purposes of the 34 Act while dispensing with those requirements that, with respect to the Alaska GSOC, would simply create unnecessary burdens without compensating benefits for shareholders.

As a model of the type of disclosure we recommend we attach as Exhibit C the regulations designed for the Asian Development Bank, set out in Rel. No. 33-4889 (December 18, 1967).^{28/}

^{27/} One reason Congress noted for its decision was that the lack of sophistication of most native residents of Alaska made an elaborate prospectus as required by SEC rules less likely to be useful than the SEC suggested. Congress also was moved by the assurance that no trading in the shares would occur, and decided that application of the 34 Act was unnecessary while the stock could not be transferred. However, in the interest of disclosure to the public of relevant information about the Corporations, Congress required an annual report to shareholders containing substantially all information required in the annual reports under the 34 Act. H. Rep. No. 94-729, 94th Cong., 1st Sess. at 17-20 (1975). While the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act does not require submission of the Annual Report to the SEC, the Alaska GSOC would of course be willing to file with the SEC as a condition of the requested exemption.

^{28/} The Asian Development Bank Act "deemed" the securities of the Bank to be exempt within the meaning of section 3(a)(2) of the 33 Act as well as section 3(a)(12) of the 34 Act, but also provided for periodic filings with the Commission. 2 U.S.C. § 285h(a). Similar treatment is given

The 34 Act's rules that provide for the registration and regulation of brokers, dealers and transfer agents involved in the trading of non-exempt securities may well become applicable at the end of the five-year period when transfer of shares between Alaska residents is allowed. Alaska hopes to use the five-year period to consider the most suitable way to create and monitor trading activities, and hopes to have the continuing opportunity to engage in discussions with the SEC staff in working out in advance whatever problems can be anticipated. For example, it may be possible to use GSOC employees to facilitate transfers between buyers and the GSOC and sellers and the GSOC, at a price set at the pro rata share of the GSOC's current asset value, without matching buyers and sellers and thereby "making" a market.^{29/} Or the Alaska GSOC may at some stage decide to create some sort of unique shareholder voting method using the state's ballot process or some other type of public pronouncement.

^{29/} Cf. proposed rule 3a4-1, as proposed in Sec. Rel. No. 34-13195 (January 21, 1977) (persons associated with an issuer are deemed not to be brokers solely for performing "the ministerial and clerical work of effecting any transaction" if other tests of the rule are met).

V. Investment Company Act of 1940

The Investment Company Act of 1940 ("the 40 Act") provides for the registration and regulation of companies whose business is principally investing in the securities of other companies. Assuming that the Alaska GSOC intends to invest in projects which would be considered "securities," it appears that it will come within the definition of "investment company" in section 3(a) of the 40 Act. None of the 40 Act's specific exemptions appear to apply to the Alaska GSOC.

Section 6(c) of the 40 Act provides in general terms that the Commission may exempt a company from the Act where "such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of this title." In addition, section 6(d) provides that the Commission shall, under certain conditions, exempt closed-end investment companies that do not sell shares for more than $100,000 and whose securities are not sold or offered outside the state in which the issuer is organized. Section 6(d), like section 6(c), conditions any exemption on its not being "contrary to the public interest or inconsistent with the protection of investors." Since the Alaska GSOC issues its securities without charge, solely to Alaska residents, it meets all the technical tests for section 6(d).^{30/} Accordingly, if the Commission finds that an exemption is in the public interest and does not jeopardize investors, section 6(c) authorizes, and section 6(d) requires, the Commission to exempt the Alaska GSOC from the 40 Act.

While the Alaska GSOC may fall within the formal definition of an investment company, its unique character and function place it far outside that class of companies which Congress deemed to be in need of SEC regulation. Most of the 40 Act's regulatory provisions were designed to protect investors from the schemes of incompetent or unscrupulous promoters of investment companies. But the Alaska GSOC is not the invention of private promoters seeking to profit from either the sale to investors of shares in an investment company or the sale to the investment company of securities that it may also be marketing. Rather, it is the creation of the State of Alaska which, under the auspices of unique federal tax legislation, is engaging in an experiment in public ownership of Alaskan business. Compliance with the Act's particular requirements should not be necessary to protect the State's citizens from abuses of an experiment of their own creation and for their own benefit.

^{30/} The Alaska GSOC appears to be a closed-end management company under the definitions of sections 4 and 5 of the 40 Act since shares in the GSOC cannot be redeemed by a resident in exchange for "approximately his proportionate share of the issuer's current net assets" so as to create a "redeemable security" within the meaning of § 2(a)(32) of the 1940 Act.

Section 1(b) of the 40 Act lists the specific abuses that Congress intended to eliminate. It is readily apparent that, while Alaska's legislation does not, in each case, take the same approach as the 40 Act, the GSOC is designed to minimize such abuses. As we now show, GSOC investors will be adequately protected against each of the eight types of abuses specified in section 1(b):

"(1) when investors purchase, pay for, exchange, receive dividends upon, vote, refrain from voting, sell, or surrender securities issued by investment companies without adequate, accurate, and explicit information, fairly presented, concerning the character of such securities and the circumstances, policies, and financial responsibility of such companies and their management."

Since, at least during the first five years, Alaska's citizens will not be buying, selling or otherwise making investment decisions regarding their GSOC securities, there is little need for the type of information supplied in a registration statement pursuant to Section 8 of the 40 Act. In any event, the annual report that we have agreed to provide as a condition to exemption from the 34 Act should be more than sufficient to meet the information needs of the citizen shareholders.

"(2) when investment companies are organized, operated, managed or their portfolio securities are selected, in the interest of directors, officers, investment advisers, depositors, or other affiliated persons thereof, in the interest of underwriters, brokers, or dealers, in the interest of special classes of their security holders, or in the interest of other investment companies or other persons engaged in other lines of business rather than in the interest of all classes of such companies' security holders;"

The 40 Act protects against these abuses both by attempting to prevent control of an investment company either by its "interested persons" or by its investment adviser or principal underwriter, and by prohibiting an investment company from entering into conflict-of-interest transactions with its investment adviser or other interested or "affiliated" persons without SEC approval. Thus, Section 10 of the 40 Act requires that no more than 60 percent of the board of directors of a registered investment company consist of "interested" persons, and that no investment banker serve as director, officer or employee of the company unless the majority of the Board consists of persons who are neither investment bankers nor affiliated with investment bankers.

It has been noted that

"[t]hese limitations on the composition of the board of directors help to insure that someone in a position of power will serve a 'watchdog' function on behalf of investment company shareholders, especially in situations involving the possible conflicts of interest of external investment advisers."^{31/}

The unique public nature of the GSOC experiment should ensure that "watchdogs" will be present, regardless of whether such watchdogs are included on the Board of Directors or in the company's management. Initial selection of the GSOC's directors must be approved by a majority of the Governor, the Speaker of the Alaska House of Representatives and the President of the Senate. Subsequent elections -- as well as GSOC operations -- should receive sufficient public attention and press coverage to protect against apparent conflicts of interest. In any event, it is highly unlikely that the composition of the GSOC Board of Directors will not comply with the terms of Section 10 of the 40 Act, and the bylaws of the GSOC will undoubtedly provide fully adequate protections against any such danger.

^{31/} A. Rosenblat and M. Lybecker, Some Thoughts on the Federal Securities Laws Regulating External Investment Management Arrangements and the ALI Federal Securities Code Project, 124 U. Pa. L. Rev. 587, 597 (1976).

Section 15 of the 40 Act regulates the relationship between an investment company and its investment advisers and underwriters, and, with Section 17, seeks to protect shareholders from self-dealing between the company and such persons. However, as discussed above, the GSOC will not be investing in portfolio securities and is not expected to employ investment advisers or underwriters. Unlike the typical investment company, the GSOC will not be buying and selling securities in high volume, nor will it be entering into numerous business transactions. Its investments and loan transactions will be few and highly visible, and shareholders will not need the protections of Section 15 or Section 17 to prevent conflict-of-interest transactions.

"(3) when investment companies issue securities containing inequitable or discriminatory provisions, or fail to protect the preferences and the privileges of the holders of their outstanding securities;"

Section 18 of the 40 Act protects against these abuses by requiring that every share of stock issued by a registered company be voting stock with voting rights equal to all other shares, and by prohibiting the issuance of senior securities exempt by closed-end funds with a specified high level of asset coverage. These provisions are unnecessary in the case of the GSOC, since subchapter U itself provides that a GSOC may issue only one class of stock.

"(4) when the control of investment companies is unduly concentrated through pyramiding or inequitable methods of control, or is inequitably distributed, or when investment companies are managed by irresponsible persons."

Control of the GSOC cannot become concentrated, since GSOC stock will be distributed to all Alaska citizens, trading will be prohibited for five years, and no shareholders will be permitted to own more than 10 shares. Thus, the 40 Act safeguards against pyramiding, and other provisions designed to protect against concentration of control are unnecessary.

Moreover, the GSOC legislation provides adequate protection against irresponsible management, though not always by the same means as the 40 Act. As noted above, it is probable that the GSOC will have a substantial proportion of outside directors as safeguards against mismanagement. The GSOC legislation, like Section 17(h) of the 40 Act, does not permit indemnification of the company's officers and directors for grossly negligent or irresponsible actions. While the GSOC has no provision similar to section 17(f) governing custody of its portfolio securities, it is expected, for reasons described above, that the GSOC will not invest in portfolio securities, so that such a provision is unnecessary. Moreover, the Alaska legislation contains a unique protection of against mismanagement that does not apply to ordinary investment companies. The proposed Act establishes a GSOC "loan guarantee fund," which will be used to guarantee loans made to the GSOC to cover its initial start-up costs. The statute provides that "[i]n guaranteeing a loan, the commissioner of revenue shall review the loan for the purposes of ascertaining the general soundness of the proposed loan and guarding against fraud and misrepresentation." (S. 170, § 4(d).) This unique provision, along with the other safeguards described above, should -- at least during the initial start-up period -- afford protections equivalent to those provided by the 40 Act against fraudulent or irresponsible management.

"(5) when investment companies, in keeping their accounts, in maintaining reserves, and in computing their earnings and the asset value of their outstanding securities, employ unsound or misleading methods, or are not subjected to adequate independent scrutiny."

The special nature of the GSOC should relieve it from the particular accounting requirements of the 40 Act. As noted above, subchapter U requires a GSOC to file an annual report with the Secretary of the Treasury summarizing its operations for that year. Any accounting requirements imposed by the Secretary of the Treasury -- along with the review of the GSOC which will, by statute, be conducted for Congress by the Joint Committee on Taxation -- should subject the GSOC's accounts to more than adequate independent scrutiny.

"(6) when investment companies are reorganized, become inactive, or change the character of their business, or when the control or management thereof is transferred, without the consent of their security holders;"

Subchapter U and the Alaska enabling legislation together provide for shareholder participation in the selection of directors, in corporate decisions regarding reorganization, and in amending the corporation's articles of incorporation with regard to its corporate purposes. There is no provision similar to Section 13 of the 40 Act, which requires shareholder approval of changes in an investment company's investment policies. But, unlike the typical mutual fund or investment company, the GSOC does not, initially, offer investors an opportunity to invest in a specific investment approach. While the GSOC may, in time, develop identifiable investment policies and goals, the experimental nature of the venture is not presently amenable to provisions requiring either immediate identification of such policies or shareholder approval of changes in such policies.^{32/} At least during the initial ^{32/} In this respect, the Alaska GSOC is similar to the Regional Corporations formed pursuant to the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act. Congress specifically exempted those corporations from the 40 Act coverage during the initial period when their shares were non-transferable because, inter alia, "It is too early for those fledgling corporations to know even what their investment policies and legal and accounting problems may be to make registration practicable for them under the Investment Company Act." H. R. Rep. No. 94-729, 94th Cong., 1st Sess. 17.

five-year period, when citizens are not making investment decisions with regard to the purchase or sale of GSOC shares, there is no need to impose the Act's requirements on the GSOC's investment policies.

"(7) when investment companies by excessive borrowing and the issuance of excessive amounts of senior securities increase unduly the speculative character of their junior securities;"

As noted above, the GSOC is not permitted to issue more than one class of securities, so that the 40 Act's protections against these abuses need not be imposed upon the GSOC.

"(8) when investment companies operate without adequate assets or reserves."

During the GSOC's initial five years, Alaska's citizen-shareholders bear virtually no risk of GSOC insolvency insofar as they have simply been issued stock and have neither bought nor sold shares in the market. Should the GSOC experiment fail, the citizens would, of course, share the costs of funds expended by the State to establish the company and to guarantee loans, but this loss is attributable to their status as taxpaying citizens, and not as investors. Thus, at least during these initial years, there is no need to encumber the GSOC with rules regulating its capital structure -- many of which, in any event, apply only to companies issuing more than one class of securities.

In short, the 40 Act is designed to protect against abuses which either are not likely to be associated with a GSOC or are adequately protected against by the GSOC's own structure and enabling legislation. In these circumstances, exempting the GSOC from the 40 Act's requirements would be wholly consistent with the protection of investors -- and thus with the provisions of sections 6(c) and (d) of the Act. Moreover, such an exemption would clearly be in the public interest, as required by the Act, insofar as it relieves the GSOC of burdensome and unnecessary regulation, and affords the GSOC the flexibility that it will require in its initial years to determine how best to pursue this social experiment.

We hope that the Commission will exempt the Alaska GSOC from operation of the 40 Act, at least for the first five years of its existence. We would, as discussed above, expect that any such exemption be made conditional upon compliance with the modified 34 Act disclosures that we have proposed. And we propose that the question of 40 Act regulation -- like the question of the 34 Act coverage -- be revisited after the end of the initial five-year period.

On behalf of the proposed Alaska GSOC, we thank the staff for its consideration of this matter. We would be pleased to meet to discuss any of the issues involved at your early convenience.

For RELEASE Monday, December 18, 1967

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION
Washington, D. C.

ASIAN DEVELOPMENT BANK ACT
Release No. 1
SECURITIES ACT OF 1933
Release No. 4889
SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934
Release No. 8209
TRUST INDENTURE ACT OF 1939
Release No. 242

ADOPTION OF REGULATION AD

The Securities and Exchange Commission today adopted rules and regulations specifying the periodic and other reports to be filed with it by the Asian Development Bank. This action is taken pursuant to Section 11(a) of the Asian Development Bank Act.

Section 11 of the above-mentioned Act exempts from registration under both the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 securities issued in connection with the raising of funds for inclusion in the Bank's ordinary capital resources and securities guaranteed as to both principal and interest by the Bank. However, the Bank is required to file with the Commission such annual and other reports with respect to such securities as the Commission shall determine to be appropriate in view of the special character of the Bank and its operations and necessary in the public interest or for the protection of investors. It would appear that an exemption is available under the Trust Indenture Act of 1939.

The new rules and regulations adopted today require the Bank to file with the Commission substantially the same information, documents and reports as would be required if the Bank had securities registered under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Bank is also required to file a report with the Commission not less than seven days prior to the date on which any of its primary obligations are sold to the public in the United States, or such shorter period as the Commission may authorize. This report and the periodic reports to be filed will make available at the Commission information quite similar to the information which would be required in a registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933.

The Commission is informed by the Bank that no public offering of securities guaranteed by the Bank is presently contemplated. Accordingly, the new rules, insofar as they require the reporting of the proposed public sale of securities, are limited to the sale of primary obligations of the Bank. Rules with respect to reporting the proposed sale of securities guaranteed by the Bank will be adopted by the Commission when the need therefor arises.

The new regulation, which is designated Regulation AD, was adopted pursuant to Section 11(a) of the Asian Development Bank Act, the Commission finding such action appropriate in view of the special character of the Asian Development Bank and its operations and necessary in the public interest and for the protection of investors. The text of the regulation follows.

REGULATION AD

Rule 1. Applicability of Regulation.

Regulation AD prescribes the reports to be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission by the Asian Development Bank pursuant to Section 11(a) of the Asian Development Bank Act.

Rule 2. Periodic Reports.

(a) Within 60 days after the end of each of its fiscal quarters, the Bank shall file with the Commission the following information:

- (1) Information as to any purchases or sales by the Bank of its primary obligations during such quarter.
- (2) Copies of the Bank's regular quarterly financial statement.
- (3) Copies of any material modifications or amendments during such quarter of any exhibits (other than (i) constituent documents defining the rights of holders of securities of other issuers guaranteed by the Bank, and (ii) loans and guaranty agreements to which the Bank is a party) previously filed with the Commission under any statute.

(b) Copies of each annual report of the Bank to its Board of Governors shall be filed with the Commission within 10 days after the submission of such report to the Board of Governors.

Rule 3. Reports with Respect to Proposed Distribution of Primary Obligations.

The Bank shall file with the Commission, not less than seven days prior to the date on which it proposes to sell any of its primary obligations in connection with a distribution of such obligations in the United States, or such shorter period as the Commission may authorize, a report containing the information and documents specified in Schedule A below. The term "sell" as used in this rule and in Schedule A means the making of a completed sale or a firm commitment to sell.

Rule 4. Preparation and Filing of Reports.

(a) Every report required by this regulation shall be filed under cover of a letter of transmittal which shall state the nature of the report and indicate the particular rule and subdivision thereof pursuant to which the report is filed. At least the original of every such letter shall be signed on behalf of the Bank by a duly authorized officer thereof.

(b) Two copies of every report, including the letter of transmittal, exhibits and other papers and documents comprising a part of the report, shall be filed with the Commission.

(c) The report shall be in the English language. If any exhibit or other paper or document filed with the report is in a foreign language, it shall be accompanied by a translation into the English language.

(d) Reports pursuant to Rule 3 may be filed in the form of a prospectus to the extent that such prospectus contains the information specified in Schedule A.

SCHEDULE A

This schedule specifies the information and documents to be furnished in a report pursuant to Rule 3 with respect to a proposed distribution of primary obligations of the Bank. Information not available at the time of filing the report shall be filed as promptly thereafter as possible.

Item 1. Description of Obligations.

As to each issue of primary obligations of the Bank which is to be distributed, furnish the following information:

- (a) The title and date of the issue.
- (b) The interest rate and interest payment dates.
- (c) The maturity date or, if serial, the plan of serial maturities. If the maturity of the obligation may be accelerated, state the circumstances under which it may be so accelerated.
- (d) A brief outline of (1) any redemption provisions and (2) any amortization, sinking fund or retirement provisions, stating the annual amount, if any, which the Bank will be under obligation to apply for the satisfaction of such provisions.
- (e) If secured by any lien, the kind and priority thereof, and the nature of the property subject to the lien; if any other indebtedness is secured by an equal or prior lien on the same property, state the nature of such other liens.
- (f) If any obligations issued or to be issued by the Bank will, as to the payment of interest or principal, rank prior to the obligations to be distributed, describe the nature and extent of such priority.
- (g) Outline briefly any provisions of the governing instruments under which the terms of the obligations to be distributed may be amended or modified by the holders thereof or otherwise.
- (h) Outline briefly any other material provisions of the governing instruments pertaining to the rights of the holders of the obligations to be distributed or pertaining to the duties of the Bank with respect thereto.
- (i) The name and address of the fiscal or paying agent of the Bank, if any.

Item 2. Distribution of Obligations.

- (a) Outline briefly the plan of distribution of the obligations and state the amount of the participation of each principal underwriter, if any.
- (b) Describe any arrangements known to the Bank or to any principal underwriter named above designed to stabilize the market for the obligations for the account of the Bank or the principal underwriters as a group and indicate whether any transactions have already been effected to accomplish that purpose.
- (c) Describe any arrangements for withholding commissions, or otherwise, to hold each underwriter or dealer responsible for the distribution of his participation.

Item 3. Distribution Spread.

The following information shall be given, in substantially the tabular form indicated, as to all obligations which are to be offered for cash (estimate, if necessary):

	Price to the Public	Selling Discounts and Commissions	Proceeds to the Bank
Per Unit	_____	_____	_____
Total	_____	_____	_____

Item 4. Discounts and Commissions to Sub-Underwriters and Dealers.

State briefly the discounts and commissions to be allowed or paid to dealers. If any dealers are to act in the capacity of sub-underwriters and are to be allowed or paid any additional discounts or commissions for acting in such capacity, a general statement to that effect will suffice, without giving the additional amounts to be so paid.

Item 5. Other Expenses of Distribution.

Furnish a reasonably itemized statement of all expenses of the Bank in connection with the issuance and distribution of the obligations, except underwriters' or dealers' discounts and commissions.

Instruction. Insofar as practicable, the itemization shall include transfer agents' fees, cost of printing and engraving, and legal and accounting fees. The information may be given as subject to future contingencies. If the amounts of any items are not known, estimates, designated as such, shall be given.

Item 6. Application of Proceeds.

Make a reasonably itemized statement of the purposes, so far as determinable, for which the net proceeds to the Bank from the obligations are to be used, and state the approximate amount to be used for each such purpose.

Item 7. Exhibits to be Furnished.

The following documents shall be attached to or otherwise furnished as a part of the report:

- (a) Copies of the constituent instruments defining the rights evidenced by the obligations.
- (b) Copies of an opinion of counsel, in the English language, as to the legality of the obligations.
- (c) Copies of all material contracts pertaining to the issuance or distributions of the obligations, to which the Bank or any principal underwriter of the obligations is or is to be a party, except selling group agreements.
- (d) Copies of any prospectus or other sales literature to be provided by the Bank or any of the principal underwriters for general use in connection with the initial distribution of the obligations to the public.

* * * * *

Because of the limited applicability of Regulation AD, on which the views and comments of the Bank have been received and considered, the Commission finds that notice and procedure pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act are unnecessary.

The foregoing action of the Commission shall become effective upon publication, December 18, 1967.

By the Commission.

6 For an Act entitled: "An Act relating to general stock ownership corpora-
7 tions and creating the Alaska General Stock Ownership
8 Corporation; changing Rule 23.1, Rules of Civil Proce-
9 dure; and providing for an effective date."

10 BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA:

11 * Section 1. AS 10 is amended by adding a new chapter to read:

12 CHAPTER 50. GENERAL STOCK OWNERSHIP CORPORATIONS.

13 ARTICLE 1. SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS.

14 Sec. 10.50.005. PURPOSES. A general stock ownership corporation
15 may be organized under this chapter for any lawful purpose unless limited 16 by the chartering legislation of a corporation.

17 Sec. 10.50.010. GENERAL STOCK OWNERSHIP CORPORATIONS. (a) A
18 corporation organized under this chapter is a general stock ownership
19 corporation and shall be formed in accordance with subchapter U, chapter 20 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended (26 U.S.C. secs.
21 1391 - 1397), and with this chapter. A corporation is subject to the 22 provisions of this chapter and subchapter U, chapter 1 of the Internal 23 Revenue Code of 1954, as amended (26 U.S.C. sec. 1391 - 1397).

24 (b) A corporation is not an agency, instrumentality, or political 25 subdivision of the state for any purpose.

26 Sec. 10.50.015. GENERAL POWERS. A corporation may 27 (1) have perpetual succession in its corporate name unless a 28 limited period of duration is stated in its articles of incorporation;

29 (2) sue and be sued in its corporate name;

1 (3) adopt a corporate seal and alter it, and use it by having
2 it or a facsimile of it impressed, affixed or reproduced;

3 (4) buy, lease, or otherwise acquire, own, hold, improve, use
4 and otherwise deal in, real or personal property or any interest in 5 property, except that the corporation may not invest in property ac-
6 quired by it, or for its benefit, through the right of eminent domain;

7 (5) sell or otherwise dispose of all or any part of its 8 property and assets;

9 (6) lend money to its employees other than its officers and 10 directors, and otherwise assist its employees, officers and directors;

11 (7) buy or otherwise acquire, own, hold, vote, use, sell, 12 mortgage, lend, pledge, or otherwise dispose of, and otherwise use and 13 deal in shares or other interests in, or obligations of, other corpora-14 tions, associations, partnerships or individuals, or in direct or in-15 direct obligations of the United States or of any other government,
16 state, territory, or municipality or of any instrumentality of them;

17 (8) make contracts and incur liabilities, borrow money at the 18 rates of interest the corporation determines, issue notes, bonds, and 19 other obligations, and secure its obligations by mortgage or pledge of 20 all or any of its property, franchise and income;

21 (9) lend money for its corporate purposes, invest and rein-
22 vest its funds, and take and hold real and personal property as security
23 for the payment of funds loaned or invested;

24 (10) conduct business, carry on operations, and have offices
25 and exercise the powers granted by this chapter in a state, territory,
26 district, or possession of the United States, or in a foreign country;

27 (11) elect or appoint officers and agents of the corporation,
28 define their duties, and fix their compensation;

29 (12) make and alter bylaws not inconsistent with its articles

1 of incorporation or with the laws of the state, for the administration
2 and regulation of the affairs of the corporation;

3 (13) donate for the public welfare or for charitable, scienti-
4 fic or educational purposes, and in time of war donate in aid of war
5 activities;

6 (14) transact lawful business in time of war in aid of the 7 United State in the prosecution of the war;

8 (15) pay pensions and establish pension plans, pension trusts,
9 profit-sharing plans, and other incentive plans for its directors,
10 officers and employees;

11 (16) cease its corporate activities and surrender its corporate 12 franchise;

13 (17) have and exercise the powers of a limited or general
14 partner or a joint adventurer in association with one or more persons,
15 corporations, partnerships or associations;

16 (18) have and exercise lawful powers necessary to carry out
17 the purposes for which the corporation is organized.

18 Sec. 10.50.020. INDEMNIFICATION OF OFFICERS, DIRECTORS, EMPLOYEES
19 AND AGENTS; INSURANCE. (a) A corporation may indemnify a person who 20 was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to a threatened, 21 pending, or completed action or proceeding, whether civil, criminal,
22 administrative, or investigative, other than an action by or in the 23 right of the corporation, by reason of the fact that he is or was a 24 director, officer, employee or agent of the corporation, or is or was 25 serving at the request of the corporation as a director, officer,
26 employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture,
27 trust or other enterprise. Indemnification may be against expenses
28 including attorney fees, judgments, fines, and amounts paid in settle-29 ment actually and reasonably incurred by him in connection with the

1 action or proceeding if he acted in good faith and in a manner he 2 reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the 3 corporation, and, with respect to a criminal action or proceeding, had 4 no reasonable cause to believe his conduct was unlawful. The termina-
5 tion of an action or proceeding by judgment, order, settlement, convic-
6 tion, or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent, does not, of 7 itself, create a presumption that the person did not act in good faith
8 and in a manner which he reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to 9 the best interests of the corporation, and, with respect to a criminal
10 action or proceeding, had reasonable cause to believe that his conduct 11 was unlawful.

12 (b) A corporation may indemnify a person who was or is a party or 13 is threatened to be made a party to a threatened, pending or completed 14 action by or in the right of the corporation to procure a judgment in 15 its favor by reason of the fact that he is or was a director, officer,
16 employee, or agent of the corporation, or is or was serving at the re-17 quest of the corporation as a director, officer, employee, or agent of 18 another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enter-
19 prise. Indemnification may be against expenses, including attorney 20 fees, actually and reasonably incurred by him in connection with the 21 defense or settlement of the action if he acted in good faith and in a 22 manner he reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best inter-
23 ests of the corporation. However, indemnification may not be made for 24 any claim, issue or matter as to which the person has been adjudged to 25 be liable for negligence or misconduct in the performance of his duty to 26 the corporation except to the extent that the court in which the action
27 was brought determines upon application that, despite the adjudication 28 of liability, in view of all the circumstances of the case the person is 29 fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnity for the expenses which the

1 court considers proper.

2 (c) To the extent that a director, officer, employee or agent of a
3 corporation has been successful on the merits or otherwise in defense of 4 an action or proceeding referred to in (a) or (b) of this section, or in 5 defense of any claim, issue or matter in the action or proceeding, he 6 shall be indemnified against expenses, including attorney fees, actually 7 and reasonably incurred by him in connection with it.

8 (d) Indemnification under (a) or (b) of this section, unless 9 ordered by a court, shall be made by the corporation only as authorized 10 in the specific case upon a determination that indemnification of the 11 director, officer, employee or agent is proper in the circumstances 12 because he has met the applicable standard of conduct set out in (a) and 13 (b) of this section. This determination shall be made

14 (1) by the board of directors by a majority vote of a quorum
15 consisting of directors who were not parties to the action or proceed-16 ing, or

17 (2) if such a quorum is not obtainable, or, even if obtain-
18 able if a quorum of disinterested directors so directs, by independent 19 legal counsel in a written opinion, or

20 (3) by the stockholders.

21 (e) Expenses incurred in defending a civil or criminal action or 22 proceeding may be paid by the corporation in advance of the final dis-23 position of the action or proceeding as authorized by the board of 24 directors in the specific case upon receipt of an undertaking by or on 25 behalf of the director, officer, employee or agent to repay the amount 26 unless it is ultimately determined that he is entitled to be indemini-27 fied by the corporation as authorized in this section.

28 (f) The indemnification provided by this section is not exclusive 29 of any other rights to which a person seeking indemnification may be

1 entitled under any bylaw, agreement, vote of stockholders or disinter-
2 ested directors or otherwise, both as to action in his official capacity
3 and as to action in another capacity while holding the office, and 4 continues as to a person who has ceased to be a director, officer,
5 employee or agent, and inures to the benefit of the heirs, executors and 6 administrators of that person.

7 (g) A corporation may purchase and maintain insurance on behalf of 8 a person who is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of the 9 corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the corporation as a 10 director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partner-
11 ship, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any liability 12 asserted against him and incurred by him in such a capacity, or arising 13 out of his status as such, whether or not the corporation would have the 14 power to indemnify him against the liability under the provisions of 15 this section.

16 Sec. 10.50.030. DEFENSE OF ULTRA VIRES. No act of a corporation
17 and no conveyance or transfer of real or personal property to or by a 18 corporation is invalid because the corporation did not have capacity or 19 power to perform the act or to convey or receive the property. However, 20 lack of capacity or power may be asserted as follows.

21 (1) The assertion may be made in a proceeding by a share-
22 holder against the corporation to enjoin the performance of any act or 23 the transfer of real or personal property by or to the corporation. If 24 the unauthorized act or transfer sought to be enjoined is being or to be 25 performed or made under a contract to which the corporation is a party,
26 the court may, if the parties to the contract are parties to the pro-
27 ceeding and if the court considers it equitable, set aside and enjoin
28 the performance of the contract, and in so doing may allow compensation
29 to the corporation or to the other parties to the contract for the loss

1 or damage sustained by either of them resulting from the action of the 2 court in setting aside and enjoining the performance of the contract.
3 The court may not award anticipated profits to be derived from the 4 performance of the contract as a loss or damage sustained.

5 (2) The assertion may be made in a proceeding by the corpora-
6 tion, whether acting directly or through a receiver, trustee, or other
7 legal representative, or through shareholders in a representative suit,
8 against the incumbent or former officers or directors of the corpora-
9 tion.

10 (3) The assertion may be made in a proceeding by the attorney
11 general to dissolve the corporation, or to enjoin the corporation from 12 the transaction of unauthorized business.

13 Sec. 10.50.035. CORPORATE NAME. The corporate name shall contain 14 the words "general stock ownership corporation" or an abbreviation of 15 these words. It may not contain a word or phrase which indicates or 16 implies that it is organized for a purpose other than the purpose con-
17 tained in the articles of incorporation. It may not be the same as, or 18 deceptively similar to, the name of a domestic corporation existing 19 under the laws of the state or a foreign corporation authorized to 20 transact business in the state, or a name which has been reserved or 21 registered as provided in this chapter.

22 Sec. 10.50.040. RESERVATION OF CORPORATE NAME. (a) The exclusive 23 right to the use of a corporate name may be reserved by 24 (1) a person intending to organize a corporation under this 25 chapter;

26 (2) a corporation intending to change its name.

27 (b) Reservation of a corporate name is made by filing an applica-
28 tion with the commissioner. If the commissioner finds that the name is 29 available for corporate use, and not a reserved or registered business

1 name as set out in AS 10.35.010 - 10.35.090, he shall reserve it for the 2 exclusive use of the applicant for a period of two years. A reservation
3 of corporate name may be renewed for one year.

4 (c) The holder of a reserved corporate name may transfer the right
5 to the exclusive use of the corporate name to another person by filing a 6 notice of transfer with the commissioner, signed by the holder and 7 specifying the name and address of the transferee.

8 Sec. 10.50.045. FOREIGN GENERAL STOCK OWNERSHIP CORPORATIONS.
9 Corporations organized under the laws of another state shall be governed
10 according to AS 10.05.

11 Sec. 10.50.050. REGISTERED OFFICE AND REGISTERED AGENT. A corpor-12 ation shall continuously maintain in the state a registered office which 13 may be, but need not be, the same as its place of business, and a regis-
14 tered agent. The registered agent may be either an individual resident 15 of the state whose business office is the same as the registered office, 16 or a corporation organized under AS 10.05 whose business office is the 17 same as the registered office.

18 Sec. 10.50.055. FILING LIST OF REGISTERED CORPORATIONS WITH SUPER-
19 IOR COURT. The commissioner shall file a list of the name of each 20 corporation, the address of the registered office, and the name and 21 address of the registered agent with each clerk of the superior court.
22 The commissioner shall provide a periodic supplement to the list indi-
23 cating additions, deletions and changes at least once every six months.
24 The commissioner shall make the list available to the public for a fee 25 prescribed by him.

26 Sec. 10.50.060. CHANGE OF REGISTERED OFFICE OR AGENT. (a) A
27 corporation may change its registered office, agent, or both, by filing 28 with the department a verified statement signed by the president or 29 vice-president setting out

- 1 (1) the name of the corporation;
- 2 (2) the address of its registered office;
- 3 (3) the address of its new registered office if the regis-
- 4 tered office is to be changed;
- 5 (4) the name of its registered agent;
- 6 (5) the name of its new registered agent, if its registered
- 7 agent is to be changed;
- 8 (6) that the change is authorized by resolution of its board
- 9 of directors.

10 (b) If the commissioner finds that the verified statement complies
11 with this chapter, he shall file it in his office. The change becomes 12 effective when the statement is filed.

13 Sec. 10.50.065. REGISTRATION OF REGISTERED AGENT. (a) If the 14 registered agent of a corporation changes the location of his office 15 from one address to another within a city or town, or from one city or 16 town in the state to another, he may change the registered office for 17 each corporation for whom he is acting as registered agent by filing in 18 the office of the commissioner a statement setting out

- 19 (1) the name of the agent;
- 20 (2) the address of his office before change;
- 21 (3) the address to which the office is changed; and
- 22 (4) a list of corporations for whom he is furnishing a regis-
- 23 tered office.

24 (b) The statement in (a) of this section must be executed by the 25 registered agent in his individual name and, if the agent is a corpora-
26 tion it must be executed by its president or a vice-president and veri-
27 fied by him. The statement must be delivered to the commissioner and if 28 he finds that the statement complies with this chapter, he shall file it 29 in his office. The change becomes effective when the statement is 1 filed.

2 (c) A registered agent may resign by filing a written notice,
3 executed in duplicate, with the commissioner. The written notice of 4 resignation shall set out the latest address of the principal office of 5 the corporation and the names, addresses and titles of the most recent 6 officers of the corporation known by the agent. The commissioner shall 7 immediately mail a copy of the notice to the corporation at its princi-
8 pal office. The appointment of the agent terminates 30 days after 9 receipt of the notice by the commissioner.

10 Sec. 10.50.070. SERVICE OF PROCESS ON CORPORATION. (a) The 11 registered agent of a corporation is an agent upon whom process, notice
12 or demand required or permitted by law to be served upon the corporation 13 may be served.

14 (b) When a corporation fails to appoint or maintain a registered
15 agent in the state, or when its registered agent cannot, with reasonable 16 diligence, be found at the registered office, the commissioner is an 17 agent of the corporation upon whom the process, notice, or demand may be 18 served. Service is made upon the commissioner as agent by leaving with 19 him, or with a clerk having charge of the corporation department of his 20 office, duplicate copies of the process, notice or demand. When pro-
21 cess, notice or demand is served on the commissioner, he shall immedi-22 ately forward a copy of it by registered mail to the corporation at its 23 registered office. Service on the commissioner is returnable in not 24 less than 30 days.

25 (c) The commissioner shall keep a record of processes, notices and 26 demands served upon him showing the time of service and his action with 27 reference to the service. This chapter does not limit or affect the 28 right to serve process, notice or demand required or permitted by law to 29 be served upon a corporation in any other manner permitted by law.

1 Sec. 10.50.075. CREATION AND ISSUANCE OF SHARES. A corporation
2 may create and issue the number of shares stated in its articles of 3 incorporation and as provided in AS 10.50.320(a)(5) - (7). The shares
4 shall be without par value.

5 Sec. 10.50.080. CONSIDERATION FOR SHARES. (a) Shares may be 6 issued without consideration or for consideration fixed by the share-
7 holders before the issuance. Consideration for shares shall be fixed by 8 a vote of a majority of the shares voting on the issue.

9 (c) Treasury shares may be disposed of by the corporation for 10 consideration not more than the book value of the shares.

11 Sec. 10.50.085. PAYMENT FOR SHARES. (a) Consideration for the 12 issuance of shares if required may be paid, in whole or in part, in 13 money, in other property, tangible or intangible, or in labor or ser-
14 vices actually performed for the corporation. When payment of the 15 consideration for shares is received by the corporation, the shares are 16 considered fully paid and nonassessable.

17 (b) A promissory note or future service does not constitute pay-
18 ment or part payment for shares of a corporation.

19 Sec. 10.50.090. JUDGMENT OF BOARD OR SHAREHOLDER AS TO VALUE OF 20 CONSIDERATION CONCLUSIVE. In the absence of fraud in the transaction, 21 the judgment of the board of directors or the shareholders as to the 22 value of the consideration received for shares is conclusive.

23 Sec. 10.50.095. EXPENSES OF ORGANIZATION, REORGANIZATION AND 24 FINANCING. The reasonable charges and expenses of organization or 25 reorganization of a corporation, and the reasonable expenses of and 26 compensation for the sale or underwriting of its shares, may be paid or 27 allowed by the corporation out of the consideration received by it in 28 payment for its shares without rendering the shares not fully paid and 29 nonassessable.

1 Sec. 10.50.100. CERTIFICATES REPRESENTING SHARES. The shares of a
2 corporation shall be represented by certificates signed by the president
3 or vice-president and the secretary or an assistant secretary of the 4 corporation, and may be sealed with the seal of the corporation or a
5 facsimile of the seal. The signatures of the president or vice-presi-
6 dent and the secretary or assistant secretary on a certificate may be 7 facsimiles if the certificate is countersigned by a transfer agent, or 8 registered by a registrar, other than the corporation itself or an 9 employee of the corporation. If an officer who has signed or whose 10 facsimile signature has been placed on a certificate ceases to be an 11 officer before the certificate is issued, it may be issued by the cor-12 poration with the same effect as if he were an officer at the date of 13 its issue.

14 Sec. 10.50.105. INFORMATION REQUIRED TO BE STATED ON CERTIFICATE.
15 Each certificate representing shares shall state on the face

- 16 (1) that the corporation is organized under the laws of the 17 state;
18 (2) the name of the person to whom issued;
19 (3) the number of shares which the certificate represents;
20 (4) a statement that the shares are without par value.

21 Sec. 10.50.110. FULL PAYMENT REQUIRED FOR CERTIFICATE. A certi-
22 ficate may not be issued for a share until the share is fully paid if 23 consideration is required.

24 Sec. 10.50.115. ISSUANCE OF FRACTIONAL SHARES. (a) A corporation
25 may issue a certificate for a fractional share.

26 (b) A certificate for a fractional share entitles the holder to 27 exercise voting rights, to receive dividends, and to participate in the 28 assets of the corporation in the event of liquidation.

29 Sec. 10.50.120. LIABILITY OF SUBSCRIBERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. (a) A

1 holder of or subscriber to shares of a corporation is under no obliga-
2 tion to the corporation or its creditors with respect to the shares
3 other than the obligation to pay to the corporation the full considera-
4 tion for which the shares were issued or to be issued.

5 (b) An assignee or transferee of shares or of a subscription for 6 shares in good faith and without knowledge or notice that the full 7 consideration has not been paid is not personally liable to the corpora-
8 tion or its creditors for any unpaid portion of the consideration.

9 (c) An executor, administrator, conservator, guardian, trustee,
10 assignee for the benefit of creditors, or receiver is not personally
11 liable to the corporation as a holder of or subscriber to shares of a 12 corporation but the estate and funds held by him are liable.

13 (d) A pledgee or other holder of shares as collateral security is 14 not personally liable as a shareholder.

15 Sec. 10.50.125. BYLAWS. The board of directors shall adopt the 16 initial bylaws of a corporation in accordance with AS 10.50.335. The 17 power to alter, amend or repeal the bylaws or to adopt new bylaws is 18 vested in the board of directors and the shareholders. The bylaws may 19 contain provisions for the regulation and management of the affairs of 20 the corporation consistent with law and the articles of incorporation.

21 Sec. 10.50.130. MEETINGS OF SHAREHOLDERS. (a) Meetings of share-
22 holders shall be held in the state, as may be provided in the bylaws.
23 The board of directors shall designate the place of the meeting.

24 (b) An annual meeting of the shareholders shall be held at the 25 time provided in the bylaws. Failure to hold the annual meeting at the 26 designated time does not work a forfeiture or dissolution of the corpora-
27 tion.

28 (c) Special meetings of the shareholders may be called by the 29 president, by the board of directors, by the holders of not less than

1 1,000 shares, or by the other officers or persons provided in the 2 articles of incorporation or the bylaws.

3 (d) The shareholders of a corporation may participate in a meeting
4 of the shareholders by communicating simultaneously with the other 5 shareholders from places designated in the notice of meeting by means of 6 conference telephones or other communications equipment, so long as all 7 shareholders participating in the meeting can hear one another.

8 Sec. 10.50.135. NOTICE OF SHAREHOLDERS' MEETINGS. (a) Beginning
9 not less than 150 days before a meeting of shareholders, the corporation
10 shall notify the shareholders of the time and manner in which (1) nomi-11 nations for the board of directors of the corporation may be made and 12 (2) issues may be placed on the corporation ballot for consideration by 13 the shareholders. Notice shall be by publication in newspapers in all 14 regions of the state and shall appear at least weekly for not less than 15 four weeks.

16 (b) Written or printed notice stating the place, day and hour of 17 the meeting and, in case of a special meeting, the purpose for which the 18 meeting is called, shall be delivered not less than 60 nor more than 90
19 days before the date of the meeting, either personally or by mail, by or 20 at the direction of the president, the secretary, or the officer or 21 persons calling the meeting, to each shareholder of record entitled to 22 vote at the meeting. If mailed, the notice is considered delivered when 23 deposited in the United States mail addressed to the shareholder at his 24 address as it appears on the stock transfer books of the corporation, 25 with postage prepaid.

26 Sec. 10.50.140. CLOSING OF TRANSFER BOOKS AND FIXING RECORD DATE.

27 (a) To determine the shareholders entitled to notice of or to vote at a 28 meeting of shareholders or an adjournment of a meeting, or entitled to 29 receive payment of a dividend, or in order to make a determination of 1 shareholders for any other proper purpose, the board of directors of a 2 corporation may provide that the stock transfer books shall be closed

3 for a stated period not exceeding 90 days. If the stock transfer books
4 are closed to determine shareholders entitled to notice of or to vote at 5 a meeting of shareholders, they shall be closed for at least 60 days
6 immediately preceding the meeting.

7 (b) Instead of closing the stock transfer books, the bylaws, or in 8 the absence of an applicable bylaw the board of directors, may fix in 9 advance a date as the record date for the determination of shareholders.
10 This record date shall be not more than 90 days and, in case of a meeting 11 of shareholders, not less than 60 days before the date on which the 12 particular action requiring the determination of shareholders is to be 13 taken. If the stock transfer books are not closed and no record date is 14 fixed for the determination of shareholders entitled to notice of or to 15 vote at a meeting of shareholders, or shareholders entitled to receive 16 payment of a dividend, the date on which notice of the meeting is mailed 17 or the date on which the resolution of the board of directors declaring 18 the dividend is adopted is, as the case may be, the record date for the 19 determination of shareholders. When a determination of shareholders
20 entitled to vote at a meeting of shareholders is made, the determination
21 applies to an adjournment of the meeting except when the determination 22 has been made through the closing of the stock transfer books and the 23 stated period of closing has expired.

24 Sec. 10.50.145. VOTING LIST. (a) At least 60 days before each
25 meeting of shareholders, the officer or agent having charge of the stock 26 transfer books for shares of a corporation shall make a list of the 27 shareholders entitled to vote at the meeting or an adjournment of the 28 meeting, arranged in alphabetical order, with the address of and the 29 number of shares held by each. The list shall be kept on file at the

1 registered office of the corporation and is subject to inspection by a
2 shareholder at any time during usual business hours for a period of 60
3 days before the meeting. The list shall also be produced and kept open
4 at the time and place of the meeting and shall be subject to the inspec-
5 tion of a shareholder during the meeting. The original stock transfer 6 books are prima facie evidence as to who are the shareholders entitled 7 to examine the list or transfer books or to vote at a meeting of share-
8 holders.

9 (b) Failure to comply with the requirements of this section does
10 not affect the validity of the action taken at the meeting.

11 Sec. 10.50.150. QUORUM OF SHAREHOLDERS. One-third of the shares
12 entitled to vote, represented in person or by ballots, constitutes a 13 quorum at a meeting of shareholders. Each outstanding share is entitled 14 to one vote on each matter submitted to a vote at a meeting of share-
15 holders. If a quorum is present, the affirmative vote of the majority 16 of the shares represented at the meeting and entitled to vote on the 17 subject matter is the act of the shareholders, unless the vote of a 18 great number is required by this chapter or the articles of incorpora-19 tion or the bylaws.

20 Sec. 10.50.155. PROXY VOTING PROHIBITED. A shareholder may not 21 vote by proxy.

22 Sec. 10.50.160. VOTING FOR DIRECTORS. At an election for directors
23 every shareholder entitled to vote may vote the number of shares owned 24 by him for as many persons as there are directors to be elected and for 25 whose election he has a right to vote. Shareholders may not cumulate 26 their votes.

27 Sec. 10.50.165. VOTING OF SHARES IN THE NAME OF ANOTHER. (a)
28 Shares held by an administrator, executor, guardian or conservator may 29 be voted by him, either in person or by ballot, without a transfer of

1 the shares into his name.

2 (b) Shares standing in the name of a receiver may be voted by him,
3 and shares held by or under the control of a receiver may be voted by 4 him without the transfer of the shares into his name if authority to do
5 so is contained in an appropriate order of the court by which the 6 receiver was appointed.

7 Sec. 10.50.170. VOTING OF PLEDGED SHARES. A shareholder whose 8 shares are pledged may vote the shares until they have been transferred 9 into the name of the pledgee, and thereafter the pledgee may vote the 10 shares so transferred.

11 Sec. 10.50.175. CORPORATION BALLOT. (a) The corporation shall 12 prepare one ballot for each meeting of the shareholders. The ballot
13 shall be mailed to the shareholders with the notice of meeting. Candi-
14 dates for the board of directors and proposals for shareholder consider-15 ation shall be included in the ballot as provided in this section.

16 (b) A candidate for director shall be nominated by

17 (1) a resolution adopted by the board of directors; or

18 (2) a petition signed by at least 1,000 shareholders and 19 filed with the secretary of the corporation at least 120 days before the 20 meeting at which the election is to be held.

21 (c) A proposal for amendment of the bylaws or other proper corpor-
22 ate purpose shall be included on the ballot if authorized by

23 (1) a resolution adopted by the board of directors setting
24 out the proposal and directing that it be submitted to a vote at the 25 meeting of shareholders; or

26 (2) a petition, setting out the proposal and directing that 27 it be submitted to a vote at the next meeting of shareholders, signed by 28 at least 1,000 shareholders and filed with the secretary of the corpora-29 tion at least 120 days before the next meeting of shareholders.

1 (d) A written or printed notice setting out the candidates' quali-
2 fications for office and the proposals to be put to a vote of the share-
3 holders and any materials in opposition to the proposals shall be given 4 to each shareholder of record entitled to vote within the time and in 5 the manner provided in this chapter for the giving of notice of meetings
6 of shareholders.

7 Sec. 10.50.180. BOARD OF DIRECTORS. (a) The business and affairs
8 of a corporation shall be managed by a board of directors. At least 9 three-quarters of the board of directors, including the chairman of the 10 board of directors, must be residents of the state. The articles of 11 incorporation or bylaws may prescribe other qualifications for direc-
12 tors. The compensation of directors shall be fixed by the bylaws.

13 (b) A director is entitled to attend any meeting of a committee of 14 the board of directors whether or not he is a member of the committee.
15 A director is entitled to inspect all records of any committee of the 16 board of directors.

17 (c) An officer or employee of the corporation may not serve as a 18 member of the board of directors.

19 Sec. 10.50.185. NUMBER OF DIRECTORS. (a) The number of directors
20 of a corporation shall be at least three. The number of directors shall 21 be fixed by the bylaws, except that the number constituting the initial 22 board of directors shall be fixed by the chartering legislation.

23 (b) The number of directors may be increased or decreased by 24 amendment to the bylaws, but a decrease may not shorten the term of an 25 incumbent director.

26 (c) In the absence of a bylaw fixing the number of directors, the 27 number shall be the same as that stated in the chartering legislation.

28 (d) The board of directors shall be divided into two classes, each 29 class to be as nearly equal in number as possible, with the term of

1 office of directors of the first class to expire at the first annual 2 meeting of shareholders after their election, that of the second class
3 to expire at the second annual meeting after their election. At each 4 annual meeting after the classification the number of directors equal to 5 the number of the class whose term expires at the time of the meeting
6 shall be elected to hold office until the second succeeding annual 7 meeting if there are two classes. No classification of directors is 8 effective prior to the first annual meeting of shareholders.

9 Sec. 10.50.190. ELECTION OF DIRECTORS. At the first annual meet-
10 ing of shareholders and at each annual meeting thereafter the share-
11 holders shall elect directors. Each director holds office for the term 12 for which he is elected and until his successor is elected and quali-13 fied.

14 Sec. 10.50.195. VACANCIES. A vacancy occurring in the board of 15 directors may be filled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the 16 remaining directors though the majority is less than a quorum of the 17 board. A director elected by the board of directors to fill a vacancy
18 shall serve until the next annual meeting. The shareholders shall elect 19 a director for the unexpired term, if any, of the director's position to 20 which the board elected his predecessor. A directorship to be filled by 21 reason of an increase in the number of directors shall be filled by 22 election at an annual meeting or at a special meeting of shareholders
23 called for that purpose. In no case may a vacancy continue for longer
24 than six months or until the next annual meeting, whichever occurs 25 first.

26 Sec. 10.50.200. QUORUM OF DIRECTORS. A majority of the number of 27 directors fixed by the bylaws, or in the absence of a bylaw fixing the 28 number of directors, then of the number stated in the articles of incor-
29 poration, constitutes a quorum for the transaction of business unless a

1 greater number is required by the articles of incorporation or the 2 bylaws. The act of the majority of the directors present at a meeting
3 at which a quorum is present is the act of the board of directors,
4 unless the act of a greater number is required by the articles of incor-
5 poration or the bylaws.

6 Sec. 10.50.205. PLACE AND NOTICE OF DIRECTORS' MEETINGS. (a)
7 Regular or special meetings of the board of directors maybe held only in 8 the state.

9 (b) Regular meetings of the board of directors may be held with or 10 without notice as prescribed in the bylaws. Special meetings of the 11 board of directors may be held only after the notice prescribed in the 12 bylaws. Attendance of a director at a meeting constitutes a waiver of 13 notice of the meeting, except when a director attends a meeting for the 14 express purpose of objecting to the transaction of any business because 15 the meeting is not lawfully called or convened. The business to be 16 transacted or the purpose of a special meeting of the board of directors
17 must be specified in the notice or waiver of notice of the meeting.

18 Sec. 10.50.210. PARTICIPATION BY TELEPHONE. The members of the 19 board of directors of a corporation, or a committee designated by it,
20 may participate in a meeting of the board or committee by communicating 21 simultaneously with each other by means of conference telephones or 22 similar communications equipment, so long as all members participating 23 in the meeting can hear one another. Participation in a meeting under 24 this section constitutes presence in person at the meeting.

25 Sec. 10.50.215. DISTRIBUTIONS. (a) Except for distributions
26 required to comply with subchapter U, chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue
27 Code of 1954, as amended (26 U.S.C. secs. 1391 - 1397), a corporation 28 may not make a distribution to its shareholders unless

29 (1) the amount of the retained earning of the corporation

1 immediately before the proposed distribution equals or exceeds the 2 amount of the proposed distribution; or

3 (2) immediately after giving effect to the proposed distribu-
4 tion

5 (A) the sum of the assets of the corporation, exclusive 6 of goodwill, capitalized research and development expenses and 7 deferred charges would be at least equal to one and one-fourth
8 times its liabilities, not including deferred taxes, deferred
9 income and other deferred credits; and

10 (B) the current assets of the corporation would be at 11 least equal to its current liabilities or, if the average of the 12 earnings of the corporation before taxes on income and before 13 interest expense for the two preceding fiscal years was less than 14 the average of the interest expense of the corporation for those 15 fiscal years, at least equal to one and one-fourth times its current 16 liabilities.

17 (b) In determining the amount of the assets of the corporation, no
18 appreciation in value not yet realized may in any event be included, 19 except for readily marketable securities, and profits derived from an 20 exchange of assets may not be included unless the assets received are 21 currently realizable in cash.

22 (c) For the purpose of this section "current assets" may include
23 net amounts which the board has determined in good faith may reasonably 24 be expected to be received from customers during the 12-month period
25 used in calculating current liabilities under existing contractual
26 relationships obligating the customers to make fixed or periodic pay-
27 ments during the term of the contract, after giving effect to future
28 costs not then included in current liabilities but reasonably expected
29 to be incurred by the corporation in performing the contracts.

1 (d) The amount of a distribution payable in property shall, for 2 the purpose of this chapter, be determined on the basis of the value at 3 which the property is carried on the corporation's financial statements
4 in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

5 (e) Subparagraph (a)(2)(B) of this section does not apply to a
6 corporation which does not classify its assets into current and fixed 7 assets under generally accepted accounting principles.

8 Sec. 10.50.220. DISTRIBUTIONS IN PARTIAL LIQUIDATION. The board
9 of directors may, from time to time, distribute to its shareholders in 10 partial liquidation a portion of its assets, subject to the following 11 provisions:

12 (1) A distribution may not be made at a time when the corpor-
13 ation is insolvent or when the distribution would render the corporation 14 insolvent.

15 (2) A distribution may not be made unless the distribution is 16 authorized by the affirmative vote of the holders of at least two-thirds 17 of the shares voting on the issue at a meeting of shareholders.

18 (3) Each distribution, when made, shall be identified as a 19 distribution in partial liquidation and the amount per share disclosed
20 to the shareholders concurrently with the distribution.

21 Sec. 10.50.225. CERTAIN LOANS PROHIBITED. A loan may not be made 22 by a corporation to its officers or directors, and a loan may not be 23 made by a corporation secured by its shares.

24 Sec. 10.50.230. LIABILITY OF DIRECTORS IN CERTAIN CASES. (a)
25 Directors who vote for or assent to the declaration of a dividend or 26 other distribution of the assets of a corporation to its shareholders
27 contrary to the provisions of this chapter or contrary to restrictions
28 contained in the articles of incorporation are jointly and severally 29 liable to the corporation for the amount of the dividend paid, or the

1 value of assets distributed in excess of the amount of the dividend or 2 distribution which could have been paid or distributed without a viola-
3 tion of the provisions of this chapter or the restrictions in the arti-
4 cles of incorporation.

5 (b) Directors who vote for or assent to the purchase by a corpora-
6 tion of its own shares contrary to the provisions of this chapter are 7 jointly and severally liable to the corporation for the amount of consi-
8 deration paid in excess of the maximum amount which could have been paid
9 without a violation of the provisions of this chapter.

10 (c) The directors who vote for or assent to the distribution of 11 assets of a corporation to its shareholders during the liquidation of 12 the corporation without the payment and discharge of, or making adequate 13 provision for, all known debts, obligations, and liabilities of the 14 corporation are jointly and severally liable to the corporation for the 15 value of the assets distributed, to the extent that the debts, obliga-
16 tions and liabilities of the corporation are not paid and discharged.

17 (d) The directors who vote for or assent to the making of a loan
18 to an officer or director of the corporation, or the making of a loan
19 secured by shares of the corporation, are jointly and severally liable
20 to the corporation for the amount of the loan until it is repaid.

21 Sec. 10.50.235. EFFECT OF GOOD FAITH RELIANCE ON FINANCIAL STATE-
22 MENTS OR BOOK VALUE. A director is not liable under AS 10.50.230(a), 23 (b) or (c) if

24 (1) he relied and acted in good faith upon financial state-
25 ments of the corporation represented to him to be correct by the presi-26 dent or the officer of the corporation having charge of its books of 27 account, or certified by an independent public or certified public 28 accountant or firm of certified public accountants fairly to reflect the 29 financial condition of the corporation; or

1 (2) in good faith in determining the amount available for a
2 dividend or distribution he considered the assets to be of their book 3 value.

4 Sec. 10.50.240. PRESUMPTION OF CONSENT OF DIRECTOR AND FILING OF 5 DISSENT. A director present at a meeting of the board of directors at 6 which action on a corporate matter is taken is presumed to have assented
7 to the action taken unless his dissent is entered in the minutes of the 8 meeting or unless he files his written dissent to the action with the 9 person acting as secretary of the meeting before its adjournment or 10 forwards his dissent by registered mail to the secretary of the corpora-
11 tion within five days after the adjournment of the meeting. The right 12 to dissent does not apply to a director who voted in favor of the action.

13 Sec. 10.50.245. DIRECTOR'S RIGHT TO CONTRIBUTION. A director
14 against whom a claim is asserted under AS 10.50.230 - 10.50.240 is 15 entitled to contribution from the other directors who voted for or 16 assented to the action upon which the claim is asserted.

17 Sec. 10.50.250. OFFICERS. The officers of a corporation consist 18 of a president, one or more vice-presidents as prescribed by the bylaws, 19 a secretary, and a treasurer. Each of the officers shall be elected by 20 the board of directors at the time and in the manner prescribed by the 21 bylaws. Other necessary officers and assistant officers and agents may 22 be elected or appointed by the board of directors or chosen in the 23 manner prescribed by the bylaws. Two or more offices may be held by the 24 same person, except the offices of president and secretary.

25 Sec. 10.50.255. DUTIES OF OFFICERS. Officers and agents of the 26 corporation, as between themselves and the corporation, may perform
27 duties in the management of the corporation as provided in the bylaws, 28 or as determined by resolution of the board of directors not inconsis-
29 tent with the bylaws.

1 Sec. 10.50.260. REMOVAL OF OFFICERS. An officer or agent may be
2 removed by the board of directors when, in its judgment, the best inter-
3 ests of the corporation will be served. Removal is without prejudice to 4 the contract rights of the person removed. Election or appointment of 5 an officer or agent does not of itself create contract rights.

6 Sec. 10.50.265. BOOKS AND RECORDS. (a) A corporation organized
7 under this chapter shall keep correct and complete books and records of 8 account, minutes of the proceedings of its shareholders and board of 9 directors, and a record of its shareholders, containing the names and 10 addresses of all shareholders and the number and class of the shares 11 held by each.

12 (b) A corporation organized under this chapter shall make these 13 books and records, or certified copies of them, reasonably available for 14 inspection at the registered office or principal place of business in 15 the state by the department or a shareholder described by AS 10.50.270.

16 Sec. 10.50.270. SHAREHOLDER'S RIGHT TO EXAMINE BOOKS AND RECORDS.
17 A shareholder, upon written demand stating the purpose of the demand,
18 may, in person or by agent or attorney, at a reasonable time for a 19 proper purpose, examine and make extracts from its books and records of 20 account, minutes and record of shareholders.

21 Sec. 10.50.275. LIABILITY FOR REFUSAL OF EXAMINATION. An officer
22 or agent who, or a corporation which, refuses to allow a shareholder, or 23 his agent or attorney, to examine and make extracts from its books and 24 records of account, minutes, and record of shareholders, for a proper 25 purpose, is liable to the shareholder in a penalty of $1,000 for each 26 day, in addition to other damages or remedy given him by law. It is a 27 defense to an action for penalties under this section that the person
28 suing has within two years sold or offered for sale a list of share-29 holders of the corporation or any other corporation or has aided or

1 abetted a person in procuring a list of shareholders for this purpose,
2 or has improperly used information secured through a prior examination
3 of the books and records of account, or minutes, or record of share-
4 holders of the corporation or any other corporation, or was not acting
5 in good faith or for a proper purpose in making his demand.

6 Sec. 10.50.280. COURT MAY COMPEL INSPECTION. AS 10.50.265 - 10.-
7 50.285 do not impair the power of a court, upon proof by a shareholder
8 of proper purpose, to compel the production for examination by the 9 shareholder of the books and records of account, minutes, and record of 10 shareholders of a corporation.

11 Sec. 10.50.285. SHAREHOLDERS' RIGHT TO FINANCIAL STATEMENT. Upon 12 the written request of a shareholder of a corporation, the corporation
13 shall mail to the shareholder its most recent financial statements
14 showing in reasonable detail its assets and liabilities and the results 15 of its operations.

16 Sec. 10.50.290. REMOVAL OF DIRECTORS BY SUPERIOR COURT. The 17 superior court may upon an action filed by the attorney general or at 18 least 100 shareholders of at least 18 years of age, remove from office 19 any director in case of fraudulent or dishonest acts or gross abuse of 20 authority or discretion with reference to the corporation and may bar 21 from reelection a director so removed for a period prescribed by the 22 court. The corporation shall be made a party to the action.

23 Sec. 10.50.295. SHAREHOLDER REMOVAL OF DIRECTORS. (a) The entire 24 board of directors an initial director, or a director elected by the 25 board of directors may be removed from office by the affirmative vote of 26 the holders of a majority of the shares voting at an annual or special 27 meeting for which notice of the proposal has been given.

28 (b) An individual director may be removed if the number of votes
29 cast for his removal exceeds the number of votes he received at the last

1 preceding election during which he was a candidate for the office of 2 director.

3 Sec. 10.50.300. SHAREHOLDERS' DERIVATIVE ACTION. (a) An action
4 may be brought on behalf of a corporation, by a shareholder of the 5 corporation, for a judgment in its favor.

6 (b) A person bringing suit under this section must be a share-
7 holder at the time of bringing the action, and must have been a share-8 holder at the time of the transaction of which he complains or have 9 received his shares by operation of law at that time.

10 (c) In an action under this section, the complaint shall set out
11 with particularity the efforts of the plaintiff to secure the initiation 12 of an action by the board of directors or the reasons for not making 13 those efforts.

14 (d) An action under this section may not be discontinued, com-
15 promised or settled, without the approval of the court having jurisdic-
16 tion of the action. If the court determines that the interests of the 17 shareholders will be substantially affected by a discontinuance, com-18 promise, or settlement, the court, in its discretion, may direct that 19 notice, by publication or otherwise, be given to the shareholders whose 20 interests it determines will be affected. If notice is required, the 21 court may determine which one or more of the parties to the action must 22 bear the expense of giving the notice, in an amount the court determines 23 and finds to be reasonable, and the amount determined shall be awarded 24 as special costs of the action and recoverable by the prevailing party.

25 (e) If the action on behalf of the corporation is successful, in 26 whole or in part, or if anything is received by the plaintiff as the 27 result of a judgment, compromise or settlement of an action, the court
28 may award the plaintiff reasonable expenses, including reasonable attor-
29 ney fees, and shall direct the plaintiff to account to the corporation

1 for the remainder of the proceeds received by him. This subsection does
2 not apply to a judgment rendered only for the benefit of an injured
3 shareholder and limited to a recovery of the loss or damage sustained by 4 him.

5 (f) In an action under this section, at any time within 30 days
6 after service of summons upon the corporation or upon any defendant who 7 is an officer or director of the corporation, or who held such office at 8 the time of the transaction complained of, the corporation or other
9 defendant may move the court for an order, upon notice and hearing,
10 requiring the plaintiff to furnish security. The motion shall be based 11 upon one or both of the following grounds:

12 (1) that there is no reasonable possibility that the prosecu-
13 tion of the cause of action alleged in the complaint will benefit the 14 corporation or its shareholders; or

15 (2) that the moving party, if other than the corporation, did
16 not participate in the transaction complained of in any capacity.

17 (g) If the court determines, after hearing the evidence adduced by 18 the parties, that the moving party has established by a preponderance of 19 the evidence any of the grounds upon which the motion is based, the 20 court shall fix the nature and amount of security, not to exceed $50,000,
21 to be furnished by the plaintiff for reasonable expenses, including 22 attorney fees, which may be incurred by the moving party or the corpora-23 tion in connection with the action, including expenses for which the 24 corporation may become liable under this chapter. A ruling by the court 25 on the motion is not considered a determination of any issue in the 26 action or of its merits. The amount of the security may be increased or 27 decreased in the discretion of the court upon a showing that the secur-
28 ity provided has or may become inadequate or excessive, but the court 29 may not increase the total amount of the security beyond $50,000 in the

1 aggregate for all defendants. If the court, upon motion, decides that 2 security must be furnished by the plaintiff as to any one or more defen-
3 dants, the action shall be dismissed as to the defendant or defendants,
4 unless the security required by the court is furnished within a reason-
5 able time fixed by the court. The corporation and the moving party have 6 recourse to the security in the amount the court determines upon the 7 termination of the action.

8 (h) If the plaintiff, before an order or determination pursuant to 9 a motion under (f) of this section, posts bond in the aggregate amount 10 of $50,000 to secure the reasonable expenses of the parties entitled to 11 make the motion, the plaintiff has complied with the requirements of 12 this section and with any order for security. A pending motion under 13 (f) of this section shall be dismissed and no further or additional bond 14 or other security may be required.

15 (i) If a motion is filed under (f) of this section, no pleadings
16 need be filed by the corporation or any other defendant and the prosecu-
17 tion of the action shall be stayed until 10 days after the motion has 18 been disposed of.

19 Sec. 10.50.305. FRAUDULENT TRANSFERS OF SHARES. An individual who 20 transfers or obtains shares of the corporation, or in his capacity as 21 legal guardian obtains shares of the corporation for another, through 22 fraud, misrepresentation, or any deceitful or illegal means is guilty of 23 a felony.

24 Sec. 10.50.310. POLITICAL ACTIVITIES. (a) A corporation may not

25 (1) make contributions or spend money to influence the nomi-
26 nation or election of a candidate for office or the outcome of a ballot
27 proposition or question;

28 (2) endorse a candidate for office or any side of a ballot
29 proposition or question;

1 (3) make any expenditures, including reimbursement for travel
2 and living expenses, or employ any person for the purpose of influencing 3 legislative action.

4 (b) A corporation that knowingly violates this section or that 5 knowingly causes, participates in, aids, or confirms a violation of this 6 section is, upon conviction, punishable by a fine of not more than 7 $10,000 for each offense.

8 (c) An individual who knowingly violates this section, whether 9 acting for himself, on behalf of an employer, or in concert with another 10 person, is, upon conviction, guilty of a misdemeanor.

11 (d) An individual who knowingly causes, participates in, aids, or 12 confirms any violation of this section is, upon conviction, guilty of a 13 misdemeanor.

14 ARTICLE 2. FORMATION OF CORPORATIONS.

15 Sec. 10.50.315. INCORPORATORS. Three or more natural persons at 16 least 18 years of age may act as incorporators of a corporation by 17 signing, verifying and delivering in duplicate to the commissioner
18 articles of incorporation for the corporation.

19 Sec. 10.50.320. ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION. (a) The articles of 20 incorporation of a corporation shall set out

- 21 (1) the name of the corporation;
22 (2) the period of duration, which may be perpetual;
23 (3) the purpose or purposes for which the corporation is 24 organized;
25 (4) the aggregate number of shares which the corporation may 26 issue;
27 (5) that only one class of stock may be issued by the cor-
28 poration;
29 (6) that shares of stock may be issued only to individuals

1 who were residents of the state on the effective date of its chartering
2 legislation and who continued to be residents until the date of issuance
3 of the shares;

4 (7) that at least one share of stock shall be issued to each
5 individual eligible under (6) of this subsection, unless that individual 6 elects within one year after the date of issuance not to receive the 7 share;

8 (8) that no share of stock may be voluntarily or involun-
9 tarily transferred

10 (A) or encumbered by a shareholder, other than by will 11 or under the laws relating to intestate succession, until five 12 years after the date of issuance of the share, except if the share-
13 holder ceases to be a resident of the state;

14 (B) to an individual other than one who is a resident on 15 the date of transfer;

16 (C) to an individual who, after the transfer, would own
17 more than 10 shares of stock of the corporation;

18 (D) or encumbered by a shareholder under 18 years of age
19 or encumbered by that shareholder's parent or legal guardian;

20 (9) that the corporation must qualify as a general stock
21 ownership corporation under subchapter U of the Internal Revenue Code of 22 1954, as amended (26 U.S.C. secs. 1391 - 1397);

23 (10) any other provision consistent with law which the incor-
24 porators elect to set out in the articles of incorporation for the 25 regulation of the internal affairs of the corporation, including a 26 provision which, under this chapter, is required or permitted to be set 27 out in the bylaws;

28 (11) the address of its initial registered office, and the 29 name of its initial registered agent at that address;

1 (12) the number of directors constituting the initial board of 2 directors and the names and addresses of the persons who are to serve as 3 directors until their successors are elected and qualify;

4 (13) the name and address of each incorporator.

5 (b) It is not necessary to set out in the articles of incorpora-
6 tion any of the corporate powers enumerated in this chapter.

7 Sec. 10.50.325. FILING OF ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION. (a) Dupli-
8 cate originals of the articles of incorporation shall be delivered to 9 the commissioner. If the commissioner finds that the articles of incor-
10 poration conform to law, he shall, when all fees prescribed in AS 10.-
11 05.708 - 10.05.774 have been paid,

12 (1) endorse on each duplicate original the word "filed" and
13 the date of the filing;

14 (2) file one duplicate original in his office;

15 (3) issue a certificate of incorporation and affix the other
16 duplicate original to it.

17 (b) The certificate of incorporation, together with the duplicate
18 original of the articles of incorporation affixed by the commissioner, 19 shall be returned to the incorporators or their representative.

20 Sec. 10.50.330. EFFECT OF ISSUANCE OF CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORA-
21 TION. Upon the issuance of the certificate of incorporation, the cor-
22 porate existence begins. The certificate of incorporation is conclusive
23 evidence that all conditions required to be performed by the incorpora-
24 tors have been complied with and that the corporation has been incor-
25 porated. The issuance of the certificate does not affect the right of 26 the state to bring a proceeding to cancel or revoke the certificate of 27 incorporation or for involuntary dissolution of the corporation.

28 Sec. 10.50.335. ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION AND INITIAL BYLAWS. (a)
29 The corporation shall submit copies of the original articles of incor-

1 poration and the initial bylaws adopted under AS 10.05.340 to the legis-
2 lature within 30 days of the issuance of the certificate of incorpora-
3 tion.

4 (b) The legislature, within 60 legislative days after receipt of a
5 copy of the original articles of incorporation and the initial bylaws,
6 may disapprove any provision of the articles of incorporation or bylaws
7 by concurrent resolution. Disapproval by the legislature of a provision 8 of the articles of incorporation or the bylaws of a corporation does not 9 alter or impair the power of a corporation to fulfill the terms of a
10 contractual agreement or impair the rights of a person with whom a 11 corporation has entered into a contractual agreement.

12 (c) A provision of the articles of incorporation or the bylaws is 13 suspended upon disapproval by the legislature and is of no effect unless 14 approved by a majority of the shares voting on the issue at the next 15 meeting of the shareholders.

16 Sec. 10.50.340. ORGANIZATION MEETING OF DIRECTORS. After the 17 issuance of the certificate of incorporation an organizational meeting 18 of the board of directors named in the articles of incorporation shall 19 be held in the state, at the call of a majority of the incorporators,
20 for the purpose of adopting bylaws, electing officers, and the trans-
21 action of other business as may come before the meeting. The incor-22 porators calling the meeting shall give at least 10 days notice of the 23 meeting by mail to each director named. The notice shall state the time 24 and place of the meeting.

25 ARTICLE 3. APPLICATION FOR SHARES.

26 Sec. 10.50.345. NOTIFICATION OF ELIGIBLE SHAREHOLDERS. Beginning
27 not less than 90 days before the initial issue of stock, the corporation
28 shall at least weekly notify the public of its intention to issue stock
29 and the method for qualifying and applying for shares. The notice shall

1 be by publication in newspapers of all regions of the state, by radio
2 and television announcements, and by other means the corporation deter-
3 mines to be appropriate and reasonable, and shall be continued at least 4 one each month for 11 months following the date of issuance of shares.

5 Sec. 10.50.350. CORPORATION NOT LIABLE TO SHAREHOLDERS. Regis-
6 tration for issuance of the initial shares of the corporation is a
7 responsibility solely of an individual eligible under AS 10.50.320(a)(6)
8 to receive the initial shares of the corporation. The corporation may 9 not be held liable for

- 10 (1) any loss resulting directly or indirectly from the 11 failure of an individual to apply for shares of the corporation; or 12 (2) payment of a declared or paid dividend to an individual
13 who would have been entitled to receive the dividend had he been a 14 shareholder at the time of declaration or payment.

15 Sec. 10.50.355. LATE APPLICATION FOR SHARES. An individual eli-16 gible under AS 10.50.320(a)(6) to receive the initial shares of the 17 corporation who failed to apply for the shares within one year after 18 their issuance may apply for and receive the shares any time after one 19 year and within two years after the date of issuance if he is otherwise 20 qualified to own stock of the corporation and upon the payment of the 21 book value of the shares.

22 Sec. 10.50.360. PENALTIES FOR MISREPRESENTATION OF ELIGIBILITY AS 23 SHAREHOLDER. The ownership interest in shares of the corporation's 24 stock issued to an individual ineligible to receive the initial shares, 25 who has presented fraudulent or misleading information regarding his 26 eligibility to own those shares, is void upon the issuance of an appro-
27 priate order by the superior court. The ineligible individual is also 28 liable for the full amount of dividends, or other distributions to 29 shareholders received by him plus interest from the date of distribu-

1 tion, and legal fees and costs of recovery incurred by the corporation.
2 This section applies to an individual who has presented fraudulent or 3 misleading information regarding the eligibility of another person for 4 whom he acts in the capacity of legal guardian.

5 ARTICLE 4. AMENDMENT.

6 Sec. 10.50.365. RIGHT TO AMEND ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION. A cor-
7 poration may amend its articles of incorporation so long as its articles
8 of incorporation as amended contain provisions which could be lawfully 9 contained in original articles of incorporation at the time the amend-10 ment is made.

11 Sec. 10.50.370. PURPOSES FOR WHICH ARTICLES MAY BE AMENDED. With-12 out limitation on the general power of amendment, a corporation may 13 amend its articles of incorporation to

- 14 (1) change its corporate name;
- 15 (2) change its period of duration;
- 16 (3) change, enlarge or diminish its corporate purposes;
- 17 (4) increase or decrease the aggregate number of shares, or 18 shares of a class, which the corporation may issue;
- 19 (5) exchange or cancel its shares, whether issued or un-
20 issued.

21 Sec. 10.50.375. PROCEDURE TO AMEND ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION.
22 Amendments to the articles of incorporation shall be made in the follow-
23 ing manner.

24 (1) The board of directors may adopt a resolution setting out
25 the proposed amendment and directing that it be submitted to a vote at 26 the next meeting of shareholders.

27 (2) A proposed amendment shall be submitted to a vote at the 28 next meeting of shareholders if the secretary of the corporation re-29 ceives a petition setting out the proposed amendment and is signed by at 1 least 1,000 shareholders.

2 (3) Written or printed notice setting out the proposed amend-
3 ment or a summary of the changes to be effected shall be given to each
4 shareholder of record entitled to vote within the time and in the manner
5 provided in this chapter for the giving of notice of meetings of share-
6 holders. If the meeting is an annual meeting, the proposed amendment or 7 summary may be included in the notice of the annual meeting.

8 (4) At the meeting a vote of the shareholders entitled to 9 vote shall be taken on the proposed amendment. The proposed amendment 10 shall be adopted if it receives the affirmative vote of the holders of 11 at least two-thirds of the shares voting.

12 (5) More than one amendment may be submitted to the share-
13 holders and voted upon at one meeting.

14 Sec. 10.50.380. ARTICLES OF AMENDMENT. The articles of amendment
15 shall be executed in duplicate by the corporation by its president or 16 vice-president and by its secretary or an assistant secretary, and 17 verified by one of the officers signing the articles, and shall set out

18 (1) the name of the corporation;

19 (2) the amendment adopted;

20 (3) the date of the adoption of the amendment by the share-
21 holders;

22 (4) the number of shares outstanding and the number of shares
23 voting;

24 (5) the number of shares voted for and against the amendment,
25 respectively;

26 (6) if the amendment provides for an exchange or cancellation
27 of issued shares, and if the manner in which this is carried out is not 28 set out in the amendment, a statement of the manner in which it is to be 29 carried out.

1 Sec. 10.50.385. FILING OF ARTICLES OF AMENDMENT. (a) Duplicate
2 originals of the articles of amendment shall be delivered to the commis-
3 sioner. If the commissioner finds that the articles of amendment con-4 form to law, he shall, when all fees and franchise taxes prescribed in 5 this chapter have been paid,

6 (1) endorse on each duplicate original the word "filed" and
7 the date of the filing;

8 (2) file one duplicate original in his office;

9 (3) issue a certificate of amendment and affix the other
10 duplicate original to it.

11 (b) The certificate of amendment, together with the duplicate
12 original of the articles of amendment affixed by the commissioner, shall 13 be returned to the corporation or its representative.

14 Sec. 10.50.390. EFFECT OF CERTIFICATE OF AMENDMENT. (a) Upon the 15 issuance of the certificate of amendment by the commissioner, the amend-16 ment becomes effective and the articles of incorporation are considered 17 amended accordingly.

18 (b) No amendment may affect an existing cause of action in favor
19 of or against the corporation, or a pending suit to which the corpora-
20 tion is a party, or the existing rights of persons other than share-
21 holders. In the event the corporate name is changed by amendment, no 22 suit brought by or against the corporation under its former name abates 23 for that reason.

24 Sec. 10.50.395. RESTATED ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION. A corporation
25 may at any time, by resolution adopted by the board of directors, re-
26 state its articles of incorporation as amended up to that time. Upon 27 the adoption of the resolution, restated articles of incorporation shall 28 be executed in duplicate by the corporation by its president or a vice-29 president and by its secretary or assistant secretary and verified by

1 one of the officers signing the articles and shall set out all of the 2 operative provisions of the articles of incorporation as amended up to 3 that time together with a statement that the restated articles of incor-
4 poration correctly set out without change the corresponding provisions 5 of the articles of incorporation as amended up to that time and that the 6 restated articles of incorporation supersede the original articles of 7 incorporation and all amendments to them.

8 Sec. 10.50.400. EXECUTION OF RESTATED ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION.
9 Upon approval of the restated articles of incorporation, they shall be 10 executed in duplicate by the corporation by its president or vice-presi-11 dent and by its secretary or assistant secretary, and verified by one of 12 the officers signing the articles.

13 Sec. 10.50.405. CONTENTS OF RESTATED ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION.
14 The restated articles of incorporation shall set out
15 (1) the name of the corporation;
16 (2) the period of its duration;
17 (3) the purpose or purposes which the corporation is autho-
18 rized to pursue;
19 (4) the aggregate number of shares which the corporation may 20 issue;

21 (5) any provisions, not inconsistent with law, which are set 22 out in the articles of incorporation as amended, for the regulation of 23 the internal affairs of the corporation;

24 (6) a statement that the restated articles of incorporation
25 correctly set out without change the corresponding provisions of the 26 articles of incorporation as amended, and that the restated articles of 27 incorporation supersede the original articles of incorporation and all 28 amendments to the original articles of incorporation.

29 Sec. 10.50.410. FILING OF RESTATED ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION WITH

1 COMMISSIONER. (a) Duplicate originals of the restated articles of 2 incorporation shall be delivered to the commissioner. If the commis-
3 sioner finds that the restated articles of incorporation conform to law,
4 he shall, when all fees and franchise taxes prescribed in this chapter
5 have been paid,

6 (1) endorse on each duplicate original the word "filed" and
7 the date of the filing;

8 (2) file one duplicate original in his office;

9 (3) issue a restated certificate of incorporation and affix
10 the other duplicate original to it.

11 (b) The restated certificate of incorporation, together with the 12 duplicate original of the restated articles of incorporation affixed by 13 the commissioner, shall be returned to the corporation or its repre-
14 sentative.

15 Sec. 10.50.415. EFFECT OF ISSUANCE OF RESTATED CERTIFICATE OF 16 INCORPORATION. Upon the issuance of the restated certificate of incor-17 poration, the restated articles of incorporation become effective and 18 supersede the original articles of incorporation and all amendments.

19 ARTICLE 5. SALE OF ASSETS.

20 Sec. 10.50.420. SALE OR MORTGAGE OF ASSETS IN REGULAR COURSE OF 21 BUSINESS. The sale, lease, exchange, mortgage, pledge, or other dispo-
22 sition of all, or substantially all, the property and assets of a cor-23 poration, when made in the usual and regular course of the business of 24 the corporation, may be made upon the terms and conditions and for the 25 consideration, which may consist in whole or in part of money or pro-
26 perty, real or personal, including shares of another corporation, domes-
27 tic or foreign, authorized by the board of directors. No authorization 28 or consent of the shareholders is required.

29 Sec. 10.50.425. SALE OR MORTGAGE OF ASSETS OTHER THAN IN REGULAR

1 COURSE OF BUSINESS. A sale, lease, exchange, mortgage, pledge, or other 2 disposition of all, or substantially all, the property and assets, with 3 or without the good will, of a corporation, if not made in the usual and 4 regular course of its business, may be made upon the terms and condi-
5 tions and for the consideration, which may consist in whole or in part 6 of money or property, real or personal, including shares of another
7 corporation, as authorized in the following manner.

8 (1) The board of directors shall adopt a resolution recom-
9 mending the sale, lease, exchange, mortgage, pledge, or other disposi-10 tion and directing the submission of the resolution to a vote at the 11 next meeting of shareholders.

12 (2) Written or printed notice shall be given to each share-
13 holder of record entitled to vote at the meeting within the time and in 14 the manner provided in this chapter for the giving of notice of meetings
15 of shareholders, and, whether the meeting is an annual or a special 16 meeting, shall state that the purpose, or one of the purposes, of the 17 meeting is to consider the proposed sale, lease, exchange, mortgage,
18 pledge, or other disposition.

19 Sec. 10.50.430. APPROVAL OF PLAN BY SHAREHOLDERS. At the meeting
20 the shareholders may authorize the sale, lease, exchange, mortgage, 21 pledge, or other disposition and may fix, or may authorize the board of 22 directors to fix the terms and conditions and the consideration to be 23 received by the corporation. Each outstanding share of the corporation 24 is entitled to vote. The authorization requires the affirmative vote of 25 the holders of at least two-thirds of the shares voting.

26 Sec. 10.50.435. ABANDONMENT OF PLAN BY BOARD OF DIRECTORS. After 27 authorization by a vote of shareholders, the board of directors may,
28 nevertheless, abandon the sale, lease, exchange, mortgage, pledge, or 29 other disposition of assets, subject to the rights of third parties

1 under contracts relating to the disposition, without further action or 2 approval by shareholders.

3 Sec. 10.50.440. RIGHTS OF DISSENTING SHAREHOLDERS UPON SALE OR 4 EXCHANGE OF ASSETS. If a sale or exchange of all or substantially all 5 of the property and assets of a corporation other than in the usual and 6 regular course of its business, or in connection with the dissolution 7 and liquidation of the corporation, is authorized by a vote of the 8 shareholders of the corporation, a shareholder who files a written 9 objection with the corporation, before or at the meeting of shareholders 10 at which the sale or exchange is authorized, and who does not vote in 11 its favor may, within 10 days after the date on which the vote was 12 taken, make written demand on the corporation for the payment to him of 13 the fair value of his shares as of the day before the date on which the 14 vote was taken. If the sale or exchange is effected, the corporation 15 shall pay to the shareholder, upon surrender of his certificate or other 16 evidence of ownership representing the shares, their fair value. The 17 demand shall state the number of shares owned by the dissenting share-
18 holder. A shareholder failing to make demand within the 10-day period 19 is bound by the terms of the sale or exchange.

20 Sec. 10.50.445. NOTICE TO DISSENTING SHAREHOLDER. Within 10 days
21 after the sale or exchange is effected, the corporation shall give 22 notice that it is effected to each dissenting shareholder who has made 23 demand as provided in AS 10.50.440 for the payment of the fair value of 24 his shares.

25 Sec. 10.50.450. PAYMENT TO DISSENTING SHAREHOLDER AFTER AGREEMENT
26 ON VALUE OF SHARES. If within 60 days after the date on which the sale 27 or exchange was effected the value of the shares is agreed upon between 28 the dissenting shareholder and the corporation, payment shall be made 29 within 90 days after the date the sale or exchange was effected, upon

1 the surrender of his certificate or certificates representing the shares.
2 Upon payment of the agreed value, the dissenting shareholder ceases to 3 have an interest in the shares or in the corporation.

4 Sec. 10.50.455. ACTION BY DISSENTING SHAREHOLDER TO COMPEL PAYMENT
5 UPON FAILURE TO AGREE ON VALUE. If within the 60-day period the share-
6 holder and the corporation do not agree, the dissenting shareholder may,
7 within 60 days after the expiration of the 60-day period, file a peti-8 tion in the superior court asking for a finding and determination of the 9 fair value of the shares, and is entitled to judgment against the cor-
10 poration for the amount of the fair value as of the day before the date
11 on which the vote was taken approving the sale or exchange, together
12 with interest to the date of the judgment. The judgment is payable only 13 upon and simultaneously with the surrender to the corporation of the 14 certificate or other evidence of ownership representing the shares.
15 Upon payment of the judgment, the dissenting shareholder ceases to have 16 an interest in the shares or in the corporation. Unless the dissenting
17 shareholder files the petition within the 60-day period, he and all 18 persons claiming under him are bound by the terms of the sale or ex-19 change.

20 Sec. 10.50.460. EFFECT OF ABANDONMENT OR REVOCATION OF SALE OR 21 EXCHANGE ON SHAREHOLDER'S RIGHTS. The right of a dissenting shareholder
22 to be paid the fair value of his shares ceases when the corporation
23 abandons the sale or exchange or the shareholders revoke the authority
24 to make the sale or exchange.

25 Sec. 10.50.465. STATUS OF SHARES ACQUIRED FROM DISSENTING SHARE-26 HOLDER. Shares acquired by the corporation pursuant to the payment of 27 the agreed value or to payment of the judgment entered for the agreed 28 value may be held and disposed of by the corporation as treasury shares.

29 ARTICLE 6. DISSOLUTION.

1 Sec. 10.50.470. EFFECT OF CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION. Upon the
2 issuance of the certificate of dissolution, the existence of the cor-
3 poration ceases.

4 Sec. 10.50.475. VOLUNTARY DISSOLUTION BY ACT OF CORPORATION. (a)
5 A corporation may be dissolved by the act of the corporation when autho-
6 rized in the manner provided in this section and in AS 10.50.485.

7 (b) The board of directors shall adopt a resolution recommending
8 that the corporation be dissolved, and directing that the question of 9 dissolution be submitted to a vote at the next meeting of shareholders.

10 (c) A proposed dissolution of the corporation shall be submitted 11 to a vote at the next meeting of shareholders if the secretary of the 12 corporation receives a petition proposing dissolution signed by at least 13 100 shareholders.

14 (d) Written or printed notice shall be given to each shareholder
15 of record entitled to vote at the meeting within the time and in the 16 manner provided in this chapter for the giving of notice of meetings of 17 shareholders, and, whether the meeting is an annual or special meeting,
18 the notice shall state that the purpose of the meeting is to consider 19 the advisability of dissolving the corporation.

20 (e) At the meeting a vote of shareholders entitled to vote shall 21 be taken on the resolution to dissolve the corporation. Each outstand-
22 ing share of the corporation may vote on the resolution. The resolution 23 is adopted if it receives the affirmative vote of the holders of at 24 least one-third of the shares entitled to vote.

25 Sec. 10.50.480. EXECUTION OF STATEMENT OF INTENT TO DISSOLVE.
26 Upon the adoption of the resolution, a statement of intent to dissolve
27 shall be executed in duplicate by the corporation by its president or 28 vice-president and by the secretary or an assistant secretary, and 29 verified by one of the officers signing the statement. The statement of 1 intent to dissolve shall set out

- 2 (1) the name of the corporation;
- 3 (2) the names and addresses of its officers;
- 4 (3) the names and addresses of its directors;
- 5 (4) a copy of the resolution adopted by the shareholders
- 6 authorizing the dissolution of the corporation;
- 7 (5) the number of shares outstanding;
- 8 (6) the number of shares voted for and against the resolu-
- 9 tion.

10 Sec. 10.50.485. FILING OF STATEMENT OF INTENT TO DISSOLVE. Dupli-
11 cate originals of the statement of intent to dissolve shall be delivered
12 to the commissioner. If the commissioner finds that the statement
13 conforms to law, he shall, when all fees and franchise taxes prescribed 14 in this chapter have been paid,

- 15 (1) endorse on each duplicate original the word "filed" and
- 16 the date of the filing;
- 17 (2) file one duplicate original in his office;
- 18 (3) return the other duplicate original to the corporation or
- 19 its representative.

20 Sec. 10.50.490. EFFECT OF STATEMENT OF INTENT TO DISSOLVE. On the 21 filing by the commissioner of a statement of intent to dissolve, the 22 corporation shall cease to carry on business, except that necessary for 23 the winding up of its business. However, corporate existence continues 24 until a certificate of dissolution has been issued by the commissioner
25 or until a decree dissolving the corporation has been entered by a 26 competent court as provided in this chapter.

27 Sec. 10.50.495. PROCEDURE AFTER FILING OF STATEMENT OF INTENT TO 28 DISSOLVE. After the commissioner has filed the statement of intent to 29 dissolve, the corporation

1 (1) shall immediately mail notice of the filing to each known
2 creditor of the corporation;

3 (2) shall proceed to collect its assets, convey and dispose
4 of its property which is not to be distributed in kind to its share-
5 holders, pay, satisfy and discharge its liabilities and obligations and 6 do all other acts required to liquidate its business and affairs, and,
7 after paying or adequately providing for the payment of its obligations,
8 distribute the remainder of its assets, either in cash or in kind, among 9 its shareholders according to their respective rights and interests;

10 (3) at any time during the liquidation of its business and 11 affairs may apply to a court of competent jurisdiction in the state to 12 have the liquidation continued under the supervision of the court;

13 (4) shall, if it has not completed dissolution proceedings
14 within two years after the date the statement of intent to dissolve is 15 filed, be involuntarily dissolved by the commissioner after 60 days
16 notice of his intent to do so has been given to the corporation.

17 Sec. 10.50.500. MANNER OF REVOKING A VOLUNTARY DISSOLUTION PRO-
18 CEEDING. (a) The board of directors may adopt a resolution recommend-19 ing that the voluntary dissolution proceedings be revoked, and directing 20 that the question of revocation be submitted to a vote at a special
21 meeting of shareholders.

22 (b) A proposed revocation of a voluntary dissolution of the cor-
23 poration shall be submitted to a vote at the next meeting of share-
24 holders if the secretary of the corporation receives a petition pro-25 posing revocation signed by at least 1,000 shareholders.

26 (c) Written or printed notice, stating that the purpose of the 27 meeting is to consider the advisability of revoking the voluntary dis-
28 solution proceedings, shall be given to each shareholder of record
29 entitled to vote at the meeting within the time and in the manner pro-

1 vided in this chapter for the giving of notice of special meetings of 2 shareholders.

3 (d) At the meeting a vote of the shareholders entitled to vote
4 shall be taken on the resolution to revoke the voluntary dissolution
5 proceeding. Adoption of the resolution requires the affirmative vote of 6 the holders of at least two-thirds of the shares voting.

7 (e) Upon the adoption of the resolution, a statement of revocation
8 of voluntary dissolution proceedings shall be executed in duplicate by 9 the corporation by its president or vice-president and by its secretary
10 or an assistant secretary, and verified by one of the officers signing
11 the statement. The statement of revocation of voluntary dissolution
12 shall set out

- 13 (1) the name of the corporation;
- 14 (2) the names and addresses of its officers;
- 15 (3) the names and addresses of its directors;
- 16 (4) a copy of the resolution adopted by the shareholders
17 revoking the voluntary dissolution proceedings;
- 18 (5) the number of shares outstanding;
- 19 (6) the number of shares voted for and against the resolu-
20 tion.

21 Sec. 10.50.505. FILING OF STATEMENT OF REVOCATION OF A VOLUNTARY
22 DISSOLUTION PROCEEDING. Duplicate originals of the statement of revo-23 cation of voluntary dissolution proceedings shall be delivered to the 24 commissioner. If the commissioner finds that the statement conforms to 25 law, he shall, when all fees and franchise taxes prescribed in this 26 chapter have been paid,

- 27 (1) endorse on each duplicate original the word "filed" and 28 the date of the filing;
- 29 (2) file one duplicate original in his office;

1 (3) return the other duplicate original to the corporation or
2 its representative.

3 Sec. 10.50.510. EFFECT OF STATEMENT OF REVOCATION OF A VOLUNTARY
4 DISSOLUTION PROCEEDING. Upon the filing by the commissioner of a state-
5 ment of revocation of a voluntary dissolution proceeding, the revocation
6 of the proceeding becomes effective and the corporation may again carry 7 on its business.

8 Sec. 10.50.515. EXECUTION OF ARTICLES OF DISSOLUTION. If a volun-
9 tary dissolution proceeding has not been revoked, then when all debts, 10 liabilities, and obligations of the corporation have been paid and 11 discharged, or adequate provision has been made for payment, and all of 12 the remaining property and assets of the corporation have been distri-13 buted to its shareholders, articles of dissolution shall be executed in 14 duplicate by the corporation by its president or vice-president and by 15 its secretary or an assistant secretary, and verified by one of the 16 officers signing the articles. The articles of dissolution shall set 17 out

18 (1) the name of the corporation;

19 (2) that the commissioner has filed a statement of intent to 20 dissolve the corporation, and the date on which the statement was filed;

21 (3) that all debts, obligations and liabilities of the cor-
22 poration have been paid and discharged or that adequate provision has 23 been made for payment;

24 (4) that the remaining property and assets of the corporation
25 have been distributed among its shareholders in accordance with their 26 respective rights and interests;

27 (5) that there are no suits pending against the corporation,
28 or that adequate provision has been made for the satisfaction of a judg-
29 ment, order or decree which may be entered against the corporation in a

1 pending suit.

2 Sec. 10.50.520. FILING OF ARTICLES OF DISSOLUTION. (a) Duplicate
3 originals of the articles of dissolution shall be delivered to the 4 commissioner. If the commissioner finds that the articles of dissolu-
5 tion conform to law, he shall, when all fees and franchise taxes pre-6 scribed in this chapter have been paid,

7 (1) endorse on each duplicate original the word "filed" and
8 the date of the filing;

9 (2) file one duplicate original in his office;

10 (3) issue a certificate of dissolution and affix the other
11 duplicate original to it.

12 (b) The certificate of dissolution, together with the duplicate
13 original of the articles of dissolution affixed, shall be returned to 14 the representative of the dissolved corporation.

15 Sec. 10.50.525. EFFECT OF CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION. Upon the 16 issuance of the certificate of dissolution the existence of the corpora-17 tion ceases, except for the purpose of suits, other proceedings and 18 appropriate corporate action by shareholders, directors and officers as 19 provided in this chapter.

20 Sec. 10.50.530. INVOLUNTARY DISSOLUTION. (a) A corporation may 21 be dissolved involuntarily by the commissioner when

22 (1) the corporation is delinquent six months in fil'ng its 23 annual report or in paying a license filing fee or penalty;

24 (2) the corporation has failed for 30 days to appoint and 25 maintain a registered agent in this state; or

26 (3) the corporation has failed for 30 days after change of 27 its registered office or registered agent to file in the office of the 28 commissioner a statement of the change;

29 (4) the corporation has failed for two years to complete

1 dissolution under a statement of intent to dissolve; or

2 (5) a vacancy in the board of directors of a corporation is 3 not filled within six months or the time of the next annual meeting,
4 whichever occurs first.

5 (b) A corporation may not be involuntarily dissolved unless the 6 commissioner has given the corporation at least 60 days notice of its 7 delinquency or omission by certified mail addressed to its registered 8 office or in care of one of its principal officers or directors, at the 9 last known address of the officer or director, as shown by the records 10 of the commissioner, and the corporation has failed to correct the 11 neglect, omission or delinquency before involuntary dissolution.

12 (c) When a corporation has given cause for involuntary dissolution
13 and has failed to correct the neglect, omission or delinquency as pro-
14 vided in this section, the commissioner shall dissolve the corporation
15 by issuing a certificate of involuntary dissolution containing a state-
16 ment that the corporation has been dissolved, the date, and the reason
17 for which it was dissolved. The original certificate of dissolution 18 shall be placed in the department files and a copy of it mailed to the 19 corporation at its registered office or in care of one of its principal 20 officers or directors, at the last known address of the officer or 21 director, as shown by the records of the commissioner. Upon the issu-22 ance of the certificate of involuntary dissolution, the existence of the 23 corporation shall cease, except as otherwise provided in this section, 24 and its name shall be available to and may be adopted by another cor-
25 poration no less than six months after the dissolution.

26 (d) A corporation dissolved by the commissioner under the provi-
27 sions of this section may be reinstated by the commissioner at any time
28 within two years from the date of the certificate of involuntary disso-
29 lution whenever it is established to the satisfaction of the commis-

1 sioner that in fact there was no cause for the dissolution, or whenever 2 the neglect or delinquency resulting in dissolution has been corrected
3 and payment made of double the amount delinquent along with the amount 4 the corporation would have paid had it not been dissolved during the 5 two-year period. Reinstatement may not be authorized if the same or a 6 deceptively similar corporate, limited partnership, reserved or regis-
7 tered name is currently on file with the commissioner, unless the cor-
8 poration being reinstated contemporaneously amends its articles of incor-
9 poration to change its name to conform with the provisions of this 10 chapter.

11 (e) Nothing in this section relieves a corporation reinstated
12 under this section from penalty of forfeiture of its powers as a corpo-13 ration in case of failure to pay subsequently accruing licenses and 14 taxes imposed by a law of this state.

15 (f) An action arising out of a contract assigned by a corporation
16 dissolved under this section may be brought in the name of the assignee.
17 The fact of assignment and of purchase by the plaintiff shall be set out
18 in the complaint or other process. The defendant may avail himself of 19 any matter of defense of which he might have availed himself in a suit 20 upon the claim by the corporation, had it not been dissolved under this 21 section.

22 (g) Service of process on a corporation dissolved under this 23 section shall be made in the same manner prescribed by law as if the 24 corporation had not been dissolved.

25 (h) In addition to any other remedies provided by law a corpora-
26 tion may be dissolved involuntarily by a decree of the superior court in 27 an action filed by the attorney general when it is established that

28 (1) the corporation procured its certificate of incorporation
29 through fraud; or

1 (2) the corporation has continued to exceed or abuse the 2 authority conferred upon it by law.

3 Sec. 10.50.535. VENUE AND PROCESS. (a) An action for the invol-
4 untary dissolution of a corporation shall be commenced by the attorney
5 general in the superior court.

6 (b) Summons shall issue and be served as in other civil actions.
7 If process is returned not found, the attorney general shall publish 8 notice as in other civil cases in a newspaper published in the judicial 9 district where the registered office of the corporation is situated,
10 containing a notice of the pendency of the action, the title of the 11 court, the title of the action, and the date on or after which default
12 may be entered. The attorney general may include in one notice the 13 names of any number of corporations against which actions are pending in 14 the same court.

15 (c) The attorney general shall have a copy of the notice mailed to 16 the corporation at its registered office within 10 days after the first 17 publication of it.

18 (d) Notice shall be published at least once each week for two 19 successive weeks, and the first publication may begin at any time after 20 the summons has been returned.

21 (e) Unless a corporation is served with summons, no default may be 22 taken against it earlier than 30 days after the first publication of the 23 notice.

24 Sec. 10.50.540. JURISDICTION OF COURT TO LIQUIDATE ASSETS AND 25 BUSINESS OF CORPORATION. The superior court may liquidate the assets
26 and business of a corporation in the cases provided in AS 10.50.545 -
27 10.50.560.

28 Sec. 10.50.545. ACTION BY SHAREHOLDER FOR LIQUIDATION. In an 29 action by a shareholder, the superior court may liquidate the assets and

1 business of a corporation when it is established

2 (1) that the directors are deadlocked in the management of 3 the corporate affairs and the shareholders are unable to break the 4 deadlock, and that irreparable injury to the corporation is being 5 suffered or is threatened by reason of the deadlock;

6 (2) that the acts of the directors or those in control of the 7 corporation are illegal, oppressive or fraudulent;

8 (3) that the shareholders are deadlocked in voting power, and 9 have failed, for a period which includes at least two consecutive annual 10 meeting dates, to elect successors to directors whose terms have expired 11 or would have expired upon the election of their successors; or 12 (4) that the corporate assets are being misapplied or wasted.

13 Sec. 10.50.550. ACTION BY CREDITOR FOR LIQUIDATION. In an action
14 by a creditor, the superior court may liquidate the assets and business 15 of a corporation when

16 (1) the claim of the creditor has been reduced to judgment
17 and an execution on the judgment has been returned unsatisfied and it is 18 established that the corporation is insolvent; or

19 (2) the corporation has admitted in writing that the claim of 20 the creditor is due and owing and it is established that the corpora-21 tion is insolvent.

22 Sec. 10.50.555. LIQUIDATION ON APPLICATION BY CORPORATION. Upon 23 application by a corporation which has filed a statement of intent to 24 dissolve, as provided in this chapter, to have its liquidation continued 25 under the supervision of the court, the superior court may liquidate the 26 assets and business of the corporation.

27 Sec. 10.50.560. LIQUIDATION IN ACTION BY ATTORNEY GENERAL FOR 28 DISSOLUTION. When an action has been filed by the attorney general to 29 dissolve a corporation and it is established that liquidation of its

1 business and affairs should precede the entry of a decree of dissolu-
2 tion, the superior court may liquidate the assets and business of a
3 corporation.

4 Sec. 10.50.565. JOINDER OF SHAREHOLDERS NOT MANDATORY. It is not 5 necessary to make shareholders parties to an action or proceeding for 6 liquidation of the assets and business of a corporation unless relief is 7 sought against them personally.

8 Sec. 10.50.570. PROCEDURE IN LIQUIDATION OF CORPORATION BY COURT.
9 In a proceeding to liquidate the assets and business of a corporation,
10 the superior court may issue injunctions, appoint a receiver pendente
11 lite with powers and duties as the court may direct, and take other 12 proceedings necessary to preserve the corporate assets wherever situated 13 and carry on the business of the corporation until a full hearing is 14 had.

15 Sec. 10.50.575. APPOINTMENT OF RECEIVER. After a hearing held 16 upon such notice as the court may direct to be given to all parties to 17 the proceedings and to any other parties in interest designated by the 18 court, the court may appoint a liquidating receiver with authority to 19 collect the assets of the corporation, including amounts owing to the 20 corporation by shareholders on an unpaid portion of the consideration 21 for the issuance of shares. The liquidating receiver may, subject to 22 the order of the court, sell, convey and dispose of all or a part of the 23 assets of the corporation wherever situated, either at public or private 24 sale.

25 Sec. 10.50.580. DISPOSITION OF ASSETS OR PROCEEDS FROM SALE OF 26 ASSETS. The assets of the corporation or the proceeds from a sale,
27 conveyance or other disposition of assets shall be applied to the ex-
28 penses of liquidation and to the payment of the liabilities and obli-
29 gations of the corporation. Remaining assets or proceeds shall be

1 distributed among shareholders according to their respective rights and 2 interests.

3 Sec. 10.50.585. STATED POWERS AND DUTIES OF RECEIVER. The order
4 appointing the liquidating receiver shall state his powers and duties.
5 The powers and duties may be increased or diminished at any time during 6 the liquidation proceedings.

7 Sec. 10.50.590. COMPENSATION OF RECEIVER AND ATTORNEYS. The court
8 may allow from time to time as expenses of the liquidation compensation 9 to the receiver and to attorneys in the proceeding, and direct the 10 payment of compensation out of the assets of the corporation or the 11 proceeds of a sale or disposition of assets.

12 Sec. 10.50.595. POWER OF RECEIVER TO SUE AND BE SUED. A receiver
13 of a corporation appointed under AS 10.50.570 - 10.50.600 may sue and 14 defend in all courts in his own name as receiver of the corporation.

15 Sec. 10.50.600. APPOINTING COURT HAS EXCLUSIVE JURISDICTION. The 16 court appointing the receiver has exclusive jurisdiction of the corpora-17 tion and its property, wherever situated.

18 Sec. 10.50.605. QUALIFICATIONS OF RECEIVERS. A receiver shall be 19 a citizen of the United States or a corporation authorized to act as 20 receiver, which corporation may be a domestic corporation or a foreign 21 corporation authorized to transact business in the state. A receiver 22 shall give the bond the court directs with sureties the court requires.

23 Sec. 10.50.610. FILING OF CLAIMS IN LIQUIDATION PROCEEDINGS. (a)
24 In a proceeding to liquidate the assets and business of a corporation, 25 the court may require creditors of the corporation to file with the 26 clerk of the court or with the receiver, in the form the court pre-
27 scribes, proof under oath of their respective claims.

28 (b) If the court requires the filing of claims, it shall fix a 29 date, not less than four months from the date of the order, as the last

1 day for the filing of claims, and shall prescribe the notice to be given
2 to creditors and claimants of the date fixed. Before the date fixed,
3 the court may extend the time for the filing of claims.

4 (c) A creditor who fails to file proof of his claim on or before
5 the date fixed may be barred by order of the court from participating in 6 the distribution of the assets of the corporation.

7 Sec. 10.50.615. DISCONTINUANCE OF LIQUIDATION PROCEEDINGS. The 8 liquidation of the assets and business of a corporation may be discon-
9 tinued at any time during the liquidation proceeding when it is estab-
10 lished that cause for liquidation no longer exists. In this event, the 11 court shall dismiss the proceeding and direct the receiver to redeliver
12 to the corporation its remaining property and assets.

13 Sec. 10.50.620. DECREE OF INVOLUNTARY DISSOLUTION. In a pro-
14 ceeding to liquidate the assets and business of a corporation, when the 15 costs and expenses of the proceeding and the debts, obligations and 16 liabilities of the corporation have been paid and discharged and the 17 remaining property and assets are not sufficient to satisfy and dis-
18 charge the costs, expenses, debts and obligations, and all the property
19 and assets have been applied to their payment, the court shall enter a 20 decree dissolving the corporation.

21 ARTICLE 7. GENERAL PROVISIONS.

22 Sec. 10.50.625. AS 10.05 INCORPORATED BY REFERENCE. The provi-
23 sions of AS 10.05.699 - 10.05.819 apply to a corporation organized under 24 this chapter and are incorporated by reference as a part of this chapter, 25 except when inconsistent with this chapter.

26 Sec. 10.50.630. FALSE STATEMENTS AFFECTING VALUE OF SHARES. A 27 director, officer or agent of a corporation who knowingly concurs in 28 making, publishing or posting either generally or privately to the 29 shareholders or other persons (1) a written report, exhibit, statement

1 of its affairs or pecuniary condition or notice containing any material
2 statement which is false, or (2) an untrue or wilfully or fraudulently
3 exaggerated report, prospectus, account, statement of operations, values,
4 business, profits, expenditures or prospects, or (3) any other paper or 5 document intended to produce or give, or having a tendency to produce or 6 give, the shares of stock in the corporation a greater value or a less 7 apparent or market value than they really possess, or who refuses to 8 make any book entry or post any notice required by law in the manner
9 required by law, upon conviction, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

10 Sec. 10.50.635. DIRECTOR MAKING UNLAWFUL DIVIDEND OR DISTRIBUTION
11 OF ASSETS. A director of a corporation who concurs in any vote or act 12 of the directors of the corporation to knowingly and with dishonest or 13 fraudulent purpose make a dividend or distribution of assets either with 14 the design of defrauding creditors or shareholders or of giving a false
15 appearance to the value of the stock and thereby defrauding subscribers
16 or purchasers, upon conviction, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

17 Sec. 10.50.640. RESERVATION OF POWER. The legislature reserves
18 the power to make amendments to this chapter to apply to all existing 19 and future corporations organized under this chapter. An amendment to 20 this chapter may not alter or impair the power of a corporation to 16 Sec. 10.50.650. SHORT TITLE. This chapter may be cited as the 17 Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation Act.

18 * Sec. 2. AS 37.10.070(a)(6) is amended to read:

19 (6) other securities, including [CORPORATE] securities of 20 corporations other than general stock ownership corporations;

21 * Sec. 3. AS 45.55.130 is amended by adding a new subsection to read:

22 (b) A copy of all annual reports, ballots, consent authorizations
23 and other materials relating to the shareholder ballots, published or 24 made available by any person to the shareholders of a general stock
25 ownership corporation, shall be filed with the administrator concur-
26 rently with its distribution to the shareholders. The administrator
27 shall have authority to review all documents submitted and make regula-28 tions regarding content of shareholder materials to insure fairness, 29 completeness, and nondiscrimination.

1 * Sec. 4. (a) The Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation shall be
2 created in accordance with this section. This section constitutes the char-
3 tering legislation for the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation as the 4 term is defined in AS 10.50.645(4).

6 president of the senate, shall each appoint one person to act as incorpora-
7 tors of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation which shall be formed
8 in accordance with subchapter U, chapter 1, of the Internal Revenue Code of 9 1954, as amended (26 U.S.C. secs. 1391 - 1397) and AS 10.50. The incorpora-10 tors shall select nine persons to act as the initial board of directors of 11 the corporation and shall submit their names to the governor, to the speaker
12 of the house of representatives, and to the president of the senate. A 13 majority of the governor, the speaker of the house of representatives, and 14 the president of the senate may disapprove a candidate for the initial board
15 of directors within 15 days of receipt of the incorporators' nominations.

16 (c) The articles of incorporation of the Alaska General Stock Ownership
17 Corporation shall provide that all shareholders of the corporation shall be

Re: Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the state of Alaska and its residents, rulings are requested under sections 61, 1391-97, and related provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, with respect to the federal income tax consequences of the transaction hereinafter described.

Facts

It is proposed to form Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation (AGSOC) pursuant to an Act of the Legislature of Alaska. This Act will be enacted by the Legislature as a result of, and in conformity with, Title VI of the Revenue Act of 1978, which added Subchapter U (sections 1391 through 1397) to Chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code, as well as making conforming amendments to other sections of the Code. In general, these sections provide that a corporation created and operated in accordance with their rules is not subject to federal income tax. Instead, each of its shareholders is subject to tax on his proportionate share of corporate taxable income. Under section 1391 the original shareholders of AGSOC must be individuals who are residents of Alaska at the time of the issuance of the shares. Additional rules prevent transferability of shares (except where the shareholder leaves Alaska or dies) for a period of 5 years from the date of issuance. When shares do become transferable, they may be transferred only to another individual who resides in Alaska. In any event, no individual is allowed to own more than 10 shares of AGSOC.

The principal office and place of business of AGSOC will be established in Alaska. AGSOC will not have any paid-in capital but will acquire business assets by the use of the proceeds of loans to it. The loans may be made by commercial lenders with or without the guarantee of the state. It is expected that any loans will be at commercial rates of interest. Section 1391(d) states that for purposes of federal income taxes, a corporation qualifying for the special treatment described in sections 1391 through 1397, shall not be treated as a governmental unit. Accordingly, any interest payable by AGSOC on loans to it will be fully subject to tax.

Under the rules of section 1391, it has broad investment authority subject only to the limitations that -

1. it cannot own as much as 20 percent of the voting stock or non-voting common stock of another corporation; and
2. it cannot invest in properties acquired by it or for its benefit by eminent domain.

At the present time, the investments which AGSOC will make have not been specifically identified. By way of an example, an investment which has been considered appropriate for AGSOC is the acquisition of a participating interest in the Alaska pipeline. In the event that such an acquisition of an interest is deemed desirable, the interest would be acquired by purchase in an arms-length transaction from one of the consortium of companies that now owns the pipeline. As yet, no negotiations have been undertaken with a view to the purchase of any interest in pipeline property or in any other asset.

It is proposed to issue one share of AGSOC voting common stock (the only class of stock to be authorized) to every resident of the state of Alaska. Such share will be issued without cost to any recipient. It is estimated that there are now approximately 400,000 individuals who are residents of Alaska and who will be eligible to receive an AGSOC share.

Rulings Requested

It is respectfully requested that the following rulings be issued -

1. Where a corporation is created and operated in accordance with the proposed legislation now pending before the state of Alaska, the corporation and its shareholders will qualify for the federal income tax treatment described in subchapter U of Chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code. Sections 1391-97.
2. The recipients of the initial distribution of stock of AGSOC will not be considered to have received income for federal income tax purposes upon the distribution of such stock by AGSOC.
3. The cost basis in the hands of the recipients of the initial distribution of stock by AGSOC will be zero. Section 1012.

The first ruling requested herein is necessary in order to determine whether the legislation pending before the Alaska legislature (Exhibit A) which provides for the creation and operation of AGSOC is in conformity with the rules of Subchapter U so that the federal income tax consequences at both the corporate and shareholder levels which may be expected to occur after AGSOC has begun to operate are those which are prescribed in such Subchapter. In the event that there be defects in such proposed legislation which could prevent application of Subchapter U treatment to AGSOC and its shareholders, it is clearly more efficient and economical that there be an opportunity to remedy those defects before enactment.

As noted above, AGSOC proposes to issue its shares at no charge to recipient shareholders. It is believed that the recipients will not have income by reason of the issuance of the stock. Again, it is important to have advance assurance of this fact. Thus if the Internal Revenue Service should rule adversely on this question, or be unwilling to rule, it will be necessary to consider alternatives to the method of issuance now proposed - perhaps requiring a shareholder to make a nominal contribution to the capital of AGSOC. A favorable response by the Internal Revenue Service to the second ruling requested would put this matter to rest.

The third requested ruling is simply a corollary of the second.

Discussion

The first and third rulings follow directly from the statutory sections cited. The second requested ruling should be granted pursuant to the statutory provisions, legislative history, and precedents discovered below.

Section 102 of the Internal Revenue Code provides that "gross income does not include the value of property acquired by gift" The Supreme Court has held that the issue of whether a transfer of property constitutes a gift for the purposes of Section 102 is a question of fact to be determined in the circumstances of each case. Commissioner of Internal Revenue v. Duberstein, 363 U.S. 278 (1960). "What controls is the intention with which payment, however voluntary, has been made." Id. at 286, quoting Commissioner of Internal Revenue v. Bogardus, 302 U.S. 34, 45 (1937) (dissenting opinion). The inquiry in each case is directed towards determining "the dominant reason that explains his

[the donor's] action in making the transfer." Id. In the Duberstein opinion the Court considered two distinct transfers of property each made in the context of a business relationship. In the first case, the Court upheld a finding of the Tax Court that the transfer of a Cadillac from one businessman to another was actually in the nature of compensation for past services and an inducement for the continued provision of those services in the future and, therefore, not a gift. And, in the second case, the Court remanded for further findings on the question of whether a bonus payment from an employer to a departing employee was a gift or compensation for past services. /*

As the Court's opinion in the Duberstein cases makes clear, the term "gift" in § 102 has never been restricted to transfers among family members and personal friends. / Rather "gift" broadly encompasses transfers of property, even those with business overtones, that proceed from a "'detached and disinterested generosity' . . . 'out of affection, respect, admiration, charity or like impulse.'" Id. at 285 (citations omitted). As a result, payments between business associates, employers and employees, labor unions and workers may be considered gifts in appropriate circumstances. Id.;

/* On remand the lower court found that the payment was a gift and hence not taxable. Stanton v. United States, 186 F. Supp. 393 (E.D.N.Y. 1960), aff'd per curiam 287 F.2d 876 (2d Cir. 1964).

/ The Supreme Court in Duberstein rejected the Government's suggestion that it adopt a "new 'test' in this area" that would have specifically limited the gift exclusion to such "personal" transfers. 363 U.S. at 284.

United States v. Kaiser, 363 U.S. 299 (1960) (payments from labor union to striking workers held "gifts"); Bogardus v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 302 U.S. 34 (1937) (payments to present and former employees of a corporation by its former stockholders held "gifts"). In particular, the IRS and the federal courts have recognized that governments are capable of bestowing "gifts" on their citizens, within the meaning of § 102 (and its predecessors). See Rev. Rul. 68-158, 1968-1 C.B. 47 ("bonuses" paid by a State government to its veterans who served in the Armed Forces during certain wars are non-taxable gifts); Rev. Rul. 57-233, 1957-1 C.B. 60 (grants made by federal government to members of certain Indian tribes for relocation and vocational training are gifts).

In the instant case, a detailed exegesis of the subtle and often difficult distinctions between compensation and inducements on the one hand and gifts on the other is not necessary, since the transfer of one share of AGSOC stock to each Alaskan citizen cannot in any sense be construed as "compensation" or an "inducement." There simply is no quid pro quo associated with this transaction. The recipients of the shares are not required to do anything in order to be entitled to participate in AGSOC. They need only be residents of Alaska, which they already are and will be. It cannot reasonably be argued that the purpose of the Alaska legislature in creating AGSOC is to induce anyone to move to or remain in Alaska; nor is there any realistic possibility that the prospect of becoming the holder of a share of AGSOC stock will in fact induce anyone who is otherwise inclined to become or remain an Alaskan resident./*

/* This distinguishes the distribution of AGSOC stock from payments made under the Alaska Longevity Bonus Act. Revenue Ruling 76-131, 1976-1 C.B. 16 held that benefit payments under the latter Act are taxable. Those payments are available to all Alaskans 65 years of age and over who have maintained a continuous domicile in the territory or state of Alaska for 25 years. As the Revenue Ruling noted: "The purpose of the statute as stated therein is to provide an incentive to continue uninterrupted residence in the state" In other words, the explicitly stated purpose of the longevity bonus payments is to induce certain persons to change their behavior in a particular direction desired by the State of Alaska. In the language of Duberstein, supra, the dominant reason that explains the transferor's

Moreover, the requirement of state residence is not an invention of the Alaska Legislature, but rather a condition established in the federal legislation with which Alaska must comply in order that the corporate entity it establishes qualify as a general stock ownership corporation and receive the special tax treatment provided in Subchapter U of the Internal Revenue Code.^{/*} It cannot

(in this case, the State of Alaska's) action in making those "bonus" payments is to influence long-term residents of Alaska to remain in the State; and the payments of $100 per month were presumably set high enough to provide a realistic incentive for a large number of eligible persons to remain in Alaska rather than move elsewhere. There is no such changed behavior or foregone activity associated with the issuance of shares of stock in AGSOC. Furthermore, the longevity bonus payments are transfers of cash. To the extent the AGSOC generates income for its shareholders, such income will be taxed as the ordinary income of the shareholders. 26 U.S.C. §§ 1393, 1394. In that respect, the tax treatment of the longevity bonuses and of any AGSOC income actually distributed to Alaskan citizens will essentially be the same.

In substance, the incorporation of AGSOC and distribution of its shares will not be a "transfer" of anything from one person to another, but simply a change in the form of rights which already belong to all the residents of Alaska. The transaction is most analogous to a partition or other termination of concurrently-owned property -- transactions long held non-taxable by the Service. See Rev. Rul. 56-437, 1956-1 C.B. 507; Rev. Rul. 76-83, 1976-1 C.B. 213.

reasonably be argued that the intent of Congress in enacting the federal legislation authorizing GSOCs was to induce residents of states establishing GSOC's to continue to reside in those states.

Rather, in amending the Internal Revenue Code to provide for the establishment of GSOC's, Congress' purposes were civic, educational, and charitable in nature as clearly indicated in the legislative history. For example, the report of the Senate Committee on Finance states:

The committee believes that many citizens should have a greater ownership stake in the private enterprise system, and that this would lead to better understanding of the system and would encourage individuals to invest in other business enterprises. Also, in the case of individuals now receiving various forms of transfer payments from Federal, State, or local governments, the receipt of dividend income from a General Stock Ownership Corporation (GSOC) would, to some extent, reduce the need for such payments. The committee believes that an experimental program permitting States to form such private corporations for the benefit of their citizens may enable the Congress to study a method of replacing transfer payments with dividend income.

S. Rep. No. 95-1263, 95th Cong., 2d Sess. 107 (1978).

In order to fulfill these congressional goals, states have been authorized to establish GSOC's which, if they comply with the various requirements set down in Subchapter U, will be entitled to the special tax treatment provided therein. In creating AGSOC pursuant to the federal legislation and providing for the distribution of one share of its stock to each citizen of Alaska without requiring any payment, compensation, or action in return, the State of Alaska will be bestowing a gift on its citizens, an act which should not provide the occasion for the imposition on those citizens of a federal tax liability.

At the time of the initial distribution, AGSOC will be a corporate shell with no assets. Even though its shares will have negligible value, if any, it would frustrate the intention of Congress if the IRS were to take the position that recipients of the stock have income upon receiving a share.

Senator Gravel, the chief sponsor and architect of GSOC provisions of the bill, made the following statement on this issue during the Senate debates on the conference Report:

There are a number of questions [concerning GSOC's) which my colleagues have put to me over the past few months and I would like to include some explanation of these issues for the Record.

* * * *

Seventh. What about distributions of the stock itself. Will the shareholder be taxed upon receipt of the stock and will he receive a basis in his share at the time of receipt?

If the shares are distributed before any investment has been made by the GSOC, the shares will be treated as having a zero value as of the date of receipt. Therefore, no income would accrue to the shareholder upon receipt and no tax liability would be generated. If investments have been made, the valuation of the shares should be made on a net asset basis so that if the GSOC investment were 100 percent leveraged, the shares distributed would have zero value and no income would accrue. If the shareholder receives his shares free of tax, he would have a zero basis at the time of receipt.

124 Cong. Rec. S19168-69 (daily ed. Oct. 14, 1978)

The recipients of the initial stock distribution would be most surprised if they were advised that the transaction creates income. It is outside the experience of the overwhelming majority of taxpayers to have received income in any form other than cash. It is thus consistent with the expectations of Congress and the citizens of Alaska and with the case law and IRS rulings to tax the shares of stock initially distributed by AGSOC only when sold. At that time, it is appropriate to tax the full proceeds of sale.

Mr. Dale E. Staley

Dear Dale:

Here is our proposed Memorandum to the Staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission regarding possible exemption of the GSOC from full application of the securities laws. For the most part, the memorandum takes the position that the GSOC legislation itself provides adequate protection to GSOC shareholders, at least during the initial five-year period when trading of shares is prohibited. However, you will note that, in a few instances, we have represented that certain protection not presently embodied in the legislation either can be included in the bill if the SEC insists, or will be included in the GSOC's by-laws.

For example, on page 16, we represent that the GSOC will agree, as a condition to exemption from the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, to distribute, and file with the SEC, an annual report to shareholders containing substantially all the information required in annual reports under that Act. (These requirements are set forth in Attachment A.) And, on page 17, we indicate the GSOC's willingness also to distribute information to shareholders regarding director candidates and other matters to be voted upon at shareholder meetings, as would be required by § 14(c) of the 1934 Act. (These requirements are set forth in Attachment B.) On page 18, we state that the GSOC is prepared to accept a limited exemption, under which it will not be exempted from the antifraud provisions of the 1934 Act. (These provisions are set forth in Attachment C.)

RECEIVED
OCT 29 1979
BUDGET/AUDIT COMMITTEE

Finally, Section 10 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 requires that no more than 60 percent of the board of directors of an investment company consist of "interested persons," (The definitions of "interested persons" and of "affiliated persons" are set forth in Attachment D.) and that no investment banker serve as director, officer or employee of the company unless the majority of the Board consists of persons who are neither investment bankers nor affiliated with investment bankers. On page 26, we argue that there is no need to apply such restrictions to the GSOC, but that, in any event, the bylaws of the GSOC "will undoubtedly provide full adequate protections against" the conflict-of-interest dangers for which Section 10 was designed.

In reviewing the draft, please give special attention to the above-mentioned representations and concessions. In each instance, it was our judgment that the arguments for complete exemption from the specific statutory requirement were weak, that our overall position would be stronger and more credible if we agreed to certain conditions, and that the sponsors and management of the GSOC would probably wish to incorporate these features in any event. Please make certain that these conditions are acceptable.

We await your comments on these points and on the entire draft. In the meantime, we will continue to refine and edit the memorandum with the expectation that it will be completed and transmitted to the Commission in the near future.

Sincerely,

Dear Dale:

As we agreed, I have drafted and enclose herewith three copies of a draft contract, executed on behalf of our firm, to cover the work contemplated for the six-month period commencing October 1, 1979. I have listed in Article I the specific services we agreed would be provided, but included as Item 5 a basis for the Committee to add any additional tasks it desires.

Since the scope and amount of work are indefinite, I have provided, as we discussed, a provision for billing at our present hourly time charges (and have maintained the rates quoted by David Lake in his proposed draft contract II even though our rates are due to increase on October 1st). We would propose to render bills on a monthly basis so that you will have full control of the amounts involved.

Please call if you have any questions. I would very much like to have the contract effective by October 1st.

I was delighted to meet you on Monday and look forward to working with you and your colleagues.

Sincerely,

Sam

MEMORANDUM FOR THE LEGISLATIVE BUDGET AND AUDIT COMMITTEE, STATE OF ALASKA

Subject: Proposed CSSS Senate Bill No. 170:
Federal Tax and Securities Laws Issues and Suggested Approaches

You have asked us to review pending legislation^{1/} permitting the establishment of an Alaskan General Stock Ownership Corporation ("AGSOC") in conformance with the recently enacted Subchapter U of the Internal Revenue Code.^{2/} We have considered issues which may arise under the federal tax and securities laws in connection with this legislation, having previously, in our memorandum of November 2, 1978, for the Alaska Commissioner of Revenue, treated the securities law issues. This memorandum summarizes those issues, identifies optional approaches to resolution of certain problems, and identifies sections of S. 170 which you may wish to consider revising in order to facilitate regulatory approvals. We also propose an

1/ CSSS Senate Bill No. 170, introduced as amended
April 27, 1979. (Hereafter "S. 170").

2/ 26 U.S.C. §§ 1391-97, eff. November 6, 1978.

approach for our presentations to the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS"), and the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") to facilitate the creation and operation of AGSOC in conformity with the federal regulatory provisions administered by those agencies.

I. SECURITIES REGULATION OF AGSOC

Our firm's Securities Law Memorandum of November 2, 1978, indicated that AGSOC will potentially be subject to provisions of three of the federal securities laws: the registration provisions of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1933 (the "1933 Act"); the registration, reporting, and proxy rules of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "1934 Act"), and the registration, conduct regulation and disclosure requirements of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "1940 Act").

S. 170 poses no securities regulation problems beyond those raised in our earlier memorandum.^{3/} Because the statute is an adaptation of general corporation law,

^{3/} However, we do recommend herein minor modifications to S. 170 to facilitate conformance with the intrastate exemption to the 1933 Act.

it does not deal with most of the subject areas which are likely to concern the SEC: particularly disclosure of risks to potential shareholders, periodic reports on financial condition, the administration of the "ballot" mechanisms, and fiduciary duties of officers and directors. Moreover, our initial approach to the SEC will be made at a time when the final form of the AGSOC has not yet been determined. For example, the question of the appropriate basis for exemption from the registration requirements of the 1933 Act must await a final decision as to whether payment of consideration will be required of Alaska citizens who wish to acquire AGSOC shares.^{4/}

4/ We presume that an initial free issuance is preferred if we are able to obtain a ruling from the IRS that a tax will not be imposed upon citizens who receive shares. However, AGSOCA provides in Section 10.50.080 that

"Shares may be issued without consideration or for consideration fixed by the shareholders before issuance. Consideration for shares shall be fixed by a vote of a majority of the shares voting on the issue."

This provision appears to suggest that AGSOC may charge consideration for shares only after the initial distribution as no shareholders will exist until then to fix the consideration. This point should be clarified if an initial charge for shares is contemplated. If you wish to leave the option open, Section 10.50.075 could be amended to read: "Shares may be issued without consideration or for consideration fixed by the Board of Directors before issuance."

We propose to present to the SEC a briefing memorandum describing the proposed AGSOC as set out in the S. 170 draft offered April 27, 1979, formally requesting a 1933 Act exemption, and requesting the commencement of negotiations to develop a modified form of 1934 Act regulation and a waiver of the 1940 Act's requirements during the first five years of AGSOC existence. We plan a preliminary presentation and discussions with the SEC prior to making detailed requests for rulings on the latter points so that we may involve them in establishing a creative approach to GSOC regulation. We hope to have received preliminary feedback from the SEC before S. 170 is passed in final form.

Provisions of the
Securities Act of 1933

We believe, as we indicated in our Securities Memorandum, that AGSOC should not be subject to the registration requirements of the 1933 Act, either on the basis that an initial distribution of shares is not a "disposition . . . for value" within the meaning of Section 2(3) of the 1933 Act, or on the basis of the "intrastate exemption" provided by Section 3(a)(11) of the same Act. We propose to argue both points to the SEC.^{5/}

Even if the AGSOC shares are sold for consideration or if the SEC deems the disposition otherwise to be for value, we anticipate that we will be able to prevail on the theory that its shares are exempt from registration under the 1933 Act by virtue of the intrastate exemption in section 3(a)(11).^{6/} The characteristics of offerings the SEC will deem as falling within

^{5/} Of course, even if the initial distribution of shares is free of charge and thus falls within a "not for value" exemption to the Securities Act of 1933, any additional issuances which are for value would fall within the registration requirement unless they are otherwise exempt. This would include exchanges of shares for property or services as provided for in S. 170 § 10.50.085.

^{6/} This section exempts from registration:

"Any security which is a part of an issue offered and sold only to persons resident within a single State or Territory, where the issuer of such security is a person resident and doing business within, or, if a corporation, incorporated by and doing business within, such State or Territory."

Section 3(a)(11) are described in non-exclusive Rule 147 (17 C.F.R. § 230.147).^{7/} The rule requires that both the purchasers of the securities and the issuer have certain characteristics to ensure that both are truly residents of the state and that sales and resales are restricted to state residents. We believe that several minor changes in S. 170 are advisable in that they will bring the AGSOC within Rule 147 and thus simplify our task if the intrastate exemption need be relied on (either for the initial or any later issues).

AGSOC will be an Alaska corporation as required by Rule 147. Its principal place of business will probably be located in Alaska (Rule 147(c)(1)(i) and (2)(iv)), although the latter is not required by S. 170.^{8/} We suggest that the legislature consider ^{7/} Issuers may avail themselves of the intrastate exemption even if they do not satisfy all the provisions of this rule. 17 C.F.R. § 230.147 (Preliminary Notes, p. 1). If an issue satisfies all of Rule 147's provisions, however, the intrastate exemption will apply.

^{8/} S. 170 § 10.50.050 requires only that the corporation maintain a "registered office" within the state.

requiring AGSOC to have its principal place of business in Alaska as this would clarify this aspect of compliance with Rule 147.

Rule 147 restrictions on sales and resales to state residents are clearly satisfied by AGSOC.^{9/} The basic purpose of Rule 147's limitations on resale is to ensure that securities do not enter the interstate marketplace. It does not appear that the fact that a few shares pass by descent after five years to out-of-state holders or that former residents may retain their AGSOC shares if they leave the state after five years is so inconsistent with those principles as to upset application of the exemption.

Rule 147 also requires that the issuer's business be conducted predominantly within the state in which the securities are distributed.^{10/} The gross revenues and ^{9/} Subchapter U and S. 170 provide that shares may only be transferred voluntarily or involuntarily to persons who are residents of the state. 26 U.S.C. § 1391(4)(D)(ii); S. 170 §§ 10.50.320(a)(6) & 8(B). The general prohibition against transfers except by descent for five years also helps to meet the Rule 147 requirement that resales in a nine-month period after the initial distribution be restricted to state residents. S. 170 also provides that if the shareholder leaves the state or shares pass by operation of law to a non-resident, the corporation shall repurchase them at book value. S.170, Section 4(c).

^{10/} The issuer must derive at least 80 percent of its gross revenues from within the State and have at least

asset provisions of the rule will only be applicable to the initial GSOC distribution if AGSOC becomes operational before its shares are distributed.^{11/}

The use of proceeds provision will only apply if AGSOC charges for the shares, and it may be satisfied easily by segregating issue proceeds to ensure that they are spent within Alaska. If AGSOC is to acquire an asset prior to share distribution we must know what the asset is to formulate arguments that the asset and its income are "within" the State within the meaning of Rule 147 and section 3(a)(11). AGSOC will presumably be acquiring a minority participation in a joint venture as an asset. If majority control of that venture is in the hands of non-Alaskans, it is arguably not an Alaska asset. Also, income may or may not be deemed derived from within the state -- e.g., sales of oil to out-of-state corporations may be deemed non-Alaska income. Even if the initial

80 percent of its assets within the State. Rule 147 (c)(2)(i) and (ii). It must also intend to use 30 percent of the net proceeds from sales of the issues in question within the State.

^{11/} Rule 147 provides that if gross revenues for the most recent twelve-month period are less than $5,000, the proceeds provision is not applicable.

distribution is of shares in a shell company, it will be necessary to examine whether AGSOC revenues can be deemed to arise from the "operation of a business or of real property within the state," with regard to subsequent issues of shares. The legislature may wish to consider so restricting the corporation in its enabling legislation.

S. 170 does not now specifically provide for procedures required by Rule 147 to ensure that the reality comports with the intent of the issuer.^{12/} We recommend that the legislature amend S. 170 to provide for adequate legends on share certificates;^{13/} and that ^{12/} A legend on the share certificates must identify the limitations on resale and warn of the lack of registration, stop transfer instructions must be given to the transfer agent, and purchasers must be required to make written representations as to their residence. Rule 147 (b)(1). The issuer must also restrict sales of shares which are part of the same issue and make appropriate disclosures. Id. § (f)(2) and (3). S. 170 does require that eligible individuals apply for shares and that their interest will become void if it is determined that they misrepresented their eligibility. § 10.50.345-360. The SEC may wish to make rules in this regard or examine AGSOC procedures for establishing residency prior to authorizing sale or distribution without registration.

^{13/} S. 170 § 10.50.105 provides for extremely limited information to be contained on the certificate. We recommend that the legislature amend this section to require disclosure on the certificate of all the restraints on transfer, including the fact that shares are not transferable to non-residents.

the AGSOC provide for the application and stop transfer requirements in the articles of incorporation or the by-laws.

The Securities Exchange Act of 1934
and The Investment Company Act of 1940

As was indicated in our firm's Securities Memorandum, AGSOC does not fall within any statutory exemptions to either the 1934 or the 1940 Acts, and without special provision by the SEC, it will be required to register its securities, to file periodic reports, to comply with proxy rules, to comply with disclosure and trading rules under the 1934 Act and to file under and comply with the fiduciary standards of the 1940 Act.

The primary goals of the 1934 Act are to ensure that shareholders have adequate information concerning the financing and operations of registered companies to permit informed investment decisions, to ensure that shareholders have similar information when they are called upon to vote on corporate matters, and finally to ensure that sales and exchanges of shares occur in a free and open fair market exchange. The 1940 Act has similar goals although it additionally imposes certain fiduciary standards upon the management of investment companies because of the risks that it might usurp control of shareholder assets.

S. 170 permits the AGSOC to be run as a fairly conventional private corporation. It is primarily subject to control by the legislature in its initial stages^{14/} and it is thereafter subject to governance by shareholders^{15/} and the board of directors.^{16/} It is unique in other respects: (1) its shareholders, constituting a cross-section of the state's citizens, will be in large measure unsophisticated in the exercise of shareholder rights and investment decisions;^{17/} (2) shareholders will have little or no initial equity investment in AGSOC; (3) they will be subject to severe limitations on sales or transfers of their shares, particularly during the first five years

^{14/} The legislature must amend the enabling legislation pursuant to § 10.50.640 to control it thereafter.

^{15/} A vote of shareholders is required to amend the articles of incorporation, § 10.50.375, and to approve certain asset sales.

^{16/} The directors may create and amend the bylaws, § 10.50.125, and have other standard management powers of corporate directors.

^{17/} Many shareholders will be minors or other legal incompetents.

after distribution;^{18/} (4) ownership of shares will remain unconcentrated by statutory mandate; (5) bars to proxy

^{18/} In conformance with Subchapter U, S. 170 provides many restrictions which will make it extremely difficult for a trading market in AGSOC shares to develop. For example, shares may not be transferred, voluntarily or involuntarily, within the first five years after issuance, and they may thereafter only be transferred to "resident individuals of the chartering State." It will not be possible for security brokers or dealers to make a market in AGSOC shares if this section is interpreted to mean such entities cannot hold AGSOC shares. Also, since no individual can own more than ten shares, it may not be feasible to create a trading market funded through transfer fees in a manner comparable to those which exist for other private corporate securities. The legislature should, as we previously recommended, give serious consideration to empowering AGSOC to be its own transfer agent or to the creation of a transfer mechanism for bringing together willing buyers and sellers.

Another potential problem is presented by the involuntary transferor. The AGSOC legislation provides at several points that redemption of shares shall be at book value. It is possible that there will be no or negative book value for the shares at stages during the operation of the corporation, when the carrying value of assets approximates the unamortized acquisition debt. This means that shareholders who leave the state or whose shares pass by operation of law to non-residents during the first five years after issuance may end up being forced to "sell" for far less than what would otherwise be market value. The legislature may wish to consider enabling AGSOC to pay a "fair market value" rather than book value to avoid unfairness.

usage^{19/} and cumulative voting^{20/} will limit shareholder power (while simultaneously barring usurpation of it by certain groups) and (6) AGSOC equity will be primarily supplied by loans from large financial institutions in reliance upon state guarantees. The existence of a diffuse, unsophisticated, and passive shareholder population together with a sophisticated and concerned set of creditors provides potential for abuses. S. 170 does not contain provisions which are adequate substitutes for most of the investor protections of the 1934 and 1940 Acts.^{21/}

^{21/} For example, because of the large shareholder population involved and the large sums of money which will be sought from financial institutions, this entity may have major impact upon financial markets. The SEC will probably be quite concerned about the contents of disclosures made to potential shareholders because of the lack of sophistication of this group of people compared with other investors in corporate securities. Particular care should be given to disclosure of the rights of minors and incompetents, who will probably compose a significant portion of shareholders. We propose to represent to the SEC that the notices to Alaska residents, the prospectus or other offering circulars, and other explanations of AGSOC made available to the public will contain full disclosure of the risks to shareholders.

In addition, S. 170 has no provision imposing fiduciary duties on officers or directors, other than requirements that loans not be made to officers or directors and

Our briefing memorandum prepared for the SEC will suggest that a modified form of 1934 Act regulation will be adequate to meet these problems during the five years after the initial distribution and that 1940 Act regulation would be unnecessarily burdensome. However, we anticipate that some modifications to S. 170 may be requested by the SEC during the course of these discussions because of the possibilities for abuse.

II. FEDERAL TAXATION OF AGSOC AND AGSOC SHAREHOLDERS

Subchapter U permits the creation of GSOCs by states and generally provides that a GSOC set up in conformance with its requirements will be exempt from federal taxation. 26 U.S.C. § 1392.^{22/} Taxation of the income of such corporations occurs at the shareholder level. § 1393. Shareholders also receive investment that distributions not be made unless there are adequate resources in the corporation. § 10.50.230. It provides for no periodic reports but only that shareholders may receive the most recent financial statements of the corporation upon written request. § 10.50.285.

^{22/} See generally Joint Committee on Taxation, General Explanation of the Revenue Act of 1978 (H.R. 13511, 95th Cong.; P.L. 95-600) (Joint Committee Print, March 12, 1979, pp. 321-24).

tax credits which would otherwise accrue to the corporation. § 1393(b). The corporation, rather than its shareholders, utilizes net operating losses which it may incur, and these may be carried forward for a ten-year period. § 172(b)(1)(H). The GSOC is required by Subchapter U to distribute 90 percent of its annual taxable income to shareholders,^{23/} (§ 1396), but to withhold 25 percent of such distributions for the IRS on behalf of shareholders. § 3402(r). AGSOC must file an informational tax return that identifies all shareholders and the distributions they have received. § 6039B.

Subchapter U permits a state to establish a GSOC between December 31, 1978 and January 1, 1984 by a charter enacted by the state legislature or a state-wide referendum. §§ 1391(a)(2) and (3). For the GSOC to qualify for the benefits of the Subchapter, its charter must provide for the issuance of only one class of stock, for the issuance of the stock only to "eligible individuals,"^{24/} for the issuance of at least one share of stock to each "eligible individual" unless such individual elects not to receive a share, and for certain restrictions on the transfer of shares. Id. § 1391(a)(4).^{25/} GSOCs may not own more than 20 percent of another company, (§ 1391(a), 1504), and may not obtain investment properties through the exercise of the state's power of eminent domain. § 1391(a)(5).

^{23/} These distributions must be made by January 31 of the year following the taxable year in question. A GSOC must maintain a segregated shareholder income account for purposes of accounting for such distributions. § 1394. At certain points, S. 170 refers to "dividends" rather than distributions. See, e.g., §§ 10.50.115(b), 10.50.140(a) and (b), 10.50.350, and 10.50.360; cf. § 10.50.215. These provisions should be conformed to the Subchapter U language.

S. 170 contains the obligatory provisions required by Subchapter U^{26/} and generally appears to conform to the statutory standards. However, there are a few respects in which modifications to S. 170 may facilitate conformance of AGSOC with Subchapter U.

^{24/} Eligible individuals are defined as individuals who are residents of the chartering state during a period between "a date specified in the State's enabling legislation . . . and the date of issuance" of shares. § 1391(c).

^{25/} Shares may not be transferred for five years except by reason of death or if the shareholder ceases to reside in the state. Thereafter they may only be transferred to individual state residents who may not acquire more than 10 shares. Id. § 1391(a)(4)(D).

^{26/} See § 10.50.320(a), which requires AGSOC to set forth in its articles of incorporation Subchapter U's limitations on classes of shares, issuance, and restraints on alienation. S. 170 also requires that AGSOC must qualify under Subchapter U. § 10.50.320(9).

Taxation of Shareholders
at the Time of Distribution

Section 102 of the Internal Revenue Code provides that "gross income does not include the value of property acquired by gift" A gift has been defined as a voluntary transfer of property by one to another without any consideration or compensation therefor. Gray v. Barton, 55 N.Y. 68. The recipients of the shares are not required to do anything in order to be entitled to participate in AGSOC. They need only be residents of Alaska which they already are and will be. It cannot reasonably be argued that the possibility of becoming a shareholder will induce anyone to move to, or remain in Alaska. The recipients only have to be in Alaska to share in the disinterested generosity on the part of the donor. See Commissioner of Internal Revenue v. Duberstein, 363 U.S. 278 (1960).

It must be recognized that the IRS may resist treating the share distribution as a gift. For example, there is precedent for treating amounts as income where the recipient has done little or nothing to acquire the property. See Rev. Rul. 53-61, 1953-1 C.B. 17, holding treasure trove to be income to the finder. See also Cesarini v. United States, 428 F.2d 812 (6th Cir. 1970), where a taxpayer was required to include in income currency discovered in a used piano bought at auction. The IRS has also held that payments under the Soil Bank Act, 7 U.S.C. § 1801, for refraining from planting crops constitute income. Rev. Rul. 60-32, 1960 C.B. 23. These precedents, which involve some minimal taxpayer activity, or induced inactivity, may be distinguishable in the mind of IRS. They do indicate, however, that there may be some reluctance on the part of IRS to exclude amounts from income, for example, where there is a transfer of property outside the normal family situation.

An alternative argument should also be considered. The receipt of shares by Alaska residents is comparable to a non-taxable transfer payment by a government. Support for the transfer payment analogy is found in the legislative history of Subchapter U.^{27/}

In general, the IRS has taken the position that transfer payments such as social welfare payments are not non-taxable, although no statutory authority for it to do so exists. United States v. Kaiser, 363 U.S. 299, 305-14 & App. (1960) (concurring opinion of Mr.

^{27/} Senator Gravel emphasized the hope that GSOC income could ultimately become a substitute for welfare.

Justice Frankfurter); see, e.g., I.T. 3230, 1938-2 C.B. 136 (unemployment benefits); I.T. 3447, 1941-1 C.B. 191 (social security payments); Rev. Rul. 57-102, 1957-1 C.B. 26 (aid to the blind); Rev. Rul. 72-340, 1972-2 C.B. 31 (job training); Rev. Rul. 36-395, 1976-2 C.B. 16 (home rehabilitation grants).

Rev. Rul. 76-131, 1976-1 C.B. 16, holding that benefit payments under the Alaska Longevity Bonus Act are taxable appears readily distinguishable. Those payments are available to all Alaskans "to provide an incentive to continue uninterrupted residence in the State and under no circumstances is to be considered a form . . . of public relief." The payments by Alaska under this Act must have been sufficient in amount to provide a realistic inducement for persons to remain in the State and are comparable to the Soil Bank Act payments in Rev. Rul. 60-92, supra.

It will, of course, be helpful to a favorable determination by IRS that the value of these shares of AGSOC will be readily perceived to be negligible, or possibly zero. The cost basis for gain on a future sale of the shares by the donee shareholder will be the same as the cost to the donor, i.e., negligible or possibly zero. 26 U.S.C. § 1015. Accordingly, the IRS may recognize the administrative convenience of not taxing the initial distribution but instead deferring the tax until eventual sale when the entire proceeds will be subject to tax.

Finally, in the event that IRS is unwilling to rule favorably on the tax treatment of the initial stock distribution, consideration may be given to obtaining the opinion of two reputable appraisers, if it can reasonably be anticipated that a conclusion of zero value will be reached. In view of the apparent negligible revenue loss involved, if any, it would be highly unlikely that such appraisal would not be accepted as conclusive of the issue.

Tax Consequences After the Initial Distribution of Shares

Under federal law, AGSOC will become eligible for Subchapter U treatment once it qualifies and so elects. 26 U.S.C. 1392(a). It may revoke its election for a year or more with the consent of the Secretary of the Treasury. Id. § 1392(f). S. 170 provides that AGSOC shall be formed in conformance with Subchapter U, (§ 10.50.010), and that its Articles of Incorporation shall set out that it "must qualify" as a GSOC under Subchapter U. § 10.50.320(9). The Articles may be amended in conformance with Section 10.50.365 et seq. but only if as amended the Articles "contain provisions which would be lawfully contained in original articles of incorporation at the time the amendment is made."

While the matter is not free from doubt, we believe the state legislation is thus more restrictive than Subchapter U,^{28/} and requires AGSOC to maintain its election as a Subchapter U entity. We believe it would be preferable to permit a maximum flexibility by allowing the Articles to be amended to drop Subchapter U status under the usual procedure whereby the Board of Directors (or 1000 shareholders) proposes an amendment subject to shareholder approval. § 10.50.375. To accomplish this end, we believe § 10.50.320(9) should be modified^{29/} and that the possibility of such a change should be added to the list in § 10.50.370.

28/ AGSOC may also lose its Subchapter U status under federal law by "ceasing to be" a GSOC, 26 U.S.C. § 1392(f), but it would appear that this can only occur by such affirmative actions as passing amendments which do not conform to § 1391(a)(4), acquiring assets through exercise of the power of eminent domain, or becoming a member of an affiliated group (i.e., obtaining a greater than 20% investment in another group).

29/ The phrase "unless any election to so qualify is terminated under section 1392(f) of such Subchapter" would be added to the section.

Tax consequences to individuals holding AGSOC shares are set forth in Subchapter U, and nothing in S. 170 raises questions in this regard. The Internal Revenue Code provides that the IRS may by rule provide for a certification procedure by which AGSOC could be exempt, as to non-taxpayers, from the requirement of section 3402(r) that the GSOC reserve 25 percent of distributions as withheld taxes on behalf of shareholders as if it were their employer. 26 U.S.C. 3402(r). We propose to explore the feasibility of establishing such a procedure with the IRS. While such a procedure is desirable from a social welfare perspective (permitting these individuals to receive full distribution value as soon as possible and removing the burden of filing a federal tax return), a technique will have to be established to minimize administrative burdens upon AGSOC which would have to determine and keep a record of which of its anticipated 400,000 shareholders were taxpayers in any given year.

Summary of Points
To Be Discussed with the IRS

We propose to present a brief memorandum describing AGSOC and S. 170 to officials of the IRS.

The focal point of our discussions will be the tax consequences of the initial distribution of shares. We propose to request a revenue ruling on this point on behalf of the citizen shareholders of the State of Alaska. Consideration should also be given to discussing the following matters with IRS:

- (1) Confirmation of our understanding of how Subchapter U will work, including
 - (a) AGSOC obligations to the IRS;
 - (b) AGSOC shareholder obligations to the IRS;
 - (c) The general type of reports IRS will desire from GSOCs and the types of regulations contemplated to be issued for GSOCs.
- (2) Confirmation that AGSOC as proposed in S. 170 will be viewed in conformance with Subchapter U, including
 - (a) That S. 170 is a sufficiently detailed "charter" within the meaning of 26 U.S.C. § 1391(a);^{30/}
 - (b) That the definition of "eligible individuals" conforms to Subchapter U requirements;

^{30/} It could be argued that such a charter must contain details of AGSOC governance as currently planned for the Articles of Incorporation.

- (c) That charging consideration for shares will not defeat Subchapter U status;
- (d) That S. 170 provisions requiring eligible individuals to apply for shares are compatible with Subchapter U status;^{31/}
- (e) That secondary issuances of shares will not be considered different classes of stocks in conflict with 26 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(4)(A).

III. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES

For purposes of determining who is an "eligible individual, the drafters of S. 170 would begin the mandatory period of state residency on the effective date of the enabling legislation. § 10.50.320(6). Persons who are entitled to receive shares thus must remain residents of Alaska for the entire period from the effective date of S. 170 until the date of issuance of shares.^{32/} As now defined, the class of eligible individuals is permanently fixed and any later issuances of shares by AGSOC apparently ^{31/} The federal legislation states that the GSOC shall provide for the "issuance of at least one share to each eligible individual," 26 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(4)(C). S. 170 makes clear that receipt of a share is dependent upon application by residents in response to state-wide notification procedures. § 10.50.345-360. We will attempt to clarify that the IRS does not deem GSOCs as under a duty to seek out and issue shares to all eligible individuals. Such a view could be fatal to AGSOC's tax-free status.

^{32/} These individuals are referred to herein as "charter residents."

may only be made to charter residents. We again call to your attention our reasons for questioning this approach, although it appears acceptable under Subchapter U.

First, this restriction of eligible individuals to members of a closed class of persons resident within the state at a fixed point in time may pose significant constitutional problems. See Wilmer, Cutler & Pickering, Memorandum for the Commissioner of Revenue, State of Alaska: Federal Constitutional Issues Presented by Alaska's GSOC (December 15, 1978).^{33/} S. 170 exaggerates some of the problems we have previously raised because it also provides that within five years of issuance, shares must be sold back to the corporation if charter residents leave the state or die leaving their shares to nonresidents. This means that the pool of AGSOC shareholders will include only those charter residents who stay within the state for five years (and the small group who move into the state within this period and inherit shares from a charter resident). After five years, right to AGSOC shares seemingly vests in charter residents and their heirs may retain ^{33/} (Hereinafter "Constitutional Memorandum"). As we indicated there, such limited eligibility for a government benefit must at least be based upon significant state interests as recited in legislative findings.

AGSOC shares even if they do not reside in Alaska. Establishing a fixed class which excludes Alaska citizens who are born in or move to Alaska after S. 170's effective date from AGSOC share issuances may then appear particularly inequitable in view of the fact that these non-Alaskan heirs will hold shares and receive AGSOC income. Even if later arriving residents may acquire shares from charter residents after the five-year period, there can be no assurance that a market in such shares will exist.

The possible constitutional problems are exacerbated by the fact the residency period to qualify as a charter resident could be lengthy, as AGSOC must be organized and become sufficiently operational to issue shares.^{34/} The longer the eligibility period the more difficult it will be to verify compliance with residency requirements. A long residency period will also reduce ^{34/} Incorporators must be selected, and an initial slate of directors chosen. The latter are subject to disapproval within 15 days of their nominations which could cause delay. S. 170 § 4(b). The directors must prepare articles of incorporation and bylaws, and there is at least a 60-90 day period after they have been drafted and filed during which the legislature has the authority to disapprove any of their provisions. § 10.50.335. Activities before share issuance but after finalization of the articles and bylaws, including preparation of offering materials and procedures for share distribution, will also take considerable time, the pool of eligible individuals and increase the number of Alaska citizens who will be resident within the state on the date of issuance or before distribution but ineligible to receive AGSOC shares. The latter will increase the potential for challenges to the constitutionality of AGSOC, and may undercut the political acceptability of AGSOC as well.

A possible solution to these problems would be to revise S. 170 to provide that the eligibility period will commence on a fixed date prior to the date of share issuance -- ^{35/} e.g., three to six months before issue. This approach has the advantage that if there is an issuance of shares subsequent to the initial distribution, later arriving residents could be included as long as they had for example, section 10.50.345 provides for notice to allow for application for shares of at least 90 days before the date of issuance. Litigation by opponents of some aspect of the program could cause indefinite delay. It appears extremely likely that the total period involved may exceed six months and could create constitutional problems under both the federal and State of Alaska constitutions. As we have mentioned previously, Alaska courts have taken a particularly strong stance against durational residency requirements. Constitutional Memorandum at 1, n.1, 34, n.38.

35/ The pivotal "date of issuance of shares" of S. 170 §§ 10.50.345 and 355 may not be effectual, since the bill appears to contemplate sporadic issue. Perhaps, the standard "the date of initial notification to the public of its intention to issue shares" would better carry out the purpose.

been and remained residents for the applicable period to the later issuance. This approach would, of course, exclude charter residents who leave the state prior to any secondary issuance.

MEMORANDUM FOR SAM STERN

RE: AGSOC: Additional Information Needed for Application for Exemption from Investment Company Act

It appears from a conversation held between myself and Gerry Laporte and Messrs. Hallock and Roye of the Investment Management Division of the SEC, that it would be helpful to our application if you could collect the following information during your trip to Alaska next week.

1. The Staff wants a "little better idea of what the investment policy will be." They commented that their previous understanding from our filings was that the AGSOC was to enter into joint ventures primarily to give citizens the opportunity to participate in the growth of the economy through investment in Alaska's natural resources. Now they apparently have gotten the impression that the AGSOC will be free to invest in businesses outside of Alaska, including some businesses in and outside of Alaska that will have nothing to do with the natural resources of Alaska. Mr. Hallock also said that he had previously had the impression that the AGSOC was "sort of like a venture capital deal." Any more information you can find to clarify these matters would be helpful.

2. Hallock comments on the fact that we say that there will be no traditional investment advisor used by AGSOC. He wants to know how the investment opportunities will be investigated and how investment decisions will be made. Would this be by in-house professionals or is it planned that the Board of Directors itself will have sufficient expertise to investigate investment opportunities?

3. Hallock would like to have more information about the oversight functions to be performed by the Administrator of the Alaska Securities Act and the Alaska Commissioner of Revenue. Will there be substantive oversight or merely pro forma review? On pages 6 and 23 of our application we state that the Administrator can issue regulations regarding the content of shareholder materials. Will they do this or are there only two or three people in the Alaska Securities Office who don't do much? What about the role of the Commissioner of Revenue in overseeing the soundness of transactions for which the state guarantees loans. (Application, p. 25.) Will this be a real oversight? Will it be continuing, or only at the time of the initial guarantee?

4. We need to state in more detail where the loans for the AGSOC will come from. Is it planned that they will come from insiders?

5. As we told you, the SEC strongly prefers the formal application not be made until the legislation is passed and the Board of Directors in place. They may be susceptible to an earlier application if we can give persuasive reasons why their requirements are unreasonable in our context. I would suggest that you discuss this matter with the relevant persons and generally discuss the timing of the application, assuming we follow Mr. Hallock's advice.

6. The Staff pointed out that one section was missing from the draft of the bill we sent them on March 18. This is the section making ineligible to serve as directors, officers, and employees, certain persons convicted of felonies and subject to court orders. The section was inadvertently omitted because it was not included in the memorandum we sent to the Legislative Budget and Audit Committee on February 13. It had, however, been included in our memorandum to the SEC on January 30 and in our memorandum to the client on January 22. It has been included as section 10.50.261 in a new draft of the bill that Gerry Laporte will give you on Monday. Please be certain that the client knows that this section should be in the bill and has given its concurrence.

Delete *Sec. 4 and insert the following:

* Sec. 4. (a) The governor, the speaker of the house of representatives and the president of the senate shall each appoint one person to act as incorporators and as the initial board of directors of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation which shall be formed in accordance with subchapter U, chapter 1, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended (26 U.S.C. secs. 1391 - 1397). At least one of the persons appointed shall have experience and training in the field of banking and at least one of the persons appointed shall have experience and training in business.

(b) Notwithstanding provisions in AS 10.50 dealing with the powers and duties of the board of directors, the incorporators appointed under (a) of this section have only the following powers and duties:

(1) to file articles of incorporation of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation under (c) of this section and obtain a certificate of incorporation;

(2) to explore possible investments for the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation;

(3) to explore possible sources of financing for the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation and enter into preliminary negotiations concerning potential loans;

(4) to examine administrative costs for the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation and identify potential administrative difficulties;

(5) to develop a detailed plan for distribution of shares of stock of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation;

(6) to file applications and request needed rulings and exemptions from the Internal Revenue Service, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and other state and federal departments and agencies;

(8) to determine whether the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation can feasibly operate and, if the incorporators decide that it cannot, to prepare a report for review by the legislature which shall be submitted by March 1, 1981, containing the findings of the incorporators and recommending that the corporation be dissolved;

(9) to determine by March 1, 1981, whether the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation can realistically proceed to operate without state assistance and, if the incorporators decide that it can,

(A) to select nine persons approved by a majority of the incorporators to act as the successor board of directors and submit their names by April 1, 1981, to the governor, to the speaker of the house of representatives, and to the president of the senate;

(B) if a majority of the governor, the speaker of the house of representatives, and the president of the senate disapprove a candidate for the successor board of directors within 15 days of receipt of the incorporators' nominations, to submit within 15 days the name of an alternative candidate approved by a majority of the incorporators;

(10) within the limits of appropriations made for the purpose, to enter into contracts and incur expenses needed to carry out the duties of the incorporators under this section.

(c) The provisions of AS 10.50.320(2), (4), (6), and (7) do not apply to the articles of incorporation of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation filed by the incorporators. The articles of incorporation shall contain the following provisions in addition to those still required under AS 10.50.320:

(1) that shares of stock may be issued only to individuals who are residents of the state as defined in AS 10.50.640(11) on the effective date of the appointment of the successor board of directors under (b)(9) of this section and who continue to be residents until the date of issuance of the shares of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation;

(3) that if a shareholder ceases to be a resident of the state or if his shares pass by operation of law to a nonresident,

(A) within five years of the date of issuance of his shares the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation shall purchase the shares of the shareholder at book value;

(B) more than five years after the date of issuance of his shares the shareholder or his executor, administrator or guardian shall have the right to sell the shares to the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation at book value.

(d) The Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation must indemnify the incorporators under AS 10.50.020.

(e) An incorporator is entitled to transportation expenses and per diem as set out in AS 39.20.180.

(f) There is a special fund of the state known as the "Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation feasibility study fund" which may not exceed $1,000,000, which shall be completely segregated from all other funds of the state, and which shall be used by the incorporators to carry out their duties under this section. The unused portion of the fund lapses into the general fund on March 1, 1981. If the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation begins operations under (b)(9) of this section or after legislative review under (b)(7) or (8) of this section, the amount of money used from the fund shall be assumed as a loan by the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation to be repaid to the general fund of the state upon the terms set by the commissioner of revenue.

(g) Upon the appointment of a successor board of directors under (b) of this section, the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation shall begin to operate in accordance with AS 10.50. The successor board of directors shall hold an organization meeting under AS 10.50.340 and shall amend the articles of incorporation to conform to the requirements of AS 10.50.320(2) and (4) without submitting the proposed amendment to a vote of the shareholders as required by AS 01.50.375.

(h) There is a special fund of the state known as the "Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation loan guarantee fund" which may not exceed $5,000,000, which shall be completely segregated from all other funds of the state, and which shall be used by the commissioner of revenue to guarantee loans made to the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation by lenders other than the state solely for initial costs of the corporation and not for the acquisition by the corporation of major investments or for costs incurred by the incorporators in carrying out their duties under (b) of this section. In guaranteeing a loan, the commissioner of revenue shall review the loan for the purposes of ascertaining the general soundness of the proposed loan and guarding against fraud and misrepresentation. The guarantee of a loan may not be for an amount in excess of the unobligated balance of the fund at the time the guarantee is made.

* Sec. 4. (a) The governor, the speaker of the house of representatives and the president of the senate shall each appoint one person to act as incorporators and as the initial board of directors of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation which shall be formed in accordance with subchapter U, chapter 1, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended (26 U.S.C. secs. 1391 - 1397). At least one of the persons appointed shall have experience and training in the field of banking and at least one of the persons appointed shall have experience and training in business.

(b) Notwithstanding provisions in AS 10.50 dealing with the powers and duties of the board of directors, the incorporators appointed under (a) of this section have only the following powers and duties:

(1) to file articles of incorporation of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation under (c) of this section and obtain a certificate of incorporation;

(2) to explore possible investments for the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation;

(3) to explore possible sources of financing for the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation and enter into preliminary negotiations concerning potential loans;

(4) to examine administrative costs for the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation and identify potential administrative difficulties;

(5) to develop a detailed plan for distribution of shares of stock of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation;

(6) to file applications and request needed rulings and exemptions from the Internal Revenue Service, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and other state and federal departments and agencies;

(7) to determine whether the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation requires state assistance and, if the incorporators decide that it does, to prepare a report for review by the legislature which shall be submitted by March 1, 1981, containing findings and recommendations of the incorporators;

(8) to determine whether the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation can feasibly operate and, if the incorporators decide that it cannot, to prepare a report for review by the legislature which shall be submitted by March 1, 1981, containing the findings of the incorporators and recommending that the corporation be dissolved;

(9) to determine by March 1, 1981, whether the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation can realistically proceed to operate without state assistance and, if the incorporators decide that it can,

(A) to select nine persons approved by a majority of the incorporators to act as the successor board of directors and submit their names by April 1, 1981, to the governor, to the speaker of the house of representatives, and to the president of the senate;

(B) if a majority of the governor, the speaker of the house of representatives, and the president of the senate disapprove a candidate for the successor board of directors within 15 days of receipt of the incorporators' nominations, to submit within 15 days the name of an alternative candidate approved by a majority of the incorporators;

(10) within the limits of appropriations made for the purpose, to enter into contracts and incur expenses needed to carry out the duties of the incorporators under this section.

(c) The provisions of AS 10.50.320(2), (4), (6), and (7) do not apply to the articles of incorporation of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation filed by the incorporators. The articles of incorporation shall contain the following provisions in addition to those still required under AS 10.50.320:

(1) that shares of stock may be issued only to individuals who are residents of the state as defined in AS 10.50.640(11) on the effective date of the appointment of the successor board of directors under (b)(9) of this section and who continue to be residents until the date of issuance of the shares of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation;

(2) that at least one share of stock of the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation shall be issued to each individual eligible under (1) of this subsection, unless that individual elects within one year after the date of issuance of the shares not to receive the share;

(3) that if a shareholder ceases to be a resident of the state or if his shares pass by operation of law to a nonresident,

(A) within five years of the date of issuance of his shares the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation shall purchase the shares of the shareholder at book value;

(B) more than five years after the date of issuance of his shares the shareholder or his executor, administrator or guardian shall have the right to sell the shares to the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation at book value.

(d) The Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation must indemnify the incorporators under AS 10.50.020.

(e) An incorporator is entitled to transportation expenses and per diem as set out in AS 39.20.180.

(f) There is a special fund of the state known as the "Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation feasibility study fund" which may not exceed $1,000,000, which shall be completely segregated from all other funds of the state, and which shall be used by the incorporators to carry out their duties under this section. The unused portion of the fund lapses into the general fund on March 1, 1981. If the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation begins operations under (b)(9) of this section or after legislative review under (b)(7) or (8) of this section, the amount of money used from the fund shall be assumed as a loan by the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation to be repaid to the general fund of the state upon the terms set by the commissioner of revenue.

(g) Upon the appointment of a successor board of directors under (b) of this section, the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation shall begin to operate in accordance with AS 10.50. The successor board of directors shall hold an organization meeting under AS 10.50.340 and shall amend the articles of incorporation to conform to the requirements of AS 10.50.320(2) and (4) without submitting the proposed amendment to a vote of the shareholders as required by AS 01.50.375.

(h) There is a special fund of the state known as the "Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation loan guarantee fund" which may not exceed $5,000,000, which shall be completely segregated from all other funds of the state, and which shall be used by the commissioner of revenue to guarantee loans made to the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation by lenders other than the state solely for initial costs of the corporation and not for the acquisition by the corporation of major investments or for costs incurred by the incorporators in carrying out their duties under (b) of this section. In guaranteeing a loan, the commissioner of revenue shall review the loan for the purposes of ascertaining the general soundness of the proposed loan and guarding against fraud and misrepresentation. The guarantee of a loan may not be for an amount in excess of the unobligated balance of the fund at the time the guarantee is made.

Act Exemption Application

Dear Dale:

We have submitted to the SEC Division of Investment Management on behalf of AGSOC the draft of an application for exemption from the Investment Company Act. Enclosed are two copies of the draft application.

We hope to file the application as soon as the SEC staff has reviewed and reacted to it. We will, of course, advise you of the staff's reactions.

I cannot stress too strongly the importance of making sure that each statement in the application is accurate and that we have not omitted any important matters. Please review the enclosures carefully with this in mind, and then advise us of any corrections or questions you have. Please do not hesitate to raise any issue. We want to be absolutely sure that every representation we make is entirely accurate.

We will have to wait for the reaction of the SEC staff to determine when the application will be

BEFORE THE

-----)
In the Matter of) Application for an Order of Temporary Exemption Pursuant to Section
ALASKA GENERAL STOCK) 6(d) or, in the Alternative, OWNERSHIP CORPORATION) Pursuant to Section 6(c) of the Investment Company Act of 1940
-----)

James W. Duncan ("Applicant"), Chairman of the Legislative Budget and Audit Committee, Legislature of the State of Alaska ("Legislature"), hereby applies for an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") pursuant to section 6(d) of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended ("Act" or "ICA"), or, in the alternative, for an order pursuant to section 6(c) of the Act, exempting conditionally
the Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation ("AGSOC"), a corporation to be chartered by an act of the Legislature, from all the provisions of the Act, until five years after the initial issuance of shares by of AGSOC. This period would correspond with the time during which shares of AGSOC are not alienable. Applicant agrees that the exemption may be conditioned upon AGSOC's filing with the Commission and distributing to shareholders an annual report containing substantially all of the information required to be included in annual reports of investment companies under section 30(a) of the Act.

55 In executing and filing this application, Applicant
56 does not concede or represent that AGSOC will be an investment
57 company within the meaning of section 3 of the Act or that 58 AGSOC will be subject to the requirements of the Act. It is 59 not clear whether or to what extent the Act will apply to 60 AGSOC. Applicant respectfully suggests, nevertheless, that it
60 is not premature to request that the Commission issue an order
61 of exemption at this time. Apprising AGSOC of its legal 63 obligations now is necessary to facilitate proper planning for 64 the enterprise and to prevent the unnecessary expenditure of 65 public effort and funds.

66
66 Applicant intends to assure that AGSOC is structured 68 in a way that provides its security holders with all the 69 relevant protections embodied in the Act. Applicant is hopeful
70 that these protections will make it unnecessary to burden this 71 new entity with the full range of the Act's requirements during 72 the formative stages of its development. It is Applicant's 73 further hope that the temporary and conditional exemption will 74 permit AGSOC to identify any problems that may develop with 75 respect to the Act and to work out appropriate solutions to 75 such problems internally and in consultation with the 76 Commission and its staff.

77 77 78 I. BACKGROUND

79
80 The Legislature is considering legislation to charter
81 AGSOC in accordance with the provisions governing general stock
82 ownership corporations contained in title VI of the Revenue Act 83 of 1978.^{1/} The chartering legislation was introduced in the 88

89 -----
89
83 ^{1/} Pub. L. No. 95-600, tit. VI, 92 Stat. 2892 (codified 84 principally as INT. REV. CODE subch. II, 26 U.S.C. §§ 1391-97).
85 A copy of title VI is being filed concurrently herewith as 86 Exhibit A and is incorporated herein by reference.

90 Legislature in 1979^{2/} and will be reintroduced shortly in a 92 revised version.^{3/} The revisions reflect the comments and 106 suggestions of the staff of the Commission. Upon its 107 formation, AGSOC will issue one share of its stock to each
108 individual resident of Alaska; AGSOC will thus be a private 110 corporation owned by residents of Alaska.

111
115 A. The Federal Enabling Legislation

116
120 AGSOC will be a general stock ownership corporation
121 ("GSOC") formed in accordance with title VI of the Revenue Act
122 of 1978, a recent amendment to the Internal Revenue Code that 123 provides certain favorable tax treatment for such entities.
124 The focus of title VI was the enactment of subchapter U of the 125 Internal Revenue Code,^{4/} which provides the framework for 127 establishing a GSOC. The purpose of GSOC, as envisioned by 128 the sponsors of the federal legislation, is to provide state
129 residents with a greater ownership stake in the private 130 enterprise system and to broaden capital ownership.^{5/}

135 -----
135
90 2/ Sen. Bill 170, 11th Legis., 1st Sess. (1979).

93 3/ A copy of the bill, as it is expected to be revised,
94 is being filed concurrently herewith as Exhibit B and is 95 incorporated herein by reference. The revised bill contains 96 six sections. Section 1, which constitutes the bulk of the 97 bill, would add a new chapter to the Alaska Statutes, the 99 "Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation Act" (the "Proposed 100 Act"). References to specific provisions of section 1 will be 101 cited by their section numbers as they will appear in the 103 Alaska Statutes (e.g., "Proposed Act § ____"). References to 104 sections 2 through 6 of the revised bill will be cited as 105 "Revised Bill § ____."

126 4/ 26 U.S.C. §§ 1391-1397.

130 5/ See S. Rep. No. 1263, 95th Cong., 2d Sess. 107
131 (1978); 124 Cong. Rec. S 19,168-169 (daily ed. Oct. 14, 1978)
132 (remarks of Senator Gravel).

Under subchapter U, each state may establish a GSOC provided the corporation's charter contains certain restrictions, including the following:

(1) only one class of stock may be issued;

(2) shares may be issued only to resident individuals of the chartering state;

(3) at least one share of stock must be issued to each resident individual who does not elect not to receive a share;

(4) shares may not be transferred for five years after they are issued, other than by testate or intestate succession or if the shareholder ceases to be a resident of the state;

(5) shares may not be transferred to nonresidents; and

(6) each individual's ownership is limited to 10 shares.^{6/}

In enacting title VI, Congress sought to assure adequate Federal oversight of GSOC's. The federal legislation provides that each GSOC must file an annual report with the Secretary of the Treasury summarizing its operations for the year. (26 U.S.C. § 6039B.) A GSOC must also file an informational tax return that, inter alia, identifies all shareholders and the distributions they have received and contains such other information as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe to enable him to carry out the provisions of subchapter U. (Id.) Federal Government oversight will also be provided by the Congressional Joint Committee on Taxation, whose staff is required under subchapter U to prepare a report on the operation of GSOC's. (Id. § 1391(e).) An interim report is to be filed within two years

^{6/} 26 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(4), (c).

178 after the first GSOC is formed, and a final report is to be 179 filed by September 30, 1982. (Id.)

182
183
184
185 B. State Enabling and Chartering Legislation

186
187 As far as Applicant is aware, Alaska is the only 188
189 state that has taken steps to take advantage of subchapter U.
190
191 Exhibit B is a copy of the legislative proposal that is now
192
193 being considered by Applicant as the enabling and chartering
194
195 legislation of AGSOC ("Revised Bill").

196
197 Section 1 of the Revised Bill would add a new chapter
198
199 to the Alaska Statutes, the "Alaska General Stock Ownership 200
201 Corporation Act" ("Proposed Act"). It would require that the 202
203 charter of a GSOC contain the provisions prescribed by 204
205 subchapter U (Proposed Act § 10.50.320(a)), and would provide 206
207 for the establishment of entities otherwise consistent with the 208
209 business corporation law of Alaska. For the most part, the 210
211 proposed Act tracks the language of the Alaska business
212
213 corporation statute and is similar to the corporation statutes
214
215 of other states. Certain provisions of the Proposed Act, 216
217 however, reflect the uniqueness of GSOC's. For instance, the 218
219 legislation permits the Legislature to disapprove the original
220
221 articles of incorporation and initial bylaws of a GSOC by 222
223 legislative veto within 60 days after submission. (Id.
224
225 § 10.50.335.)

226
227 The Proposed Act also sets out the procedures to be 228
229 followed for the initial issuance of shares by a GSOC. The 230
231 shares must be issued to all "eligible individuals" (generally
232
233 all residents), unless they elect not to accept their shares.
234
235 (See id. §§ 10.50.080-.085, 10.50.320(a)(7).) Beginning at 236
237 least 90 days before the initial issuance, the GSOC is required
238
239 weekly to notify residents of the issuance by publications in 240
241

220 newspapers and by radio and television announcements. (Id.
222 § 10.50.345.) Eligible individuals may apply for and receive 223 shares of GSOC stock up to two years after the date of initial 224 issue. (See id. § 10.50.345-.355.)7/
234

235 Section 3 of the Revised Bill requires that a GSOC
236 file with the Administrator of the Alaska Securities Act (1964, 236 the Commissioner of Commerce or his delegate), a copy of all
236 annual reports, ballots, consent authorizations, and other
237 materials relating to shareholder ballots published or made
238 available by any person to a GSOC's shareholders.8/ Section 3
241 also authorizes the Administrator to promulgate regulations
242 designed to insure fairness, completeness, and 243 nondiscrimination with respect to the content of such 244 shareholder materials.

246 Section 4 of the Revised Bill constitutes the 247 chartering legislation of AGSOC. It provides that Alaska's
248 Governor, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and 249 President of the Senate will each appoint one person to act as 250 an incorporator of AGSOC. The three incorporators are directed 251 to select nine persons to serve as AGSOC's initial board of 252 directors. The incorporators will submit the names of the 252 nominees to the Governor, the Speaker, and the President of the

256 _____
225 7/ An individual who transfers or obtains shares through 226 fraud, misrepresentation, or any deceitful or illegal means is 226 guilty of a felony. Proposed Act § 10.50.310. Also, the 227 ownership interest of an ineligible individual (generally a 228 nonresident) who receives his initial share by presenting 229 fraudulent or misleading information will become void upon the 230 issuance of an appropriate court order, and he will be liable
231 for all dividends or other distributions received by him, plus 232 interest, as well as for legal fees and costs of recovery. Id.
233 § 10.50.360.

239 8/ Revised Bill § 3 (to be codified as an amendment to 241 ALASKA STAT. § 45.55.130).

Senate, who may by majority vote disapprove a nominee within 15 days of receipt of the nomination.

Once the nominations are approved, the incorporators will proceed to form AGSOC in conformance with the provisions of the Proposed Act. They will file the requisite articles of incorporation, including the provisions required by subchapter U, and will call an organization meeting of the directors. (Proposed Act §§ 10.50.315-.340.) At the organization meeting, the directors may adopt bylaws, elect officers, and otherwise provide for the transaction of business by AGSOC. (See id. § 10.50.340.) The notifications of the initial issuance of shares, applications for shares, and the initial issuance should follow shortly thereafter.9/

AGSOC will likely commence business operations by taking advantage of a "loan guarantee fund" established for it under section 4(d) of the Revised Bill. This fund, which shall not exceed $5 million, is to be used by the Commissioner of Revenue to guarantee loans made to AGSOC by lenders (other than the State) for AGSOC's initial costs. It may not be used to acquire major investments.

C. Proposed Investment Policy of AGSOC

It is contemplated that AGSOC will acquire an interest in one or more business enterprises with borrowed funds; the acquired interests would be pledged to secure this debt. The cash flow from the acquired business interests will be used to service the debt and, to the extent of available earnings, pay dividends to the residents of the State who are its shareholders.

9/ See pp. 5-6, supra; Proposed Act §§ 10.50.345-.360.

297 No investment policy for AGSOC has been formulated as 298 of this date. Nor have specific investments been identified.
299 This is necessarily the case because investment policy will be 300 set by the AGSOC Board of Directors, which is not yet in 301 existence. The AGSOC Board of Directors, however, will not 302 operate in a vacuum. Certain legislative constraints will 303 limit its investment policy options.

304
305 There are three requirements imposed by subchapter U
306 of the Internal Revenue Code that will affect the investment
307 policy of AGSOC. First, AGSOC cannot be a member of an 308 affiliated group, defined for this purpose as a group of 309 corporations that are related through 20 or more percent stock
310 ownership. (26 U.S.C. §§ 1391(a)(1), 1504.) Thus, AGSOC
311 cannot own 20 percent or more of the stock of another
312 corporation. Second, AGSOC is not entitled to the 85-percent
313 dividends received deduction that is normally available to a
314 corporation with respect to dividends received from another
315 corporation. (26 U.S.C. § 1393(a)(2).) Thus, any investment
316 in another corporation would be subject to a double tax, once
317 at the corporate level of the company earning the income and 318 once in the hands of the AGSOC shareholders. In contrast, if 319 AGSOC invests directly in a project as a joint venturer rather 320 than through the vehicle of a corporate subsidiary, there is 321 only a single level of tax, i.e., the tax imposed on the AGSOC
322 shareholders. For this reason, it is unlikely that AGSOC will 323 invest in portfolio securities. Third, a shareholder in AGSOC
324 is liable for personal income taxes on his or her share of 325 AGSOC's earnings whether or not distributed by AGSOC. (26 326 U.S.C. § 1393.) Moreover, AGSOC is required to distribute at 327 least 90 percent of its taxable income for any taxable year and 328 is subject to a 20-percent penalty on any amount that is less

328 than the required distribution. (26 U.S.C. § 1396.) AGSOC's
329 board of directors is likely, therefore, to seek investments
329 that will produce sufficient cash flow to make the necessary
330 dividend payments, at least in an amount equal to the income
332 tax liability incurred by any shareholder with respect to the 332 earnings of AGSOC.

334
334 AGSOC's enabling legislation will not limit the 336 company to investments related to the Alaskan economy. Public
336 discussion, however, has tended to assume that AGSOC will focus 338 on investments that will allow its citizen-stockholders to 339 share in the development of the State's economy. For instance,
339 there has been much discussion and publicity concerning a
340 proposal for an AGSOC purchase of the British Petroleum
341 Company's interest in the TransAlaska Pipeline System. It is 342 likely, therefore, that AGSOC's Board of Directors will give 343 careful consideration to such a purchase as a potential
344 investment opportunity.

345
345
349 II. EXEMPTION OF AGSOC FROM THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE 350 INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT OF 1940

355 The Investment Company Act of 1940 provides for the 356 registration and regulation of companies engaged primarily in 357 the business of investing and reinvesting in "securities" of 358 other companies. If AGSOC enters or holds itself out as being 359 engaged primarily, or proposes to engage primarily, in the 360 business of investing, reinvesting, or trading in such 361 "securities," AGSOC may become subject to registration and 362 regulation under the ICA. While it is possible that AGSOC,
362 once its investment policy has been determined, will qualify
364 for one or more of the explicit statutory exclusions from ICA
365 coverage,^{10/} AGSOC hereby requests a discretionary exemption

396
396
396 10/ See ICA § 3(b)-(c). For example, it is possible that 396 AGSOC will qualify for exclusion under section 3(c)(5)(C) as a

396 under either section 6(d) or section 6(c) of the ICA by 396 Commission order.

398
399 Section 6(d) provides that the Commission shall 400
400 exempt

401
401
404 a closed-end investment company from any or 405 all provisions of this subchapter, but 405 subject to such terms and conditions as may 406 be necessary or appropriate in the public
407 interest or for the protection of 407 investors, if --

409 by such company from the sale of all

367 closed-end company primarily engaged in acquiring interests in 368 real estate or under section 3(c)(9) as a company substantially
369 all of whose business consists of owning or holding oil, gas,
369 or other mineral royalties or leases or interests therein.

372 In any event, the public policy behind the section
372 3(c)(5) and section 3(c)(9) exclusions supports the granting of 373 a discretionary exemption from the ICA for AGSOC. According to 374 a 1969 Senate committee report, the companies enumerated in 374 section 3(c)(5), although they have portfolios of securities in 375 the form of notes, commercial paper, or mortgages and other 376 interests in real estate, are excluded from ICA coverage
377 "because they do not come within the generally understood
378 concept of a conventional investment company investing in 378 stocks or bonds of corporate issuers." S. Rep. No. 91-184, 379 91st Cong., 1st Sess. 37 (1969); accord, H. R. Rep. No.
380 91-1382, 91st Cong., 2d Sess. 17 (1970). Similarly, companies
381 that primarily invest in oil, gas, and other mineral royalties
381 or leases are excluded from ICA coverage by section 3(c)(9)
382 because they are not conventional investment companies. Their 383 investments are based on long-term commitments to the 384 underlying economics of a particular royalty or leasehold
384 interest. There is no ready market for such interests, and 385 they are not widely traded. The investor's concern is with the 386 income stream of the investment rather than with its resale
387 potential or market value, as is the case with investors in 388 conventional investment companies.

390 Like the companies excluded from ICA coverage under 390 sections 3(c)(5)(c) and 3(c)(9), AGSOC will not come within the 391 generally understood concept of an investment company, and is 392 unlikely to invest in stocks or bonds of corporate issuers.
392 Moreover, also like the excluded companies, AGSOC will likely 393 make long-term commitments based on the income stream, rather 394 than on the resale potential or market value, of investments.

the issuer and which it proposes to offer for sale, do not exceed $100,000;

(2) no security of which such company is the issuer has been or is proposed to be sold by such company or any underwriter therefor, in connection with a public offering, to any person who is not a resident of the State under the laws of which such company is organized or otherwise created; and

(3) such exemption is not contrary to the public interest or inconsistent with the protection of investors. 15 U.S.C. § 80a-6(d).

AGSOC will meet all the technical tests of section 6(d). It will be a closed-end company because its shareholders generally will have no right to redeem their shares.^{11/} AGSOC will not sell its initial shares, but will issue them without charge.^{12/} The aggregate sums received for the shares will thus not exceed $100,000. No shares will be issued to residents of states other than Alaska, the State under whose laws AGSOC will be organized.

In addition, AGSOC is eligible for consideration under the general power of exemption contained in section 6(c) of the ICA. An exemption under either section 6(d) or 5(c) must be in the public interest and not inconsistent with the protection of investors. In addition, section 6(c) conditions an exemption on its being "necessary or appropriate [and consistent with] the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions" of the ICA.

^{11/} But see note 15, p. 14, infra and accompanying text.

^{12/} The Office of the General Counsel of the Commission has indicated that because of these facts, "it does not appear that registration of the securities would be required under the Securities Act of 1933." See Letter from Benjamin M. Vandegrift to James L. Thompson, Oct. 29, 1979 (copy attached as Exhibit C).

451 This application will show that AGSOC qualifies for a 451 temporary and conditional exemption under both section 6(d) and 452 section 6(c) because such an exemption is appropriate, in the 452 public interest, and consistent with the protection of 453 investors and the purposes fairly intended by the ICA. It will 453 do so by demonstrating that the potential for abuses of the 454 kind described in section 1(b) of the ICA, whose mitigation and 455 elimination Congress declared to be the "policy and purposes"
455 of the ICA, will be minimized by the enabling legislation of 456 AGSOC. It will discuss various provisions of the ICA and, in 458 so doing, will show that AGSOC shareholders will be provided 459 with protections equivalent to those of the ICA or that such 460 protections are otherwise inappropriate.

464 (1) Registration and Reporting
465 Requirements-----
466

469 Sections 7 and 8 of the ICA require registration by 470 investment companies that make use of the mails or 471 instrumentalities of interstate commerce. The purpose of these 472 requirements is to provide a "handle" for the regulatory scheme
473 and to assure that basic information regarding an investment
474 company's structure and investment policy is available
474 publicly.

475
476 Other provisions of the ICA require that investment
477 companies keep current their registration statements and 477 otherwise report periodically to investors and to the 479 Commission. The ICA requires investment companies to transmit 480 financial reports containing prescribed information to their 481 security holders at least semiannually. (ICA § 30(d).)
482 Investment companies must also file annual reports, including 483 financial statements, similar to those filed pursuant to 484 section 13(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. (ICA

485 § 30(a).) The Commission is empowered to require the filing of 486 less comprehensive semiannual or quarterly reports (ICA 487 § 30(b)(1)), and has exercised this authority to require the 488 filing of quarterly reports (Rule 30b1-1 (17 C.F.R.
488 § 270.30b1-1)). Investment companies are, in addition,
489 required to file with the Commission copies of financial 490 reports sent to stockholders. (ICA § 30(b)(2).)^{13/}

500 In many ways, AGSOC will be unique in respects that 501 are highly relevant to the purposes underlying the registration 501 and reporting requirements of the ICA. AGSOC will be owned by 502 over 400,000 citizens of Alaska who have made no equity
503 investment and who will each hold one share of the one class of 504 stock issued by AGSOC.^{14/} There can be no transfer of AGSOC
509 shares for five years from the date of issuance except by 510 death.^{15/} There can be no significant aggregation of shares, 519 as each resident is limited to ownership of ten shares, and for 520 the first five years few residents will hold more than one or 521 two shares.^{16/} Even after the initial five-year period there

528 -----
491 ^{13/} In addition, the Commission is empowered to require 492 that financial statements sent to security holders and the 493 Commission be certified by independent public accountants (ICA
494 § 30(e)) and to promulgate uniform accounting rules (ICA
495 § 31(c)); see Regulation S-X, 17 C.F.R. §§ 210.1-01(A)(4), 495 210.6-01--210.6-10) and rules requiring the preservation of 496 books and records which form the basis of reports filed with 497 the Commission and sent to security holders (ICA §§ 31(a)-(b), 498 32(c)).

505 ^{14/} Although the legislation provides that "at least one 506 share" shall be issued to all eligible individuals, it is 507 Applicant's understanding that AGSOC initially will issue only 507 one share to each qualifying person.

510 ^{15/} 26 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(4)(D)(i); Proposed Act
511 § 10.50.320(a)(8)(A). The one exception is the case of the 512 "eligible individual" who has received his share and then
513 decides to leave Alaska. If he leaves Alaska within five years
514 after date of issuance, the corporation must purchase his share
515 (or shares) at book value. Revised Bill § 4(c)(1). The 516 corporation must also purchase at book value the share of an 517 eligible individual who dies within five years and whose share
518 passes by operation of law to a nonresident. Id.

522 ^{16/} 26 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(4)(D)(iii); Proposed Act
523 § 10.50.320(a)(8)(C). The only way a resident can hold more

528 [Footnote continued next page]

526 will remain severe restrictions on the transferability of AGSOC
528 shares that will make it difficult if not impossible for a
529 trading market in the shares to develop.17/

532
533 Since there will be no equity investment and, at 534 least during the first five years, Alaska's citizens will not 535 be buying, selling, or otherwise making investment decisions
536 regarding their AGSOC stock, there is little need for 537 shareholders to have the kind of detailed information supplied
538 in a registration statement and in the other reports required
539 under the ICA to be filed and distributed.18/

569
571 1 [Footnote continued from preceding page]

524 than his one original share during the first five years is by 525 inheritance or devise of a share from another resident.

529 17/ Even after the five-year period shares may be
530 transferred only to "resident individuals" of Alaska. 26
531 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(4)(D)(ii).

540 18/ Compare H.R. Rep. No. 94-729, 94th Cong., 1st Sess.
541 18 (1975) (during period when stock of Alaska native
542 corporations cannot be transferred, not necessary to subject
543 corporations to burdens of compliance with 1933 and 1934
544 securities acts); Menominee Common Stock and Voting Trust, 545 Exch. Act Rel. No. 10725 (Apr. 10, 1974) (exemption from 546 registration and reporting requirements of 34 Act granted until 547 60 days before securities become alienable when state 548 authorities scrutinized affairs of enterprise).

550 Moreover, requiring Applicant or AGSOC to file a
551 registration statement in the formative stage of AGSOC's
552 development would be premature and would produce a largely 553 useless document. The situation is not unlike the situation
554 that prevailed when Congress exempted from the ICA the native
555 corporations to be formed pursuant to the Alaska Native Claims 556 Act, P.L. No. 94-204, 89 Stat. 1145 (1975). At that time, the 557 House Committee reported that "[i]t was too early for these 558 fledgling corporations to know even what their investment
559 policies and legal and accounting problems may be to make 560 registration practicable for them under the Investment Company
561 Act." H.R. Rep. No. 94-729, 94th Cong., 1st Sess. 17-18
562 (1975). Applicant has, in fact, filed a pro forma copy of Form
563 N-8A as an exhibit to this application, in compliance with rule
564 N-6D-1(b) (17 C.F.R. § 270.6d-1(b)). See Exhibit D. Even this 565 document, which normally serves as a kind of "cover page" for a 566 registration statement, is largely useless inasmuch as most of 567 the information called for is not yet available with respect to 568 AGSOC.

51
52
53

570 It is important to Applicant, however, that AGSOC
571 shareholders have information sufficient to allow them to vote
572 and act intelligently on matters of corporate policy and 573 management. To this end, the enabling legislation contains 574 numerous disclosure provisions, many of which are essentially 575 duplicative of the requirements of the ICA. For instance, to 576 the extent that any shareholder may desire detailed financial 577 information relating to AGSOC, he can exercise his rights to 578 examine AGSOC's books and records^{19/} and to have a copy of 579 AGSOC's most recent financial statements showing in reasonable 580 detail its assets and liabilities and the results of its 581 operations.^{20/} Moreover, shareholders will have access to the 582 reports of the Congressional Joint Committee on Taxation
583 required by the Revenue Act of 1978.^{21/} They will also receive 584 written materials on matters to be voted upon at all 585 shareholder meetings, which will be held at least annually, and 586 these materials will be subject to regulation by the 587 Administrator of the Alaska Securities Act with respect to the 588 fairness, completeness, and nondiscrimination of their 589 content.^{22/} In addition, any false statements in any written 590 document with a tendency to mislead will subject the 591 responsible directors, officers, or agents of AGSOC to criminal 592 prosecution. (See Proposed Act § 10.50.630.) In view of these 593 provisions, Applicant believes that requiring AGSOC to comply 594 with the full panoply of ICA requirements regarding 595 registration and periodic reports is unduly burdensome and 596 unnecessary.

597 19/ See Proposed Act § 10.50.270 et seq.

583 20/ See 11. § 10.50.285.

587 21/ See 26 U.S.C. § 6039E.

593 22/ Proposed Act §§ 10.50.130-.135; Revised Bill § 3 (to 594 be codified as ALASKA STAT. § 45.55.130).

53

606 Applicant realizes that the Commission also has an 606 interest in reviewing information relating to ACSOC.
607 Accordingly, Applicant is prepared as a condition of the 608 exemption requested to undertake to cause ACSOC to file an 608 annual report with the Commission containing substantially all 609 of the information required to be included in annual reports of 611 investment companies by section 30(a) of the ICA and the rules
612 and regulations thereunder. This report would be distributed
613 to all shareholders, and, because of this fact, its contents
613 will be subject to regulation for fairness and completeness by 614 the Administrator of the Alaska Securities Act. (See Revised 615 Bill § 3.)
616

616
619 (2) Honest and Unbiased Management
620

623 Sections 9, 10, 17, 36, 37, and 49 of the ICA attempt
623 to assure honest and unbiased management for investment
624 companies. Section 9 makes certain persons ineligible to serve
625 as employees, officers, or directors of investment companies.
626 Included are persons convicted within the past 10 years of 627 crimes related to sales of securities and persons enjoined from 628 performing certain roles related to such sales. Such 629 prohibitions are superfluous with respect to ACSOC because 630 Alaska's enabling legislation already contains prohibitions
631 that basically track section 9. (See id. § 10.50.260.)
633

633 Section 10 of the ICA attempts to provide unbiased
634 management for investment companies. It requires that not more 636 than 60 percent of the board of directors may be "interested
637 persons" of the company. It restricts bankers, brokers,
638 commercial bankers, principal underwriters, and others who may 639 have a bias in the management of the company to a minority of 640 the board of directors. It prevents investment bankers and 641

641 other affiliated persons from using their investment companies
642
642 to assist them in their underwriting activities.23/

651 Section 17 of the ICA supplements section 10 with 652
652 provisions designed to prevent self-dealing. It prohibits
653
653 self-dealing and exaction of excessive commissions by 654
654 affiliated persons. It prohibits certain loans to affiliated 655
655 persons and underwriters. It provides that portfolio
656
656 securities must be maintained in the custody of a bank unless 657
657 otherwise permitted by regulations of the Commission and 658
658 provides for bonding of the company's employees. Finally, it
659
659 prohibits indemnification of directors, officers, underwriters,
659
659 and investment advisers under certain circumstances.24/

668 Many of the prohibitions contained in sections 10 and 669
669 17 are not applicable to AGSOC or are superfluous. AGSOC is 670
670 not likely to invest in portfolio securities, does not plan to 671
671 use traditional investment advisers or underwriters, and will 672
672 not engage in more than occasional purchases or sales of 673
673 securities.^{25/} It cannot loan money to directors, officers, or

643 23/ In addition, section 12(d)(3) prohibits investment
644 companies from investing in the businesses of brokers, dealers,
644 underwriters, or investment advisors unless those businesses
645 are wholly owned by investment companies and such persons
645 primarily underwrite or sell the securities of other persons.
646 AGSOC is not expected to have any interest in such investments, 647 inasmuch as it is expected to focus upon investments that will 648 allow its citizen-shareholders to share in the economic 649 development of Alaska.

660 24/ In a further effort to prevent self-dealing, section
662 30(f) incorporates into the ICA the insider trading
662 restrictions contained in section 16 of the Securities Exchange
663 Act. The classes of persons required to report under the ICA, 664 however, are more numerous than those required to report under 664 the Exchange Act. Because of the strict limits on transfer of 666 AGSOC shares, of course, there is little chance of AGSOC's
666 experiencing problems with insider trading.

673 25/ See generally Elbert Corporation, 15 S.E.C. 667,

683 employees, nor can officers or employees serve as directors of 684 AGSOC. (See Proposed Act §§ 10.50.180, 10.50.225.) Moreover,
685 the Alaska enabling legislation contains provisions akin to 686 section 17; most activities that would fall within the reach of 687 section 17 are made unlawful, absent special clearance by the 689 board of directors.^{26/}

709
710 Section 36 authorizes shareholder derivative actions
710 or Commission actions against officers, directors, members of 711 advisory boards, investment advisers, depositors, or 712 underwriters of registered companies for breach of fiduciary 712 duties involving payments to investment advisers. It further 713 provides that an investment adviser is deemed to have a 714 fiduciary duty with respect to the receipt of compensation for 715 services or payments of a material nature paid by the 716 investment company.

681 relative inactivity therein).

689 ^{26/} See Proposed Act § 10.50.262 (self-dealing),
690 10.50.020 (indemnification). In addition, to the extent that 692 section 17 prohibits certain transactions with "affiliated 693 persons" other than officers, directors, or employees, AGSOC is 694 less likely than a conventional investment company to be 696 "affiliated" with such persons within the meaning of ICA
697 § 2(a)(3) during its first five years. Because of the 698 restrictions on aggregate holdings and alienation of AGSOC
699 stock, no person will be able to control five percent or more 701 of AGSOC's stock. (See notes 14-17, pp. 13-14, supra and 702 accompanying text.) In addition, because AGSOC cannot be a 702 member of an "affiliated group" within the meaning of the 704 Internal Revenue Code (see 26 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(1), 1504), it
705 cannot own 20 percent or more of the stock of another
707 corporation. AGSOC will not, therefore, be able to meet the 707 initial test of "control" of another corporation in ICA
708 § 2(a)(9) (i.e., 25 percent).

53

718 Alaska law will provide comparable protection for 718
718 AGSOC security holders. The Proposed Act authorizes AGSOC
719
719 shareholders to initiate derivative actions. (Proposed Act
719
719 § 10.50.300) In addition, Alaska law creates strict fiduciary 721
721 duties owed corporations by its officers and directors.27/
724
724

725 Section 37 makes it a crime under the ICA to steal or 725
725 embezzle the property of an investment company, and section 49
727
727 makes it a crime to willfully violate any provision of the ICA
728
728 or to make a material misstatement in an ICA filing. Penalties
729
729 of up to $10,000 and two years imprisonment are specified for 730
730 such crimes.
731
731

732 Alaska law provides equivalent protections. Under 732
732 the Proposed Act, it is a misdemeanor for a AGSOC director, 734
734 officer, or agent to knowingly concur in making or publishing
735
735 to anyone (1) a written statement containing any material
736
736 statement that is false; (2) an untrue or willfully or 737
737 fraudulently exaggerated report, prospectus, account, or 738
738 statement of operations, business, profits, or prospectus; or 738
738 (3) any other document intended to produce or give, or having a 740
740 tendency to produce or give, AGSOC's shares a greater value or 741
741 a less apparent or market value than they really possess.
742
742 (Proposed Act § 10.50.630.) It is also a misdemeanor for any 743
743 such person to refuse to make any book entry or post any notice
744
744 in the manner required by law. (Id.) Finally, a director is 745
745 guilty of a misdemeanor if he concurs in any vote or act of the 746
746 directors to knowingly and with dishonest or fraudulent purpose
747
747 make a dividend or distribution of assets either with the 748
748 design of defrauding creditors or shareholders or of giving a

750 defrauding subscribers or purchasers. (Id. § 10.50.635.)
753

754 While Alaska law may not contain a criminal statute
755 prohibiting theft or embezzlement from an investment company
756 specifically, it does contain strong criminal statutes
756 outlawing such conduct.^{28/} Applicant believes that these 759 statutes are adequate to deal with any such problems that may 760 arise with respect to AGSOC. Applicant believes further that 760 criminal sanctions with respect to activity relating directly 761 to AGSOC are most appropriately applied at the state, rather 761 than the federal, level because of AGSOC's intrastate
762 character. To the extent there may be a federal interest in 763 such activity, AGSOC will be subject to other relevant federal 764 criminal statutes, including those involving mail fraud.
766

767 AGSOC is in many ways a political entity; its few 768 investments and loan transactions will be highly visible and 769 the subject of widespread public comment and debate. This 770 scrutiny alone provides a strong disincentive for self-dealing 771 and dishonest or biased management. Certain provisions of the 771 enabling legislation provide additional "sunshine" protections
772 against conflict of interest situations.^{29/} Extensive
774 publicity will undoubtedly surround the appointment of officers
775 and directors. As for deterrence, these persons are subject to 776 court-ordered removal for fraudulent or dishonest acts and 777 criminal penalties for defrauding shareholders or creditors or 778 making misleading statements.^{30/} Thus, persons associated with

781 AGSOC will have few opportunities to profit personally and even 782 less chance to do so successfully. In light of these 783 circumstances, Applicant considers that application of sections
784 9, 10, 17, 36, 37, and 49 of the ICA is unnecessary in the case
785 of AGSOC.

789 (3) Participation in Management by Security
790 Holders
791 -----

794 Certain sections of the ICA provide for greater 794 participation in management by security holders than is often 795 the case in corporations. Under section 12(d)(1), pyramiding
795 of investment companies, a procedure that had been used to deny 796 any real participation in management to security holders,^{31/} is 798 severely restricted. Under section 13, an investment company's 799 investment policy,^{32/} as stated in its registration statement, 807 cannot be changed without the affirmative vote of a majority of 808 the security holders. Section 15 restricts the period of 808 effectiveness of investment adviser contracts to two years, and 809 requires approval of such contracts by the shareholders.
811 Section 16(a) requires at least two-thirds of the directors of 812 an investment company to have been elected by the shareholders.
813 Section 18 provides that all shares issued by management
813 companies must be voting shares, and requires preferred shares
814 to contain provisions transferring majority voting power to the 815 holders of such stock in the event of a default in payment of 816 dividends. Investment company proxy solicitation is subjected

817
818 -----
818
797 ^{31/} See S. Rep. No. 1775, 76th Cong., 3d Sess. 7 (1940).

799 ^{32/} Items of a company's "investment policy" include its 800 status as a diversified or nondiversified company and its 801 policies with respect to borrowing money, issuing senior 802 securities, underwriting securities issued by other persons,
803 purchasing or selling real estate or commodities, making loans
804 to other persons, and concentrating its investments in any 805 particular industry or group of industries. ICA § 13(a).

817 to Commission regulation by section 20(a). Sections 20(c) and 818 20(d) outlaw cross-ownership and circular ownership of 819 investment companies in excess of three percent of the 820 outstanding voting stock of the companies involved. Finally, 822 section 32 requires ratification of the selection of 822 accountants of the investment company by the shareholders.

825 Some of these shareholder participation requirements
825 are not applicable to AGSOC. AGSOC does not intend to use
826 conventional investment advisers. There is therefore no need 827 to limit the duration of investment adviser contracts or to 828 require approval of such contracts by AGSOC's shareholders.
829 Similarly, there is no need to require that all AGSOC's shares
830 be voting shares or that preferred shares have certain rights
830 upon a default in the payment of dividends. Under subchapter U
831 and the Proposed Act, AGSOC may have only one class of stock,
832 and the holders of that stock will wield majority voting
833 power.^{33/} Likewise, problems of cross-ownership and circular
834 ownership are unlikely to beset AGSOC, inasmuch as its stock
835 can be held only by individuals and the aggregate holding and 835 transfer restrictions on AGSOC stock^{34/} will make it virtually 838 impossible for anyone to obtain control of three percent of 839 AGSOC's outstanding shares.

841 At least one of the shareholder participation
841 provisions, Commission regulation of proxy solicitations, is 842 essentially superfluous with respect to AGSOC. Proxy voting
843 will not be permitted.^{35/} Corporation ballots^{36/} and written

857 these will be subject to regulation by the Administrator of the 860

861 Finally, several of the shareholder participation
861 requirements are unnecessary in the case of AGSOC because of 862 its unique nature. These include requiring shareholder
863 approval for changes in investment policy, shareholder
864 ratification of the selection of accountants, and restrictions
864 on pyramiding. These are the kinds of issues that will be 865 subject to intense public scrutiny and debate by the 866 citizen-shareholders of AGSOC. They will also be subject to 867 review by AGSOC shareholders at their annual meeting. Indeed, 867 because of the sensitivity of these kinds of questions and the 868 public scrutiny to which their determination will be subjected, 869 it is highly unlikely that AGSOC's management would take any 870 significant action with respect to them without submitting the 871 action to shareholder review. Moreover, unlike the typical 872 mutual fund or investment company, AGSOC will not offer to 873 security holders an opportunity to invest in a specific 845 circumstances. Id. §§ 10.50.165.

846 ^{36/} Corporation ballots will be prepared for each meeting
847 of AGSOC shareholders, and will be mailed to shareholders with 848 the notice of the meeting; the ballots, as marked by the 874 investment approach. There is not the same kind of need,

875 therefore, to require shareholder approval of changes in 876 investment policy as exists with respect to conventional 876 investment companies.

877
878 Requiring two-thirds of AGSOC's directors to be 878 elected by the shareholders is likewise unnecessary. The only 879 time two-thirds of the directors might not have been elected by 880 the shareholders will be in the first two years of AGSOC's
881 existence. At that time, however, the board members who have 882 not been elected by the shareholders will have been selected by 883 a process initiated by public officials elected by Alaska's
884 voters. (See Revised Bill § 4(b).) Otherwise, all directors 884 will be elected by the shareholders and vacancies may only be 885 filled by the remaining directors if, immediately after filling 886 the vacancy, at least two-thirds of the directors will have 887 been elected by the shareholders. (See Proposed Act 888 §§ 10.50.185(d)-.195.)

889
892 (4) Adequate and Feasible Capital
893 Structure

894
897 Several provisions of the ICA attempt to assure that 897 investment companies have adequate and feasible capital
898 structures. Section 14(a) prohibits a public offering by an 899 investment company unless it can demonstrate that it will have 900 a net worth of at least $100,000, and section 18 contains 902 several other limitations relating to capital structure.
903 Generally, no management company may issue any warrants or 904 subscription rights unless their life is limited to 120 days
904 and they are issued exclusively and ratably to its security
905 holders. (ICA § 18(d).) Moreover, in general, every share of 906 stock issued by a management company must have equal voting
907 rights with every other outstanding voting stock. (ICA

908 § 18(1).) With respect to closed-end management companies, 908 there may be only one class of debt security and one class of 909 preferred stock.^{38/} Furthermore, any senior security issued by 913 a closed-end company must have an asset coverage of 300 percent
913 if it represents indebtedness and 200 percent if it is a
914 stock.^{39/} Finally, section 23 generally prohibits closed-end
919 companies from issuing securities for services or for property
919 other than cash or securities. With certain exceptions, 920 section 23 also prohibits such companies from selling their 921 common stock at a price below its current net asset value,
922 exclusive of any distribution or discount, unless approved by a
923 majority of their common stockholders.^{40/}

928
928 Many of the abuses sought to be prevented by the ICA
930 provisions relating to capital structure will be obviated by 931 AGSOC's enabling legislation. For instance, while AGSOC may 932 not have a net worth in excess of $100,000 initially, it will 932 be entitled to call upon the State of Alaska to guarantee "seed 934 money" loans from a $5 million fund established for this 935 purpose. (Revised Bill § 4(d); see p. 7 supra.) In 935 guaranteeing such loans, the Commissioner of Revenue is 936 directed to ascertain the soundness of the proposed transaction
937

938 -----
938
909 ^{38/} ICA § 18(c). In addition, any senior stock issued 910 must have complete priority over any other class of stock both 911 as to distribution of assets and as to dividends, which must be 912 cumulative. ICA § 18(a)(2)(E).

914 ^{39/} ICA § 18(a). In the event these ratios are not 915 maintained, the holders of senior securities are given certain 916 protections, such as limitations on the declaration of 917 dividends or the purchase of common stock and affording them a 917 limited vote. See ICA § 18(a)-(b), (d).

923 ^{40/} In addition, section 12(d)(2) of the ICA would 923 prohibit AGSOC from acquiring a more than 10-percent interest
924 in any insurance company. AGSOC, of course, is unlikely to be 925 interested in such an investment because AGSOC will not be 926 entitled to the 85-percent dividends received deduction. See 927 p. 8 supra.

937 and to guard against fraud and misrepresentation. (Id.) Thus,
938 the Commissioner will be scrutinizing AGSOC's transactions and 939 thereby protecting the interests of shareholders against any 940 potential danger resulting from AGSOC's failure to meet the 941 initial net worth requirements of the ICA.

943
944 Some of the capital structure restrictions are simply 945 unnecessary with respect to AGSOC. There is no need to 946 prohibit multiple classes of preferred stock and to require 947 that all classes of stock have equal voting rights. (See ICA
948 § 18(c), (i).) AGSOC can have only one class of stock (26
949 U.S.C. § 1391(a)(4)(A)), and all shares of that class will have 950 equal rights of all kinds (Proposed Act §§ 10.50.130-.175).
951 Likewise, there is no purpose in prohibiting AGSOC from issuing 952 securities for services or for property other than cash or 953 securities. (See ICA § 23.) Under the Proposed Act, 954 consideration for the issuance of shares, if required, must be 955 paid in cash. (Proposed Act § 10.50.085.) Likewise, it is 956 unnecessary to prohibit AGSOC from selling its common stock at 957 a price below current net asset value without the consent of 958 shareholders. (See ICA § 23(b).) AGSOC may not issue shares
959 for less than the current net asset value of such shares unless 960 the transaction is approved by a vote of the majority of its 961 shareholders. (Proposed Act § 10.50.080(a).)

962
963 Moreover, it is unlikely that many of the capital
964 structure restrictions will be applicable to AGSOC, inasmuch as 965 AGSOC has no present plans for a public offering of its stock, 966 debt securities, warrants, or subscriptions. In any case, at 967 least some of the restrictions demonstrate clearly that 968 attempting to regulate AGSOC under the ICA is simply 969 procrustean. AGSOC is unique and the ICA was simply not

969 designed to regulate such an enterprise. While high asset
970 coverage restrictions may be necessary to protect investors of 971 an ordinary investment company, in the case of AGSOC they 972 should not be required. Debt financing without high asset
973 coverage is essential to the success of AGSOC.
975
975

979 III. CONCLUSION

983
984 Applicant believes the foregoing discussion
984 demonstrates clearly that a temporary and conditional exemption
985 from the ICA for AGSOC is not inconsistent with the protection 986 of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and 987 provisions of the ICA. Moreover, Applicant believes such an 988 exemption is in the public interest.
989

990 Congress passed the AGSOC enabling legislation
990 because it believed "that many citizens should have a greater 991 ownership stake in the private enterprise system, and that this 992 would lead to better understanding of the system and would 993 encourage individuals to invest in other business
994 enterprises."^{41/} Congress also believed the AGSOC experiment 995 might enable consideration of GSOC's as alternatives to the 996 present system of governmental transfer payments.^{42/} If these 997 objectives are to be attained, AGSOC must be allowed to develop 998 in an atmosphere free from unnecessary and duplicative
999 regulation.^{43/}

1008 Section 6(c) was designed to afford the Commission
1008
1008 discretionary authority to deal equitably with exceptional and 1010
1010 unusual situations and with situations that could not have been 1011
1011 foreseen at the time the ICA was enacted.⁴⁴/ It gives the 1013
1013 Commission authority to provide exemptions in unanticipated
1013
1013 circumstances of a particular case where compliance with the 1014
1014 provisions of the ICA is not necessary to accomplish the 1015
1015 objectives and policies of the Act.⁴⁵/ AGSOC is the 1018
1018 archetypical example of such an unforeseen and unanticipated
1019
1019 entity.

1020
1020
1021 It is not certain that AGSOC will fall within the 1021
1021 formal definition of an investment company. Even if it does,
1023
1023 however, it does "not come within the generally understood
1023
1023 concept of a conventional investment company investing in 1024
1024 stocks or bonds of corporate issuers."⁴⁶/ AGSOC's unique
1029
1029 character and function place it far outside that class of 1030
1030 companies which Congress intended to regulate under the ICA.
1030
1030 Most of the regulatory provisions in the ICA were designed to 1032
1032 protect investors from the schemes of incompetent or 1032
1032 unscrupulous promoters. AGSOC will not be the invention of 1033
1033 private promoters seeking to profit from either the sale to 1034
1034 investors of shares in an investment company or the sale to the 1035
1035 investment company of securities that it may also be marketing.
1035
1035 Rather, it will be the creation of the State of Alaska which,

1026 (providing rationale for excluding from ICA coverage companies 1027 engaged primarily in factoring, discounting, and real estate).

1036 under the auspices of unique federal tax legislation, is 1037 engaging in an experiment in public ownership of Alaskan
1038 business. Compliance with the Act's particular requirements
1039 should not be necessary to protect the State's citizens from 1040 abuses of an experiment of their own creation and for their own
1041 benefit.

1042
1042
1043 Applicant believes that the treatment accorded at 1044 least two previous requests for exemption from the ICA provide 1045 particularly useful models for the Commission's action on this 1046 application. The first request was an application filed by the 1047 Ampal-American Palestine Trading Corporation.^{47/} The second
1050 involved corporations organized pursuant to the Alaska Native
1051 Claims Settlement Act.

1053
1053
1054 The Ampal-American Palestine Trading Corporation had 1055 as its primary purpose the development of trade between the 1056 United States and Palestine and generally to assist in the 1057 economic development of the latter country. (25 S.E.C. at 25.)
1059 It did so by making loans to and investments in enterprises
1060 appropriate to its purposes. All the borrowers were charitable 1061 organizations aiding in the development of Palestine. The 1062 borrowers, in turn, made the funds available to their agencies
1063 in Palestine. The Corporation cooperated with the enterprises
1063 and the agencies to prevent overlapping of functions and to 1065 increase the effectiveness of its efforts. (Id. at 25-26.)

1066
1066
1067 If the Ampal-American Palestine Trading Corporation
1067 had been required to comply with the provisions of the ICA, its 1069 capital structure and possibly its method of operation would 1070 have required material changes. The Commission, realizing that 1071 several of the ICA provisions with which the Corporation did 1071 not conform "were adopted with other problems in mind," (Id.

1072 at 26), granted the Corporation's request for an exemption
1073 because "[i]ts activities, although somewhat similar in form,
1074 are in substance different from the normal investment company
1075 business." (Id.) The Commission noted that the Corporation 1075 "was designed to appeal particularly to those interested in the 1077 Zionist Movement or in the economic development of Palestine
1078 rather than to those primarily interested in making investments
1079 in the securities of concerns from which a profitable return
1080 may be expedited." (Id.)

1081
1081 The activities of AGSOC will be different in both 1082 form and substance from the normal investment company business.
1083 Like the Ampal Corporation, AGSOC's primary purpose is not to 1084 appeal to those primarily interested in making portfolio
1086 investments; its aim will be to apply concepts of the private 1087 enterprise system to meet social needs.

1088
1088 The history of the requests for exemption by 1089 corporations organized pursuant to the Alaska Native Claims
1090 Settlement Act is also instructive. Under that Act, Congress
1091 authorized disbursement of federal funds to native peoples of 1092 Alaska in settlement of aboriginal land claims, and authorized 1094 the creation under Alaska law of a number of corporations to 1095 administer the funds and oversee investment on behalf of native
1096 residents. The original legislation, passed in 1971, did not 1097 address the question of the applicability of the federal 1098 securities laws and regulations to the corporations, but 1099 provided for an annual independent audit of each corporation,
1100 the results of which were to be transmitted to each

1101
51
52
53

1101 shareholder, to the Secretary of the Interior, and to 1102 appropriate committees of Congress. As a result, the various 1103 corporations were forced to seek individual administrative 1104 relief from the Commission. In 1975, the Native Claims Act was 1105 amended to provide for total exemption of the corporations
1106 from the applicable securities laws, including the ICA, during 1107 the period that shares cannot be traded. The exemption
1108 amendment accomplishes in large measure the disclosure function
1109 of the ICA and the other securities laws, nevertheless, by 1110 requiring that most corporations send an annual report to 1111 shareholders.^{48/} One reason Congress noted for its decision
1112 was that the lack of sophistication of most Alaska natives made
1113 the elaborate written materials required to be sent to security
1114 holders under the securities laws less likely to be useful;
1115 Congress was also moved by the assurance that no trading market
1116 in the shares would develop.^{49/}

1117 ----- 1118
1119
1120
1121 ^{48/} The amendment reads:

1122 Any corporation organized pursuant to this 1123 chapter shall be exempt from the provisions
1124 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (54
1125 Stat. 789), the Securities Act of 1933 (48
1126 Stat. 74), and the Securities Act of 1934
1127 (48 Stat. 881), as amended, through 1128 December 31, 1991. Nothing in this 1129 section, however, shall be construed to 1130 mean that any such corporation shall or 1131 shall not, after such date, be subject to 1132 the provisions of such Acts. Any such 1133 corporation which, but for this section,
1134 would be subject to the provisions of the 1135 Securities Exchange Act of 1934 shall 1136 transmit to its stockholders each year a 1137 report containing substantially all the 1138 information required to be included in an 1139 annual report to stockholders by a
1140 corporation which is subject to the 1141 provisions of such Act.

1144 (1975); see note 18, p. 14, supra.

1138 Prior to the Congressional amendment, the Commission
1139 had taken action to exempt the corporations from the full 1141 panoply of ICA requirements. It had promulgated a temporary 1142 rule exempting the corporations from all but five "essential"
1143 provisions of the ICA, and had proposed to adopt a permanent 1144 rule providing "substantial exemptive relief," which would have 1145 required compliance "with only those provisions which provide 1146 essential protection."^{50/} The protections apparently regarded 1151 as "essential" were contained in or variations of ICA sections
1152 10, 15, 17, 20(a), 20(a), 30(d), 31(a), 31(b), and 33.

1154
1154 * * * *

1158 The proposal for the exemption of AGSOC set forth in 1159 this application follows the line Congress and the Commission
1160 took in responding to the request for exemption from the ICA by 1161 the Alaska native corporations. It provides the essential 1162 protections of the Act and promotes its relevant purposes while 1163 dispensing with those requirements that would create 1164 unnecessary burdens for AGSOC without compensating benefits for 1165 shareholders. In these circumstances, exempting AGSOC from the 1166 ICA's requirements would be wholly consistent with the 1167 protection of investors -- and thus with the provisions of 1168 sections 6(d) and 6(c) of the Act. Moreover, such an exemption 1169 would clearly be in the public interest, as required by the 1170 Act, insofar as it relieves AGSOC of burdensome and unnecessary
1171 regulation and affords AGSOC the flexibility it will require in 1172 the formative stages of its development.

Re: Alaska General Stock Ownership Corporation ("AGSOC")

Dear Mr. Thompson:

As I explained during our recent telephone conversation, we have considered the questions raised by your letter of July 17, 1979. In doing so we consulted with senior members of this Commission's staff in the Divisions of Corporation Finance, Investment Management, and Corporate Regulation. As I mentioned in our conversation, we have not discussed these matters with the Commission and the following sets forth only tentative staff views.

Your letter asked a number of questions relating to compliance with the Federal securities laws, specifically which forms should be used, what types of disclosure are necessary, and our estimates of the costs of compliance. Unfortunately, it is not possible to answer to your questions because answers to most of them would depend, to a large degree, on the manner in which the AGSOC program is carried out. Therefore the following is designed simply to alert you to the scope of the various securities laws and the ways in which they may apply to AGSOC. 1/

Assuming AGSOC would not sell its securities, but rather would issue them free of charge to each resident of Alaska, it does not appear that registration of the securities would be required under

1/ The Memorandum of Wilmer, Cutler & Pickering to the Commissioner of Revenue of the State of Alaska dated November 2, 1978, which you included in the materials sent under cover of your July 17 letter, accurately described many of the problems which AGSOC would encounter in relation to the federal securities laws.

the Securities Act of 1933. As you know, that Act applies only to sales of securities for value. Since these securities would not be distributed in a transaction where any value changes hands, it would appear that no sale would be involved. This conclusion would not, of course, apply to resales by AGSOC of securities of other issuers purchased by AGSOC. In such a case, unless some statutory exemption were available to AGSOC, any sale of securities might be a public offering which might render AGSOC a statutory underwriter. In that event, AGSOC would be precluded from making the sales unless the issuer registered the securities. 2/

Unlike the Securities Act of 1933 which deals, for the most part, with distributions of securities by issuers or underwriters, the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 contains various provisions dealing with the trading of securities in the secondary market. In addition, the Securities Exchange Act applies rather complex continuous reporting obligations to corporations which have 500 or more shareholders and one million dollars or more in assets. Once AGSOC met these criteria it would be required to report under this disclosure system.

The Securities Exchange Act also requires that if the issuer solicits proxies for a meeting of shareholders the solicitation must comply with rules which the Commission has adopted. These rules provide the form and content of proxy solicitation materials as well as prohibiting the inclusion of false or misleading statements in those materials. If AGSOC were to solicit proxies, these disclosure rules would apply to that solicitation. 3/

- 2/ In addition, Section 17(a) of the Securities Act and Rule 10b-5 adopted under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 prohibit various forms of fraud in connection with the offer or sale of any security.
- 3/ During our October 16 telephone conversation, you explained that AGSOC's board of directors would initially be appointed by the Governor of Alaska. Subsequently, however, the board would be elected by the shareholders using the State's electoral mechanisms. Apparently, the shareholders would vote directly so no solicitation of a proxy would be involved. Even so, the Securities Exchange Act requires a reporting company which does not solicit proxies to provide an annual report, containing the same information as a proxy statement, to its shareholders.

Finally, as noted previously, the Securities Exchange Act and rules thereunder prohibit fraud in connection with the purchase or sale of a security.

Investment Company Act

To the extent that AGSOC would, or would hold itself out to be, engaged primarily in or proposing to engage primarily in, the business of investing, reinvesting, or trading in securities, AGSOC might be an investment company under Section 3(a) of the Investment Company Act of 1940. On the other hand, if AGSOC were to limit itself to purchases of majority interests in companies engaged primarily in a business other than investing, reinvesting, owning, holding, or trading in securities it might be excluded from the definition of the term "investment company." There are, in addition, several other exclusions which might apply but all of which depend on the particular facts involved.

The Investment Company Act establishes one of the most pervasive regulatory schemes under the Commission's jurisdiction. Unlike the Securities and Securities Exchange Acts, the provisions of which focus primarily on disclosure, the Investment Company Act imposes various substantive conditions on investment companies. It is true that the Investment Company Act authorizes the Commission to grant rather broad exemptions from those conditions but these exemptions are generally granted on a case-by-case basis. We simply do not have enough information at present to discuss an Investment Company Act exemption for AGSOC.

Public Utility Holding Company Act

Should AGSOC own or control 10 percent of the outstanding voting securities of a public utility or another public utility holding company, it might become subject to the Public Utility Holding Act of 1935. If so, among other restrictions, it could not engage in any further financing without the approval of the Commission.

Conclusion

We hope the foregoing, although necessarily somewhat general, has been helpful. Because there are so many imponderables, we believe that your suggestion that a continuing dialogue be maintained between your office and the Commission's staff is a good one. Only when the details of AGSOC's management and operations are completely clear can the applicability of the federal securities laws be accurately assessed. In this regard, continued participation of counsel experienced in the application of the federal securities laws would be helpful. Of course, we will endeavor to give you any assistance you need. For example, if, as you have suggested, testimony before an Alaskan legislative committee by a Commission staff member would assist your efforts, you should let me know so that we can bring the proposal to the attention of the Commission.

Very truly yours,

issuance of shares by AGSOC. All interested persons are

63 referred to the application on file with the Commission for a 63 statement of the representations contained therein, which are 64 summarized below.

65
66 Applicant represents as follows:

67
68
69 It is not certain at this time whether 70 AGSOC will fall within the formal
71 definition of an investment company or 71 whether AGSOC might qualify for exclusion
72 from coverage under the Act. AGSOC will 73 not come within the generally understood
74 concept of a conventional investment
75 company, however, and will be far outside
75 the class of companies intended to be 76 regulated by the Act. AGSOC will differ in 77 both form and substance from the normal
78 investment company business. In any event,
80 Applicant intends to structure AGSOC in a
80 way that provides the company's security
81 holders with all the relevant protections
82 embodied in the Act.

83
84 The Legislature is considering legislation
85 to charter AGSOC in accordance with the 85 provisions governing general stock
86 ownership corporations in Title VI of the 86 Revenue Act of 1978, Pub. L. No. 95-600,
87 Tit. VI, 92 Stat. 2892 (codified
87 principally as INT. REV. CODE subch. U, 26
88 U.S.C. §§ 1391-97). Upon its formation,
89 AGSOC will issue one share of its only
89 class of stock to all "eligible 90 individuals" (in general, all residents of 90 Alaska) without charge. Shares will not be 91 transferable (1) to nonresidents and (2)
92 for five years after they are issued,
92 except by testate or intestate succession.
93 AGSOC will be required to purchase at book
94 value the shares of any individual who 95 ceases to be a resident of Alaska or of any 95 nonresident who acquires shares by 96 operation of law. Each individual's
97 aggregate holdings will be limited to 10
98 shares.

99
100 AGSOC has not yet formulated an investment
101 policy. It is contemplated, however, that 102 AGSOC will acquire an interest in one or 102 more business enterprises with borrowed
103 funds and that the acquired interests will 104 be pledged to secure the debt. The cash
104 flow from the acquired business will be
105 used to service the debt and, to the extent
106 possible, pay dividends to shareholders.
107 AGSOC is expected to focus on investments
107 that will allow its citizen-stockholders to 108 share in the development of Alaska's
109 economy.

111 Three requirements imposed by subchapter U
111 of the Internal Revenue Code will affect 112 the investment policy of AGSOC. Because 113 AGSOC may not be a member of an affiliated 113 group, it cannot own 20 percent or more of 114 the stock of another corporation. In 114 addition, because AGSOC will not be
116 entitled to the 85-percent dividends
117 received deduction, it is unlikely that
117 AGSOC will invest in portfolio securities.
118 Furthermore, because AGSOC will be required
119 to distribute 90 percent of its taxable
120 income or to pay a 20-percent penalty on 121 any undistributed amount in excess of 10
121 percent, AGSOC is likely to seek
122 investments that will produce sufficient
122 cash flow to make dividend payments in an 123 amount at least equal to the income tax
123 liability incurred by any shareholder with 124 respect to the earnings of AGSOC.

125
126 Strict compliance with the registration and 126 reporting requirements of the Act would be 127 burdensome for AGSOC and would not produce
128 compensating benefits. Because AGSOC stock
129 may not be transferred for five years,
129 there is little need for shareholders to 130 have the kind of detailed information
130 required by the registration and reporting
131 requirements. Moreover, several provisions
132 of AGSOC's enabling legislation will 133 provide adequate disclosure and
134 governmental oversight. These include: (1)
135 required shareholder access to AGSOC's
135 books, records, and financial statements;
136 (2) oversight reports by the staff of the 137 Congressional Joint Committee on Taxation;
137 (3) required filings of detailed
137 informational tax returns with the Treasury
138 Department; and (4) requirements for 139 periodic submissions to shareholders and 139 regulation of the content of such 140 submissions by the Administrator of the 140 Alaska Securities Act.

141
142 It is likewise inappropriate to require 142 that AGSOC comply strictly with the 142 provisions of the Act designed to produce
143 honest and unbiased management for 143 investment companies. This is so largely 144 because AGSOC is not likely to invest in 144 portfolio securities, does not plan to use
145 traditional investment advisers or 145 underwriters, and will not engage in more 145 than occasional purchases or sales of 146 securities. In addition, under its 147 enabling legislation, AGSOC may not loan
147 money to directors, officers, or employees,
149 nor can AGSOC's officers or employees serve 149 as directors. The legislation also will 151 contain provisions that make most activity
152 susceptible to the abuses suppressed by

152 section 17 of the Act subject to special
153 clearance by AGSOC's board of directors.
153 Moreover, it will be a misdemeanor for an 154 AGSOC director, officer, or agent to make a
155 false or fraudulent written statement
155 affecting the value of AGSOC shares.
155 Finally, the high visibility of AGSOC's
156 transactions will provide a strong
157 disincentive for self-dealing and dishonest
157 or biased management.

159
160 Strict compliance with the provisions of 160 the Act designed to increase participation
161 in management by security holders is also 161 unnecessary. The AGSOC enabling 162 legislation will contain comparable
162 safeguards to assure participation in 163 management by security holders. Direct 164 shareholder voting will be required and 165 proxy voting will not be permitted. AGSOC
165 will distribute to shareholders information
166 on matters to be voted upon at shareholder
167 meetings, and these distributions will be 167 subject to regulation by the Administrator
168 of the Alaska Securities Act. Required
169 periodic shareholder review and the 169 expected intense public scrutiny of AGSOC
170 management will provide additional 171 safeguards. Finally, because AGSOC will 172 not offer an opportunity to invest in a
173 specific investment approach, there is not
173 the same kind of need to require security
174 holder approval of changes in investment
174 policy as exists with respect to 175 traditional investment companies.

176
177 Many of the abuses sought to be prevented
177 by the provisions of the Act relating to 178 capital structure will be obviated by the 179 enabling legislation, while other abuses
179 are unlikely to beset AGSOC. In addition,
180 some of the capital structure provisions
180 are not relevant or are unduly burdensome
181 with respect to AGSOC. A $5 million State
182 fund will be established to guarantee "seed
183 money" loans for AGSOC. The fund will be 184 administered by the Commissioner of 185 Revenue. It will serve to prevent any 186 potential difficulties caused by AGSOC's
186 low initial net worth. The Act's
187 prohibitions on multiple classes of stock
187 with unequal voting rights, issuance of 188 securities for services or property other
188 than cash, and sales of common stock below
189 current net asset value without shareholder
189 approval, are unnecessary with respect to 190 AGSOC, as these practices will be
191 prohibited by the enabling legislation.
193 Inasmuch as AGSOC is not expected to 193 publicly offer its stock, debt securities,
194 warrants, or subscriptions, the provisions
194 of the Act designed to guard against abuses

195 with respect to such contingencies will be 196 inapplicable to the company. Finally,
197 compliance with provisions of the Act
198 regarding asset coverage for debt
199 securities should not be required of AGSOC.
200 Substantial borrowing is essential to the 201 success of the enterprise.

202 Congress enacted federal tax enabling 203 legislation to permit formation of entities
204 such as AGSOC. Congress believed such 205 entities offered promise of broadening the 206 ownership stake of citizens in private 207 enterprise and of promoting understanding
208 of the private enterprise system. Congress
209 also thought such entities offered promise
210 as an alternative to the present system of 211 governmental transfer payments. A
212 temporary exemption from the Act is 213 appropriate to allow these congressional 214 beliefs to be tested in an atmosphere free
215 from unnecessary regulation.

216 Section 6(d) of the Act provides, in part, that the 217 Commission, subject to such terms and conditions as may be 218 necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the 219 protection of investors, shall exempt from all provisions of 220 the Act any closed-end investment company that (1) has not and 221 will not receive $100,000 from the sale of its securities, and 222 (2) will not publicly offer any security to any person who is 223 not a resident of the state under the laws of which the company
224 is organized, provided that the exemption is not contrary to 225 the public interest or inconsistent with the protection of 226 investors.

227 Applicant submits that AGSOC will meet the technical 228 requirements for a section 6(d) exemption: It will be a 229 closed-end company, will not have received over $100,000 from 230 the securities it has sold or proposes to offer for sale, and 231 will not publicly offer any security to any person who is not a
232 resident of the state under which it will be organized.
233 Applicant submits further that the temporary and conditional 234 exemption requested is not contrary to the public interest or

229 inconsistent with the protection of investors because, as 229
229 demonstrated in its application, AGSOC will be structured to 230
230 provide its security holders with all the relevant protections
231
231 embodied in the Act.
232

232
233 Section 6(c) of the Act provides, in part, that the 233
233 Commission, upon application, may conditionally or 234
234 unconditionally exempt any person, security, or transaction or 235
235 any class or classes of persons, securities, or transactions,
236
236 from any provision or provisions of the Act or of the rules
236
236 thereunder, if and to the extent that such exemption is 237
237 necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent
238
238 with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly 238
238 intended by the policy and provisions of the Act.
240

240
241 Applicant submits that the temporary and conditional
241
241 exemption requested is appropriate in the public interest,
242
242 within the meaning of section 6(c), because it will serve to 244
244 carry out congressional policy and to broaden participation in 245
245 the free enterprise system. Applicant submits further that the 247
247 exemption is consistent with the protection of investors and 247
247 the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of 248
248 the Act, as required by section 6(c), because, as demonstrated 249
249 in the application, AGSOC will be structured to provide its 250
250 security holders with all the relevant protections embodied in 250
250 the Act.
251

251
252 Applicant has stated that the following condition may 252
252 be imposed in an order granting the temporary exemption it
253
253 requests: AGSOC will file with the Commission and distribute 254
254 to shareholders an annual report containing substantially all 256
256 of the information required in reports of investment companies
256
256 under section 30(a) of the Act.
258

259 NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that any interested person
259 may, not later than _____, 1980, at 5:30 p.m., submit 260 to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the 261 matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his 262 interest, the reason for such request, and the issues, if any,
263 of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request
263 that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing
264 thereon. Any such communication should be addressed:
265 Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C.
266 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by 267 mail upon Applicant at the address stated above. Proof of such 268 service (by affidavit or, in the case of an attorney-at-law, by 269 certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request.
269 As provided by Rule 0-5 of the Rules and Regulations
270 promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the 271 application herein will be issued as of course following said
272 date unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon 272 request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who 273 request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is 274 ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this 274 matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any 275 postponements thereof.

277 For the Commission, by the Division of Investment
277
277 Management, pursuant to delegated authority.
