TO: Honorable Joe Hayes
Speaker of the House

FROM: Rep. Al Adams, Chairman AAA
House Finance Committee

SUBJ: Senate CS CSHB 643 (Fin)

Following is a list of those sections that Committee members have requested be held for further information or have recommended changes be made to:

Page 2

Sec. 8. The Committee's recommendation was that this Sec. be deleted and that Secs. 9 and 10 be considered in the Capital Budget.

Page 6

Sec. 27. The Department of Health & Social Services suggested this section be appropriated to the Dept. of Health and Social Services instead of Community & Regional Affairs.

Page 7

Sec. 40. Held at the request of Rep. Cotten to find out how they arrived at the number and who would do the work on the project.

Page 8

Sec. 46. The Department of Education indicated the correct number should be $396,110 for capital cost over-runs instead of $421,000.

Page 9

Sec. 54. The Department of Health & Social Services suggested this section be appropriated to the Department of Health & Social Services instead of Community & Regional Affairs.

Page 10

Sec. 72. Held at the request of Reps. Meekins & Cotten for additional information.

Sec. 73 & 74. The fiscal analyst indicated there was a recommendation in the bond bill for additional funds for this project.

Page 16

Sec. 110. Rep. Montgomery recommended this be taken out and included as part of the operating budget.

Sec. 112. Rep. Montgomery recommended this be taken out and included as part of the operating budget.

Page 20

Sec. 140. Reps. Cotten, Meekins, Montgomery & Carney expressed concern.

Sec. 141 & 142. Held at the request of Rep. Cotten for additional information.

Page 22

Secs. 147, 148, 149 & 150. The Fiscal Analyst indicated these sections weren't necessary as they were included in HB 549 which has already passed and become law (Chapter 44).

Page 23

Secs. 156 & 157. The fiscal analyst indicated there was a recommendation in the bond bill for additional funds for this project.

Page 24

Sec. 163. The fiscal analyst indicated there was a recommendation in the bond bill for additional funds for this project.

Page 26

Sec. 176. Rep. Montgomery recommended this be included as part of the operating budget.

Page 28

Sec. 195. Rep. Montgomery suggested this be included as an operating budget item.

Page 29

Sec. 207. Rep. Montgomery objected to the appropriation.

Page 30

Secs. 214 & 215. Rep. Meekins objected, stating this was "bad public policy".

Sec. 217. The Committee suggested this would be more appropriate as a capital allocation.

Page 37

Sec. 263. The fiscal analyst noted that line 28 ($250,000) is a contractual line item from the operating budget.

Page 38

Sec. 265. Rep. Cotten indicated these were unspecified grants & loans with no control over who will receive the funds.

Attached is a list of those sections that include operating items, a list of those sections that include studies, and the changes that Rep. Fanning suggests be made to the bill.

JUSTIFICATION

SCS CS HB 643 (Finance) contains 26 projects totalling $5,725,400 to be administered by the Department of Community and Regional Affairs. Present staffing does not allow for the absorbtion of this additional work load without an increase in work force. The fiscal note reflects only two years of funding as these positions could be short term unless new capital projects are funded in suceeding years.

Tnese two positions should provide additional support in rural Alaska where most of the DCRA projects are located. A detailed breakdown is as follows:

100 Personal Services		$133,458
Local Gov't Specialist IV
Range 19 Salary $3,494 X 12 =	$41,928

State Capitol
Juneau, Alaska 99811

MEMORANDUM

DATE: May 27, 1982

TO: Honorable Joe Hayes
Speaker of the House

FROM: Rep. Al Adams, Chairman
House Finance Committee

SUBJ: Senate CS CSHB 643 (Fin)

Following is a list of those sections that Committee members have requested be held for further information or have recommended changes be made to:

Page 2

Sec. 8. The Committee's recommendation was that this Sec. be deleted and that Secs. 9 and 10 be considered in the Capital Budget.

Page 6

Sec. 27. The Department of Health & Social Services suggested this section be appropriated to the Dept. of Health and Social Services instead of Community & Regional Affairs.

Page 7

Sec. 40. Held at the request of Rep. Cotten to find out how they arrived at the number and who would do the work on the project.

Page 8

Sec. 46. The Department of Education indicated the correct number should be $396,110 for capital cost over-runs instead of $421,000.

Page 9

Sec. 54. The Department of Health & Social Services suggested this section be appropriated to the Department of Health & Social Services instead of Community & Regional Affairs.

Page 10

Sec. 72. Held at the request of Reps. Meekins & Cotten for additional information.

Sec. 73 & 74. The fiscal analyst indicated there was a recommendation in the bond bill for additional funds for this project.

Page 16

Sec. 110. Rep. Montgomery recommended this be taken out and included as part of the operating budget.

Sec. 112. Rep. Montgomery recommended this be taken out and included as part of the operating budget.

Page 20

Sec. 140. Reps. Cotten, Meekins, Montgomery & Carney expressed concern.

Sec. 141 & 142. Held at the request of Rep. Cotten for additional information.

Page 22

Secs. 147, 148, 149 & 150. The Fiscal Analyst indicated these sections weren't necessary as they were included in HB 549 which has already passed and become law (Chapter 44).

Page 23

Secs. 156 & 157. The fiscal analyst indicated there was a recommendation in the bond bill for additional funds for this project.

Page 24

Sec. 163. The fiscal analyst indicated there was a recommendation in the bond bill for additional funds for this project.

Page 26

Sec. 176. Rep. Montgomery recommended this be included as part of the operating budget.

Page 28

Sec. 195. Rep. Montgomery suggested this be included as an operating budget item.

Page 29

Sec. 207. Rep. Montgomery objected to the appropriation.

Page 30

Secs. 214 & 215. Rep. Meekins objected, stating this was "bad public policy".

Sec. 217. The Committee suggested this would be more appropriate as a capital allocation.

Page 37

Sec. 263. The fiscal analyst noted that line 28 ($250,000) is a contractual line item from the operating budget.

Page 38

Sec. 265. Rep. Cotten indicated these were unspecified grants & loans with no control over who will receive the funds.

Attached is a list of those sections that include operating items, a list of those sections that include studies, and the changes that Rep. Fanning suggests be made to the bill.

HB 643

House Finance Committee Meeting---May 21, 1982

McCutchen----he has problems with sec. 247 and 248.

Zharoff---explained the projects affecting district 14--
these are contained in secs. 261, 25, and 239.

Meekins---requested the following information: back-up for new projects and back-up for the reductions and/or deletions; a list of the operating projects; a list of projects that will affect the future operating budgets; and some kind of list that would show the connection between projects that were reduced or deleted and new projects.

Cotten----he talked about the fact that Susitna and the Anch-fairbanks Intertie were out. He also brought up that a lot of the projects in HB 643 were not originally capital budget items---they were energy projects and the allocations for the energy projects were not equitable for all regions of the state.

Elmer-----Elmer gave a handout to all members relating to energy issues in the bill. Green Lakeis reduced by 44 Million and 25 Million has been added for the Tyee project.

Bettisworth--he wanted to know if there were any "improper" appropri-ations in the bill--and where they were.

Cotten-----he thought sec. 140 would be a good one to look into.

Montgomery--Requested that Sen. Dankworth's office (max) provide us the back-up by Monday.

Those present at the meeting-----Montgomery, Hurlbert, Meekins Chuckwuk, Haugen, Bettisworth, Fuller, Cotten

JUSTIFICATION

SCS CS HB 643 (Finance) contains 26 projects totalling $5,725,400 to be administered by the Department of Community and Regional Affairs. Present staffing does not allow for the absorption of this additional work load without an increase in work force. The fiscal note reflects only two years of funding as these positions could be short term unless new capital projects are funded in suceeding years.

These two positions should provide additional support in rural Alaska where most of the DCRA projects are located. A detailed breakdown is as follows:

100 Personal Services		$133,458
Local Gov't Specialist IV Range 19 Salary $3,494 X 12 =	$41,928
Planner IV Range 19 $3,494 X 12 =	41,928
Clerk Typist III Range 8 Salary $1,668 X 12 =	20,016

HOUSE FINANCE COMMITTEE
May 25, 1982
8:35 a.m.

(Tape HFC 82-58, Side 1, #79)

PRESENT

Members of the committee in attendance: Representatives Adams, Cuddy, Montgomery, Fuller, Hurlbert, Chuckwuk, Meekins, Cotten, Bettisworth, and Haugen. Representative Carney was not in attendance at the meeting.

ALSO PRESENT: Jay Hogan, Director, Legislative Finance; Alison Elgee, Fiscal Analyst, Legislative Finance; Alison Farnan, Fiscal Analyst, Legislative Finance; Bob Schroeder, Fiscal Analyst, Legislative Finance; Bob Grogan, Fiscal Analyst, Legislative Finance; Elmer Lindstrom, Fiscal Analyst, Legislative Finance; and Steven Pennoyer, Director, Division of Commercial Fisheries, Department of Fish and Game.

Chairman Adams called the meeting to order and informed committee members that they would proceed with a Sectional Review of SCS CSHB 643 (Finance). Following a request made by members during an informal meeting of the Finance Committee on May 21, 1982; backup information had been compiled for review by the full committee. Chairman Adams informed members that backup information for the following sections was not available for today's meeting; however, the information will be forthcoming for review by the committee: Sections 16 through 20; Section 29, Section 40, Sections 92 through 94. Chairman Adams informed members that it was his intent to proceed page by page through the legislation with members noting those sections which they require backup information for further review.

SCS CSHB 643 (Finance)

SCS CSHB 643 (Finance) - "An Act repealing, amending, making, and extending lapse dates on appropriations; and providing for an effective date."

Page 1

Representative Meekins asked for additional information concerning Section 1 and Section 2. BOB GROGAN, Fiscal Analyst with the Legislative Finance Division explained that he had not received anything from the Department of Fish and Game therefore did not have any details at this time. The committee requested that the Department be contacted and a representative meet with the committee to explain Sections 1 and 2. Chairman Adams informed members that they would return to page 1 when a representative from the Department arrived.

Representative Meekins asked for an explanation of the decreased funding to the Matanuska-Susitna Borough as outlined in Section 8. ALISON ELGEE, Fiscal Analyst with the Legislative Finance Division explained that under ch. 104 a total of $6,200,300 was appropriated to the Borough for the Iditarod school which was destroyed by fire. The $6,200,300 was an estimate of the cost of reconstruction. While awaiting settlement by the insurance company, the state appropriated the funds for reconstruction. Following settlement, the funds would return to the state. The money has been encumbered by the Department of Administration and is in the state treasury. The funding in the amount of $2,820,300 as listed in the bill is the difference between the cost of reconstruction and amount of insurance settlement. Representative Meekins stated that the clause "if the borough subrogates its right to all proceeds from insurance on the school to the state" would place the school in a precarious position since the cost of reconstruction could exceed the $2,820,300 and the insurance settlement would not then be available to the district. Chairman Adams asked Ms. Elgee to investigate to see if this situation could arise to determine if changes should be made to Section 8.

Representative Montgomery asked if there was a relationship between Section 9 and 10 with Section 8? Representative Cotten responded that they do not tie in. Representative Meekins responded that not only is Section 9 and 10 a new appropriation but when you want funding for a new school and school related equipment, bonds are issued. He stated that there is a statute which allows for 50% reimbursement so if the legislature is going to deviate from process by providing funding for one district, they should do it for all districts.

Representative Cuddy referred to Section 14 and asked if there is to be a direct relationship in other areas of the bill? He stated that if there is no relationship with regard to where the money comes from and where it is going, then it would seem that there should be a reappropriation. Representative Cotten responded that HB 543 is a new capital and operating bill and is a reallocation and reappropriation of projects with the bulk coming from hydro projects appropriated last year. Representative Meekins agreed with Representative Cotten's comment and stated that in the past there has been a direct correlation between projects that have been reappropriated for other things. He stated that this bill is different from other transfer bills.

Page 3

B-20 backup Recd

Representative Hoskins requested that Sections 16 through 20 be held for discussion awaiting the receipt of backup information.

Page 6

Representative Cotten referred to Section 27. He wondered why the funds, which are for a health care delivery system, are to be appropriated to the Department of Community and Regional Affairs instead of the Department of Health and Social Services?

Page 7

Representative Montgomery asked that Section 33 be noted.

Representative Hoskins asked that Section 40 be held awaiting the receipt of backup information and commented that there should be a Form 35 which would provide specifics with regard to projects.

Page 8

Representative Cotten referred to Section 46 and asked if this was a usual situation when there is a budget overrun? ALISON ELGEE, Fiscal Analyst with the Legislative Finance Division responded that the appropriation is to cover capital construction shortfalls. She responded that she did not know the source of the original appropriation, that there were several sources. She stated that the Department did feel that this amount was adequate to complete the project.

Page 10

With regard to Section 65, Representative Cotten asked who will receive the appropriation?

Representative Cotten requested backup information for Sections 69 and 70.

Representative Hoskins asked for backup information for Section 72. Representative Cotten responded that he had requested that backup information earlier. He stated that there are a lot of people who do not currently have power however, this only addresses eight people who will be receiving assistance. Representative Hoskins stated that he would like the names of the individuals and requested that Section 72 be held for further discussion.

With regard to Section 73, BOB SCHROEER, fiscal analyst with the Legislative Finance Division explained that it is the deletion of money from a previous capital appropriation for the Bethel jail. He explained that in the current bond bill, it considers the amount deleted in Section 73 and requests an additional amount to provide for a regional facility. Mr. Schroeder explained that should the deletion be accepted, the facility would be three million dollars short for completion, even with the bond funding.

Page 11

In reference to Section 74, Representative Meekins explained that Bethel does need a new jail and the appropriation was made for $3.4 million several years ago. The city had some land problems so consequently by the time they straightened out the land situation, inflation had increased the cost of the jail obstructing the city from building the type of facility which they desired with the amount of funding available. As a result, the Bond Committee decided that the City should have the amount that inflation had eroded as well as increasing the appropriation to provide for a multi-purpose regional correctional facility. Representative Meekins explained the benefits of this tyoe of a regional facility. Representative Meekins stated that he had talked with the governor and he felt there should be a multi-purpose regional correctional facility in Bethel and should the bill get to him with this repealer included, he would veto the repeal.

Representative Cuddy asked what the cost per resident as included in Sections 76 and 77 will be? He requested copies of the backup information.

Representative Meekins had to leave the meeting at this time and requested that additional information be provided for Sections 140, 214, 220, and 259.

Page 12

Chairman Adams indicated that he had a question concerning Section 84 and stated that it would be held awaiting additional backup information.

Page 14

Representative Montgomery asked why Section 94 did not indicate a dollar amount? JAY HOGAN, Director of the Division of Legislative Finance responded that it is a matter of drafting style and that in this case they are repealing the entire amount of the appropriation. Mr. Hogan stated that when the bill passed out of Senate Finance, the Division made sure that the full repealers are only left on items where the full appropriation was made. The total amount under Section 94 is $400,000.

Representative Cuddy requested backup information for Sections 96 and 97.

Page 15

Representative Cuddy requested backup information for Sections 99 through 103.

Representative Cotten requested backup information for Section 107.

In reference to Section 110, Representative Montgomery stated that this is to a REAA district and questioned why one school district is receiving a supplement to their operating budget. Alison Elgee, fiscal anaylst, responded that this is a high school vocational program and normally the program should be funded by the foundation formula funding which goes to each district.

(Tape Change, HFC 82-58, Side 2)

Representative Cotten asked for additional information on Section 112 and Section 113 concerning the means of development of the figures.

(Representative Bettisworth arrived at this time.)

Representative Cotten asked what "life safety upgrade" means as referenced in Section 116. Alison Elgee, fiscal anaylst, responded that it is a phrase the department uses for code violations. Representative Cotten stated that he would still like to know what this entails.

(Representative Haugen arrived at this time.)

Chairman Adams indicated that a representative from the Department of Fish and Game was present to explain Sections 1 and 2 on page 1 of the bill. Representative Chuckwuk commented that HB 643 was referred to Resources and Finance and brought up on the floor and expressed concern with what the committee was doing having a member of the department re-explain for a member simply because he was not present at other meetings. Representative Chuckwuk felt that the committee was scrutinizing the bill more than necessary and it was repetitous. Chairman Adams responded that the committee wished to publically aire some of the areas which were of concern.

STEVE PENNOYER, Director of the Division of Commercial Fisheries with the Department of Fish and Game, commented on page 1, Section 1 and Section 2. He explained that the bill reappropriates $125,000 from a capital allocation given to the Department last year for statewide fisheries studies and combines with another new $125,000 to fund a study in Bristol Bay on infra-structure, product development, etcetera. Mr. Pennoyer explained that the statewide fisheries studies were for three specific projects, one of which was in Bristol Bay. The original project proposal was for $300,000 for research studies specifically related to the major changes in production over the past few years in sockeye salmon runs to suggest ways to manage and hold it at the histrical three million catch per year level. He explained that the funding was committed and the project started. The bill would transfer $125,000 from Section 1 and Section 2 for a total of $250,000 which would be appropriated under Section 4 of the bill for a Bristol Bay development study.

Page 18

Representative Cotten commented that the recently approved [redacted] includes funding as outlined in Sections 126 and 127.

Page 19

Representative Montgomery requested additional backup information for Section 129.

Page 20

Representative Meekins, Montgomery and Cotten requested additional backup information for Section 140.

There was discussion by members concerning the method of review being used by the committee.

MEETING

Chairman Adams informed members that there would be a meeting at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday, May 26, 1982, to complete the review of the bill beginning with page 21. There will be a bill session following Wednesday's floor session.

PRESENT

All Members of the Committee were present except Representative Cuddy. (Representatives Carney, Hurlbert, Meekins and Fuller arrived later in the meeting.) ALSO PRESENT: Representative Phillips; Dr. Rabeua, Division of Public Health, Department of Health and Social Services; Steve Hole, Department of Education; Mark Wittow, Department of Natural Resources; Bob Price, Department of Law; Mike Scott, Aide to Senator Ferguson; and J. H. Hogan, Director, and Fiscal Analysts Alison Elgee, Bob Schroeder, Alison Farnan, Elmer Lindstrom and Bob Grogan, Legislative Finance Division.

HB 643

Chairman Adams called the meeting to order. The Committee continued their review of the Senate CS for CS for HB 643 (Fin).

> SCS CSHB 643 (Finance) -- "An Act repealing, amending, making, and extending lapse dates on appropriations; and providing for an effective date."

Chairman Adams advised a question was raised yesterday regarding Sec. 27. DR. RABEUA, Department of Health and Social Services, testified that the Department would recommend that this section be appropriated to the Department of Health and Social Services rather than the Department of Community and Regional Affairs. He said their Department already provides funding for health projects in the Yukon-Kuskokwim area, and it would be easier to administer if the appropriation was to the Department of Health and Social Services.

ALISON ELGEE, Fiscal Analyst, Legislative Finance Division, advised a question was raised yesterday regarding Sec. 2 as to whether this language would be adequate in covering the cost of school reconstruction if they left in the sentence "if the borough subrogates its right to all proceeds from insurance on the school to the state." She advised she checked with the Borough Comptroller, and this reallocation is based on the assumption that they would retain the insurance proceeds. She said that in order to not create problems for the borough, they should eliminate this sentence from the section.

Representative Cotten stated he has received a letter from the borough comptroller saying they have already returned $3.9 million. He commented when this was originally brought up, the plan was for them to receive the money and return it to the State. Ms. Elgee commented the insurance proceeds will make up about one-half of the amount they need to rebuild the school. There was further discussion.

Representative Cotten said he thought section 8 should be deleted completely, and Sec. 9 and Sec. 10 should be put in the capital budget.

Chairman Adams asked if it was correct that the discussion last year was that once the insurance money was collected, the remaining money would return to the general fund. Ms. Elgee said that was correct. She commented that if this section were to be eliminated from the bill they would use the money to reconstruct the school.

Chairman Adams said he would recommend on the floor that this section be deleted from the bill.

Chairman Adams advised he has received back-up information on Sec. 18, 19 and 20.

(Representative Carney arrived at this time.)

Chairman Adams asked if Representative Cotten still had questions on Sec. 40. Representative Cotten said he was curious as to how they arrived at the number and who would do the work on the project. Chairman Adams said he would continue to hold this section open.

(Representative Hurlbert arrived at this time.)

Representative Montgomery said he had questions on Secs. 45. MR. STEVE HOLE, Department of Education, stated he checked with the school district and the correct number should be Sec. 110. He said that is the aggregate of cost over-runs for four projects.

Chairman Adams advised he has received back-up information for Sec. 55.

Chairman Adams advised he will continue to hold Secs. 72, 73 and 74 open until Representative Meekins indicates he has answers to his questions. Representative Cotten said he also had questions on Sec. 72. He said they have been trying to find out who the home-owners are, but haven't been able to. He formally requested that the Chairman find out who these home-owners are.

(Representative Meekins arrived at this time.)

Representative Cotten pointed out the project in Sec. 78 is a cost overrun according to the Form 35 he has. He said it appears this is not a new project, but a cost over-run.

There were no further questions on pages 12, 13, 14 or 15.

Page 16

Regarding Sec. 119, Representative Montgomery said he maintained his point that unless this is for a cost over-run these funds should be taken out of the operating budget. He said the same situation exists with regard to Sec. 112.

Regarding Sec. 118, Representative Cotten said it has been brought to his attention that they do not have a swimming pool. Representative Montgomery asked if "life safety" pertained to building safety. Mr. Hole said one of the highest priority items of the Department was the category of life safety as it realtes to the status of the actual school. He said life safety relates to meeting building codes, etc.

Representative Montgomery asked if the Department has prepared a list of the more needed projects. Mr. Hole said that was included in their FY 83 budget request. He explained that those requests given to them from the REAA's were included in their list to the Governor. He said some of those were included in the budget, some are in the bond bills, and some are in this bill. Representative Montgomery asked if this section duplicated any other request. Mr. Hole said not to his knowledge. Representative Montgomery asked if there were requests that were not included in the capital budget, bond bill or here. Mr. Hole said that is correct. Representative Montgomery commented he doesn't see any consistency.

Representative Meekins said he has questions on Sec. 121 and Sec. 131. He said they appear to be very similar, if not for the same thing. Representative Cotten commented that one amends a 1980 Session Law and the other amends a 1981 Session Law. Representative Meekins commented he has seen legislation where they go from a larger number to a smaller number retroactively, but it doesn't seem proper to go back and change a number to a higher figure.

(Representative Fuller arrived at this time.)

J. H. HOGAN, Director, Legislative Finance, said they are capital projects so he supposed they could do this, but he agreed that the normal situation would be to create a new capital budget appropriation. Representative Cotten said it is probably legal even though it is unusual.

Page 18

Representative Meakins said he has a question on the courts and trial courts. He asked if the reduction was because there was surplus money. BOB SCHROEDER, Fiscal Analyst, Legislative Finance Division, explained the ASHA payments budgeted by the Court System appear to have been double budgeted. He said the Department of Administration doesn't need this money to pay the ASHA rent for the Court System.

Regarding [redacted] Representative Chuckwuk said he thinks it should be be [redacted] instead of [redacted] He said he will check into this.

Page 19

Representative Montgomery said he will check the back-up information to see if it answers his questions on Sec. 129.

Page 20

Chairman Adams advised there are people present to explain the situation [redacted] addresses. MARK WITTOW, Department of Natural Resources, testified that in 1977 and 1978 the Legislature passed a law which allowed lease holders of state lands who had their property reassessed after the pipeline boom in Anchorage to have some relief from the mandated five year reappraisal. He advised that last year that date was extended back to July 1974. He said this appropriation has to do with someone who held a lease and the land was later transferred to the Municipality of Anchorage. He said the person purchased the lase from the Municipality. Therefore, Mr. Wittow said, the 1977 and 1981 law couldn't apply, nor could the fiscal note accompanying the bill.

Representative Cotten said they made the law retroactive to July 1974. He asked when the person purchased the property. Mr. Wittow said in 1979. He said in 1981 the Legislature extended the date back to 1974, before that it was January 1975.

Representative Cotten asked what the retroactive date had to do with the purchase of the land.

(Tape change, HFC 82-59, side 1.)

BOB PRICE, Department of Law, said he thinks this individual purchased the piece of property based upon the earlier appraisal which he had prior to the authorization for a reconversion, and therefore he purchased it at a greater price than he would have purchased it if this law which passed last year had been in effect at the time of the purchase.

Representative Cotten said he was operating under the conditions of law at the moment when he purchased it. Mr. Price agreed.

Representative Cotten said the Legislature later passed a law, and this person would like to take advantage of that. Mr. Price agreed.

Representative Meekins said his question is whether or not the law had passed and been in effect at the time the person purchased the land from the municipality, the problem was the way it was constructed, his appraisal date was in the wrong place. He said it was state land, it became municipal land, and they sold it to the lessee. Mr. Wittow said the conversion bill passed in 1977 and technical amendments were made to it in 1978. He said at that time it applied only to reappraisals made after January 1975, and then in 1981 the date was extended back to July 1974, so at the time the property was transferred to the Municipality and purchased, January 1975 was the date. Representative Meekins said the conversion law was in effect, but the date was 1975. Mr. Wittow agreed.

Representative Meekins asked if he knew the conditions and terms of the agreement. Mr. Wittow said he believes it was based on reappraised value. He said it was reappraised in the latter half of 1974. He said he didn't know the exact terms. Representative Meekins said if he had an appraisal in 1974, if the conversion law had not applied there would have been five years of normal appreciation, but since the conversion law did apply, at least a couple of the years would have been at the legal maximum of 10%. He asked if that was correct. Mr. Wittow said he didn't think the conversion law applied because his reappraisal occurred prior to the date of the leases that were affected by the conversion law.

Representative Montgomery said the purchase was made and terms were known by the purchaser and seller, has anything occurred legally that the State has an obligation to refund money to the purchaser? Mr. Price said the State has no legal obligation in the sense that if the State were sued by the individual. He said the State would have no legal obligation to readjust a purchase price which he entered into with the Municipality of Anchorage. He said if the Legislature wants to enact legislation, however, to correct what could be construed as an inequity, they have the authority to do so.

Representative Montgomery said there is no legal reason to enter into this purchase. He said a purchase was made, conditions were met by both groups, and there is no legal reason why this money should be paid. Mr. Price said the State has no legal obligation to enact this appropriation.

Representative Montgomery said, in case the State wished to be benevolent and make this money payment, is it possible that other claims could be made on the same basis. Mr. Price said if there are other ones there, they should certainly be considered on the same basis so there would be equal treatment of any other applicants. Representative Montgomery said that his concern. He said isn't it a possibility that there might be other cases. Mr. Price said it is possible, but he has no information on that.

Representative Montgomery asked if the legal department had a recommendation as to the payment or nonpayment of the $400,000. Mr. Price said he had no recommendation. He said the State is not legally obligated to enact this appropriation.

Representative Carney said he would submit that not only is the State not legally obligated, they are not morally obligated in anyway. He said this gentleman simply failed to get the very, very good deal that he got on some other property. Representative Carney commented this figure (in sec. 140) represents the magnitude of the undervaluation of the land that was disposed of. He said those properties were appraised at 1973 values and sold at the price. He said this gentlemen bought one piece, of the three or four pieces he owns, at the fair market value, the rest he got for practically nothing. He said it would be a real outrage if they were to pay it.

Representative Chuckwuk commented on the retroactive aspect of the legislation.

Representative Cotten referred to [redacted] and said the back-up information he has shows the upgrade isn't necessary anymore. There was brief discussion. Chairman Adams said he would hold Secs. 141 and 142 [redacted]

Page 22

Representative Cotten requested additional information on Sec. 149. Representative Meekins said [redacted] appear to be amendments to appropriation bills. He asked what they are and why there were being reduced. ALISON FARNAN, Fiscal Analyst, Legislative Finance Division, explained this applies to a supplemental appropriation so they can continue the General Relief Medical Program at its present level through the remaining fiscal year. She said these have already been passed on HB 549 [redacted] 44). Representative Meekins asked if these sections are duplicating what was passed in HB 549. Ms. Farnan said yes. Representative Meekins said didn't need to include it in here then. Ms. Farnan agreed. Representative Meekins commented on the General Relief Medical program.

[redacted] Representative Montgomery said he has questions on [redacted] Ms. Elnee said this appropriation is being considered in the Education bond package. She said the information they have shows funding for Diomede is insufficient and an additional $600,000 is being requested on the basis that these appropriations will not be eliminated. In answer to a question from Representative Montgomery, Ms. Elgee said section 156 would eliminate $1.932 million. In addition, she said there is an appropriation in Sec. 163 of the bill which is $1 million for the Diomede High School. She said the total cost of the project is somewhere around $4.8 million, and the additional $600,000 in the bond bills would bring the appropriation up to that amount if these appropriations remain intact. Representative Meekins said the point is that in this bill these appropriations are not to remain intact. He commented on the Diomede school and the bond package. He said this is the same situation as the Bethel Jail.

Representative Cotten said he has received a letter from the State Board of Education suggesting these sections be removed from the bill.

There were no questions on this page.

Page 26

Representative Meekins said he has questions on Sec. 179. He asked if that appropriation is in addition to the amount in the operating budget for Chukchi Community College. Chairman Adams said he does have back-up on this section. Ms. Elgee said this is in addition to their operating budget. She said the same is true for Sec. 183. She said both these would be rolled into their base for the operating budget in the future.

Representative Cotten said Sec. 178 looks like an operating expense. He said these would probably be better placed in the operating budget.

Representative Cotten asked what Sec. 181 was for. MIKE SCOTT, Aide to Senator Ferguson, said the appropriation is to the City of Kotzebue, and it will be a pass through. He said the Governor has said no designated grants, so these funds are to go to the City and they will put it out to bid.

Page 27

Representative Montgomery commented Sec. 185 also seems to be for operating expenses of the University. There was brief discussion.

Representative Montgomery said Sec. 195 appears to be an extension of the Northwest REAA appropriation. He said it seems they should already be funded through the allocation of funds in the Foundation Program. Mr. Scott said this was funded last year by the Legislature as a seperate appropriation. He said it was not rolled into the school district's budget, so they requested a one time appropriation again. He said this is not covered under the Foundation Program. He said they don't receive enough bilingual money to fund this program.

Representative Montgomery asked if Sec. 197 is for cost overruns. Representative Cotten said the back-up information he has indicates this is to complete the final phase of building construction. Representative Montgomery removed his objection to this section.

Representative Meekins asked what Sec. 205 was for. Mr. Scott said this proposal was requested by the Tlingit/Haida Central Council. He said they will take local arts people and train them in the art of traditional weaving.

Representative Montgomery said he didn't see any reason for Sec. 207. Representative Cotten said apparently they spent $24,000 from the Governor's contingency fund transferring generators to Unalakleet. Representative Montgomery said that is what contingency funds are supposed to be used for.

Representative Haugen asked what Sec. 210 was. Mr. Scott said the proposal was submitted by Sealaska Heritage Foundation. He explained this past spring there was a celebration of the major clans in Southeast for the first itm in history. He said the request is to put the pictures taken into film format and distribute it throughout the State as a documentary on their history. Representative Meekins questioned the amount for the project. Mr. Scott will provide the budget information.

Representative Montgomery suggested Sec. 211 would normally be included in the University budget. There was brief discussion.

Representative Meekins said he had questions on Sec. 212 and 213 - objected opposed - bad public policy

Chairman Adams stated they would recess at this time and continue after the floor session.

Section 265

In response to a question from Representative Cotten concerning line 28, (1) long-term energy plan $250,000; it was noted that this is a contractual line-item from the operating budget.

Section 265

Representative Cotten questioned the fact that these appeared to be for unspecified grants and loans and there is no control with regard to who will be receiving the funds. He felt that the legislature should be able to determine who would receive grant funds.

DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES

Four sections of SCSCSHB 643 relate to the Department of Natural Resources. Three sections extend lapse dates and one appropriates funds. They are as follows:

INITIAL FUNDING $1,300,000. CURRENT LEVEL $1,246,573. (BILL WAS SIGNED JULY 28, 1981, BY GOVERNOR, AND MONEY AVAILABLE TO DNR AUGUST 10 AFTER 1981 SEASON FOR FIELD WORK.

1. Sec. ~~269~~ 268 amends Chapter 90, SLA81, Sec 55 by extending the lapse date of an appropriation for Northwest Coal Investigations from June 30, 1982 to June 30, 1983. Because the budget was appropriated so late last year, field investigations could not be fully concluded during the summer of 1981. This change will allow DNR to continue field work through the current summer field season.

INITIAL FUNDING $11,084,800. CURRENT LEVEL $3,973,543

2. Sec. ~~270~~ 269 D amends Chapter 82, SLA81, Sec.. 29 by extending the lapse date for land disposal survey funds contained in HB 31 from June 30, 1982 to June 30, 1983. Land disposal surveys are a seasonal activity and cross two fiscal years, therefore, land survey funds have historically been placed in the capital budget. In FY 82, however, these funds appeared as part of the fiscal note to HB 31. The funds were labelled "capital" in HB 31, but Budget and Management has determined that fiscal notes cannot commingle operating and capital funds. Approval of this amendment simply re-confirms original legislative intent.

3. Sec. ~~270~~ 269 F amends Chapter 82, SLA 81, Sec. 28 by extending the lapse date for Historic Resource Management funds from June 30, 1982 to June 30, 1983. These funds were contained in the FY 82 Operating Budget. Extending the lapse date on this appropriation would carry over into FY 83 approximately $140.0 of otherwise lapsing funds. This extension will allow the Department to receive approximately $250.0 in federal funds which will not be available if this change is not approved.

4. Sec. ~~252~~ 251 appropriates $1,000.0 to DNR for cadastral land survey for the purpose of land disposals. DNR's original survey budget was $8,800.0, was subsequently reduced to $5,000.0, and finally, was reduced to $4,000.0. In order to absorb budget cuts of this magnitude, DNR reduced subdivision and homesite acreage (which averages $400 per acre in survey costs) while maintaining remote and agricultural acreage (which averages $10 - $15 per acre in survey costs) at their original levels. The result was that subdivision and homesite acreage was cut from 12,000 acres to 4,000 acres. The addition of $1,000.0 in survey funds will add 2,000-2,500 acres of subdivisions and homesites to the FY 84 disposal plan.

Sec. 72. Mat-Su electrical lines

Attached is the appropriate back-up that gives further and more accurate information on the appropriation for electrical lines in Mat-Su to provide electricity to 30 seasonal and year-round homeowners.

Dear Frank:

Please find enclosed the map that you requested. The property turn off is located between mile 56 & 57 on the Parks Highway. The primary street is called King Arthur Dr. which will take you east north-east to Prator Lake and then north north-east to my property of which the Little Susitna River travels thru. This road from Prator Lake into my property follows a designated easement and section line. The nearest electricity is approximately 1.2 miles away. There are approximately 30 seasonal and year round homes in my immediate vacinity that a power line would service.

As you can see from the map there are numerous roads which branch off from the main artery road of King Arthur Dr. This area is now serviced by school buses and my property's north-east property line is the city limits for the city of Houston.

Any help you may be able to give me and my fellow residents of this area concerning electrical supply would be deeply appreciated.

Sincerely Your Friend,

Ollie

SUBJ: SB 643

This is written testimony on SB 643, sections 247 and 248, 247 was requested by the Governor's Office, Division of Budget and Management.

Section 247 electrical power generation on the north slope for the railbelt. Section 248, the all Alaska gasline to tidewater.

Starting with Sec. 247, electrical generation on the north slope for the railbelt:

(1) Electrical power for the Matanuska-Susitna, Anchorage and Kenai Boroughs can be generated and delivered cheaper from Cook Inlet gas even if the North Slope Gas were to be given away. I don't see that there would be much dispute about that.

2) That just leaves the Fairbanks area. Power could be generated from coal for less than the cost of the powerline from the north slope to Fairbanks.

3) Alaska is already committed to the Anchorage Fairbanks intertie so why not use it; generate power from cheap Cook Inlet Gas and wheel it to Fairbanks on the intertie.

Questions have been raised as to the long term availability of gas in Cook Inlet. When the Pacific Lighting LNG project looked like it might be constructed, Pacific Lighting started exploring for gas; their wildcat success ratio was 50 percent. The national average is one in ten. Exploration in Cook Inlet has always been for oil. Gas was found a a poor second prize. Pacific Lighting group has been the only one to look for gas as gas. It has been extremely successful; however, their LNG project never got off the ground and further exploration has been discontinued.

Stanford Research Institute did a study of the Cook Inlet Gas potential and concluded there was at least twice as much gas as had been found. Only one-third of the proven reserves of seven trillion cubic feet is under contract. Those who own the gas won't contract for sale of the gas because actual use and payment is so far away.

Phillips Petroleum is up against some lease obligations and is required to either drill the lease or loose it. Phillips believes the chances are good that they will hit a giant field in Cook Inlet in the next year or so.

Last, there is simply no way that power from the slope can compete with power generated locally, Fairbanks, or from Cook Inlet. It would be substantially cheaper than any other kind of power.

Sec. 248 the all Alaska gasline to tidewater, Valdez or COok Inlet? To do what? Ship gas as gas or a product? Cook Inelt is a better choice for a terminal and was supported by FERC, it doesn't make any real difference anyway. You're talking about gas at $16 per mcf at the end of the pipeline and at the inlet to the liquification plant or the chemical plant. $16 is equal to residual oil at $100 a barrel, oil at $140 a barrel, or coal at $240 a ton, about ten times the real price of coal. Even if ALaskans could ultimately get all the subsidy etc. of the Alcan gasline, plus a terminal site in the south '48 you are talking about years of delay.

Assuming you know almost all of the problems with the gasline proposals, here is the guts of the basic reason why no gasline from Alaska will ever work. Alaska gas will deliver at more than $30 per mcf to the south '48, even if Alaska went to McMillian's zero well head value, no Alaska severance taxes and forbearance on the pipeline profits, the price of gas could not be driven below $25 per mcf.

The average interstate price of gas will probably be $5 per mcf by that time. Alaska gas will cost five to six times as much. In the south '48 you will be able to buy all gas you want for $8 which is equal to coal at $130 a ton ~~at $50~~ or oil at $70. In short, you will be able to buy three times as much or more south '48 gas for the same rule in price base as you can Alaska gas.

There is serious question if the gas distribution companies will be able to sell to gas to commercial and industrial customers at $5, that is coal at $80 a ton, and large consumers of gas are bailing out at $3 gas.

Now, if you were a gas distributor you're going to buy the most gas you can for the dollars spent; Alaska's gas is simply not saleable. The south '48 gas distributors are simply no going to waste whatever "roll-in" price base they may have on Alaska's gas, thus, the studies are simply not warranted.

Shutin gas supply has reached an estimated 15,000 wells and 12 trillion cubic feet of reserves in Alberta due to slumping export markets, declining domestic demands, and successful exploration in recent years.

Alberta
Price of $4.94 US/Mcf. By comparison, the average wellhead price in the US was only $2.267/Mcf last December, the latest month for which full data are available.

Surplus of Canadian crude presents another problem

The campaign to win increased exports for gas is near the top of the list of Canadian industry concerns and efforts this year. But there also is a problem with the Canadian crude oil market.

Spare productive capacity last month reached about 100,000 b/d—250,000 b/d in Alberta and 50,000 b/d in Saskatchewan—compared with an average shutin volume of about 18,000 b/d of light and heavy crude during 1979-81.

Alberta's Petroleum Marketing Commission estimates that spare capacity will drop sharply this month because of completion of refinery turnarounds and reduced purchases of imports. The commission figures that spare productive capacity will drop to 70,000 b/d in Alberta alone.

The federal government responded to requests from the industry and producing provinces with steps to improve sales of heavy oil.

It also asked Canadian refiners not to buy crude oil on the spot market, where imports are cheaper than domestic oil when the government's import compensation program is taken into account. The country normally imports 400,000 b/d.

The oil surplus problem is relatively new. Industry blames a combination of declining domestic demand and Ottawa's import compensation program.

Federal action. Federal Energy Minister Marc Lalonde told senior executives of 10 major oil companies to pare import contracts to minimum levels and not to buy spot crude at the expense of western Canadian oil. He also announced a number of other steps, including a $2/bbl reduction in the heavy oil export charge.

In addition, the National Energy Board will examine heavy oil export applications for terms of as long as 1 year instead of on a quarterly basis if exports are surplus to domestic requirements. NEB also will consider exchanges of light western crude, in addition to heavy oil swaps now used.

The board will review its system for allocating light crude into eastern Canada to create more incentives for eastern refiners to use domestic supplies where possible. And NEB will study whether light Saskatchewan sour crude can be made available for export.

Lalonde said if these steps are not effective the government will consider a reduction in the oil import compensation payment which it makes to importers to cover the difference between Canada's generally lower domestic prices and world prices.

What Alberta wants. Alberta, which accounts for about 86% of Canada's production of 1.4 million b/d of crude and condensate, says it is not impressed by federal actions to alleviate the oil marketing problem. It will press for a permanent solution to what it sees as a continuing problem. Wayne Minion, chairman of Alberta's Petroleum Marketing Commission, said the province will seek a number of changes, including:

- Elimination of the oil import compensation program because "if there were no compensation program, I have no doubt that every barrel of oil that Alberta produces could be sold."
- Approval for light crude exports to the U.S. Canada has not exported light crude since 1979. Minion says if federal policies prevent light crude from being sold in Canada, there is no reason why it should not be exported.
- A program which restricts imports into eastern Canada and guarantees markets for Canadian crude.

Alberta charges that the federal compensation program which allows refiners to buy spot oil and some heavy crudes at lower than domestic prices is a main cause of the current surplus.

Ottawa denies this and says a major cause is the decline in domestic demand for petroleum products.

Oil industry spokesmen believe the federal program will be of some benefit, particularly to heavy oil producers.

Ian Smythe, executive director of the Canadian Petroleum Association, said the federal moves are positive and appear to offer a framework for improvement if administrators implement the program within a reasonable time. The proposal to consider longer terms for heavy oil export licenses is seen as one of the most significant parts of the federal package.

Canada exports about half of its heavy oil production because Canadian refiners cannot process it, but exports of this category of oil have declined by more than 25,000 b/d.

Import compensation. Most industry spokesmen say there will be no significant improvement in the marketing outlook for light crude until the federal government amends its oil import compensation program.

Ottawa pays a flat rate subsidy to importers based on international prices, regardless of the grade of crude involved.

Recently, the net compensation paid on imported crude was about $11.15/bbl. Mexican heavy crude selling at about $33/bbl could be bought for $9/bbl less than competitive Canadian crude.

Shutin gas supply has reached an estimated 15,000 wells and 12 trillion cu ft of reserves in Alberta due to slumping export markets, declining domestic demand, and successful exploration in recent years.

Gas reserves increased 4% in 1981 to 70.5 trillion cu ft despite a 32% decline in the number of gas wells drilled.

Total consumption during 1981, including exports, was 1.8 trillion cu ft. U.S. buyers are taking only about 65% of authorized export volumes because of resistance to Canadian prices, weak demand, and increases in U.S. domestic supplies.

Canada's gas surplus problem has been building for several years because additions to reserves have far outstripped declining demand in softening markets.

The industry sees exports as the key to solving the gas surplus problem. A major effort is under way by industry and the Alberta government to persuade the federal government and its regulatory agency, the National Energy Board (NEB), to open the gates to additional gas sales to the U.S.

In a ruling last September which stunned the industry and producing provinces, NEB agreed that Alberta has 12 trillion cu ft of shutin gas but said Canada has no additional gas available for export on the basis of its present formulas for calculating surpluses. The formulas take into account future domestic needs and volumes under contract for export.

Alberta Premier Peter Lougheed said he intends to make proposals and hold discussions with the federal government on a new gas market strategy aimed at increasing exports.

Lougheed said there must be a thorough examination of the price and contract conditions for the sale of Canadian natural gas to the U.S.

"Discussions will be initiated with all parties involved to develop contracts, including pricing provisions, which will meet the interests of buyers, sellers, and regulatory authorities in both countries," he said.

The Alberta premier said the present federal policy of a single gas export price "ignores the fact that the competitive price for Canadian natural gas is much different in different regions of the U.S."

Alberta is aiming its negotiating guns directly at current federal policies, particularly a Canadian export price of $4.94 U.S./Mcf. By comparison, the average wellhead price in the U.S. was only $2.26/Mcf last December, the latest month for which full data are available.

Industry campaign. Meanwhile, the industry is campaigning hard to persuade NEB to change its methods of calculating surpluses and its rules governing delivery arrangements to U.S. customers.

The federal government said last September when it signed a new energy agreement with Alberta that "subject to overriding national interests" it would approve more gas exports if the NEB changed its present estimates and declared a surplus.

NEB recently completed hearings at which it heard almost universal requests from industry to reexamine its present methods of calculating surpluses and to permit additional exports.

The board is expected to reply in July. It will then deal with 16 pending applications for new export approvals or changes to existing export permits involving more than 10 trillion cu ft of gas.

Producers believe that NEB will change its rules to permit added exports. But how much the board will be prepared to ease its present restrictions is a multibillion dollar guess.

Deliverability test. TransCanada PipeLines Ltd., Canada's largest gas buyer and transmission company, spoke for much of the industry when it criticized the deliverability test currently used by the NEB to calculate surpluses.

In its brief to the NEB hearings, TransCanada said, "The current deliverability test, in effect, incorporates demand as a moving picture while assessing supply as a snapshot. It thereby discounts completely the results of future exploration/development efforts by an industry investing $13 billion/year in such efforts."

The main target of the industry is the current deliverability test used by the NEB to calculate surpluses which resulted in its conclusion last year that Canada has no surplus for export.

Industry contends that the test is far too conservative and does not recognize "trend gas," or deliverability from expected reserves additions. In this test, NEB considers only the deliverability of existing gas wells and those which can now be connected to pipelines on the basis of present economics.

The board also assumes that domestic consumption will continue to increase and that U.S. buyers will take all volumes under contract.

In fact, U.S. buyers have been taking considerably less than the maximum volumes in recent years, and domestic demand has been sluggish.

During the NEB hearings, a number of intervenors asked the NEB to scrap its current deliverability test.

They said the board should base its conclusions on a future deliverability test which looks 10 years ahead and considers trend gas and a simple reserves test. The reserves test estimates domestic demand for 25 years ahead on the basis of present levels of consumption as well as presently authorized exports.

Other intervenors such as TransCanada proposed changes in the current deliverability test to include trend gas based on projections of recent levels of reserve additions of about 3.5 trillion cu ft/year.

TransCanada suggested that the NEB could use the formula with a safety factor that reserve additions would drop by 10%/year for the first 5 years, then remain steady. The company said this formula would allow an exportable surplus of 6.5 trillion cu ft under the current deliverability test based on reserves at the end of 1981.

TransCanada also said the NEB should not base its calculations on the assumption that U.S. customers will take maximum authorized export volumes but on forecasts of what they are likely to take.

Don Armstrong, a McGill University economist and witness for TransCanada, pointed out when NEB said there was no exportable surplus in 1981, there were supluses under the current deliverability test projected through 1981-84 and a small deficiency of about 100 billion cu ft in 1985.

Petro-Canada proposal. One of the most controversial proposals to deal with the gas surplus was made at the NEB hearings by Petro-Canada, Canada's national oil company.

Petro-Canada said U.S. buyers who are not taking their full contract volumes should lose the right to purchase some of these volumes in later years.

Under present averaging provisions, a U.S. customer which does not take its full authorized volumes has the right to take the gas later.

Petro-Canada proposed that a customer who has a contract to take 1 billion cfd but has taken an average of only 800 MMcfd in a previous 3 year period would have its authorized export volume in the following year cut to the level of its average take in the previous 3 years.

Petro-Canada also suggested an alternative that U.S. customers still be allowed to take gas in later years provided it was paid for now, or "prepaid."

A number of other intervenors opposed the Petro-Canada proposal and said the current averaging system works well over a period of time. Alberta & Southern Gas Ltd. said that during a period of 20 years its major customer, Pacific Gas & Electric Co. has taken 96.6% of full contract volumes.

"The total volume of gas exported by Alberta & Southern to date is higher than it would have been otherwise, and the price obtained for that incremental gas was higher than if it had been exported on schedule," Alberta & Southern said.

Utilities Swamped With Oil, Coal and Gas By Long-Term Contracts Struggle to Cope

By JOHN CURLEY
Staff Reporter of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

Power companies are finding that long-term supply contracts have left them saddled with oil, coal and natural gas they don't need.

The problem reflects lagging demand for electricity and volatile energy prices.

Commonwealth Edison Co. in Chicago faces penalty fees of as much as $88 million if it doesn't keep up its end of an oil-purchase contract. The utility also is spending millions to carry excess coal inventory.

In California, Southern California Edison Co. is being sued by Standard Oil Co. of California's Chevron USA unit for stopping oil deliveries. Pacific Gas & Electric Co. also has stopped buying oil it ordered.

In Canada, TransCanada Pipelines Ltd., controlled by Dome Petroleum Ltd., is offering $1.32 billion (Canadian) to buy its way out of long-term natural gas purchase agreements.

The problem worsens the predicament of utilities, many of which are struggling to hold down rates and build new plants. In the 1970s, power companies eagerly signed long-term agreements to insure supplies—often at the insistence of state regulatory commissions. Now the same commissions are challenging those contracts.

As a result, utilities are caught between demands of their regulators and suppliers. For some companies, the outcome is likely to be a spate of lawsuits and stingy rate increases.

"Many utilities grossly overestimated demand for electricity," says Alvin Kaufman, an economist at the Congressional Research Service in Washington, D.C. Growth in the nation's demand for electricity, which was 8.4% in 1972, shrank to 1% last year. "It's a poker game all the utilities play," Mr. Kaufman says.

But now the rules of the game will have to change, exports say. "Fuel procurement has to be keyed to the dramatic swings in fuel prices we've experienced in the last 10 years," says Michael V. Hasten, chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Rapid Price Changes

The price of imported oil has risen 10-fold since 1972 to about $34 a barrel, while the price of natural gas jumped 14-fold to $2.63 a thousand cubic feet. "Utility managers should get a very clear message they can't negotiate long-term contracts as if prices were stable," Mr. Hasten says.

Commonwealth Edison is having more trouble than most. Besides the possible $88 million in oil-contract penalties, the company has been hit with three suits from western coal suppliers charging the utility with reneging on purchase orders. They are asking for $62.1 million in damages.

The Illinois commission recently disclosed that Commonwealth has a 170-day supply of coal, nearly twice the amount considered sufficient, which may cost the company as much as $37 million in inventory costs this year. The commission, meanwhile, has frozen the utility's fuel-adjustment formula, which normally allows it to pass along changes in fuel costs to consumers.

"A lot of consumer advocates say we should have seen the writing on the wall. That's nonsense," a Commonwealth spokesman says. When the oil contract was signed in 1972, the utility was projecting a 7.5% annual increase in electricity demand. That forecast has plunged to 2%-a-year growth. As a result, the company is desperately trying to stop burning oil, which costs $35 to $37 a barrel under the contract. That's 1.5 times its cost of natural gas, three times the cost of coal and 16 times the cost of nuclear fuel, Commonwealth says.

Wary Fuel Suppliers

Fuel suppliers are anxious about the utilities' commitment to long-term agreements. "No supplier is likely to enter into a fuel contract with a utility or make investments to fulfill the utility's requirements" if power companies can back out when it suits them, says Kenneth T. Derr, president of California Standard's Chevron USA unit.

Chevron spent more than $300 million in the mid-1970s to modernize its Richmond, Calif., refinery and build a new refinery at El Segundo designed to supply low-sulfur oil to PG&E and to Southern California Edison. Now, Chevron is losing "many millions of dollars" because the utilities stopped taking oil last month, Chevron says in a suit against Southern California Edison.

In addition to damages, the suit asks a judge to establish the contract responsibilities of the two companies. Experts say this could challenge frequently used force majeure clauses, which excuse contract obligations if the company is affected by events beyond its control, such as war, weather or government intervention.

Last month, the California Public Utilities Commission ordered PG&E to stop buying $40-a-barrel oil from Chevron to save consumers $95 million a year. While the commission hasn't ordered Southern California Edison to stop, the utility insists it would have been faced with the same force majeure order as PG&E. "We saw the handwriting on the wall," a company spokesman says. "We're charged by the commission to have economical rates."

Ratepayer's Interests Cited

"Our responsibility is to the ratepayers, not to Chevron," says Leonard M. Grimes, one of five California commissioners. He adds, "the unfortunate thing about long-term contracts is they don't reflect current realities."

Current realities are catching up with natural gas pipelines, too. With the recession hurting demand, many companies are struggling to meet minimum requirements of their contracts.

In Chicago, MidCon Corp.'s Natural Gas Pipeline of America unit expects to sell 60 billion to 90 billion cubic feet of natural gas to "off-system" customers this year, up from 40 billion cubic feet last year. "We make very little profit on that gas but it allows us to fulfill our contract with our suppliers," says George L. Morrow, president of the pipeline.

Houston-based Transcontinental Pipe Line Co. says it may lose 22% of its natural gas market if industrial customers continue to switch to low-grade oil. Yet the Transco Energy Co. unit still must pay for at least 90% of the natural gas it ordered, even if it takes less.

To solve the problem, Transcontinental wants to increase rates 7% to 8% for residential and commercial customers.

Flexibility in Contracts

It's uncertain how utilities will cope with such supply and demand problems. No one suggest abandoning long-term contracts for spot market purchases. But future contracts may have to be more flexible, enabling quick renegotiation of terms when prices or demands change. Utilities may have to pay extra if they want special loopholes in their agreements.

"I imagine these kinds of contract changes will become fairly standard," says Barry C. Good, a Morgan Stanley & Co. analyst. "The only way to survive when people start tearing up contracts is to uphold the contracts in court. Otherwise this country is going to be in a lot of trouble."

U.S. Panel Criticizes Antibacterial Agents In Some Oral Products

By a WALL STREET JOURNAL Staff Reporter

WASHINGTON — A government panel found that a number of antibacterial agents used in mouthwashes and other oral-hygiene products haven't been proved effective and suggested that their use be discontinued.

The panel's report, released by the Food and Drug Administration, didn't identify any of the products by name. However, the antibacterial ingredients evaluated in the report are used in a variety of widely sold products, including the nation's two leading mouthwashes, Listerine, produced by Warner-Lambert Co., and Scope, produced by Procter & Gamble Inc.

The FDA said that consumers currently pay about $450 million a year for the products covered by the report. Sales for the entire oral-hygiene market total more than $1.5 billion, according to industry estimates.

The review by the seven-member panel is part of a 10-year effort by the FDA to evaluate the effectiveness of non-prescription drug products. The agency won't take any action on the recommendations until after a 90-day period for public comments on the findings, which are expected to include extensive opposing arguments by makers of oral-hygiene products.

A Warner-Lambert spokesman said the company will submit evidence to the FDA to show that Listerine is effective against "bad breath microbes" in the mouth and against dental plaque, which also causes bad breath as well as gum inflammation.

The review panel decided against considering data on the effect of mouthwashes on dental plaque. William Gilbertson, the FDA official in charge of the review program, said the decision reflected the committee's belief that consumers don't understand the effects of plaque.

The panel stated mouthwashes without antibacterial agents would still be able to freshen the breath and taste of users because of the flavorings, essences and aromatics they contain. Their effect also is en-

ALASKA
STATE LEGISLATURE
MEMORANDUM

TO: Al Adams
Sam Cotten

RE: SCSCSHB 643

FROM: Fred Zharoff, Representative
District 14

May 21, 1982

Brief comments on the bill lead me to say that those portions that affect our District 14 are acceptable with the exception of one, that being section 25, sub item (4). Ouzinkie waste heat project. The original allocation based on $700,000 was reduced to the cost of the project $250,000 leaving a difference of $450,000 that was diverted elsewhere. When I originally reviewed previous allocations for over funding I overlooked the allocations made to the Alaska Power Authority, or I would have responded earlier with suggestions to reallocate these funds.

It would be my suggestion that if an amendment could be made, a transfer of these funds could be made in the Finance Committee or in Free Conference Committee on this bill. I would suggest two projects that would benefit from the allocation of $450,000. They are:

1. Kodiak Boat Harbor Development on Near Island

2. Erosion Control for Ouzinkie

I would prefer that number one be given higher priority as this is a project that is now in its construction stage and there are identifiable needs that are not going to be met with the present available funding.

The second project is presently under study by DOT/PF and is the result of a winter storm that hit Kodiak Island in January of 81. The preliminary costs have been roughly estimated to be about $500,000. I have requested an update from DOT/PF. It is my understanding that the study will be complete by October of this year.

I have back-up material for number one and possible back-up for number two.

The other sections of this bill that pertain to Kodiak are acceptable and have my concurrence as being needed this year.

I have discussed this request with Senator Mulcahy and we agree to this change in the bill as it would reflect our concerns in the reallocation of those funds originally intended for district 14. This is not meant to be critical of the Senate Finance Committee's work on this bill, but rather an oversight on our part.

Footnotes

1) Sec. 52, Ch. 90, SLA 81 repealed the $1,100,000 allocation to Akutan contained in Sec. 1 (13), Ch. 54, SLA 80 as amended by Sec. 49, Ch. 120, SLA 80 but did not reduce the appropriation by a like amount. Section 1 of the proposed CS restores $127,000 of the original $1,100,000 allocation to cover actual expenditures made by the Alaska Power Authority and deletes the unallocated balance of $973,000.

2) Sec. 1 (b), Ch. 90, SLA 81 as amended by Sec. 69, Ch. 92, SLA 81 appropriates $60,000,000 to various power projects and allocates $60,500,000 to these same projects. The proposed CS eliminates this imbalance.

3) Section 14 of HCS for CSSB 322 (Fin)am H (the appropriation bill for the proposed loan package currently in conference committee) appears to repeal these funds also.

Dear Representative Chuckwuk:

This letter is in response to your inquiry regarding the status of the Bristol Bay Native Association contract for a salmon distribution and public education study. This Department executed an Reimbursable Services Agreement with the Department of Commerce and Economic Development (DCED) on August 27, 1981 for $125,000, using a portion of a Capital Appropriation for Statewide Fisheries Studies. We have been advised by Kathleen Wakefield of DCED that no contract has been let and no funds expended. Upon instructions from the Governor's Office, DCED is now preparing documents to return the $125,000 to Fish and Game.

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE
May 11, 1982
9:10 a.m.

BENNETT: The next item we'll take up will be CS HB 643, '81 appropriations, reappropriate the Kasaan Dock, appropriate the Legislative Finance Division.

DANKWORTH: The, uh . . . does everybody have a copy of 643? (Senator Dankworth was referring to his proposed work draft - SCS CS HB 643 (Finance), dated May 10, 1982.)

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman, mine was just delivered about 15 minutes ago.

DANKWORTH: Oh, I thought you got one last night.

STURGULEWSKI: Well, it was after 9:00 when it was available, and I thought I'd wait till . . . .

DANKWORTH: Do you have a copy? Does everybody have a copy?

UNKNOWN MEMBER: Ya, give me a copy.

ELIASON: 643? Right.

DANKWORTH: The, uh . . . I would like to introduce Mr. Chairman, because of the, uh . . . the very nature of this type of bill and the length of it. If we could, I wanted to bring up the purpose of displaying it before the committee - 643 - and give everybody a day or two to digest it. And, see if there's any . . . . If there's anything in this bill that anybody in the committee would like to have a Senator come and testify to as to what's in there, and you know, have any questions on any section. I gave each person a sectional analysis. Basically of course what this is in the drafting of this bill - we spent some time in the drafting - is where legislators would like to reallocate things within their districts in past appropriations. Which they're subject to veto, and under the same conditions as anything else. There is no cost to this bill. It's a zero fiscal note. But, uh, people have, and I think that in my own judgement this is a healthy process. Sometimes we put things in that don't work out, and we would like to reallocate them within our district. So, I, in writing this bill, in drafting it, it's been about two months in the drafting and I'm going to leave this on the desk for, uh - at least through tomorrow so that everybody can . . . . But I'd be glad to have anybody that has any question on any section in this bill - I'll be glad to have the legislator here that will testify on that section. Uh, there is also a great deal of the hydroelectric that was originally in 608, of course is in here, and reallocation of the hydro bill. All of course involves Green Lake, is uh . . . and some additional infusion into Tyee Lake and Bradley Lake. So, this fiscal note is zero, and I have a sectional and I broke out what each section does, so if there's any questions on it, uh, I'd be glad to - let me know and I'll have the legislator here.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator Sturgulewski.

STURGULEWSKI: This bill has not been available for purusal, so, you know, we're sort of starting from ground zero here. At least I am. I'd like to make a request through the chair if it has not been done, that we ask Legislative Finance to go through the check the technical part of it - in other words the "in and out". Would that be . . . has that been done Senator?

DANKWORTH: I can't answer that. Max isn't here at the moment. He's been working with Legislative Finance. I'm going to assume that, but I don't know the answer.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman, I would appreciate that that, you know, the allocations so that, uh, because it's a very major bill. And I just would like to know I guess for my edification. The Governor sent a letter dated May 5, about the question of specific non-grants language he felt should be removed from the budget - that legislative add-ons would be subject to competitive bidding. And I see that we've got a lot of directed grants here, and we were given very firm instructions on the whole process of the budget not to put those on - you know, put those in the budget. Has there been any kind of agreement with the Governor to accept the items that are listed in this bill?

DANKWORTH: Absolutely not. Uh, anything in this bill so far as I'm aware as I introduced it, is subject to the same conditions that he's always imposed, and uh, each individual legislator will have to discuss that with the Governor as he has in the past as to whether it'll survive his veto. But he's been very clear on those subjects, and everybody has been notified of that. And, uh if there are people who have those in here in, uh, in their particular districts, they will discuss that with the Governor I suppose personally, but, uh, it's certainly subject to veto, and I have no arrangement otherwise.

STURGULEWSKI: Oh. Mr. Chairman? And, I am interested in the various hydro allocations, and wonder if, uh . . . . Now, I don't know who would be appropriate to have to justify some of those projects. Are those new dollars we're talking, or reallocated dollars . . .

DANKWORTH: Reallocated.

STURGULEWSKI: . . . from projects from last year. Because I think there's some areas of, you know, of particular concern. So, I would be interested in either some of the back-up or some of the testimony on what they have. I'd be very happy to make to you some of the items that I consider a priority. I've not seen what's in here, so I don't know whether that's included or not.

DANKWORTH: Ya, if you'd let me know which ones they are because as you know they're lengthy, but I'd be glad to get that for you and we can have people testify as to the reallocation of those funds. One thing, so that all the members will know, that in the Green Lake project, the City of Sitka has elected not to join the energy plan for Alaska. So, they have money appropriated for that fund which they instead made an agreement to borrow $15 million dollars from the state and be out of the project. But the balance of their money went to the Bradley Lake project. $20 million dollars went back to the Bradley Lake project with some, uh, and then there were some reallocations of the balances of funds throughout the bill. I can break that out for you if you want to know where the money went. At any rate, I don't want to take the committee's time any more other than to lay it here and, uh, and I think . . . . I don't know whether it would be proper at this time for me to move this as a suggested Committee Substitute and just let it lay here as a substitute. Because I'm sure this is what we'd be working off of. If there's no objections, I'd make that motion, that the draft before you today is - SCS CS HB 643 (Finance) amended, and then we'll just leave it here. That's a motion.

BENNETT: Ok. All in favor?

STIMSON: I object.

BENNETT: State your objection.

STIMSON. Well, I'm just not prepared to have the committee adopt this as the Committee Substitute at this time. Especially since we have, uh, hopefully a day or so to take a look at it.

DANKWORTH: The, uh . . . . Mr. Chairman? One thing about this - I don't mind giving everybody a day or two, and I don't care if you move the thing today or not. That's fine if Senator Stimson would like to do it. But eventually, we're running out of time if we want to move this Legislature along. I do want everybody to know that I would make a motion probably tomorrow or the day after to move this bill. So that we can get it out. It's still in Finance and it's got to go to Rules and then we get it on the floor before perhaps Saturday.

BENNETT: Senator Eliason?

ELIASON: Mr. Chairman, I . . . . Maybe there's a misunderstanding. What you're trying to do is put this work draft before us as a work draft. If there's any changes then of course it would be drafted in the final form. Is that what you're saying?

DANKWORTH: It's still subject to, certainly this committee can amend it any way they want to.

ELIASON: Right.

DANKWORTH: Subject to amendment.

ELIASON: That has to be changed (. . . inaudible . . .)?

DANKWORTH: Sure. That's why I sent everybody copies as late as yesterday. I did - I hope I got to most of them - we were trying to, but it was late in the evening before we got it drafted. But if you, anyway, let's look at it tomorrow and if you have any questions, let me know in advance and I'll have the Senators here.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator Sturgulewski.

STURGULEWSKI: You have no objection, though, to my request that this be technically checked by Legislative Finance if it has not been done?

DANKWORTH: No, I'll be glad to do that.

STURGULEWSKI: Fine, thank you.

BENNETT: Senator Stimson.

STIMSON: Do you know what the total amount of money is that we're reappropriating?

DANKWORTH: I believe the total on this bill is right on the front of it. It should be, uh, $150 million. It's $152,776,300. Uh, I think it's just in the neighborhood of about $80 million of that is hydro. Just reappropriating hydro.

BENNETT: Any further questions? O.k., we'll lay this on the desk until tomorrow.

CALL TO ORDER

Co-chairman Bennett called the meeting to order at 3:25 p.m.

PRESENT

All members of the committee were present. Also in attendance were Judy Johnston, Administrative Assistant to Co-chairman Bennett; Ron Lehr, Director of Budget and Management and member of the Alaska Power Authority; Kurt Dzinich, Senate Advisory Council (hydropower specialist); Senator Gilman; Mike Scott, Administrative Assistant to Senator Ferguson; Jay Hogan, Director of Legislative Finance Division; Elmer Lindstrom, Legislative Finance Fiscal Analyst; and members of the press Patty Ginzburg, John Greeley and Bob Roark.

HB 643

Co-chairman Bennett stated the committee would continue with consideration of SCS CS HB 643 (Finance) (AN ACT REPEALING, AMENDING, MAKING, AND EXTENDING LAPSE DATES ON APPROPRIATIONS; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE), and requested Co-chairman Dankworth to open the meeting on the legislation.

Co-chairman Dankworth stated he would like to continue with the hydro portion of the bill. He said that he would ask a member of the Alaska Power Authority as well as a member of the Senate Advisory Committee to speak to the committee after he made some comments. He said he had raised the question of the advisability of continuing with some of the hydro projects until some kind of a spending plan was in place. At the present time, he said again, the Susitna project (under the Acres plan) would not be a viable project unless there $2.5 billion was put into it. He stated again the need of the legislature to commit itself to a spending plan with low-cost, long-term financing. He added that if some of the projects had to stand alone, the kilowatt hours would not be reduced enough to make them viable projects. He asked Ron Lehr, a member of the Alaska Power Authority, to come forward to testify on the various projects.

Mr. Lehr agreed with Co-chairman Dankworth's statements about most of the hydro projects not being able to support 100% revenue bonds. He said the real difficulty was that they didn't have a full, mature system with billions of dollars invested so that when a new project came on it would only be a marginal increment and could be funded from existing rates. For example, in Southeast, none of the projects are inter-tied so everything has to stand on its own. Whereas, in the Railbelt where the projects are inter-tied, some of the projects are large enough that they somewhat dwarf some of the ones coming on so that they end up having to bear almost the full cost when they come on board. Hydro is extremely expensive, so there is a large up-front cost that is difficult to bear in the beginning. So a plan for low-interest loans, or some way of deferring costs till the future, was necessary. He said he thought it was fair to say that almost none of the projects could be revenue bonded 100%.

Co-chairman Dankworth again stated the need for a plan before more money was put into hydro. He said prior to Mr. Lehr joining the Alaska Power Authority, some of the estimates were very far off, and he didn't think the Authority had provided enough guidelines. He said that some of the projects standing alone, did not appear to be very good projects. He said it had been his idea to put another $25 million in Tyee to try to make the prices come down, and combine Solomon Gulch, Tyee, Terror Lake and Swan Lake. Then the Resource Fund could have begun to buy off the anticipation notes on Terror Lake, to have a leveling effect, and by putting a new infusion of cash into Tyee, the projects would all begin to look more feasible. He said if the anticipation notes were not bought for Terror Lake, and only $25 million was put into Tyee, the cost of energy at Tyee and Bradley would be so high that it couldn't be sold. He said that was why he wanted the Power Authority to give the Legislature some guidelines. He said he wanted everyone to know what was being done when they put another $20 million into Bradley Lake. It would be a committment that it would be built - the total cost would be $650 - $750 million. He wondered how it would be paid for if only $20 million was put in - where would the Legislature get the balance. He asked Mr. Lehr if he would get together with the Alaska Power Authority to discuss whether or not to proceed with some of the hydro projects.

Mr. Lehr stated there would be a Power Authority meeting over the next two weeks, and the issue would come up since Terror Lake was the next project on the agenda. Solomon Gulch was already built, Swan Lake was close to completion, Tyee was well under way. Right now, he thought there was about $120 million of bonding that would go out. He said that would effect the rates of all the existing projects because either under the present SB 25 or under the modified version of HB 9, debt service was "pooled". He said under HB 9 there would be a more dramatic effect on something like Swan Lake and Tyee because they would be pro-rating the debt service according to the state investment, so the more expensive projects per kilowatt would be hurt relatively more, while the more cost-effective projects like Solomon Gulch would be hurt relatively less. In any case, he said bringing on $120 million in revenue bonds would increase the rates of all projects.

Co-chairman Dankworth asked Mr. Lehr if he was familiar with the Acres study that said there had to be $2.5 billion invested into Susitna before it was feasible. Mr. Lehr responded yes. Co-chairman Dankworth stated the Alaska Power Authority had that study done, and they said to continue on with the engineering and design. In doing that, Co-chairman Dankworth asked if the Alaska Power Authority had a plan for where the $2.5 billion would come from. Mr. Lehr responded "no, not yet".

Co-chairman Dankworth then asked if Mr. Kurt Dzinich of the Senate Advisory Council (hydropower specialist), to come forward to testify on the subject before the committee. Co-chairman Dankworth asked Mr. Dzinich to present his opinion of the matter. Mr. Dzinich stated he didn't have any disagreement with Dr. Lehr's or Co-chairman Dankworth's comments that the financing of the projects would be the crucial factor in whether or not they can be built at a price that would result in energy costs the consumer would be willing to pay. He said if they were talking about 14% revenue bonds, then they probably wouldn't be building many projects. He stated there was definitely a need for long-range financing.

Senator Eliason asked if a list had been established as to the feasibility of the various projects. Mr. Dzinich responded that APA had sent a list to the Resources Committee as to which were the best projects. He said Terror Lake was the next one - the bids were about 30% below the engineer's estimate, and they would remain valid for about 30 more days. Then the next project that could be considered for construction was Bradley Lake. Discussion continued on how kilowatt rates would change according to the amounts of money put into the projects.

BEGIN SIDE TWO, SFC 82, # 30, Side 2, 000-end

Mr. Dzinich stated that if the debt service was something less than 10 cents per kilowatt hour, a project could probably be considered a good one. Co-chairman Dankworth commented that this was further reason for putting cash into the hydro projects. Referring to a cost comparison chart (attached to the end of these minutes), he pointed out to the committee how costs would fluctuate according to the amounts of money put into the various projects. Mr. Dzinich agreed with Co-chairman Dankworth's comments regarding the costs. Further discussion ensued. Senator Sturgulewski again stated her concern that it was difficult to know how much money to put into the various hydro projects, especially when the members had to weigh the cost against the other re-allocations requested in the bill. She was hoping there could be more concrete assurance that if re-allocations were made for the hydro projects, more requests for re-allocation would not be made the next year. She noted that the move was being made very rapidly into hydro, so she didn't feel totally convinced that the "structure" had not kept up with the allocation of dollars. In conclusion, she asked the committee, Mr. Dzinich and the Alaska Power Authority "do we have good projects in HB 643, or in SB 609?" Co-chairman Dankworth reiterated that it was difficult to answer that question because if there wasn't enough low-cost money, then most of the projects would look bad. Conversely, if there was money made available, then the projects would all look reasonably good. Senator Sturgulewski wished to point out that she wasn't necessarily against the projects - she was just concerned that the projects were valid. Mr. Dzinich stated that some of the engineering and studies being done were not finished, but for example, Terror Lake was a good project and it was ready to go now. On the other hand, he said the state would have to spend some more money just to see if some of the projects would be worthwhile.

Senator Sturgulewski asked about the Susitna project and the funds in SB 608. She wondered if the funds were adequate to allow for the Legislature to have enough information when it meets again so that a decision could be made to move into the construction phase. Mr. Dzinich responded he didn't think the next Legislature would be in a position to make a decision on constructing Susitna. He thought it would be two to four years before that decision could be made. The importance of putting in $25.6 million was to continue the field and engineering studies. When the license is received and if the financing and load conditions are correct, then they could proceed. If money isn't spent on engineering then they wouldn't be able to proceed with Susitna, even if revenue bonds were down to 5% or if the state eventually has a lot of money to put into it. So, by putting $25.6 million into the FY 83 budget, the state would be buying flexibility, and alternatives could be addressed. Mr. Lehr stated he thought there was enough money to continue with the FERC license as well as looking at some of the alternatives. On the issue of project feasibility, he said that those projects with, say a 50 year time span, would be cheaper than the next best alternative. The problems are with cash flow over the short-term.

Senator Sturgulewski stated that she thought there was a major policy question in regard to hydro - should the committee combine the projects with the rest of the re-allocations, or should it separate them out. She stated her preferance for the latter. Referring to an amendment proposed to the bill by Senator Gilman, she asked for clarification. Co-chairman Dankworth stated the amendment was the same as the language in SB 608. Senator Gilman came forward and said the amendment proposed to SCS CS HB 643 (Finance) was exactly the same as it was in SB 608. His idea was that if HB 643 was to be the vehicle for hydro funding, then he wanted this language in HB 643.

Senator Ferguson moved the following amendments to whichever bill was passed from the Senate Finance Committee: 1) delete $2,225,000 from Nome-Council Road Reconstruction and provide it for the Nome-Taylor Road; 2) take the fire truck or ambulance out of Dillingham and give them one fire truck, with the other fire truck to King Salmon; 3) put $600,000 back in the General Fund for a grant to the City of Kotzebue for utility system construction.

Co-chairman Bennett stated for the purpose of having a working document, the committee would entertain a motion to adopt SCS CS HB 643 dated 5/14/82 by Senator Sturgulewski. Senator Ferguson moved and asked unanimous consent. Senator Sturgulewski objected for purposes of explanation. She referred to the memo in the file from Jay Hogan, Director of Legislative Finance, to herself, which explained that her version contained strictly technical amendments as a result of her request at an earlier meeting that the Legislative Finance Division technically check the 5/10/82 version. She said she originally wanted to submit these as amendments to the 5/10/82 version, but due to the procedure Legislative Drafting uses, that wasn't possible, so she had another version drawn up. She said that her version left the bi out of balance, explained in a memo in the file from Donna Pegues. Co-chairman Dankworth stated the technical matters had been "cleaned up" in Senator Sturgulewski's version, though it was still about $2.9 million out of balance. There being no further discussion or objection to Senator Ferguson's motion, it was so ordered, and the 5/14/82 version of SCS CS HB 643 (by Senator Sturgulewski) was adopted by the committee for consideration.

Senator Ferguson replaced his motion that the above amendments be adopted. Senator Stimson objected, and stated it was unclear in his mind whether the committee's intention was to include Operating Budget items in this bill. Co-chairman Bennett stated this piece of legislation was just like any other, and it was subject to amendment until it was passed from committee. Senator Stimson stated his concern was that the Operating Budget was approached with some specific direction, and it appeared that the intent of that Operating Budget would be violated by allowing operating items to be brought into this bill this way. He appealed for more consistency in the way the Operating Budget was being handled. Co-chairman Bennett reminded Senator Stimson that this bill was not the Operating Budget. Senator Stimson countered that he thought this bill would have a substantial impact on the Operating Budget, and he added he didn't think it was a very realistic approach. He said there were roughly $3.5 million of Operating Budget items in this bill, and he was sure those would surface in the Operating Budget next year; he did not think this was appropriate action. He thought the committee lacked a philosophy about how to handle the Operating and Capital Budgets. Co-chairman Bennett suggested Senator Stimson make a motion. Senator Stimson stated he would make a motion after the motion before the committee by Senator Ferguson was considered. Senator Ferguson removed his motion for the above amendments.

Senator Stimson moved and asked unanimous consent that all portions be taken out of SCS CS HB 643 (Finance) (dated 5/14/82) that should properly belong in the Operating Budget. Co-chairman Dankworth objected, and asked Senator Stimson if the draft Senator Stimson had provided to the committee at the begining of the meeting (new version by Senator Stimson dated 5/14/82) was the same as the motion Senator Stimson had just made. Senator Stimson responded "no", and stated his new version would lapse all the funds into the General Fund and would not appropriate anything. Discussion ensued on what was Capital and what was Operating. Upon a show of hands, those in favor of Senator Stimson's motion were Senators Stimson, Sturgulewski and Eliason. Those against the motion were Senators Ferguson, Sackett, Dankworth and Bennett. The motion failed.

BEGIN NEW TAPE, SFC 82, # 31, Side 1, 000-449

Senator Ferguson again replaced his motion to adopt the above amendments (marked # 2 in the file). There being no objection, they were so ordered.

Senator Ferguson stated he had another amendment to propose, but wanted his Administrative Assistant Mike Scott to speak to the committee on it first. Mr. Scott stated the amendment regarded the Kaktovik Runway (marked # 1 in the file) was in the 5/10/82 version, but was not in Senator Sturgulewski's 5/14/82 version which was now officially being considered by the committee. He said last year $2.5 million was appropriated for the Kaktovik runway. Since that time the North Slope Borough has run into land use problems and has told Senator Ferguson that they will not be able to construct the runway. So this amendment would re-insert Kaktovick in the latest version of SCS CS HB 643 (Finance). Discussion ensued. Senator Sturgulewski said that Mr. Hogan had indicated there was a contract between the Administration and the North Slope Borough, and she thought the issue was technical rather than legal. However, there needed to be a document releasing any contracting arrangements. Mr. Scott stated that after discussing the matter with the Department of Administration, there was simply a requirement of a contract amendment.

Senator Ferguson moved the amendment regarding Kaktovik again, contingent upon the successful completion of an amendment to the original contract between the State of Alaska and the North Slope Borough.

Mr. Hogan stated that Senator Kelly had submitted an amendment that would make an appropriation contingent upon the South Fork area forming a fire service district. That amendment would be found in Section 130 in the version before the committee at this time. Co-chairman Dankworth asked Senator Sturgulewksi if this amendment would force Anchorage to form a fire district; she responded that was apparently the intent. Co-chairman Dankworth stated he would not support that amendment. Senator Sturgulewski stated that since the hydro portion of the bill would be held until the following Monday, perhaps it would be appropriate for Senator Kelly to appear before the committee on his amendment at that time. Co-chairman Bennett agreed, and asked Mr. Hogan to pass that information along to Senator Kelly.

Co-chairman Dankworth brought up the subject of breaking the hydro portions out of the bill and putting them on another bill instead. He stated he had not decided how to do that - whether to put it on another Senate or House bill, or put it in the budget. Senator Sturgulewski requested again that the issue be held, and that hydro be kept separate from the rest of the bill before the committee.

Senator Eliason asked Mr. Hogan how much money had been converted from hydro into grants and capital improvements projects. Mr. Lindstrom, Legislative Finance Fiscal Analyst covering hydro, came forward and stated that it was difficult to say exactly how much from Department of Commerce and the Alaska Power Authority, was spread into other areas. He guessed it was about $25 million, approximately the amount of the Susitna project, that had been lost in this bill related to power and energy. That was a rough estimate.

Senator Eliason asked Mr. Hogan what was the usual procedure in drafting a re-allocation bill. He wondered how he could identify where the money was really coming from and where it would go. Mr. Hogan responded that the method used last year was to put the adds and deletes within the same section of the bill. So each section would have three or four sub-sections, so that the bill would all balance out. Senator Eliason asked if there was time to prepare a document that would reflect the concerns members have about the bill. If it was true that the whole hydro program was in jeopardy, he couldn't see taking $25 million out of it, for example. Mr. Hogan responded that SB 608 did that very thing for the power projects. He said it would be more difficult to do that for HB 643, but he thought his staff working with those who put the bill together could come up with such a document.

Senator Sturgulewski asked if SCS CS HB 643 (Finance) would be out of balance if all hydro projects were taken out of it and put into SB 608. Mr. Lindstrom responded that it would still be out of balance by about the cost of the Susitna project. Senator Sackett said he thought the answer was yes, only if they were talking about energy. If they were talking just about hydro, the bill would not be out of balance. Co-chairman Dankworth stated he thought SB 608 would balance, but HB 643 would be about $25 million short, if they tried to do the Tyee project in SB 608. Mr. Lindstrom added that because the Susitna project was anticipated to be funded through the Capital Budget, it was not put in HB 643 though it was put in SB 608. Aside from Susitna, everything else that was in SB 608, was also in HB 643. Therefore, if all the items in HB 643 that were found in SB 608, HB 643 would be out of balance by approximately the cost of the Susitna appropriation. Co-chairman Dankworth stated that Susitna was changed to Tyee, intending the $25 million to go back into the Capital Budget (the one the Governor said he wouldn't veto again).

Senator Sturgulewski requested that Legislative Finance do another work draft that would reflect the changes made during today's meeting, as well as taking out the energy related projects and reflect them in SB 608. Further, she asked for a statement as to whether they were "in-balance" or "out-of-balance" in HB 643. Mr. Lindstrom wished to clarify that Senator Sturgulewski would only want taken out of HB 643 those items that were also found in SB 608, because as Senator Sackett had pointed out, there were other energy appropriations not in SB 608. Senator Sturgulewski agreed.

Senator Ferguson replaced his earlier motion on the Kaktovik runway amendment, with the contingency clause. Senator Sturgulewski stated she thought they really wanted to say that the contract would lapse - that the funds would not be used for anything else. There being no objection to his motion, it was so ordered.

Co-chairman Bennett stated SCS CS HB 643 (Finance) would be taken up for consideration again on the following Monday.

III. Case 3 (Addition of Terror Lake)

Assumptions:

- same as Case 2, except Terror Lake is added as follows -
- Terror Lake: Cost $175 million; debt $120 million
- Note the sales figures for Swan and Tyee are conservative, since they are first year sales figures, and by the time Terror Lake comes on they will have increased.

ON HB 643

Testimony found on Tape SFC 82, # 32, Side 1

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE
May 17, 1982
9:10 a.m.

BENNETT: Senator Sackett?

SACKETT: Uh, just . . . I won't ask unanimous consent, but just to get it before us - I'd move for adoption of the latest version, 5/17/82, of the Finance Committee Substitute, with two amendments which were passed out. The first one is one that we previously had last week uh, from Senator Gilman. The only change there would be in the section uh, numbers uh, Section 236 for the top one and Section 241 for the bottom one having to do with Bradley Lake, and I think we're all familiar with that. The second amendment is uh, was a technical error after this work draft copy was made and it would . . . .

DANKWORTH: Senator Sackett?

SACKETT: Yes.

DANKWORTH: Before you leave the Gilman amendment - you had one Section 236 and also Section 241 on the bottom. I don't know whether you mentioned that or not.

SACKETT: No, I mentioned it. It's two sections uh, two different places.

DANKWORTH: Would replace those sections. Right.

SACKETT: And the second amendment is the one on page 5, line 27 - after words "the sum of" delete $450,000 with the transfers over to those specific items. One is a grant to the City of Bethel for water and sewer vehicle maintenance facility, and $7,000 to the City of Togiak for a combined facility planning.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman?

SACKETT: Uh, those two are just technical amendments; it doesn't add anything to it. Now, the work draft copy that you have before you took into consideration all of the Sturgulewski amendments that were made. In addition to that there were a couple of amendments that were made by Senator Ferguson and uh, I went back through my items and deleted uh, that other . . . the only other amendment is a deletion of $125,000 dollars to the Department of Transportation for Holy Cross, and a deletion of $57,000 dollars from Ruby for the uh, health clinic.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator Sturgulewski.

STURGULEWSKI: Just for information Senator Sackett. There had been one . . . we handled the Kaktovik runway I assume - the wording of Senator Ferguson's?

SACKETT: Yes ma'am.

STURGULEWSKI: And the uh, the one that I hadn't marked, and I wondered if we'd taken action. It had dealt with the Section 28, and I don't know which bill that was - dealing with the forest management? The $35,000 dollar figure? Has that been taken care of? And I don't know whose amendment . . . just . . . .

SACKETT: What was it taking care of Senator?

STURGULEWSKI: Well, Section 28, Chapter . . . uh, calls for forest management, sum of $35,000 appropriated from General Fund to the Department of Natural Resources for the monitoring of contractual compliance and clean-up operations of the Tyonek timber sale. I don't know who that was from. I'm only talking about ones that have been laid on the table.

DANKWORTH: I'm trying to find that . . . .

SACKETT: Mr. Chairman, could we stand at ease just a second?

AT EASE

BENNETT: Call the meeting back in. Senator Sturgulewski.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman, there has been some discussion on the possibility of pulling out the power projects, and I did lay a memorandum on. But I'm going ask just at this time just one specific question, that talked about additions, reductions and deletions. On the very back page you'll see footnotes. And there are three of them. Items one and two have been taken care of. Item three I think is somewhat substantive. Uh, if you look in . . . on this memorandum, Section 254 - it's close to the end - there was uh, a deletion of uh, and this again is in the old, or in my version, the business loans. They've taken . . . $2,500,000 was taken out of Alternative Energy, energy conservation loans. That particular thing is also being deleted in Section 14 of Senate Bill 322, which is currently in uh, conference committee status. So, you've taken your $2,500,000 twice as far as I can tell.

SACKETT: In situations like that, it would be the last bill. There's no . . . .

STURGULEWSKI: No, I'm pointing that out because it is in conference committee now. Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Yes.

STURGULEWSKI: Just a technical question, again. Does the bill balance now?

BENNETT: I believe it does.

DANKWORTH: It comes awfully close, and uh, it won't balance after it hits the Governor's Office.

SACKETT: Are there any further questions?

BENNETT: Senator Sturgulewski?

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman, uh, Senator Kelly had an amendment we have not acted on. Is . . . do I see him here? I don't know if he's interested in, uh, pursuing that. I think that's the only amendment I have.

BENNETT: Senator Kelly? Do you want to propose your amendment please?

STURGULEWSKI: I would not know the new number in the new bill, but we could find that.

DANKWORTH: What number is he on now, that fire . . . (inaudible) . . . ?

KELLY: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator Kelly.

KELLY: Mr. Chairman, in Section 130 of the new version, uh, I would request the committee to insert the language "this appropriation is contingent upon the South Fork area forming a fire service district." Mr. Chairman, the South Fork of the Eagle River neighborhood is on the Anchorage side of Eagle River. The Anchorage Fire Department is on the other side of Eagle River, and you've got to cross the river, go across the bridge, over Highland Drive, and drive forever to get there. Most of the people in that area, uh, want a volunteer fire department there, established like the Chugiak voluntee fire department further on out. Uh, legally it can be done by going through the Anchorage Assembly, establishing this fire service district. It was the general concensus of the district delegation that we would be prepared to help them begin a volunteer fire department out there with capital funds if they in fact would be willing to pay the operational costs through taxing themselves as a fire service district. And so, all we're saying here is to allow the opportunity to go to the Assembly and then put it on the ballot - that they will in fact receive this money for their fire station and trucks if they do in fact tax themselves for operational purposes.

DANKWORTH: Senator, uh, do you know how it reads right now? It says to Anchorage for the South Fork Volunteer Fire Department. How did you want it to read Tim?

KELLY: I wanted . . . that's fine, and then add the sentence "this appropriation is contingent upon the South Fork area forming a fire service district. That would allow them to tax themselves to pay for the operational expenses of the fire department.

DANKWORTH: Is . . . is contingent upon what?

KELLY: The South Fork area forming a fire service district.

DANKWORTH: Why don't you move it?

SACKETT: Mr. Chairman, I move and ask unanimous consent for adoption of the amendment.

BENNETT: All in favor? Carried. Thank you Senator Kelly.

SACKETT: Mr. Chairman, I renew my motion for adoption and put it out with individual recommendations.

BENNETT: We have, uh, a motion . . . .

ELIASON: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator Eliason?

ELIASON: One question. Senator Sackett, you said this incorporates all of the original 643?

SACKETT: No, I said it incorporated everything that was in Arliss's version.

STURGULEWSKI: The technical . . . .

SACKETT: All the amendments, ya. Plus the . . . a couple of amendments that were made on that same day.

ELIASON: There are no deletions then are there?

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman?

SACKETT: Only the deletions she had.

BENNETT: Senator Sturgulewski.

STURGULEWSKI: I learned to count a long time ago, but just a couple of comments before the vote is made. Uh, I did place on the table the uh, power projects, and it does show that there were uh, reductions or deletions of $118,285,500, with additions of $93,072,500. And I think . . . that issue I've felt is important enough to be in a separate bill or attached to the Capital Budget. I've some concerns that I'd like to express of moving so many dollars around. Uh, I guess I have a concern and the fact I'm not at all sure that we spent enough time to determine whether we're really meeting the needs of all the State, or if we're funding viable projects at a reasonable level. And . . . you know, there's a lot of projects and a lot of change in those ones that just a year ago we put in. The other question, and I realize again, that uh, where the vote is. But I think there's a lot of questions over, including Operating expenditures of some $21,200,000, and I do have a memorandum on that that I have not put out, but would be happy to if there's any interest. In a reallocation bill. I'm not talking about the legislator's prerogative to reallocate for his own area. But the question of . . . that I think is important is what kind of an impact we're putting on the Operating Budget in the future years and the lack of the departments and the Budget and Management having an opportunity to look at their total budget in light of the new Operational dollars. And, uh, as I say, I can count, but I did want to raise those two issues for the record.

BENNETT: Uh, I'll make one last motion before we make a move here. On page 32, line 27, where it says "Barnett, Illinois, Phillips", inadvertently they've got it listed here as pulling "Illinois" out.

"Illinois" should be included. It's three streets with just appropriation . . . (inaudible) . . . .

DANKWORTH: Leave it in?

BENNETT: Ya, just leave "Illinois" in.

DANKWORTH: O.K

BENNETT: All in favor? Carried. Senator Sackett?

SACKETT: Renew my motion.

BENNETT: Motion is before the committee to move the adopted copy of Committee Substitute for House Bill number 643 (finance) out with individual recommendations. All in favor? Bill is moved out with individual recommendations.

STURGULEWSKI: Please note my objection.

BENNETT: (gavel)

HB 643

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE
May 15, 1982
9:15 a.m.

Testimony found on Tape SFC 82, # 30, Side 1

BENNETT: O.K., at this time we'll take up CS for HB 643. We . . . have a floor session in about 30 minutes.

DANKWORTH: The uh . . . Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator Dankworth.

DANKWORTH: I suppose since this bill was originally assigned to me that uh, uh, that I probably have some obligation to keep it moving here and . . . (inaudible) . . . . We had the rough draft laying on the table. I have two drafts here that other members have done some work on, which look good. But uh, I thought that there would be one issue that I'd would like to at least address according to this bill while . . . and not tie up Commissioner Williams if he wants to comment on it. And I see Ron Lehr is here of the Alaska Power Authority. But uh, it's the kind of a problem that the committee has to somewhere look at. Now, maybe there's solutions and maybe we can just let this uh, uh, these appropriations go through on hydro power as they are. And I'm only going to address the hydro sections since uh, since I have had some uh, probably did the majority of work on that. But - as everybody knows, yesterday uh, HJR 61 was defeated. And I don't see any way of bringing that back, which would have if the people voted on it. It was kind of a long range part of the hydro plan uh, in the sense that it would have put into place some low . . . a source of low interest money over a long range period. The . . . I guess it brings into focus, rather unanimously they said, that they do not want to . . . not a chance of me ever getting 27 votes, or this legislature ever getting 27 votes on one side, or 14. They rather unanimously said, and maybe for reasons that I haven't . . . don't know about. But at least they pretty unanimously said that they . . . they don't like the idea of a Resource or Investment Fund. Or at least written in that manner. So they killed it altogether and didn't even bother to work on it. I don't want at all for this to sound like sour grapes because that was my bill. It, it really created a problem here because most of the financing for hydro depends upon a long range, low interest money. Now, we're throwing money at these projects with the assumption that they . . . that they . . . that we were going to put State money into them. Uh, the Acres Report on Susitna says it is not a feasible project unless we put $2.5 billion dollars in cash into it. Uh, otherwise, don't build it. It cannot be bonded. Uh, we were just about to put $25 million dollars into one that says that it cannot be done without some low cost money. So at least that brings that question up. Now I'm not saying that we have to make that decision this very day. Uh, we are going to put $25 million dollars to continue a project though, that says that it must have low cost money, and I don't know where it's coming from. We don't have a spending plan for hydro when it comes into this kind of money. Now to the more immediate problems of Swan Lake, Tyee, Terror and Bradley - and of course Solomon Gulch is on line. With that . . . defeat of that, it puts Bradley and my . . . and Terror

Lake uh, in real jeopardy unless we can put . . . and infuse into that, some State money. Uh, I guess what was . . . what worries me is that most of us are going to have to go around next year and decide whether each legislator would like to contribute some of his capital money to the Terror Lake project. Or to the Tyee project, or whichever one is going. That's of course not an acceptable spending plan and you can't bond under those conditions. We needed a long range plan in place. If next year we came back and of course, you can always come back to future legislatures . . . (inaudible) . . . do something. If we come back next year and put into place, and try again. And let's say we're successful in setting up just a Resource Fund uh, and I haven't checked that as to how that would tie up to SJR 4 if it became law - whether we could . . . whether it would be unconstitutional to do that then or not. I think it would say that all monies over a certain amount must go to a vote of the people . . . and I . . . and I just haven't really researched that. If that's in place whether we would even have that . . . (inaudible . . . open. But then you would have to pass the law and wait till the next general election, and by then these projects will have moved down the line and we would have poured millions of Alaska dollars into projects that very likely you couldn't sell when you get them done. If in . . . the figures that I ran through with the Bond Council the other day - if Tyee . . . very likely if we don't pick up any of the financing for Terror Lake . . . certainly . . . or Bradley, the Tyee cost of a kilowatt hour will . . . could be as high as 40 cents. Maybe even higher than that. Uh, so we will have a great project setting out there in the woods that nobody would buy a kilowatt from because you can produce it at 15 cents at diesel . . . uh, between 15 and 20. Now with that proper low cost money, if we had in that program, which was part of it, I think all of it would have . . . we could have . . . we could have . . . (inaudible) . . . our renewable resource and made sense out of it over a long period of time. But no one could tell me, and maybe some members of this committee would think about it, well we . . . we do need to find somebody that can lay out for us a spending plan beyond just throwing money at these projects now with no source of long range income. And we can't make that gamble in the hopes that . . . maybe, that bonding will go down. It's at 14 cents now, and I think on anticipation notes - 13 or 14. You could say, well maybe in three years it'll be down to 5%, which would be about 5 to 7% is about the most that these things could carry. Well now, we cannot spend hundreds of millions of dollars of our resource funds on the hopes that the bonds will go to 7 cents in three years. And if they don't you've got a big giant setting out there that nobody will buy the product. So, I wanted the members aware that . . . as I said before, that I thought that probably was the most important thing that this legislature could address this year in relations to these infra-structures and energy and harnessing our resources. I . . . I . . . I uh, again I say, I don't bring that up to sour grapes because we lost the bill. We've lost bills before. But we need to find some mechanism to try to get the House uh, hopefully, to set down and maybe before this session's over, look at some way to address this problem. I don't think . . . the Bond Council tells me, and I've talked to all of them, and they tell me we have really got a problem on our hands as far as building hydro in this state without this source. And I've asked uh, and maybe there's other solutions uh, I, I know uh, uh, our Commissioner of Revenue is here, and Ron Lehr of the Power Authority. I had considered calling an emergency meeting of the Alaska Power Authority, uh, to see if they would come down and at least give us some ideas of what should go ahead and what we should be careful doing. Uh, it would seem to me that . . . and again, this might seem like we're talking about Anchorage projects, but we're not. We're talking about one of the larger ones. I would hate to stop even the engineering and design on like Susitna. Uh, Terror . . . Tyee's already under construction. You've got $50 million dollars invested in that, and if we bond the rest, uh, we're going to end up with 40 cents power, and the people in Petersburg and Wrangell aren't going to buy that power. We had . . . it belongs to the State and I don't think we can sell it. Uh, I see Mr. Dzinich is also here from our . . . the hydro man from the Senate, and he may later be able to, maybe not before our session today, but you may want to hear from him. But I thought I'd bring this problem up because that . . . there's lots of money for hydro in this bill that's being reallocated and we're proceeding on as if we're going to build it and somewhere we're going to have to stop and address that problem.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Um hmm.

STURGULEWSKI: I think uh, Senator Dankworth's comments are well taken. I think there's . . . as I see it, there's two issues. And I guess they are both before us. One issue is the long range ability to finance hydro. Everybody is in favor of hydro, they want to see it move. The question is, some projects, if they're . . . and this has been a continuing debate I guess before the legislature for many, many years.

Ernie Haugen started way back with the idea of very low cost uh, uh, loans, and monies weren't there, and all of a sudden the monies were. So I . . . I . . . I say that that's one very important issue and, and it needs resolution hopefully by this legislture. But uh, looking at the resounding defeat of that uh, uh, particular approach to it, I don't know how much hope there is. I think the second issue though, that needs to be separated is how we utilize the dollars. Last year we had a massive appropriation to hydro. We're back this year with a number of changes. And, some concerns I have - if we reallocate, are we reallocating to the kinds of projects that we should . . . and should . . . are we putting the dollars in those ones that we know are going to be sound and go ahead? For instance, we have in one of the amendments I'll be bringing up a concern raised by Senator Gilman over the uh, how the monies are being projected here for the Bradley project. But, more importantly, are we putting dollars into projects uh, that we know have very little economic value. And I like the approach you used Senator when you've moved . . . you really show your hydro in Senate Bill 608. Now the technical approach to that as to whether we get through the House I think is something. But that becomes an issue as to just how we should handle it. But I think it would be very helpful if we could have some testimony on 608 from the Power Authority or from Mr. Dzinich or from whomever that can say these are good projects and this is where we should be reallocating our dollars. So I think that's the part that concerns me. If we take action, and I think we have to this year, is it the right kind of action so we keep the good projects going. Uh, we make a determination that if the marginal projects are there, whether or not we should be allocating dollars at this time. So that's the way I would like to look at it.

DANKWORTH: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator Dankworth.

DANKWORTH: Thank you Senator. Uh, two things that I might comment on on the Bradley Lake, uh, Gilman's approach to the Bradley Lake. It's identical to what's in the bill.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. . . .

DANKWORTH: . . . you'd like to reword it, and I think his wording is cleaner.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman, your . . . your uh . . . Senator Dankworth, what you have proposed in CS - and I apologize for not mentioning it - SB 608, in fact does incorporate Senator Gilman's uh, approach. And that's excellent. In the 643 before us, I share his concern about the way that it's . . . and that a technical thing.

DANKWORTH: Well the one that . . . yes, and in 643 it does the same thing too. But I think his amendment does it much cleaner Arliss. I . . . I think it's a much nicer way of doing it. I was going to support that. Uh, and how to handle, uh, the bill is . . . in relations to . . . if we pull it out as 608 and it being a Senate bill. There's one thing the committee might want to consider, and that's that we take the Senate bill since it has a zero fiscal note. We could attach it to the budget when it moves out because it's . . . and put it on a House bill instead of 608. It isn't an appropriation bill and it doesn't cost anything. And in most of these things it's been discussed. That is an avenue as we hear that this thing is coming to a halt in the next two or three days. So I just throw that out for the committee's consideration - as one avenue that could be used to move the hydro in 608. Senator.

BENNETT: Senator.

GILMAN: With your permission . . . . (the rest of his statement was inaudible as he was speaking from the back of the room)

DANKWORTH: Alright, I . . . .

BENNETT: I think we probably better reschedule until this afternoon.

DANKWORTH: I would sure love for the committee to hear . . . and give these gentlemen . . . . I haven't even talked to them about it. They need time to go and consider it too. But I . . . I really think the public ought to know what we're doing, and how serious it is that we don't have something in place. Thank you Mr. Chairman. I'll just . . . as far as the hydro portion, I'll just hold that till two o'clock.

BENNETT: Any further discussion or dialogue on 643?

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman, is it your wish that because of the session coming up we just defer this until two o'clock? Is that . . . ?

BENNETT: We might as well. We're just going to get into it and have to break it off. We'll come back at two o'clock this afternoon.

SENATE FINANCE COMITTEE
May 12, 1982
9:15 a.m.

BENNETT: The next bill we'll take up is CS HB 643.

DANKWORTH: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator Dankworth.

DANKWORTH: Uh, It wouldn't be my intention to move this bill out today.

STURGULEWSKI: Say again.

DANKWORTH: I said it would not be my intent to move this bill today. We put it on the table yesterday for comment, and I've asked anyone who had any comment or anybody would like to have any of the legislators appear and testify on any subject. I haven't had any requests so far from any particular person to have that done. So therefore, I haven't made the arrangements for anybody to come. But I think for the purpose of everybody having the chance to go back and make sure that whatever happened, any reallocations in their district, check it through with Finance and others and make sure the proper wording is there before we move the draft. I would move that we let this lay on the table one more day and let everybody have an opportunity to look at it because it . . . .

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator Sturgulewski.

STURGULEWSKI: I'd like to bring a couple of things to the attention of the committee that concern me a great deal. I'd asked yesterday that there be (. . . inaudible . . .) by Legislative Finance. And I don't know if they've had an opportunity to do it. But, a couple of things have come to . . .

DANKWORTH: You know, may I interrupt just a moment. You know I heard a press release this morning that you had asked to have that looked at and it left the impression, and I'm sure it was an intentional one on the part of the press, that you wanted it looked at, that is to see if there were any improprieties.

STURGULEWSKI: No, to look at it to see if the word was . . . .

DANKWORTH: I understood it Senator Sturgulewski.

STURGULEWSKI: Alright.

DANKWORTH: Now, don't get me wrong, I understood your request very well, but they tried to imply I think in their release see. You (. . . inaudible . . .) concerned that it was in the form and properly (. . . inaudible . . .). Thank you.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman? Senator Dankworth, that is of course, correct. However, what seems to be in a couple examples of what I had some concern about, seem to be true. And I don't know if I know quite the answer. What we really have here is a lapse and reappropriation bill. And, I think what we're doing by this bill, it seems, and I'd like to give just a few examples if I could, is creating a situation of the Legislature actually causing an overexpenditure of funds. And I think that raises some concern. If I could give you an example or two. And there are a number of them I have. One has to do with an original, uh, uh, appropriation on the Green Lake project. It was for $45 million dollars.

SACKETT: Excuse me. What section are you talking about?

STURGULEWSKI: I haven't gotten this on the section. We'd have to go take a look. If I could just do this we, you know, again, there was not time . . . .

SACKETT: Mr. Chairman, it would be easier for us. We have a work draft copy before us that has sections.

STURGULEWSKI: Well, if we can find a budget item that was a repeal of $45 million dollars.

SACKETT: Section 241?

STURGULEWSKI: O.K. Section 241. We're repealing that whole section, and yet there has been an appropriation from that of $84,843.50.

Another one that I'll need some help on . . . .

DANKWORTH: But wait a . . . hold it, hold it.

STURGULEWSKI: Oh, alright.

DANKWORTH: I don't understand what you just said.

STURGULEWSKI: O.K., what I just said was, we are repealing $45 million dollars from this, and reappropriating it.

DANKWORTH: No, it was $52 million, and we made a $15 million dollar loan to Green Lake which left $47 million. $20 million was transferred to Bradley Lake, and what's left, the balance of $12 million which was reappropriated to Sitka projects. That's what happened to Green Lake money. They got a $15 million loan.

STURGULEWSKI: No, I'm talking in specific details, and maybe I could ask, uh, the Finance staff . . . .

SACKETT: Mr. Chairman, excuse me, but I thought Dankworth, Senator Dankworth, answered in specifics as to what happened.

DANKWORTH: Ya, I don't have any objections to that Arliss.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman? Could I ask Elmer to come up and explain that item?

BENNETT: Ya.

STURGULEWSKI: Do you have . . . ? (directed to Elmer Lindstrom, Legislative Finance Fiscal Analyst)

LINDSTROM: Thank you Mr. Chairman. In this particular instance there was a $45 million appropriation for the Green Lake project. They have apparently expended $84,844 dollars of that appropriation. By repealing this appropriation and using those funds elsewhere, I'm afraid that we're going to be in a situation where they'll have an overexpenditure of that relatively minor amount of money - $84,000 - that they've spent. It's going - it has been spent - now we would be repealing that entire appropriation. In effect, I think it would be more appropriate to at least - to leave in the $84,000 here so they can cover those expenditures they have made.

DANKWORTH: Well, the conditions of the loan . . . . There was a number of things that have to written up with the Power Authority, and the $15 million to absorb those costs. And they're going to walk out - absorb any cost. They've got some projects against another project (. . . inaudible . . .) their water systems, but that they were to take the $15 million dollars and cash us out.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman? Senator, I'm not questioning where the dollars went. All I'm questioning now is by our action, we appear to be creating a fact that we have expended dollars that were not there because of the action on this account. That's a technical kind of a question. And, I do have several of - that has nothing to do with where it goes or the appropriateness of that.

SACKETT: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator Sackett.

SACKETT: On that, did you say that of the $15 million they would reduce it by the $80,000?

DANKWORTH: Ya. Well, whatever the cost was. That was the agreement that I had with the (. . . inaudible . . .) firm. But that's not apparently what you're discussing.

SACKETT: No. Well her question, as I understand it now, is that out of all the transfers there's money yet that still has to be appropriated because we've evidently transferred, according to her, more money than is really there. But your response was, is that it actually does come out to zero because of the $15 million you had an agreement to reduce it by $80,000.

DANKWORTH: Ya. And, I have some reservation that . . . . The agreement was, and it was such a loose agreement, that we have to - you know I don't want to just say implicitly that that $80,000 would be picked up by Sitka. But that was the impression. I see Senator Eliason has . . . .

ELIASON: Well, I seriously question the expenditure of those funds because as far as I know . . . There have been a number of meetings with the Borough of Sitka relative to whether or not the Alaska Power Authority would purchase the project, but I can't imagine them coming close to spending $84,000, because, you know, they haven't done anything. But of course that would come out in an audit, I . . . with respect to the Alaska Power Authority.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman, we're talking about the State's accounting, their books. I'm not talking about, you know, the fact maybe somebody will pay that back. But at the time, it would at least . . . (inaudible) . . . an exception to any kind of any audit report. Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Yes.

STURGULEWSKI: There are several others along that line, but one, a very big one, deals in the area of repeal of some $3.4 million regarding the Bethel Jail. And the way - the information I have from Legislative Finance now, is that there is an overexpenditure in the amount of $967,000, and I could give you the details there. Those are the kinds of concerns I have with a bill of this magnitude, so that we don't end up with a whole lot of audit exceptions of some kind of serious nature. And I don't know whether Mr. Hogan is here, if he can comment on how long it would take to go through this from a technical point of view, and take care of some of these issues.

SACKETT: Well, I don't know if there's a problem there to begin with Mr. Chairman, because there were two appropriations. One, there was a bond issue that was passed for both Bethel and Nome - that was passed two years ago. Plus, there was a $3 million appropriation in cash made at the same time. Since then, Department of Health and Social Services has come back and said that you can't build two jails for the price that we've authorized for. They are going to provide now for one jail. That does provide for the money to come back to the General Fund. And if there are any expenditures, that can come out of the bonds, and, . . . there's still enough funds there for the construction of one jail.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator.

STURGULEWSKI: Again, the only question is, is to verify that what we are actually doing by this bill accomplishes what we expect to happen, which is a zero impact if we had not created the, the over-expenditures. Simply because we have not reported it properly. That's the only issue that I'm raising.

BENNETT: Senator Dankworth?

DANKWORTH: I think Senator Sturgulewski makes a good point. I don't have, you know, I . . . if there is something in here where maybe there is an overexpenditure, uh, we, what, you know, I, whoever put them in there, just like Senator Sackett explained, I don't think they're aware of it. I don't know how long it would take to run through and check those. I'm assuming that every Senator did that. Apparently Senator Sackett did because he seems to know what happened on it. But if there are some, if you know of any others, if you would . . . . You know, this is still in a draft state and we ought to correct those. And, uh, uh . . . I don't know.

SACKETT: I agree with you. If they are legitimate, they should be corrected. I just don't like red herrings.

BENNETT: The uh, it's my understanding the bill isn't going to move this morning regardless. Why don't we ask Mr. Hogan to go through this and see where we're at tomorrow morning and we'll bring it up again.

DANKWORTH: That's a difficult job for him I realize. It's a very long and meticulous job, but, uh, I, I don't know how to get around, uh, uh, you know, but there may be some of those little things like that occur. I want to make something clear too, Mr. Chairman, that, uh, I hope they don't ask me to go do this as Finance Chairman. This has been done every year. Somebody has to put this bill together, and I don't want to assume that all these things are mine. So, I, I, it may be incumbant on some of the people who have projects in here. I'm just going to assume that, Senator Sackett's been around here longer than I have, I'm going to assume that after we go home, if there's something in there and there's not enough money there, and somebody took money that's not there, it just won't be used. I think that whoever didn't figure it out right is going to be - is going to have a problem. But, uh, I don't that the bill passing where there would be maybe an $86,000 question, I think you'd just hold up the forms while that, till that was resolved.

BENNETT: Senator Stimson?

STIMSON: Thank you Mr. Chairman. Well, I know we're talking about sections of this bill as if there's some personal responsibilities of the legislators involved - to have to check things out and so forth. But it becomes, it becomes our responsibility when we start seriously considering moving this bill out of Finance. I want to raise a couple of questions. I don't know what the answers are and, and, I'd like to suggest these . . . (inaudible) . . . areas that we have some answers to. Section 44, appropriates $420,000 to Lake and Peninsula REAA's for budget overruns. We have a process that we've been using to go through Legislative Budget and Audit. I'm not sure whether that's uh, an item that's gone through that process. I'd like to have some understanding on what's really going on with that. Section 109 refers to an appropriation for the Department of Education for the Kuspuk REAA for the White Alice Vocational Program. I want to understand how those funds are different than the Foundation Funding allocation that should be covering that type of program. Uh, Mr. Chairman, Sections 156, 157, my understanding is that this is a Molly Hootch School on Diomede Island that was yet to be constructed, and uh, I just have some questions about what that means if that school is not built in compliance with the court, uh, decision. On Section 243, Mr. Chairman . . .

DANKWORTH: What was the number?

STIMSON: Section 243. There's $200,000 in there, uh, referred to as West Creek, and uh, I'm not clear on that. I've, my understanding is that that is a federal lobbying effort to see about putting a power line through the Chilkoot trail.

DANKWORTH: I didn't get the number right. Mine doesn't . . . . what number did you use?

STIMSON: Section 243.

DANKWORTH: Well, mine says "appropriates $27,000 . . . ."

STIMSON: If you look at subsection 3, it says "West Creek hydroelectric project, $200,000". It . . .

SACKETT: That's Black Bear and then Grant Lake . . . .

STIMSON: That West Creek project I'd like some information on.

DANKWORTH: Well, I'll tell you, my sectional analysis . . . .

STIMSON: It's not in the sectional analysis.

DANKWORTH: Oh, I see, O.K., section 243. In one, in the analysis it's not correct then.

STIMSON: Well, the question I have is, what is West Creek hydroelectric project? My uh, my uh, understanding is that it's a federal lobbying effort on the uh, Chilkoot, Chilkoot Trail in order to allow for a transmission line through that. I'd just like some information on that. And uh, I assume as we identify other areas of concern we could bring it to your office's attention and, and address those areas tomorrow.

DANKWORTH: Sure, and if you, uh, if at all possible, rather than give them all to me, because I don't have the answers to each legislator's stuff. But I can designate who it is, and them get them answered.

STIMSON: O.K.

SACKETT: (short, inaudible statement)

DANKWORTH: Ya. I think that's healthy, that's what I laid it out here for. If anybody has questions on it, I would like to get them.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator Sturgulewski.

STURGULEWSKI: To follow up Senator Dankworth's uh, some of the comments, yesterday I raised the issue on the power projects and kinda the way it looks like we had appropriated previously about $115,000,000 and we're reappropriating about $77 or $78 million.

DANKWORTH: Senator Sturgulewski.

STURGULEWSKI: Is that correct?

DANKWORTH: That's not . . . no.

STURGULEWSKI: That's not correct. O.K., I'll . . .

DANKWORTH: No. You had, you, we, you did, uh, we, we reduced it by $115,460, then we put $77 million back in in that, in that, just to the Power Authority alone.

STURGULEWSKI: O.K.

DANKWORTH: Now, the rest of it totals out at $117 million if you count the $25 million that will be added to, for Susitna, would be $117,176,000, or $91,576,000. Uh . . . .

STURGULEWSKI: Ya.

DANKWORTH: So there would have been a reduction of about uh, uh, it would have been $115 million and $77, we would be at about $117 million, or about $91 million actually, in the energy projects. I have a list of all those energy projects that I could give you if you'd like.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman, I'd, I'd appreciate that because we've got the energy in the Capital, the Operating in 643, and I don't know if we're talking about bonds, but there are some things that - it's very hard to tell what's been funded and what hasn't. I think we dropped out any funding for the village reconnaissance studies and for village feasibility studies.

SACKETT: I hope so.

STURGULEWSKI: Were those completely of no value?

SACKETT: Not only . . . you should see those damn things. $25,000 each - and all they do is change the top paper, piece of paper on each one of them.

STURGULEWSKI: Alright. Mr. Chairman, I think the point is, it would be interesting to see your list and to see what is, uh, funded.

DANKWORTH: I gave it to your staff yesterday.

STURGULEWSKI: Ya. Chakachamna for instance. If . . . that's one of the things that was noted in the, uh, report to the Power Authority, which we're adopting. And, you know, are there funds in that $25 million to do those alternative things that we need for FERC if we want that project to go forward. So I'd be, appreciate, you know, having information on those.

DANKWORTH: Sure. Would you have . . . because I'm going to be awfully busy . . . would you have Margo or somebody to get with Pete and get - I did give you the list of energy projects - maybe they can check that out and . . . (inaudible) . . . your answer.

BENNETT: O.K., then, we'll be taking the bill up again tomorrow morning. We'll go on to something else for a moment.

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE
May 13, 1982
9:13 a.m.

BENNETT: The next bill to come before the committee is CS HB 643.

DANKWORTH: Mr. Chairman, I have some comments to make on 643, and we can see . . . and uh, then the committee can decide how they want to proceed. Uh. Mr. Chairman, I suppose every Finance committee, as I was told, uh, has to prepare usually a reallocation bill. I took a staff member and asked them to do that, and to start putting together a reallocation bill. To draft a rought draft copy for the committee to work on. They've done that, and uh, there was some who thought that while that bill was being drafted, that they should be able to come in and uh, and while there were changes being made, and even in the process of making a rough draft of a bill, be able to come in and take, and each aide would be able to come down and take information that's half done and uh, subject to change, and uh, harrass in a sense, my staff trying to put together a bill as requested by the different legislators. Uh, that became troublesome and of course, I told them not to release anything until we got the rough draft before the committee so that it could be done in public, so that there could be a discussion, so that people could come and testify as to what they did or didn't do in the bill. Any changes that needed to be made in the bill could be done in public out here on a rough draft. The overzealous press that we have sometimes is so anxious to get ahead of the other uh, press, that they want the bill in a drafting stage before it's ready, and I'm not criticising the staff in making that statment because I understand they're all in the business of getting news, and that's news, and I don't make that statement as a criticism to the press. They're trying to find out what's going on. But at any rate, we told the press not to take to print - that we didn't want to release it to the press in the drafting stages until such time as the bill was in a rough draft form and then we could get out here and talk about it and have everybody come. Well, that's exactly what happened; I did that. And then, uh, as I placed this several days ago on this table and told you people that you could comment on it, testify, ask for witnesses, and let's go over it and let's rewrite it if we need to, to get the bill we want. Since that time, it seems as if one member, I have set and defended myself, uh, to the press, on television, as if every change that's being made out here - how do I respond to the criticisms of the draft by some members of this committee. My answer to that is, I'm not going to respond anymore to anybody's criticism. The bill is here. If you want to work on it, work on it. Change it if you will. But don't leave the impression that there was any wrong-doing on my part in drafting it. And if you don't like the procedure, if you got a better one, do it yourself. But I'm going to say this, this bill can lay here till hell freezes over - I'm through with it. Now, you people have criticisms, go to the press with them and run for office if you want to, only at my expense, or you're not going to do it. So, this bill can set here till hell freezes over.

BENNETT: Senator Sackett?

SACKETT: I just want to make one comment. My observations. I've served on the Finance Committee now for fourteen years, and every year that I can remember there's been a reallocation bill. Now, in previous years they've been smaller, and they were smaller when I first started mostly because we didn't have very much money then. In fact, our total budget when I started under Strandberg, was $100 million. And it's grown like everything has grown before us. What, uh, Senator Dankworth has done in terms of getting everyone's ideas is something that's been done previously. Now, it may not be right in terms of how it's been done in the past, but it's being done according to how it's been done in the past too. And this is not the first time - I've seen worse draft copies come before this committee from individual members they slap down, and we have to look at them. And they've been large, up to 30 and 40 page work draft copies of committee substitutes that have come from specific individuals on this committee. And that's the system. They bring them in - the permanent fund - you name it - bring it in, and we look at it. And I don't see anything wrong with what Senator Dankworth has done with the reallocation bill. He brings it before us, and then we look at it and we change the draft because it is necessary to satisfy anything we might have in it. So I would say that, uh, if the system is incorrect, then we're all doing it wrong with our individual work draft copies that we bring before this committee. And if we're all doing it wrong, then we all need to change.

DANKWORTH: Senator . . . Mr. Chairman, I want to . . . I didn't, uh . . . I'm trying to keep from getting upset or angry over that, and I'm afraid I am. But I'm going to say one more thing now. I'm having a bill drafted today which would take out the hydro portion of this bill and I'm going to put it in 608, and all the other junk in there can go down, if you want to call it that, can go anywhere it wants to go. I'll move 608 out with the original hydro stuff, and the rest of this money, and it means a great deal to a lot of people, if you want to do the work, you do it yourself, and then you move the bill. The bill will still be before us. But, but . . . and then you can go on television and impugn my integrity if you want to. Thank you.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Senator.

STURGULEWSKI: It was my staff member that requested a copy of the information on hydro. And, uh, the reason that was done - I've certainly been interested in hydro, and I want to see our hydro go, and I've been active, and I think you can see that move forward. We have hydro in the Capital Budget, in the Operating Budget, in this budget, and possibly in the bonds. My quest for information was simply to find out where things are. I think it's extremely critical that we have the adequate studies done in Chakachamna and some of the others so that we can make an informed and good decision and get the FERC license and so on on the whole Susitna project, and if uh, I'll take full responsibility if that caused a problem. The bill that we have, and the reason that I asked for the legislative staff to take a close look at this, was simply the magnitude of the bill - that was the purpose for it. It is in a different format that we've had before, where we have an add - or a delete and an add - and it adds up to the,

if you will, the deletions and adds are all together in one section. It's extremely hard to check, so I was looking at the idea of the technical accuracy of the bill. And it is a major one, one that you can plan to move very, very quickly. And I think that that's an entirely appropriate thing to go. I have some problem, and I'll be honest because it's all laying out - with the idea - we were told to keep down the Operating Budget. I think everybody's office had a tremendous number of people coming in and requesting special things, and attempted to do that. There are in fact, a good number of operational dollars where perhaps we made errors in the past, and I think that's something that needs to be discussed as to whether we make those additions in this form because they obviously commit us to operational issues in the future. But I think the important thing is that we have a technically accurate bill. And somehow, I guess I'd like just the assurance that those power projects are - and, and, maybe that's true, maybe all the funding is there and there's no problem and we're addressing all those issues of the FERC license. And mine has simply been to get that information - to know that we're moving ahead on those projects. And that simply was the basis of my staff's request.

BENNETT: Senator Stimson?

STIMSON: Thank you Mr. Chairman. I understand that in the past there have been reappropriation bills. I guess the concern that I have, and I have been critical, uh, and I know Senator Dankworth, it's far easier to be critical than it is to be constructive and put together a plan. And to that extent, I really sympathize with the statement that you made.

I don't take any great pleasure out of being critical and I know that you're convinced that I've been using it as a political platform. And I'm sorry that I am a candidate, which tends to erode my credibility. I think there are some reasons to be concerned though. This cannot be just compared to any other bill, when we've got 276 sections to a bill. And uh, it's been presented to us at a time when all of us anticipate that this session could be adjourning at any time. Then we can't help but have this sense of uh, of panic about the fact that we don't have time to understand the full implications to this bill. Now regardless of whether these are reappropriation items, I personally don't believe that any legislator should have a complete latitude to just make decisions about what is eliminated from past appropriations and what should be replaced without some kind of look at that process. Many sections of this bill, in my opinion, require a full blown public hearing and we don't have time for that. Uh, I don't know whether this bill could have been completed any earlier than it was, but I think that's a good part of the frustration that I experienced. We were given directions with our Operating Budgets to try to be as prudent as possible and uh, and I was trying very hard to make sure that no grants were included in the Operating Budget. That, of course, was taken out of my hands ultimately. But, what I find in this budget now, is $3.5 million worth of grants in the Operating Budget for education alone. That's all going to come back to us next year in the form of Operating Budget requests, which I've had no say over, and theoretically anyway, I was supposed to be the one that was in control of the Education Operating Budget on the Senate side. We make reference to past precedent. I'm afraid that that just leaves me pretty dismayed, because one of the committments we made when we formed this coalition was that we were going to do things differently, and that we were going to be open. And that's the frustration that I have at this point - that the process - with the size of this bill, the process has required, I think, an extraordinary amount of openness. And on the contrary, what we've had is an extraordinary amount of closedness in the preparation of that bill. Even as one of the members of the Finance committee, I've not had access to what was being put in this bill to look at it in advance. I think there are many, many legal questions in the bill, and as my brief review it seems to me like there're some real questions of some special interests being served in this bill. And I'm sorry Senator Dankworth, that you've become the focal point for this, uh, because I don't uh, I don't in any way hold you personally responsible for what is in this bill. There's no uh, I know that you just allowed legislators to make decisions and uh, and uh, you know I feel badly that, that you feel as if this is entirely a personal attack on you because I sure don't feel like it is. And I do appreciate your comments that this bill is going to stay here at least until we've had a chance to review it because there are a number of sections that I think we've just got to go through very carefully uh, or I'm going to feel extremely irresponsible about the actions of this committee. Thank you Mr. Chairman.

BENNETT: Senator Dankworth.

DANKWORTH: Uh, then, that's great - do your work. Uh, I'm not going to move it. It can set here till hell freezes over. Uh, you do what you want to with it, but you're making a mistake. It's nice not to contribute - just criticise. And uh, with that, you do what you want to.

BENNETT: Senator.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman, again, back to the technical uh . . . I have. I raised those; I think they were legitimate. Mr. Hogan is here and he has had the various analysts - this is in a constructive, not a destructive approach. And there are in fact, substantive, technical errors and I would be glad to have the memorandums that are available when the individuals come up, and outline those. That is, in a positive way, so that when and if this bill does move it will be technically correct. I think that's appropriate. I've been chastised more than once - "Senator, you should have all the information on the fiscal notes." Well, when we're talking about one of $152 million then I think we need those technical corrections. I am not, merely raise the issue. I have worked. It has not been to glorify it. I have responded to the press and their questions and uh, I would hope that I, pray to be able to do that. But it has not been in a sense to uh, to sink anybody. And if uh, the committee so desires, I would appreciate the opportunity of having those brought to the attention of the committee. It's certainly up to the chairmen.

DANKWORTH: Just . . . please offer them as amendments, and let's write the bill.

STURGULEWSKI: Uh, Mr. Chairman? I think that the number of changes are sufficient enough it may be very difficult to do it by the amendment process. But if they could at least be laid out, I think that would be appropriate. There are some significant amounts of . . . well . . . actually would call for appropriating additional funds because certain funds have been lapsed and reappropriated when the funds were not there to lapse. Those expenditures have already been made.

BENNETT: Senator Stimson.

STIMSON: Thank you Mr. Chairman. Senator Dankworth, you asked what we've been doing. And I have had my staff working on the bill. Our intent too is to provide some constructive direction and try to identify problem areas to make sure that this bill is going to move forward - that we're not making policy decisions in this draft without uh, people even being aware of it, and that we are making decisions that are in the best interests of the public. It's contrary to your opinion - it's not my intent to just be critical. I have attempted to approach this in a constructive manner.

DANKWORTH: Well, the point is . . . I hope that . . . if you'll pardon me Mr. Chairman, I hope that you'll put them in a way . . . if you want to rewrite the bill, and that's what it's here for, we haven't even adopted the rough draft, rewrite it. Correct those things. But it's been here three days and there hasn't been any corrections, and I don't mind anybody changing the bill - do anything. It's not my bill, and I'm not going to carry it. But uh, so, if you have things that you want to write - I don't know whether you can put a severability clause in the bill that says that if uh, from the time we started if some of the funds had been spent, that if the money is not there uh, you know, if somebody spent some money out of one of those funds that, that doesn't sever the rest of the bill. It would seem to me we can draft language like that. Uh, but, I'm not going to do it. If somebody else will help solve these problems. Because I don't care about a reallocation bill.

BENNETT: If I might just for clarity - it seems like we've gotten far, far afield. We all know that when you have legislation drafted, either by Billy Berrier's shop or your own staff, that these are working documents. These are working papers. These are documents that in fact are still being prepared. The total light bulb has not gone on. And for that reason they are not circulated amongst colleagues, they are not privileged to the press or anything else. Once they are introduced, then they are public documents. And that's the way it has always been as long as I've been in the legislature. Nobody goes through somebody's working documents in the bottom of their desk, or rifles around, trying to come up with some embarrassing document that isn't a complete document. Now that's exactly what we are trying to do here by insinuating that something may have been wrong. There's nothing wrong. It's the way it has traditionally been done, always has been done, it is a working document. Now the bill was introduced, it was laid upon the table and is for the purpose then of either accepting it, rejecting it, amending it, whatever is appropriate. And this bit of getting two or three pages ahead of yourself in the scenario and allowing the press to jerk you around as if something illegal, immoral or illicit's going on is bizarre. Because it's not. The fact of the matter is, there is a document before the committee. It's been here for three days and I suggest that more than just your staff look at it. The senators are the ones that are going to vote on it. I assume that they are going to have to study it over. And as far as procedures - like anything else - if there are sufficient votes at this table to make alterations to that bill, and there are sufficient alterations, then there'll be a committee substitute. If there's not, there won't. Now we can go on in this sort of a scenario until we all get tired of it. But I think we're just wasting one lot of time. I would like to have everyone Saturday morning at 9:00 o'clock ready to address this bill, and do whatever you want to do with it. Vote it up, vote it down, but do whatever is responsible. And I'd ask that you have more than your aides look at it. There's $150 million dollars in here and there's significant projects through for every citizen of our state in here. There's obviously monies in here that couldn't be spent no matter what the hell happened because the scenario has changed since the original appropriation. You have an obligation to realign these funds. Saturday morning we'll take this bill up again. And at that time I would like to have the eenators ready to do work on it.

STURGULEWSKI: Mr. Chairman?

BENNETT: Yes.

STURGULEWSKI: I . . . for procedure. As I say, I have uh, the, Legislative Finance has prepared a number of memorandums. Those have not been circulated. Uh, Mr. Hogan has a number of changes that would need to be made - not yet in the form of a memorandum. You know, I don't know who is going to take responsibility for rewriting the bill.

These effect many of the individuals that have made requests, where, you know, dollars have been expended and we've going back to the original appropriation and taken the whole thing out which are . . . (inaudible) . . . an expenditure. I would just ask you for direction on those because they are very specific and they are technical and that was a request that I made. Some of those are ready now, some of the others Mr. Hogan is prepared to come before you and talk to right now.

BENNETT: Senator Sackett.

SACKETT: I would suggest to the committee that for Saturday we have - if anybody has amendments - they be in writing and copies made to everybody for the committee. Uh, you should realize too that the administration also has amendments in this bill. It's not only the legislature. So if they have any changes, they should be apprised of it too.

BENNETT: Senator Eliason.

ELIASON: Mr. Chairman. When you speak about changes, I suspect you mean changes throughout the bill whether it pertains to our particular projects or not. Is that correct?

SACKETT: You're right, ya.

ELIASON: I don't think we should be limited to what we had in our appropriation bill last year versus what's in the particular bill here because there's uh, some substantial changes made.

BENNETT: Senator Stimson.

STIMSON: Mr. Chairman, uh, I guess I'm interested in having you respond to several questions.

BENNETT: I'm not here at your leisure to respond to questions Senator.

STIMSON: You are our leader, Mr. Chairman.

BENNETT: And then . . . (gavel) . . . the meeting is adjourned. Now do you want to come in our office and we'll respond to some questions?

Enclosed is the requested draft bill. I note that I have no way of telling if the total amount of new appropriations equals the amount of repealed and reduced appropriations. I understand (but do not know of my own knowledge) that at one time this bill balanced. I am certain the changes in this version would have some effect on that situation.

SUBJECT: SCS CSHB 643 (Finance)

Legislative Affairs Drafting was not able to make changes to the 5/10/82 version of SCS CSHB 643 (Finance) because unless there are originally alternative versions written, only the latest version is kept. It is very rarely necessary to return to a previous version, so later versions are merely re-recorded on the mag-card used for that bill. This is the mechanical procedure Legislative Affairs Drafting always uses.

The draft for SCS CSHB 643 (Finance), dated 5/10/82 and distributed to the Senate Finance Committee members at the 5/13/82 meeting, has since been replaced by a draft dated 5/13/82. Between 5/10/82 and 5/13/82, changes were made at the request of Senator Dankworth's staff incorporating some of the technical amendments suggested by Legislative Finance. They are:

Technical Amendments:

Sec. 21 (29) Kotzebue Geothermal Enginecring Feasibility	$ + 10.0
Sec. 236 Tyee Lake Hydro Project (language change)	-0-
Secs. 71 and 72 Bethel Jail Overrun	+ 530.0
Sec. 11 McGrath Landing Strip	+ 3.4
Sec. 86 Emmonak Runway	+ 30.0
Sec. 89 Galena Road & Survey	+ 27.0

31-Q1LH

Sec. 138 LaTouche Island Airstrip	$ + 31.1
Sec. 159 Nome City Streets	+ 11.0
Sec. 162 Unalakleet Runway	+ 45.0
Sec. 216 Chignik Lagoon Runway	+ 13.0
	$ 700.5

The draft you have requested makes the following additional technical corrections and changes:

Technical Amendments:

Sec. 21 (6) Angoon Tidal Project	$ - 250.0
Sec. 233 (a) (1) Bradley Lake	+ 80.0
Sec. 233 (a) (2) Green Lake	+ 85.0
Former Sec. 165 Kotzebue Hangar Cost Overrun	+ 600.0
Former Sec. 88 Holy Cross Road	+ 125.0
Former Sec. 167 Kaktovik Runway	+2,000.0
Sec. 163 White Mountain Runway Lights	+ 15.1
Sec. 164 Shishmaref Runway Lights	+ 4.5
Former Sec. 214 Monorail Feasibility	+ 50.0
	$ 2,709.6

At your request, the former Sec. 224, a $400.0 grant to Anchorage for treatment alternatives to street crimes, was also deleted.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Senators Dankworth and Bennett
Co-Chairmen, Senate Finance Committee

FROM: Senator Stimson

DATE: April 13, 1982

RE: CSHB 643 (Fin) - An Act repealing and amending certain appropriations made in 1981, reappropriating a 1980 appropriation for the Kasaan Dock; making an appropriation to the Legislative Finance Division for a Bristol Bay Development Study"

I'd like to bring to your attention 5 sections of CSHB643 that have broad policy and fiscal impacts that should be reviewed before Senate Finance moves this bill.

Sec. 109 Appropriates $325,000 to Kuspuk REAA for White Alice Vocational Program.

This type of appropriation sets a bad precedent by circumventing the normal funding process in the Foundation Formula. School districts in other areas develop their vocational programs from funding generated by the foundation program. This direct appropriation sidesteps a process set in place by statute, in addition to obligating the state to pick up the costs for a program not self-generating year after year.

Sec. 111 Appropriates $16,000 for postsecondary needs assessment in Yukon Flats REAA.

If a postsecondary needs assessment is really to determine the viability of a vocational program, then many of the arguments regarding the White Alice Vocational Program apply.

Sec. 186 Appropriates $1,166,000 to Kotzebue Technical Center.

There appears $1,090,000 in the DOE operating budget; if this appropriation goes through it would appear to be appropriate that we question whether to delete the corresponding amount in the operating budget.

As with the White Alice site, this vocational education program has been set up outside of the Foundation Formula system.

Sec. 198/199.

198 Appropriates $634,000 to Northwest Arctic REAA for a bilingual materials center.

199 Appropriates $415,300 to City of Kotzebue for Northwest Arctic REAA for ITV.

These two direct appropriations set up special funding methods for items that can be taken care of through the operating budget.

I think it's apparent that we have cut the Foundation program -- which provides State aid to all schools -- to fund items that have no corresponding State policy or statutory basis, i.e. vocational programs such as White Alice -- that could not, without additional appropriations year after year, be self-sustaining.

My other concerns rest with direct appropriations made to municipalities for school construction. The State picks up 80% of the cost of school construction, and I think it is important to be aware that the funds the municipalities receive may all be co-mingled and not easily identifiable -- and because of this, the possibility arises that the State may reimburse municipalities for items for which funds were directly appropriated.

Dear Senator Dankworth:

A review of SCS CSHB-643 (Finance) has identified what could be a serious breach of the state's responsibility in fulfilling its obligations in meeting the requirements of the Tobeluk (Molly Hootch) Consent Decree.

I specifically invite your attention to sections 156, 157 and 163. Diomede is the last remaining Tobeluk site where action has not been taken to secure a secondary facility. Should the legislation be enacted, all funds for the Diomede secondary school will be withdrawn and the state could be back in expensive and time consuming litigation for not doing what it has already agreed to do.

I respectfully request that the present provisions of Sections 156, 157 and 163 be dropped entirely from consideration in this or any other bill before your committee.

Sincerely,

Jack Townshend
Acting President

HB 643

STATE OF ALASKA

DEPARTMENT OF FISH AND GAME

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER

JAY S. HAMMOND, GOVERNOR

P.O. BOX 3-2000
JUNEAU, ALASKA 99802
PHONE:

January 26, 1982

The Honorable Joseph Chuckwuk
Representative
Alaska State Legislature
Pouch V
Juneau, AK 99811

Dear Representative Chuckwuk:

This letter is in response to your inquiry regarding the status of the Bristol Bay Native Association contract for a salmon distribution and public education study. This Department executed an Reimbursable Services Agreement with the Department of Commerce and Economic Development (DCED) on August 27, 1981 for $125,000, using a portion of a Capital Appropriation for Statewide Fisheries Studies. We have been advised by Kathleen Wakefield of DCED that no contract has been let and no funds expended. Upon instructions from the Governor's Office, DCED is now preparing documents to return the $125,000 to Fish and Game.

Sincerely,

Ronald O. Skoog
for Commissioner

These will no longer be considered.
