Re: SEACC v. State and Schnabel Lumber Co.

Dear Wilson:

I am enclosing an affidavit prepared in response to an inquiry from your office regarding my assessment of the impact of SEACC's appeal to the supreme court in the referenced matter on Schnabel's continued operations under the long term timber sale contract with the State of Alaska. Apparently, the inquiry was made as the result of concern arising under Chapter 92, 1980 Alaska Sess. L., which creates a forest products procedures assistance fund, money from which would be available to a forest products producer like Schnabel Lumber Company on condition that the investment is not endangered by a lack of raw materials available to the forest products producer. As indicated in my affidavit, I do not think that SEACC's supreme court appeal poses any threat to the continued supply of raw materials to Schnabel Lumber Company.

If I can be of additional assistance in this matter, please do not hesitate to call me at 265-0400.

Sincerely,

Ann E. Prezyna
