HOUSE STATE AFFAIRS COMMITTEE
LETTER OF INTENT FOR HB 152

"It is the intent of the House State Affairs Committee that in passing HB 152 that the mechanism for replacing board members established in this legislation be used to retain a functioning board until a suitable replacement is found for a member whose term has expired.

The committee remains concerned, however, that the discretion allowed the Governor through HB 152 in making appointments, could be abused and that there may be substantial constitutional questions in allowing a board member to retain a seat beyond their term of appointment.

It is the wish of the committee, therefore, that the House Judiciary committee, in reviewing HB 152, address these concerns and make any amendments appropriate in addressing these problems."

Dear Representative Koponen:

The Anchorage Chapter of Alaska Society of Professional Land Surveyors at their annual dinner January 11, gave their unanimous approval to the legislation being proposed by the ASPLS Legislative committee concerning Right of Entry, Recordation, and Admendments to Title 38. We believe these bills to be of extreme importance to the efficient and orderly conduct of surveying and mapping in the State of Alaska. Many hours have gone into preparing this legislation by our State legislative commitee and we respectfully request your review and support of this important legislation in the forthcomming session.

As president of the Anchorage Chapter and member of the legislative committee, I plan to be in Juneau the 23rd and 24th of January with other members of the Alaska Section American Congress of Surveying and Mapping and the Alaska Society of Prifessional Land Surveyors. At this time we would be pleased to meet with you and your staff and discuss any aspects of the proposed legislation.

JAN 18 1985

Honorable Niilo Koponen
Alaska State House of Representatives
Pouch V
Room C110, State Capitol Building
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Mr. Koponen:

This letter references and supports the legislation being proposed by the Alaska Society of Professional Land Surveyors (ASPLS) concerning Right of Entry, Recordation, and Amendments to Title 38 of the Alaska Statutes.

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) fully recognizes the need for the enactments of this legislation to further the orderly conduct of surveying and mapping activities in Alaska. Significant problems are already confronting the citizens and the Federal and State governments in the establishment, administration, and management of property boundaries and their associated records.

The justification which has been written in support of this proposed legislation provides a clear picture of the needs but could have been expanded to convey the impact of the programs affected in the State. The BLM alone has a legislated workload which will require over a half billion dollars of surveying and mapping activities to identify lands for patent to the State, Native corporations and private claimants. Without this legislation the enactment of this work will be fraught with great wastes of human efforts and dollars due to the lack of required records keeping, higher costs to perform surveys and an inevitable increase in boundary legislation.

Your solid support of the enactment of the ASPLS proposed legislation is requested for the benefit of all Alaskans and the efficient use of State and Federal tax dollars.

We would be pleased to respond to any questions or comments you might have regarding this subject.

Sincerely,

Francis D. Eickbush
Deputy State Director for Cadastral Survey

JUSTIFICATION
AMENDMENTS TO AS 34 (ADDITION OF CHAPTER 65)

Section Authorizing Entry On Land For Survey Purposes

Thousands of survey monuments exist in the State of Alaska identifying section corners, township corners, various property boundaries and serving as geodetic control points in remote areas where no other survey control presently exists. Taxpayers' dollars were utilized to establish these monuments, as they were intended for purposes benefiting the public. Various Federal agencies, primarily the Bureau of Land Management, Coast and Geodetic Survey, Geological Survey, Corps of Engineers and Army Mapping Service and, more recently, various State of Alaska agencies established these monuments. Utilization of this existing monumentation is mandatory if the surveyors, mappers and photogrammetrists in the State are to conduct the surveys required by the public for property boundaries, subdivisions, construction projects and mineral, oil and gas exploration programs. Traditionally, access to this survey control has been available to these professionals as required to conduct these surveys. Access is primarily by foot, air or water and utilization of the station usually involves only the temporary setting up of a theodolite, distance measuring equipment, satellite survey system, photo control panel or in some cases, leaving a small, unmanned, battery-powered transmitter on a small tower or tripod to continuously broadcast signals for offshore or airborne positioning systems. No damage to the monument or its surrounding environment is entailed.

In addition, in the course of conducting surveys, surveyors must often physically traverse adjoining property boundaries or gain access to hilltops, mountain peaks or shorelines so as to gain line of sight or for other technical reasons. Again, the occupancy is limited in nature and normally involves no damage to the environment.

With increasing transfer of lands from the public domain into private ownership, access to these survey control monuments, property boundaries and key terrain features is becoming increasingly curtailed. Owners, applicants and alleged owners of the underlying property on which the monument is located or to which access must be gained, even in extremely remote areas of the State, are now requiring advance permission and often the payment of considerable rental fees to briefly occupy the station or terrain feature. In some cases, there is outright refusal of access if the owners are not in agreement with the program for which a survey is being undertaken, regardless of the fact that the resultant program may be on State, Federal or third party ownership. To further complicate the matter, often two or more persons or groups claim ownership to the same lands, leaving the surveyor in the position of not knowing from whom to obtain permission or alternatively, obtaining permission from the apparent owner only to be challenged by a second party claiming ownership. As survey monumentation in the remote areas of the State is extremely sparse, this allows the owner or alleged owner of the lands underlying a primary control monument to control developments over a vast area far outside their ownership. In some cases, a single monument may serve as primary control for thousands of square miles so use of alternate monuments is not feasible or even impossible.

This problem, nonexistent prior to five years or so ago, is annually becoming more critical. As much as surveyors, mappers and photogrammetrists wish to see the property rights of all individuals or groups to be properly protected, the time has come for some protection for all of the citizens of the State to utilize the survey monumentation which was established with their tax dollars, and to allow surveyors to determine citizen's property boundaries. Similar legislation has been found necessary in nearly all the other states of the union.

The Alaska Section, American Congress on Surveying and Mapping and the Alaska Society of Professional Land Surveyors and their members feel the time has now arrived that this legislation is mandatory if the rights of all individual citizens of this State are to be protected.

Section Requiring Record Of Survey And Monument Record

A present requirement exists in Alaska that subdivisional plats be recorded with the district recorder so as to be available for use by all citizens of interest. Hundreds of other land surveys are annually conducted, however, defining boundaries and rights-of-way, for which no such recording requirement exists and which presently do not become a part of any public record. Although some informal exchange of information currently takes place between the professional surveyors in the State, there is no official depository for records of this sort where a public or private surveyor can research records of previous surveys prior to undertaking a survey in the same area. This often results in repeated duplication of effort, boundary conflicts (between two surveyors utilizing totally different techniques to approach the same problem) and, at the very least, incursion of unnecessary costs by the surveyor's client if a private survey.

of the public at large if the survey is for public purposes. Similarly, as surveys are undertaken and key monumentation recovered, no current regulation or law requires the surveyor record any public document indicating the existence, lack of existence, condition of, or current status of key control monumentation in the project area. This is especially critical where monumentation will or likely will be destroyed during forthcoming construction following the initial survey. Replacement of these destroyed monuments is extremely costly unless adequate records exist prior to any disturbance, indicating the exact original position of the monument with ties to appropriate accessories.

These professional associations and their members believe it is the duty of all professional surveyors to file a record of survey and monument records for all appropriate surveys they undertake and that an appropriate procedure be established by the State to provide the mechanism for the recording of these documents.

The burden and cost of this recordation will primarily fall upon the surveyor and not the government entity. The sole cost to the State of Alaska or its subentities will be the cost of accepting and maintaining these records. It is estimated the total number of documents would not exceed 1000 per year. This very minor cost would be greatly offset by the value to State agencies, boroughs and municipalities that could make great use of the vast amount of information so recorded and made readily available with no cost of field acquisition whatsoever. Likewise, when individual citizens of the State require survey in the future, they will often achieve a cost saving because of the ready availability of these documents.

The majority of other states currently have statutes requiring recordation of monument and/or survey records. This is especially true in the western states where fewer surveys exist, with the resultant greater distance between monuments and longer time intervals between occasions when monuments may be inspected by professional surveyors.

Such entry shall not be deemed a trespass, nor shall an entry for such purpose be deemed an entry under any condemnation proceedings which may be then pending; but notice shall be given to the owner of or person residing on the premise, personally or by registered mail, at least ten (10) days prior to such entry.
