4 FIFTEENTH LEGISLATURE - FIRST SESSION

5 A BILL

6 For an Act entitled: "An Act relating to establishment of a port authority
7 by a municipality."

8 BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA:

9 * Section 1. AS 29.35 is amended by adding new sections to read:

10 ARTICLE 9. PORT AUTHORITIES.

11 Sec. 29.35.600. ESTABLISHMENT OF AUTHORITY. (a) Notwithstand-
12 ing other provisions of law, a borough, unified municipality, home
13 rule city, or first class city may establish a port authority in 14 accordance with AS 29.35.600 - 29.35.690. An authority established by 15 a borough under AS 29.35.600 - 29.35.690 may exercise its power in a 16 second class city located within the borough but may not exercise its 17 power in a home rule or first class city unless the exercise of the 18 power is approved by resolution of the council. The authority shall 19 be a corporate public body that may sue and be sued in any court of 20 the state. The authority possesses all powers specified in the ordi-21 nance under which it is formed in addition to those enumerated in 22 AS 29.35.600 - 29.35.690.

23 (b) In a resolution proposing formation of a port authority, the 24 governing body shall set a date for the holding of a public hearing on 25 the adoption of a proposed ordinance establishing the authority and 26 designating the powers of the authority. After the public hearing, if 27 the governing body intends to proceed with the establishment of the 28 authority, it must do so by ordinance subject to voter approval.

29 (c) At the time of adopting an ordinance proposing formation of

1 a port authority, the governing body shall issue a call for nomination
2 of port commissioners, specifying the filing deadline and procedure
3 for making nominations. The election of the initial members of the 4 port commission shall take place at the same time as the election on
5 the question of forming a port authority. If at least one candidate
6 for each of the three commission seats is not nominated, the proposal
7 to form a port authority is void and no election on the question shall 8 be held.

9 Sec. 29.35.610. PORT COMMISSION. (a) A port authority formed
10 under AS 29.35.600 - 29.35.690 shall be under the supervision and 11 control of a port commission consisting of three elected members. The 12 term of a member is six years, except that one initial member shall 13 serve a term of four years, and one initial member shall serve a term
14 of two years, to be determined by lot. Commission members may be 15 reelected.

16 (b) A vacancy on the commission shall be filled by appointment
17 by the mayor. An appointed member serves for the remainder of the 18 term to which appointed. On notice and an opportunity to be heard, a 19 member of the commission may be removed for cause by the governing
20 body. Removal of a member is subject to review by the superior court.

21 (c) The commission shall adopt rules governing its procedure and 22 the holding of regular meetings. Special meetings may be held when 23 called in the manner provided in the rules of the commission.

24 Sec. 29.35.620. EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR AND EMPLOYEES. (a) The port
25 commission may employ and fix the compensation of a director, subject
26 to the approval of the governing body of the municipality. The direc-
27 tor serves at the pleasure of the commission. A member of the commis-
28 sion is not eligible to hold the position of director.

29 (b) The commission may retain legal counsel to advise the

1 commission in the proper performance of its duties. The legal counsel
2 shall represent the commission in actions brought by or against the 3 commission.

4 (c) The commission may employ other personnel considered neces-
5 sary by the commission.

6 (d) The employees of the commission may participate in municipal 7 retirement and insurance programs of the municipality.

8 Sec. 29.35.630. POWERS. The port commission may

9 (1) study and analyze the effect of economic changes and 10 growth on the waterfront and waterways;

11 (2) acquire, construct, repair, renovate, and manage sea
12 walls, jetties, piers, wharves, docks, boat landings, and other harbor
13 improvements, warehouses, cold storage plants, grain bins, bunkers, 14 ferries, bridges, and other facilities for the handling, storing, and 15 transporting of freight and passengers, or the processing of seafood,
16 agricultural products, and other goods;

17 (3) develop and implement long-range plans, in cooperation
18 with the governing body, designed to promote the economic growth of 19 the municipality and the growth and efficiency of waterfront develop-20 ment;

21 (4) implement any plan of development for waterways or
22 waterfront areas in accordance with the powers of the port authority
23 under AS 29.35.600 - 29.35.690 or the ordinance under which the au-
24 thority is established;

25 (5) make and enter into contracts necessary or incidental
26 to the exercise of its powers and the performance of its duties,
27 including agreements with other port commissions providing for shared
28 development or management of facilities located within the jurisdic-
29 tion of the commissions;

1 (6) acquire and convey, or otherwise dispose of, land and
2 other property;

3 (7) fix, charge, and collect fees, rents, and charges for 4 the use of a building or property under its control and pledge the 5 fees, rents, and charges for the payment of revenue bonds issued by 6 the authority;

7 (8) lease any buildings, facilities, or properties under
8 its control;

9 (9) accept grants and donations from any public or private 10 source.

11 Sec. 29.35.640. EMINENT DOMAIN. A municipality, other than a
12 second class city, may take private property under AS 09.55.240 -
13 09.55.460 for the purpose of transfer to a port authority formed under 14 AS 29.35.600 - 29.35.690, and may transfer the property to the author-
15 ity on terms and conditions it considers appropriate. The taking,
16 transfer, and use shall be considered necessary for public purposes
17 and for the benefit of the public.

18 Sec. 29.35.650. FINANCING. (a) The activities of a port au-
19 thority formed under AS 29.35.600 - 29.35.690 shall be financed from 20 one or more of the following sources:

21 (1) donations to the authority for the performance of its 22 functions;

23 (2) money borrowed and to be repaid;

24 (3) revenue from any property, building, or facility owned,
25 leased, licensed, or operated by the authority or under its control,
26 subject to the limitations imposed upon the authority by trusts or 27 other agreements or by the municipality;

28 (4) money obtained from other sources approved by the 29 governing body of the municipality.

1 (b) Upon approval of a development plan under AS 29.35.670, the
2 authority may borrow money and issue negotiable revenue bonds as 3 provided for a municipality under AS 29.47. Revenue bonds issued by 4 the authority are not a debt of the municipality or the state.

5 Sec. 29.35.660. DEVELOPMENT PLAN. When the port commission
6 decides to finance a project in whole or in part by the use of revenue 7 bonds, it shall prepare a development plan for submission to the 8 governing body. The development plan must contain

9 (1) the boundaries of the project area in relation to 10 highways, streets, streams, or otherwise and a legal description of 11 the area;

12 (2) the location and extent of existing streets and other
13 public and private structures within the project area and a desig-
14 nation of the location, character, and extent of the categories of 15 public and private land uses proposed for the project area;

17 area to be demolished, repaired, or altered, a description of any 18 repairs and alterations, and an estimate of the time required for

29 the municipality and the proposed terms;

1 (8) a description of desired zoning changes and changes in
2 streets, street levels, intersections, and utilities;

3 (9) an estimate of the cost of the project and a statement
4 of the proposed method of financing the project and the ability of the 5 authority to arrange the financing;

6 (10) designation of the person to whom all or a portion of 7 the project is to be leased, sold, or conveyed if that information is 8 available to the commission;

9 (11) an economic analysis and justification for the project
10 and a description of the expected benefits and other effects of the 11 project.

12 Sec. 29.35.670. APPROVAL OF DEVELOPMENT PLAN. (a) Upon receipt
13 of a development plan prepared under AS 29.35.660, the governing body

22 thority for the ensuing fiscal year. The budget shall be prepared in 23 the manner and contain the information required of municipal depart-
24 ments. Before the budget may be adopted by the commission, it must be 25 approved by the governing body of the municipality. Money of the 26 municipality may not be included in the budget of the authority except 27 that money authorized by the governing body of the municipality.

28 Sec. 29.35.690. DISSOLUTION. A port authority formed under 29 AS 29.35.600 - 29.35.690 may be dissolved by ordinance approved by the

BOROUGH ATTORNEY'S OFFICE

April 30, 1987

Representative Heinrich Springer
Chairman, House Community and Regional Affairs Committee
P. O. Box V
Juneau, AK 99811

Attention: Terry

Subject: House Bill 209 (port authorities)

Dear Chairman Springer:

Enclosed is language which could be added to the statute in lieu of what is proposed in House Bill 209. This is the "two liner" bill I suggested during your hearing on House Bill 209 would be more appropriate. I would have gotten this to you sooner but felt it was essential to have the comments of our bond attorney before submitting it to you. Unfortunately, he was out of town until this morning.

You will note that the first section sets out the purpose as being to confirm the authority of municipalities to do what I believe they already have the power to do; that is, to form commissions, boards, authorities and public corporations to carry out any of the functions or duties they may have under a power the municipalities have assumed. I believe this section is necessary so that doubt is not cast on the validity of any port authority, hospital board or other entity that has already been created by a municipality. That doubt arises when the legislature adopts a bill which purports to give municipalities authority to do something. Courts can, and sometimes do, interpret such legislative action as an indication by the legislature that the legislature did not believe that the municipalities had such a power and that it was necessary to grant that power to them by statute. Such an interpretation can cast doubts on the validity of actions taken by municipalities prior to the grant. The first section of the bill would eliminate the basis for that doubt.

You will note in section 2 that the language is no longer restricted to port authorities. This broadening also arises out of concern for another rule of statutory interpretation used by the courts. There is a lovely latin litany that lawyers use to state this rule but freely translated it means that where the legislature has addressed one subject, it is presumed that the legislature has excluded all other subjects that might logically have been addressed at the same time. The problem this rule creates for House Bill 209 is that if the legislature authorizes municipalities to create port authorities for the specific purpose of owning and operating facilities related to waterborne commerce, the legislature would be deemed to have denied the power of municipalities to operate airports or other transportation facilities through the mechanism of an authority. Further, a court could also interpret such legislative action as denying to municipalities the ability to create authorities for other reasons; for example, a hospital authority (or anything that looks like a hospital authority), a housing authority, a sanitation authority for the purpose of providing sewage collection and treatment, etc. Because municipalities already have the power to create such entities, it would be a most unfortunate situation if, in an effort to assist those who wanted clarification of their ability to establish a port authority the legislature inadvertently created grave doubts about the authority of municipalities to create authorities or similar entities for the operation of other municipal enterprises. It is for this reason that the language has been broadened to make it clear that municipalities can use any of a variety of public entities to exercise any of its powers. As noted above, the language I am proposing has been reviewed by our bond attorney and I have incorporated in it the suggestions he gave me. He agrees that this approach is the best approach to clarifying the ability of municipalities to establish port authorities without at the same time creating other legal problems or questions.

May I reemphasize that the municipal attorneys with whom I have discussed the question agree that Alaskan municipalities clearly (or at least probably) currently have the power to use any one of the entities or mechanisms set out in the substitute language to perform municipal functions. I think a quick inquiry of your Legislative Affairs Legal Services office would confirm this interpretation. Even so, I would have to agree that there could be a question in the minds of some persons over whether Alaskan municipalities have this authority. Because authorities and similar entities are often formed for the purpose of financing municipal ventures, we should remove any question as to the authority of municipalities to form such entities. The adoption of the substitute language should remove all questions about this authority and should facilitate the ability of such entities to obtain needed financing. For that reason I would urge the committee to adopt and pass out with a "do pass" recommendation the substitute language enclosed.

If the committee does not adopt the substitute language, there are areas of House Bill 209 that should receive very careful consideration. The major area is the areawide/nonareawide/assumption of powers question to which I alluded in my testimony before the committee. Under Title 29, first and second class boroughs must adopt an ordinance to assume a power. In addition, a second class borough (with some exceptions) may not exercise a new power until it has been approved by the voters. If the power is to be exercised in a second class borough in the area outside cities, the voters in that area must vote on the power assumption question. If the power is to be exercised in a service area in a second class borough, the persons within the proposed service area vote on the question. A simple majority vote in these two cases is all that is required. On the other hand, if a new power is to be exercised on an areawide basis in either a first or second class borough, the power assumption question must be voted on by everyone within the borough. However, under A.S. 29.35.330(c) the votes must be tabulated in two separate classifications. One is all the votes cast in all cities within the borough and the other consists of all votes cast in the borough area outside the cities. There must be a majority favoring the areawide assumption of the power in both classifications. Once a borough has assumed an areawide power, that power may not be exercised by a city and all assets of the city that may previously have been devoted to the areawide function are transferred to the borough.

With this procedure for assuming areawide and nonareawide powers in mind, please examine the voting procedure proposed in House Bill 209. Note that while a city within a borough may not form a port authority, there is nothing that clearly states that a favorable vote creates an areawide power in the borough. Also, if it was intended to create an areawide power, note that there is no requirement for a dual majority. There is nothing illegal about not requiring a dual majority in this particular case, but it is a policy question to which the legislature should give some conscious consideration. If the legislature intends that the borough assume the port authority power on an areawide basis, what happens to the port-type property of a city that was exercising port-type powers prior to the power becoming areawide? Does this mean that the cities of Kenai and Homer must turn over to the borough all or a portion of their small boat harbors? Another matter that could be clarified is whether a borough may even form an authority under HB 209 if it has not already assumed the necessary port powers; that is, does this bill merely authorize a municipality to use the port authority mechanism to exercise powers it already has, or does the voter approval not only authorize the creation of a port authority but also convey to the municipality the new port powers? These are all questions that need not be answered if the substitute language is used. Under the substitute language, a city or borough could assume port powers in the same manner as is already provided under Title 29 and could exercise those powers in the way the council or assembly determines is most appropriate for their own particular municipality. Why, for instance, must the authority have a commission rather than a board of directors? Why must the commissioners be elected as opposed to appointed? In fact, it may be far more appropriate to have an appointed commission if the legislative body wants to have a little more control over those who are supposed to be implementing the policies of the council or assembly. Whether the commission is elected or appointed should be left to the municipality. Also, why should the director of the authority be hired only by the commission. The authority may be much more responsive to municipal policies if the governing body has a hand in selecting the director. Again, these sort of things ought to be left to each municipality to work out what best suits its situation.

I can certainly understand the policy behind requiring a well thought out development plan before a municipality attempts to obtain project financing. However, as a practical matter, this financing will probably most often be revenue financing which means that those who market the bonds are going to have to be convinced that the project will produce sufficient revenues to operate the facility and pay the debt service. It seems highly unlikely that a port authority or municipality seeking to issue revenue bonds is going to find any interested buyers unless it does have a well thought out plan for the facility. Therefore, the statutory requirement is probably superfluous.

Again, I believe that the proposed substitute language not only clarifies the authority question that House Bill 209 would resolve, it also avoids several unfortunate legal consequences that would occur if House Bill 209 is adopted. In addition, the substitute language would leave municipalities with the greater flexibility they now have in shaping solutions at the local level to respond to local concerns.

If you, your committee or staff members have any questions, please do not hesitate to call me at 745-9678.

Sincerely,

Gerald L. Sharp
Borough Attorney

To: House Community and Regional Affairs Committee members
From: Committee Staff
Date: May 1, 1987
Subject: Issues raised regarding HB 209

Whether such legislation is necessary or whether municipalities already possess the statutory authority to create port authorities:

Current statutes do permit municipalities to create port authorities. This legislation will (a) inform communities of such authority, (b) mollify bonding agents, (c) enable more creative financing, (c) provide for more singular and directed management of port authorities, and (d) offer a model to municipalities.

Simplification of the bill by (a) eliminating boilerplate language, or (b) drafting a "2 line enabling statute:

See above. Discussion with the bill drafter indicates that the bill sponsor intended language to accomplish those purposes.

Whether the language of the bill is restrictive or permissive in nature.

Page 1, lines 14, 15, and 16 insert permissive language into what ordinarily would be a specific language (and restrictively interpreted) bill.

Whether municipalities with existing agreements with the State for port facilities would be constrained in some way from forming a port authority.

Current capital investments and facilities are the subject of contractual arrangements between municipalities and the State. These contractual agreements can be renegotiated or title can be ceded by the State to the port authority.

Whether the power authorized in this bill would be an areawide or non-areawide power in a borough.

Areawide.

Representative Henry Springer, Chairman

Testimony on House Bill No. 209

Mr. Chairman, Alaska is not developing one of its greatest resources to near the level it might. I am speaking of Alaska's waterfront. In this time of economic crisis, in this time when economic development is being encouraged, we must find ways to develop that great potential. I believe HB 209 will do that very thing. The legislation would allow local governing bodies to establish, by ordinance, their own port authority.

Currently, there is a Port Facilities and Development Act in statute (at AS 30.15); however, that Act calls for development through state appropriated funds. HB 209 would take the state out of waterfront development and would provide an impetus to communities to develop their waterfronts independent of state monies.

Each port authority would be set up as a subdivision of the local governing body, similar to a school district. An authority would be allowed to employ an executive director and staff and to retain legal counsel. It could sue or be sued in state court, and it would be empowered to complete economic analysis, acquire and develop land and facilities, develop and implement long range plans, enter into contracts, raise revenues, and accept grants and donations. A port authority would also have the power of eminent domain. Finally, an authority could enter into agreements with other port authorities for sharing development or management of land and facilities within the jurisdiction of the commissions.

Let me clarify the relationship between a port authority and the local governing body. First of all, for an authority to be formed, the governing body would hold public hearing on a proposed ordinance establishing the authority and its powers. After public hearing, if the governing body intended to proceed with the establishment of the authority, it would hold a vote on the proposed ordinance and at the same time the election of port commissioners. After an authority was established, and after it decided to finance a project in whole or in part with revenue bonds, it would submit a development plan to the governing body. Upon receipt of the development plan, the governing body would hold public hearing on the plan and subsequently by ordinance approve or reject the plan. In short, the port authority would be a semi-independent entity of the local governing body.

It is my belief that HB 209 will lay the groundwork for a greatly enhanced effort to develop waterfronts around the state and to bring more economic activity into several communities of the state.

Let me conclude by encouraging the committee to adopt the amendments proposed by Representative Hudson. His proposed amendments do three primary things: First, they clean up some drafting errors. Secondly, and more importantly, they would allow city and towns such as Homer, Seward, and Kodiak to develop port authorities independent of the borough or municipality to which they belong. Third, they would amend Sec. 29.35.660 to require an economic analysis and justification for the project as well as a description of the expected benefits and other effects of the project to be included in the development plan.

For the sake of economic development in the state, I urge this committee to examine this legislation closely, make the changes it deems necessary, and pass it on to the House Committee on Transportation. I would add that the bill is supported by several communities around the state, and, as you will notice in your packet, by the Department of Community and Regional Affairs and Department of Commerce and Economic Development.

Thank you, and I will answer whatever questions you may have.

Re: HB 209; port authorities

Dear Representative Springer:

At your request, I have reviewed HB 209, relating to the establishment of a port authority by a municipality. You have asked our position on three specific questions relating to this bill which will be addressed individually below.

1. Can airports be included as "ports" under this bill as presently written? No. The powers of a port commission, as set out in sec. 29.35.630, specifically limit the jurisdiction and exercise of control over water-related areas only. It is not uncommon, however, for port authorities to also have responsibility over establishment and maintenance of airports, bridges and surface transportation in the area of a port, e.g., Port of Seattle and New York Port Authority.

2. If a port authority should be dissolved by ordinance approved by the voters under sec. 29.35.690, who owns the assets of the authority? Section 29.35.690 states that after the obligations of the authority are satisfied, the property and assets revert to the municipality. This would be the logical succession of any remaining assets since a port authority is established only by ordinance and if voted into existence by local voters. However, it should be noted that revenue bonds issued by a port authority are not a debt of the municipality or the state. It is anticipated that since the authority must get approval to issue revenue bonds, under the development plan to be approved by the governing body of the municipality (secs. 29.35.660 and 29.35.670), that the municipality can oversee the amount of debt that the authority may incur in contrast to its assets.

3. What is the legal relationship between the governing body (municipality) and the port authority? Authorities, in general, are created to perform a special purpose or function. Authorities are generally established by a special act which, among other things, prescribes the organization and structure of the body to be established and its operatives are generally self-supporting, at least partially. Furthermore, authorities are commonly vested with a good deal of independence in administering the particular activity of the authority. See 1 E. McQuillin, The Law of Municipal Corporations, § 2.29(a) (1977 rev. ed.). This holds true for the port authorities established under this bill. It is a type of corporate body which, if established by a municipality in accordance with sec. 29.35.600, can be very independent from the controls of the municipality. For example, under sec. 29.35.620, the commission can employ a director and other personnel, and can retain legal counsel. Under sec. 29.35.630, the port commission can enter into contracts, exercise control over real property, and establish and collect rents and fees for payment of revenue bonds. Furthermore, the authority has those additional powers granted by the ordinance under which the authority was established.

On the other hand, the authority may not independently fix the amount of compensation of the executive director or employees. It must seek approval of the governing body. Sec. 29.35.620(a). This is because a municipality's power to fix compensation cannot generally be delegated in whole or in part. 4 E. McQuillin, supra, § 12.176(a). Also, the port authority's budget must be prepared in the manner and contain the information required of (other) municipal departments. The budget must be approved by the governing body of the municipality. Sec. 29.35.690. These provisions of the bill treat the port authority as part of the municipal government for fiscal purposes.

Once a port authority is established under sec. 29.35.600, and it has complied with the fiscal requirements and received approval of its developmental plan, the authority is independent from the governing body in exercising its powers under sec. 29.35.630. The port authority, not the municipality, has exclusive control and liability in exercising these powers. If it does not comply with the developmental plan or abuses its authority, it can be sued independent from the municipality. The municipality exercises only such controls over the port authority that it creates by ordinance, approval of fiscal matters, and final approval of the developmental plan.

Sponsor's Briefing, Intent/purpose:

To provide an impetus for local waterfront development. The bill uses semi-independent port authorities, essentially municipal subdivisions, as a vehicle for development.

Effect of Bill:

The bill: (a) authorizes creation of public corporations, port authorities, by municipal ordinance subject to voter approval, (b) provides for election of commissioners at the same time the issue is brought before the public, (c) establishes powers of the port authority, including powers of eminent domain (d) and ties bonding authority to a formal public development plan.

Fiscal Impact:

Proponents:

Opponents:

None apparent

Analysis of Bill's effect, by staff:

The bill promotes waterfront development by authorizing the creation of semi-independent port authorities as a vehicle for development. The port authorities thus created would essentially be municipal subdivisions. Their autonomy and authority would provide more local control over waterfront development than exists in current statute. Port authorities would be a flexible tool in that municipalities would have ultimate control, but that the port authority would have broad management control over planning, management, financing, development and operation of port facilities.

The Department of Transportation and Public Facilities feels that authorization of port authorities under HB 209 is mainly a local government issue. It basically allows a local government to operate its port through an authority instead of directly by the municipal government. Therefore, we do not have a position on this bill.

There are cases of cities within boroughs which presently operate ports. As written the bill would preclude allowing them to create port authorities. This discrimination among municipalities appears to be unjustified.

POSITION PAPER

RE: House Bill 209 - "An Act relating to establishment of a port authority by a municipality."

SPONSOR: Representative Larson

Program Effects of Bill

House Bill 209 proposes to amend AS 29.35 as follows:

Section 29.35.600 would allow the governing body of a borough, unified municipality or city in the unorganized borough to establish a port authority by ordinance, upon approval of the voters of the municipality.

Section 29.35.610 would establish an elected three member port commission and Section 29.35.620 would allow for staffing of the commission.

Section 29.35.630 would establish the powers of the port commission. These powers would include planning and implementation of plans for development in waterways or in waterfront areas, appropriate contracting, property management, and the acceptance of grants.

Section 29.35.640 would allow the municipality to exercise the powers of eminent domain for the purpose of transferring property to the port authority.

Section 29.35.650 sets out how the port authority would be financed.

Section 29.35.660 would require the port commission to prepare a development plan, to be submitted to the governing body, when a project is to be financed by revenue bonds. The plan must be approved or rejected by ordinance.

Section 29.35.670 would instruct the governing body to hold a public hearing on the proposed development plan and adopt, modify, or reject the plan by ordinance.

Section 29.35.680 would require the port authority director to prepare and submit the budget to the governing body for approval before it is adopted by the port commission.

Section 29.35.690 would allow the port authority to be dissolved by an ordinance approved by the voters. Remaining property and assets after obligations have been fulfilled would belong to the municipality.

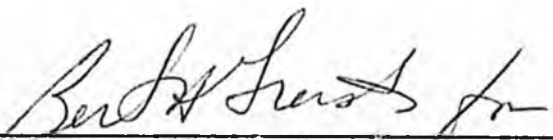

Comments

The Department supports this bill in concept because it provides additional flexibility to municipalities for port operations without limiting the ultimate control of those municipalities. The bill would allow a municipality to establish a local port authority following approval by voters within the municipality. The port authority could have a greater degree of management autonomy than currently allowed. The authority would have the ability to plan for and manage its own operations and to finance these operations through user fees and revenue funds. However, unlike the case in other states such as Washington, the municipality would continue to have ultimate control over any port authority established.

The Department suggests several minor modifications to the bill as follows: Section 29.35.600(a), page 1, lines 15 and 16 should be amended to read: "The authority possesses all powers specified in AS 29.35.600-29.35.690 unless these powers are restricted in the ordinance under which it is formed. The authority may be granted additional powers in the enabling ordinance." This revision will provide a greater amount of flexibility to municipalities.

In Section 29.35.600(b), page 1, line 22, the Department suggests inserting: "Amendments to the ordinance are also subject to voter approval." as the last sentence of that paragraph.

In Section 29.35.630, page 3, lines 17 through 20, the authority to acquire and convey, or otherwise dispose of land and other property should be subject to approval by the local governing body either through approval of the port plan or by specific action.

RE: SB 168 - "An Act relating to establishment of a port authority by a municipality."

SB 168 is designed to enable municipalities to to establish their own port authority commissions. The bill's goal is to create a mechanism that municipalities can use to focus on water related economic development.

Alaska currently has a port facilities and development act, however, it stipulates that funding must be appropriated by the state. SB 168 would allow funds to be raised by any legal means approved by the appropriate city council or borough assembly.

The bill provides that a municipality's port authority commission would be established by ordinance and three commissioner's elected. The commission would do its own budget and long range planning. The bill is based on legislation from the State of Washington.

This packet contains a memo from the sponsor and his sectional analysis, a memo from the Senate Advisory Council, and the existing state law on ports.

MADAME CHAIRMAN, ALASKA IS NOT UTILIZING, ONE OF IT GREATEST ECONOMICAL POTENTIALS, WATERFRONT DEVELOPMENT. THE PURPOSE FOR CREATING THIS LEGISLATION IS TO PROVIDE AN IMPETUS TO THOSE COMMUNITIES THAT STAND TO GAIN, ECONOMICALLY, THROUGH THE USE OF THEIR WATERFRONTS. THIS BILL IS THE FRAMEWORK TO ESTABLISH PORT AUTHORITIES THAT ARE, IN A SENSE, SEMI-INDEPENDENT.

CURRENTLY, THERE IS A STATUTE WHICH ALLOWS THE STATE OF ALASKA TO FUNNEL MONEY THROUGH TO COMMUNITIES FOR PORT FACILITIES AND DEVELOPMENT (AS 30.15). HOWEVER, IT IS THE INTENTION OF THIS BILL NOT TO HAVE THE STATE INVOLVED, FISCALLY. RATHER, IT IS THE INTENTION OF THIS BILL TO SET UP THESE PORT AUTHORITIES WITHIN THE LOCAL GOVERNING BODY BUT THAT THEY OPERATE IN A SEMI-INDEPENDENT NATURE.

UNDER THIS LEGISLATION, THE PORT AUTHORITY IS SUPERVISED AND CONTROLLED BY THE PORT COMMISSION. THE PORT COMMISSION MAY HAVE A DIRECTOR, RETAIN LEGAL COUNSEL, AND EMPLOY OTHER PERSONNEL AS IT SEES FIT TO DO SO. THE PORT COMMISSION CREATES ITS OWN BUDGET AND OBTAINS FUNDS FOR THE BUDGET THROUGH VARIOUS METHODS INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, RECURRING REVENUES, ISSUANCE OF REVENUE BONDS, DONATIIONS, AND BORROWED MONEY.

ALASKA FACES TREMENDOUS ECONOMIC POTENTIAL THROUGH ITS PORT DEVELOPMENT. WITH THIS LEGISLATION, THE GROUNDWORK CAN BE LAID IN THE EFFORT TO GREATLY ENHANCE PORT DEVELOPMENT AROUND THE STATE. THE GOVERNOR HAS ALREADY STATED THAT INTERNATIONAL TRADE IS A HIGH PRIORITY IN HIS ECONOMICAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN. WITH AN AGGRESSIVE PORT DEVELOPMENT PLAN, BY THE VARIOUS PORT AUTHORITIES, THROUGH THE BACKING OF THIS LEGISLATION, ALASKA CAN BEGIN TO REALIZE THE ECONOMIC POTENTIAL OF ITS WATERFRONTS.

WE HAVE RECEIVED FAVORABLE COMMENTS FROM SEVERAL COMMUNITIES ALREADY. THE COMMENTS HAVE BEEN PRIMARILY SEEKING ASSURANCE THAT THOSE COMMUNITIES ARE INCLUDED IN THE BILL BECAUSE THEY SEE POSITIVE THINGS WITH IT.

MANY CITIES CAN NOW ESTABLISH SOME FORM OF PORT SYSTEM BUT THEY ARE ONLY IN AN ADVISORY CAPACITY AND ITS MEMBERS ARE APPOINTED BY THE LOCAL GOVERNING BODY. SB 168 DIFFERS IN THAT THE COMMISSIONERS ARE ELECTED DURING MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS. THIS ALLOWS THE COMMISSION TO BE SET UP AS A SUBDIVISION OF THE MUNICIPALITY, SIMILAR TO A SCHOOL DISTRICT. THE COMMISSION WILL BE ESTABLISHED BY ORDINANCE AND THREE COMMISSIONERS WILL BE ELECTED BY THE PEOPLE THEREBY GIVING THE PEOPLE THE STRONGEST VOICE IN A PORT'S DEVELOPMENT.

THIS LEGISLATION HAS BEEN MODELLED AFTER THE STATE OF WASHINGTON. THE BILL IS IN ITS SIMPLEST FORM AT THIS TIME, HOWEVER WE MUST WORK TO STRENGTHEN OUR WATERFRONT DEVELOPMENT AND CREATE A BILL THAT'S IN THE BEST INTEREST OF ALASKA. THIS BILL IS MERELY A STARTING POINT WITH THE INTENTION THAT A STRONG PIECE OF LEGISLATION WILL BE DEVELOPED THROUGH OUR LEGISLATIVE PROCESS. THANK YOU.

Alaska State Senate

RE: Port Authorities

Referencing your request for information on the organization, administration and authorities of various port authorities, I offer the following.

Today, there are 105 state, local, county or independent public seaports in the United States and its territories, 76 of them Corporate members of the American Association of Port Authorities (AAPA). Historically, port development and operation in the United States has been a local or state function. There is considerable variety in the structure, powers and the purpose of port authorities in the United States.

I contacted Mr. Rexford Sherman, Director for Research and Information Services with the AAPA. Mr. Sherman provided a copy of a report entitled "Public Port Agencies In The United States and Canada" (copy attached) which gives an overview of port authorities.

Also attached is a listing of the AAPA Corporate Member Ports. As you can see, the complexity becomes evident in looking at just the port authorities that comprise the U.S. corporate membership of the APPA. Some are administrative divisions of state government. Others are in effect public corporations set up under state law and directed to develop specific port areas in the public interest. Some are state port authorities with responsibility for the several ports that may lie in a given state. In other instances, states have created port administrations that are basically political subdivisions of the state, frequently called navigation districts, which like other such subdivisions (e.g., school districts or townships) have the power to tax and float bonds. In addition there are county and municipal port departments and, to further complicate the picture, bi-state port authorities with jurisdictions covering two states.

Senator Duncan

In the North Atlantic, the preference appears to have been for public corporations, state port administrations and bi-state ports. State port authorities are most common in the South Atlantic. Independent navigation districts are particularly popular in the Gulf and Pacific Northwest, while municipal port departments are favored in California.

The variety of port structure types and their distribution among the various U.S. port ranges is indicated in the attached chart. For example, the Massachusetts Port Authority is a autonomous public corporation set up through an act of the legislature which has a seven-member Board of Directors appointed by the Governor. The Port of Bellingham is defined as an independent navigation district which has three elected Commissioners. Attached are the enabling acts for the State of Washington and the State of Massachusetts.

Most U.S. port authorities (though there are exceptions) are governed by a board of commissioners (or directors) which oversee port policy and operations as custodians of the public interest. But among the 80 U.S. member port authorities, most boards (48) are appointed, usually by a governor (sometimes with the advice and consent of the state legislature), mayor, city council or county commissioners. Twenty-two boards, however, are elected by local voters. Nine have no board whatsoever. Elected boards are most common among independent navigation districts. On the other hand, state port authorities and other state-chartered port corporations are generally appointive. Typically, state port departments do not have a board of any sort.

After you have had a chance to review the attached materials, please call me and I will collect the enabling acts, charters and information you feel may be useful in formulating similar legislation.

Representative Ron Larson
Alaska State Legislature
Juneau, Alaska

Dear Representative Larson:

Attached you will find some proposed amendments to HB 209, relating to establishment of a port authority by a municipality. The major amendment would change the bill to allow cities and towns, such as Homer, Seward or Kodiak to develop a port authority independent of the borough or municipality to which it belongs. Second class cities would not have the authority.

The proposed amendment to page 5 adding a new subsection (11) would require an economic analysis and justification for the project as well as a description of the expected benefits and other effects of the project to be included in the development plan.

Unless you have objections, I'll forward the amendment request to the Community and Regional Affairs Committee.

Respectfully yours,

Bill
