APR 23 1987

Honorable Steve Cowper
Governor of the State of Alaska
Office of Governor Cowper
P.O. Box A
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Attention: Sheila Guttchrer

This letter is my resume of sea time and piloting requested by your office.

I began going to sea as Ordinary Seaman in 1943. In 1943 I got my Third Mates License. In the years that followed I raised my qualifications to Master of Vessels of any gross tons, any waters. I have been piloting in Southeastern Alaska since the summer of 1973. On January of 1976 I became a full-time pilot here.

I am extremely interested in piloting here from the standpoint of safety. Shipping is very important to the economy of Alaska, but the potential dangers to lives, property, and ecology are very real. Because of these facts I believe the Board of Marine Pilots has a great responsibility to make piloting in Alaska as accident free as possible. In order to assist in reaching these goals, I would be pleased to be a member of the Board of Marine Pilots.

Respectfully,

Harold K. Elsensohn

The Honorable Steve Cowper
Office of the Governor
STATE OF ALASKA
P. O. Box A
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Governor Cowper:

I'm writing to express my grave concern over your recent nomination of Samantha Castle to the Board of Game. In recent statements at the last meeting of this Board, Ms. Castle took the time to explain her game management philosophy and her views on the subsistence priority and the Division of Subsistence. I've enclosed a transcript of her remarks for your information. It's with this philosophical statement that I have problems.

As you know, the state has been deeply wounded by the debate over whether or not residents living in rural Alaska who depend on fish and game resources for their livelihood ought to have a priority over the taking of those resources. In 1978, and again in 1986, the legislature enacted statutes that established the taking of fish stocks and game populations for subsistence use as the priority use. In addition, the 1978 statute established a Division of Subsistence within the Alaska Department of Fish and Game to gather information which would enable the Boards of Fish and Game to implement that priority.

The implementation of the 1978 statute was initially fraught with controversy. Many of the problems were purposely caused by members of the Boards who opposed the priority and tried to prove that it could not be implemented. As a result, the controversy did not begin to die down until 1982 when voters, on a statewide ballot, affirmed their support for the priority and new members were appointed to the Boards. Since then, the Board members have worked in good faith to implement the priority in a fair and reasonable manner.

It's because the subsistence law has been working that I find the recent remarks of Ms. Castle's so troubling. On her own initiative, at the Board of Game's last meeting, Ms. Castle explained her game management philosophy and her views on the subsistence priority and the Division of Subsistence. After reading the transcript, her hostility to the Division of Subsistence and to the implementation of the subsistence priority in the manner the legislature has intended is clear and unequivocal.

In 1986 the legislature took extraordinary care to identify the group of Alaskans who engage in "subsistence uses" of fish and game. The legislature did not delegate the Board of Game the authority to determine which Alaskans engaged in "subsistence uses" should benefit from the priority and which should not. And contrary to Ms. Castle's understanding of the situation, the legislature did not intend the Board to only implement the priority in situations in which the Division of Subsistence can prove the need to do so by presenting evidence that meets a higher standard than "beyond a reasonable doubt".

I also find troubling Ms. Castle's game management philosophy as outlined in the transcript in which she professes she intends to "consistently vote against the non-resident reduction of allocation" and "vote for liberalization of all seasons for all groups of users". To do this would be to take a giant step backward. There are simply too many people competing for the opportunity to hunt too few animals. It's this type of philosophy that contributes to the hardships on villages who directly depend upon access to game populations for their survival.

We have made too much progress since 1982 in implementing the subsistence priority in a fair and reasonable manner to take a step backwards now. Individuals who sit on the Board of Game have a responsibility to uphold the laws of our State regardless of their own personal views. The recent statements made by Ms. Castle leave a very large question of doubt as to whether or not she would be able to fulfill that responsibility.

I would urge you to review the transcript and her nomination, in light of these recent statements. Thank you very much for your attention to a matter which is of serious concern to AFN and its members.

Sincerely,

Janie Leask
President

Let the record show that Castle, Bennett, Johnson and Huntington are present this morning in order to reach a positive action on a proposal we have to have the consent of four. Last night when we left the meeting we had Table Proposal 131 and had quite a bit of discussion and interactions with the advisory committees in that area. Does anyone wish to bring it back on the table? Samantha, Sidney moved, is there a second? Seconded by Samantha. Samantha.

SAMANTHA CASTLE

I'd like to speak to this proposal and also this proposal by the way is 131, is that the one we are working on?

Yes ma'am.

Ok. And also to some other trends that I see developing that are making me very nervous. As a new Board member I just need to discuss these things with you. First of all, John I want you to take note here, I want to be properly quoted. I want to introduce myself. People have been asking who I am, and what sort of philosophy I have and it's all kind of summarized in Proposal 131. So I want to introduce myself properly to you today. I'm Samantha Castle. I'm your new Board member and I'm going to try to tell you the things I believe in. The last couple of days have really been hell for me as those of you who have been here know, and out of respect for the Board members and the learning process, the immense amount of information that I've been having to process, I have chosen not to be very vocal. But we're embarking on what I think are some dangerous trends and I can't be quiet any longer, as those of you who know me very well realize its been a struggle. So I want to tell you what I believe in and how I'm going to vote consistently.

I believe in Sid Huntington. I have more respect for Sid than anyone else in this room. His honesty and his concern for the people and the animal resources of Alaska are absolutely beyond reproach. Sidney, you know how much I care and how much I appreciate your years of service on this Board, but I'll tell you something, I'm going to disagree with you today.

I believe in the people of Alaska and I believe they can manage their own resources - what's left of them. I appreciate the assistance given by the federal government and the dollars spent by them, but I also understand that this is a reciprocal arrangement. Much land has been put aside for public viewing and study populations. Alaska provides a great opportunity for citizens of the world to participate in the resources Sidney and I love so much. I believe that what's left in the state needs to be managed for maximum sustainable yield. Each of our animals has great value. I believe that we should be good stewards of what we have to provide for maximum yield for the people of Alaska.

And I believe in the subsistence priority. Those people who need these resources are top on my list. My actions throughout my adult life have proven that I am aware of these people who have needs much greater than my own and I've spent all of my non-working time actively working on a one to one basis to see that those needs are being met. My reputation for doing that type of work is one of the prime factors in the Governor's decision to put me on this Board. But I know the differences between need and greed. At Thanksgiving I don't give turkeys to Natives who think that it's their right to get one. I take the limited supply of the resource at hand and allocate it to the people who are legitimately in a tough spot, and sometimes that means I say no.

Yesterday this Board decided to extend the subsistence season by 11 days to the people of the Northway area and shorten both the resident and the non-resident season by 10 days. I contend that the Division of Subsistence had no evidence to support the idea that the people of Northway did not have a reasonable opportunity to get what they need. This was an arbitrary decision based on some sort of hidden agenda that a new Board member did not and should not be aware of. And while I'm on the subject of the Subsistence Division, though I admire it - actually feel awe for the volume of work that is done, I do not feel that in some cases I am receiving the type of information which allows me to make an informed decision. I believe that I am a logical and consistent person and I'm having to work too hard to justify the decisions made. Please do not tell me Subsistence Division, even one more time, that the information that I needed to make that decision was presented last year. I wasn't here last year. I don't care and the two or three new Board members who come next year won't care either. I really appreciate Chris' efforts with the Division of Game to present enough information for a new Board member. I know that he actively did that and I very much appreciate it.

I believe that this allocation problem is a very serious one and I will use a rule of thumb in my decision making process. I will vote no on any move from resident/non-resident classification and of subsistence unless Subsistence Division has verifiable evidence that the people this law was designed to help are actually in need. When the situation appears to be a need vs. greed situation, my vote will be a consistent no. The first time I find that families do not have meat for the table and they have actively made an effort to get it and they really can't get it, my vote will be yes, but you better prove it to me.

Also I will consistently vote against the non-resident reduction of allocation. I believe that the professional guides provide beans to add to the local moose meat and the legal guiding industry in this state is a real asset. At least three times during this Board meeting I have seen discrimination against guides with the handling.

Also I will consistently vote for humans in this allocation problem. We have a limited resource, and there are several factors which can be manipulated, I'm going to vote as the cheerleader for the humans. If the department has to manipulate habitat or predators or whatever, then they can do it. I think the people of Northway and Fairbanks should have meat on the table and I'm going to fight to get it there. I will vote for liberalization of all seasons for all groups of users. I hope you can manage with the idea that humans want a piece of the caribou pie too.

This Board seems to think that it has the responsibility of regulating ethics. I suggest that we should remove the logs from our own eyes before we suggest how someone else should behave. I will vote for all game management tools that are required to get the job of good stewardship of these resources done. I will not tie the hands of the department to provide an opportunity to reach their management objectives. Unethical behavior to me is not in providing for all the needs to manage the resource for the greatest public good. I did not for one minute think that the Governor would expect me to ignore the needs of the local users in this decision making process of allocation. He appointed me to listen objectively to all needs and to try to strike a balance. I do not see that these issues that face us are decisive but rather they are problems to be solved. They are things that we all need to work on together. Since he appointed me, if he disagrees with my method of problem solving, he can certainly dis-appoint me too. But until he does, I will vote in the consistent ways that I've outlined above and my first vote will be against this discussion of Proposal 131 because it's not focused to solve the real problem of the unregulated outfitter, and the suggested amendments, though we haven't adopted them, would encourage the taking of ruddy moose for subsistence users and that is not good game management. Thank you.

Thank you Samantha. Would you like to speak to Proposal 131.

I vote no on 131.

JOEL BENNETT

I see the morning has turned into something different here than what I expected. I didn't bring a prepared address, but I feel like I need to make a short statement myself because unless anyone sort of interprets what we may feel individually by our silence. I've been on this Board for 11 years now, and I've seen a lot of Board members come and go. I think it's fair to say that most Board members have the same goals and the same objective and share the same goals and objectives when they enter service on the Board. Some of those goals and objectives Samantha mentioned, and I would like to re-mention them, among them are sound wildlife management, sustained yield harvest, fair allocations between users, and consistent regulations, and I think last but not least in my little short list is a pledge to obey the law whether its federal or state or whether we agree with it or not. It's not the position of this Board to sit here and try to decide whether they agree with a law, whether it's right or not, and it applies to the subsistence law in particular. I've seen Board members sit here and try to use, in the decision making process, a personal preference about whether a law should have been passed or not, and I don't believe that has a place on this Board.

Where I differ somewhat with Samantha is that reasonable people, and I mean Board members, general public, and even biologist differ on how to interpret something. And they differ often on how to accomplish something, what means to use to accomplish something. Reasonable people differ. No person on this Board has all the answers or has the clearest way to see something. I don't think anybody that I've ever seen serve on this Board had the magic ability to be the judge of every regulation that comes before us and every issue. That's all I have to say. On the point that Sidney raises, I think we're getting away from the regulation here. I see a real concern, I see a possible solution that we can work out here. If we were going to be consistent with addressing this type of a problem and I think we just did that up on the Noatak. Now it may be that on this river its time, as Sidney says, to anticipate a real problem and I don't see any reason why we don't do that. I don't necessarily though see that the background work has been done by Mr. Quimby or by the department to try to offer a solution to that at this point. I think we need to discuss it. What the alternatives and options may be so that this situation that Sidney just mentioned doesn't happen again. I think its necessary to do it now. We're not addressing regulations every year not and I believe that the part of this proposal that has to do with the problem that Sidney talks about is what we should be discussing now and whether there are any options at this point in time to deal with that without unfairly, without unfairly, I say that again, disadvantaging or discriminating against the kind of people that Samantha is referring to. I'd like to hear some more discussion about what possible options we have to deal with that problem.

Lochman, Robert A. - Kodiak

Director of Boards and Commissions
Sheila Gotterhrer
Office of the Governor
P.O. Box A
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Ms. Gotterhrer:

Please consider this letter as my application for appointment to the Alaska Board of fisheries.

I am a thirty year resident of Alaska and have made my livelihood during that time as a Commercial Fisherman and an Alaska State Trooper. I also am an active sports fisherman and hunter. Prior to 1964, I fished from Southeastern to the Bering Sea and since 1964, on a part time basis in Prince William Sound and Kodiak. I am presently owner/operator of a sixty foot combination boat engaged in Herring and Salmon Tendering and Longlining for Cod and Halibut.

I retired in March 1986, after twenty two years of service with the Alaska Department of Public Safety, the last eleven years of which were spent in Commercial Fisheries Law Enforcement and the last ten years as Commander of the Department's Marine Enforcement Section. I was also skipper of the P/V Woldstad and held the rank of Captain upon retirement.

My reasons for seeking this appointment may sound a little old fashioned, however, I simply feel that since I now have the time to spare, I owe it to Alaska to utilize my experience and ability to her advantage and that I can best do that by serving on the Board of Fisheries. I also believe our fisheries to be our most valuable long term resource. With Alaska's present financial situation as it is, and probably will be for quite some time, we are facing a very challenging period but also a period of opportunity. With my experience in both the fishing industry and in Law Enforcement, I can provide some valuable assistance in meeting that challenge and taking advantage of those opportunities. Americanization and Alaskanization of both the harvest and processing of our fisheries resources has never had a brighter future than today.

I have attached a brief resume and of course my personnel file for the state service should be available to you.

I have also listed some personal references herein:
