The right vote was 'No' vote

Lawmakers made the right decision last week when they rejected the Fairbanks North Star Borough's attempt to annex a portion of the trans-Alaska pipeline.

The proposed addition, crafted to annex 10 miles of the pipeline sitting on a 216-square-mile parcel of land northwest of Fairbanks, would have set a very bad precedent.

Fairbanks wanted the pipeline for one reason: to tax it. The annexation would have been worth about $2 million in property-tax revenue in 1990. That $2 million would have gone a long way to ease the Golden Heart City's current budget crisis.

The Local Boundary Commission apparently thought Fairbanks' financial need was adequate justification for the annexation. It wasn't — nor should financial need ever be the basis of flawed policies. Such an approach is nothing more than arbitrary no matter what kind of covering it wears. Boundary changes are supposed to be in the public interest — and Fairbanks clearly had only a financial interest in the matter.

Annexations typically have revenue implications, but they never should be strictly revenue-generating actions. Lawmakers had it right when they told Fairbanks it was out of line to go after the pipeline. Now they ought to tell the Local Boundary Commission to establish tougher standards for annexations.

LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS AGENCY

MEMORANDUM

March 1, 1989

SUBJECT: Local Boundary Commission: HB 131
TO: Representative Dick Shultz
FROM: Richard A. Bradley
Legislative Counsel

It is clear to me that familiarity with the matters that are pending before the commission is not a ground for disqualification by a member of the commission. The law establishing the commission, AS 44.47.565, requires that a member be from each of the four regions of the state.

While there are many valid policy reasons for requiring that members of a state commission be widely representative of the state, one result is that the law requires that one member of the commission be, to some extent, familiar with the issues that are coming before the commission.

While many laws in recent years have addressed the question of ethics (as, for example, AS 39.51) or conflict of interest (as, for example, AS 39.50), I am aware of no law that disqualifies a member of a state board or commission because the member is familiar with the issues. That person is an asset to a state commission, not a liability.

Both AS 39.50 and AS 39.51 are concerned, in part, with the financial interests of the state officer. Nothing described to me suggested that the member of the local boundary commission had the kind of interest that should have disqualified him.

Finally, it seems that the members of a state commission with a relatively small membership should be especially careful about their failure to attend the meetings. Since three votes remain necessary to take action (see AS 44.47.-577), the absence of a member increases the difficulty for the commission in taking action.

If I may be of further assistance, please advise.

The
of the State of Alaska

PREAMBLE

and to those who founded our nation and pioneered this great land, in order to secure and transmit to succeeding generations our heritage of political, civil, and religious liberty*

does Section 2), but it requires that they be "part of" a surrounding borough if one exists. The section gives broad power to the legislature to build a statutory framework for the creation and operation of cities. The constitution suggests by reference to "classification" of cities and boroughs in this and other sections that flexibility may be provided by authorizing the creation of local governments with different sets of duties and responsibilities. At the present time, two classes of cities and three classes of boroughs are recognized by statute—each with different powers.

Section 8. Council

The governing body of a city shall be the council.

Section 9. Charters

The qualified voters of any borough of the first class or city of the first class may adopt, amend, or repeal a home rule charter in a manner provided by law. In the absence of such legislation, the governing body of a borough or city of the first class shall provide the procedure for the preparation and adoption or rejection of the charter. All charters, or parts or amendments of charters, shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the borough or city, and shall become effective if approved by a majority of those who vote on the specific question.

This language gives effect to the declaration in Section 1 that the constitution provide "maximum local self government." Home rule charters—that is, locally drafted "constitutions" for local government—are the means for municipalities to exercise the largest measure of self government. "First class" municipalities (these are defined in law, not in the constitution) may adopt home rule charters. Cities and boroughs that do not have home rule charters—first class or otherwise—must operate within the limits of the powers delegated to them by the state. These are known as general law municipalities. Home rule municipalities, in contrast, may exercise all powers not explicitly denied them by state law or by their own charter (see Section 11).

Section 10. Extended Home Rule

The legislature may extend home rule to other boroughs and cities.

By the previous section the constitution extends home rule to "first class" cities and boroughs, which the legislature is to define. In this section, the convention delegates made it clear that the legislature can extend home rule to other categories of municipalities as well if it wants to do so.

Section 11. Home Rule Powers

A home rule borough or city may exercise all legislative powers not prohibited by law or by charter.

This broad grant of home rule power is unique among state constitutions. It means that the governing body of a home rule city or borough can exercise any constitutional power of the state legislature if it is not explicitly denied by law or by the charter itself. Typically, other state constitutions narrowly enumerate the powers of home rule municipalities. With the simple and concise language of this section, the authors of Alaska's local government article sought to make the home rule power as expansive as possible. Article II, Section 19 protects home rule and other municipalities from selective intervention in their affairs by the legislature and thereby further strengthens local autonomy.

Section 12. Boundaries

A local boundary commission or board shall be established by law in the executive branch of the state government. The commission or board may consider any proposed local government boundary change. It may present proposed changes to the legislature during the first ten days of any regular session. The change shall become effective forty-five days after presentation or at the end of the session, whichever is earlier, unless disapproved by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members of each house. The commission or board, subject to law, may establish procedures whereby boundaries may be adjusted by local action.

Few if any other state constitutions provide for a body of this type. The independent authority of this agency to establish the borders of local government units, subject only to legislative veto, recognizes that the most "rational" boundaries may not always result from the local tug and tussle of politics. In the words of the convention committee on local government, this scheme allows boundary decisions to be made "at a level where area-wide or statewide needs can be taken into account. By placing authority in this third party, arguments for and against boundary change can be analyzed objectively." In its deliberations, the local boundary commission must refer to the standards for borough and city formation established by the legislature.

The veto power (exercised here by a simple majority of both houses acting separately) has been exercised freely by the legislature over decisions of the commission.

Section 13. Agreements; Transfer of Powers

Agreements, including those for cooperative or joint administration and Peninsula REAA had filed a brief in court opposing the LBC's decision based on these factors.

Number 137

DAVE WILDER, VICE-PRESIDENT, LAKE AND PENINSULA SCHOOL BOARD testified on behalf of HJR 23.

Mr. Wilder reiterated that the Aleutians East Borough had been granted by the LBC a large portion of land previously held by the Lake and Peninsula REAA. He pointed out that there was a court case pending on that action and that the manager of the Aleutians East Borough now sat on the commission. He maintained that if the commission decided against the Kodiak Island Borough annexation that it would badly reflect on the Aleutians East Borough's claims.

Mr. Wilder further maintained that the conflict stated by the commission's chairman, C.B. Bettisworth, was a result of a newspaper article which appeared in the Kodiak Island Fisherman Newspaper on February 23, 1989. The article quoted the Kodiak Island Borough Mayor, Jerome Selby, as saying that as far as annexation goes that the commission had assured him "if you want it you've got it." This article came eight months before the petition was filed. He added that the annexation process had been compromised and the legislature needed to stop the process and define the goals and procedures of the commission.

Number 158

Rep. Cato asked who would pay for the court costs of the REAA.

Number 168

Mr. Wilder replied that he thought the Lake and Peninsula School District would cover the costs.

Number 178

Rep. Cato asked if that was not the state fighting the state.

Number 180

Mr. Wilder replied that there was no other entity to represent the area.

Mr. Wilder stated that the process of borough formation by the Lake and Peninsula School District had been rushed due to the Kodiak Island Borough annexation and that because of

COMMENTS ON LOCAL BOUNDARY COMMISSION PROCESS
FOR CONSIDERING BOROUGH PROPOSALS

January 31, 1989

The following comments are based on the three borough proposals within the the Bristol Bay region in the last two years: the Aleutians East incorporation in 1987; the Lake and Peninsula incorporation which will go to public vote this spring, and the Kodiak annexation currently before the legislature.

The proposals have generated much controversy within the region and have highlighted serious flaws in the Local Boundary Commission (LBC) process. Indeed the process is so flawed as to almost guarantee arbitrary and short-sighted results. If large areas of the unorganized borough continue to be carved into jurisdictional units under existing LBC practice, a statewide planning disaster of monumental proportions is in the making.

Most of the problems fall into three broad categories: 1) lack of meaningful standards, 2) procedural, particularly relating to public notice and the ability to contest particular proposals, and 3) problems in substantive decision-making, which involve institutional or structural problems with the LBC and its inability to follow statutory and regulatory mandates.

Each of these areas of concern will be discussed below. However, these comments are not intended to be a thorough analysis of the LBC or its procedures but rather concern particular problems identified from its actions in Bristol Bay. And although examples will be used to illustrate the problems, the comments are not intended to address the merits of any pending proposal.

I. Standards

A. Incorporation

1. Statutory standards

The four statutory standards for incorporation of AS 29.05.031 would be adequate if they were evenly applied and properly construed. However, in practice they have given inadequate guidance for drawing territorial boundaries between widely separated population centers.

The first standard requires that "the population of the area [be] interrelated and integrated as to social, cultural and economic activities" and be large and stable enough for borough government.

The second requires that the borough boundaries "conform generally to natural geography and include all areas necessary for full development of municipal services." The third requires the economy of the area to include the human and financial resources necessary for municipal services, and lists a number of factors to be considered. The fourth speaks to transportation facilities.

Except for the requirement for following natural geography, all deal more with population characteristics and with developed areas rather than with the vast uninhabited areas in the unorganized borough.

The standards would be improved by clearly specifying that traditional use patterns and existing land planning units be followed in unpopulated areas.

2. Regulatory standards.

The regulatory standards of 19 AAC 10.160 also need improvement. 19 AAC 10.160(5) requires a new borough to include at least one entire REAA, and as interpreted it seems to create a bias in favor of following REAA lines. Yet as pointed out in the 1988 DCRA Regional Government study, following REAA boundaries for borough formation results in conflicts with other standards. Some REAAs have only one community or less than 1,000 people; some form enclaves within others, which may violate constitutional and statutory standards.

Worse, the external boundaries of REAAs often cut across natural geography and socio-economic use patterns, thereby violating the mandatory statutory standards for borough formation. REAAs should not be used to determine the external territorial boundaries of boroughs. The intent of 19 AAC 10.160(5) can be met by using REAAs merely as a guideline for deciding which community should go with which borough.

There is also a problem with the "transportation" standard of 19 AAC 10.160(2). This standard requires that communities within a new borough be connected by road or have transportation services "available at least once a week ... on a regularly scheduled or chartered basis." Chartered services are almost universally available and it is difficult to see how any two Alaskan communities could fail to meet this standard. Although the intent of the provision may be sound, standards that are always met are no standards at all, and this provision should either be rewritten or deleted.

B. Annexation.

There are no statutory standards for annexation. The LBC by regulation (19 AAC 10.190) has set up separate standards for the annexation of contiguous territory and of non-contiguous territory. The latter, for obvious reasons, is much more stringent.

1. Definition of "Contiguous."

The LBC recently approved the annexation of a large area on the Alaska Peninsula to the Kodiak Island Borough under its standards for annexation of contiguous territory. The annexed area is separated from the Kodiak Island Borough by Shelikoff Strait, the center of which for its entire course is federal water beyond the territorial limit of Alaska. The LBC rejected Lake and Pen's competing claim for the same territory.

Neither the LBC decision nor its staff report discuss the crucial preliminary issue of whether the annexed territory is contiguous to the original Kodiak Island Borough. Under a dictionary or common sense definition, it surely is not contiguous. However, contiguous is defined at 19 AAC 10.840(4) "as territory which is immediately adjacent to or which is separated only by natural or artificial barriers which do not disrupt or impede the supplying or receiving of municipal services."

The problem with that definition, as apparently construed by the LBC in the Kodiak decision, is that the exception swallows the rule. Boroughs provide very few municipal services in roadless, unpopulated areas, and those services they do provide (i.e., planning) are not hampered by geographic barriers. If the Alaska Peninsula is "contiguous" to Kodiak Island despite the jurisdictional barrier of federal waters, it is difficult to conceive of any roadless, sparsely populated area of the state that is not contiguous to any other area. An ocean, another borough, a mountain range, or 500 miles of land are just barriers which do not "disrupt or impede" borough services when those services are almost non-existent to begin with.

The definition of contiguous in 19 AAC 10.840(4) could be salvaged if the LBC were to construe it more closely to the dictionary definition. But following the Kodiak decision, there is no longer a distinction between contiguous and non-contiguous lands for purposes of borough annexations, and the whole framework of 19 AAC 10.190 is undermined.

2. Standards for contiguous annexations.

Eight standards are set forth in 19 AAC 10.190(a) for annexation of contiguous territory. Only one of these standards must be met for the annexation to be approved. In addition, the annexation must meet the four statutory standards for borough incorporation of AS 29.05.031.

Some of the eight standards of 10.190(a) are relatively straight-forward and easy to apply, i.e. whether the land is totally surrounded by the borough or wholly owned by the borough. Others, however, have been so watered down by the LBC that virtually any proposal will meet them. Such standards are meaningless.

The problem can best be illustrated by reference to an LBC decision. In the Kodiak decision the LBC found that three of the regulatory standards for annexation were met, those of 19 AAC 10.190(a)(3),(4) and (8).

(a) Application of 10.190(a)(3)

The LBC found that the Kodiak annexation met the third regulatory standard: "the territory is in need of municipal services which the organized borough can provide more efficiently than another municipality or the state." Specifically, the LBC found that the area was in need of "planning, economic development and solid waste collection and disposal which can best be provided by the Kodiak Island Borough."

This ruling is particularly surprising since earlier in the decision the LBC said: "The contested area is uninhabited. Therefore, the need for services in that area is greatly limited."

In regard to "planning," the area consists almost entirely of state and federal land (with some subsurface rights owned by a Native regional corporation). Coastal management and state and federal land use plans are already in place and could not easily be changed by a borough, nor did Kodiak indicate it would try to do so. The decision offered no explanation at all of how planning services would be improved; arguably planning services could suffer due to the dismemberment of the CRSA.

The "economic development" consisted of "salmon enhancement projects" which were never identified in the decision, the DCRA report, or testimony. Worse, there was no finding or evidence that salmon enhancement is actually needed, which would be necessary to meet the standard. Moreover, given exclusive federal jurisdiction on federal lands and ADF&G's authority over fish stocks, it is doubtful that any such borough-sponsored project is feasible. (The LBC decision did not discuss the legal obstacles to it.)

As for "solid waste collection and disposal," the opinion discussed fisheries-related waste disposal in the City of Kodiak and at the Borough's landfill on Kodiak Island. It did not find that such services were needed within the annexed area. Indeed, there was no discussion of such services within the annexed area and the Kodiak Borough did not indicate it would extend such services into the area.

Since there is no population to be served and since planning services are already in place, it is apparent that the LBC bent over backwards to find this standard met. It is quite difficult to conceive of any area in the state which would not meet it as applied.

(b) Application of 10.190(a)(4)

The LBC also found the fourth standard met, that "there is a reasonable likelihood that future growth and development will occur within the territory considered for annexation and that annexation of that territory will enable the borough to plan for and control that development."

The LBC cited testimony from Kodiak officials that "there is potential for development of mineral, oil and gas and fishing activities in the area considered for annexation." The specific examples cited were the federal oil and gas lease sale scheduled for 1990, "likely" growth in the number of offshore processors, and Kodiak's complaint it hadn't been consulted on federal land use plans.

One problem with this analysis is that both the federal lease sale and the growth of offshore processors apply only to the waters and not to the annexed territory on the Alaska Peninsula. Indeed, the federal lease sale will occur by definition outside of state and borough jurisdiction. Likewise, there was no discussion of how the borough could plan for and control the growth of offshore processors, a process that (if true) will likely occur outside the boundary of the state. The reference to federal land use plans is a non sequiter, irrelevant to the issue of whether there is a reasonable likelihood of growth and development.

There was no finding of fact and no evidence of any projected shoreside development in that part of the Alaska Peninsula. No land disposals, no mineral discoveries, no development of canneries or other fishery-related infrastructure were indicated. The LBC did not even look behind the federal lease sale to find if oil is actually expected to be discovered. (In fact, the Shelikoff Strait is not considered a good oil prospect and the lease sale has generated little interest by the oil industry.)

A better interpretation of this standard would apply it to areas experiencing specific, identifiable development that distinguishes them from the unorganized borough in general, or in which such development is planned. Examples would include rapid population growth or industrial or mineral development such as the Red Dog Mine. To extend the standard to areas such as the south side of the Alaska Peninsula, which at most is experiencing slow incremental development no different in scope from that in any other unpopulated area, is to render the standard meaningless.

(c) Application of 10.190(a)(8)

The LBC also concluded that the eighth standard was met, that "the annexation is otherwise necessary to accomplish a valid public purpose." The decision refers to the growth of offshore fish processors which are replacing shore-based processors, thereby diminishing local employment and depriving municipal governments of raw fish taxes. It concludes: "Annexation of the area in question would mitigate these negative effects."

This again is completely irrelevant as applied to the annexed land on the Alaska Peninsula. Even in regard to the waters it is difficult to see how annexation to the borough could curtail the growth of offshore processors, or confine them to the three-mile limit. Although the annexation may give Kodiak more raw fish tax revenues simply by increasing the area in which it collects them, if that is all the standard means then raising revenue alone becomes a "valid public purpose" sufficient to justify annexation.

I. Procedural Problems

A. Timeframe.

The timeframe used by the LBC to reach borough decisions precludes rational decision-making and may in itself violate constitutional standards of due process. The Aleutian's East process took just two months from the filing of the petition to the decisional meeting (May 7 - July 8, 1987). The Kodiak process took just over seven weeks (Oct. 14 - Dec. 4, 1988), and the Lake and Pen process lasted just three and one-half weeks (Nov. 10 - Dec. 4, 1988). It is inconceivable that all factors relevant in applying all the standards to all the boundaries can be adequately weighed in those time frames.

DCRA is under statutory duty to investigate borough proposals. AS 29.05.080. Some indication of the depth of investigation which should be required may be found in the — legislation which authorizes DCRA to contract for borough studies and allows up to three years for completion of the studies. AS 44.47.730. Nowhere near that depth of analysis was given to any of the Bristol Bay proposals.

It is equally impossible for an opponent of a borough proposal to adequately respond in the time allowed. The borough petitioners have months or years to prepare the proposal, and an adequate response would require considerable marshalling of facts, evidence and legal arguments. The LBC's own regulations call for "answering briefs" to be filed (19 AAC 10.390), but no time is provided to prepare them, especially considering that the governing bodies of cities and most other organizations are not in continuous session and need time to react.

Ironically, the LBC has no legal deadline for considering borough petitions. It rushes decisions only as a matter of policy. (Deadlines come into play only after the LBC's public hearing. And, in practice, the LBC doesn't take as long as those deadlines allow.)

B. Notice.

1. Outside the boundary.

One major flaw with the regulations governing notice and public hearings is that as interpreted they don't recognize the rights of those outside of proposed boundaries.

AAC 10.370(a) requires that the petition be served directly on "every municipality in or adjoining the territory." In the unorganized borough, of course, municipal boundaries rarely meet. The only interpretation of this regulation that makes sense in the unorganized borough is to apply it to communities in the adjoining geographical area. The regulation should also be expanded to include unincorporated communities.

The LBC, however, and its staff interpret it to require direct notice only to municipalities with a common legal boundary with the new borough. As a result, in the Lake and Pen process villages in the Nushagak drainage did not receive direct notice of the Lake and Pen proposal, and at the time the decision was made DCRA's mailing list did not include one village or village corporation on the western side of boundary. Nor did it include BBNA or the Southwest Region School District - even though the latter would lose one of its villages to the proposal.

Likewise, in the Aleutians East incorporation the villages of Ivanof Bay and Port Heiden were not "entitled" to direct notice even though the proposed boundary included an airstrip, a proposed new village site and Native corporation lands of Ivanof Bay and the traditional village site (Iinik) and much of the subsistence territory of Port Heiden. (DCRA did put these villages on its mailing list, however.)

The LBC believes that publishing notice in the newspapers is sufficient protection for those outside proposed boundaries. But 19 AAC 10.380(a) only requires the petitioner to publish notice of the petition "in a newspaper of general circulation in the territory." Lake and Pen published this notice in the Borough Post, which is distributed only within the Lake and Pen school district and the Bristol Bay Borough, not in the Nushagak villages. This particular notice was the only one ever published containing critical information such as the place for inspecting the petition and brief and the right to file an answering brief.

In any event, few people even in urban areas read legal notices in the newspapers. And the Bristol Bay newspapers are mailed fourth class and are not reliably delivered or read in the villages. Anchorage newspapers rarely make it to most villages at all. Direct notice would be much more effective, and cheaper.

2. Noncompliance with regulations.

The LBC does not strictly follow its own regulations on notice and scheduling. For example, it is required to publish notice of its public hearing "at least 15 days before the date of the hearing, at least three times in a newspaper of general circulation in the territory" That was not followed for Lake and Pen, at least as publication rules are normally construed by the courts. The third publication was on November 25, a week before its public hearings began.

Regardless of technical procedural arguments, it is crystal clear from an overview of the regulations regarding incorporation petitions, 19 AAC 10.325-10.440, that the process is designed to take several months at a minimum and that the LBC bends over backwards to rush decisions. For example, the LBC decisional meeting on Lake and Pen was one day after its public hearings concluded, although 90 days is allowed. Another example is the speed with which the LBC scheduled the public hearings. The regulations provide that a petition isn't considered pending until proof of publication of the notice required by 19 AAC 10.380(a) is received. That publication did not occur until November 18. Yet the first notice of the LBC hearing was published November 11, and because of ad deadlines had to be placed several days before that. The petition wasn't even filed with DCRA until November 10, and it is clear the LBC scheduled action on the petition before it had it!

C. Hearings.

Current law requires very little in the way of public information and decisional hearings. By statute, DCRA is required to have one public informational meeting in the area and the LBC to have one public hearing. AS 29.05.080 and 090. (More may be held at the discretion of the LBC.) A decisional meeting must be held within 90 days of the LBC's public hearing. In recent practice, most of the LBC hearings have been teleconferenced rather than held in the area.

Again, there is no built-in practical mechanism for involvement of villages immediately outside the boundaries. Port Heiden or Ivanof Bay residents would have had to go to Cold Bay or False Pass in the middle of fishing season to participate in the Aleutians East hearings. Nushagak village residents would have had to go to Anchorage or the Iliamna Lake area to attend Lake and Pen's hearings. (The LBC later scheduled teleconference hearings in the Nushagak, but that was to consider a reconsideration request after the decision had already been made.)

The existing requirements for informational meetings and formal public hearings are clearly inadequate given the importance of the decision, the lack of general public knowledge about boroughs, and the vast territory involved.

Moreover, villages a few miles outside borough boundaries have as much at stake in determining where the line is drawn as communities within the boundary - which may be much farther away. The Aleutians East line was drawn far closer to Port Heiden and Ivanof Bay than to any populated area within the borough; Ekwok is only 12 miles from the new Lake and Pen boundary. To give such villages substantially less procedural protection than communities within the borough likely violates the constitutional standards of due process and equal protection.

III. Substantive Decision-Making

A. The Problems

The LBC Board is charged with a statutory and constitutional duty to consider proposed changes in the boundaries of local governments. Its duties have been elaborated by the legislature, which has also established specific standards for the LBC to apply in AS 29.05.031. Through its regulatory power the LBC has established further standards and established basic procedures.

Although the commissioners are not judges, they are nonetheless charged with making quasi-judicial decisions, applying law to facts. Part of their duty is to serve a "watchdog" function, ensuring that boundary changes which do not meet the legal standards fail. Each of the statutory incorporation standards, for example, is mandatory as written and must by law be applied. While under normal rules of statutory construction the statutory standards can be balanced against each other, they must be evenly applied. The regulations must conform to them.

Although some of the statutory standards, such as the one dealing with socio-economic interrelationships, are difficult to apply, it is possible to do so if enough research is done. A great wealth of information on land and resource use patterns is available from agencies such as ADF&G, USF&W, CRSAs, and so forth. In Bristol Bay, massive resource inventories with much relevant data were compiled in the context of various management plans.

Particularly given DCRA's statutory duty to investigate borough proposals, one would think that this wealth of information and expertise on land use would be used to make rational boundary decisions. The process should be time-consuming but rather straight-forward.

The actual practice is far different. Some of its worse characteristics follow:

1. The statutory standards are not applied. The requirement regarding natural geography, for example, was completely ignored for the northwestern boundary of Lake and Pen, and was brushed over in the decision on the eastern boundary of Aleutians East.

LBC decisions focus too much on borough finances. While this is important, the standards only require that a borough be able to support itself. In practice, the LBC has allowed expanded boundaries which violate the other standards in order to put the borough in an better financial posture. For example, the Aleutians East boundary was allowed to extend into the Bristol Bay region primarily so that the borough would not have to rely on a property tax, despite a finding that this was not necessary to ensure the borough's financial viability.

Subsistence and traditional land use patterns are rarely considered despite their importance in determining the socio-economic unity of a region.

2. Similarly, the LBC treats the unorganized borough as a blank slate, ignoring and jeopardizing years of planning already in place. For example, the Bristol Bay CRSA - widely viewed a model program - has been dismembered into a minimum — of four parts, assuming the current borough proposals go through. This makes no sense from a planning perspective.

3. The LBC renders conflicting decisions and applies "standards" not found in the law. For example, the LBC would not even consider Nushagak village arguments based on a borough's potential impact on natural resource management. Yet the identical argument was found a valid basis for the Kodiak annexation. The LBC's focus on commercial fishing districts to the exclusion of other economic activities is a "standard" not found in the law, as is the "maximizing fish tax revenues" rationale applied for Kodiak and Aleutians East.

4. LBC decisions are based primarily on the bare assertions of fact in the petition and unsworn "testimony" at public hearings. There is rarely any checking of facts or reliance on experts such as ADF&G or the CRSA. This factor, coupled with the failure to seriously follow the standards, results in the decisional process being little more than a shuffling of words on paper, divorced from reality.

5. The DC&A and the LBC will not consider any factor not raised by a party, despite DCRA's duty to investigate. While to a certain extent this is understandable, there is no excuse for not analyzing glaring problems such as the "contiguous" issue in Kodiak's annexation or the failure of a boundary to generally conform to natural geography.

B. Causes and Possible Remedies

Some of these problems are due to the following "institutional" flaws:

1. The existing standards and regulations were promulgated before the political and economic climate changed dramatically in favor of boroughization. There is now an institutional bias in favor of boroughs which creates a tendency on the part of the LBC and its staff to neglect its "watch-dog" duty and ignore rules which "get in the way" of borough formation. This results in a standardless system, creating a land-grab mentality where anything goes, first-come first-served.

If circumstances are now so changed that it is desirable for all or most of the unorganized borough to incorporate, the rules should also be changed and meaningful standards established for drawing lines in unpopulated areas. It is imperative that regions be looked at as a whole.

2. The LBC and its staff seem to lack understanding of the basic rules of statutory construction and administrative analysis. Although they are laymen, they are nonetheless charged with a quasi-judicial duty. This flaw was exemplified by comments by commissioners at a recent reconsideration hearing on the Lake and Pen proposal.

One commissioner said that the Nushagak villages arguments relating to subsistence use had no merit because state and federal government have exclusive jurisdiction over their respective lands and the borough could have no impact them. Two things are wrong with that statement: 1) it ignores the fact that subsistence and other resource use is the primarily indicia of the socio-economic ties of the region, which by law is something the LBC has to consider; 2) it is an incorrect statement of law and actual practice in regard to state lands.

Other commissioners indicated that their decision to favor Kodiak's annexation at the expense of Lake and Pen made them unwilling to adjust Lake and Pen's western boundary. That shows remarkable willingness to disregard the LBC's statutory duty to impartially apply law to facts.

3. There seems to be an institutional confusion about the nature of the proceedings. Case law has made clear that they are legislative rather than adversarial in nature. In practice, they are treated as adversarial in many respects but without the procedural safeguards that normally exist in adversarial proceedings.

4. The same DCRA staff who investigate proposals and prepare recommendations for the LBC provide technical assistance to those putting together proposals. This creates a built-in bias in favor of the petition. These two functions should be separated, with the DCRA investigation and report and recommendations done by neutral parties after the petition is filed.

5. Neutral hearing officers, with legal training and preferably a land-use background, should conduct public hearings and make recommended decisions whenever contested issues arise. This would alleviate some of the problems discussed above.

Conclusion

Borough decisions are quite important and have long-range implications not fully understood even by the LBC and DCRA. This is particularly true in regard to land and — resource management, local influence on which is one of the major incentives for forming boroughs. Judging from our region's experiences, the LBC process results in short-sighted and arbitrary decisions. It is absolutely astounding that any agency would think that it can rationally make decisions redrawing the map of southwestern Alaska in a process taking less than two months.

Moreover, the process and the implications of borough formation are poorly understood by the public in Bristol Bay. This factor, combined with procedural impediments imposed by the LBC, greatly diminishes the ability of the local populace to have a meaningful voice in the decisions. A great deal of unnecessary divisiveness has resulted.

This situation can only serve to harm the state in the long run.

Re: Local Boundary Commission - HB-131, Kodiak Island Borough
annexation, Lake and Peninsula incorporation

Dear Sen. Adams and Rep. Maclean:

I write to urge your committees to consider a major overhaul of the Local Boundary Commission process for considering borough incorporations and annexations. I also urge you to put borough decisions on hold in the meantime, and more particularly to veto the Kodiak Island Borough annexation and, if possible, to remand the Lake and Peninsula decision to the LBC for further consideration.

As a Dillingham city councilman, an attorney employed by a Native association, and a former newspaper writer in Bristol Bay I have closely scrutinized the above-referenced actions and also the 1987 Aleutians East incorporation. In terms of substantive analysis these three LBC decisions are probably the worst administrative decisions I have seen in ten years of legal practice.

While Rep. Shultz's bill is a good starting point, it does not go far enough. A major problem is that the statutory and regulatory standards, probably inadequate to begin with, have been so loosened in application that they no longer mean anything. The LBC simply substitutes its own judgement for the legally-premulgated standards whenever a contested issue arises, with the result that its decisions are arbitrary and inconsistent.

The process encourages land-grabs and results in further concentration of the tax base in the more politically sophisticated, urbanized communities at the expense of villages. It also results in boundaries that are irrational from a geographic and demographic perspective. You simply cannot carve up large regions of the state on a first-come first-served basis, requiring only minimal compliance with weak standards, and hope to have a fair and rational result.

The Kodiak Island Borough annexation. This annexation should be vetoed because it is bad public policy and because the LBC threw its standards to the winds to allow it.

The Kodiak borough was allowed to annex a large uninhabited portion of the Alaska Peninsula and adjacent waters of the Shelikoff Strait that Lake and Pen also sought to incorporate. It should be borne in mind that Lake and Pen had only to meet the standards for incorporation, while Kodiak had to meet those standards and the regulatory standards for annexation.

The LBC's rationale for giving the area to Kodiak instead of Lake and Pen seems to have been that the Shelikoff Strait is fished primarily by Kodiak-based fishermen and that taxes from that fishery should, in fairness, go to Kodiak. While that may seem reasonable, no such standard is found in the statute or the regulations. This is a prime example of the LBC substituting its own judgement of what "ought" to happen for the legally-established rules.

The Kodiak annexation was granted under the LBC's regulations governing "contiguous" annexations, under which it had to meet one of eight regulatory standards. However, a preliminary issue not even discussed in the decision was whether the annexed territory is contiguous to the original borough. By any common sense definition it is not contiguous because it is separated from the original Kodiak Island Borough by federal waters beyond the territorial limit of Alaska and will be a separate enclave.

Likewise, the eight regulatory standards were not meaningfully applied. The LBC found that three of them were met, but not one of these findings withstands scrutiny. The LBC merely accepted the bare representations of the petitioners without independent analysis or research - despite DCRA's statutory duty to "investigate" proposals.

There was no evidence of likely development in the area which Kodiak could realistically plan for or control, no evidence that municipal services were needed and no evidence that the borough would provide any additional services in the area, which after all is uninhabited. In short, the only real reason for the annexation was to provide the Kodiak borough an additional revenue source, and that alone does not meet the legal standards. It should also be noted that most of the reasons the LBC cited for approving the annexation applied only to the waters of Shelikoff Strait and not to the Alaska Peninsula.

From a public policy perspective one has to question the wisdom of giving this revenue source to a borough with a relatively vibrant economy and healthy tax base at the expense of nearby chronically depressed villages with no tax base. Kodiak has numerous fisheries and is one of the communities directly benefitting from the "Americanization" of the North Pacific bottom fishery. It has year-round harbors and processing plants. The Lake Iliamna villages in contrast are almost solely dependent on the Bristol Bay salmon fishery, for which non-residents hold most permits. There are no processing plants. The typical village has only a few salmon permits and a handful of salaried jobs in the schools and local government. Unemployment is astronomical in the winter months.

One would think it in the state's interest that such villages have access to nearby fisheries, if only through taxation. And perhaps the new borough could develop programs enabling its people to more directly benefit from the Shelikoff Strait fisheries.

The LSC's decision itself found that the revenues from this territory would be much more important to Lake and Pen than to Kodiak, although not critical to either. Kodiak's benefit would be negligible.

Lake and Peninsula incorporation. This decision should be held open by whatever legal mechanism is available to do so. For one thing, a veto of the Kodiak annexation will not alone give Lake and Pen the additional territory it sought, and deserves.

For another, the borough's northwestern boundary was approved without adequate notice to neighboring communities in the Nushagak drainage. In my view, the procedures used effectively precluded any meaningful opportunity to be heard by residents of the adjacent area and thereby violated their constitutional rights of due process and equal protection.

Substantively, the northwestern boundary clearly violates the statutory standards by following longitudinal lines rather than natural geography and socio-economic use patterns. By slashing arbitrarily across the drainages, it divides historic (and logical) planning units and puts valuable spawning grounds for the Nushagak salmon fishery in the new borough. It also places subsistence hunting and fishing areas that Nushagak village residents say are traditionally "theirs" in the Lake and Pen Borough.

Depending on Lake and Pen's evidence, of course, the boundary might be moved in either direction if the legal standards were applied. But the northwestern boundary was not even addressed in the LSC decision, and the LSC refused to grant reconsideration of the decision so that it could be.

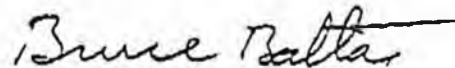

Another reason for overturning this decision is the speed with which it was made (24 days). This did not allow sufficient investigation and evaluation of the proposal by DCRA and the LBC, much less by the public. Many residents of the region believe one borough encompassing all of Bristol Bay would be a better choice. DCRA has been asked to study this possibility but has not done so.

In conclusion, the LBC process and the statutory standards for incorporation should be modified to ensure that boundaries are made on sound planning principles. Natural geography, traditional use patterns, and existing land-planning units should be emphasized in unpopulated areas. At the very least, if decisions are going to be made on the basis of "who should get the revenues," the legislature and not the LBC should establish the policies for making that choice. I would think the state would want to spread out the tax base as much as possible.

The standards and procedures should also be modified to give the interests of communities outside proposed boundaries equal consideration and to ensure that regions are looked at as whole.

The LBC's analysis would be improved if neutral hearing officers conducted the hearings and made recommended decisions, and if DCRA's investigative and technical assistance roles were clearly separated and performed by different people. DCRA's investigative duty should be more clearly spelled out so that decisions are based on facts and expertise rather than the superficial representations of those pushing a proposal. Right now, the whole petitioning process is little more than a word game.

Sincerely,

Bruce B. Baltar

2. All of the following additional parties shall receive individual notice of the petition:
 - A. Legislators (at a minimum, all legislators serving the territory defined should be notified; for issues of statewide importance all legislators should be notified);
 - B. Media (newspapers, radio stations and television stations serving the areas in question);
 - C. The petitioners' representative;
 - D. The Local Boundary Commission;
 - E. Appropriate State and federal agencies;
 - F. Other parties which the Department believes would be interested in this matter (e.g. financial institutions in the event of a proposed dissolution).
3. Notice in 1 and 2 above shall be mailed via first class mail (except for that processed through the State mail distribution system). Certified mailings will not be used. Staff will prepare an affidavit of mailing identifying the date of the mailing and the mailing address for each party.
4. Notice shall be published as display advertisements in newspapers of circulation in the territory specified. [Note: standards for publication (e.g. number of times, minimum size) to be developed at subsequent worksessions of LBC].

C. FOR REGIONAL AND COMMUNITY ACTIONS HAVING LIMITED POTENTIAL PUBLIC INTEREST (defined to include mergers and consolidations involving boroughs, unified municipalities and cities, as well as local action annexations to boroughs, unified municipalities and cities).

Public notice of such types of actions will be much less than that described in I A and B. [Note: to be more clearly defined at subsequent worksessions of LBC]. Since mergers and consolidations involve a restructuring of existing governments, as opposed to a change in the boundaries of any government, notice will likely be limited to interested parties within the existing governments to be merged or consolidated.

With respect to local action annexations, there are three types of annexations. These are: annexations involving strictly municipally-owned property, those which have been requested by all of the property owners and resident voters in the territory proposed for annexation and those for which the annexation will be ultimately determined by an election of the voters within the territory. The overwhelming majority of these types of annexations are small in scale and are of little or no interest to the general public. In the event a local action proposal is filed which has the potential for substantial public interest, appropriate notice will be given.

II. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Discussions were held by the LBC concerning the extent to which parties potentially interested in a particular proposal should be made responsible to ask for any information beyond that provided by the notice of the filing of the petition. These additional materials would include a copy of the petition, responsive briefs and written comments in favor or opposition to the petition, replies to the responsive materials from the petitioners' representative, correspondence from DCRA, DCRA draft reports, DCRA final reports, notice of meetings, hearings et cetera. The Commission's discussion centered around the need to keep potentially interested parties informed, yet not incur undue costs of copying and mailing substantial materials to what would typically amount to 200 or more parties. The Commission was inclined limit the such information, UNLESS INDIVIDUALS SPECIFICALLY REQUESTED ADDITIONAL MATERIALS IN WRITING.

III. ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES

Peter Froehlich, Assistant Attorney General, expressed the opinion that State Statutes [AS 29.05.100(b), 29.06.040(a), 29.06.130(b) and 29.06.500(b)] subject the Commission only to limited provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act. Specifically, these consist of AS 44.62.560 - 570 concerning a judicial appeal of a decision of the Commission.

Mr. Froehlich specifically indicated his belief that the provisions of AS 44.62.540 concerning reconsideration did not apply to the Commission. Mr. Froehlich suggested that the Commission adopt a regulation setting up a procedure for reconsideration based upon the process set out in the State court rules.

Mr. Froehlich recommended that the Commission adopt a regulation clearly establishing an effective date for its decisions.

The Commission discussed the need to formally adopt parliamentary rules. Assistant Attorneys General Marjorie Odland and Peter Froehlich recommended that the Commission adopt bylaws rather than a set of pre-established parliamentary rules. Ms. Odland indicated that she would provide the Commission with sample bylaws for consideration.

IV. SCHEDULE OF PROCEEDINGS

The Commission expressed the belief that a more moderate pace in future proceedings would likely accommodate nearly all of the concerns recently expressed regarding the procedures used by DCRA and the LBC.

It was agreed that the Commission should adopt a regulation allowing the Commission (or Chairman) to set a formal schedule for each proceeding. A typical schedule concerning DCRA and LBC activities leading to a decision concerning a legislative review boundary change, incorporation or dissolution was outlined as follows:

- STEP 1. Form and content of petition reviewed for compliance with law by DCRA. If form and content is accepted, individual public notice of the filing of petition is given. Arrangements are also made for publication in appropriate newspaper at least once each week for four weeks. (see sample notice - petition for dissolution of City of Akiachak). These tasks would typically be accomplished within 2 weeks.
- STEP 2. Chairman of the LBC sets the formal schedule for the proceedings. This would occur sometime around the 2nd or 3rd week of publication of the notice of the filing of the petition.
- STEP 3. Deadline for receipt of responsive briefs and written comments in support of or in opposition to the petition. This would be determined in Step 2, but would typically be set for at least 7 weeks following the distribution and initial publication of the notice of the filing of the petition.
- STEP 4. Deadline for receipt of answering brief from the petitioners' representative in reply to responsive briefs and written comments. This would be determined in Step 2, but would typically be set for 2 weeks following the deadline for responsive briefs.
- STEP 5. Distribution of draft report and recommendation on the petition by DCRA. This would typically occur 4 weeks following the deadline for the answering brief.
- STEP 6. Deadline for comment on DCRA draft report and recommendation. Possible public meeting(s) conducted on the petition by DCRA. These activities would typically occur 4 weeks following the distribution of the draft report.

REPORT ON LOCAL BOUNDARY COMMISSION WORK SESSIONS (1/30-31/89)

- STEP 7. Distribution of final report and recommendation on the petition by DCRA. This would typically occur 2 weeks following the deadline for comment on the draft report.
- STEP 8. LBC conducts hearing(s) on petition. This would typically occur 3 weeks following the release of the final DCRA report. Note: additional public notice of the hearing would be given prior the hearing.
- STEP 9. LBC makes decision on petition. This must occur within 90 days of the hearing(s), however, the Commission may make a decision immediately following the hearing.

Judicial review. — There are questions of public policy to be determined in annexation proceedings which are beyond the province of the court. Examples are the desirability of annexation, as expressed in published standards. Judicial techniques are not well adapted to resolving these questions. In that sense, these may be described as "political questions," beyond the compass of judicial review. But other annexation issues, such as whether statutory notice requirements were followed, are readily decided by traditional judicial techniques. United States Smelting, Ref. & Mining Co. v. Local Boundary Comm'n, Sup. Ct. Op. No. 727 (File No. 1461), 489 P.2d 140 (1971).

The policy decision as to the mode of annexation is an exercise of lawfully vested administrative discretion which the supreme court will review only to determine if administrative, legislative or constitutional mandates were disobeyed or if the action constituted an abuse of discretion. Port Valdez Co. v. City of Valdez, Sup. Ct. Op. No. 1044 (File No. 1996), 522 P.2d 1147 (1974).

Wood River made part of city of Dillingham. — When the legislature failed to disapprove of the commission's proposal, the commission's local boundary change, which consisted of the abolition of the boundary of Wood River and the confirmation of the boundary of the city of Dillingham, had the effect of making Wood River a part of the city of Dillingham. When the boundary commission's proposal for boundary change became effective, the city of Wood River was dissolved, even though the statutory procedures for dissolution of cities were not followed. Oesau v. City of Dillingham, Sup. Ct. Op. No. 467 (File No. 856), 439 P.2d 180 (1968).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

By this section and AS 44.47.587 it is provided that the commission must make studies of local government boundary problems, develop proposed standards and procedures for changing boundaries, and consider boundary changes requested of it by political subdivisions. The commission may conduct hearings on boundary changes and present proposed changes to the legislature. The change becomes effective unless the legislature disapproves; legislative silence permits the change. United States Smelting, Ref. & Mining Co. v. Local Boundary Comm'n, Sup. Ct. Op. No. 727 (File No. 1461), 489 P.2d 140 (1971).

Legislature handicapped in absence of known standard governing change of boundary lines. — Under Alaska's Constitution the supreme court has the duty of insuring that administrative action complies with the laws of Alaska. Absent known standards governing the changing of local boundary lines, the legislature's ability to make rational decisions as to whether to approve or disapprove proposed local boundary changes of the commission is seriously handicapped. United States Smelting, Ref. & Mining Co. v. Local Boundary Comm'n, Sup. Ct. Op. No. 727 (File No. 1461), 489 P.2d 140 (1971).

Alaska Const., art. X, § 12, empowers the legislature to veto commission actions. United States Smelting, Ref. & Mining Co. v. Local Boundary Comm'n, Sup. Ct. Op. No. 727 (File No. 1461), 489 P.2d 140 (1971).

But such section does nothing to compel the legislature to review for compliance with its own requirements. United States Smelting, Ref. & Mining Co. v. Local Boundary Comm'n, Sup. Ct. Op. No. 727 (File No. 1461), 489 P.2d 140 (1971).

19 AAC 10.010. CONSIDERATIONS RELATING TO INCORPORATION STANDARDS. (a) In determining whether the boundaries include all areas necessary to provide municipal services on an efficient scale for the purposes of AS 29.18.011(a)(2), the commission will, in its discretion and without limitation, consider land ownership patterns, land use patterns, population densities, the location of existing and anticipated transportation facilities, existing and anticipated roads and trails, existing or potential watersheds, and other areas necessary for the provision of municipal services.

(b) In determining whether the economy of a community has the human and financial resources necessary to provide local services for the purposes of AS 29.18.011(a)(3), the commission will, in its discretion and without limitation, consider existing and anticipated industrial, commercial, or resource development and education levels of the residents of the community, in addition to the factors listed in AS 29.18.011(a)(3).

(c) In determining whether the population of a community is stable enough to support local government for the purposes of AS 29.18.011(a)(4), the commission will, in its discretion and without limitation, consider community growth patterns, age distribution patterns, seasonal population changes, and other factors which indicate the stability of the population of the community.

(d) In determining whether there is a demonstrated need for local government in a community for the purposes of AS 29.18.011(a)(5), the commission will, in its discretion and without limitation, consider existing and anticipated social and economic problems, whether major economic development is anticipated, adequacy of existing services, and other factors which reflect the need for local government. 19 AAC 10.020. APPLICATION OF STANDARDS. (a) The commission will not allow the incorporation of a community located within an organized borough unless the petitioners demonstrate to the satisfaction of the commission that the services to be exercised by the proposed city cannot be reasonably or practicably exercised by the borough on an areawide or non-areawide basis. The commission will consider the requirement of this subsection satisfied if

(1) the commission determines that the municipal services proposed to be exercised by the new city could more economically and efficiently be provided by the city form of government than by the exercise of areawide or non-areawide borough powers; or

(2) the commission determines that the proposed city is remote from the borough seat and is not connected to the borough seat by the state highway system.

(b) The commission will not consider a petition for incorporation of a community located or partially located within an existing city until the petitioners have submitted, and the commission has approved, a petition for detachment from the existing city of the area proposed for incorporation in accordance with this chapter.

(c) The commission will not consider a petition for incorporation of a community located partially within and partially outside an organized borough until the petitioners have submitted, and the commission has approved

(1) a petition for annexation to the borough of the area located outside the borough in accordance with this chapter; or

(2) a petition for detachment of the area proposed for incorporation from the borough in accordance with this chapter.

(d) The commission will deny a petition for incorporation of a community as a city of the first class unless the petitioners demonstrate to the satisfaction of the commission that the community has the ability to generate sufficient local revenues to pay for the local share of the costs of mandatory first-class city services, which include, but are not limited to, the cost of the local contribution for education, the cost of an annual audit of the city accounts, and, for cities in the unorganized borough, the cost of exercising planning, platting, and zoning powers as authorized by AS 29. 19 AAC 10.030. INCORPORATION OF TERRITORY LOCATED WITHIN A MUNICIPALITY. (a) For the incorporation of a community located within a municipality which is providing services to the community which the proposed city will provide upon incorporation, the commission will determine the method by which assets and liabilities are to be distributed between the newly incorporated city and the municipality formerly providing services. In determining the method of transfer of service responsibility and the distribution of assets and liabilities, the commission will, in its discretion, approve an equitable agreement between the municipalities affected but will independently review the proposed agreement.

(b) If, within two years of the date of incorporation, the municipalities involved have failed to reach an agreement under (a) of this section as to the distribution of assets and liabilities, then the commission shall determine the method of transfer of service responsibility and the distribution or transfer of assets and liabilities which shall be binding on the municipalities.

(c) If, in exercising its responsibilities under (b) of this section, the commission determines it necessary, the commission will, in its discretion, employ the services of professional accountants or consultants, and charge the municipalities for the costs incurred. (Eff. 2/21/82, Register 81)

(a) Territory h ty if one or

(1) the contiguous territory is totally surrounded by the city's boundaries;

(2) the land in the territory is wholly owned by the city;

(3) the territory is urban in character;

(4) the territory is in need of municipal services which the city can provide more efficiently than another municipality;

(5) there is a reasonable likelihood that future growth and development will occur within the territory and that annexation of the territory will enable the city to plan for and control that development;

(6) the health, welfare, or safety of city residents is endangered by conditions existing or developing in the territory and annexation will enable the city to remove or relieve those conditions;

(7) the extension into the territory of city services or facilities is necessary to enable the city to provide adequate service to city residents, and it is impossible or impractical for the city to extend the facilities or services unless the territory is within the city's boundaries;

(8) residents or property owners within the territory receive or may be reasonably expected to receive, directly or indirectly, the benefit of city government without commensurate property tax contributions, whether city services are rendered or received inside or outside the territory;

(9) the annexation is otherwise necessary to accomplish a valid public purpose.

(b) Territory which is not contiguous to a city may be annexed to the city if

(1) the land in the territory is wholly owned or leased by the city or used primarily for the performance of city functions; and

(2) annexation is necessary to enable the city to achieve adequate control, protection, or management of the property.

(c) Territory which does not meet the standards of (a) of this section may be annexed to a city if the territory lies between the city boundary and other noncontiguous territory which meets the requirements of (a) of this section.

(d) In determining whether territory is urban in character for the purposes of (a)(3) of this section, the commission will, in its discretion and without limitation, consider whether the property is platted or held for sale for residential or commercial purposes, whether the population density of the territory approximates that of the annexing city, whether the population of the territory stems primarily from actual growth of the city beyond its legal boundaries, and whether the property is valuable primarily by reason of its suitability for prospective urban purposes.

(e) In determining whether the standard established in (a)(8) of this section is met, the commission will consider alternative methods available to the city for offsetting the cost of providing services to individuals or property beyond its property taxation powers. (Eff. 2/21/82, Register 81)

19 AAC 10.080. APPLICATION OF STANDARDS. (a) The commission will not approve an annexation unless the annexing city demonstrates to the satisfaction of the commission that it is capable of extending, and is willing to extend, services to the annexed area as follows:

(1) full municipal services shall be extended to the annexed area immediately unless

(A) the annexation is pursuant to 19 AAC 10.735 — 19 AAC 10.790; or

(B) the immediate extension of full municipal services to the annexed area is impossible because of a lack of necessary facilities, in which case the annexing city shall satisfy the commission that it will provide the services within a reasonable time;

(2) if the annexation is under 19 AAC 10.735 — 19 AAC 10.790, the commission must be satisfied that the city's plan for gradual extension of services reasonably compares with a plan for gradual extension of taxation and provides for extension of full municipal services to the annexed area within the time period established under 19 AAC 10.740.

(b) The commission will, in its discretion, conduct public hearings or investigations after a detachment to determine if the service requirements of residents are being met. If the commission determines that the service requirements of the residents of the territory are not being met, it will, in its discretion, begin annexation proceedings under this chapter.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of (a) of this section, the commission will, in its discretion, approve an annexation by a city which has authority to establish and operate differential taxation zones if the commission is satisfied that the city is willing and able to use that authority to

(1) provide the territory with such services as may be desired by residents of the territory; and

(2) insure that the annexed area is not subjected to unfair taxation for services not available in the annexed area. (Eff. 2/21/82, Register 81)

19 AAC 10.100. DETACHABLE TERRITORY. (a) Territory which is part of a city or unified municipality may be detached from that city or unified municipality if, in the view of the commission, the detachment would be in the best interests of the state, the area to be detached and the municipality affected by the detachment. In determining whether to approve detachment, the commission will consider, but is not limited to, the following factors:

(1) whether the territory is so situated as to render it impractical or unfeasible to extend to the territory municipal sewer, street, water, or other facilities or municipal police, fire, health, or other services;

(2) whether within the territory conditions exist, or there is reasonable prospect for future conditions to exist, which, if not subject to municipal control, would endanger the health or safety of residents;

(3) whether it is likely that future growth and development of the city or unified municipality will occur within the territory; and

(4) whether the territory is needed by the city or unified municipality for a legitimate public purpose.

(b) Territory may be detached from a city or unified municipality if the commission determines that the city or unified municipality has substantially failed or refused to provide needed services to the territory, and there is a substantial likelihood that it will continue to fail or refuse to provide the services, when such services are provided to other areas within the municipality and are supported by taxes levied in the area considered for detachment.

(c) The commission will, in its discretion, conduct public hearings or investigations after the effective date of an annexation to determine whether the extension of services or taxation or use of differential taxation zones is proceeding in a reasonable manner. If the commission determines that the extension of services or taxation or use of differential taxation zones is not progressing in a manner consistent with that set forth in the annexation petition, it will, in its discretion, begin detachment proceedings. (b) If, in fulfillment of the requirement of (a) of this section, petitioners have proposed incorporation of a new municipality, the commission may condition the approval of the detachment upon voter approval of the incorporation proposal. (Eff. 2/21/82, Register 81)

19 AAC 10.120. DISTRIBUTION OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES. (a) If territory sought to be detached is part of a city within an organized borough, the commission will determine the manner in which the assets and liabilities of the territory shall be distributed between the city from which it is being detached and the organized borough. In making this determination, the commission will, in its discretion, approve an equitable agreement between the detaching city and the organized borough but will independently review the proposed agreement.

(b) If the territory sought to be detached is part of a city within the unorganized borough, the commission will determine the manner in which the assets and liabilities of the territory being detached shall be distributed between the city from which the territory is being detached and the state. The commission, after an independent review, will, in its discretion, approve an equitable agreement between the city and the state.

(c) If petitioners have proposed that, following detachment, a new municipality be formed, the provisions of (a) of this section apply to the newly formed municipality and the municipality from which the territory was detached.

(d) If, within two years of the effective date of the detachment, an agreement specifying the manner by which assets and liabilities will be distributed has not been agreed to by the affected parties, the commission will enter an order providing for transfer of service responsibility and distribution of assets and liabilities which shall be binding on the parties affected.

(e) If in exercising its responsibilities under (d) of this section, the commission determines it necessary, the commission will, in its discretion, employ the services of professional accountants or consultants and charge the parties affected for the costs incurred. (Eff. 2/21/82, Register 81)

19 AAC 10.130. DISSOLUTION. (a) A city may be dissolved if the city has no indebtedness, bonded or otherwise, or has proposed a method of repayment which will protect the interests of its creditors, and if the following standards are met:

(1) the city has ceased, for two or more consecutive years, to exercise any of the municipal powers set forth in AS 29.48.030 — 29.48.035;

(2) the city has failed to conduct two or more consecutive regular elections in the manner provided by law; and

(3) the city no longer meets the standards for incorporation as provided by law and regulation.

(b) The commission will, in its discretion, conduct a public hearing or an investigation after the effective date of an incorporation of a city to determine whether municipal services are being provided in a manner consistent with the timetable included in the petition for incorporation. If the commission determines that services are not being provided according to the timetable, the commission will, in its discretion, bring dissolution proceedings under 19 AAC 10.130 — 19 AAC 10.150. (b) In the dissolution of a city within an organized borough, the assets of the city being dissolved become the assets of the borough in which it is located if the borough possesses and exercises the powers to which the assets of the city relate. If the borough does not possess and exercise the relevant powers, the assets of the city being dissolved become the assets of the state.

(c) In the dissolution of a city within the unorganized borough, the assets of the city being dissolved become the assets of the state.

170. Application of standards

19 AAC 10.160. INCORPORATION. An area may incorporate as an organized borough if it meets the statutory standards set forth in AS 29.18.030 and meets the following specific requirements:

- (1) the area includes at least two separate communities;
- (2) transportation services are available at least once a week between communities located within the area on a regularly scheduled or charter basis, or communities located within the area which do not have regularly scheduled transportation services are connected by a highway system;
- (3) there are sufficient anticipated revenues to maintain and operate, at a minimum, the mandatory powers of the proposed borough government;
- (4) there are at least 1,000 people located within the area; and
- (5) the area includes, at a minimum, one entire regional education attendance area unless the commission determines that a smaller area can otherwise meet borough government standards for incorporation. (Eff. 2/21/82, Register 81)

Authority: Art. X, Sec. 12, Ak. Const.
AS 44.47.980

19 AAC 10.170. APPLICATION OF STANDARDS. (a) The commission will not approve an incorporation unless the petitioners demonstrate to the satisfaction of the commission that the proposed borough is capable of providing and willing to provide the mandatory powers of an organized borough within three months of incorporation.

(b) The commission will not consider a petition for incorporation as a borough of an area whose boundaries include only a portion of a city.

(c) The commission will not consider a petition for incorporation of an area located partially or wholly within an organized borough or unified municipality until the petitioners have submitted, and the commission has approved, a petition for detachment of the area from the borough or unified municipality pursuant to 19 AAC 10.100 — 19 AAC 10.120 or 19 AAC 10.230 — 19 AAC 10.250. (b) Notwithstanding the provisions of (a) of this section, for the incorporation of an area which includes an organized city which provides mandatory borough powers, the newly incorporated borough succeeds to the assets and liabilities of the organized city as they relate to the mandatory powers being assumed by the borough.

(c) In determining the method of transfer of service responsibility and the distribution or transfer of assets and liabilities, the commission will, in its discretion, approve an equitable agreement between the municipalities affected but will independently review the proposed agreement.

(d) If, within two years of the date of incorporation, the newly incorporated borough and another municipality affected by the incorporation have failed to reach an agreement as to the method of transfer of service responsibility or the distribution or transfer of assets and liabilities, the commission will enter an order providing for the transfer of service responsibility and the distribution or transfer of assets and liabilities which shall be binding on the municipalities affected.

(e) If, in exercising its responsibilities under (c) of this section, the commission determines it necessary, the commission will, in its discretion, employ the services of professional accountants or consultants and charge the municipalities affected for the costs incurred. 19 AAC 10.190. ANNEXABLE TERRITORY. (a) Territory which is contiguous to an organized borough may be annexed to that borough if one or more of the following standards are met:

- (1) the contiguous territory is totally surrounded by the organized borough's boundaries;
- (2) the land in the territory is wholly owned by the organized borough;
- (3) the territory is in need of municipal services which the organized borough can provide more efficiently than another municipality or the state;
- (4) there is a reasonable likelihood that future growth and development will occur within the territory and annexation of the territory will enable the organized borough to plan for and control that development;
- (5) the health, welfare, or safety of the residents of the organized borough is endangered by conditions existing or developing in the territory and annexation will enable the organized borough to remove or relieve those conditions;
- (6) the extension into the territory of borough services or facilities is necessary to enable the organized borough to provide adequate service to residents of the organized borough, and it is impossible or impractical for the organized borough to extend the facilities or services unless the territory is within the organized borough's boundaries;
- (7) residents or property owners within the territory receive or may be reasonably expected to receive, directly or indirectly, the benefit of organized borough services without commensurate property tax contributions, whether such services are rendered or received inside or outside the territory; or
- (8) the annexation is otherwise necessary to accomplish a valid public purpose.

(b) Territory which is not contiguous to the borough may be annexed to the borough if

(1) the land in the territory is wholly owned or leased by the borough or used primarily for the performance of borough functions; and

(2) annexation is necessary to enable the borough to achieve adequate control, protection or management of the property.

(c) Contiguous territory which does not meet the requirements of (a) of this section may nevertheless be annexed to a borough if the territory lies between the borough boundary and noncontiguous territory which does meet the requirements of (a) of this section.

(d) In determining whether the standard established in (a)(7) of this section is met, the commission will consider alternate methods available to the borough for offsetting the cost of providing services to individuals or property beyond its property taxation powers.

(e) The commission will, in its discretion, conduct public hearings or investigations after a detachment to determine if the service requirements of the territory are being met. If the commission determines that the service requirements of the territory are not being met, it will, in its discretion, begin annexation proceedings under this chapter. If possible, areawide and non-areawide borough services shall be extended to the annexed area immediately. If the immediate extension of services is not possible, the commission must be satisfied that the services not immediately extended will be extended as soon as possible and that reasonable plans have been formulated for the capital expansion necessary for the extension of services. In determining whether to approve a detachment, the commission will consider, but is not limited to, the following factors:

An annexation petition submitted to the commission may request that during each of not more than five full fiscal years after the annexation takes effect, the rate of taxation for city services on the annexed properties shall be at a specified percentage of the full city tax rate. The proposal shall provide an increase from fiscal year to fiscal year until the percentage equals 100 percent of the full city tax rate. The city may not tax annexed property at a rate other than the percentage authorized for that year; however, the city pursuant to AS 29.53.405 may levy taxes on the annexed area at a different percentage from that authorized for the year in question, if the difference is attributed to the cost of provision in the territory of a special service not supported by the general city levy. The election is not valid unless the notices pertaining to the election, the way in which the proposal is phrased on the ballot, and the timing of the election have been approved by the commissioner. (c) Before incorporation of a borough located wholly or partially within an existing borough or of a city located wholly or partially within an existing city may become effective, the commission will submit the proposed incorporation to the legislature in the manner provided for boundary changes.
