Analysis CSHB 244 (Finance)

Section 4 would require the Department to report to the Legislature on the status of land in the land disposal bank every two years instead of every year, beginning in 1991. This information is currently provided to the Legislature in a report that also meets the requirements of AS 38.05.300 (b), which calls for a report each year showing the classifications of state land made during the previous year. If AS 38.05.300 (b) is amended so that a report to the Legislature is required every other year instead of every year, the combined savings for these two reports will total approximately $250 for each year the reports are not provided to the Legislature.

Section 5 and Section 6 require the Department of Natural Resources to prepare and submit the state's proposed five-year oil and gas leasing program to the Legislature every two years instead of every year. This would result in a savings of approximately $6,675 in publication costs every other year. During the year when the document is not published and submitted to the Legislature, an addendum to the five-year schedule would be prepared. This would allow us to continue the current program of adding oil and gas sales to the schedule each year. In general, a sale must be listed on the schedule for at least two years before it can be held.

Section 7 would permit the Department of Natural Resources to discontinue submitting a report concerning historical and projected oil and gas consumption to the Legislature. This would save approximately $1,825 in publication costs every year. The Department would still be required to develop and make available to the public each year information concerning the specific findings and reasons on which royalty oil export determinations are made.

CSHB 244 (FINANCE)

This Fiscal Note reflects the savings which would result from publishing APOC's annual report every other year rather than every year.

Annual report costs have decreased substantially since 1989, because the commission has changed from a formal report format to a memorandum, and has photocopied the report in-house. Additionally, the summary tables will be distributed separately from the annual report, so the cost of publishing the tables is not included in this fiscal note.

Although it is assumed that staff would spend more time writing a biennial report, since it would include information from a longer period of time, this increase has not been factored into the attached cost figures.

This fiscal year (FY 90), it cost $120 in postage to distribute the FY 89 report, and $100 to photocopy the report. It is assumed that if the report is published every other year, the report will be longer by half, resulting in an additional $60 in postage and $50 in duplication costs. It is also assumed that the commission will retain the memorandum format in coming years. Although every other year, report preparation costs will exceed base costs by $110, in the off years when a report is not published, the state will save $220, for an overall savings of $110 over each two-year period.

CONTINUATION OF FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS
For House Bill No. 244

Prepared by Division of Information Services
Department of Administration
February 9, 1990

Fiscal impact for FY90 is 0. If enacted, HB244 would reduce reporting requirements for various State publications from an annual to a biennial basis. Sections 9, 10, 11 and 12 specifically affect the Division of Information Services. In 1988, the Division combined the various statutorily required, telecommunication-related reports under one cover. Submitting the report every two years rather than every year, would decrease the Division's contractual annual operating expenses by $1,134 in the years the report is not published (FY92, FY94, and FY96). The first biennial report will be required in the First Session of the Seventeenth Legislature (FY91). The decrease in contractual expenses would result from a reduction in publication ($8340) and mailing costs ($2.40 x 125 copies = $300).

ANALYSIS : (Attach a separate page if necessary) The APBC has a statutory requirement for an annually updated Long Range Plan. If CS HB244 passes, the updating, printing and distribution would occur only every other year. Estimated costs for FY'90 are 2.8. The costs would continue in FY'91, be eliminated in '92, reappear in '93, disappear in '94, etc. If the 2.8 were removed in FY'92, the APBC would have to receive a 2.8 increase in FY'93 when the Plan would be due again.

CONTINUATION of FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

For Bill/Resolution No. CSHB244 (FIN)

The department will not realize a saving through amendment of AS44.42.055(a) and (b). The amendment proposes to publish the state public facilities plan biennially instead of annually as a saving measure. The last state public facilities plan was published in February, 1984. Funding decreases and position cuts have made updates to the plan impossible without a major redirection of resources away from federally required transportation planning and data collection efforts.

In the FY85 budget, the majority of the staffing to perform public facilities planning was deleted. The last public facilities planner positions were deleted in the FY86 budget. Since then the department's facilities' needs have been identified in the long range capital improvement program, "Six-Year CIP", however, the needs of other entities throughout the state have not been consistently addressed by this department. The life cycle cost analysis, and many of the other items covered by this statute are not performed.

SUBJECT: List of State Agencies Legally Required to Submit Annual Reports

Attached please find a list of boards, commissions, and other state agencies currently required to make annual reports. This list was compiled through the "STAIRS" database on ALECSYS using only two search queries, "annual (adj) report" and "report (adj) annually". These search queries most likely did not turn up all instances of statutory language requiring annual reports.

Please don't hesitate to call if you have questions regarding this list.

This Fiscal Note reflects the savings which would result from publishing APOC's annual report every other year rather than every year.

Although it is assumed that staff would spend more time writing a biennial report, since it would include information from a longer period of time, this increase has not been factored into the attached cost figures.

It costs $480.00 in postage to distribute the narrative portion of the FY 88 report, $160.00 in postage to distribute the summary tables, and $1,190.00 to print the report. It is assumed that if the report is published every other year, the report will be longer by half, resulting in an additional $240.00 in postage for the narrative portion of the annual report. The tables which contain annual statistical information would double in size, resulting in $160.00 in additional postage over the base year. Finally, if the report exceeds the size of an annual report by half, printing costs will increase by $580.00. As a result, although every other year report preparation costs will exceed base costs by $1,000.00, in the off years when a report is not published the state will save $1,600.00, for an overall savings of $600.00 over each two-year period.

Analysis CSHB 244 (Finance)

Section 4 would require the Department to report to the Legislature on the status of land in the land disposal bank every two years instead of every year, beginning in 1991. This information is currently provided to the Legislature in a report that also meets the requirements of AS 38.05.300 (b), which calls for a report each year showing the classifications of state land made during the previous year. If AS 38.05.300 (b) is amended so that a report to the Legislature is required every other year instead of every year, the combined savings for these two reports will total approximately $250 for each year the reports are not provided to the Legislature.

Section 5 and Section 6 require the Department of Natural Resources to prepare and submit the state's proposed five-year oil and gas leasing program to the Legislature every two years instead of every year. This would result in a savings of approximately $6,675 in publication costs every other year. During the year when the document is not published and submitted to the Legislature, an addendum to the five-year schedule would be prepared. This would allow us to continue the current program of adding oil and gas sales to the schedule each year. In general, a sale must be listed on the schedule for at least two years before it can be held.

Section 7 would permit the Department of Natural Resources to discontinue submitting a report concerning historical and projected oil and gas consumption to the Legislature. This would save approximately $1,825 in publication costs every year. The Department would still be required to develop and make available to the public each year information concerning the specific findings and reasons on which royalty oil export determinations are made.

ANALYSIS : (Attach a separate page if necessary) The APBC has a current requirement for an annually updated Long Range Plan. If HB244 passes, the updating, printing and distribution would occur only every other year. The associated costs, therefore would drop in FY'90, reappear in '91 drop in '92, reappear in '93, etc. The APBC can provide accounting assistance to stations with the 2.8 in the years when the report would not be required.

CONTINUATION of FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

For Bill/Resolution No. 244

Prepared by Division of Telecommunications
Department of Administration

April 3, 1989

IV Analysis: If enacted, HB244 would reduce reporting requirements for various State publications from an annual to a biennial basis. Sections 9, 10 and 11 specifically affect telecommunications operations of the department. In 1988, the Division of Telecommunications combined the various statutorily required reports under one cover. Submitting the report every two years rather than every year, would decrease the Division of Telecommunication's annual contractual operating expenses in FY90, FY92 and FY94 by $1,134. This decrease in contractual expenses would result from a reduction in publication ($834) and mailing costs ($$2.40 \times 125 \text{ copies} = \300 .)

Section 9 amends AS 44.21.315(c) to biennially report to the governor and legislature on instructional telecommunications activities and long-term development plans. Section 10 amends AS 44.21.315(d) to biennially report to the governor on plans for teleconferencing facilities and services, while Section 11 amends AS 44.21.320(e) to biennially report on authorizations for independent development of telecommunications systems within specific agencies. Such activities are discussed in the annual report of the Division of Telecommunications.

CONTINUATION of FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

For Bill/Resolution No. HB244

The department will not realize a saving through amendment of AS44.42.055(a) and (b). The amendment proposes to publish the state public facilities plan biennially instead of annually as a saving measure. The last state public facilities plan was published in February, 1984. Funding decreases and position cuts have made updates to the plan impossible without a major redirection of resources away from federally required transportation planning and data collection efforts.

In the FY85 budget, the majority of the staffing to perform public facilities planning was deleted. The last public facilities planner positions were deleted in the FY86 budget. Since then the department's facilities' needs have been identified in the long range capital improvement program, "Six-Year CIP", however, the needs of other entities throughout the state have not been consistently addressed by this department. The life cycle cost analysis, and many of the other items covered by this statute are not performed.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
RESEARCH AGENCY

May 16, 1985

MEMORANDUM

TO: Representative Mike Navarre

ATTN: Roger Poppe

FROM: Gretchen Keiser
Legislative Analyst

RE: Costs of Annual Reports and Plans Produced by the State of Alaska
Research Request 85-261

You requested this agency to conduct a review of all annual reports and plans produced by State agencies. We were asked to identify potential savings if these reports and plans were produced on a biennial basis. You asked us to distinguish among reports and plans required under Alaska Statute by the legislature, those required by the governor or the federal government, and those produced without an express statutory requirement.

In order to prepare this memorandum, we requested the following information from all State agencies on each annual report or plan they produce:

- 1) a breakdown of estimated costs to produce each report or plan (i.e., research and writing, printing, and distribution);
- 2) an estimate of savings if a report or plan were produced on a biennial basis;
- 3) a brief explanation of how staff time would be reallocated if a report or plan were produced on a biennial basis;
- 4) the statutory citation, if appropriate; and
- 5) a brief identification of problems which might arise if a report or plan were produced on a biennial basis.

The number of annual reports and plans and the cost information obtained from the State agencies is summarized in Table 1. The agencies identified 41 annual reports/plans which are required by the Legislature under Alaska Statute (excluding information pending from the Department of Labor). The estimated cost of preparing these annual documents is about $515,000/year. If all reports or plans required by the legislature were prepared on a biennial basis, the agencies estimated that about $234,000 (or 23 percent of the estimated biennial costs) would be saved every two years.

Representative Navarre

It should be noted that the agencies indicated that problems would occur if many of these reports or plans required by the legislature were prepared on a biennial basis. In many cases, the annual report provides an efficient summary of commonly requested information. In addition, some annual reports are used for planning and budgeting purposes. Nevertheless, agencies identified about $139,000 in potential savings in cases where biennial reports or plans would pose no problem.

Table 1 also provides the above information for annual reports and plans: 1) required under Alaska Statute (by the governor, commissioner, etc.); 2) required by the federal government; and 3) not specifically required under Alaska Statute. State agencies identified about $170,000 in potential savings in all categories of reports which could be prepared on a biennial basis without problems from the agency's perspective.¹ Tables 2, 3 and 4 provide detailed information on specific annual reports and plans prepared by each State agency.

In addition, all State agencies contribute to the Annual Performance Report prepared by the Office of Budget and Management (OMB), as required by AS 37.07.09. Based on cost figures from six agencies as well as the OMB, we estimate that this annual report costs approximately $36,000 each year for the State to prepare.

In general, the State agencies indicated that if a report or plan were prepared on a biennial basis, staff resources would be reallocated to either program and plan implementation/management, data management, or different projects currently understaffed.

We will forward the comments received from the Department of Labor once they are received by this office. We hope that this information is useful to you. Please contact us if you have any questions.

¹These savings include staff salaries and benefits which would likely be reassigned to other tasks without a true "saving" in State funds.

RE: Costs of Annual Reports and Plans Produced by the State of Alaska
Research Request 85-261 (Supplemental Information)

This memorandum, which supplements our May 16, 1985 memorandum, provides information on reports and plans prepared by the Alaska Department of Labor. The department's cost estimates are summarized below. In addition, we have revised Table 1 from our earlier memorandum in order to include the Department of Labor's costs in the summary of annual reports and plans prepared by all State agencies.

The Department of Labor is not required to submit any annual reports or plans to the Alaska Legislature. The department publishes the report entitled Annual Planning Information, which reflects annual data collection and reporting responsibilities under numerous federal contracts with the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The department has not segregated staff time spent on research and writing of this report from its routine production of labor statistics for the federal contracts. According to the department, it is impossible to estimate the research and writing costs for this report at this time. Printing costs average about $6,500 and distribution costs about $3,000 each year. The department indicates that a biennial report would be inadvisable because of the heavy demand for current Alaska labor market data.

The department is required by AS 23.20.022 to submit to the Governor a biennial Unemployment Insurance Actuarial report. The federal government also requires this biennial report. The biennial costs are estimated to be: $10,755 (research and writing); $1,400 (printing); and $100 (distribution).

Table 1 summarizes the number of reports and plans and cost information obtained from the State agencies. It has been revised to include the Annual Planning Information report prepared by the Department of Labor in the category of reports not specifically required by Alaska Statute.

RE: Potential State Savings by Producing Annual Reports and Plans on a Biennial Basis
Research Request 85-261

You requested this agency to determine how much money could be saved by the State if the annual Energy Plan for Alaska were prepared on a bi-ennial basis. This memorandum is a followup to our conversation on March 26, 1985.

According to Mark Miller, Development Specialist responsible for preparing the annual Energy Plan in the Office of Energy (Department of Commerce and Economic Development), they could save about $10,000 in editing, printing and distribution expenses if the plan were not produced in 1986. He indicated that about 50 percent of his time is allocated to the energy plan--both the written document and the interagency planning and implementation process. If he were not spending time producing a written plan in FY 86, he would likely devote that time to implementing the 1985 energy plan so that there would likely be no savings in staff salary under the biennial plan approach.

Mr. Miller also mentioned several other points regarding the costs of preparing the 1985 Energy Plan for Alaska:

- 1) The other agencies involved (Alaska Power Authority, DC&RA, DOT/PF, DNR, DHSS and the Office of the Governor) were not reimbursed by the Office of Energy for their staff time and travel expenses.
- 2) The teleconferencing services used during the preparation of the energy plan were not charged to the Office of Energy.
- 3) Forty percent of the Office of Energy's FY 85 budget is federal receipts; no federal funds were spent on preparing the energy plan.

You also requested this agency to determine the amount of money being spent annually by the State to produce all its annual reports and plans. We were also asked to estimate the amount of money the State could save be preparing these reports and plans on a biennial rather than annual basis. A letter requesting this information is being sent to all commissioners and the Administrative Director of the Court System. For your information, a copy of the letter and distribution list is attached. We anticipate a research completion date of May 1, 1985 provided all agencies respond in a timely manner.
