Ann -

Final SCS CSHB 146 (Fin) appears to amend existing statutes in Secs. 1, 3, 5, and 7 and apply a four-year, Dec. 31, 1999, sunset date. It further reenacts existing law in Secs. 2, 4, and 6, as of the day after sunset, January 1, 2000.

Note problem with title caused by addition of effective date. Is accompanying resolution also being drafted?

FROM: Gerald P. Luckhaupt

Enclosed is the Senate Committee Substitute you requested. I do have one comment concerning the amendment adopted by the committee to the definition of "mushing sweepstakes", now found in bill section 7. The amendment altered the definition of "mushing sweepstakes" so that the definition of that type of charitable gaming (a mushing sweepstakes) is no longer cast in general terms with a limitation on who may conduct this type of gaming event (the Iditarod Race Committee). Now a "mushing sweepstakes" as a type of charitable gaming is specifically tied in definition to the Iditarod sled dog race. The legislature has not previously defined a type of charitable gaming in terms of a specific event despite many opportunities to do so. See, for example, the definitions of "ice classic", "canned salmon classic", "mercury classic", etc., in AS 05.15.690. This reluctance to define a type of charitable gaming by referencing a specific event probably results from the prohibition on local or special laws contained in article II, section 19 of the Alaska Constitution. As a result it appears that the legislature has traditionally tried to define the type of charitable gaming in a neutral, generic sort of way while simultaneously limiting who can conduct that generic type of charitable gaming. While it is my opinion that limiting the application of a general law locally or specially is no less violative of the prohibition on local or special acts in the constitution, starting with a general law (and then limiting its application) at least provides an argument that the legislature has attempted to abide with the constitutional requirements in this regard. Therefore, you may want to consider deleting "the Iditarod" on page 3, line 2 of the SCS and inserting "a" to provide a general definition of the charitable gaming event.

Re: CS HB 146 - Sled Dog Race Classic

Dear Senator:

On March 3rd this year, the Board of Directors of the Alaska State Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution supporting legislation that would create a sweepstakes or lottery to support the official state sport of sled dog racing. We believe the economic and cultural impact of sled dog racing on the state of Alaska is important, and deserves adequate financial support. I have attached a copy of our resolution for your information.

The Alaska State Chamber of Commerce supports the legislation contained in CSHB 146, and urges your support for passage of this bill.

ALASKA STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Resolution 95-11

Support for Sled Dog Racing

WHEREAS, sled dog racing is the official state sport in the State of Alaska; and

WHEREAS, the Iditarod Trail International Sled Dog Race has evolved into an event which has captured the attention and curiosity of the world; and

WHEREAS, the economic impact generated by the Iditarod has recently been determined to be in excess of $20 million annually; and

WHEREAS, the Iditarod is important to Alaskans, as it serves as a reminder of our historic past as well as a celebration of the proud and rugged spirit of the Last Frontier; and

WHEREAS, it is important that the Iditarod be adequately supported financially so as to continue to be an important economic tool;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Alaska State Chamber of Commerce urges the 19th Alaska Legislature to adopt as law bills that will be put before them which would enable the creation of a sweepstakes or lottery to support the official state sport of sled dog racing as outlined in HB 146 and CSSB 66.

The Honorable Lyda Green
Alaska State Legislature
State Capitol
Juneau, Alaska 99801-1182

My dear Senator Green:

The following will serve as additional support for and answer questions regarding the implementation of the "Iditarod Sweepstakes" as proposed in SB 66.

GENERAL SITUATION

The Iditarod and its large national sponsors have been, and continue to be, the target of an ever-increasing amount of negative and harmful publicity by various radical special interest groups. As a way to diversify its funding base, and as a way to insulate itself from the most measurable effect of the animal rights groups (the erosion of financial support from large national advertisers outside the State of Alaska), this past spring the Iditarod Trail Committee, Inc. (ITC), asked the legislature to consider a permanent fund check-off which would allow Alaskan's to support their Race. This effort ultimately failed... not because of a lack of support for the Iditarod, but because of the many sensitivities surrounding the permanent fund itself.

As was predicted this past spring the two remaining outside sponsors announced this fall that they would not be renewing their sponsorship of the Race. $390,000 disappeared from the Race budget this year and an additional $175,000 will disappear this next year.

For the past six months the ITC has worked very hard to replace the lost revenues. Revenues which made it possible for the ITC to stage the caliber of Race which Alaskan's have come to expect, and the caliber of Race which, through national and international television coverage, helped to 'export Alaska' and benefit the visitor industry.

While corporate Alaska as well as individual Alaskans have responded quite admirably, the ITC believes it is vitally important to put a mechanism in place which will help to ensure the long-term financial stability of the Race. The ITC believes that the passage of SB 66, which would allow the ITC to conduct 'The Iditarod Sweepstakes,' a game of chance where a prize of money would be awarded to the closest guess to the winning time of the Iditarod, represents a significant fundraising opportunity for Alaska's Iditarod and would provide the ITC with an ongoing and stable funding base.

ECONOMIC IMPORTANCE OF THE IDITAROD

According to an economic impact report prepared by the Gilmore Research Group in December of 1992, the Iditarod attracted approximately sixteen (16%) percent of the state's out-of-state visitors during the Fall, Winter and Spring season. The race itself also draws thousands of visitors from within the state. These persons attend numerous events, stay at local hotels, eat at local restaurants, rent cars, buy gifts and participate in local cultural and entertainment activities. They are an important source of revenue. Their expenditures contribute to the local economy in the form of jobs, sales and taxes. Based upon the methodology utilized in this particular study, the Iditarod generates a collective economic impact to various areas of the State in excess of 15 million dollars annually.

In addition, over the years there has been extraordinary television coverage of the Iditarod which has been of significant benefit to the State and its visitor industry. Each year, to be conservative, approximately 1/2 of the total broadcast time focuses on, or accentuates, issues and images that support Alaska tourism. These issues include the scenery, the history, the frontier image, the romance of the wilderness and wildlife, as well as the "rugged individualist nature" of the people who live in Alaska.

In 1995, a one-hour Iditarod special will be produced for syndication domestically and internationally. It is anticipated that the special will be aired in media markets including seventy-five (75%) percent of U.S. households. While it is difficult to place a true value on the ability of the ITC to "Export Alaska" through this type of medium, the cost for comparable advertising would easily be in excess of 2 million dollars annually.

COMMUNITIES INVOLVED IN THE IDITAROD

In 1995, the Iditarod Trail International Sled Dog Race will travel through twenty-seven (27) cities, towns, villages and/or checkpoints along the 1,049 mile Iditarod Trail.

Anchorage, Eagle River, Wasilla, Knik, Yentna Station, Skwentna, Finger Lake, Rainy Pass, Rohn Roadhouse, Nikolai, McGrath, Takotna, Ophir, Iditarod, Shageluk, Anvik, Grayling, Eagle Island, Kaltag, Unalakleet, Shaktoolik, Koyuk, Elim, Golovin, White Mountain, Safety and Nome.

IMPLEMENTATION OF AN IDITAROD SWEEPSTAKES

Current law provides for the conduct of events similar in nature to the proposed "Iditarod Sweepstakes." Ice classics, rain classics, goose classics, mercury classics, canned salmon classics, salmon classics and king salmon classics are held annually to benefit certain causes and/or organizations.

While a business plan, or detailed plans for implementation are yet to be created, suffice it to say at this point that the ITC is committed to working closely with the Department of Revenue and the Division of Charitable Gaming to ensure that all aspects of the permitting and reporting processes are adhered to should this bill become law.

It is believed that a very sizable number of people would choose to participate in the Iditarod Sweepstakes by choosing the winning time of the race. Precisely how many remains to be seen. However, the Nenana Ice Classic, as an example, had at least 130,000 individuals purchase tickets this past year and paid out a jackpot of $260,000.

Because of the broad appeal of the Iditarod it can be reasonably assumed that a far greater number of tickets would be sold and a correspondingly higher amount of money could be both paid out to the winner(s) as well as be raised on behalf of the ITC.

THE LIKELIHOOD, OR LACK THEREOF, OF THE OPPORTUNITY FOR MISCHIEF OR FRAUD

In evaluating the potential for mischief or fraud it is believed that virtually no such potential exists.

Each entrant in the Iditarod Sweepstakes would be required to predict the winning time of the Iditarod in days, hours, minutes and seconds. By virtue of the fact that entries would require that seconds also be predicted, it would be virtually impossible for a winning musher to time their finish in such a way as to cross the finish line at a precise pre-established time.

- CONFIDENCE IN THE DAYS -

Furthermore, the Iditarod is a tremendously competitive event. Since 1990, the longest amount of time separating the winner of the Iditarod from the second place finisher has been 12 hours, 50 minutes and 54 seconds. The total number of seconds involved in this difference in time is 46,254. If, say for example, 250,000 tickets were sold and the number of multiple guesses were somewhat evenly distributed over the 46,254 seconds there would be at least five (5) jackpot winners.

MUSHERS INVOLVED IN THE IDITAROD

Fifty-nine (59) mushers will begin Iditarod XXIII. Of the fifty-nine, forty-six are from the State of Alaska. Other States within the United States are represented as well including, Kentucky (1), Minnesota (1), Montana (1), Utah (1), and Washington (1).
