FISCAL NOTE

STATE OF ALASKA
2003 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. CSHB134(STA)

The legislation authorizes the Department of Corrections to enter into leases with five municipalities for new or expanded correctional facilities. The municipalities would fund these projects by issuing lease-revenue bonds. These bonds would require the municipalities to pledge the state's lease payments to the debt service, to the extent they are appropriated, and provide a trustee bank with a title interest in the new or improved facility for the benefit of the bond purchasers. This is a matter concerning the Department of Revenue as the credit of the State of Alaska is used each time a lease is directly pledged to a bond sale and, as such, the Department should be involved in the debt issuance.

Over the past 20 years the state has made a concerted effort to centralize the issuance of debt involving the state's credit through the State Bond Committee. It is noteworthy that the Anchorage jail, which is the most recent instance when the Legislature authorized a lease-revenue transaction, was approved by the State Bond Committee, including all of the Municipality of Anchorage's transaction documents and terms of sale. The national bond rating agencies' primary contact during the review of the Anchorage Jail Revenue Bonds was the State of Alaska Department of Revenue. These bond rating agencies review and rate almost all transactions of the state, and a lack of direct state involvement will draw concern during the state's annual ratings review.

In providing the cost estimates in this fiscal note, the following assumptions were made:

1. The municipalities will issue bonds in FY2004 and FY2005.
2. The municipalities will bring no pledge of additional security to the financing(s), other than the state's credit and bond sale proceeds.
3. The municipalities will have to issue these bonds separately.
4. As state-supported appropriation debt, the bonds will be rated A1, A+, A+, resulting in interest rates comparable to other state-supported certificates of participation.
5. The bonds will have 15-year terms, with fixed-interest rates and level debt service.
6. The municipalities will issue the maximum amount authorized under this legislation for the projects, plus the cost of issuing these bonds.

The legislation requires at least one bond sale from each of the five municipalities listed. This is an inefficient way to raise funds for projects as each transaction will have fixed costs of issuance. Rating agency, bond counsel, financial advisory, printing and other fees will be incurred five times rather than once. This results in bond issuance costs totalling an estimated $1 million to $2 million more than alternative structuring alternatives.

Due to the State Bond Committee's role in these transactions, the state's bond counsel and financial adviser will have to participate in drafting the documents, structuring the transaction, and working with the rating agencies. The cost of this effort is estimated at $135,000 over FY 2004 and 2005.

NOTE: One technical issue with the legislation is the Spring Creek facility expansion. The legislation would authorize the City of Seward to sell bonds for an expansion of the Spring Creek prison. However, Spring Creek currently has certificates of participation outstanding and a title interest in the facility has already been given to the purchasers of these bonds. Similar to a home, you cannot give another first lien pledge to this facility without either paying off the existing obligations or obtaining consent from the bondholders (a very difficult proposition). Under the existing indenture, the City of Seward could not assume ownership of the Spring Creek facility or part of the facility.

 If bond issuance costs are examined, there needs to be a discussion of the type of sale contemplated -- since issuance costs are ascribed differently with a negotiated sale than with a competitive sale.*

ANALYSIS: (Attach a separate page if necessary)

This bill authorizes the Department of Corrections to enter into twenty-five year lease-purchase agreements with the Fairbanks North Star Borough, Matanuska-Susitna Borough, Bethel and Municipality of Anchorage for up to a total of 1,650 beds at state correctional facilities and a new state correctional facility. The bill also provides that if certain conditions are met to the satisfaction of the Department of Corrections, not later than July 1, 2008, the department may enter into a lease-purchase agreement with the City of Seward for up to 400 beds.

2003 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. CSHB 134(STA)

ANALYSIS CONTINUATION

Assume that the local government agencies will fund the costs of the new or expanded correctional facilities construction through revenue or AIDEA bond sales backed by the state leases. Costs of construction for Fairbanks not to exceed $135,000 per bed, and cost of annual lease payments not to exceed $14,600 per bed. For the Bethel facility, costs of construction not to exceed $155,000 per bed, and cost of annual lease payments not to exceed $16,700. Costs of construction for the Matanuska-Susitna Borough are not to exceed $110,000 per bed, and cost of annual lease payments not to exceed $11,000 per bed. The Anchorage facility expansion is subject to available federal funds and legislative appropriation.

Annual Lease Costs, by Facility (shown in miscellaneous line):

Fairbanks Correctional Center: 80 new beds = $1,168,000

Matanuska-Susitna Borough: 1,250 new beds = $10,455,600

Yukon-Kuskokwim Correction Center: 120 beds = $2,004,000

Anchorage Jail: no general fund lease payment (if appropriated, federal funds used for construction)

DOC will require three project management positions during the planning and construction phase.

Additionally, security and life/safety staff and institutional staffing necessary to support the 1,650 new prisoner beds in Alaska is based on about 5 prisoners per 1 staff. Thus, 314 new staff will be needed to support these additional prisoner beds statewide.

In FY08, the $47,982,600 annual costs of incarceration and lease payments can be offset by moving any remaining prisoners housed at state contract facility (Florence Correctional Center) back to Alaska and housing them in the new beds created by this bill. Assume that in FY08, 1,650 prisoners, at $70.00 per day x 365 days = $42,157,500 of savings can be applied to the cost of new beds.

The authorization providing for the possible expansion of the existing facility in Seward by up to 400 beds is subject to the following conditions: (1) that the City of Seward, to the satisfaction of the Department of Corrections, makes land available for housing development; and (2) the the Alaska Vocational Technical Center develops a corrections training program. Costs for construction in Seward not to exceed $135,000 per bed, and cost of annual lease payments not to exceed $14,600 per bed. Total annual costs, including capital and operating for the Spring Creek expansion are estimated at $16,317,200 if fully operational in FY 2010. Department population projections show sufficient numbers of inmates in FY 2010 to fully utilize all of the 2050 beds authorized in this legislation.

The bill provides for federal receipt authority for up to $30,000,000. The authorization to expand the Anchorage Jail facility by 200 beds may only occur if federal funds are received and the Alaska State Legislature appropriates the funds.

End.

Today the House State Affairs Committee adopted the work draft for CS HB 134(23-LS0563D).

Representative Stoltze offered amendment (#1) to Page 2 Line 19 - Change "$14,600" to "$11,000"

Amendment #2 (conceptual) is on page 2 of this fax.

It is my understanding that the same amendments should be made to SB 65 - Senator Lyda Green's companion bill in the Senate (per Jacqueline Tupou in Sen. Green's office.

Amendments to HB 134 Offered by Rep. Seaton:

Amendment #1:

HB 134 is amended on Page 2, line 5, to read:

- (b) The Department of Corrections, not later than July 1, 2008, may enter ~~into~~^{into} an agreement with the Municipality of Seward for expansion of an existing facility by up to 400 beds.

~~Amendment #2:~~

HB 134 is amended on Page 2, line 6, to read:

- (c) The authorizations given by (a) and (b) of this section are subject to the following conditions:

~~Amendment #3:~~

HB 134 is amended on Page 2, line 21, to read:

- ... $14,600 a bed ~~for~~^{for} the Fairbanks, Anchorage, and Seward facilities, with an adjustment for inflation for the Seward costs.

~~Amendment #4:~~

HB 134 is amended on Page 2, line 22, to read:

- (4) Expansion of the existing facility in Seward is conditional upon the Municipality of Seward doing the following to the satisfaction of the Department of Corrections: making land available for housing development, ~~developing economic opportunities in the Municipality, and responsible employment of facility staff.~~^{add} Expansion of the existing facility in Seward is also conditional upon the Alaska Vocational Technical Center developing a corrections training program.

DOC RESPONSES TO HB 134 QUESTIONS RAISED BY COMMITTEE MEMBERS IN HSTA HEARING - 04/01/03

- What are the comparison costs between HB 55, HB 134, and doing nothing?

A handout has been prepared for Committee members comparing costs between HB55, HB134, and doing nothing, i.e., expanding the Arizona contract and conducting increased transports to and from that facility. (Please see handout).

- What is the construction cost on a square foot basis, instead of per bed?

The construction cost of the 1250-bed facility in Sutton is estimated to be about $270.00/ square foot. This is comparable to recent facility construction in Alaska. (Please see handout)

The total project cost may not exceed $110,000/ bed (DOC estimates that the entire design/build project (project hard cost plus soft cost) will cost somewhere between $124-$132 million).

- One policy issue with this bill is that a larger facility is much more economic than building a smaller facilities in many parts of the state. Is that a correct assumption?

Yes.

- We have to house prisoners in Alaska, or we have to house them outside. At what point do we reach critical mass?

We are getting close. We are limited in the prisoners we can send to Arizona: we can't send pre-trial/pre-sentence prisoners, prisoners with mental health issues, or high security prisoners. Additionally, we have a limited number of long-term prisoners that we can send. We are sending prisoners now who have only 14-months to serve. This will only worsen as time goes on, and become increasingly more expensive.

- Another policy issue is whether it is in the state's best interest to export these dollars south, or is it better to build the facility here? What is the economic benefit to the state if we do that?

According to the recent economic impact study by Northern Economics, Inc., if all the facilities are built, about 2,000 jobs will be created statewide during the construction phase of the facilities. These jobs will pay about $84 million dollars in labor income. In terms of total sales of goods and services, about $215 million dollars will be generated in the state during the construction phase.

After construction is over and the new and expanded facilities are in operation, the facilities will create an estimated 798 new jobs statewide, with a combined payroll of $23 million annually.

- Why is the Anchorage expansion a federally funded project, but Bethel wasn't?

The Anchorage expansion was proposed by the U.S. Marshals Service based on present and projected numbers of federal detainees. The DOC currently has a contract with the federal government to hold 50 detainees. We nearly always exceed that number, holding an average of 80 detainees. This week, we have over 100 federal detainees in our facilities. The U.S. Marshals are expanding their operations in the State, and this increased presence will result in increased arrests and additional federal detainees. The Anchorage expansion will be funded with federal dollars and expanded billing to the federal government will pay for the additional operating costs.

The department has submitted a federal funding request for consideration by OMB for the Bethel facility expansion.

- What is the distance from medical facilities and the cost of medical and the handling of prisoners in Sutton verses something in Anchorage?

The proposed facility in Sutton is located fewer than 15 miles from Valley Hospital in Palmer. In addition, a new $87 million 76-bed hospital is planned for a location near the intersection of the Parks and Glenn (fewer than 20 miles away). Additional medical staff are available at the adjacent Palmer Correctional Center as well.

Under the proposed FY04 budget, the department is going to open the Medical Segregation Unit at the Anchorage Jail. Prisoners in the Mat-Su Valley-Eagle River-Anchorage Bowl area can be transferred there for minor procedures and post-operative recovery from major surgery.

NOTES:

- 1 RS Means provides representative national averages, and do not include any contingencies. Alaskan construction costs tend to vary with local supply / demand conditions.
- 2 These estimates are for construction contract costs. They do not include design, project management permitting, artwork, FF&E or design / construction contingency allowances (typically 1.40 factor).
- 3 The estimates are based on 2002 data and have not been escalated for future years.
- 4 Input from a firm that recently constructed a prison in Idaho was that current Anchorage-area costs would be $266.72 / SF (including a 5% scope contingency).

REPRESENTATIVE BILL STOLTZE

Representative_Bill_Stoltze@legis.state.ak.us

Sponsor Statement for House Bill 134

"An Act authorizing the Department of Corrections to enter into agreements with municipalities for new or expanded public correctional facilities in the Fairbanks North Star Borough, the Matanuska-Susitna Borough, Bethel, and the Municipality of Anchorage."

Since 1995, Alaska has been exploring options to resolve over-crowding in its correctional facilities, but the number of prison beds has not been adequately increased to meet demand. Instead, facilities in state remain overcrowded even though approximately 650 prisoners are being held in another state. This results in approximately $20 million per year flowing out of Alaska's economy.

House Bill 134 would increase beds in Alaska by providing legislative authorization for local governments to finance the construction of new prison facilities and add additional beds at facilities currently owned by the state. The State of Alaska would then enter into long-term leases and operate the facilities as part of the state correctional system.

HB 134 proposes incrementally expanding the existing facilities in Bethel, Fairbanks, and Anchorage to meet regional needs by the addition of up to a total of 400 new beds. It resolves current and future overcrowding by building a large centralized 1,200 bed prison in the Matanuska-Susitna Borough. In comparison with other proposed new facilities, the centralized location would result in additional cost savings by its close proximity to services such as food service, police, and the courthouse.

I believe that the Department of Corrections provides quality assurance for the safety of the prison personnel and the public, which is central to the reason I support this approach to build the needed prison space.

I ask for your consideration and support of HB 134 to resolve overcrowding, thereby decreasing the current threat to prison workers' safety, and to the public, while retaining Alaska's prisoners within the state.

This bill authorizes the Department of Corrections to enter into twenty-five year lease agreements with the Fairbanks North Star Borough, Matanuska-Susitna Borough, Bethel and Anchorage for up to a total of 1,600 beds at state correctional facilities and a new state correctional facility.

Assure that the local government agencies will fund the costs of the new or expanded correctional facilities construction through local/AIDEA bond sales backed by the state leases. Costs of construction for Fairbanks, Anchorage and Mat-Su facilities not to exceed $135,000 per bed, and cost of annual lease payments not to exceed $14,600 per bed. For the Bethel facility, costs of construction not to exceed $155,000 per bed, and cost of annual lease payments not to exceed $16,700. (continued on page 2 of 2).

BILL NO. HB134 DOC 3 10

ANALYSIS CONTINUATION

DOC will require three project management positions during the planning and construction phase.

Annual Lease Costs, by Facility (shown in miscellaneous line):

Fairbanks Correctional Center: 80 new beds = $1,168,000
Matanuska-Susitna Borough: 1,200 new beds = $12,101,900
Yukon-Kuskokwim Correction Center: 120 beds = $2,004,000
Anchorage Jail: no lease payment (if appropriated, federal funds used for construction)

Additionally, security and life/safety staff and institutional staffing necessary to support the 1,600 new prisoner beds in Alaska is based on about 5 prisoners per 1 staff. Thus, 314 new staff will be needed to support these additional prisoner beds statewide.

The $41,276,200 annual costs of incarceration and lease payments can be offset by moving any remaining prisoners housed at the out of state contract facility (Florence Correctional Center) back to Alaska and housing them in the new beds created by this bill. Assuming that in FY08, 1,000 prisoners, at $70.00 per day x 365 days = $25,550,000 of savings that can be applied to the cost of new beds. The bill provides for federal receipt authority for up to $30,000,000. The authorization to expand the Anchorage Jail facility by 200 beds may only occur if federal funds are received and the Alaska State Legislature appropriates the funds.

End.

STATE OF ALASKA
2003 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. HB 134

ANALYSIS CONTINUATION

The legislation authorizes the Department of Corrections to enter into leases with four municipalities for new or expanded correctional facilities. The municipalities would fund these projects by issuing lease-revenue bonds. These bonds would require the municipalities to pledge the state's lease payments to the debt service, to the extent they are appropriated, and provide a trustee bank with a title interest in the new or improved facility for the benefit of the bond purchasers. This is a matter concerning the Department of Revenue as the credit of the State of Alaska is used each time a lease is directly pledged to a bond sale and, as such, the Department should be involved in the debt issuance.

Over the past 20 years the state has made a concerted effort to centralize the issuance of debt involving the state's credit through the State Bond Committee. It is noteworthy that the Anchorage jail, which is the most recent instance when the Legislature authorized a lease-revenue transaction, was approved by the State Bond Committee, including all of the Municipality of Anchorage's transaction documents and terms of sale. The national bond rating agencies' primary contact during the review of the Anchorage Jail Revenue Bonds was the State of Alaska Department of Revenue. These bond rating agencies review and rate almost all transactions of the state, and a lack of direct state involvement will draw concern during the state's annual ratings review.

In providing the cost estimates in this fiscal note, the following assumptions were made:

1. The municipalities will issue bonds in FY2004 and FY2005.
2. The municipalities will bring no pledge of additional security to the financing(s), other than the state's credit and bond sale proceeds.
3. The municipalities will have to issue these bonds separately.
4. As state-supported appropriation debt, the bonds will be rated A1, A+, A+, resulting in interest rates comparable to other state-supported certificates of participation.
5. The bonds will have 15-year terms, with fixed-interest rates and level debt service.
6. The municipalities will issue the maximum amount authorized under this legislation ($218,400,000) for the projects, plus the cost of issuing these bonds (while there is no limitation, these costs are estimated at $4,368,000).*

The legislation requires at least one bond sale from each of the four municipalities listed. This is an inefficient way to raise funds for projects as each transaction will have fixed costs of issuance. Rating agency, bond counsel, financial advisory, printing and other fees will be incurred four times rather than once. This results in bond issuance costs totalling an estimated $1 million to $2 million more than alternative structuring alternatives.

Due to the State Bond Committee's role in these transactions, the state's bond counsel and financial adviser will have to participate in drafting the legal documents, structuring the transaction, and working with the rating agencies for each of the bond sales. The cost of this effort is estimated at $135,000 over FY 2004 and 2005.

 If bond issuance costs are examined, there needs to be a discussion of the type of sale contemplated -- since issuance costs are ascribed differently with a negotiated sale of securities than with a competitive sale.*

Dear Senator Green:

I salute your persistence in pursuing a solution for the state's future correctional facility needs. It has not been an easy route. Clearly, there is substantial debate, strident at times, throughout the state regarding the solution to the problem.

The regional approach taken in Senate Bill 65 makes a great deal of sense. There are many advantages of building new facilities in Sutton, Fairbanks, Bethel and Anchorage that outweigh the other "monolithic" approach of a single large facility.

Thank you again for your work.

REPRESENTATIVE BILL STOLTZE

Representative_Bill_Stoltze@legis.state.ak.us

Sponsor Statement for House Bill 134

"An Act authorizing the Department of Corrections to enter into agreements with municipalities for new or expanded public correctional facilities in the Fairbanks North Star Borough, the Matanuska-Susitna Borough, Bethel, and the Municipality of Anchorage."

Since 1995, Alaska has been exploring options to resolve over-crowding in its correctional facilities, but the number of prison beds has not been adequately increased to meet demand. Instead, facilities in state remain overcrowded even though approximately 650 prisoners are being held in another state. This results in approximately $20 million per year flowing out of Alaska's economy.

House Bill 134 would increase beds in Alaska by providing legislative authorization for local governments to finance the construction of new prison facilities and add additional beds at facilities currently owned by the state. The State of Alaska would then enter into long-term leases and operate the facilities as part of the state correctional system.

HB 134 proposes incrementally expanding the existing facilities in Bethel, Fairbanks, and Anchorage to meet regional needs by the addition of up to a total of 400 new beds. It resolves current and future overcrowding by building a large centralized 1,200 bed prison in the Matanuska-Susitna Borough. In comparison with other proposed new facilities, the centralized location would result in additional cost savings by its close proximity to services such as food service, police, and the courthouse.

I believe that the Department of Corrections provides quality assurance for the safety of the prison personnel and the public, which is central to the reason I support this approach to build the needed prison space.

I ask for your consideration and support of HB 134 to resolve overcrowding, thereby decreasing the current threat to prison workers' safety, and to the public, while retaining Alaska's prisoners within the state.

ANALYSIS: (Attach a separate page if necessary)

This bill authorizes the Department of Corrections to enter into twenty-five year lease agreements with the Fairbanks North Star Borough, Matanuska-Susitna Borough, Bethel and Anchorage for up to a total of 1,600 beds at state correctional facilities and a new state correctional facility.

Assume that the local government agencies will fund the costs of the new or expanded correctional facilities construction through local/AIDEA bond sales backed by the state leases. Costs of construction for Fairbanks, Anchorage and Mat-Su facilities not to exceed $135,000 per bed, and cost of annual lease payments not to exceed $14,600 per bed. For the Bethel facility, costs of construction not to exceed $155,000 per bed, and cost of annual lease payments not to exceed $16,700. (continued on page 2 of 2).

BILL NO. HB134 DOC 3 10

ANALYSIS CONTINUATION

DOC will require three project management positions during the planning and construction phase.

Annual Lease Costs, by Facility (shown in miscellaneous line):

Fairbanks Correctional Center: 80 new beds = $1,168,000

Matanuska-Susitna Borough: 1,200 new beds = $12,101,900

Yukon-Kuskokwim Correction Center: 120 beds = $2,004,000

Anchorage Jail: no lease payment (if appropriated, federal funds used for construction)

Additionally, security and life/safety staff and institutional staffing necessary to support the 1,600 new prisoner beds in Alaska is based on about 5 prisoners per 1 staff. Thus, 314 new staff will be needed to support these additional prisoner beds statewide.

The $41,276,200 annual costs of incarceration and lease payments can be offset by moving any remaining prisoners housed at the out of state contract facility (Florence Correctional Center) back to Alaska and housing them in the new beds created by this bill. Assuming that in FY08, 1,000 prisoners, at $70.00 per day x 365 days = $25,550,000 of savings that can be applied to the cost of new beds. The bill provides for federal receipt authority for up to $30,000,000. The authorization to expand the Anchorage Jail facility by 200 beds may only occur if federal funds are received and the Alaska State Legislature appropriates the funds.

End.

FISCAL NOTE

STATE OF ALASKA
2003 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. HB 134

ANALYSIS CONTINUATION

The legislation authorizes the Department of Corrections to enter into leases with four municipalities for new or expanded correctional facilities. The municipalities would fund these projects by issuing lease-revenue bonds. These bonds would require the municipalities to pledge the state's lease payments to the debt service, to the extent they are appropriated, and provide a trustee bank with a title interest in the new or improved facility for the benefit of the bond purchasers. This is a matter concerning the Department of Revenue as the credit of the State of Alaska is used each time a lease is directly pledged to a bond sale and, as such, the Department should be involved in the debt issuance.

Over the past 20 years the state has made a concerted effort to centralize the issuance of debt involving the state's credit through the State Bond Committee. It is noteworthy that the Anchorage jail, which is the most recent instance when the Legislature authorized a lease-revenue transaction, was approved by the State Bond Committee, including all of the Municipality of Anchorage's transaction documents and terms of sale. The national bond rating agencies' primary contact during the review of the Anchorage Jail Revenue Bonds was the State of Alaska Department of Revenue. These bond rating agencies review and rate almost all transactions of the state, and a lack of direct state involvement will draw concern during the state's annual ratings review.

In providing the cost estimates in this fiscal note, the following assumptions were made:

1. The municipalities will issue bonds in FY2004 and FY2005.
2. The municipalities will bring no pledge of additional security to the financing(s), other than the state's credit and bond sale proceeds.
3. The municipalities will have to issue these bonds separately.
4. As state-supported appropriation debt, the bonds will be rated A1, A+, A+, resulting in interest rates comparable to other state-supported certificates of participation.
5. The bonds will have 15-year terms, with fixed-interest rates and level debt service.
6. The municipalities will issue the maximum amount authorized under this legislation ($218,400,000) for the projects, plus the cost of issuing these bonds (while there is no limitation, these costs are estimated at $4,368,000).*

The legislation requires at least one bond sale from each of the four municipalities listed. This is an inefficient way to raise funds for projects as each transaction will have fixed costs of issuance. Rating agency, bond counsel, financial advisory, printing and other fees will be incurred four times rather than once. This results in bond issuance costs totalling an estimated $1 million to $2 million more than alternative structuring alternatives.

Due to the State Bond Committee's role in these transactions, the state's bond counsel and financial adviser will have to participate in drafting the legal documents, structuring the transaction, and working with the rating agencies for each of the bond sales. The cost of this effort is estimated at $135,000 over FY 2004 and 2005.

 If bond issuance costs are examined, there needs to be a discussion of the type of sale contemplated – since issuance costs are ascribed differently with a negotiated sale of securities than with a competitive sale.*

Dear Senator Green:

I salute your persistence in pursuing a solution for the state's future correctional facility needs. It has not been an easy route. Clearly, there is substantial debate, strident at times, throughout the state regarding the solution to the problem.

The regional approach taken in Senate Bill 65 makes a great deal of sense. There are many advantages of building new facilities in Sutton, Fairbanks, Bethel and Anchorage that outweigh the other "monolithic" approach of a single large facility.

Thank you again for your work.

1 Introduction

Senate Bill No. 65, a bill for an act entitled "An Act authorizing the Department of Corrections to enter into agreements with municipalities for new or expanded public correctional facilities in the Fairbanks North Star Borough, the Matanuska-Susitna Borough, Bethel, and the Municipality of Anchorage" was introduced to the twenty-third legislature on February 10, 2003 (Appendix A). This initiative is intended to address the overcrowding of existing correctional facilities in the state and the extensive use of out-of-state correctional facilities.

The Matanuska-Susitna Borough commissioned Northern Economics to conduct an economic impact analysis of proposed new and expanded correctional facilities within the state (Table 1-1). The purpose of this study is to provide the Matanuska-Susitna Borough with information needed to determine the direct and secondary impacts of the following projects:

- 1) A new 1,200-bed prison facility that will be located within the Matanuska-Susitna Borough;
- 2) An 80-bed expansion of the prison facility located in Fairbanks;
- 3) A 120-bed expansion of the prison facility located in Bethel; and
- 4) A 200-bed expansion of the prison facility located in the Municipality of Anchorage.

An input-output analysis using the IMPLAN™ software is conducted to generate the following economic parameters for the impacts of construction and operations of the facilities:

- 1) number of direct, indirect, and induced jobs,
- 2) direct, indirect, and induced labor income,
- 3) direct, indirect, and induced value-added (equivalent to the gross regional product),
- 4) direct, indirect, and induced economic output (total sales of goods and services); and
- 5) local and state government revenues.

Source: Senate Bill No. 65

Estimates of the economic impacts of both the construction and operations of each of these prison facilities to their respective Boroughs or economic regions are summarized in this report. In addition, a combined statewide impact assessment is provided.

The economic impacts are estimated using the cost assumptions indicated in House Bill No. 65, as well as previous estimates of prison construction, and operations and maintenance costs by Northern Economics. Additional data were obtained from published articles on the "Mat-Su Bill" and the proposed prison facilities.

2 Approach and Data Sources

The input-output (IO) analysis is used to quantify the economic impacts of the construction and operations of the correctional facilities. Input-output (IO) analysis is a technique used to show the flow of goods and services within a regional economy. When money enters an economy, it affects more than the initial recipient. When a company operates a business in a community and makes payments to vendors, its employees, the local government, including payments for other factors of production, these entities become the direct beneficiaries (the payments are the direct effects). These direct beneficiaries, in turn, buy supplies from other local firms and hire workers. The shops selling the supplies make additional purchases, as do the workers or employees. The additional rounds of spending caused by the vendors, the local government, and employees' expenditures are part of the subsequent indirect and induced impacts, which are often called secondary impacts. It is typical that much of the secondary impact from a project occurs through expenditures by households and the government.

A large share of local purchases may be transferred to out-of-state suppliers. The money spent on the project flows through the economy until it is dissipated by these out-of-state purchases. The impacts of purchases from suppliers outside the state are excluded from the estimates. The IMPLAN software was used to create an input-output model for each of the regions: 1) Matanuska-Susitna Borough, 2) Fairbanks North Star Borough, 3) Bethel Census Area, and 4) Municipality of Anchorage.

Table 2-1 and Table 2-2 show the estimated construction costs and operations costs for each facility. The construction costs were based on the average capital construction costs of $135,000 per bed for the MSB, Fairbanks, and Anchorage facilities and $155,000 per bed for the Bethel facility (as stipulated in Senate Bill No. 65). The operations costs for each facility were based on previous information provided by the Borough and from a report cited in the Anchorage Daily News indicating a cost of $110.39 per prisoner per day for the MSB facility. The operating costs for the other facilities were adjusted based on differences in logistics and availability of resources.

Table 2-1. Estimated Construction Costs for the Proposed Correctional Facilities

Facility Location	Number of Beds	Capital Cost ($ Millions)
Sutton	1,200	$162.00
Fairbanks	80	$10.80
Bethel	120	$18.60
Anchorage	200	$27.00

Table 2-2. Estimated Annual Operating Costs by Facility

Facility Location	Number of Beds	Operating Cost ($ Millions)
Sutton	1,200	$48.35
Fairbanks	80	$3.60
Bethel	120	$5.68
Anchorage	200	$8.06

3 Results of the Economic Impact Assessment

This section shows the results of the economic impact assessment of both construction activities and operations related to the new construction or expansion of the proposed correctional facilities in the state. The changes resulting from an increase in economic activity from these activities in each of the economic regions or Boroughs and/or Municipality are reported, particularly the potential changes in employment, total sales of goods and services, total value added (or gross regional product), and labor income in the region. The direct, indirect, and induced effects are reported. The direct effects include all the local expenses that the correctional facilities would incur in the region. The model eliminates the expenses that are paid outside of the region, and are treated as "leakages" to the regional economy. The indirect effects capture all the additional economic activity generated in the sectors that support the prison construction and operations (i.e., suppliers of building materials, food supplies, maintenance and repair services, transportation services, etc). The induced effects capture the additional economic activity brought about by local spending by households and government. As jobs are created in the region labor income increases. The additional personal income earned by the residents gets re-spent in the local economy and create induced effects. Most of the induced effects are felt in the retail sector, restaurants, amusement centers, or the services sectors.

Table 3-1 summarizes the total direct, indirect, and induced impacts of the construction activities associated with the new facility and the expanded facilities. If all the facilities are built, about 2,000 jobs will be created statewide during the construction phase of the facilities. These jobs will pay about $84 million dollars in labor income. In terms of total sales of goods and services, about $215 million dollars will be generated in the state during the construction phase.

Note that the total statewide estimate exceeds the sum of effects in the four areas, because the economic activities will extend to other regions in the state.

Table 3-1. Total Estimated Impacts of Construction of New and Expanded Correctional Facilities

Impacts	MSB	Fairbanks	Bethel	Anchorage	Total Statewide
Output ($ Millions)	$133.07	$8.00	$8.19	$26.87	$215.65
Employment (# or Jobs)	1,327	74	77	246	2,000
Labor Income ($ Millions)	$46.82	$3.04	$2.78	$10.77	83.84

Local/State Revenues ($ Millions)	$4.07	$0.26	$0.23	$0.93	$7.41

Table 3-2 shows the impacts of the operations of each correctional facility in each of the regional economies. These estimated impacts are based on full occupancy of the facilities. The first year of operation will most likely operate at 80 percent occupancy based on projections. Full occupancy will most likely be realized after five years of operations.

Table 3-2. Total Estimated Impacts of the Operations by Correctional Facility

Impacts	MSB	Fairbanks	Bethel	Anchorage	Total Statewide

Local/State Revenues ($ Millions)	$2.81	$0.21	$0.28	$0.53	$4.22

The following sections provide the estimated impacts of each facility on their respective economic regions.

3.1 Sutton Correctional Facility (Matanuska-Susitna Borough)

This facility is proposed to be a 1,200-bed new correctional facility in Sutton. The estimated capital costs amount to $162 million dollars. The estimated annual operations cost amount to $48.35 million. The impacts of the construction and operations of this 1,200-bed prison facility are presented in Table 3-3.

During the construction phase, an estimated 1,300 direct, indirect, and induced full-time and part-time jobs will be created in the Matanuska-Susitna Borough. The construction could potentially generate an estimated total labor income of $47 million. The gross regional product of the region will increase by about $60 million.

The operations of the facility could potentially support about 600 direct, indirect, and induced jobs annually, that will pay an estimated $15 million dollars in labor income. The estimated change in gross regional product (or total value added) amounts to about $25 million. These impacts are annual and are estimated based on a 100-percent occupancy rate, which most likely will be realized after five years of operations.

Note:

- 1) Output measures the total sales of goods and services produced in the region that could potentially be generated as a result of the new economic activities.
- 2) Employment is measured in number of jobs. It includes both full-time and part-time jobs.
- 3) Labor Income measures total employee compensation and proprietor income that could potentially be earned in the region.
- 4) Total Value Added is equivalent to the gross regional product of the region. Value added includes payments to labor, proprietor income, property type income, and indirect business taxes.
- 5) Local and State Revenues include potential income from property taxes, fees, fines, and other nontaxes.

3.2 Fairbanks Correctional Facility

An 80-bed expansion is proposed for this facility. The estimated capital costs amount to $10.8 million dollars. The estimated annual operations cost amount to $3.6 million. The impacts of the construction and operations of this correctional facility on the Fairbanks North Star Borough are presented in the following table (Table 3-4).

Bethel Expansion

- ★ Yukon-Kuskokwim Correctional Center would be expanded by 120 beds
- ★ Bethel serves as a regional hub
- ★ 60,000 people in the area
- ★ There is a Superior Court in Bethel
- ★ The facility is currently at capacity or overcrowded 95% of the time and 90% of the population is pre-trial. Corrections and Public Safety have to transport prisoners out of the facility frequently to make room for in-coming pre-trial prisoners
- ★ Reduce the need for transports
- ★ Staffing: 11 staff (2 security posts @ 5.5 for a total of 11)

Fairbanks Expansion

- ★ Fairbanks Correctional Center would be expanded by 80 beds
- ★ Fairbanks serves as a regional hub for the area and points north
- ★ 90% of the population is pre-trial
- ★ Large numbers of prisoners have to be transported out of Fairbanks to make room for in-coming prisoners
- ★ Staffing: 11 staff (2 security posts @ 5.5 for a total of 11)

Anchorage Expansion

- ★ U.S. Marshals Service - contract with DOC to house federal detainees. That contract is met or exceeded at all times currently.
- ★ The Marshals are expanding operations in Alaska
 - ★ primarily in Anchorage and Juneau
 - ★ need the additional capacity throughout the system to house the prisoners this increased law enforcement activity will produce.
- ★ The expansion of the Anchorage Jail of 200-beds will meet those increased needs. The project will be paid for with federal funds.
- ★ Staffing: will be paid for through added receipt authority to receive additional federal billing.
