ANALYSIS: (Attach a separate page if necessary)

This bill amends AS 12.55 by adding a requirement that a defendant who pleads guilty or nolo contendere to, or is convicted of a crime under state law shall pay a correctional facility surcharge if the defendant is incarcerated in connection with the crime. The surcharge imposed by the court shall be $100 if the judgment includes a felony sentence; and $50 if not. The bill also includes a provision for a surcharge if the defendant is placed on probation. It includes a provision for a fee in the event a person on probation or parole applies for transfer of supervision to another state, and it includes a requirement for a bond or cash deposit to be forfeited in the event the state is required to assist in the applicant's return to the state for continued supervision.

Passage of this legislation will have a fiscal impact on the Department of Law if the Court System begins to transfer the responsibility to collect surcharges - both those that are proposed in this legislation, and those that currently exist in AS 12.55.039 - to the Collections Unit. At this time, the data base and system that is used in the collections effort is at full capacity and cannot be reprogrammed to handle different types of obligations. Thus the basis for this fiscal note is the assumption that the new surcharges will be commingled with the cost of incarceration amounts the Department of Law currently collects and transfers to the Department of Corrections.

The collections unit collects unsecured debts owed to the state. The majority of these debts are criminal judgments (fines, judgments for the cost of appointed counsel, judgments for the cost of incarceration on DUI charges, and court and collection costs in minor offense cases). The collections unit also collects civil judgments, including attorney fee awards, on behalf of the State and civil penalties issued by agencies such as OSHA and APOC. Effective January 1, 2002, the collections unit expanded its work to include the collection of restitution on behalf of victims in criminal and juvenile delinquency proceedings. Passage of the victim restitution legislation with a reduced fiscal note has challenged the unit to resolve system capacity issues. A rebuilt, expandable database that could handle additional types of collection items as well as those already under collection is planned for, but because the plan entails no new financial or human resources, the timeline for completion is uncertain. A second significant issue is the implementation of the Court System's new management information system which will begin to allow the Courts to transfer uncollected surcharges to the Department of Law at a yet uncertain point in the future. Up until now, the Court System has not transferred responsibility to collect any surcharges to the unit.

In the event this legislation passes and the court system begins sending these debts to the collections unit, an additional Administrative Clerk would be needed to deal with the added workload, since at this juncture we are still manually entering judgments into our computerized database.

Any additional revenues that will be generated through passage of this legislation are uncertain, however we have estimated as follows:

Number of Felony Convictions resulting in Jail Time - 2,000 x $100= $200,000

Number of Probation Revokees - 2,000 x $100=$200,000

Number of Misdemeanor Convictions resulting in jail time - 18,000 x $50= $900,000

Total surcharges imposed through this legislation would thereby reach $1,300,000 annually. We have used collection statistics based on years of actual experience collecting fines and other types of debts to the state to come up with the numbers shown as annual anticipated revenues. In the first year, our historical collection rate has been 18.23%. In the second year it has been 19.32%, in the third year it has been 15.38%. Then it drops to 2.84%, 1.4%, and 2.2% in years four through six. However in the first year we anticipate no new revenues from felony probation revocations because such revocations will apply to felonies committed before the effective date of the legislation. Revenue collections quickly climb in the 2nd through 4th year, and then begin to level off where presumably they will hover around $750,000 per year provided no major swings in the amount of the permanent fund dividend or changes to the laws that govern the garnishment order for certain debts to the state, and no new laws that would require collection of new types of debt that may supersede a criminal judgment.

In terms of new revenues, it is important to note that because the Department of Law does not presently have the capability to track a new type of debt, it will not be possible to distinguish between cost of incarceration charges and the surcharges proposed in this legislation. Whatever positive affects the general fund may see as a result of the surcharges will be in the form of revenues in excess of fee supported services authority in the Department of Corrections operating budget.

STATE OF ALASKA
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
JUNEAU

February 13, 2004

The Honorable Gene Therriault
President of the Senate
Alaska State Legislature
State Capitol, Room 111
Juneau, AK 99801-1182

Dear President Therriault:

Under the authority of article III, section 18, of the Alaska Constitution, I am transmitting a bill that would impose a surcharge on persons convicted of an offense and on persons whose probation is revoked. The bill also would require a person under state probation or parole supervision to pay an application fee for a requested transfer of that supervision to another state.

Alaska has an urgent need to mitigate the cost of its correctional facilities. The bill imposes a surcharge on a person who pleads guilty or nolo contendere to, or is convicted of, a crime if the person was arrested and taken to a correctional facility or is sentenced to a term of imprisonment. The amount of the surcharge depends on the seriousness of the crime: $100 for a felony and $50 for a misdemeanor.

The bill also would impose a surcharge on a person placed on probation after conviction of a crime. The surcharge is collected only if the defendant's probation is revoked for a probation violation and the person was either arrested and taken to a correctional facility for the violation, or sentenced to prison for it.

Alaska participates in the Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision (Compact), which regulates the transfer of supervision for persons under state probation and parole. The bill would establish an application fee for persons under active probation or parole supervision who request an interstate transfer of supervision under the Compact. According to the Department of Corrections, the great majority of other states already impose a fee for similar services. The bill also would require the applicant to post a bond or deposit cash, which would be forfeited - the state must escort the person back to Alaska for confined supervision.

I urge your prompt and favorable consideration of this proposal.

Sincerely yours,

Frank H. Murkowski
Governor
