SENATOR KIM ELTON

SB 39 – Requiring a Ballot Language Committee and Establishing Timelines

Sponsor Statement

The general election of 2004 saw three citizen's initiatives on the ballot, and many court cases involving them. The most disruptive and costly of these cases challenged the ballot language summarizing an initiative on filling senate vacancies. The court ruled the Lieutenant Governor's language was not fair and impartial, and ordered the ballots reprinted, at a cost to the public of nearly $300,000. Even so, more than 4000 advance ballots were sent to voters with the less accurate language.

SB 39 will help Alaska's Lieutenant Governors depoliticize the process of writing ballot titles and summaries. It also provides timelines that allow for smoother elections without the cost of reprinting ballots.

SB 39 begins by giving the Lieutenant Governor clear timelines for the preparation of ballot titles and summaries as required by the Alaska Constitution. These deadlines provide enough time for a court challenge without running up against the Division of Elections' deadline for printing the ballot. At the same time, the bill makes court challenges far less likely. It requires the Lieutenant Governor to appoint a committee of proponents, opponents, and one member from a list submitted by the chief justice of the Alaska Supreme Court. The committee, with the help of state attorneys, would prepare the impartial ballot title and proposition.

Alaska's constitution puts responsibility for preparing ballot titles and propositions for initiatives, referenda, and constitutional amendments on the Lieutenant Governor. Mindful of that requirement, SB 39 gives the Lieutenant Governor final say in approving or changing the language. If the Lieutenant Governor decides to alter the committee's language, however, he or she must be accountable for those changes by explaining them in the state's Official Election Pamphlet, which is mailed to all voters in the state.

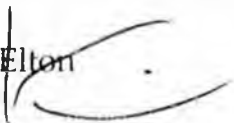

SB 39 takes two major steps toward a smoother, more fair election system for all Alaskans, increasing confidence in our elections. I respectfully ask for your support.

MEMORANDUM

January 25, 2005

To: Senator Gene Therriault, Chair
Senate State Affairs Committee

From: Kim Elton

Re: SB 39

I respectfully request a hearing on Senate Bill 39, establishing statutory procedures and timelines for drafting ballot titles and summaries for initiatives, referenda, and constitutional amendments.

I have attached a draft committee substitute that I hope you will agree simplifies and clarifies the timelines in the bill. It patterns the deadlines for the drafting committee and Lieutenant Governor after existing statutory language for constitutional amendments. I believe it is a more elegant solution than the original bill.

I have attached a sponsor statement for the committee's consideration.

Ballot Initiatives

State of Alaska > Lieutenant Governor > Duties

Understanding Initiatives...

by Loren Leman, Lieutenant Governor

I believe that the citizen initiative is an important part of Alaska's political system. It allows Alaskans to write and approve certain laws directly, without going through the legislative process.

However, it is important to understand the constitutional and statutory limits placed on initiatives:

- The Alaska Constitution cannot be altered or amended by initiative. (Article XIII states the Constitution may be amended only by the Legislature or through a constitutional convention)
- Only certain types of laws can be passed by initiative. According to our Constitution, Article XI, Section 7--Initiatives cannot:
  1. Dedicate moneys;
  2. Make or repeal appropriations;
  3. Create courts;
  4. Define the jurisdiction of courts or prescribe their rules;
  5. Enact local or special legislation.

I forward all initiative applications to the Department of Law for a legal review of their form and subject. An application in proper form is one that meets all of the technical requirements of the law, which include:

- The designation and signatures of three prime sponsors with a statement that they are the initiative committee representing all sponsors of the initiative.
- The names, signatures and addresses of no fewer than 100 sponsors. Prime and other sponsors must be properly registered Alaska voters.
- The text of the proposed law.

If the application is in proper form and the subject is also legal, the Department of Law will recommend that I approve the application. The legal analysis of the proposed law may be fairly simple or it can be lengthy and complex, depending on the subject (see Table 1). It is important to note that the Department of Law drafts opinions for the Lieutenant Governor, who must make the final determination on the status of initiative petition applications, and on whether sufficient, properly obtained signatures have been submitted (see Table 2).

Given the amount of time initiative sponsors must put into the effort of getting an initiative on the ballot, I believe that a thorough legal review provides sponsors with some assurance that their efforts, if challenged in court, would meet the basic requirements for initiatives.

Through nine application decisions so far I have found the Department's opinions to be well-grounded and definitive.
