SPONSOR STATEMENT

Committee Substitute House Bill 121(L&C) am

"An Act relating to release of information in individual workers' compensation records; and providing for an effective date."

With the call for more transparency in government, it is equally important to protect personal information from falling into the wrong hands. In this day and age of computers and extensive databases, government agencies have the potential to accumulate a tremendous amount of information on their employees.

Under the Alaska Division of Workers' Compensation, some personal information is considered public record since it is not specifically prohibited by state statute. CSHB 121 will correct this oversight by prohibiting the release of the employee's social security number, electronic mail address, and telephone number contained on any of the divisions' files, the Workmen's Compensation Board's files, and the Workers' Compensation Appeals Commission. As amended on the House floor, employee names and addresses can still be released to the general public.

Currently, some of this personal information regarding employees who file workers' compensation claims can be and has been released for public inspection. For example, a private company outside of Alaska has been requesting the names and addresses of injured workers. They have then used that information for direct marketing purposes of one kind or another.

This practice is very disturbing considering that identity theft is on the rise and a scourge on our society. It should be the right of any individual to keep personal information as cited above confidential. This data should not be revealed without the consent of that individual. This bill does add a provision to allow such disclosure, but only after the employee signs an affidavit to that effect.

SECTIONAL ANALYSIS

Committee Substitute House Bill 121(L&C) am

“An Act relating to release of information in individual workers’ compensation records; and providing for an effective date.”

CSHB 121 amends Title 23 under the Labor and Workers’ Compensation Act. It deals specifically with the section for release of information.

Section 1. Amends AS 23.30.107(b) with language specifying that an employee’s social security number, electronic mail address, and telephone number contained within the employee’s file under the Division of Workers’ Compensation or held by the Workmen’s Compensation Board or held by the Workers’ Compensation Appeals Commission are not public records subject to public inspection.

Section 2. Amends the statute reference above by adding a subsection (d). This provision allows for an employee to authorize the Division of Workers’ Compensation, the Board, or the Commission to disclose his or her personal information as described above. This will be accomplished by the employee signing a declaration on a form provided by the division.

Section 3. This bill has an immediate effective date. In effect, the bill becomes law the day after it is signed by the governor.

Census Bureau inadvertently posts personal data on Web site

STEPHEN OHLEMACHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The Census Bureau inadvertently posted personal information from 302 households in Alaska and other states on a public Internet site multiple times over a five-month period, the bureau said Wednesday.

The information included names, addresses, phone numbers, birth dates and family income ranges, said Ruth Cymber, the agency's director of communications. No Social Security numbers were posted, and there is no evidence that the data was misused, Cymber said.

But, she added, posting the information violated bureau policies and federal law.

The bureau is in the process of contacting the households, located in nine states and the District of Columbia, to offer free credit-monitoring services.

"A breach of this kind is unacceptable," Census Director Charles Louis Kincannon said in a statement. "We are strengthening our internal procedures to further safeguard our data to prevent a recurrence."

The information was on and off the public Web site from October to Feb. 15 as Census employees working from home tested new software, Cymber said. The workers were supposed to use fictitious information to test the site, but they inadvertently mingled data from the bureau's Current Population Survey, a monthly survey best known for generating the nation's employment statistics.

Cymber said the real and fictitious data were indistinguishable. The information could have been accessed through a search engine on the Census Bureau's Web site used to disseminate large data files. She said she didn't know whether the data actually was accessed by anyone.

Cymber declined to say how many employees were involved, though a release from the bureau said "appropriate administrative action" has been taken, pending the outcome of an ongoing investigation.

The bureau also referred the matter to the Commerce Department's inspector general. The Census Bureau is part of the Commerce Department.

The affected households were located in Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Delaware, Connecticut and Washington, D.C.

The incident occurred six months after the Census Bureau acknowledged losing 672 laptop computers since 2001, including 246 that contained personal data. Most of the computers were used by workers gathering survey information in communities.

Dear Chairman Olson and Committee Members,

On behalf of Icicle Seafoods, Inc., I want to express our strong support for HB 121, "An Act relating to release of information in individual workers' compensation records".

It has come to our attention, thanks in large part to one of our employees, that a private party outside of Alaska has been soliciting Alaska worker compensation claimants by obtaining personal information about them from the Alaska Dept. of Labor. After obtaining the names and addresses of injured workers, they use this private information for direct marketing purposes.

We find this practice incredibly disturbing and believe this information should not be made available without the consent of the person the information is about.

House Bill 121 would stop this objectionable practice and we fully support its adoption. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Kurt Olson, Chairman

Alaska State Legislature

Dear Representative Olson

I am writing on behalf of Trident Seafoods Corporation to express our strong support for HB 121. Our employees have been surprised to learn that the Alaska Department of Labor's Division of Workers' Compensation is disclosing the names and addresses of all individuals who are injured in the seafood processing industry. We believe the law should be changed so that this information is released only with the employee's consent.

This issue has come to our attention because a law firm from Michigan has been requesting information from the State about all the individuals in the seafood industry who have filed workers' compensation claims. This firm then solicits business from these individuals, seeking to bring claims under maritime law instead of under the State's workers' compensation system. This has resulted in some unusual maritime claims, including one lawsuit filed against the "vessel" Sand Point. Sand Point, of course, is not a vessel. It is a community in the Aleutians East Borough where Trident has a shorebased processing plant.

More importantly, many of the people at Trident who file workers' compensation claims do not want their personal information released to the public. They are upset about lawyers contacting them about their injury. Those employees who do not object to having personal information disclosed should be free to consent to having such information released. Without such authorization, however, we believe this type of information should remain private.

Thank you for considering our views on this legislation.

Sincerely,

Joseph T. Plesha

Dear Representative Wilson,

Thank you for sponsoring House Bill 121. I am in full support of this bill that will put an end to the release of personal information of worker compensation claimants by the State of Alaska, Dept. of Labor, and the Workers Compensation Board without the consent of the claimants.

I have attached a letter that I wrote last year in support of a similar measure. As a worker compensation claimant, I had my personal information released to a third party commercial operator (a Michigan law firm) who then used the information to solicit business from me. I did not appreciate this type of contact and do not feel personal information should be released in this situation without my personal consent.

Thank you for working to end this unpleasant practice. Please feel free to provide my letter to other legislators as the bill moves through the legislative process.

Sincerely,

Senator Con Bunde, Chair,
Senate Labor & Commerce Committee
Alaska State Legislature
State Capitol (MS 3100)
Juneau, Alaska 99801-1182

Dear Senator Bunde and Committee Members,

My name is Hyo R. Kim and I have been an Alaska resident for over 27 years. Approximately 5 months ago, I received a letter from an out of state attorney that somehow learned of an injury I had at work. He indicated in his letter that if I contacted his firm, they could possibly get me more money for my injury.

I called the attorney to find out what this was about and how he had access to my personal information. During our conversation, the attorney asked me many questions about how I was injured, what the injury was, etc. After talking, the attorney indicated that he could not do anything for me since the injury was not substantial. I got the feeling he thought there was not enough money for him to get involved.

I asked him how he was able to get my personal information and he basically said he had his sources in the State of Alaska. This really bothered me since I really don't want people other than those that I approve of having access to my personal and private information. This especially concerns me the most now that there are so many cases in the news of identity theft and fraud.

After discussing with my friends the conversation I had with this attorney, I learned that he most likely got my personal information from the Workers Compensation Board and the Alaska Dept. of Labor. If this is the case, it irritates me a lot as I do not want people to have access to my private information and I assumed that what I filled out on the Alaska Workers Compensation forms was confidential.

I am very surprised the State of Alaska would allow this information to be released about its residents. My injury is my private concern and should only involve me, my employer, my doctor, my family and not an out of state attorney. I ask you to please take the appropriate steps to make sure this does not happen again in the future.

Sincerely,

Hyo R. Kim
P.O. Box 705

The Honorable Kurt Olson
Chairman, Labor & Commerce Committee
Alaska State Legislature
State Capitol
Juneau, AK 99801-1182

Dear Chairman Olsen:

I have been told that you are chairing a hearing on a bill that would keep confidential the personal information of people who file worker's compensation claims. I am writing in strong support of this legislation. I do not want any of my personal information made available to the public merely because I have filed a worker's compensation claim and respectfully ask that you enact the bill during this session of the legislature.

My husband, Gene, and I have both had minor injuries while we were working at Trident Seafoods Corporation shoreplant in Sand Point, Alaska. We each received unwelcomed solicitations from some lawyers back East asking if we were injured on a floating processing vessel. I do not want my personal information made available to the public and wondered how these lawyers got my name in the first place. I do not believe it is appropriate for the State of Alaska to release this information without my consent.

To be blunt, the fact I have suffered an injury in the workplace and filed a claim under worker's compensation should not entitle the public to my home address and other personal information. I certainly do not want some ambulance-chasing lawyer soliciting me because of my claim. If I had wanted to hire a lawyer to represent me, there are plenty of local attorney's available. They advertise in the Alaska Airlines magazine and every fishing magazine published.

I urge you to pass this legislation and appreciate you listening to my concerns.

Sincerely,

Gloria J. Copenspire
