House Bill 8

“An Act naming the law enforcement training facility in Fairbanks the J. Kevin Lamm Law Enforcement Training Facility”

Interior Alaska is in desperate need of a new law enforcement training facility. Due to the expansion of the Fairbanks International Airport facilities and runway extensions, a conflict has been created that may soon slate the current range for destruction. Currently, there are over 30 agencies who share the range. A new range is under consideration in a more secure area.

House Bill 8 is about a new name for the new range.

Kevin Lamm was known at the Fairbanks Police Department for being an excellent officer, both for the job he did in the field and the way he dealt with people.

He was shot and killed after responding to check on a suicidal man with two other officers. As they were entering the house they were fired upon. One of the officers was struck in the head and wounded. Officer Lamm immediately took cover and returned fire, drawing the suspect's attention. He was shot and fatally wounded while heroically giving his partners a chance to escape.

I request your support in naming the new training range in Fairbanks the J. Kevin Lamm Law Enforcement Training Facility.

Officer Lamm was shot and killed after responding to check on a suicidal man with two other officers. As they were making entry to the house they were fired upon with an AR-15 rifle which had been converted to 7.62x39. One of the other officers was immediately struck in the head and wounded.

Officer Lamm immediately took cover behind a nearby couch and returned fire, drawing the suspect's attention away from his two partners. He was fatally wounded while giving his two partners a chance to escape the apartment.

After a 90 minute standoff the tactical team entered the residence and found the suspect dead from a self inflicted gunshot wound.

Officer Lamm had served with the agency for 3 years. He is survived by his wife, whom he had married only 12 days prior to his murder, son, parents, and two brothers.

The Honorable Sarah Palin, Governor
State of Alaska
PO Box 110001
Juneau, AK 99811

Dear Governor Palin,

As we convene the Twenty-Fifth Legislature and begin to prioritize the capital and infrastructure needs of Alaska, we are continuously reminded by our constituents that the core functions of government – public safety, in particular – deserve our utmost support and consideration.

Currently, the basic training needs of the men and women whom we hire to protect our lives and property are either not being met, or are in danger of being eliminated. Local, State, and Federal law enforcement personnel who reside in the Anchorage area do not have a dedicated outdoor shooting range in which to train. And in Fairbanks, the single outdoor law enforcement range which services over twenty-five departments, agencies, and user-groups is threatened with elimination due to Fairbanks International Airport expansion. Unlike Southeast Alaska, where a new outdoor shooting range was constructed in 2002 at the Department Public Safety training facility in Sitka, law enforcement officers in South Central and Interior Alaska do not have appropriate shooting facilities to conduct critically necessary training.

Both Anchorage and Fairbanks must have quality, controlled-access shooting range facilities for police qualification and training. We, the undersigned members of Alaska's Interior legislative delegation, strongly urge your support for these much-
