January 12, 1981

Speaker of the House
Alaska State Legislature
Juneau, AK 99811

Dear Mr. Speaker:

Under the authority of article III, section 18, of the Alaska Constitution, I am transmitting a bill which sets the salaries for commissioners of the Oil and Gas Conservation Commission at the same rate paid to other regulatory commissioners (Alaska Transportation Commission, Alaska Public Utilities Commission, Alaska Pipeline Commission, and Commercial Fisheries Entry Commission).

The bill establishes the salary at Range 26, Step C, of the state pay plan set out in AS 39.27.011(a). This will provide equal treatment for all of the regulatory commissioners, and will avoid the possibility of arbitrary action with regard to their salaries. The salaries of Oil and Gas Conservation Commission members have not been set by statute in the past; it is important to avoid the appearance as well as the fact of possible undue influence on their decisions. This bill will help assure the independence of this commission, as intended by the legislature.

A "grandfather's clause" is included to protect the salaries of the current Oil and Gas Conservation Commission members until the pay scale in AS 39.27.011(a) catches up to them.

Sincerely,

S/JS/H

Jay S. Hammond

Speaker of the House
Alaska State Legislature
Pouch V
Juneau, AK 99811

Dear Mr. Speaker:

Under the authority of art. III, sec. 18, of the Alaska Constitution, I am transmitting a bill relating to competitive bidding in the state procurement process. The bill contains eight sections which make three major changes: first, an Alaska manufacturer's bid preference of 15 percent is added; second, because of inflation, the threshold above which competitive bidding is required would be raised from $2,500 to $5,000; and third, the bill would make clear the authority of the state to limit the solicitation of bids or reject all bids, if that action would be in the state's best interest.

Sections 1 and 4 of the bill would amend AS 37.05.230(1) and (5) to create an Alaska manufacturer's preference of 15 percent. This preference would be available to a person who holds an Alaska business license, bids under the name on the license and produces the needed goods in Alaska from raw or partially finished materials. The division of general services and supply would, by regulation, distinguish between true manufacturing and packaging, displaying, or minor assembling.

Sections 2 and 3 of the bill amend AS 37.05.230(2) and (3) to raise the threshold above which competitive bidding is required. This is necessary because of inflation in recent years and because the cost of publicly soliciting bids is so high that it often exceeds any reasonably anticipated savings on small projects or purchases. Section 2 of the bill also codifies the power and practice of the state to limit solicitations of bids to Alaskan bidders if there are enough of those bidders to insure price competition.

Sections 5-7 of the bill would make clear existing provisions or enact into law policies already in force in the state procurement system. Section 5 restates the exemption of contracts for construction or repair of state roads, ferries, harbors, highways, airports, or buildings, because those contracts are administered under separate statutory authority by the Department of Transportation and Public Facilities. Section 6 of the bill would make clear the intent of the existing provision to protect Alaskan sheltered workshops. Section 7 of the bill would authorize the exemption of a contract from the bid preference provisions if the preference would jeopardize federal financing of the contract.

Section 8 of the bill would make three changes in AS 37.05.240. The "material alteration" language has been eliminated because of the injustice and waste of tax money which results when the bid documents of the apparent low bidder have a correction which was not initialed by the bidder; under the current law, the bid must be rejected even though there is no bad faith and no question as to what the bidder intended. The second change is the inclusion of express authority to cancel a bid solicitation before the award if, for example, all the bids are found to be too high, the project has, in the intervening period, been determined to be inadvisable, or the bidders do not submit bids which are responsive to the original solicitation. Finally, the requirement that a cancelled bid solicitation be re-solicited "as in the first instance" has been eliminated. The reason for the change is to allow the division the flexibility needed to provide the required goods or services by direct negotiation or another bid solicitation on different terms; it may be futile to simply re-issue the same solicitation.

Sincerely,

for petroleum products from $600,000 (15% of $4 million) to $1.5 million (15% of $10 million) based upon prior state purchases. The fact that there are two refineries would generally indicate the presence of competition; however, these two refineries have traditionally operated in different parts of the State.

6 For an Act entitled: "An Act establishing a risk management and loss pre-
7 vention program in state government; and providing for
8 an effective date."

9 BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA:

13 * Sec. 2. AS 14.40 is amended by adding a new section to read:

14 Sec. 14.40.297. RISK MANAGEMENT AND LOSS PREVENTION. (a) The 15 University of Alaska may initiate and implement a risk management and 16 loss prevention program to reduce risks, accidents, and losses if the 17 Board of Regents finds that a risk management and loss prevention
18 program is consistent with the management policies of the University of 19 Alaska. The Department of Administration may provide assistance to 20 implement and operate the risk management and loss prevention program
21 if requested by the University of Alaska.

22 (b) If the Board of Regents finds under (a) of this section that 23 the establishment of a risk management and loss prevention program is
24 consistent with the management policies of the University of Alaska,
25 the Board of Regents shall establish a risk management fund for the 26 payment of insurance premiums, uninsured losses, deductibles, advance
27 payments of insured losses, risk management service contracts, and
28 other purposes consistent with the risk management program. All ex-
29 penses of the risk management program, including building improvements

1 made and training programs conducted as part of the loss prevention
2 program, shall be financed from the risk management fund and budgeted
3 in accordance with the Executive Budget Act (AS 37.07). The university
4 shall report annually to the legislature all activities and balances of
5 the risk management fund.

6 (c) The legislature may appropriate to the risk management fund
7 any amounts necessary to implement this section, including but not
8 limited to amounts received by the state from litigation or settlement
9 of claims for damage relating to insured or uninsured losses to be paid
10 from the risk management fund, and interest and other returns from 11 investment of the risk management fund.

12 (d) Unless otherwise expressly provided in the appropriation
13 bill, money appropriated to the risk management fund is not a one-year
14 appropriation under AS 37.25.010. An amount which is appropriated but 15 which is not required for the purposes of the risk management fund in a
16 fiscal year remains available for spending in succeeding fiscal years.

17 * Sec. 3. AS 44.21.020 is amended by adding a new paragraph to read:

18 (13) administer the risk management fund established under
19 AS 44.78 and assist in the administration of a risk management fund
20 established by the University of Alaska under AS 14.40.297.

5 ment in accordance with AS 37.10 for the payment of insurance premiums,
6 uninsured losses, deductibles, advance payments of insured losses, risk
7 management service contracts, and other purposes consistent with the 8 risk management and loss prevention program and considered proper by 9 the commissioner of administration. The department shall transfer to 10 an affected agency money appropriated to the risk management fund as 11 reimbursement for loss or damage as it is needed for repair or replace-
12 ment of lost or damaged property. All expenses of the risk management 13 and loss prevention program, including building improvements made and
14 training programs conducted as part of the risk management and loss

8 which may be required under this chapter, including but not limited to
9 amounts received by the state from litigation or settlement of claims
10 for damage relating to insured or uninsured losses handled by each risk
11 management fund, and from interest and other returns from investment of
12 each fund by the commissioner of revenue in accordance with AS 37.10.-
13 070.

14 Sec. 44.78.050. APPROPRIATIONS TO RISK MANAGEMENT FUND NOT TO

A result of the approach proposed by this bill will be a more efficient operation of the state risk management program, a method of retaining funds within the REAA insurance budget to take advantage of favorable loss experience, and a mechanism for providing a risk management program to the University of Alaska which will produce strict accounting and should result in savings to the university and to the state.

FISCAL NOTE

Title: An Act Establishing a Risk Management and Loss Prevention Program in State Government; and Providing for an Effective Date.

III. ANALYSIS

The goal of Risk Management is to protect the financial integrity of the State from the risk of accidental loss and to provide a safe and secure working environment for State employees. The Risk Management Program takes the combined exposures from all agencies for property, liability, marine and personnel losses. The State retains a major portion of most losses in the form of a deductible. The costs of risk are controlled by purchase of broad coverage insurance and through active loss control and aggressive claims management programs. Risk Management pertaining to the R.E.A.A. schools is limited to those activities involved with property insurance on the State owned facilities. Risk Management through the University of Alaska is involved through the implementation of a Risk Management Program for property and liability coverages. Risk Management provides consulting services to the University and assists them in the implementation and operation of their Risk Management program.

There are no new positions required to administer this change in funding. There are, in fact, no other expenditures which will be required to initiate the three revolving funds. Each fund will be set up through the normal appropriation for FY 81. It is estimated by Risk Management that once the fund is implemented, there will be a reduction in FY 83, FY 84 and FY 85 and that the costs will level off thereafter, adjusted for inflation. For the R.E.A.A. schools, the costs will reduce slightly through FY 84 and then will show the effects of 7% inflation thereafter. For the University, their FY 81 budget is for $1.0 million and it is anticipated that the funding will show a decline in FY 82, FY 83 and FY 84 and will level off thereafter. The fund will permit an accurate accounting of the activities of each Risk Management program. The funds will also be able to receive receipts generated from third parties, favorable litigation, and the value of any earned interest on the fund. By utilizing the program receipts and continued application of the Loss Control and Claims Management programs, the need for funds should reduce as outlined above. The proper accounting of funds is only one advantage of the revolving fund. It is vitally important that there be a vehicle for holding on to funds until losses are finally settled, which normally takes from two to ten years for liability settlements. The fund will permit the proper settlement of the claims carrying forward reserves and will also provide cash flow advantages to the State by retaining the funds until losses are finally settled, rather than giving them to an insurance company to set up reserves. The fund will also permit transfer to another State agency in the event of a property loss and will also enable that agency to rebuild even if it carries over into a subsequent fiscal year.

Speaker of the House
Alaska State Legislature
Pouch V
Juneau, AK 99811

Dear Mr. Speaker:

Under the authority of art. III, sec. 18 of the Alaska Constitution, I am transmitting a bill relating to risk management and loss prevention. The Department of Administration and the University of Alaska have requested this measure to allow them to deal more effectively with the insurance coverage demanded by state programs and institutions and the university.

The bill would establish three separate risk management funds, the first for state departments, agencies, boards and commissions, the second for regional educational attendance areas, and the third for the University of Alaska.

The approach sought here would allow the state to more efficiently administer the payment of losses with the large deductibles which are carried as part of the risk management program. The current method of providing money under a one-year appropriation makes it difficult to retain the money until the losses are settled. Over 60 percent of risk management money collected through the inter-agency receipt process are used to pay losses. In addition to permitting the retention of money for the duration of the financial obligation, the fund also permits a transfer of money within the state fiscal process for emergency repairs and other losses of a direct damage nature. Finally, the fund permits an exact accounting of each individual risk management program and is a mechanism for recording all receipts and disbursements of the program. The bill requires reporting activities of the funds to the legislature annually. A result of the approach proposed by this bill will be a more efficient operation of the state risk management program, a method of retaining funds within the REAA insurance budget to take advantage of favorable loss experience, and a mechanism for providing a risk management program to the University of Alaska which will produce strict accounting and should result in savings to the university and to the state.

Sincerely,

FISCAL NOTE

Title: An Act Establishing a Risk Management and Loss Prevention Program in State Government; and Providing for an Effective Date.

III. ANALYSIS

The goal of Risk Management is to protect the financial integrity of the State from the risk of accidental loss and to provide a safe and secure working environment for State employees. The Risk Management Program takes the combined exposures from all agencies for property, liability, marine and personnel losses. The State retains a major portion of most losses in the form of a deductible. The costs of risk are controlled by purchase of broad coverage insurance and through active loss control and aggressive claims management programs. Risk Management pertaining to the R.E.A.A. schools is limited to those activities involved with property insurance on the State owned facilities. Risk Management through the University of Alaska is involved through the implementation of a Risk Management Program for property and liability coverages. Risk Management provides consulting services to the University and assists them in the implementation and operation of their Risk Management program.

There are no new positions required to administer this change in funding. There are, in fact, no other expenditures which will be required to initiate the three revolving funds. Each fund will be set up through the normal appropriation for FY 81. It is estimated by Risk Management that once the fund is implemented, there will be a reduction in FY 83, FY 84 and FY 85 and that the costs will level off thereafter, adjusted for inflation. For the R.E.A.A. schools, the costs will reduce slightly through FY 84 and then will show the effects of 7% inflation thereafter. For the University, their FY 81 budget is for $1.0 million and it is anticipated that the funding will show a decline in FY 82, FY 83 and FY 84 and will level off thereafter. The fund will permit an accurate accounting of the activities of each Risk Management program. The funds will also be able to receive receipts generated from third parties, favorable litigation, and the value of any earned interest on the fund. By utilizing the program receipts and continued application of the Loss Control and Claims Management programs, the need for funds should reduce as outlined above. The proper accounting of funds is only one advantage of the revolving fund. It is vitally important that there be a vehicle for holding on to funds until losses are finally settled, which normally takes from two to ten years for liability settlements. The fund will permit the proper settlement of the claims carrying forward reserves and will also provide cash flow advantages to the State by retaining the funds until losses are finally settled, rather than giving them to an insurance company to set up reserves. The fund will also permit transfer to another State agency in the event of a property loss and will also enable that agency to rebuild even if it carries over into a subsequent fiscal year.
