The Department's initial fiscal note on this bill was based upon a misinterpretation of the bill's intent (i.e., that specific additional training would be required). In fact, basic recruit training now includes this subject and additional refresher training could be provided by videotape without an increase in appropriation.

Senate Committee on Health, Education and Social Services

LETTER OF INTENT FOR CS SB 28 (HESS)

Passage of CS SB 28 (HESS) reflects the Legislature's recognition that persons who come into contact with abused or neglected children are often unprepared to recognize symptoms, to report properly, or to otherwise respond in an appropriate manner.

Underlying the provisions of CS SB 28 (HESS) is the requirement in AS 47.17.020 that certain persons report instances of child abuse and child neglect to public authorities. Not only are state employees covered by this law, but school teachers and school administrative staff are also required to report. Such persons who willfully fail to report may be guilty of a misdemeanor and their school district may incur civil liability.

Although the new law does not require training of school district employees in this critical area, the Legislature recognizes that teachers and school administrators are often the first line of detection of child abuse and neglect.

Consequently, the Legislature urges each school district to provide corresponding training to its employees. In addition, school districts are encouraged to work with the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault concerning the features of the state training program. Not only will such training better prepare school district employees to comply with the reporting requirements of AS 47.17.010, but the Legislature believes that it will also contribute to the prevention of child abuse in Alaska.

ANALYSIS FOR SENATE BILL 28

An Act relating to training state employees on the recognition and reporting of child abuse and neglect.

As introduced, this bill mandates training on the prevention, recognition, intervention and treatment of child abuse and neglect for state employees who are required by law to report instances of harm under AS 47.17.020. Those persons are as follows:

- 1) practitioners of the healing arts
- 2) school teachers and school administrative staff members
- 3) social workers
- 4) peace officers and officers of the Department of Corrections
- 5) administrative officer of institutions
- 6) licensed day care providers and paid staff
- 7) licensed foster care providers

The original bill had these functions being carried out by the Alaska Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault under the Department of Public Safety. The Department attached a $64,000 fiscal note to the original bill.

The HESS committee substitute removes the responsibility of training from the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault and instead requires that each department which employs persons required to report, institute a training program on the recognition and reporting of child abuse. These training programs would cover all new employees and existing employees that had not yet received equivalent training. The net effect of this change is to eliminate the need for any additional funding.

You may recall that this bill was on last week's agenda but taken off because a new $38,000 fiscal note from the State Troopers was received at the last minute. The Troopers have replaced it with a zero fiscal note.

The Senate HESS Committee also adopted a letter of intent which encourages each school district in the state to adopt similar training programs.

POSITION PAPER

CS FOR SENATE BILL NO. 28 (HESS)

"An act related to training state employees on the prevention, recognition, intervention and treatment of child abuse and neglect."

This Bill would require that state employees who in their job capacity are required by statute to report child abuse and neglect, be trained in the recognition, detection, reporting laws, and referral for services of said cases. The Bill would require that each department affected develop a training curriculum, file it with the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault, and provide initial training to new employees within the first six months of employment and to existing employees.

The department supports the Bill as written.

Analysis
CSSB 28 (S.HESS)

This legislation requires training involving the recognition and reporting of child abuse and neglect to be given to all commissioned officers that regularly come into contact with the public. This training is estimated to encompass a one day seminar coordinated with the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault.

Currently budgeted training funds can not absorb additional training.

The training will be needed by an estimated 301 commissioned officers, 50 of which will require commercial airfare to either Anchorage, Fairbanks, or Juneau. Approximately 200 will require one day of per diem or meal allowance. Course materials will be minimal. After this initial training of currently employed State Troopers, the material can be incorporated into the recruits' initial training curriculum at the Training Academy and thus no costs after FY86 are anticipated.

A one-time contract to develop a printed self-instructional training manual with audio and video cassettes, the production of sufficient copies and the distribution of them would be accomplished the first year. Succeeding years could entail revising of the materials as needed, and any additional production and distribution costs. This was chosen because it is the least expensive and simplest to maintain, particularly in rural areas.

POSITION PAPER

SENATE BILL NO. 28

"An act related to training state employees on the prevention, recognition, intervention and treatment of child abuse and neglect."

This bill would require that state employees who, in their job capacity, are required by statute to report child abuse be trained in the prevention, recognition, intervention and treatment of child abuse and neglect. The bill assigns to the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault the authority and responsibility for establishing standards for this training, coordinating the training, and preparing and disseminating educational programs and materials.

The department supports the concept of required training for state employees but opposes the mechanism proposed in this bill to accomplish that training. The department proposes that the development of basic educational program materials should be developed and disseminated by the agency with the primary responsibility for preventing, identifying, intervening and treating child abuse and neglect and that these materials be incorporated in the regular training curriculum of the agencies employing persons required to report suspected cases of abuse and neglect. Because of the very distinct and different roles and responsibilities of those state employees required to report child abuse each requires specific training in carrying out those responsibilities which can best and most efficiently be developed and implemented by the agency employing the individual. The mechanism proposed in this bill to carry out training could impede staff training responsibilities of individual agencies and would be administratively inefficient.

The department supports cooperative agreements for coordinated multi-disciplinary efforts in training such as a state-wide child sexual abuse agreement as a more effective means of carrying out the training goals of this bill. Such agreements allow for clear definition of roles and responsibilities of each agency or organization and avoid unnecessary duplication of effort both in intervention and training.

SB 28

Preparation and distribution of training materials concerning child abuse and neglect is appropriately a function of the Department of Health and Social Services given the primary responsibility of the department for intervening in such cases and in developing prevention and treatment programs. In addition, since the department already undertakes much of what is envisioned in SB 28 on a discretionary basis it would be most efficient and effective from an administrative standpoint for mandated efforts to be performed by the same agency. The department through its Division of Family and Youth Services already implements formal training program for its own staff members of the recognition, intervention, and treatment of child abuse and neglect and discretionarily provides training to other state agencies and private human service providers as is indicated in the attached DFYS training report for FY 84. The division has also undertaken significant public awareness efforts aimed at a variety of professionals statutorily required to report child abuse and neglect as well as the general public.

In contrast the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault has particular expertise in the area of sexual assault. Community domestic violence program personnel have provided, at the invitation of the Division of Family and Youth Services, training to community and division personnel in the specific areas of intervention and child sexual assault. A broad expertise, experience and responsibility that the Division of Family and Youth Services has in dealing with all aspects of child abuse and neglect would be critical to the development of appropriate basic educational materials. In Alaska the largest percentage of child maltreatment cases consist of neglect (63%) and physical abuse (25%). Child sexual abuse in contrast comprises only 6% of nationally reported child maltreatment cases and 11% of child maltreatment reports in Alaska. Expertise must focus on all categories of maltreatment in order to develop adequate training materials. This is particularly true when it is understood that profile of characteristics of child sexual abuse victims is significantly different than that for child victims of other types of abuse and neglect and that intervention and treatment approaches differ significantly also.

In summary the department supports the concept of training state employees on the various aspects of child abuse and neglect but proposes that this training occur through existing and appropriate state agency training mechanisms with the support of the department of Health and Social Services. As the bill reads now, it has no fiscal impact on the department. If amended to designate the department as the coordinating agency, a fiscal note will be prepared.

ALASKA NETWORK ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AND SEXUAL ASSAULT

POSITION PAPER

SB 23

The Alaska Network on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault, a non-profit corporation representing 20 domestic violence and sexual assault programs state wide, supports SB23 to provide training to certain state employees in the area of child abuse and neglect.

This bill would require that those state employees required to report incidences of child abuse and neglect receive training in that field. Employees required to report under the law include: practitioners of the healing arts, school teachers and administrative staff, social workers, peace officers and officers of the Department of Corrections, administrative officers of institutions, licensed day care providers and staff, and licensed foster care providers. The state employees included in those job classes are most often employed by the Departments of Health and Social Services, Education, Public Safety, and Corrections.

It is the Network's position that those persons required to report should receive training in the recognition of child abuse and neglect, and training on the reporting law. However, since those required to report, with the exception of social workers, are not involved in the intervention, prevention, or treatment of child abuse and neglect, we do not feel it is necessary to provide training in those areas. Training in the intervention, prevention, and treatment of child abuse and neglect is provided to those involved in those areas by domestic violence and sexual assault programs and by the Division of Family and Youth Services.

Because of those distinctions, and the very real need to insure that those required to report are aware of their duty to do so, the Network suggests that SB23 be amended to read as follows:

"A person employed by the state who is required to report under AS 47.17.020 shall receive training on the recognition and reporting of child abuse and neglect. The Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault shall coordinate the training, prepare and disseminate educational programs and materials, and establish standards of training under AS 13.66.050."

The bill would insure that those required to report would receive training in recognizing the signs of a child victim of abuse or neglect, knowledge of the reporting law and their duty to report, and information on the penalties for failure to report and the protections provided to those making reports.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Senator Bettye Fahrenkamp, Chairman
Senate Health, Education and Social Services Committee

FROM: Senator Jan Faiks JF

SUBJECT: Senate Bill 28 - An Act relating to training state employees on the prevention, recognition, intervention and treatment of child abuse and neglect

Senate Bill 28 mandates training on the prevention, recognition, intervention, and treatment of child abuse and neglect for state employees who are required by law to report instances of harm under AS 47.17.020. While reporting instances of harm is mandated by state statute, associated training is discretionary, and often limited or nonexistent.

State employees, required to report cases of harm, do not always obtain training that is essential to the performance of their legal responsibilities, and thus are ill prepared to effectively comply with the law. Not only does the public, particularly children, suffer from lack of trained service providers, but the state faces potential liability for negligent acts of its employees.

REPORTING MANDATED

In 1971, the Alaska legislature enacted AS 47.17.010 which mandates the reporting of the instances of child abuse and neglect to appropriate public authorities. The purpose of mandatory reporting is to prevent future harm to the child and safeguard and enhance the general well-being of children in Alaska.

Under AS 47.27.020 the following persons must report cases of suspected harm to the Department of Health and Social Services:

practitioners of the healing arts;

members; school teachers and school administrative staff

social workers;

peace officers, and officers of the Department of Corrections;

administrative officers of institutions;

licensed day care providers and paid staff; and

licensed foster care providers.

These people are often the first individuals who come in contact with abused or neglected children. Early detection of harm can result in the prevention of further abuse or neglect.

TRAINING

Without proper training, cases of abuse or neglect may not be recognized and reported and thus the safety of children is jeopardized. Implicit in the mandate to report suspected child abuse and neglect<sup>1</sup> is the ability to recognize what it is that must be reported.

Following nationwide hearings, the U. S. Attorney's Task Force on Domestic Violence recommended that federal, state and local government agencies train relevant personnel to diagnose and appropriately intervene in family violence cases. Initial and inservice training for social service providers (child protection workers, mental health professionals, alcohol and drug abuse counselors and shelter workers), criminal justice professionals (law enforcement officers, probation and parole officers), prosecutors, judges, medical professionals (physicians, nurses, paramedics, psychologists, emergency room personnel), and teachers was recommended. When these individuals are obligated by law to report child abuse it is very important that they are given proper training to identify it.<sup>2</sup>

IMMUNITY AND LIABILITY

Immunity from civil liability and criminal penalty exists under AS 47.17.050 for those who report cases of suspected child abuse or neglect in good faith. However, if those persons required to report cases of abuse or neglect willfully or knowingly fail or refuse to report the harm, they are guilty of a Class B misdemeanor under AS 47.17.068. Ignorance of the law is no excuse. If a state employee, required to report under AS 47.17.020, willfully or knowingly fails or refuses to report harm, that person is subject to prosecution under AS 47.17.068 and possible civil liability. The state may also be subject to civil liability under AS 9.50.250 for the negligent actions or omissions of its employees.

RECENT FINDINGS IN ALASKA

In recent investigations conducted by both the State Ombudsman and Legislative Audit, it was determined that one group of state employees, who are in constant contact with abused or neglected children, lack sufficient training.

On July 12, 1984, the State Ombudsman concluded in Complaint F83-1576 that the Division of Family and Youth Services failed to act effectively to protect a child who had been reported to the Division as an abused child. (This child died from injuries inflicted by his live-in babysitter.) This finding was based on two factors.

The record of the agency's involvement in the matter suggested uncertainty and handling inconsistent with standard agency practices.

Despite the directive of the agency's program manual, staff assigned to this case provided no follow-up.

The Ombudsman concluded that understaffing was at a crisis level and contributed to the ineffective actions of the agency in this matter. Throughout the report, however, lack of proper training on child abuse and neglect for social workers, as well as medical personnel, was highlighted.

On August 10, 1984, the Division of Legislative Audit reported that the Division of Family and Youth Services's ability to adequately investigate reports of child abuse and neglect is hampered by understaffing and insufficient management direction. Following interviews with parents, Department of Law personnel, Court System personnel, attorneys, and DFYS social workers, Legislative Audit concluded:

In some instances, adequate policies and procedures may exist in the policy and procedures manual, but management has not provided the training and/or the review to ensure that social workers are following the manual. In either case, DFYS management needs to provide better direction to social workers for consistently interpreting their responsibilities and enacting legislative intent for child protection.

A survey of guardians ad litem, which accompanied the report, indicated that better training and supervision of social workers and supervisors was needed.

CONCLUSION

Social workers are not the only persons in this state that need training, and training alone will not lessen the crisis situation that has been created by understaffing. However, the documented investigations indicate that there is a problem with a state agency providing protective services to children that have been abused or neglected. Since the state has undertaken the responsibility to provide protective services to children, intervene in appropriate cases, and require reporting of suspected cases of harm, it is imperative that those employed by the state receive adequate training to address this problem.

Non-state employees, primarily teachers and medical personnel should also receive adequate training. Local governments should be strongly encouraged to provide training for teachers employed by the district.

To date, the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault, the Department of Health and Social Services, the Public Defender Agency, and the Department of Education support this bill. The Alaska Network on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault supported similar legislation last session.
