HJR 31
"Constitutional Amendment, PFD"
Sectional Analysis

2/10/4

Section 1 amends Article IX, sec. 15 of Alaska's Constitution:

It maintains the clause requiring that at least 25% of Alaska's mineral leases, royalties, etc., be placed in the Permanent Fund. Then it adjusts appropriations in keeping with Section 2.

Section 2 adds a new subsection (b) to Article IX sec. 15 of Alaska's Constitution regarding appropriations:

It states that appropriations from the Permanent Fund may not exceed 5% of the 5-year average market value of the fund. It also states that appropriations may not be used for dividends or other payments to all State residents.

Section 3 amends Article XV of Alaska's Constitution by adding a new section 30:

- (a) All individuals eligible to receive a permanent fund dividend for the year 2004 shall receive, in addition to the 2004 dividend, a payment of $20,000. (After that, no more dividends are paid.)

All provisions that apply to the 2004 dividend also apply to the $20,000 payment, except those which apply to the date and amount of payment as well as the "hold harmless" clauses.

- (b) In making the $20,000 payment, all sub-accounts of the permanent fund are expended first before using any of the principal.
- (c) These provisions take effect on the day after certification of the 2004 general election.

Section 4 requires that this resolution be placed on the next general election ballot.

Transitional clause amendment
For HJR31

Pg. 2, line 23, insert new paragraph (c) to read:

(c)Section 15 of Article IX as it read on June 30, 2004, applies to appropriations for fiscal year 2005. Notwithstanding Section 15(b) of Article IX, appropriations from the permanent fund may not exceed the following amounts for the following fiscal years:

- (1) fiscal year 2006 – five percent of the market value of the fund on June 30, 2005;
- (2) fiscal year 2007 – five percent of the average of the market values of the fund on June 30, 2005, and June 30, 2006;
- (3) fiscal year 2008 – five percent of the average of the market values of the fun on June 30, 2005, June 30, 2006, and June 30, 2007;
- (4) fiscal year 2009 – five percent of the average of the market values of the fund on June 30, 2005, June 30, 2006, June 30, 2007, and June 30, 2008;
- (5) fiscal year 2010 – five percent of the average of the market values of the fund on June 30, 2005, June 30, 2006, June 30, 2007 June 30, 2008, and June 30, 2009.

The reason for this amendment is to affect a functional fix to the transition. Without this fix, if the bill were to become law, the first year of earnings on the new smaller fund would be averaged from the old higher balances of 21 billion to 27 billion. The following year's balance of +/- 17 billion dollars would be averaged into the previous 4 higher balances. The next year would see an averaging of 3 high balances and 2 low balances and so on. This whole scenario would result in 5 years of declining revenue before settling out and would defeat the value of the proposed 5% spending cap.

Hello Jim:

I think your PFD bill should include a provision to protect the kid's money. I would not vote for this if the parents were able to spend anyone's money but their own. This way this would be a big boost to the economy for years to come, and a way for kids who want to go to college a way to pay for it. It would also show our youth how money grows when it is saved.

Also I tried to use the POM System on line but it would not recognize me, a voter in the state for since about 1969.

Thank you

I just read the Nome Nugget (jan. 29) about your suggestion. I no longer live there but occasionally read it on line. I don't recall the ADN publishing anything pertaining to this suggestion. I think your idea is great. We have too many migrants in and out of here benefiting from the PFD and get it illegally after their departure. Aliens also that bring there families here that get it. I was shocked when I applied for mine this year and saw at the bottom ALIENS. I guess After all these years it was the first time I noticed it. Let's do it your way and watch the exodus. Better yet stop all new applications after this year even new births in Alaska. They could tax everything except food and medicine. I don't know of any other state taxing food except in restaurants. I don't know where Murkowski got the idea to tax food...

Stop all the travel from Juneau that isn't necessary. Move the capitol up here build housing for rep. that commute. nothing fancy let them live moderate while they do their job. Build a modest house for the gov. He and others have their permanent residence. Taking the longevity bonus from our seniors has hurt them. I could complain forever but you go with your idea Rep. Holm You'll get my vote.

Dear Sir,

I heard that you are backing the bill proposing the buy out of the PFD, and using the funds for government. I have been trying to push support for this idea forward, and am so very excited to hear that someone in government is also thinking that way. Working for Alyeska and living in Fairbanks, I've talked with quite a few people (ages 40 and up) that are also in support of this proposal. I feel that this is not only the best for State government, but also this will assist our seniors in planning and completion of final arrangements, plus assist in supplementing social security.

Thank you again, and please let me know how I can be of assistance.

We just wanted to send a note voicing our support for your permanent fund plan. One payout to those eligible then use it to support our state in the future. We think you could receive a lot of votes from the people for this plan if it went to vote. Most people would prefer one payout instead of increasingly smaller annual payouts. It appears to be a win-win for individuals and state services. Thanks and Good luck - Terry and Marie Osborne

Dear Representative Holm:

Thank you for all of your hard work. You probably feel like your job isn't worth all the stress and negative criticism that you receive. However, you are doing a great job.

I really am happy that you are working towards using a portion of the Dividend to pay for our government services. Please continue to do what's right and make a difference in this area!! Don't give up!! We can cut the dividend to $500 a year/person and the rest should go for government.

Please, please do whatever you can to add $26 million in funding to the Anchorage City School budget for next year. Carol Comeau and the Anchorage School District have been working hard at making their school district an excellent place for students. I speak for a family of five, and we feel the education quality is the top sign of what kind of place Alaska is. Don't let them dismantle their district when they need your help. Funding must increase!!

You can set a great example by doing what is right in these areas.

Good luck, and thank you again for your many, many efforts.

I have lived in this state for almost 14 years now. The state is in need of money to help pay for state services and maintenance. I wish the state would open ANWR and get the gas pipeline going, but until then we are still hurting because this would take years to get into place. I have read info your in favor of cashing out the dividend, 50 % to the state and 50 % to the individual. I'm in favor of this not to get my hands on money but for many reasons. One to improve the states budget gap. Next to help ones in need of money from dead beat fathers or mothers. Also the state can collect on criminal warrants or traffic warrants owed to them. New developments the state could put into place for economic growth. Also, collage money I could put away for my children who might stay in state and lead the next generation for our great State of Alaska

Representative Holm;

Having been reading the News Miner (not the most accurate source of news around, granted) and talking with my family and peers, (again, accuracy notwithstanding) I have become rather confused about this "one big dividend" plan that you have been credited with coming up with. Am I correct in understanding that with your plan, everyone eligible for the 2004 dividend will receive a large payout, around 20,000 dollars, and then the dividend program as we know it will cease to exist? In theory, I can see wonderful things happening as a result were that to happen. My issues arise from current abuses already being perpetrated against the Permanent Fund. I do not know ONE SINGLE PERSON in Alaska who does not know at least one person who improperly receives a dividend. I include the criminal element, the deadbeat parents, the truly fraudulent "part-time" Alaskans who haven't even SEEN snow in the past 10 years except on television. And lest I forget...the military. I, sir, am a fifth generation Alaskan, very grateful to the military for their presence here in the Fairbanks area and the contributions to our local economy. I myself work for a military contractor, on Eielson. In the scope of my job, I run across people EVERY DAY who buy all of their groceries on base, buy and register their cars out of state, mail order anything they cannot purchase on the base or get a military discount for in town. These people vocally disparage the isolation of our great state, they count the days until they are sent to greener pastures, and they feel they have EARNED that dividend. They feel like their time here is like jail, they care nothing for our community or the people in it. One gentleman stationed here had the nerve to tell me at dividend time this past year that it was the 3rd year in a row that his dividend and those of his entire family (wife and 4 kids) were going towards the purchase of property in another state, that he couldn't WAIT to leave here in 2005, and that the dividend would be the only thing he missed. THESE 6 PEOPLE ARE GOING TO EACH GET 20 GRAND? Oh, no no no! Do I believe the military as a whole should be excluded from this payout? You bet. The cost of living for a military family in Alaska is considerably less than that of a civilian, regardless of where the "home of record" is. Another thing about this plan that disturbs me is the federal government getting a big chunk of everybody's cash. That, coupled with the fear of a mass exodus (all of those people who have been wanting to leave Alaska but could never afford to) and the resultant economic "boom-bust" make me very hesitant, and I must say that having known you personally for many years and respecting you as I do, it's difficult for me to not agree with you wholly on something. I trust your judgement to a fault, and I KNOW there must be something I am not understanding here. I would ask you "Why one large payout rather than 4 medium sized ones over the next few years?" or "Why mess with the dividend at all?" I realize that you are very busy and the LAST thing you have time for is explaining yourself to some ignorant blonde chick in North Pole, but I really want to understand this plan and the benefits that it will provide myself and my loved ones with, now and in the future. I look forward to a response from your office soon.

Hi,

I TOTALLY agree with you on the Alaska Permanent Fund. I have been raised/lived in Alaska since 1965.

I really hope to see the day the Alaska Permanent Fund will be handed out in big checks to everyone and use the remains for the State of Alaska. PLEASE...don't give up on this idea. I believe it is mostly the newer Alaskans that want to make sure they are in on the money and they think they will get more if it stays the same. I can vouch that since the first payout, which I did receive and every year after that; totals up around 20,000. Again that is 20 years worth. These people are (bluntly) stupid if they think the Dividend is going to last forever and that they will get rich off it. I really have my doubts on that. I would LOVE to see a Final big check in my hands. IF I could, I would sign off my share. I FAVOR the pay out. Not only because of the money, but I would like to see how many Alaskans really do love Alaska and would remain if the Dividend was gone. No more talk about it and the State could use the money. Especially for the Schools!!!

I have heard from the Alaskans that don't like this idea, but...if it was $50,000.00 per Alaskan they told me they would really consider it. Me, personally, I would like to see any final payout to get it done and over with. My parents raised their kids here with NO monies and they did fine. I personally believe THEY were here in the 60's and 70's and 80's but the time the Dividend started, they already raised us. They had no extra help with raising their family. Soooo WHY should the new comers have the Glory of it all when they wasn't here during the hardships and slope working days like my family was...who never had it easy like the new people have. Don't make sense to me.

I thought the Zobels wrecked the Alaskan ways with the Dividend. Gov. Jay Hammond was correct. He was thinking of the future with the older Alaskans. Payouts depending on years of residency. It is definately MORE fair than the way it turned out. Now the unfairness is to the older Alaskans who didn't have the Glories of the Dividend to help support their families.

But...in my heart...the people working and making it happen back then...regardless if they didn't receive monies to help thier familys in the days it was all forming and happening..are the REAL ALASKANS.

Thanks for bringing up the payout. I will vote for it if it comes to it.

Sincerely,

Carla Kusmider

I urge you to reconsider your proposed one time dividend payout. While $15,000 (after taxes) may be nice for those of us who receive it, I believe it flies in the face of the original intent of the dividend program. Future generations have a right to continue to share in the profits from the state's natural resources. I believe those who support the one time payout are selfish and greedy. I further believe that once the citizens of Alaska no longer have a vested interest in the permanent fund they will stop paying attention to what is being done with their money and the government will soon squander it all. Of course, we all know that is exactly what politicians want. That's why every year there is a new scheme to raid the fund.

I heard a blip on the radio news last week, I live in bush Alaska and do not hear or read a lot of media. It talked about a bill you are sponsoring promoting a one time payout and then turning the fund over to the state? It sounds like it is before the ways and means for framing. My questions are is this true, do you think it has any teeth, and where can I find more information on it? Also would this ultimately have to be put before the people for a vote? What are the chances of framing it where you would have a choice, either a one time payout or continue yearly checks. Any information on this would be appreciated.

I think you have a great idea... It's time to get rid of the fund as we now know it and start supplementing the State's budget. Alaska is turning into a welfare state, people are immigrating at an alarming rate, just for the dividend check. If you did some research you would find many families with up to 15 individuals living in one house. Not only are they coming from the lower 48 but many are coming from outside our borders. As you stated in your article, Child support would have a great day. As a father of two I know what it would mean for all those single mom's out there, who are fighting their dead beat counterpart for support of their children. It would be nice to see them pay up. As for me and many others, we could start our own fund and by the time my two are ready for a higher education, the money would be there. Thanks again for your aggressive thinking.

Dear Mr. Holm,

I know you are a busy man, so I will not waste any more of your time than necessary. I'm not sure how many of these types of emails you receive, but I just wanted to put in my two cents worth about what you brought up late last week concerning the one time giant dividend payouts. This was brought up once before a few years ago and most everyone I talked back then, and right now would not only support it, but LOVE IT!!! So many people could get out of debt, maybe move to a better neighborhood, buy a better car, or get the Internal Revenue Service off there back. Not to mention all the back child support or student loans collected through garnishes. I would bet my life on the fact that if this was put to a statewide vote, it would pass easily. PLEASE do not give up on this. Thanks so much for your time

Sincerely,

Will Stuart

Dear Representative Holm:

Thanks for a little common sense in this whole mess. To turn over the permanent fund to the legislature is ludicrous. We both know that once the fund is tapped it will be used until gone. Granted we do have a budget crisis and we need to decide if further generations need a token yearly payout. However, your plan will insure that those who getting a dividend will continue to get one if they invest and it will continue to grow. Something will have to give or we will lose our dividend completely. Not to mention the money windfall for the State and the far reaching effects that your payout would have. Please keep fighting for it.....Thanks Warren Finley

My husband and I read the proposal in Sundays newspaper. We would be happy if the PFD was settled once and for all. We are tired of hearing how badly the states needs our PFD's and would love to take the pay off and be done with it once and for all.

We realize there was some good points brought up about those on assistance ect. However, I am sure there are solutions to work around these problems. It would be a good thing for many.

It was brought up that people would leave Alaska. It is not the PFD's that causes people to stay here in AK. The small amount of income the fund has provided is not much of incentive make people stay here. We live here because we love this state. For those who plan to leave--let them go!! They would eventually go either way. This topic has come up often in our circle of family and friends. We've all agreed that we would purchase land, homes, pay off debts and open retirement funds. If we had a lump sum that is exactly what ALL of us said we would do. It would provide security for us to stay here in Alaska.

We are all for it.

I am interested in the recent proposal to "buy out" the dividend. I agree. Since the late 80's (and I admit that's not long after we started getting checks), I have thought this might be good for everyone. If people could have invested back then in homes, stock, bonds, etc, they might be better off right now. My husband and I ended up leaving in the oil crash of the mid-80's just so we could find jobs to feed our kids. If we had the money before then, we would have stayed. As it was, we didn't get back to our home state for 3 years.

I also think if you were to raise the amount by five or ten thousand per person, you would have an easier time getting the constituents to ok this "buy-out." People want to be able to do more with it than pay a few bills. Once the bills are paid, the money is gone, and a small sum doesn't bring much income when invested. Larger sums would be more likely to be sunk back into this economy be people paying off their homes or buying their first homes.

Thank you for your time.

Sir, your recent proposal to \"buy out\" the dividend is perfect. The only problem is all the people that I am in contact with and there are literally hundreds a day, prefer 30-50 thousand buy outs. I think if you were to boost the buy out by 5-10 thousand per dividend then you would have no problem selling your proposal to the public. 20 thousand is not a large sum now days. 25 is much better and anywhere between 30 and 50 thousand \"take home.\" You would be assured to have my vote. But 20 thousand would barely dent my debt and as an investment is not going to present a resonable return.

Please consider a higher number. Because the pay out will be one time, but your income for the government will be forever, as long as there is oil.

Dear Rep. Holm,

I read with interest about your proposal on the Alaska Permanent Fund. It has merit.

My son was born and raised in Alaska. He graduated from the Alaska National Guard Youth Challenge Corps (now called Alaska Military Academy) in 1996.

On April 30, 1996, my son's 17th birthday, we signed permission for him to enlist in the U.S. Marine Corps. He left for boot camp on June 3, 1996 from Anchorage, Alaska.

Since that time, my son has proudly served our country. He retained his Alaska residency and comes home every chance he gets.

This year, he served our country at war in Iraq. Before he left for Iraq and the war in March, he came home to Alaska for ten days.

He came home from Iraq in September and spent two weeks home in Alaska over the holidays.

Each year he has received his permanent fund check although each year he has to jump through many hoops to get it.

However, because he remains in the U.S. Marine Corps, in 2006 he will no longer be able to get his permanent fund check.

According to the law.....after ten years out of Alaska you loose it.....no matter your reason for being gone or how many times you come home and even if you plan on retiring here after your service is done. My son hopes to return to Alaska when he is 37 (he will have 20 years of service) and join the Alaska State Troopers.

If your plan regarding the permanent fund comes through, my son would still be able to get his share and use it to buy land to build his home on.

Good luck to you,

Gigi Pilcher

TO Mr. Jim Holm,

You should run for the Senate! I can't tell you how happy I am with your proposal concerning the permanent fund. I am a college student attending Pacific Lutheran University... I need an insentive to come back to my home state. I plan on going into education ... and my feeling is that our state is not able to fund the rural schools very efficiently here in the last decade. The incentive for me to come back.. would be the assurance that the state would have more money to work with concerning education... perhaps that higher salaries, nicer schools, and happier people. There are plenty of down sides to a lump sum payment... but I'll take it. If there is anything I can do to push this thing through.., please let me know. Sincerely, Michael Clark

I support your proposal. I feel that one way or the other the government of Alaska will use the money eventually anyway. My husband has been ill and has not been able to work for over 4 years. He is young and appears well, however, no one believes us. We have applied for social security disability to no avail. I for one do not believe the system is there to help us, although it is supposed to. All we have come up against anywhere is brick walls.

We are sinking here and it would certainly help us. We love Alaska and have been here over 20 years.

Another aspect that might attract attention is to offer the onetime payout to those of us that want to opt out of the yearly dividend and let us take the onetime payment. It would be easy.

We have contacted senators, previous government employees, and state offices. No one can help us, they say. I believe no one is interested in really pursuing the issues of my husband's illnesses. It won't benefit them.

By the way, my son Matthew is friends with Austin and we LOVE your greenhouse. Marcia was my son William's kindergarten teacher and he still talks about her. Have a great year.

wilderness. Izembek Lagoon hosts virtually all the Pacific Coast population of Brant geese part of the year because it has the Pacific coast's largest eel grass beds. Large numbers of threatened Steller's eiders, emperor geese and many other waterfowl and shorebirds also use this vital area.

A road connecting Cold Bay and King Cove should not be considered. Road proponents spuriously claim it is a medical necessity to be able to drive from King Cove to Cold Bay, which is served by larger aircraft to Anchorage. However, blizzards and flooding sometimes would make this proposed road impassible.

The most logical and economical approach to handling medical evacuations from King Cove is construction of a 5.6-mile road to a landing facility at Lenard Harbor and the use of a helicopter, hovercraft or ferry to Cold Bay. This alternative would cost much less than to build and maintain a 33.5-mile road to Cold Bay, and it would not violate Izembek National Wildlife Refuge.

If King Cove residents want a road for additional access for hunting, fishing and other recreational or economic reasons, they should build and maintain it on their own lands at their expense.

State should do one-time payout and then use fund for government

I have been reading about sales taxes, income taxes, slashing vital programs, lower oil revenues, raiding the Permanent Fund and budget deficits.

A few years ago, former Sen. Jerry Mackie introduced what was called "The Mackie Plan." At that time, some people thought his idea was crazy! We now know that he was about four years ahead of his time on this one and that he was right! From all indications, the dividend will soon be gone. His plan was simple and easy to understand. It should receive a vote of the people.

The Mackie plan would pay a final, one-time Permanent Fund dividend of $25,000 to each eligible Alaska resident. At this year's dividend amount, this would equal about 22 years' worth of dividends in advance. The Permanent Fund would then end. The Constitutional Budget Reserve would then be added to the remaining balance of the fund and it would continue to be managed by the Permanent Fund Corp. The principal of the fund would never be spent. Continued deposits of oil revenues and inflation proofing would ensure that the fund would grow every year. Using just the earnings of the fund would be more than enough to balance the budget on an annual basis. Forget about taxing everyone out of existence or stealing the dividend. Put it on the ballot, and the let the people vote!

Sir-

I read in the paper that you are proposing a PFD payout similar to the one that was proposed a few years ago. I wanted to let you know that as an Alaskan resident I am in favor of your plan, although I'm curious how the $16,000 was arrived at. I'm assuming it's the downturn in the stock market and the lower value of the stocks today than a few years ago. If I understand correctly, the state general fund would receive it's own sort of "dividend" in the form of interest on what's left of the principal. I think this would be a great way to help solve the deficit, while giving the alaskan economy a shot in the arm. This would give the average citizen a chance to start a business, buy a house, or invest in their childrens' education.

Sincerely,
Jim Dube

>From what I have read I would support your imitative for a $16,000 permanent fund dividend one time payment for all Alaskans. However, I strongly believe that for all citizens under the age of 18, the payment should be kept in escrow by the State until the individual reaches the age of 18. The State could offset the administrative fee for handling these escrows from the interest they would earn. I think it is unfair to the children of Alaska that many of the parents squander the child's dividend earnings. In fact, if we continue on with the current dividend payout program, an initiative to establish an escrow account for children under 18 would be a very noble action to take.
Thank you for letting me voice my opinion.

Hi Jim,

This correspondence is in regards to the conversation we had this afternoon. I appreciate your return call and hope you succeed in finding ways to close and/or fill the state's financial gap.

In regards to a budget alternative, these are a few ideas that should be considered. These ideas could solve this grave problem by utilizing our permanent fund. Alaskan voters must answer this question.

Is this plan the most beneficial to the citizens of Alaska?

Here are the main points of my assertion:

- 1) Payout 1/2 of the permanent fund to all Alaskans.
- 2) Keep the PFD program in place.
- 3) Access to the fund by the state would be granted only as a loan/bond.

My reasoning in regards to the three main points of this are as follows:

- 1) For Alaskans to vote for a payout, which then enables the state to borrow from the fund, a dividend of this amount is certainly enough to get the vote passed, I believe with a high majority.
- 2) By keeping the PFD programs in place we all will see future benefits, as I believe the fund will continue to grow.
- 3) By issuing a bond between the state and the PFD program, we are then only financing our government with payback scheduled. I believe we have no reason to lose because of the fact that our natural resources will be tapped in the very future.

In closing, I will spare you most rhetoric. However, I think there are representatives, such as yourself, who understand the direction that will relieve it of its fiscal responsibilities. I sincerely hope you grasp what Alaskans think!!

I sincerely thank you for considering all avenues which may lead to the security of knowing that not only us, but our children may enjoy our substantial freedoms

Sincerely,

Mr. Holm,

I read about your proposed change to the permanent fund. I don't know all of the details or the federal tax ramifications of this, but initially it sounds like a good idea to me. It makes no sense to me to have billions of dollars in reserve and not be able to fund our universities without creating a state income tax or sales tax. I don't want taxes and I don't want to see the schools and universities continue to beg for money every year. They need to be improving the system and the programs, not spending endless man hours asking for funds and then trying to get by on what they receive. If I don't get a dividend anymore, so be it. My children both graduated from AK post-secondary schools and are employed in Alaska. They don't stay because of the dividend, but because of the low tax base, and the quality of life they enjoy here. They both also love their jobs. Jobs they were able to get because of the great education they received.

I am sure that the huge number of other programs that are funded by the state would love to be able to have a more stable budget, so that the great services they provide can continue. Again, I'll take the lump sum and no more dividends. In the long run, I think everyone will be money ahead. Just don't take the dividend and ask for more tax dollars and hire fees.

Thank you for looking at the fiscal problem and fighting for a realistic, long term solution.

Mr. Holms

Just wanted to drop you a note about my ideas on the current budget gap.

Cut government overspending and the problem will take care of itself. I am sure an over view of the current budget would reveal areas that could be cut, and should be cut.

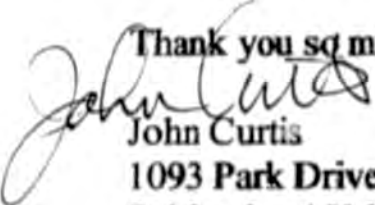

No! On a State income or sales tax.

Cash us out of the PFD. Have everyone who qualifies for a dividend, lets say for 2004, receive $20,000.00 one time payout and the state would not give out another PFD check. The state would have that money in the future to use as they wish. (Hopefully to lower our taxes).

I hope our State does not take the same coarse as the others have done. Our taxes should not keep going up and up for what I consider over spending on government pet projects. However, we the people should pay for roads, defense, law enforcement and emergency services. The government should not be in business for anything.

It is my hope our State will take the lead in reversing its thinking about over spending and start cutting our government budgets, programs and pet projects.

Thank you so much for your time.
