IV. DATE 5/18/82 PREPARED BY Edwin Rehwald
AGENCY Older Alaskans Commission
PHONE 465-3250
Original: Legislative Finance
cc: Budget and Management
Prime Sponsor (First Legislator Named)
33-001 (Rev. 12/81)

Estimates on the number of eligible reimbursements is based upon the following. The total population of Alaskans aged 65+ is 11,547. 18.5% are estimated to be in the workforce (U.S. Department of Labor statistics, January 1982). This is equivalent to 2,136 persons presently employed.

The number of older Alaskans who may participate is limited by the following factors:

1. The loss of Social Security due to the wage limitation rule;
2. Resistance of employers to hire older workers;
3. Limit of five eligible employees per employer; and
4. Limit eligibility to employment which is not already subsidized or paid by existing federal or state programs.

It is estimated, therefore, that 250 older Alaskans would participate in the first year. Therefore, funding needed for grants, claims, etc. in SFY '83 is $250,000 for persons 65 years of age and older. This assumes the limitations itemized above; that each employee would earn $10,000 or more in a calendar year; and each employer claims $1,000 for each employee (10% of gross salary).

Increases of 5% is estimated in the number of people who would be eligible for this reimbursement each year.

In a recent national study by National Retired Teachers Association/American Association of Retired Persons (NRTA/AARP), it was demonstrated that it cost $3,110 in tax revenue per participant (Title V program) but upon placement into unsubsidized employment $4,150 was paid back by each participant in tax revenues. Therefore, $1,040 represents the amount of return to the system over the program costs. Alaska could expect to realize a net return from this program due to savings in public assistance and other public entitlement programs.

CS for SB 621 (State Affairs)

The Older Persons Action Group (OPAG), requested this bill.

There are many Alaskans 65 years of age or older who are experienced in many fields and are quite capable of working. Many of them want to work to supplement their retirement incomes or other fixed incomes, on which many of them find it difficult to live, because of increased inflation.

The purpose of this bill is to offer an incentive to private sector employers to hire older Alaskans who want to work. It also may help in overcoming "a negative stereotype of old age."

The employment of these older Alaskans can reduce unemployment payouts, food stamps, and other public assistance payouts. It also can contribute to better living conditions, and more self-respect and self-reliance for many of those older persons employed.

I believe this bill is simple enough to be self-explanatory, but I shall cover a few of the pertinent points, and then answer any questions.

On page 1, Subparagraph (b)(1) of Sec. 010 tends to prevent the termination of existing employees in order to hire older employees. The older persons hired should be as a result of business expansion -- not replacement of those already employed.

Subparagraph (b)(2) prevents the employment of close family members by an employer who might try to capitalize on the reimbursement to keep it in the family.

And Sec. 020 prevents an employer from receiving more than $1,000 for each older person employed per year or more than $5,000 for five or more older employees. In other words, $5,000 is the maximum an employer can receive regardless of the number of older persons employed.

Mr. President, I don't know how many, but several states have a similar program to encourage the employment of older persons.

I consider this program to be as important to some older Alaskans who want to work as the longevity bonus is to some others. Some members of OPAG have told me so, and I am a member and attend their meetings.

I urge the passage of this bill to help our older Alaskans help themselves, and at the same time not cost the State very much if any money -- it may even save the State money.

Estimates on the number of eligible reimbursements is based upon the following. The total population of Alaskans aged 65+ is 11,547. 18.5% are estimated to be in the workforce (U.S. Department of Labor statistics, January 1982). This is equivalent to 2,136 persons presently employed.

The number of older Alaskans who may participate is limited by the following factors:

1. The loss of Social Security due to the wage limitation rule;
2. Resistance of employers to hire older workers;
3. Limit of five eligible employees per employer; and
4. Limit eligibility to employment which is not already subsidized or paid by existing federal or state programs.

It is estimated, therefore, that 250 older Alaskans would participate in the first year. Therefore, funding needed for grants, claims, etc. in SFY '83 is $250,000 for persons 65 years of age and older. This assumes the limitations itemized above; that each employee would earn $10,000 or more in a calendar year; and each employer claims $1,000 for each employee (10% of gross salary).

Increases of 5% is estimated in the number of people who would be eligible for this reimbursement each year.

In a recent national study by National Retired Teachers Association/American Association of Retired Persons (NRTA/AARP), it was demonstrated that it cost $3,110 in tax revenue per participant (Title V program) but upon placement into unsubsidized employment $4,150 was paid back by each participant in tax revenues. Therefore, $1,040 represents the amount of return to the system over the program costs. Alaska could expect to realize a net return from this program due to savings in public assistance and other public entitlement programs.

POSITION PAPER ON HOUSE CS FOR CS FOR SENATE BILL NO. 621 (State Affairs)

"An Act providing incentives to hire Alaskans."

The Older Alaskans Commission (OAC) strongly supports Section 1 of this bill (which is almost identical to the prior version: CSSB 621 (SA) dated 4/8/82) but the OAC does not support Sections 2 and 3 which have been added to it.

This prior version is concise, uncomplicated, and fills an urgent need to assist elderly Alaskans who need employment and have great difficulty in obtaining it. Studies show that:

1. Many persons who retired earlier with sufficient retirement income have not been able to keep up with inflation and, many who are too proud to go on welfare, are having to make choices between eating properly, paying the rent or fuel bills.
2. Because of longer life expectancy and better health, many older persons feel the need for meaningful activity during longer periods of retirement. This activity and economic security promotes their general health and well-being.
3. Older persons are not referred to jobs as often as younger persons at the Employment Centers.
4. The actual unemployment rate for older workers tends to be much higher than records show. As people become older and face more hiring rejections, they tend to no longer contact employment offices because they think they cannot get a job. These are the "discouraged" workers. In Alaska, a recent sampling of those 60 and up found that approximately 30% are unemployed, only 30% are employed full time and 40% are employed part time or seasonally. The employment of those 65 and up drops much more than this.
5. The average duration of unemployment for older workers 65 and over is about 6 months, whereas it is less than 3-½ months for those 16 to 44.
6. Employers tend to not hire older persons due to the stereotypes and myths of aging. However, older persons when given the opportunity, dispel these myths by their dependability, stability, and disabuse of sick leave. Mature judgment and experience offset any physical slowing while mental capabilities and ability to learn new jobs or new methods tends to remain the same.

7. Hiring of older workers will remove many from welfare or Social Security programs and they will thus contribute to the tax base instead of tax monies being used to support them.
8. The non-hiring of older workers can accelerate inflation as retirement income rises without a commensurate increase in the supply of goods and services. Thus there is a tremendous loss to the economy of these goods and services that the older worker would otherwise produce.

The OAC, while supportive the theory of providing an incentive to hire Alaskans, does not support Sections 2 and 3 which have been added to this bill for the following reasons:

1. This part of the bill has no relationship to Section 1 and will only prevent the passage of Section 1.
2. The fiscal note for Section 2 and the time element involved will definitely preclude this bill from being passed.
3. It appears that this Section 2 could be discriminatory since there is no longer a personal income tax or other uniform tax that all businesses pay to the state. There are only separate taxes for various businesses such as the corporate income tax, commercial fishing licenses, liquor licenses, etc.
4. It is believed that this section will not accomplish what is intended and could easily be subjected to abuses. Since one may become an "Alaskan" with 30 days residency and a statement as to the "intent of remaining in Alaska", what would prevent an employer from hiring a non-Alaskan, then 30 days later firing and rehiring him as an "Alaskan" when the proper documentation is in place?
5. This tax credit is a further reduction to state revenues at a time when income tax revenues have been eliminated and oil revenues have been decreased.

The OAC earnestly recommends that the House State Affairs Committee retain Section 1 (the same as the prior version of this bill as in CSSB621 (SA) dated 4/8/82) and delete Sections 2 and 3.

House CS for CS for SB 621 "An Act providing incentives to hire Alaskans"

Background

Section 1 of the bill provides for a new chapter to AS 47 entitled "Reimbursement for Employers of Older Alaskans. Section 2 of the bill adds a new chapter to AS 43 entitled "Resident Hire Tax Credit."

Section 1 of the bill would be administered by the Department of Administration, Older Alaskans Commission. The section provides for reimbursement an employer who employs an employee who is 65 years of age or older and who is a resident of the State. The reimbursement (10% of the gross salary paid) is limited to $1,000 per individual employee and $5,000 total.

Section 2 provides for a tax credit for an eligible business not to exceed 10% of the wages paid to Alaska residents. There is no limitation as to the total credit allowed the taxpayer. The tax credit may be applied to any tax due the State. It is not a refundable credit.

Objections

The Department of Revenue generally objects to the work draft in total and strongly objects to section 2 of the bill. Reasons include:

1. There is duplication of credits as older Alaskans eligible for the credit provisions under Chapter 67 would also be eligible under Chapter 27. In addition, current credits under Chapter 43.20 would, on occasion, be duplicated under Chapter 43.27. The taxpayer would not only be entitled to a direct tax credit but would also have a business deduction for the salaries paid thereby resulting in a double deduction. One or the other concept should be allowed but there should not be a dual benefit.
2. Section 2, in particular, is overly broad and should be targeted toward a specified group of employees including chronically unemployed and the disadvantaged.
3. There could be some constitutional questions because of the apparent discrimination between residents and non-residents.

4. There would be numerous administration problems including determination of eligibility. Section 2 provides a particular problem as to the determination of supervisory versus non-supervisory personnel.
5. Section 2 provides that the Commissioner of Revenue must annually determine the amount of tax credit for which a business is eligible and shall notify the eligible business. This would create a burdensome administrative function for the Department of Revenue and would mandate additional staffing.
6. The bill has a devastating fiscal impact. Section 2, in particular could very well wipe out a good part of the corporate income taxes and corporate income taxes are a main source of non-petroleum taxes for Alaska.
7. The reimbursements or credits given to employers could very well trigger an inflationary impact due to the fact that labor unions might well negotiate for higher wages for employees because of the economic benefit received by employers.

Hammond honors older workers

Older workers in Alaska and throughout the nation are a valuable resource, Gov. Jay Hammond said in proclaiming March 14-20 as "Employ the Older Worker Week."

Hammond urges "all employers to consider for employment those qualified older men and women when they hire new workers. By utilizing the assets of older workers, our labor force and society gain as a whole," he said.

"An increasing number of older Americans are forced by changing economic conditions to seek meaningful employment," Hammond said. In pointing out the America's population is aging, making it mandatory that more employers more fully utilize older workers, the governor said, "The majority of older Americans are capable of sustained, productive work in almost all fields of activity. Older workers regularly employed demonstrate their values as employees through a positive work attitude, employer loyalty, resourcefulness, pride in work performed, and less absenteeism."

Talents of Elderly Wasted in "A Youth-Centered Culture"

MAREN LEFFLER/USNEWS

Time to drop "a negative stereotype of old age"

Western culture has always had a negative stereotype of old age. Older people have been viewed as cranky, wrinkled, ugly and unable to change their ways. This stereotype has been passed from generation to generation through literature and the schools. The image dates back to the ancient Greeks, who honored youth, not age, and to the Judeo-Christian tradition. Even in the Bible, despite the commandment to "honor thy father and thy mother," age was not really revered. Colonial New England appears to be an exception to this negativism. Senior citizens held office until they died, and they were accorded the position of honor in the church.

Some historians argue that the American Revolution undercut all the hierarchical structures that supported veneration for the aged. By the 1820s and 1830s, we were becoming a youth-centered culture, with younger people assuming offices once generally held by their elders. In the 1880s and 1890s, negative images became much stronger as a result of changes in the workplace and a revolution in the medical-biological profession. New industrialists said that older workers were less efficient and must be moved out of the work force. Retirement plans began to emerge because some factory managers thought they could gain the loyalty of younger workers by moving them into positions of responsibility more rapidly.

At the same time, the medical profession, which was making breakthroughs in the discovery of microorganisms, began to regard old age as a disease or a complex of diseases. Doctors did not have much success in curing these diseases, so they pictured old age as a grouping of incurable diseases and did not look for ways to ameliorate the chronic problems of aging. Even today, despite the efforts of the National Institute on Aging, very little is being done to keep people healthy and comfortable as they age. Instead, the emphasis is on acute care, dealing with problems only when they become critical.

Our "age-segregated society"

In this century, the U.S. has become even more of a youth-centered culture. The enactment of social legislation to benefit the elderly does not mean that attitudes have changed. Even Social Security was passed with mixed motives: Though partially humanitarian in its thrust, it was also designed to move older people out of the work force and to give jobs to younger people.

Ever since the end of World War II, we have developed an age-segregated society as developers sold off big hunks of land in Florida, Arizona and Southern California that were turned into "leisure villages" and retirement cities. It is a tragic mistake for many older people to leave their communities for these places. They often know no one in these retirement areas and have to prove themselves all over again; their identities are gone.

Salvaging "an irreplaceable intellectual resource"

In the years ahead, older people face an even bleaker future unless there is a major change in the attitudes of the young. As the baby-boom group ages and moves into retirement, there will be a dramatically reduced work force to support a huge dependent population of older people. Moreover, the baby-boom generation will be far more educated and will demand more in the way of cultural and health advantages and economic security than the present group of older Americans. This could produce a sharper cleavage among generations unless we find ways to break up age segregation, with the old and the young being brought together.

For example, we can take advantage of the closing of so many schools to use some of the money saved to give older people classes in these buildings. Another possibility is to organize the elderly in more voluntary service and pay them a minimal honorarium.

The fact is older people remain intellectually vital. New tests developed by psychologists show that the intelligence of the elderly remains just as great; they just learn in a different way than young people. They don't memorize; they tie things to experience. They learn more slowly because they have to sort out their experiences and fit the new material into their lives.

The elderly are an irreplaceable intellectual resource—but because of the negative stereotype society holds, they are often unappreciated.

LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS AGENCY

MEMORANDUM

February 24, 1982

SUBJECT: Sunset of state agencies, boards and
commissions -- CSSSSB 630 (SA)

TO: Senator Arliss Sturgulewski

FROM: Edward H. Hein EHA
Legislative Counsel

You have asked for a section-by-section analysis of CSSSSB 630 (SA).

o/c
Sec. 1. The title of AS 44.66.010 and the first sentence of subsections (a), (b) and (c) have been amended to include state agencies, and in subsections (b) and (c) also state boards. The last half of the first sentence of subsection (a) has been reworded for purposes of clarity. In Paragraph (11) the statutory reference to the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault has been renumbered in accordance with changes made during the interim by the Revisor of Statutes.

In subsection (b) a new sentence has been added to provide that during the year for which a "terminated" agency, board or commission is extended for the purpose of concluding its affairs, its powers and authority are not reduced. The meaning of this sentence is not clear. One interpretation is that it means that the agency, board or commission may exercise its powers and authority only for the purpose of concluding its affairs. Another interpretation is that the agency, board or commission may continue to exercise all its powers and authority and carry on "business as usual".

Subsection (c) provides that the legislature has authority to continue or reestablish a state agency, board or commission for a period not to exceed four years unless it decides to continue or reestablish the agency, board or commission for a period exceed for years.

from.

Senator Arliss Sturgulewski

February 24, 1982

Sec. 2 provides for an immediate effective date if the section is approved by a two-thirds vote of each house. The act would take effect on 12:01 am on the day after it is signed by the governor or the day after he gives written notice that he is allowing the act to become effective without his approval.

LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS AGENCY

MEMORANDUM

February 24, 1982

SUBJECT: Sunset of state agencies, boards and
commissions -- CSSSSB 630 (SA)

TO: Senator Arliss Sturgulewski

FROM: Edward H. Hein EHA
Legislative Counsel

You have asked for a section-by-section analysis of CSSSSB 630 (SA).

o/c
Sec. 1. The title of AS 44.66.010 and the first sentence of subsections (a), (b) and (c) have been amended to include
state agencies, and in subsections (b) and (c) also state boards. The last half of the first sentence of subsection (a) has been reworded for purposes of clarity. In Paragraph (11) the statutory reference to the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault has been renumbered in accordance with changes made during the interim by the Revisor of Statutes.

In subsection (b) a new sentence has been added to provide
that during the year for which a "terminated" agency, board or commission is extended for the purpose of concluding its affairs, its powers and authority are not reduced. The meaning of this sentence is not clear. One interpretation is that it means that the agency, board or commission may exercise its powers and authority only for the purpose of concluding its affairs. Another interpretation is that the agency, board or commission may continue to exercise all its powers and authority and carry on "business as usual".

Subsection (c) provides that the legislature has authority to continue or reestablish a state agency, board or commission for a period not to exceed four years unless it decides to continue or reestablish the agency, board or commission for a period exceed for years.

from.

Senator Arliss Sturgulewski

Sec. 2 provides for an immediate effective date if the section is approved by a two-thirds vote of each house. The act would take effect on 12:01 am on the day after it is signed by the governor or the day after he gives written notice that he is allowing the act to become effective without his approval.

House State Affairs Committee
12th Alaska State Legislature

Dear Sirs;

I am submitting testimony in support of the House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 637, relating to the Alaska Historical Commission.

My name is Annabel Lund and I have been employed as a working journalist for the past 10 years, six of them in Alaska. I am a member in good standing of the Alaska Press Club.

I am speaking today as an individual, however, because the Press Club had not been apprised of this legislation until yesterday, unfortunately. We were unable to poll the rest of our organization, but will do so if you gentlemen would prefer it.

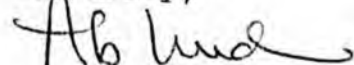

I support this legislation because I believe the Alaska Historical Commission provides a valuable service to residents of the state and has the potential to do even more for Alaskans now and in the future.

Opening up membership on the commission to more Alaskans, Alaskans with different experiences and perspectives, would infuse the commission with new vigor and broaden its base of support and communication.

The preservation and celebration of Alaska's rich and colorful past continues to be of concern to many of the state's residents. Those in the fields of education and journalism are actively involved in the collection, analyzation, and recording of those events and people, both past and present, that have made, and continue to make, Alaska great. Educators and writers should be included as participants in the Alaska Historical Commission.

Thank you for your time and the opportunity to express my viewpoint on this issue.

Sincerely,

Annabel Lund

RE: House CS for Senate Bill 637

MEMORANDUM OF SUPPORT

House CS for Senate Bill 637: "An act relating to the Alaska Historical Commission; and providing for an effective date."

NEA-Alaska is in support of this Committee Substitute because we believe an expanded Commission including Alaskan History Teachers will result in an improved program.

If one believes in the educational value of history it is reasonable to support a more effective Commission and provide for a more comprehensive board.

GRANTS

Since FY 77, the first year the Commission awarded grants, 73 projects have been funded at a total cost of $531,224. However, this includes FY 82 grants that have not and may not be paid out in their entirety, as grants are not paid in advance, but as reimbursement after satisfactory completion of the project or of significant project stages. This also includes FY 82 grants which have been approved, but for which no formal agreement has been made. The average amount of a grant is about $7,280. In Attachment 1, a summary of the Commission's grant program, Mr. Hanable has explained the current policies and guidelines of the program. A list of the grants, including the recipient, the amount of the grant, and the product resulting from the grant, begins on page 4 of the attachment.

REGRANTS

According to Mr. Hanable, the Commission has not made any regrants to date. The Commission plans to consider regrants as a policy question at its next meeting.

ALASKA HISTORY TEXTBOOK PROJECT

Attachment 2 summarizes the Alaska history textbook project. Three tables, beginning on page 4 of the summary, provide a list of individuals and organizations contracted to work on the textbook from FY 80 to FY 82. However, the fourth paragraph of the project summary preceding this list would seem to indicate that two contracts in FY 80 are not included in the list, one with Dr. Claus M. Naske and one with Marjorie Cochrane. Unfortunately, given the time constraints of this memorandum, we were unable to contact Mr. Hanable to obtain an explanation of this apparent omission. In addition, the Legislature authorized $37,000 for the textbook project for FY 79 which is not included in the tables.

ROYALTIES FROM GRANT PROJECTS

According to Mr. Hanable, the Commission currently has a policy of requiring a 10 percent royalty on each publication produced with commission assistance. However, royalties were not handled on a uniform basis in the past. As of April 15, 1982, the Alaska Historical Commission had received royalties from two grant recipients:

In addition to Attachments 1 and 2, I have also enclosed for your reference Mr. Hanable's cover letter. If you have any questions regarding the information we have provided, or if we can be of further assistance to you, please do not hesitate to call.

MEMORANDUM OF SUPPORT

House CS for Senate Bill 637: "An act relating to the Alaska Historical Commission; and providing for an effective date."

NEA-Alaska is in support of this Committee Substitute because we believe an expanded Commission including Alaskan History Teachers will result in an improved program.

If one believes in the educational value of history it is reasonable to support a more effective Commission and provide for a more comprehensive board.

Dear Joe:

May I call your attention to Senate Bill No. 637 "An Act Relating to the membership of the Alaska Historical Commission" which increased the number of commissioners. We learned of this Bill only recently, and approve of the increase.

Is it too late to consider increasing th terms from two to three years and inserting a limitation of two terms?

Too often strong members, with a good deal to offer, perpetuate their services on a Board. It is my belief, as it is of many of our members, that from a policy standpoint it is better to have a limitation on such service.

We are responsible, along with two members from the Commission, to present names to the Governor's office for selection of members for an expired term. It relieves all involved of any embarrassment of selection if there is a limitation, and I hope it may be possible to insert it.

We are dismayed at the reduction in all historical programs which have the cumulative effect of eliminating much of the progress made in historical r search and studies within the State in recent years. We recognize the financial problems facing the Legislature, and know many decisions have to be made which cause great anguish.

Good luck,

Sincerely,

Edith

It is not possible to calculate the fiscal impact of Section 4 since full time staff at an indeterminate cost would have to be employed to replace the staff Executive Director deleted by this section.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Representative Ray Metcalfe

FROM: Jonathan Sherwood JMS
Research Staff

RE: Research Request 82-114
Alaska Historical Commission

Al Mongin of your staff requested information on the Alaska Historical Commission. He asked that we provide the following information:

- The yearly budget allocation since the Commission was established.
- A list of the grants awarded by the Commission including the amount of each grant and any product resulting from the project.
- The source and amount of funding the Commission has received for regranting and the recipients and amounts of any regrants the Commission has funded.
- A list of the persons or organizations who have received contracts to participate in the Alaska history textbook project.
- The amount of royalties the Commission has received from materials published by grant recipients.

In response to your request, we contacted William Hanable, executive director of the Alaska Historical Commission. With the exception of the yearly budget allocations, which we have taken from the Executive Budgets for FY 73 through FY 83, Mr. Hanable was able to provide us with all of the information you requested.

YEARLY BUDGET ALLOCATIONS

Table I shows yearly budget authorizations and actual expenditures for the Commission from FY 73 through FY 83. The Alaska Historical Commission was created by the Legislature in 1972 and began operating during the summer of 1973. It was initially funded for $49,900 in FY 73 (of which $11,900 was actually spent). Since that time, the Commission's budget has increased to ten times the original authorization; its FY

REC'D APR 19 1982

82 authorization was $535,200. As the table below indicates, the Grants/Claims component of the budget has become an increasingly large portion of the budget, accounting for 60 percent of the FY 82 final authorization.

GRANTS

Since FY 77, the first year the Commission awarded grants, 73 projects have been funded at a total cost of $531,224. However, this includes FY 82 grants that have not and may not be paid out in their entirety, as grants are not paid in advance, but as reimbursement after satisfactory completion of the project or of significant project stages. This also includes FY 82 grants which have been approved, but for which no formal agreement has been made. The average amount of a grant is about $7,280. In Attachment 1, a summary of the Commission's grant program, Mr. Hanable has explained the current policies and guidelines of the program. A list of the grants, including the recipient, the amount of the grant, and the product resulting from the grant, begins on page 4 of the attachment.

REGRANTS

According to Mr. Hanable, the Commission has not made any regrants to date. The Commission plans to consider regrants as a policy question at its next meeting.

ALASKA HISTORY TEXTBOOK PROJECT

Attachment 2 summarizes the Alaska history textbook project. Three tables, beginning on page 4 of the summary, provide a list of individuals and organizations contracted to work on the textbook from FY 80 to FY 82. However, the fourth paragraph of the project summary preceding this list would seem to indicate that two contracts in FY 80 are not included in the list, one with Dr. Claus M. Naske and one with Marjorie Cochrane. Unfortunately, given the time constraints of this memorandum, we were unable to contact Mr. Hanable to obtain an explanation of this apparent omission. In addition, the Legislature authorized $37,000 for the textbook project for FY 79 which is not included in the tables.

ROYALTIES FROM GRANT PROJECTS

According to Mr. Hanable, the Commission currently has a policy of requiring a 10 percent royalty on each publication produced with commission assistance. However, royalties were not handled on a uniform basis in the past. As of April 15, 1982, the Alaska Historical Commission had received royalties from two grant recipients:

The Alaska Historical Commission is assigned the following duties by Alaska Statutes 44.27.090:

1. to survey, evaluate, and catalog Alaska prehistory and history materials now in print;
2. to ascertain and register what Alaska prehistory and history work is now in progress;
3. to identify the existing gaps in the coverage of Alaska's past in presently available published works and establish priorities for bridging them;
4. to prepare a thematic study of Alaska's history for historic preservation;
5. to identify the sources of Alaska's history;
6. to coordinate the production and publication of works that will adequately present all aspects of Alaska's past; and
7. to cooperate with the federal government in programs relating to history and archaeology.

Research and Publication Grant Program

To carry out the duties assigned to it, the Alaska Historical Commission has undertaken a number of programs. The Research and Publication Grant Program provides full or partial reimbursement for projects which further the commission's purpose. Applications for grants are evaluated and approved or rejected by the voting members of the commission who include the Lieutenant Governor and four public members appointed by the Governor. Projects are funded following the State of Alaska fiscal year system which starts on July 1 and ends on June 30 each calendar year.

Individuals, non-profit organizations, and agencies of government are eligible participants. All funding is on a reimbursable basis. Payment is made only after commission approval of significant project stages and/or upon project completion and formal acceptance by the commission. While the commission will issue letters of commitment, it is the recipient's responsibility to obtain interim funding from other sources. In instances where projects are not brought to satisfactory completion as determined by the commission, recipients must repay all funding received or complete the project to the commission's satisfaction without further reimbursement.

TEXT APR 15 1982

Each project is evaluated upon completion when commission members formally determine if the project participant has met all conditions of the grant agreement. Each project is subject to a postcompletion audit, and the recipient is responsible for maintaining auditable project records until such an audit has been conducted and accepted by the commission. Questioned costs revealed by such an audit must be repaid by the recipient. It is the recipient's responsibility to comply with, and to document compliance with, the project agreement and all relevant federal and state laws and regulations.

Grant Program Policies and Guidelines

1. The funding level of the Alaska Historical Commission prevents it from funding projects concerned with making films or movies or other audio-visual presentations.
2. Dissertation research is considered of low priority, but is not automatically eliminated because it is related to degree requirements.
3. Salaries for principal investigators are of low priority, but decisions on such funding are related to the importance of the project.
4. Research and publication are distinct and are to be applied for and considered separately as grant projects.
5. Travel funds must be specified in the grant application. Funding decisions regarding travel expenses will be made on an individual case basis.
6. Oral history projects must focus on a particular theme or problem. Applications for such projects must include a tentative list of people to be interviewed, a sample tape and an edited transcript of approximately thirty minutes of conversation.
7. In publications projects the State of Alaska is to receive publication royalties stemming from works funded by the Alaska Historical Commission. This does not include recovery of publication costs. The percentage of royalties is 10%, unless the commission has funded both research and publication and then it will receive all profits from sales of the publication.
8. The commission does not fund historic preservation projects [identification, documentation, preservation, or rehabilitation and restoration of historic sites or structures].
9. The commission does not fund projects to reproduce or copy photograph collections.
10. The commission discourages overhead expenses and indirect costs in projects except as a contributed share of project costs.

11. The State of Alaska will hold the initial copyright when the commission provides funding for publication.

Projects Previously Funded

In the past the commission has fully or partially funded projects which have included research and publication of historical reference works (bibliographies, indices, directories) and of historical studies (archaeological analyses, biographies, community and topical histories). While the commission is interested in receiving proposals which are innovative, all projects must be related to the commission's duties and fall within the grant program policies and guidelines described above.

Beginning with Fiscal Year 1981 grants, the commission evaluated grants in accordance with the following criteria. Projects are sought which have the following qualities.

PROJECT PURPOSE

- Preserve information about Alaska's history or prehistory that would otherwise be lost;
- Identify previously undeveloped sources of information on Alaska's history or prehistory;
- Make previously undeveloped sources of information on Alaska's history or prehistory available for study;
- Provide new synthesis or interpretation of Alaska's history or prehistory.

PROJECT NARRATIVE AND BIBLIOGRAPHY

- Reflect thorough understanding of the project;
- Preliminary work cited supports need for further work on the topic
- Reflect thorough preliminary work by principal project personnel on topic;
- Project design best way to carry out project;
- Written in succinct and cogent style.

BUDGET

- Reasonably cost effective;
- Reflects careful consideration of expected costs;
- Achieves maximum results for minimum cost through shared funding;
- Sufficiently elaborated.

QUALIFICATIONS OF PRINCIPAL PERSONNEL

- Educational background will contribute to project;
- Experience strong enough to carry out project.

ADDITIONAL PROJECT QUALITIES

- Offers training opportunities for persons new to historical field;
- Serves as model for similar projects which may be undertaken by others;
- Achieves widest possible distribution of results with minimum cost;
- Not possible without public support;
- Returns royalties or profits which can be used for future projects.

ALASKA HISTORICAL COMMISSION
SUMMARY OF ALASKA HISTORY TEXTBOOK PROJECT

The impetus for formation of the Alaska Historical Commission was the Alaska Historical Society's desire to see an Alaska history textbook published. A proposal to the 1970-71 Legislature for funding a textbook project evolved into a bill which established the commission and gave it a considerably broader charge than just textbook preparation.

Preparation of a textbook has been considered a commission responsibility, both within and outside the commission since the beginning of its operation in 1972. However, no definite action was taken until 1978 when the House and Senate finance committees asked what progress was being made on an Alaska history textbook. As a result of those inquiries, a proposal for funding a textbook project was submitted to the Legislature, approved in part, and $37,000 was available to the commission on July 1, 1978, to begin textbook preparation.

During the following twelve months the commission solicited suggestions about how best to proceed, selected Dr. Frank Greenough as project director, and adopted a plan for the book's organization. This structure involved a regional approach, with five regional units sandwiched between an overview and conclusion. All of the units were to be based on contract research reports prepared for the project. The subjects of the research reports were to be assimilated by a writer, who would synthesize them into a narrative suitable for school use.

On July 1, 1979, the Legislature made $120,000 available to continue the textbook project and the first research contract was let to Dr. Claus-M. Naske for preparation of a report to serve as the basis for the overview unit. After statewide solicitation of writing samples, Marjorie Cochrane of Eagle River was contracted as project writer in September of 1979.

In the following months, commissioners reviewed the topical matrix which was to be used to identify research report topics, technical advisors were sought, and a number of contracts were initiated for regional and topical research reports. However, administrative difficulties in contract approval prevented the researchers from starting work until the spring of 1980. Tables at the end of this summary provide information on contractors, contract work, and contract costs.

In the meantime, Marjorie Cochrane completed a draft of the overview unit which was reproduced for the purpose of field-testing in several schools. However, the draft copies were not available until the last four weeks of the school year and testing was only partially accomplished. Marjorie was able to participate in the testing at Fort Yukon and this gave her some insight which was useful in later writing.

At the end of June 1980, four researchers were at work on regional reports and several researchers were at work on topical reports. The Alaska Native Education Association (ANEA) was placed under contract to review the draft units as they became available.

REC'D APR 15 1982

On July 1, 1980, the Legislature made $127,000 available to continue the textbook project. Actual expenditures over the next twelve months totalled $82,910. During those months, a plan was developed for bringing research and writing to a conclusion by October 1981, the commission made a policy decision that the book being prepared would serve only as a text and not attempt a second function as a marketable popular Alaska history. Also, initial estimates were made on production costs and a capital budget request for $125,000 was submitted to the Legislature.

In October of 1980, draft of the Interior unit was reproduced for field-testing. The draft was sent to the field-test sites, circulated widely to school boards and historical groups in the Interior, and also sent to historians and other scholars with special knowledge of subjects treated in the draft.

Early in 1981 it was apparent that the informal arrangements for the field test, dependent on the project director's personal friendships with teachers, had broken down. The Department of Education was asked for assistance in arranging future tests. Ensuing discussions made it clear that unit-by-unit tests would not have been valid, and further field testing was postponed until a complete draft would be available. At this time, the Department of Education arranged for curriculum and reading level experts to review textbook drafts and also advised that in order to be usable statewide in Alaska, the book had to be written at a 5-6th grade reading level.

By the end of February 1981, Drawing Conclusions had been selected as the book designer for the project. By this time all of the research reports (except for one on energy) had been obtained. Also, it had been decided that a contract editor would be necessary.

Drafts drafted by the writer were reviewed by commission members as they became available. The commissioners comments were relayed as received to the writer and project director for incorporation into the draft. In May of 1981, the curriculum and reading level reviews arranged for by the Department of Education were received. In addition to making suggestions regarding book design, they pointed out that the average reading level was about at the 9th grade level, although some sections dropped to 8th grade and others surged upward to 12th grade level.

On July 1, 1981, the Legislature made $43,800 available to continue the textbook project (to date $30,455 has been expended). However, capital funds for production were not appropriated. A capital appropriation of $150,000 has been requested for FY 83. Sarah Eppenbach of Juneau was selected as contract editor and by the beginning of fall, all draft material had been sent to her to work on.

By the end of January 1982, Ms. Eppenbach's edited version of the complete draft had been delivered to the commission offices. Her contract work was nearly completed, except for photograph selection and arrangement, which was scheduled to be completed by the end of March. Ms. Cochrane's contract work for the commission had been concluded at the end of September 1981, although she worked through December for Dr. Greenough to prepare a teacher's guide which will accompany the textbook. Dr. Greenough's contract work on the project was concluded by the end of January, although he continues to provide assistance as an interested professional.

At this writing, arrangements have been made for piloting of the textbook in twelve school districts in the 1982-83 school year. The draft manuscript is under review in the commission office to assure that editorial efforts to reach an appropriate reading level did not alter historical facts and interpretations. Approximately 107 maps and 300 photographs have been identified as appropriate support for the text and are being integrated with the narrative.

If funds are made available only for the 1982-83 pilot testing are in the commission's FY 83 budget, the text will reach classrooms in 1984. If the commission's request for production funds is approved for FY 83, copies will be available in late 1983.
