The Honorable Loren Lemam
Chair, State Affairs Committee
Alaska State Senate
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Senator Lemam:

I have attached a budget summary in support of the Live Legislative Television Broadcast Project concept proposal presented to the Senate State Affairs Committee on this date.

In summary, the proposed project would offer live broadcast of both Alaska Senate and House floor sessions as well as live and tape-delayed broadcast of selected committee hearings, joint sessions, and special events.

Broadcasts would average five (5) hours per each of the 120 days of legislative session from January to May.

State support is requested in the form of a 15-year $1 million loan with interest of 2 1/2% above prime, equivalent to some AIDEA loan programs.

Project support and debt retirement would be generated from advertising revenues from sales of commercial spots and other corporate sponsorships aired at an average of five (5) minutes per hour of broadcast.

Broadcast format would include on-air hosts who would provide any necessary discussions and descriptions of the specific activity being broadcast at the moment to ensure that the average viewer could follow the legislative process. In addition, live interview and comment opportunities would be made available to legislators before and after certain floor sessions and committee hearings.

I welcome the opportunity to explore the development of this project with your committee at your convenience.

Sincerely,

James M. Kohler

Resolution 4-92/93
SB 26 An Act To Move The Legislative Session To Anchorage

Whereas SB 26 would change the location of the legislative session to Anchorage and;

Whereas over 70% of Alaska's population lives within a days drive of Anchorage and;

Whereas locating the legislative session would increase accessibility and communication between the majority of Alaskans and their legislators and;

Whereas citizen costs to have face-to-face participation would markedly decrease and;

Whereas the long term cost of keeping the legislature in Juneau will be greater than moving the legislature because space and land are at a premium in Juneau and;

Whereas the Anchorage area has superior access, suitable commercial space at competitive rates and a larger labor pool;

Therefore be it resolved that the Anchorage Chamber of Commerce supports the passage of SB 26.

SUBJ: CRA Hearing, 9:00 AM, Jan. 28, 1993 on Legislature relocation

FROM: John D. Cooper, Juneau, Alaska

DATE: Jan. 27, 1993

The bill you introduced to move the Legislature to Anchorage should be withdrawn as soon as possible. The bill, if given serious consideration, will: (1) seriously damage the credibility of the Republican led majority in the Senate on future budget reductions by both questioning the determination of the Majority to make meaningful cuts in State spending and providing opponents of the necessary cuts political ammunition to discredit the justifications of the cuts; (2) contribute to regional infighting and lack of cooperation at a time when the entire state must pull together for the common good and to defend various local and regional interests against outside activists; (3) divert vast amounts of energy and resources from more constructive solutions to economic problems of both the State and the Anchorage area.

The bill, if passed and signed into law, would not save the State any money, would not improve the state government or the Legislature, and would not lead to more participation in the legislative process by the citizens of the state. States that have easily accessible capitals have citizen participation that is equal to or less than Alaska has. Access is not the issue, interest and citizen involvement are the issues.

A more rational approach to facilitating the involvement of the citizens in the legislative process is to expand the teleconference capabilities, more locations and more coverage of legislative committee meetings, improve the dissemination of information about bills and legislative committee meetings, and provide for electronic transmission of various forms of evidence that an individual might wish to present at a committee hearing, including such items as facsimile, video camera and transmittal equipment, and full page color scanner capabilities. Toll free numbers for each Legislator, possibly from central locations in the Legislator's district, should also be evaluated. The Legislature should also consider a mandatory 5 working day recess about mid-session for each Legislator to return to his/her own district to deal directly with constituents on the issues being raised in the session. The recess would probably require an amendment to the 120 limit provision.

I request that this document be read into the record of the subject committee meeting and that further consideration of your proposal to relocate the Legislature be dropped in favor of consideration of more practical and constructive methods of facilitating citizen involvement.

Senator Randy Phillips
Chairman, Community & Regional Affairs Committee
State Capitol
Juneau, AK 99801

Dear Senator Phillips:

Thank you Mr. Chairman for the chance to express my view on SB 26. As I have opposed the move of the capital in the past, I oppose the move of the legislature as well. I don't think the citizens of Alaska would be well served by having the legislative and executive branches split. It would be inefficient, hamper communication and could lead to leakage of the entire capital to the Anchorage area, one person or one agency at a time.

I can appreciate the desire to make government more accessible. But the question is to whom? Some might conclude that southeast residents would obviously be ill served by this action. But in reality, I'll wager that except for a bill like this, Juneau residents don't come to legislative committee meetings very often even though the capitol is at their doorstep. Sure, if the legislature were moved to Anchorage, I'd also wager there would be more participation at first, but after time passes, Anchorage residents, and Fairbanksans for that matter, will become no different than Juneau residents. Your committee rooms will be full of people who care enough to find a way to get to the meeting, by people directly affected by the legislation, and special interests groups and lobbyists, not by average citizens.

Furthermore, we just don't need the expense, the disruption, the divisiveness of the issue. Does any other state do this? The answer is not "Does any other state have a capital you can't drive to!" for reasons stated above.

TESTIMONY PREPARED AND SUBMITTED IN WRITING FOR THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON COMMUNITY AND REGIONAL AFFAIRS HEARING ON SB26

FEBRUARY 4, 1993

Mr. Chairman and Members of the Committee:

I wish to go on record in opposition to SB26 which would require that the Legislature meet in regular session in Anchorage.

It is folly to assume the Legislature could meet in Anchorage without immediate and easy access to the executive branch of government. If the legislature starts holding its sessions anywhere other than the capital, then soon it will be necessary for departments and agencies to have more extensive field offices for at least four months of the year to be near the legislature. The fiscal note on this bill should note not only the addition of several millions of dollars a year to the cost of government, but also point out that even more substantial costs are likely in the future. The state simply cannot afford this costly venture.

There are numerous, less expensive and less divisive ways to achieve the kind of access SB 26 purports to provide. In fact, video teleconferencing is being demonstrated today. This teleconference is giving me virtually immediate access to the committee. Public Opinion Messages can be sent instantaneously to all legislators. What SB 26 proposes, in effect, is the establishment of two state capitals - one for the legislature and one for the executive branch of government. Not exactly a downsizing, is it?

There are valid reasons why no other state in this century has moved its legislature out of the capital city. The fact that it is incredibly costly, the fact that it makes no sense, and the fact that it would diminish the government's ability to function are foremost among those reasons.

Thank you.

SUBJECT: SB 26

Attached is a revised fiscal note for SB 26. I have deleted the Executive Branch travel figure since it will be reflected in their fiscal note(s).

The remodeling of the Capitol will not be in the Executive Branch fiscal note(s). Mike Nizich, Director of Administrative Services, for Office of the Governor states it is the Legislature's building.

Without renovation of the Capitol it is assumed a decrease in savings would occur because some of the state offices would not move. They would stay in leased space and not occupy state-owned space. If the space is not renovated, only one-half to two-thirds of the space could be utilized as general office space. I do not feel comfortable eliminating the one-time cost for this renovation.

CONTINUATION OF FISCAL NOTE: SB 26

The following assumptions have been made in preparing this fiscal note:

- Office space currently leased at 3111 C Street in Anchorage would no longer be required. A savings of this lease space would offset the cost of leasing a legislative building in Anchorage to accommodate the legislative branch.
- All legislative offices and positions now permanently located in Juneau will move to the Municipality of Anchorage except a portion of the Juneau Legislative Information Office (LIO), Juneau Legislator's offices, a portion of the Ombudsman's Office, Legislative Research, and most of the offices of Legislative Budget and Audit. Approximately 100 positions will be transferred.
- State agencies currently leasing privately owned offices in Juneau will relocate to fill vacated state-owned Juneau legislative office space.

This analysis is limited to the direct fiscal impact on the state government of moving the Legislature to the Municipality of Anchorage. It does not attempt to evaluate the various socio-economic impacts on either Juneau or the Municipality of Anchorage; nor does it attempt to evaluate the cost of inconvenience and inefficiency associated with the physical separation of the Legislative and Executive Branches of Government or the value of benefits that might be derived from the move.

It is necessary to move the Legislative support agencies to the Municipality of Anchorage to be able to print bills, draft bills, fix computer equipment, janitorial and maintenance services, personnel and finance support, etc. in order to carry out efficiently and timely their responsibility.

The estimates presented in this fiscal note are conservative--that is, they may understate the actual expenses that might be incurred if the move were to take place. For example, our estimate of the lease rate for a legislative building assumes that the structure will provide Class A office space, but the requirements for custom-fitted chambers, meeting rooms, and private legislative offices could cause the lease rate to be substantially higher. Also, we have assumed no new furniture would be purchased, nor computer systems. In fact, the Legislature would probably need some of both. For example, moving to a new building would provide an opportunity for a local area network computer system to be installed (at a cost of approximately $3 million).

SUMMARY OF ESTIMATED COSTS/SAVINGS OF SB 26:

PERSONAL SERVICES

1. There are no personal services expenditures or savings. There would be a cost shifting of positions transferred from Juneau to the Municipality of Anchorage and also many session jobs would be filled in the Municipality of Anchorage versus Juneau.

TRAVEL

2. Estimated transportation costs for moving Agency full-time legislative personnel to the Municipality of Anchorage (estimate 50 people, one-time cost) - $500,000.
3. Estimated annual savings from decreased legislator moving expenses - ($184,870).

CONTINUATION OF FISCAL NOTE: SB 26

TRAVEL (continued)

4. Estimated annual savings of session per diem because of more legislators residing within the 50 mile limit - ($113,315).

CONTRACTUAL

6. Estimated freight costs to move legislative offices to the Municipality of Anchorage (one-time cost) - $148,896.
7. Estimated communication costs in installing a telephone system in a leased building in the Municipality of Anchorage and voting machine installation (one-time cost) - $465,300.
8. Estimated annual lease cost of building in the Municipality of Anchorage - $2,160,000.
9. Estimated annual savings from consolidation of Juneau office space - ($2,115,359).
10. Estimated cost of moving Juneau state agencies to Juneau state-owned office space (one-time cost) - $295,455.
11. Estimated annual savings of discontinued lease space in Anchorage for legislators, staff and LIO (3111 C Street). They would be consolidated under #8 - ($365,072).

CAPITAL OUTLAY

12. Estimated cost of renovating Capitol offices (one-time cost) - $1,654,400.

Within easy view

IF YOU think Alaska would have a better government if the Legislature operated within easy reach of most of the people, you'll like the bill introduced last week by Republican Sen. Randy Phillips of Eagle River.

Co-sponsored by Republican Bert Sharp of Fairbanks, the measure (SB 26) calls for the Legislature to convene each year in Anchorage — at "an appropriate location" arranged for by the Legislative Council.

The purpose is readily apparent.

The Legislature now meets in Juneau — far removed from most of the people of the state; accessible only by air, unless you live in one of the few communities served by the Southeastern ferries; costly and time consuming as a travel destination; generally isolated, and its legislative activities mostly out of touch and out of sight of a great percentage of Alaskans.

This is not a Move-the-Capital bill, it should be pointed out.

Juneau would remain the capital city. The only difference is that the legislative session would be held in Anchorage.

THERE HAVE been similar legislative proposals put forward in past years, calling for the Legislature to hold its sessions in successive years in Anchorage, Fairbanks, Ketchikan and Juneau.

That's a good idea, too.

But the Phillips-Sharp bill is more simple and clean cut.

Anchorage could accommodate the sessions with no problem — space is not at a premium. Half of the legislators, give or take one or two, already have offices here.

And if the meetings were here, Alaskans everywhere would have easy access to the sessions — and no longer would our lawmakers be working in the confined and isolated atmosphere of Juneau.

Will this bill move forward? Don't bet on it.

More likely, it will be shuffled off into Juneau's fog and mist — like the Legislature itself, out of sight and sound of most Alaskans.

Alaska Permanent Fund

Earnings from the Permanent Fund investments are used to pay dividends and provide inflation-proofing for the Permanent Fund. After dividends and inflation-proofing are paid, the balance remains in the Earnings Reserve Account (E.R.A.). The E.R.A. balance through 6/30/93 is projected to be $900 million.

The state constitution protects the principal of the Alaska Permanent Fund from legislative appropriations, but does not protect the Earnings Reserve Account. Should this $900 million from the E.R.A. be:

Education

Alaska 2000 is a cross-section of Alaskans whose charge is to make recommendations to the State Board of Education and to the legislature relating to the restructuring of Alaska's education system. Alaska 2000 is proposing to establish statewide standards for student performance in ten subject areas and to develop tests to measure the performance of students in each area. These tests would be more comprehensive than the current tests, which are multiple choice, and would allow more subjects to be evaluated. However, this costs more to develop and administer.

"Believing in Alaskans, putting Alaska first"

Publisher: BILL J. ALLEN

Editors: DENNIS FRADLEY, PAUL JENKINS, WILLIAM J. TOBIN

The Anchorage Times Commentary in this segment of the Anchorage Daily News does not represent the views of the Daily News. It is written and published under an agreement with former owners of The Times, in the interests of preserving a diversity of viewpoints in the community.

Within easy view

IF YOU think Alaska would have a better government if the Legislature operated within easy reach of most of the people, you'll like the bill introduced last week by Republican Sen. Randy Phillips of Eagle River.

Co-sponsored by Republican Bert Sharp of Fairbanks, the measure (SB 26) calls for the Legislature to convene each year in Anchorage — at "an appropriate location" arranged for by the Legislative Council.

The purpose is readily apparent.

The Legislature now meets in Juneau — far removed from most of the people of the state; accessible only by air, unless you live in one of the few communities served by the Southeastern ferries; costly and time consuming as a travel destination; generally isolated, and its legislative activities mostly out of touch and out of sight of a great percentage of Alaskans.

This is not a Move-the-Capital bill, it should be pointed out.

Juneau would remain the capital city. The only difference is that the legislative session would be held in Anchorage.

THERE HAVE been similar legislative proposals put forward in past years, calling for the Legislature to hold its sessions in successive years in Anchorage, Fairbanks, Ketchikan and Juneau.

That's a good idea, too.

But the Phillips-Sharp bill is more simple and clean cut.

Anchorage could accommodate the sessions with no problem — space is not at a premium. Half of the legislators, give or take one or two, already have offices here.

And if the meetings were here, Alaskans everywhere would have easy access to the sessions — and no longer would our lawmakers be working in the confined and isolated atmosphere of Juneau.

Will this bill move forward? Don't bet on it.

More likely, it will be shuffled off into Juneau's fog and mist — like the Legislature itself, out of sight and sound of most Alaskans.

I believe that the Alaska State Legislature should be moved to the anchorage area, a number of locations are available in south central Alaska that have good access to the public. The people of this state need access to their legislature. Our representatives lose touch with the people of this state, at their present location, in Juneau. Move to a location that is accessible to the public, without unaccessable costs.

I believe that the Alaska Legislature should be moved to Anchorage to allow citizens access & opportunity to be involved in a process that affects them. As it exists now, the location only serves the interest of: Juneau Commerce, legislators with clandestine agendas and the special interests who are backed by the big financiers to do their bidding. This location (Juneau) effectively excludes the Alaska citizens who vote legislators into or out of office. Legislators are voted into office by citizens and it is the citizens best interest which will be served by making the legislature accessible to them. It's time for legislators to get back up here to the real world. PARTY IS OVER FOLKS. TIME TO GET UP

SPONSOR STATEMENT

I introduced Senate Bill 26 to address a concern voiced by voters, "...legislators lose touch with their constituents once they get to Juneau." Since Alaska's state government is a creation of the people of Alaska, it should serve their needs to the best of its ability. Voters have a stake in the enactment of laws that affect their lives.

Democratic government does better when the public is there to oversee the process. The process of government is a function of two-way communication. Face to face encounters allow the voters and elected officials to understand each other. Good government does not have price tag.

SB 26 would only move the site of legislative sessions from Juneau to the Anchorage area. The thrust of this bill is legislative reform. This one governmental reform would allow access to the legislative process for a majority of Alaskans. Over 75% of Alaskans live on the road system and are within a days driving distance of Anchorage.

Currently, access to the legislative process as well as other high level state officials is limited to special interest groups, lobbyists, and individuals who have the financial ability and time to travel to Juneau to take part.

The use of a teleconference network was devised as a substitute for in-person participation by the public in areas outside of Juneau. It is an acceptable method of taking testimony from state officials who provide factual backup. However, it is the least preferable method to secure testimony from the public and has not proven itself to be an acceptable alternative for a concerned citizen of Alaska. A member of the public on a teleconference is at a disadvantage in influencing and persuading legislators to their point of view.

In addition to opening up the legislative process to average Alaskans there would be an added benefit of yearly savings in the cost of travel and moving expenses for a majority of legislators and their families. The public would also realize a cost saving in travel expenses as well as a substantial reduction in the amount of time involved when they want to participate and testify on legislative matters. The intangible cost associated with access would also be eliminated.

Frequently, last minute changes in legislative hearings require bills to be held over. Scheduling changes require witnesses to arrange to stay over or return home because of non-refundable airline tickets. Manytimes they must forgo their opportunity to testify on legislative matters.

Generally, Alaska is growing and expanding. State government has also been growing and expanding. There is a shortage of housing and commercial office space available in Juneau. Space and land requirements are at a premium in Juneau. Consequently, Governor Hickel has proposed building a new state building in Juneau and the City and Borough of Juneau are 100% behind the expansion.

Just two years ago a new building was constructed and a leaseback agreement was arranged with the state to house the Department of Environmental Conservation. The building is currently leased by the state for $1,520,676 per year. In the early 80's one of the assurances used in favor of retaining all of state government in Juneau was that no new buildings would be required by state government in Juneau. If the legislature vacates the approximately 80,000 sq. ft. now occupied, this space would be available for those executive branch agencies currently in commercial leased space. The long term cost of keeping the legislature in Juneau will be greater than moving the legislature.

Weather can be and sometimes is a problem in Juneau. It is not uncommon for the Juneau airport to be closed because of weather conditions. Closures during the 121 day session needlessly disrupt the people's business.

The economic loss of approximately 300 jobs in Juneau could very easily be offset by cultivating the economic potential of the timber, fishing and mining opportunities available in and around Juneau. During the economic transition after federal positions were moved from Juneau to the lower 48, mining provided the economic stimulus. Connection of Juneau to the road system would provide an additional boost in private sector opportunities.

The Anchorage area offers the advantages of access by a majority of the population; superior transportation access by rail, road or air; suitable commercial office space available at competitive rates; and a larger labor pool to draw from when selecting professional and clerical staff. Additionally, a wide range of options are available to cut-of-towners seeking permanent or temporary housing. There is also an outstanding assortment of visitor facilities for individuals and groups doing business with the legislature.

Currently, 10 senators and 19 representatives maintain office space in Anchorage throughout the year and two Senators utilize the visiting senator's office on a regular basis. Two large rooms are also leased to provided committee meeting rooms. This space has been leased for the last six years at a cost of $365,072 per year. This lease is up for renewal this year.

SB 26 saves money in the long term. Moving the legislative sessions to the Anchorage area accomplishes the number one concern by Alaskans, access to the legislative process.

CONTINUATION OF FISCAL NOTE: SB 26

The following assumptions have been made in preparing this fiscal note:

- Office space currently leased at 3111 C Street in Anchorage would no longer be required. A savings of this lease space would offset the cost of leasing a legislative building in Anchorage to accommodate the legislative branch.
- All legislative offices and positions now permanently located in Juneau will move to the Municipality of Anchorage except a portion of the Juneau Legislative Information Office (LIO), Juneau Legislator's offices, a portion of the Ombudsman's Office, Legislative Research, and most of the offices of Legislative Budget and Audit. Approximately 100 positions will be transferred.
- State agencies currently leasing privately owned offices in Juneau will relocate to fill vacated state-owned Juneau legislative office space.

This analysis is limited to the direct fiscal impact on the state government of moving the Legislature to the Municipality of Anchorage. It does not attempt to evaluate the various socio-economic impacts on either Juneau or the Municipality of Anchorage; nor does it attempt to evaluate the cost of inconvenience and inefficiency associated with the physical separation of the Legislative and Executive Branches of Government or the value of benefits that might be derived from the move.

It is necessary to move the Legislative support agencies to the Municipality of Anchorage to be able to print bills, draft bills, fix computer equipment, janitorial and maintenance services, personnel and finance support, etc. in order to carry out efficiently and timely their responsibility.

The estimates presented in this fiscal note are conservative--that is, they may understate the actual expenses that might be incurred if the move were to take place. For example, our estimate of the lease rate for a legislative building assumes that the structure will provide Class A office space, but the requirements for custom-fitted chambers, meeting rooms, and private legislative offices could cause the lease rate to be substantially higher. Also, we have assumed no new furniture would be purchased, nor computer systems. In fact, the Legislature would probably need some of both. For example, moving to a new building would provide an opportunity for a local area network computer system to be installed (at a cost of approximately $3 million).

SUMMARY OF ESTIMATED COSTS/SAVINGS OF SB 26:

PERSONAL SERVICES

1. There are no personal services expenditures or savings. There would be a cost shifting of positions transferred from Juneau to the Municipality of Anchorage and also many session jobs would be filled in the Municipality of Anchorage versus Juneau.

TRAVEL

2. Estimated transportation costs for moving Agency full-time legislative personnel to the Municipality of Anchorage (estimate 50 people, one-time cost) - $500,000.
3. Estimated annual savings from decreased legislator moving expenses - ($184,870).

CONTINUATION OF FISCAL NOTE: SB 26

4. Estimated annual savings of session per diem because of more legislators residing within the 50 mile limit - ($113,315).
5. Estimated annual increase in Executive Branch travel to the Municipality of Anchorage is approximately $176,500.

CONTRACTUAL

6. Estimated freight costs to move legislative offices to the Municipality of Anchorage (one-time cost) - $148,896.
7. Estimated communication costs in installing a telephone system in a leased building in the Municipality of Anchorage and voting machine installation (one-time cost) - $465,300.
8. Estimated annual lease cost of building in the Municipality of Anchorage - $2,160,000.
9. Estimated annual savings from consolidation of Juneau office space - ($2,115,359).
10. Estimated cost of moving Juneau state agencies to Juneau state-owned office space (one-time cost) - $295,455.
11. Estimated annual savings of discontinued lease space in Anchorage for legislators, staff and LIO (3111 C Street). They would be consolidated under #8 - ($365,072).

CAPITAL OUTLAY

12. Estimated cost of renovating Capitol offices (one-time cost) - $1,654,400.

Convening of legislature in Municipality of Anchorage

Analysis from Department of Fish and Game

Movement of the Alaska State Legislature to the Municipality of Anchorage would require several additional parttime positions for the Department of Fish and Game. One of these positions would be a Legislative Liaison, located in the Municipality of Anchorage approximately eight months of the year. The majority of the costs incurred would be in travel. Travel to and from Anchorage by all divisions would be required to maintain contact and provide timely information to the legislature, and to answer questions and to maintain continuity on issues and policy relating to specific issues under legislative consideration. Additional costs will be incurred in establishment and ongoing costs of a temporary office, copier/fax/phone expenses, provision of computers and other necessary office equipment, lease space costs, etc.

This fiscal note only addresses Sections 1 and 8 of the bill. Departmental costs are consolidated within the Commissioner's Office. To prepare for the start of legislative sessions as specified in Section 8, activities in FY94 and FY95 must occur that enhance telecommunications abilities and establish a new set of protocols of communication between the Department of Health & Social Services and the Legislature.

These protocols must deal with the expectations dealing with paper flow, use of telecommunications for testimony by departments, and coordination with the Office of the Governor. The actual costs cannot be determined until communications protocols are established but will include telecommunications upgrades, moving costs for a minimal number of staff and travel expenses for adequate representation of the department at selected legislative hearings. Inflation is assumed at 5%. Costs are representative but not based on specific calculations.

ANALYSIS: (Attach a separate page if necessary)

We estimate that departmental employees would make a total of 48 trips to the Municipality of Anchorage to testify at finance committee meetings and hearings on department legislation. At an average cost of $575 per trip ($444 air fare and $131 per diem), we estimate the total travel costs would be $27.6 per year. It is assumed that other legislation which may require department testimony will be done telephonically. In addition the Department's Legislative Liaison would have to be stationed in Anchorage at a cost of $18.5 for per diem and transportation. This fiscal note assumes an effective date of July 1, 1994. (* Assumes 5% inflation increase)

FISCAL NOTE

STATE OF ALASKA
1993 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. SB 26

ANALYSIS CONTINUATION:

This bill amends Title 24 to provide that all regular sessions of the legislature shall convene in the Municipality of Anchorage, instead of Juneau, the State Capital. We believe that this change in the legislative venue will have a substantial impact on the Department of Law. This is because the department's Juneau-based staff spend a considerable part of their time providing legal advice and assistance to legislators and legislators' staff, during each regular legislative session. At the legislature's request, they attend committee and sub-committee meetings, testify on pending legislation, and offer legal opinions and analyses when they are requested to do so. This is a constant, interactive process involving dozens of daily contacts between the legislature and the department.

For the department's part, these contacts begin with the attorney general and continue down through division chiefs, section heads, and individual attorneys who specialize in specific areas of law. Because of their expertise, these same individuals are also responsible for advising policy makers throughout all executive branch agencies and departments. On the one hand, our staff will be required to provide assistance to the legislature when it meets in the Municipality of Anchorage and, on the other hand, our staff must also continue advising agencies in the Capital. Consequently, some extraordinary communications efforts, including extensive travel, will be required to carry out these concurrent duties simultaneously.

An analysis of the department's "sign out" logs, telephone logs, and appointment schedules indicate the following recorded legislative contacts took place during the 1992 legislative session. The number of contacts shown below represents a minimum number because not all contacts are recorded and many occur informally, without any prior notification.

1. The attorney general received an average of 60 telephone calls from individual legislators each month. The majority of these calls resulted in meetings between the attorney general and legislators. The attorney general meets with legislators three or four times daily in both formal and informal settings. It should also be noted that the number of calls that were logged were incoming calls only. Outgoing calls to legislators are not logged.
2. The attorney general testified at at least 30 committee hearings during the 1992 session.
3. The deputy attorney general also meets with legislators on a daily basis and testifies before legislative committees about once a week.
4. The assistant attorney general in the criminal division who handles criminal legislation for our department attended 125 committee meetings and was called upon to testify on a regular basis. The director of the criminal division testified at 50 committee meetings. The department's senior corrections attorney attended or testified at 25 committee meetings.
5. The department's legislation and regulations attorney is in daily contact and has a necessary continuing working relationship with key legislative staff. This attorney is the overall coordinator of our department's legislative activities.

6. Seventeen other civil attorneys attended another 82 hearings on a variety of pending legislation and testified at about 60 of those hearings.
7. The department's administrative services director is in daily contact with legislative staff and attended or testified at hearings on 15 occasions. The director also prepared and submitted 128 fiscal notes during the last session.

The foregoing summary demonstrates the extent to which the department must focus its activities on legislative matters of concern to the Administration and the department's client agencies. We therefore believe that locating the legislature in the Municipality of Anchorage will require the department to establish, equip, and staff an interim legislative liaison office in close proximity to the legislature when it is in regular session. At a minimum, we would have to move the legislation and regulations attorney and the attorney responsible for criminal legislation to the interim office during legislative sessions. These two attorneys would also have to return to Juneau to carry out their other duties every two weeks. Although these other responsibilities will suffer due to their absence, particularly in respect to regulations review, this other work cannot be totally abandoned. It will also be necessary for both the attorney general and the deputy attorney general to travel to the Municipality of Anchorage about 12 times each, during a regular session. The combined travel for the director of the criminal division and the senior corrections attorney, combined, will average one two-day trip per week during a regular session, or about 16 trips in total.

Although 17 civil attorneys were requested to attend 82 hearings last year, we believe that future legislative requests for our attendance at committee meetings will be sharply curtailed because of the costs that would be involved. Nonetheless, we expect at least 40 trips of two days duration will be required. Teleconferencing can reduce travel costs, and we hope it will substitute in part for our existing level of testimony. However, this form of communication sometimes inhibits the give and take of a frank face-to-face discussion that is often a necessary element of the deliberative part of the law making process. That is why we are still predicting a substantial amount of travel for this purpose.

Travel for the administrative services director to attend budget hearings will be five two-day trips. This estimate is predicated on the assumed availability of teleconferencing for most finance subcommittee meetings.

Last, a substantial cost will be incurred for long distance telephone calls and telecopier transmissions. Funds will also be needed to lease space and purchase equipment for an interim office and to pay for a three-person clerical staff. Based on the foregoing analysis, we believe that the following fiscal note funds will be required.

FISCAL NOTE, SB26
DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY AND VETERANS AFFAIRS

This bill would move the convening of the legislative session from Juneau to Anchorage. This fiscal note estimates the additional cost to DMVA to provide the testimony and consultation to legislators and staff that would be required from such a move. The Commissioner's Office and all division directors in DMVA are located in Anchorage, except the Division of Administrative and Support Services (ASSD). The Director, ASSD, is the department's primary staff contact for budgetary matters, and would be required to travel frequently to the legislative session in that capacity. No other departmental employees would have additional travel requirements as a result of this legislation, as their offices would be driving distance from the legislative session.

It is assumed that the ASSD Director would be required to make an additional 10 trips, with an average duration of 3 days. Travel for 10 round trips (at $444 each) totals $4440. Per diem for 30 days (at $95) totals $2850. Other expenses are estimated at $40 per trip, for $400. The total impact is $7690 annually. This fiscal note is not adjusted for inflation past FY94, and assumes that current air fares will remain stable. The fiscal impact begins with the convening of the 19th legislature, which first affects the FY95 budget.

ANALYSIS:

Increased travel from Juneau to Anchorage will be offset by savings in travel from Anchorage to Juneau. The Commissioner and his staff are located in Juneau, the Division Directors are in Anchorage. Internal adjustments within the DNR budget will result.
