ALASKA CHARTER SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

801 E. Arctic Ave.
Palmer, Alaska 99645
907-452-5020
President, Terri Austin

February 8, 2004

Dear Committee Members,

Thank you for allowing me time to share the Alaska Charter School Association's thoughts regarding the issue of an alternative chartering agency. We believe this is a critical topic that deserves extensive thought and consideration. We appreciate your interest.

We believe every effort should be made to insure the success of each charter school that wishes to open their doors. To place a brand new school in the middle of a small town or community that doesn't wish it to be there for whatever reason, places a great deal of stress on the school when there is already a high level of tension in opening a school. We don't believe this to be a positive situation for anyone involved.

Maybe the task here is not to create a different agency, but to help new charter founders find ways to work within their community, school district, and ultimately with the local school board. We have a number of "experts" within the state who have traveled this path and who could offer help and assistance. This could possibly be a role that our association offers.

I was asked during the committee meeting if my given statement represented the members' views of the Alaska Charter School Association. I did so in good faith. Some of those who also shared views are not paid voting members of the association.

Again, thank you for your consideration of this issue. If I, or the Charter School Association, can assist in any way, please let me know. We value the goal of working with you to foster and support exemplary charter schools throughout the state of Alaska.

Sincerely,

Terri Austin, President
Alaska Charter School Association
Chinook Montessori Charter
School, Fairbanks

I'm Terri Austin and co-founder of the oldest charter school in the state, Chinook Montessori Charter School. I'm head teacher and also teach 24 eager middle schoolers. I have been teaching for 23 years in the Fairbanks North Star Borough School District, and have worked as a charter school consultant for Northwest Regional Laboratory. I'm also president of the Alaska Charter School Association. And in that capacity, I would like to speak to you. Our association has four very deep concerns about creating an alternative chartering agency.

First, we believe that local consensus is essential. I know from experience how important it is to work to gain input and support from local leaders not only within the educational arena but also those involved in volunteer work, in politics, in business, and in the arts. A charter school joins an established working community and for that reason must be willing to both inform local leaders about the vision for the school, and also be willing to listen and respond to concerns and desires of these leaders. Taking a charter school proposal to an alternative granting agency side-steps these conversations. Going this route paints a picture that local comments are not required or desired in creating and establishing a charter school. Every business that wishes to be successful does a feasibility assessment and talks with those in the neighborhood. To be successful, a charter school needs to do the same.

Our second concern is about unity. In this time of sorting out the No Child Left Behind requirements and creatively dealing with financial concerns, everyone in the education profession needs to work together so that children are the focus of our time and energy, not who has the power to grant charters.

We believe an alternative granting agency would divide the education community of Alaska. We believe it would create individual isolated islands of charter schools attempting to work on their own. We believe it would not foster positive communication or a stable working relationship between the charter school and the local district. Teaching is much too hard to do it by yourself. We need each other in order to do the best job that we can.

Our third concern has to do with the size of our communities. For the most part our towns and settlements are small. It would not be easy for a charter school, who has not worked with the local district and local leaders, to suddenly appear and open their doors. Alaskans like to participate and they like to have a say in what happens in their community. It is very wise for charter schools to capitalize on this characteristic to insure stability and success.

Our final concern is with the ideas of support and communication.

The majority of charter schools in the state have positive working relationship with the local school districts. And, again from my experience, that connection is created from the many months of talking and negotiating between the charter school founders, the local school district and the local school board. There are always bumps in the road in becoming a charter school, but it's the navigation of those bumps that allow each party involved to better understand their own beliefs and the beliefs of the others. It also provides time - time for the charter school founders to examine and re-examine their mission and principles. For the school district and school board, the time allows them to also re-examine their values about education and how the notion of a charter school fits that view. This time allows both to negotiate, compromise, and learn about each other.

Now, this isn't to say that all charter schools are easily accepted or quickly embraced. In some instances the school board says no and that's heartbreaking for the charter school founders. But the recourse is part of the democratic system - vote in other people on the local school board and persuade others to your point of view. Some charter schools are the result of long hard campaigns, but the point here is that in the end, there were enough people that believed in the idea of that particular school to say "Give it a go". That's support.

Charter schools need support (every school needs support). No school can go it alone. Support comes from communication, tussling over language, sorting out beliefs, and most of all, coming to know each other. Alaska is continually being built on the spirit of cooperation and daring-do. It's the perfect place for innovative educators to create new opportunities for learners. It's the perfect place for local school boards to say, "let's hear your proposal". It's the perfect place for all those involved in education to talk, explore, and come to know. All that would be gone if an alternative granting agency is established in the state of Alaska.

Joel Scott Gilbertson
Professional Biography

Born in Fairfax, Virginia, Joel Gilbertson has worked to improve health care and social welfare systems, focusing on the efficient delivery of services and expanding access to underserved communities. Most recently, he has served as Legislative Director and Legislative Counsel for Alaska's United States Senator Frank H. Murkowski.

As Legislative Director, Mr. Gilbertson oversaw the development and implementation of federal and state policy for United States Senator Frank H. Murkowski. He also represented the Senator's interests before the Senate Committee of Finance, managing policy on a variety of issues including Medicaid, the State Children's Health Insurance Program (Denali KidCare), Medicare, Social Security, and welfare reform.

While on the Senator's staff, Mr. Gilbertson worked to enact Senator Murkowski's Alaska-specific Medicaid funding adjustments that increased federal support to the State's program by $300 million over eight years. He also worked to develop federal legislation that expanded access to health care services in rural Alaska, strengthened safety-net facilities including critical access hospitals, and enhanced reimbursement payments for vital primary care service providers. Mr. Gilbertson also guided Senator Murkowski's efforts to strengthen the Medicare program in Alaska by adding a comprehensive prescription drug benefit, instituting regulatory relief, and stabilizing reimbursement for participating health care providers.

A graduate of the George Washington University Law School and the George Washington University School of Public Health and Health Services in Washington, D.C., Mr. Gilbertson has earned both Juris Doctor and Master of Public Health degrees. At the law school, he served on the George Washington Journal of International Law and Economics and undertook studies in employee benefits, insurance, and health care law. His public health degree focused on administrative medicine, health system reform, epidemiology, and biostatistics.

Before working for Senator Murkowski, Mr. Gilbertson worked for the now-named Center for Health Services Research and Policy and the National Association of Social Workers (NASW). While at the Center, he assisted in the research and publication of "A Nationwide Study of Medicaid Managed Care Contracts." He also completed risk assessments for various state Medicaid contracts. Working for the NASW, he co-authored publications in the areas of subpoenas, expert witness testimony, medical records, and the psychotherapist-patient privilege.

Born 3/22/60 in Hawthorne, California.

Moved to Alaska, 1972.

Graduated from Service High School, 1978.

Bachelors degree in Mechanical Engineering from Montana State University, 1982.

Married Merry Olmstead in February, 1983. We have a son in 10th grade, a daughter in 8th grade and a daughter in 5th grade.

Master of Arts in Teaching, Secondary Math certification, from UAA, 1988.

After a short time as an engineer in Anchorage in the 80's, I followed in my dad's footsteps and went back to school for my teaching certificate. My family moved to Wasilla in 1989 for me to accept a teaching job at Wasilla High School. I then moved to Colony High School when the school opened in 1991. I have taught Voc. Ed. Computer courses, managed the local area network, and now teach mathematics full time. I have coached each of my 14 years of teaching and currently coach cross-country running and track and field.

SUMMARY

I am a twenty-eight year resident of Fairbanks. With my husband, Ken, I own and operate HOPS Hallmark with locations in Fairbanks and Anchorage. I have a long history of involvement in education and business. During my early years in Fairbanks, I taught high school English while completing a Master's degree in Guidance and Counseling. I left teaching when my sons were born, but remained very involved in their school activities as a parent volunteer, tutor, and PTA leader. For the past decade, I have been involved with organizations and political bodies promoting education and economic development. I have two grown sons, Carter and Lucas.

Governor Tony Knowles
Office of the Governor
PO Box 110015
Juneau, Alaska 99811

Dear Governor Knowles,

I would like to give my strongest recommendation of Derek Miller for selection as Student Regent. I have known Derek for three years and have been impressed with his dedication, superb leadership skills, knowledge and work ethic.

Derek is an accomplished student and leader. He has been very successful in balancing his studies and campus activities, as evidenced by his many accomplishments. Derek is a very active member of the Associated Students of University of Alaska Fairbanks and a successful and respected Student Senator. His leadership and enthusiasm has been recognized by his peers as he has been elected President for the Associated Students of University of Alaska Fairbanks for a second term.

Derek's ability to present his thoughts convincingly and tactfully and his organizational skills were instrumental in the successful student lobbying of the state legislature in support of the university funding.

Derek is also a visionary. He has presented many interesting proposals for improving UAF and the community such as a student centered campus approach to university operations. The UAF Chancellor has embraced this idea and is including it in many aspects of the campus.

He is very organized, patient and has a great sense of humor, all of which have assisted him in being a successful student and campus leader. Derek possesses the desire, academic background, experience, commitment and knowledge necessary to be successful in any area he chooses. Derek will be a very successful and effective member of the UA Board of Regents.

Sincerely,

Biography

Shirley J. Holloway, Ph.D.

Alaska Commissioner of Education & Early Development
801 West 10th Street, Suite 200
Juneau, AK 99801-1894
Phone (907) 465-2800
Fax (907) 465-4156

January 2001

Alaska's first woman Commissioner of Education & Early Development brings a long list of accomplishments to her position: speech pathologist, teacher, principal, school superintendent, educational consultant, university professor, college president....and twice our state's top public education leader.

The State Board of Education & Early Development and Governor Tony Knowles twice has appointed her commissioner, the first time in 1995. She resigned in March 1999 for health reasons. After successful back surgery, in January 2001 she was once again invited to be commissioner.

Since being commissioner she has led the statewide results-based school reform movement known as the Alaska Quality Schools Initiative.

She has been honored during her career as Alaska Superintendent of the Year and was one of four finalists for National Superintendent of the Year. She was named one of the top 100 educators in America by The Executive Educator magazine.

Dr. Holloway holds bachelor degrees in special education and speech pathology, a Master of Science degree in education, and a doctorate in educational leadership.

Dr. Holloway has been an Alaska educator since 1971.

Throughout her career she has been guided by the philosophy that children come first and has gained a reputation for requiring of herself and those who work with her to always ask and then answer the question: "Am I enhancing or detracting from student learning?"

Commissioner Holloway is also known as "Quvian," the Inupiat Eskimo name given to her by the people of Barrow. "Quvian" means "person full of joy."

REX ALLEN ROCK, SR.

President & CEO
Tikigaq Corporation

Rex A. Rock, Sr. is President and CEO of Tikigaq Corporation, the Alaska Native Village Corporation for Point Hope, Alaska. He has held this position for the past 10 years. Under his leadership, Tikigaq Corporation has grown from a small local construction company that performed projects in the Arctic Slope Region to a national firm with five subsidiary companies. Over the past three years, Mr. Rock has led Tikigaq Corporation into the government contracting marketplace with growth in revenues of over 2,800%.

As President and CEO, Mr. Rock manages and directs the organization toward its primary objectives established by Tikigaq Corporation's Board of Directors. His goals are to promote and advance the socio-economic well-being of the shareholders of Tikigaq Corporation through economic business development and prosperity. Mr. Rock provides the Board of Directors with sound administrative and organizational change management systems utilizing industry "best practices" to ensure the effective development and business growth of Tikigaq Corporation and its subsidiaries. Mr. Rock has recruited and retained an outstanding management team and has led the corporation into the acquisition of a software firm and opening offices nationwide.

In previous positions, Mr. Rock worked as a Construction Manager directing manufacturing operations for a window construction factory. He served as the Manager for the Point Hope Native Store managing retail operations of over $6 Million in revenues. Additionally, he was in the Management Training Program with Piquiniq where he supervised and managed the operations of water and sewer plants, electrical and maintenance programs and shareholder development.

Mr. Rock currently services as Vice Chairman for the Arctic Slope Regional Corporation (ASRC) Board of Directors, a position he has held for 2 years. Prior to that position he held the position of Third Vice Chair for 3 years, First Vice Chair for 3 years. Mr. Rock has been on the ASRC Board of Directors since 1993. He currently participates on the following ASRC Committees: Executive Committee, Audit Committee, 401 (k) Trustees, Shareholder Hire Committee, Compensation Committee, Investment Committee, and Heirship Committee.

An avid supporter of youth education, Mr. Rock has held the position of Boys Basketball Coach for Point Hope High School for the past 12 years. He was selected State Coach of the Year in 2001, Region 2, District 1 Coach of the Year in 2002. He has served on the Point Hope School Advisory Council for the past 12 years, holding the position as President for the past 10 years.

Mr. Rock is frequently a featured speaker at various Alaska Native forums, featured speaker at Alaska Federation of Natives' first Youth Leadership Meeting in October of 2001, Speaker and Village Sustainability Panel Member for the Arctic Economic Development Summit in 2000 and 2001. Mr. Rock will be a featured speaker at the 2003 Reservation Economic Summit and American Indian Business Trade Fair in Las Vegas on February 19, 2003.

Mr. Rock Attended the University of Alaska Fairbanks from 1978 to 1982.

EDUCATION: Completed graduate training for a Master of Arts in Applied Behavioral Sciences, counseling emphasis, from the Leadership Institute of Seattle, in 1992. My internship was at the Seattle Mental Health Institute.

Completed course work for a Master of Arts degree in the study of Film History and Criticism from the University of Southern California in 1981.

Graduated in 1979 with a Bachelor of General Studies degree from the University of Michigan, with a double emphasis on Film and Media Communications.

WORK

EXPERIENCE: Since 1992, I have been a counselor in private practice in Juneau, Alaska. I do individual, couple, family, and group work. I am certified in substance abuse counseling and hypnotherapy. I am a member of the Critical Incident Stress Debriefing Team. I contract with several EAP organizations for counseling. I am a member of the American Counseling Association, NBCCH (National Board Certified Clinical Hypnotherapists), NAADAC (substance abuse counselors), and the ACA of Alaska where we are working toward state licensure of counselors. I have recently joined NBCCH.

Prior to going into Private practice, I held a variety of jobs which had broadened my abilities to communicate with clients.

OTHER EXPERIENCE:

In my early twenties I pursued political activism. It was my training ground for leadership, public speaking, organizing, peer-counseling, crisis line work and consciousness raising. Since then, I have continued to use these skills. I have complimented this growth with work in individual and group therapy, family of origin and spiritual study. I have done 12 step work, critical incident stress debriefing, regression therapy training, and have participated in and facilitated many workshops.
