ALASKA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

COMMITTEE PROPOSAL NO. 10

Report of the Committee on the Executive Branch

ARTICLE ON THE EXECUTIVE

RESOLVED, that the following be agreed upon as part of the Alaska State Constitution

Executive Authority      1      Section 1. The executive power of the State 2 shall be vested in a governor.

Qualifications of Governor      3      Section 2. The governor shall be not less than 4 thirty years of age, and shall have been for at 5 least twenty years a citizen of the United States,
6 and a resident of this state seven years next pre-7 ceding his election.

Election of Governor      8      Section 3. The governor shall be elected by the 9 qualified voters of this state. The person receiv-
10 ing the greatest number of votes shall be the gov-11 ernor; but if two or more shall be equal and greatest 12 in votes, one of them shall be elected governor by 13 the vote of a majority of all the members of both 14 houses in joint meeting at the regular legislative 15 session next following the election for governor by 16 the people. Contested elections for the office of 1 governor shall be determined in the manner provided 2 by law.

Term of
Governor

3 Section 4. The term of office of the governor
4 shall be four years, beginning at noon on the first
5 Monday in December next following his election, and 6 ending at noon on the first Monday in December four 7 years thereafter. No person who has been elected
8 governor for two full successive terms shall be again 9 eligible to hold that office until the 1st Monday in 10 December of the fourth year following the expiration 11 of his second successive term.

Other
Offices

12 Section 5. The governor shall not hold any other 13 office or employment of profit under the state, or the 14 United States, during his term of office. Compensa-
15 tion for service in the armed forces of the state or 16 the United States is not profit as that term is here
17 used.

Secretary
of State

18 Section 6. There shall be a secretary of state,
19 who shall have the same qualifications as the gover-
20 nor. He shall be elected at the same time and for 21 the same term as the governor, and the election pro-
22 cedure prescribed by law shall provide that the 23 electors, in casting their vote for governor shall 24 also be deemed to be casting their vote for the candi-
25 date for secretary of state shown on the ballot as

1 running jointly with the respective candidate for gov-
2 ernor. The candidate for secretary of state who runs
3 jointly with the successful candidate for governor
4 shall be elected secretary of state. The secretary
5 of state shall perform such duties as may be pre-6 scribed by law and as may be delegated to him by the 7 governor.

Succession

8 Section 7. In case the governor-elect shall die
9 before he has qualified and assumed the office of gov-
10 ernor, or in case he fails to qualify for any other
11 cause, the powers, duties, and emoluments of the office
12 of Governor shall devolve upon the person elected sec-
13 retary of state at the same election, and he shall 14 serve as governor for the term for which the governor-15 elect was elected. In case of a vacancy in the 16 office of governor because of his death, resignation, 17 impeachment, or removal, his powers and duties shall 18 devolve upon the secretary of state. In case of the 19 temporary absence of the governor from office, the 20 powers and duties shall devolve upon the secretary of 21 state. Whenever for a period of six months a gover-
22 nor in office shall have remained continuously absent
23 from the state or shall have been unable to discharge 24 the duties of his office by reason of mental or phy-25 sical disability, the office shall be deemed vacant.

1 The procedure for determining continuous absence and
2 disability shall be prescribed by law.

3 Section 8. If for any reason the secretary of 4 state is incapable of acting, the President of the 5 Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives
6 in succession shall act as governor until the vacancy
7 is filled or the disability removed. If the office
8 of governor becomes vacant and there is no secretary
9 of state, the offices of governor and secretary of state
10 shall be filled for the remainder of the terms at the 11 next succeeding general election unless the vacancy
12 occurs less than 60 days before the election; but no
13 election to fill an unexpired term shall be held in 14 any year in which a governor is to be elected for a 15 full term. No election of a secretary of state shall 16 be had in any event except at the time of electing a
17 governor.

Compensation

18 Section 9. The compensation of the governor and 19 the secretary of state shall be prescribed by law and 20 shall not be diminished during their term of office.
21 When the secretary of state or other officer succeeds
22 to the office of governor, he shall receive the com-
23 pensation for that office.

Executive
powers

24 Section 10. The governor shall be responsible
25 for the faithful execution of the laws. To this end

1 he shall have power, by appropriate action or proceed-
2 ing in the courts brought in the name of the state, to 3 enforce compliance with any constitutional or legis-
4 lative mandate, or to restrain violation of any con-5 stitutional or legislative power or duty, by any 6 officer, department or agency of the state; but this 7 power shall not be construed to authorize any action
8 or proceeding against the Legislature. The governor 9 shall, at the beginning of each session, and may at 10 other times, give the legislature information concern-
11 ing the affairs of the state and recommend to its con-12 sideration such measures as he deems expedient. He 13 may convene the Legislature, or the Senate alone,
14 whenever in his opinion the public interest requires.

15 The governor shall, prior to the end of his term
16 of office, prepare a written report on the conduct of 17 his administration, which shall contain such infor-18 mation as may be useful to his successor in carrying 19 out the duties of his office.

Armed Forces of the State

20 Section 11. The governor shall be commander-in-21 chief of the armed forces of the state, and may call
22 out these forces to execute the laws, suppress or pre-
23 vent insurrection or lawless violence or repel invasion.
24 The governor, as provided by law, shall nominate and 25 appoint all general and flag officers of the armed

1 forces of the state, with the advice and consent of 2 the Senate, and shall appoint and commission all other
3 officers.

Martial Law

4 Section 12. The governor may proclaim martial
5 law when the public safety requires it in case of re-
6 bellion or invasion or imminent danger thereof. Mar-
7 tial law shall not continue for a period longer than 8 20 days without the approval of a majority of both 9 houses of the legislature in joint session.

Executive
Clemency

10 Section 13. The governor may grant pardons, com-
11 mutations, and reprieves and may suspend and remit
12 fines and forfeitures. This power shall not extend to 13 impeachment. A commission or other body may be estab-
14 lished by law to aid and advise the governor in the 15 exercise of executive clemency. A system for the 16 granting of parole shall be provided by law.

Organiza-
tion

17 Section 14. All executive and administrative 18 offices, departments, and instrumentalities of the 19 state government and their respective functions,
20 powers and duties shall be allocated by law among and 21 within not more than twenty principal departments in 22 such manner as to group the same according to major
23 purposes so far as practicable. Regulatory and quasi-
24 judicial bodies and temporary agencies may be estab--
25 lished by law and need not be allocated within a prin-

1 cipal department. The governor may make such changes
2 in the administrative structure or in the assignment 3 of functions as may, in his judgment, be necessary for 4 efficient administration. These changes shall be set 5 forth in executive orders which shall become effective 6 at the close of the next regular session of the legis-7 lature, unless disapproved by a resolution concurred in 8 by a majority of all the members of the legislature 9 meeting jointly.

10 Section 15. Each principal department shall be 11 under the supervision of the Governor. The head of 12 each principal department shall be a single executive 13 unless otherwise provided by law, and shall be nomin-
14 ated and appointed by the governor, with the advice 15 and consent of the Senate, to serve at the pleasure of 16 the Governor during his term of office and until the 17 appointment and qualification of his successor, except 18 as herein otherwise provided with respect to the Sec-
19 retary of State. The heads of all principal depart-
20 ments appointed under the provisions of this section 21 shall be citizens of this State and shall have been 22 residents of the State for at least three years next 23 preceding their appointment.

24 Section 16. The members of regulatory and quasi-25 judicial bodies shall be nominated and appointed by the

1 Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate,
2 and may be removed in the manner provided by law. A 3 regulatory or quasi-judicial body may appoint a prin-4 cipal executive officer when authorized by law, but 5 the appointment shall be subject to the approval of the 6 Governor.

7       Section 17. The Governor may fill any vacancy
8 occurring in any office during a recess of the legis-
9 lature, appointment to which is made by the Governor 10 with the advice and consent of the Senate or of the 11 Legislature in joint meeting. An appointment so made 12 shall expire at the end of the next regular session of 13 the Legislature, unless a successor shall be sooner ap-14 pointed and qualified. After the end of the session no 15 ad interim appointment to the same office shall be made 16 unless the Governor shall have submitted to the Senate 17 a nomination to the office during the session and the 18 Senate shall have adjourned without confirming or re-19 jecting it. No person nominated for any office shall 20 be eligible for an ad interim appointment to such office 21 if the nomination shall have failed of confirmation by 22 the Senate.

ALASKA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Commentary on the Executive Branch Article

(Section 1. Executive Authority.)

This section vests executive authority in a governor. The intention throughout the article is to centralize authority and responsibility for the administration of government and the enforcement of laws in a single elected official.

(Section 2. Qualifications of Governor.)

The age, citizenship, and residence qualifications are designed to ensure that the governor will be a mature person who is intimately familiar with the ideals and institutions of the United States and with conditions in Alaska. The residence requirement of seven years refers to legal residence and should not serve to disqualify residents of Alaska who are stationed outside Alaska while in the military service of the United States or in the service of the state.

(Section 3. Election of Governor.)

Provision is made for direct election of the Governor, but if two or more candidates get the same and highest number of votes, both houses of the legislature in joint meeting elect one of them to be governor. The legislature is called upon to provide for contested elections.

(Section 4. Term of Governor.)

The governor will hold office for four years. He can be elected for only two full successive terms. However, an official who fills a vacancy in the office of governor, can be elected for two successive terms immediately after serving the unexpired term. A governor who has served two full terms in succession is eligible for reelection again after one term out of office. The Committee believes in strong executive authority but realizes that the power granted could be used to perpetuate a governor in office. A lapse of four years after two full successive terms would, it is felt, tend to prevent such abuse of power.

(Section 5. Limit on Other Activities.)

This section would prevent the governor from resigning during his term of office for the purpose of having his successor appoint him to fill a vacancy in another state office. It would, however, allow the officers concerned to retain their active membership in the National Guard or the Military Reserve of the United States.

(Section 6. Secretary of State.)

The Committee believes that only persons who hold an elective office should succeed to the Office of Governor. However, the successor should be of the same political party as the governor to avoid unnecessary confusion or waste when a vacancy occurs. These considerations led the committee to adopt a plan of election similar to that in effect in New York and also the same in principle as the arrangement for election of President and Vice-president of the United States. It calls for voters to cast a single vote applicable to both offices. The respective persons having the highest number of votes cast jointly for them for governor and secretary of state respectively would be elected. With respect to the duties of the Secretary of State, the Committee felt that he should have a full time job in the administration and that he should not preside over the Senate.

(Section 7 and 8. Succession.)

This section provides for succession in event the Governor-elect dies or for other reasons fails to qualify, in the event of a vacancy in the office of Governor, and in the event there is no secretary of state when a vacancy occurs in the office of governor. The order of succession is the Secretary of State, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House. Thus, only persons holding an elective office will succeed to the governorship. If a vacancy occurs in the office of Governor and there is no secretary of state, then an election will be held to fill the unexpired terms at the next general election unless the vacancies occur less than 60 days before a general election. No election would be held to fill an unexpired term in any year in which an election for a full term will be held.

The procedure for determining disability and continuous absence from the state is to be prescribed by law. An orderly procedure would, it is hoped, avoid the uncertainty and confusion that has prevailed elsewhere in the past when the chief executive has been incapacitated.

(Section 9. Compensation. )

This section will prevent the legislature from reducing the compensation of the Governor and Secretary of State during their respective terms of office. The Secretary of State would receive the compensation assigned to the Office of Governor when he fills a vacancy in that office, but not when he assumes the governor's duties during the temporary absence of the governor.

(Section 10. Executive Powers.)

This section makes the governor responsible for the faithful execution of the laws and gives him power to do so through the courts and by other means. It authorizes him to make recommendations to the legislature and to convene the legislature ~~or the~~ Senate alone when he deems it necessary in the public interest. Convening the Senate alone might be necessary to obtain Senate confirmation of appointments.

(Section 11. Armed Forces of the State.

The purposes ~~for~~ which the Governor may call out the armed forces of the state are the same as those contained in many state constitutions. The authority of the governor to appoint officers of the armed forces is made subject to applicable law of the state and the United States.

(Section 12. Martial Law.)

This provision confers authority to declare martial law and at the same time limits the situations in which the authority can be exercised. In order to continue martial law for longer than 20 days, the approval of a majority of members of both houses of the legislature in attendance at a joint session would have to be obtained, and if the legislature were not in session at the time, the Governor would have to call it into special session for the purpose.

(Section 13. Executive Clemency.)

The power conferred by this section is similar to that conferred by many state constitutions on the chief executive of the state.

(Sections 14 - 17. Organization.)

A clear distinction is made between the administrative departments, such as public works, health, education, and welfare, and the regulatory, including quasi-judicial, bodies such as a rate-setting public utility commission. The head of an administrative department, whether single or multiple, can be removed at any time by the Governor. The members of regulatory bodies can be removed only in the manner provided by law. In order to ensure maximum coordination of staff services, the appointment of an executive director for a regulatory body requires the governor's approval. The appointment and removal of an executive-director of any administrative department which is headed by a board are left to determination by law. The governor can from time to time by executive order, reorganize governmental agencies provided that any such executive order shall not become effective until a full regular session of the legislature has been held after the order is issued and has not disapproved it by a majority of both houses in joint session assembled.

3 Section 4. The term of office of the governor
4 shall be four years, beginning at noon on the first
5 Monday in December next following his election, and
6 ending at noon on the first Monday in December four
7 years thereafter. No person who has been elected

9 eligible to hold that office until the 1st Monday in 10 December of the fourth year following the expiration 11 of his second successive term.

Other
Offices

12 Section 5. The governor shall not hold any other
13 office or employment of profit under the state, or the 14 United States, during his term of office. Compensa-
15 tion for service in the armed forces of the state or 16 the United States is not profit as that term is here
17 used.

Secretary
of State

18 Section 6. There shall be a secretary of state,
19 who shall have the same qualifications as the gover-
20 nor. He shall be elected at the same time and for 21 the same term as the governor, and the election pro-
22 cedure prescribed by law shall provide that the 23 electors, in casting their vote for governor shall
24 also be deemed to be casting their vote for the candi-
25 date for secretary of state shown on the ballot as

1 running jointly with the respective candidate for gov-
2 ernor. The candidate for secretary of state who runs
3 jointly with the successful candidate for governor
4 shall be elected secretary of state. The secretary
5 of state shall perform such duties as may be pre-
6 scribed by law and as may be delegated to him by the 7 governor.

Succession

8 Section 7. In case the governor-elect shall die
9 before he has qualified and assumed the office of gov-
10 ernor, or in case he fails to qualify for any other
11 cause, the powers, duties, and emoluments of the office
12 of Governor shall devolve upon the person elected sec-
13 retary of state at the same election, and he shall 14 serve as governor for the term for which the governor-
15 elect was elected. In case of a vacancy in the 16 office of governor because of his death, resignation, 17 impeachment, or removal, his powers, duties and 18 emoluments shall devolve upon the secretary of state.
19 In case of the temporary absence of the governor from 20 office, the powers and duties shall devolve upon the 21 secretary of state. Whenever for a period of six months
22 a governor in office shall have remained continuously 23 absent from the state or shall have been unable to dis-24 charge the duties of his office by reason of mental or 25 physical disability, the office shall be deemed vacant.

1 The procedure for determining continuous absence and
2 disability shall be prescribed by law.

3 Section 8. If for any reason the secretary of 4 state is incapable of acting, the President of the 5 Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives
6 in succession shall act as governor until the vacancy
7 is filled or the disability removed. If the office
8 of governor becomes vacant and there is no secretary
9 of state, the offices of governor and secretary of state
10 shall be filled for the remainder of the terms at the 11 next succeeding general election unless the vacancy
12 occurs less than 60 days before the election; but no
13 election to fill an unexpired term shall be held in
14 any year in which a governor is to be elected for a 15 full term. No election of a secretary of state shall

tion

18 Section 9. The compensation of the governor and

20 shall not be diminished during their term of office.
21 When the secretary of state or other officer succeeds
22 to the office of governor, he shall receive the com-
23 pensation for that office.

Executive
powers

24 Section 10. The governor shall be responsible
25 for the faithful execution of the laws. To this end

1 he shall have power, by appropriate action or proced-
2 ing in the courts brought in the name of the state, to 3 enforce compliance with any constitutional or legisla-
4 tive mandate, or to restrain violation of any consti-
5 tutional or legislative power or duty, by any officer, 6 department or agency of the state or any of its poli-
7 tical subdivisions, but this power shall not be con-8 strued to authorize any action or proceeding against 9 the Legislature. The governor shall, at the beginning 10 of each session, and may at other times, give the legis-11 lature information concerning the affairs of the state 12 and recommend to its consideration such measures as he 13 deems expedient. He may convene the Legislature, or 14 the Senate alone, or the two houses in joint session,
15 whenever in his opinion the public interest requires.

16         The governor shall, prior to the end of his term
17 of office, prepare a written report on the conduct of 18 his administration, which shall contain such informa-
19 tion as may be useful to his successor in carrying out 20 the duties of his office.

21         Section 11. The governor shall be commander-in-
22 chief of the armed forces of the state, and may call
23 out these forces to execute the laws, suppress or pre-
24 vent insurrection or lawless violence or repel invasion.
25 The governor, as provided by law, shall nominate and 26 appoint all general and flag officers of the armed

1 forces of the state, with the advice and consent of
2 the Senate, and shall appoint and commission all other
3 officers.

Martial Law

4 Section 12. The governor may proclaim martial
5 law when the public safety requires it in case of re-
6 bellion or invasion or imminent danger thereof. Mar-
7 tial law shall not continue for a period longer than 8 20 days without the approval of a majority of both
9 houses of the legislature in joint session.

Executive
Clemency

10 Section 13. The governor may grant pardons, com-
11 mutations, and reprieves and may suspend and remit
12 fines and forfeitures. This power shall not extend to 13 impeachment. A commission or other body may be estab-
14 lished by law to aid and advise the governor in the 15 exercise of executive clemency. A system for the 16 granting of parole shall be provided by law.

Organiza-
tion

17 Section 14. All executive and administrative 18 offices, departments, and instrumentalities of the
19 state government and their respective functions,
20 powers and duties shall be allocated by law among and 21 within not more than twenty principal departments in
22 such manner as to group the same according to major
23 purposes so far as practicable. Regulatory and quasi-
24 judicial bodies and temporary agencies may be estab--
25 lished by law and need not be allocated within a prin-

1 cipal department. The governor may make such changes
2 in the organization of the Executive Branch of the State 3 Government or in the assignment of functions among the 4 units thereof, as may, in his judgment, be necessary 5 for efficient administration. Where these changes require 6 the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive 7 orders which shall become effective at the close of the 8 next regular session of the Legislature, unless disap-9 proved by a resolution concurred in by a majority of 10 all the members of the Legislature meeting jointly.

11 Section 15. Each principal department shall be 12 under the supervision of the Governor.

13 Section 16. The head of each principal depart-14 ment shall be a single executive, unless otherwise 15 provided by law. Such single executive shall be nomi-
16 nated and appointed by the governor, with the advice 17 and consent of the Senate, and shall serve at the 18 pleasure of the Governor during his term of office 19 and until the appointment and qualification of their 20 successors, except as herein otherwise provided with 21 respect to the Secretary of State. The heads of all 22 principal departments appointed under the provisions
