

authorize such practice for a period not to exceed six months, or until the regular meeting of the Board of Pharmacy. The issuance of such temporary certificate shall not entitle the holder thereof to a permanent certificate, and no permanent certificate shall be issued to such holder until he passes a satisfactory examination by the board. Only one temporary certificate shall ever be issued to the same applicant, and no temporary certificate shall be granted to any person whose application has been denied by the board. The member conducting the examination as herein set forth shall be entitled to charge and receive the sum of five dollars for such certificate, said moneys to be paid to the Board of Pharmacy.

Sec. 20. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act and for which a penalty is not here-<sup>Penalties</sup> provided for shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding fifty dollars, or may be imprisoned in jail not exceeding six months.

Approved April 26, 1913.

---

CHAPTER 38.

(H. B. NO. 86.)

AN ACT to prevent the spread of contagious disease among live stock.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the Territory of Alaska :

Section 1. That the United States and Deputy United States Marshals of the Territory of Alaska are hereby<sup>Inspectors of live stock</sup> constituted and appointed Territorial Inspectors of live stock and charged with the duties prescribed by this act, under such instructions and regulations as the Governor of Alaska may from time to time promulgate.

Complaint
where animals suspected of disease

Sec. 2. That every such inspector of live stock may, of his own motion, and must, upon the complaint of any resident of the Territory, require the owner of any live stock whatsoever kind or character suspected of having any contagious disease, to submit such live stock to the inspection of any such inspector, or any veterinary or physician, or any committee of persons named by such inspector.

Quarantine

Sec. 3. That if it appear to the satisfaction of the person or persons so inspecting any such live stock, that the said live stock has any contagious disease such live stock shall be confined at such place and under such circumstances as may be necessary.

Refusal to quarantine

Sec. 4. That if the owner of any live stock so found to be suffering from any contagious disease shall refuse to quarantine the same as directed by said Inspector of live stock, said inspector may kill or cause said live stock to be killed and cause the carcass thereof to be so disposed of as to prevent the spread of such contagious disease.

Diseased live stock arriving on vessels

Sec. 5. That whenever any live stock of whatsoever kind or character is about to be discharged from any vessel or other conveyance at any point within the Territory of Alaska, an inspector of live stock in the said Territory may, of his own motion, or upon the complaint of any resident of the Territory of Alaska, must cause such live stock to be submitted to inspection by him or by any veterinary or physician, or any person or committee of persons named by him, and if it be determined by said inspector or by any person or persons appointed by him that said live stock is suffering from any contagious disease, said inspector shall notify the master of such vessel or the owner or person in charge of such conveyance not to discharge said live stock at any point within the Territory of Alaska.

Sec. 6. That any person violating or aiding in the violation of any order or notification issued by any inspector of live stock shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be confined in jail for a period of not less than three nor more than six months and shall be fined not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars for each offense. <sup>Penalty</sup>

Sec. 7. An emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act shall take effect upon its passage.

Approved April 26, 1913.

---

CHAPTER 39.

(H. B. NO. 88.)

AN ACT to amend section 43 of Title II of the Act of Congress of March 3, 1899, entitled, "An act to define and punish crimes in the District of Alaska and to provide a code of criminal procedure for said district."

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the Territory of Alaska:

That section 43, of Title II, of the Act of Congress approved March 3, 1899, entitled, "An act to define and punish crimes in the District of Alaska and to provide a code of criminal procedure for said district," be and is hereby amended to read as follows: <sup>Joinder of counts in indictment</sup>

"When there are several charges against any person for the same act or transaction, or for two or more acts or transactions connected together, or for two or more acts or transactions of the same class of crimes or offenses, which may be properly joined, instead of having several indictments the whole may be joined in one indict-