

explained to the assembled chiefs and warriors that were they to carry out their intention of killing the white people, grave results to the Indians would follow at the hands of the U. S. Government. However, in spite of her warning an attempt was actually made to enter the town at night. Luckily a friendly clan frustrated this attempt. In keeping the white citizens informed of the impending peril and by delaying the Indians from carrying out their intention long enough to allow the British gun-boat to reach Sitka, there is no doubt that the lives of scores of white women and children were saved by the efforts of this brave woman.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that in recognition of the services of Mary Thlantich in saving the lives of the white people at Sitka, Alaska, the Legislature of the Territory of Alaska does hereby express the thanks of the Territory for her noble deeds; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Trustees of the Pioneers' Home are hereby instructed to grant an allowance sufficient to care for her needs from the amount appropriated for aged residents.

Adopted by the House April 29, 1925.

Concurred in by the Senate, April 29, 1925.

Approved: April 30, 1925.
