CHAPTER 59.

AN ACT

[H. B. 82]

To require bonds to secure the payment of the taxes by persons, firms or corporations applying for provisional licenses for prosecuting certain industries where applicant has not sufficient real property in the Territory to insure the payment of the taxes on such industries, and declaring an emergency.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the Territory of Alaska:

Section 1. Any person, firm or corporation applying for a license to prosecute the business of operating clam canneries or salmon canneries, fish salteries, or works or plants for manufacturing oil, fertilizers or fish meal, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 31 of the Laws of 1921 as amended, shall in or with such application state under oath the amount of each of such products which he expects to produce, whether he owns any real property in the Territory on which the tax will become a first lien and if so a description and the value of the same, and if the value of such real estate is not equal to three times the amount of the tax for which applicant will probably be liable to the Territory upon the output of the business for which he applies for license, the Treasurer of the Territory shall decline to issue the license until the applicant shall have filed with the Treasurer a bond
