No other person not a member of a house shall be permitted on the floor of the house chamber while the house is sitting except officers and employees of the Legislature, as authorized and designated by the presiding officer, and such persons as may be allowed the privilege of the floor, for the day, by the house.

No person except a member of a house shall advocate or oppose the passage of any bill or resolution on the floor of that house while it is in session.

At the beginning of the first regular session of a Legislature, the presiding officer of each house shall appoint one member from each of the four Senate-at-Large Districts who shall serve with the presiding officer as chairman of a five-member Committee on Committees. The standing committees in each house shall be as follows:

RULE 6. Committee Quorum. A majority of the members of any committee shall constitute a quorum.

RULE 7. Special Committees. The presiding officer of each house shall appoint all special committees and designate their chairmen unless otherwise ordered by the house.

RULE 8. Duties. The duties and powers of a committee are as follows:

- (a) All committees shall act upon all bills or report same back to the house as soon as practicable. The chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; but the house may at any time order a bill reported back from any of its committees by a majority vote of the membership.
- (b) When a committee unanimously reports a bill with a recommendation that the bill "do not pass," or "without a recommendation," the presiding officer of the house, upon the conclusion of the reading of all Reports of Committees to which it has been referred, shall put the question: "Shall the bill be placed on the calendar for the second reading notwithstanding the report of the Committee?" This question shall be debatable. If a majority of those present vote "No," then the bill shall be lost.
- (c) The chairman of any committee may report directly to the house and the house shall take such action thereon as it deems advisable, or the committee may report without notice to the house by handing reports to the Chief Clerk or Secretary, and such reports shall be read by the Clerk or Secretary, entered on the Calendar, and considered in their regular order.

UNIFORM RULES

- (d) If a committee has a number of bills on the same subject, none of which can be agreed upon by the committee, and it is their wish to present a different bill on the same subject such a bill must be reported to the house and accepted before any of the other bills can be recommended for indefinite postponement.
- (e) It shall be in order for the committee on Engrossment and Enrollment to report bills at any time, if no motion is before the house.
- (f) No motion or proposition to impose, reduce or eliminate a tax or charge upon the people, or appropriate moneys from the State Treasury shall be discussed on the day on which it is made or offered, and every such proposition shall be referred to the Finance Committee of the house in which it was introduced.

Joint Committees

RULE 9. The like committees of both houses should meet jointly for the purpose of receiving the testimony of witnesses, and such other matters as may be expedited by joint committee action.

Committee of the Whole

RULE 10. In forming a Committee of the Whole (House or Senate), the presiding officer leaving the chair shall call upon a member to preside who shall be addressed as "Mr. Chairman".

RULE 11. When a bill is considered in the Committee of the Whole (House or Senate), it shall be read and debated by sections, leaving the preamble, if any, to be last considered. The body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments (noting the line and page) shall be duly entered by the Chief Clerk or Secretary on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the house. After a report, the bill shall again be subject to amendment.

RULE 12. These uniform rules of procedure shall be observed on a Committee of the Whole (House or Senate), but no member shall be recognized a second time until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

Quorum

**RULE 13. A majority of the total membership to which the house is entitled shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day and may compel the attendance of absent members.

Call of the House or Senate

RULE 14. One member may demand a call of the house at any time before the house has divided, or the voting has commenced by ayes and noes, and thereupon the door shall be closed until further proceedings on the call have been dispensed with, which shall not be done until the presence of the absent members has been secured, unless the member demanding the call shall withdraw the demand, or unless two-thirds of the members to which the house is entitled shall vote to continue the proceedings; but arrests of members shall not be made unless ordered by a majority of the members present.

Duties of Members

RULE 15. No member shall absent himself from the sittings of the house unless he shall have leave or be sick and unable to attend.

Every member who shall be in the house when the question was put shall give his vote unless the house for special reasons shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member shall be made before the house divides or before the call for ayes and noes is commenced, and any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief verbal statement of the reasons for making such request and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

RULE 16. No member shall be allowed to explain his vote or discuss the question while the ayes and noes are being called, nor change his vote after the result has been announced.

RULE 17. Upon a division and count of the house on any question no member without the bar shall be counted.

Decorum in Debate

RULE 18. When any member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the house, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to Mr. Speaker or Mr. President, and being recognized may address the house, and shall confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personalities, and no member shall impung the motion of any member's vote or argument.

RULE 19. When two or more members arise at once, the presiding officer shall name the one who is to speak first.

RULE 20. If any member in speaking or otherwise transgresses the rules of the house, the presiding officer shall call him to order, or any member may arise to a point of order, in which case the member shall immediately take his seat unless permitted to explain; and the house shall, on appeal, decide the case without debate; if there is no appeal, then the body shall abide by the decision of the chair. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, and the case requires it, he shall be liable to the censure of the house.

RULE 21. If any member be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall repeat the words excepted to and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's or Secretary's table, and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to the censure of the house for words spoken in debate, if any other member has spoken, or other business has intervened, after words are spoken, and before exception to them shall have been taken.

RULE 22. While the presiding officer is putting the question, no member shall walk across or out of the house, nor shall any member stand at the Clerk's or Secretary's desk while the roll call is in progress.

When a member is speaking, the house shall be in order and no private conversation shall be carried on, nor shall any member pass between the person speaking and the chair.

RULE 23. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the house, except the chairman of the committee or the mover of the question, who may open and close the debate.

Motions

RULE 24. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the presiding officer, or, being in writing, it shall be handed to the chair and read aloud before debate.

RULE 25. Motions shall be reduced to writing, if the presiding officer or a member desires it.

RULE 26. After a bill or resolution has been introduced, or a motion for adoption of an amendment has been made, and is read by the Secretary (or Clerk of the House) or stated by the presiding officer; it shall be deemed to be in possession of the house; however, it may be withdrawn at any time by the member who introduced or reported it, if consent is given by a majority of the house.

RULE 27. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be made except for the following privileged motions which shall have precedence in the following order:

- (1) To adjourn
- (2) For a call of the house
- (3) To recess
- (4) To lay on the table
- (5) For the previous question
- (6) To limit or extend the limits of debate
- (7) To postpone to a day certain
- (8) To commit or to recommit
- (9) To amend
- (10) To postpone indefinitely

Form of Question

UNIFORM RULES

RULE 28. Questions shall be put in this form to-wit: "As many as are in favor (as the question shall be) say 'Aye'" and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "As many as are opposed say 'No'." If the presiding officer is in doubt, or if division is called for, the house shall divide. Those in the affirmative on the question shall rise, and the number being announced, those in the negative shall rise.

Indefinite Postponement

RULE 29. A measure may be indefinitely postponed by a majority vote of all members to which the house is entitled, and the vote thereon shall be taken by ayes and noes and entered in the Journal.

No motion to postpone indefinitely, having been decided in the negative shall again be allowed on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon again during the session except on motion of reconsideration.

Reconsideration

RULE 30a. Reconsider. No motion, bill, or resolution shall be reconsidered on the day on which the final vote was taken, but it shall be in order, on that day for a member, who voted on the prevailing side, to give, and have entered in the Journal, a notice of intention to move a reconsideration, on the next Legislative Day.

When such notice is given any member may, on the next working day, move a reconsideration of the question; provided, however, that two-thirds of the membership of the house may order a reconsideration taken up on the same day that notice or reconsideration is given.

The motion for reconsideration opens for debate the question to be reconsidered and shall have precedence over every other motion except a motion to adjourn. When a vote is reconsidered that vote is canceled as completely as though it had never been taken. Where a majority votes to reconsider, the question immediately recurs upon the question reconsidered.

No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the last two days of the session.

There shall be but one reconsideration, even though the action of the house after reconsideration is opposite the action of the house before reconsideration.

If a member gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Clerk or Secretary shall not report the measure to the other house until the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired.

RULE 30b. Rescind. The motion to rescind is ordinarily applied to actions which have been taken and are already in effect, and has the effect of making ineffective the action previously taken. The motion to rescind should be used to reverse a previous action after the time for consideration has passed. The motion is not in order when the question can be reached by a motion to reconsider.

The motion to rescind may be made on any subsequent legislative day during the same session, but prior to the time the act becomes law, so long as no vested rights have arisen from the original action, or so long as no rights or final action of the other house have intervened. When an authorized act has been carried out, or where the legislature ratifies a contract, the power to rescind does not continue to exist thereafter.

The motion to rescind may be made by any member, whether he voted with the prevailing side or not. The motion is debatable and opens the entire question to debate.

The motion to rescind yields to all privileged and incidental motions, and all subsidiary motions can be applied to it the same as to any other main motion. The motion to rescind may not be renewed during the session, but may be subject to reconsideration in the same manner as any other main motion.

The motion to rescind requires the same vote as that required to originally pass the measure.

Previous Questions

RULE 31. The previous question may be ordered by two-thirds of the members present upon all recognized motions or amendments which are debatable, and shall have the effect to cut off all debate and bring the house to a direct vote upon the motion or amendment then pending or on which it has been ordered.

The question is not debatable and cannot be amended. The previous question shall be put in this form: "The previous question is demanded. As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say 'Aye'; as many as are opposed will say 'No'."

The results of the motion are as follows:

If determined in the negative, the consideration goes on as if the motion had never been made; if decided in the affirmative, the presiding officer at once and without debate, proceeds to put the amendment or motion as ordered. If an adjournment is had after the previous question is ordered, the subject comes up in its regular order on the next day, and the previous question still operates.

Division of Questions

RULE 32. A division of a question cannot be demanded as a right to any member. It must be made pursuant to a motion stating precisely the division asked for, which motion can be amended. The presiding officer can decide, subject to an appeal to the house, that the division proposed cannot be made. Otherwise it is submitted to the house and decided by it.

Roll Call Procedures

RULE 33. The vote upon any question shall be taken by ayes and noes, when demanded by one-fifth of the membership of the house and shall be entered upon the Journal of the House. The presiding officer shall vote when the ayes and noes are called for, his name being called last, and in case of an equal division, the question shall be lost. Except for the presiding officer, who shall always vote last, the names of the members of the house shall be rotated each day, unless the requirement for rotation be suspended by two-thirds of either house. The rule may be suspended for the legislative day, or week, or any period not to exceed the legislative session.

Amendment and Recommitment in Either House

RULE 34. No motion or proposition on a subject shall be admitted under color of amendment, if different from that under consideration. Substitute bills may be offered by a committee in accordance with Rule 8(d) or by the original sponsor or sponsors anytime when a bill or resolution is open to amendment, previous to engrossment, and when adopted shall take the place of the original bill or resolution, and shall be open to amendment. Any bill or resolution introduced as a sponsor substitute shall be referred by the presiding officer to committee action as any new bill, or resolution, and shall be identified as a sponsor's substitute for the particular bill or resolution.

UNIFORM RULES

RULE 35. No amendment shall be received to a bill on its third reading, but it may be returned to second reading by a majority of the membership of the house for the purpose of specific amendment. A bill may be recommitted at any time before its passage; provided, however, that amendments to the title of a bill may be in order after its passage and shall be decided without debate.

RULE 36. Each amendment proposed by a committee to a bill shall be in writing on a separate slip of paper, and shall be securely attached to the original bill. The report of the committee shall also contain a statement of the amendments agreed to by the committee. Any committee report on a bill not conforming with this rule shall be returned by the Chief Clerk or Secretary of the house to the committee for compliance with this rule without further order by the house. Upon second reading, the bill may be read section by section in full, and be subject to amendment. No amendment shall be considered by the house until it shall have been sent to the desk in writing and read by the Clerk or Secretary. All amendments adopted on the second reading shall be securely attached to the original bill.

Amendments rejected by the house shall be passed to the minute clerk, and the Journal shall show the disposition of such amendments.

Introduction of Bills and Resolutions

RULE 37. Any member whose term extends into a forthcoming Legislature or member-elect of the Legislature, may file a bill with the Legislative Council at anytime within sixty days prior to the convening of any regular session of the Legislature.

The Legislative Council shall see that each pre-filed bill is in proper legal form; assign it a number and have it duplicated; and deliver same to the Chief Clerk of the House or the Secretary of the Senate, as appropriate, immediately upon the convening of the Legislature. Pre-filed bills shall be considered as introduced on the day of their delivery to each house.

RULE 38. When the house is in session, any member desiring to introduce a bill shall send to the desk of the Chief Clerk or Secretary an original and two copies of the bill. The Chief Clerk or Secretary shall number all bills in the order of their receipt and thereafter all bills shall be designated by the number given them. The member introducing the bill shall be responsible for insuring that the bill is in proper legal form. Any bill not in proper legal form shall be returned to the author.

RULE 39. Any bill may be introduced by a member or members individually or as a group or by any standing or special committee. Legislative Council bills shall be introduced by "the Rules Committee by request of the Legislative Council". Bills sponsored by the Governor of Alaska shall be introduced by "the Rules Committee by request of the Governor".

Uniform Title of Bills

RULE 40. All bills introduced in the House or Senate shall be entitled as follows:

IN THE HOUSE BY.....

HOUSE BILL NO.....

IN THE LEGISLATURE OF THE
STATE OF ALASKA

.....LEGISLATURE—.....SESSION

A BILL

— or —

IN THE SENATE BY.....

SENATE BILL NO.....

IN THE LEGISLATURE OF THE
STATE OF ALASKA

**RULE 41. The enacting clause for all bills shall be:

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Alaska:

UNIFORM RULES

Content of Bills

**RULE 42. Every bill shall be confined to one subject unless it is an appropriation bill or one codifying, revising, or rearranging existing laws. Bills for appropriations shall be confined to appropriations. The subject of each bill shall be expressed in its title.

Resolutions

RULE 43. The only legislative instruments authorized for use under these uniform rules are bills and the types of resolutions prescribed by this rule. No memorial, petition or remonstrance shall be introduced.

A House or Senate simple resolution is a formalized motion passed by the members of the House or Senate. It may be used to express the will, wish, view, opinion, sympathy or request, of the house adopting it. It may also be used to extend sympathy on the death of a member, to authorize the printing of special reports, to create special committees, to request information from administrative agencies, and to express the intent of the legislative house to another governmental body. The simple resolution may be used to affect matters relating only to the house concerned. It requires no referral to committee or three readings.

A House or Senate Special Resolution is used only to expel a member under Section 12, Article II, of the State Constitution. It may be adopted only after three readings, committee action, and the concurrence of two-thirds of the members of the house concerned.

The concurrent resolution is a resolution adopted by both houses and may be used to achieve the same purposes for both houses as a simple resolution is used for one house. A concurrent resolution is used to express the will, wish, view, opinion, sympathy or request of both chambers. It is used to affect the internal matters relating to both houses, the adjournment of the legislature, the suspension and amendment of the uniform rules, the making of interim assignments to the Legislative Council and the Legislative Audit Committee, the requesting or directing of specified action by agencies of the state government, the annulment of Agency Rules under the Administrative Procedures Act, and the fixing of the time and place of joint assemblies which meet to adopt the uniform rules. It requires no referral to committee or three readings.

A special concurrent resolution is employed in disapproving executive order proposals made by the Governor to reorganize the executive branch under Section 23, Article III, of the Alaska Constitution. The resolution is adopted in joint session, after joint committee action, but without three readings.

A joint resolution is a resolution adopted by both houses and signed by the Governor as a ministerial formality. The joint resolution is treated in all respects as a bill, but is not subject to executive veto. It is used for the same purpose as a simple and concurrent resolution in expressing the joint will, wish, view, opinion, sympathy or request of the legislative and executive branches when the resolution is directed to addressees outside the state. The joint resolution is also used when a more considered expression with full deliberation is necessitated by the seriousness of the action. The joint resolution is specifically used to request action by the Congress, the President or federal agencies, for amendments to the State Constitution, ratification of amendments to the Federal Constitution, requests to Congress for proposals of amendments to the Federal Constitution, and the disapproval of local government boundary changes proposed by the Local Boundary Commission under Section 12, Article X, of the State Constitution.

Action on Matters not Treated as Bills

RULE 44. Concurrent Resolutions and Simple Resolutions from members of the house shall be presented in acceptable printed form and read by resolve only. Unless otherwise referred by the presiding officer or ordered by the house, such matters shall be referred to the Rules Committee for assignment on the daily calendar. When returned from committee and placed upon the daily calendar, such matters shall be read in whole or in part, and are subject to amendment, debate and final passage. Unless otherwise provided in these uniform rules, such matters may be adopted by voice vote of a majority of the members present.

Action on Bills

RULE 45. First Reading. When all bills have been introduced for the day and no member takes the floor for further introductions, the presiding officer shall declare the bills introduced are ready for first reading. The first reading shall be by title only and the Chief Clerk or Secretary shall read all bills in the order in which they were received and numbered.

Upon first reading, the presiding officer shall refer the bill to the appropriate standing committee, or the house may by a majority vote refer the bill to any other standing committee or to a special committee.

RULE 46. Second Reading. When a bill comes up on the daily calendar of the house for its second reading, the Chief Clerk or Secretary shall read the bill by title only, unless a majority of the members present order the bill to be read in full.

When the second reading is completed, the bill shall be before the house for amendment. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

**No bill may become law unless it has passed three separate readings in each house on three separate days, except that any bill may be advanced from second to third reading on the same day by concurrence of three-fourths of the house considering it.

RULE 47. Engrossment. When no further amendments are offered, the presiding officer shall refer the bill with amendments agreed to by the house to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment. Three-fourths of the house may order that the bill be considered engrossed for the purpose of advancing the bill from second to third reading on the same day.

The Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment shall see that all amendments are properly engrossed upon the original bill. The engrossed bill should be returned to the Chief Clerk or Secretary on the following legislative day, and the bill shall then come up in regular order for third reading and final consideration.

RULE 48. Third Reading. On its third reading the bill shall be read by title only. The question on the third reading of a bill shall be upon its passage and no amendments shall be considered.

**No bill may become law without an affirmative vote of a majority of the membership of each house. The yeas and

UNIFORM RULES

nays, noting the name of each member, on final passage of a bill, shall be entered on the journal of each house.

Amendments to Amended Bill Must Be Attached

RULE 49.
